REDUCTION IN TOLLS AT THE PANAMA CANAL FOR AMERICAN SHIPS

Favored By Congressman Miller After Visit to Isthmus.

Converted to Idea of Extensive Military Establishment There.

Believes Zone Should Have Simple and Inexpensive Government.

FROM THE HERALD WASHINGTON BUREAU.

Washington, Jan. 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—Representative Clarence B. Miller, who has just returned from the inspection of the Panama canal by the committee on interstate and foreign commerce, believes that tolls should be charged to vessels using the canal and that a reduction should be make to American ships. He favors an extensive military establishment at the canal, and thinks that the form of government of the zone should be very simple.

"The purpose of the committee," said Mr. Miller to The Herald correspondent, "in making an inspection of the canal and an investigation of the affairs in the zone at this time, is to secure facts upon which to base legislation of a most important character. The work has advanced far enough now so that the early completion of the canal is assured. In view of that, the committee secured all possible information to determine: First, the rules and regulations that must be adopted in operating the canal; second, the kind of government that should be established in the zone; third, the extent of the military force needed for the pro-

SEEKS SON AMONG SUN WORSHIPPERS

Cincinnati Man Starts Search in Chicago for the Boy.

Chicago, Jan. 8.—Determined to learn whether his son, Robert Hastings Reakirt, is in the hands of "Sun Worshippers" here, Llewellyn Reakirt, a wealthy Cincinnati man, arrived in Chicago today and with the aid of private detectives instituted a search.

Young Reakirt is a cousin of "Billy" Lindsay, whose detention in the "Temple" of the Mazdaznan cult caused Judge Pinckney of the juvenile court to begin and investigation of the organization. Since the investigation started the Lindsay boy has disappeared. Should Reakirt find his son is in the hands of the worshippers he will institute court proceedings, it is said.

"Alma Ricker," whose name has been connected with the cult, is said to be Mrs. Reakirt, mother of the boy and sister of Mrs. Lindsay. In Europe, a few years ago, it is said, Mrs. Reakirt met Dr. Hanish, "high priest" of the "Sun Worshippers," and shortly thereafter embraced his faith. Discord in the Reakirt home followed and a divorce resulted. The boy is 12 years old.

FIFTY-FIVE DIE IN WACO, TEX.

Spinal Meningitis Is Committing Ravages in That City.

Waco, Tex., Jan. 8.—Alarmed at the number of fatalities resulting from spinal meningitis in this city, fifty-five deaths in twenty-five days, at a meeting of business men today it was decided to call upon Dr. Sophian, assistant to Dr. Simon Flexner of Rockefeller institute, New York, to investigate conditions here. Dr. Sophian is now in Dallas, looking into the situation there.

Case in Austin.

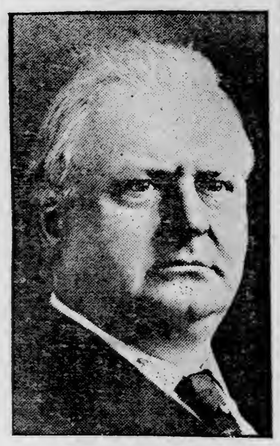

Austin, Tex., Jan. 8.—The first case of meningitis to appear here this winter developed yesterday. A 3-year-old son of Harry Zekatz is the patient. The Zekatz family came here from Waco Wednesday on a visit.

BANKER CUMMINS IS IN NASHVILLE

Convicted Man Confers With Friends and Business Associates.

Nashville, Tenn., Jan. 8.—W. J. Cummins, recently convicted of larceny in connection with the Carnegie Trust failure in New York, arrived in Nashville early yesterday morning and passed the day conferring with friends and business associates at a local hotel. Cummins refused to make any statement about his affairs.

HEADS OHIO MEN OPPOSED TO HARMON

JOHN J. LENTZ.

Columbus, Ohio, Jan. 8.—Ex-Congressman John J. Lentz of Columbus has been made president of an organization of Democrats formed to oppose Governor Harmon as a candidate for the presidency. It is known as the Ohio Democratic Progressive league and is affiliated with the National League of Democratic Precinct clubs, of which Senator Owen is president. Indications are that Ohio may have no instructed delegation to the national convention.

RICHESON TO GO TO CHAIR?

Plea of Guilty May Lead to Clemency or It May Not.

Governor Foss and His Council Will Determine the Matter.

Boston, Jan. 8.—Broken in spirit, weak in body, and professing the deepest remorse, Rev. C. V. T. Richeson, late pastor of Immanuel Baptist church, Cambridge, is expected to go before the Suffolk county superior court late this afternoon to offer his plea of guilty to the indictment charging him wtih murder by poison of Avis Linnell of Hyannis.

While the court has no option but to pass sentence of death, counsel for Richeson hope the fact that the confession of guilt will save the county large sums, protect innocent persons from embarrassing experiences on the witness stand and suppress much testimony prejudicial to public morals, will have weight with the governor and executive council when a petition

STRIKE HALTS HOUSE WORK

Stenographers for Committees Refuse to Accept Lower Pay.

Washington, Jan. 8. — For the first time in the history of the government, a labor strike held up the machinery of congressional legislation today. The house committee stenographers refused to work because the accounts committee reduced their compensations from 25 cents to 15 cents a folio. The sugar trust investigation committee had to adjourn until tomorrow.

LORIMER IS TO TELL HIS STORY

Will Testify for First Time Before Investigating Committee.

Washington, Jan. 8. — The Lorimer senatorial investigating committee will resume its hearings late today. It is expected that Senator Lorimer will take the witness chair and close the defense with his own testimony. It will be the first time the Illinois senator has testified under oath regarding his electi.n in 1909.

Elbridge Hanecy, his counsel, expects the direct examination will take up the better part of two days. The cross-examination may be as long. At all events, the end of the week promises to see the taking of testimony completed and the committee then will consider its report.

BRYAN AND ROOSEVELT

Each Is Puzzling His Party, Though in a Different Way.

Roosevelt Is the Republican Hope, Bryan the Democratic Danger.

(By Willis J. Abbot.)

Washington, Jan. 8. — (Special to The Herald.)—The attention of the political world today is riveted on two men—Bryan and Roosevelt. Each is puzzling his party, though in a different way. A great body of Republicans seem to be turning toward Roosevelt as the one Republican who can lead his party to victory. An equally large faction of the Democratic party is looking with apprehension upon Bryan as the one man whose acts may bring defeat. The Roosevelt Republicans are urging his nomination without claiming that they have authority from him to do so, but claiming that it means the salvation of the party. The Bryan Democrats are not urging his renomination — I cannot recall one Democrat of standing who frankly proposes that—but they are following his lead by attacking Democrats whom he disapproves and urging policies the adoption of which makes Mr. Bryan the only logical candidate.

PAYS WITH LIFE FOR GIRL'S DEATH

New York Man, Who Killed Daughter, Electrocuted in Sing Sing.

Ossining, N. Y., Jan. 8.—Philip Mangano, formerly interpreter in the marriage license bureau in New York, was put to death by electricity in Sing Sing prison here today for the murder of his daughter.

Mangano shot and killed his daughter Anna on the morning of March 24, 1909, while she was on her way to a school in New York city, where she was employed as a teacher. There had been frequent quarrels in the Mangano family, as a result of which Anna, who was 24 years old, and her mother had left home a few months previous to the crime.

Testimony given at the trial was to the effect that the father's treatment of his daughter was such that she could no remain at home and retain her self-respect. Mangano claimed he was not responsible when he fired the fatal shot.

STYLE CONGRESS IN SESSION IN CHICAGO.

Chicago, Jan. 8.—More than 1,000 women's tailors from all parts of the United States gathered here today at the first National Style congress and convention of the Chicago Women's Tailors association. The meeting will last throughout the week. It is planned to hold a meeting here every January in the future.

COLD SNAP HANGS ON; SUNDAY TEMPERATURE LOWEST IN EIGHT YEARS

NOVELIST JUST MADE BARONET BY THE KING

HENRY RIDER HAGGARD.

New York, Jan. 8.—Most interesting to Americans of all the appointments made by King George at the beginning of the year was the giving of a baronetcy to Henry Rider Haggard, the novelist. He is the son of William M. R. Haggard of Bradenham hall, Norfolk, and is 55 years old. He was educated chiefly by tutors, and married Mariana Louise, daughter of the late Maj. Margitson of Ditchingham, Norfolk, in 1880. In his nineteenth year he became secretary to the governor of Natal, and for the next seven years held various positions under South African officials. His first novel, "King Solomon's Mines," appeared four years later. He has published over a score of novels since. He visited this country six years ago to report on the Salvation Army colonies.

POVERTY CHIEF CAUSE OF DIVORCE

So Says Divorce Proctor W. W. Wright of Kansas City.

Kansas City, Mo., Jan. 8.—Poverty is the chief cause of the present divorce evil, according to W. W. Wright, divorce proctor, who spoke before the Socialist Education society here today.

"The fact that the average working man is seldom free from debt causes more marital unhappiness than any other influence," Mr. Wright said. "The peace and quiet necessary to the home disappears with the home's financial security. There are comparatively few divorces among the rich in this section."

No material break in the cold snap is expected for the next thirty-six hours. The weather is growing colder in the extreme Northwest and, while the cold may be no greater here, the conditions farther West will hold the temperatures well below zero at Duluth.

Yesterday morning was the coldest yet. The official thermometer registered 36 deg. below zero at about 4:30 a. m., establishing a new record since Jan. 24, 1904, when the mercury dropped to 37 deg. below zero.

This morning the lowest temperature was 20 deg. below zero. At 7 o'clock, the mercury had climbed to 15 deg. below and was on the ascent. At noon it was still 3 deg. below, and the weather man expects that to be the high mark for the day. Temperatures from 5 deg. to 25 deg. below zero will prevail for the next two days.

Yesterday was a most uncomfortable day, as the low temperature was combined with an increase in humidity that gave the air a raw, penetrating character. The highest temperature

NEW COAL RATES ARE SUSPENDED

Commerce Commission Will Look Into Their Reasonableness.

Washington, Jan. 8. — Concerted advances in the freight rates on soft coal made by the railroads of the Western Trunk Line association, effective Jan. 13, were suspended today by the interstate commerce commission until May 11. The proposed increases averaged approximately 10 per cent. They will be investigated by the commission with a view to an equitable adjustment.

WILL FIGHT TO KEEP HOOK OFF THE BENCH

SENATOR R. L. OWEN
Of Oklahoma.

Washington, Jan. 8.—Senator Owen of Oklahoma announced today that if President Taft sent to the senate the nomination of Judge W. C. Hook as a member of the supreme court, he would fight confirmation indefinitely. Senator Owen also said that he would introduce a resolution calling upon the president for copies of all the indorsements of Judge Hook. The fight against the naming of the Kansas jurist has grown out of his decision in the Oklahoma 2-cent fare cases.

McMANIGAL IN INDIANA

Chief Witness in the Big Dynamiting Investigation Arrives.

His Absolute Seclusion Is Maintained By the Officials.

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 8.—Ortie E. McManigal, to be the principal witness in the federal grand jury investigation of the alleged dynamiting plot, ended his secret journey from Los Angeles today. Under heavy guard he was brought into this city before daylight and lodged in a cellroom in the government building.

McManigal came by way of Kansas City and Chicago in custody of authorities of Los Angeles county and deputy United States marshals.

The seclusion surrounding the witness was increased in Indianapolis because it was here McManigal, according to his confession, started on many of his dynamiting expeditions, directed by John J. McNamara.

While it is not stated how long McManigal will be kept or when he will first appear before the grand jurors, it is known the government will make no haste. His written confession, covering more than 200 typewritten pages, is to be supplemented in detail by his oral testimony, so his presence here will be required for several weeks.

James L. McManigal of Tiffin, O., the aged father of the confessed dynamiter, who arrived to testify concerning stories of dynamite found in a barn last April, hopes to be permitted to visit his son.

"AERIAL THREE-RING CIRCUS" IS PROPOSED.

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 8.—"An aerial three-ring circus" is the management's designation of the third annual aviation meet to be held here Jan. 20 to 29. Scientific flying will give way to sensations such as a marriage ceremony and "honeymoon" in an aeroplane, duck shooting by aviators in flight, a sky battle at night and various races. A score of prominent aviators, including a number of women, will be here. The prizes aggregate $100,000.

Burt Home Burned.

Chicago, Jan. 8.—The home of Horace G. Burt, former president of the Union Pacific railroad was today destroyed by fire. Loss, $100,000.

Judge Carpenter Gives Indication Regarding Pratt Testimony.

Former Armour Employe Tells More of Fixing of Prices.

Says Meetings Were Held After the Grosscup Injunction.

Chicago, Jan. 8.—United States District Judge Carpenter today indicated that he would rule out of the record of the trial of the ten Chicago packers the testimony of Jerome H. Pratt, identifying the handwriting of J. Ogden Armour and Thomas J. Connors on certain letters previously introduced in evidence by the government.

The writing of Arthur Meeker, another defendant, on one of the letters in question, was positively identified by Mr. Pratt, and will, it is believed, be allowed to remain in the records.

The letters, over which counsel for both sides have argued strenuously, were put in evidence by the government Saturday and will remain a part of the record.

Wrote to Defendants.

Pratt, who was formerly connected with the dressed beef department of

WRECK ON THE GREAT NORTHERN

Observation Car Turns Over But Nobody Is Seriously Injured.

Fargo, N. D., Jan. 8.—(Special to The Herald.) — Great Northern Train No. 2 went into the ditch half mile west of Fargo at 7 a. m. today. The observation car and the Standard sleeper left the track and the former turned over on its side. No one was hurt beyond a few bruises and a general shaking up.

H. H. Well of Williston, N. D., had an arm badly bruised and had it treated at a local hospital. It is not serious. The cause of the wreck was found to be a loose tire on a wheel of the forward truck of the sleeper that was ditched. Attorney Nobels of the Great Northern was on the train.

BRYAN GIVEN SHARP SLAP

National Committee Votes Down His Appeal 33 to 13.

Guffey Likely to Win Fight---Baltimore Strong for Convention.

Washington, Jan. 8.—When the Democratic national committee went into session here shortly before 1 o'clock this afternoon, William J. Bryan at once became a storm center in an attempt to have James M. Guffy of Pennsylvania, thrown off the committee.

The roll call of the states had been started when the trouble broke. James A. Weatherly of Alabama was recently selected by the Alabama state committee to succeed John T. Tomlinson, deceased. When his name was called today Mr. Bryan asked if there was a protest. None being received, the Nebraskan, who had been given an ovation when he entered the room, moved that the selection be approved.

National Committeeman Brown of Vermont declared that affirmative action by the national committee was not necessary, that the matter lay entirely in the hands of the state committee. Chairman Mack sustained this point of order.

Appeals by Bryan.

"I appeal from the decision of the chair," shouted Mr. Bryan.

He declared that it was plain there was a purpose to head off a protest against Col. Guffy and that the matter ought to be thoroughly discussed.

Mr. Bryan's appeal from the ruling in the Alabama case was defeated by a vote of 33 to 13. This indicated that the committee was closely united against the Nebraskan in his fight on Col. Guffy and that the latter would be retained on the committee beyond all question.

At this interesting juncture a motion to go into executive session was carried and the doors were closed. The Pennsylvania fight was plunged into at once. Representative A. Mitchell Palmer, contesting Guffy's place on the committee, was in the room, holding the Utah prexy.

The committee set 3 o'clock as the time for hearing representatives of the

"PUT YOUR MONEY IN THE EARTH" IS ADVICE TO MAN WITH FIRST $1,000

Many Enter Contest With Suggestion for Purchase of Land.

Opportunities for Market Gardener and Poultry Raiser in Duluth.

"Put your money in the earth," is the burden of the advice to the young man with his first $1,000.

Many correspondents advise the young man to buy land in or near Duluth, so that he can go into market-gardening or poultry raising as a side issue, while retaining his position in the city. Others advise the purchase of Western fruit lands, while one correspondent, whose letter is published today, suggests that hardy plums be raised near Duluth for the local market.

The contest is an interesting one, as almost every person knows just how some other person's money should be invested. Replies to the question "What Shall I Do with My First $1,000," are invited. Men who have been successful in business after a modest start are urged to enter the contest and give others the benefit of their experience.

Following are some of the letters received:

Freeman Thorp, 213 East Third street.—My advice to your correspondent who has saved $1,000 is to buy for a home near to Duluth, as much land as you can with $500 as a first payment thereon, and the balance on long enough time that your annual savings added to your saving of rent will meet the annual payments and interest charges. Get your land where there is now or is sure to be a street car line. This investment in well located land near Duluth is an absolutely safe investment and in the way that I now advise is absolutely sure to increase rapidly in value and yield you a bigger income than any other investment that is absolutely void of risk. With the other $500 plan a comfortable little cottage with a wing, build the wing to live in while your family is small. Later build with the income from your orchard the upright to your house, with a screened porch for summer, as you and your family should be in the open air as much as possible. You should buy land, a part of which at least, is cleared. The wing to your cottage can be built for $300 or if you prefer, build the whole cottage with $300 of your own money and borrow the rest. No man ever made a mistake by borrowing at reasonable interest, money to build himself a modest home, getting it insured and saving rent. With the remaining $200 plant one acre of thoroughly tested perfectly hardy Northwestern plum trees, that begin to bear in three years and will bear a crop the fourth year that in the Duluth market is worth $100, the fifth year $200, and the sixth year $400. These plums are propagated from the roots and from the pitts. The third year you will want all the plums your young orchard bears for your own use and can save all the pitts which with the root sprouts thrown up will plant another acre, each year thereafter, by using yourself $5 worth of your finest plums and saving the pitts you can with these and your sprouts plant an acre. Each acre of plum trees six years old will yield a net income of $300 over the cost of cultivation, picking and marketing, and is therefore worth $3,000. When you have the land you first bought all in plums buy more, until you have twenty acres in plum orchard, worth $60,000, with a gross income of $6,000 a year. By that time you will have given up your salaried position and with the observation and experience gained you will not need to have any one advise you how to invest your surplus income. Do not try market gardening because in a few years you would have sharp competition in the Duluth market and it requires an experienced gardener, who must be right on the ground all the time. I know exactly what the new plum will do for I am growing it in Northern Minnesota, but not near Duluth. If you care to try it call on me in the evening or write me and I will tell you all about it. A man who can plant an orchard of fruit adapted to his climate at the door of the best market and has a means of living while waiting for it to come into bearing is working on a certainty, and here at Duluth becomes at once a public benefactor with the best wishes of the whole community, who will eagerly buy his products and help him every way they can. To put all one's savings into mercantile business is taking big chances, and only a small percentage of those who enter that field achieve a fortune. The great majority either fail, quit in discouragement, or eke out just a bare living. The fruit grower is free from anxiety as to his future, and with his winters for recreation and study makes a success of life in every way.

M. O. Davis, 1020 East Sixth street—Mr. married man: In reply to your question "What shall I do with my first saving—One Thousand Dollars?" my advice is: Buy a Duluth Evening Herald every day, read the advertisements, and you will certainly find a way of investing your $1,000 to good advantage.

Gordone Dransfield, 1107 West Third street, (12 years of age.)—With my $1,000 I would buy two acres within walking distance of the Highland cars.

Then I would buy two cows and 150 chickens, sell eggs and poultry and make my own butter and the buttermilk can be sold for 50c a gallon at down town drug stores; and build a small bungalow, just large enough to live in and then plant about one acre in potatoes, which bring a big profit. Then you can plant some other vegetables for home use and keep your city business at the same time. I am,

THE ABOVE NAMED.

R. D. Nathan, 415 Sellwood building—In answer to your query, (how to invest your first one thousand dollars) there are many ways this can be done to advantage, but I do not believe it is a sufficient amount to base a one million-dollar fortune on, as is preached by our successful millionaires.

These men who have made and piled up great amounts of money are born financiers, and it was no effort for them to accumulate their first one thousand dollars, but you, Mr. Man, who have toiled hard to save your first one thousand dollars, and who will most likely have to continue to toil to save your second one thousand dollars, are in a different position, and must not be a "dreamer," but must think how that one thousand dollars can be used to best advantage, to protect your family from future want, and at the same time have use of a portion of your money.

To invest the full amount in any line of business is hazardous under the existing circumstances, and to invest a small portion of it would not be very profitable for you. So what shall you do?

After having personally studied the situation over thoroughly, it seems to me that a man with a family should protect them against the future and it's uncertain possibilities before making any chance investments, and for one of your age, I would suggest a life insurance policy of a twenty-year endowment form, which would insure you and your family against the unforeseen, and at the same time give you a greater or lesser part of your one thousand dollars for present use, according to the form of insurance you might invest in.

I will briefly illustrate the advantage of investing your money in life insurance, where you have so small amount of capital to do with.

It would cost you for one thousand dollars worth of insurance, at your age, $49.62 per year, less dividends, which amount to $5.91, $6.17, etc., and increase each year, thereby decreasing your yearly premiums materilly. Or, by paying $615.43 in one premium would net you an immediate profit of $384.57 besides giving you and your family twenty years of absolute protection. This $384.57 could be used to experiment with in any line of business you might choose, and, if lost, would make no material difference, as your original one thousand is perfectly secured in your insurance policy.

Think this over very carefully before you invest in stocks or take to the farm, etc., with your small capital for as large as one thousand dollars may look to you who have saved it by hard work, it does not go very far in business, and protection for yourself and family is what you most need at the present time.

P. C. Mulvahill, Maple Grove farm—Dear sir: Replying to your letter how to invest $1,000 to get the best results. I would suggest the following:

Interview all the real estate men. Choose from their list the very best bargain in a house and lot, inside improved property, pay $800 cash. Keep $200 for reserve. Get a good tenant and the rent, together with what you can pay from your salary, will give you a property that will give you larger results than you can get otherwise. I consider Duluth real estate the surest and safest investment, and now is the best time you can buy, while times are dull and money close.

William Morell, Grandy, Minn.—How shall I invest my $1,000?

If I were you I would go to one of the western states and buy a fruit farm. You would not need to buy more than about five acres. You would not spend all your money for this. You could buy apple trees for part of this, and the rest you could build a little house for. This farm should be located near a good railroad station. The first years your yield would not more than pay your expenses. But soon you would get good yields. You would soon pay your farm and other expenses. When you have saved a little money you could buy more land, and plant more trees, and also build a new house. The land would soon get valuable, and you would sell your land. After ten or fifteen years you woud be a very well to do farmer.

And then I would buy more land and plant other kinds of fruit.

You would soon have an income of about $2,000 or $3,000. Hoping you have a success of your farm.

G. F. Patten, 221 Sixteenth avenue west, Duluth—To the young man who has a thousand dollars to invest. You cannot afford to take any chance of losing your money as you have already given "hostage to fortune" in form of a family.

Therefore, I would suggest that you purchase land as near as possible to a car line and that you select that portion which seems in your judgment the direction which the city is growing most rapidly. Do not invest all of your thousand, but buy say two or three acres and save some of the money to improvey and cultivate the land. Then as soon as possible, build a small home and move your family out there and save paying rent. You can put in the crop which seems to be of the most marketable value in your city and build a hen house. Your wife will be able to manage the hen industry and it is certainly a most paying proposition.

If properly managed your land and hens will bring you a good income besides growing more valuable every year. You will be providing a good home for your children outside the limits of city heat and dust and you can also keep your present position and save your salary. To my mind this is the safest investment for a young man with a wife and two children.

"I'VE GOT THE FIRST $1,000; WHAT SHALL I DO WITH IT?"

For the second of its series of contests The Herald has an interesting problem which comes to it in the form of a letter that explains itself:

To the Editor of The Herald:

We have often been told—at least we used to be—by rich men that the hardest work on the road to wealth is to get the first $1,000.

I've got that sum now—saved it out of my salary during ten years. Who will tell me how to go the rest of the way? How shall I invest it? Shall I go into business, and what kind, and how?

I am 35 years old, with a wife and two small children, and have a fair position with a living salary, but that's about all. Probably I could, if nothing happened, save another $1,000 in another ten years, but with the cost of living going up faster than salaries—and I can't expect mine to go much higher than it is—it is going to be harder. If I am ever going to start out for myself and gain independence or wealth, now is the time for me to begin, while I am strong and healthy and young.

What shall I do with myself and my $1,000—and my family?

Here's a real problem, a vital one that will interest everybody; and The Herald hopes to see a large and interesting variety of answers. It hopes, too, that men who have traveled the road that lies before this young inquirer will take part in the discussion. The prizes will, of course, be no temptation to them; but this is a subject of wide interest, and they should be glad to contribute their wisdom and experience to its solution.

Write out your answer, limit it to 300 words, put your name and address at the top of the sheet, write on one side of the paper only, and send it to the Contest Editor of The Herald before Feb. 1.

For the best answer to this young man's problem The Herald will give a prize of $10.

For the next best answer The Herald will give a prize of $5.

For the third best answer The Herald will give a prize of $3.

SUPERIOR

GIRL MAY NOT BE RETURNED TO SUPERIOR.

As yet the police have received no communication from Chicago concerning the arrest and detention there of Mary Bislow, the 16-year-old Superior girl, who was reported to be on the eve of eloping in man's clothing at the time of her apprehension. It is understood that the girl has relatives in Chicago and that she will be kept there by them.

Dies in Arizona.

John L. Fulton, a former resident of Superior and long prominent in business and political circles, died in Tucson, Ariz., a week ago, according to information received yesterday by Superior friends of the family. Mr. Fulton was in the drug business here about ten years ago and was also supervisor of the Sixth ward for several years.

Theater Will Open Jan. 22.

The new Broadway theater will open its doors to the public on Monday, January 22. The decorations of the interior have been completed. The delay was caused by the late shipments of material which retarded the progress of the workmen. The first week's bill has already been arranged and the management announced positively yesterday that the house would open on the proposed date.

Judge Lindsey in Superior.

Judge Ben B. Lindsey of Denver, Colo., will speak this evening at the Superior high school on "The Juvenile Criminal," under the auspices of the Superior educators. He is the second of the six speakers who will appear in Superior between now and May.

Soo Road Appeals.

The appeal of the Soo railroad and subsidiary companies from the assessments levied for the paving of Main street, which is being heard in circuit court, will in all probability be completed today. The railroad bases its appeal on the ground that the paving does not benefit its property.

Will Discuss Rates.

A joint session of all the Woodmen in the county will be held this evening at the lodge rooms of the Whaleback camp in Maryland hall for the purpose of considering the proposed advance in the insurance rates of the order. Delegates will be named to attend the special meeting in Chicago the latter part of the month when the rates will be finally fixed for all the lodges throughout the country.

Will Manage Elks' Show.

Herman O Smith of Chicago, theatrical manager and producer, arrived in the city yesterday to make preparations for the presentation of the Elks' minstrel show which will be held in the Grand opera house Jan. 29 and 30. Mr. Smith will have entire management of the production and will begin the rehearsals in a few days.

Driven Out By Fire.

With the thermometer registering over 20 deg. below zero, the members of the family of Jalmar Aizenean were yesterday compelled to abandon their home at 4 o'clock in the morning, when flames broke out in their residence at 1615 North Fifth street. The fire was caused by an overturned lamp. They were forced to seek shelter at the home of a neighbor.

ORCHESTRA AND CHORUS

Two Popular Organizations in Concert at Y. M. C. A. Tuesday Evening.

Symphony Orchestra Has Been Enlarged for Third Appearance.

The program to be given tomorrow night at the Y. M. C. A. by the Duluth symphony orchestra assisted by the renowned Normanna chorus promises to be the most pleasing musical event from the standpoint of a popular interest that has been presented by local talent this season. This is the third appearance of Duluth's symphony orchestra, the two former concerts having been enthusiastically received. The orchestra has been strengthened for tomorrow night's program, a number of new parts being added. There are in all fifty-five pieces, making a complete and well balanced orchestra.

The excellent work of the orchestra reflects especial credit upon Gustav Flaaten, the director, who in such a remarkably short time has brought the organization to such a high stage of efficiency.

The singing of the Normanna chorus has always been enthusiastically received. This organization, which is a part of the National Society of Norwegian Singers, sings with enthusiasm and vigor. The local society has been organized for twenty years and under efficient leadership during that time they have come to be recognized as one of the leading and largest choruses in the national society.

The repertoire of songs for tomorrow night's program will include some of the best known compositions for heavy chorus work. Haarklow's "Varde" is perhaps one of the most massive and particularly adapted for heavy chorus work. Their program will further include popular numbers as well as chorus and solo numbers.

The managment is planning for a large crowd and comfortable accommodations will be provided.

The program follows:

War March ..... Mendelssohn
Orchestra.
"Varde" ..... Haarklou
Normanna Chorus.
"Antony and Cleopatra" ..... Grinwold
(a) "In the Arbor"
(b) "Dance of the Nubeans"
(c) "Solo Dance"
(d) "Antony's Victory"
Orchestra.
"Spin, Spin" ..... Jubgst
"Elf Man" ..... Gibson
Normanna Chorus.
"Adago Pathetique" ..... Godard
Orchestra.
"Aften Roster" ..... Borg
"I Guds Fri Natur" ..... Reissiger
Normanna Chorus.
Norwegian Scenes ..... Matt
(a) Prelude
(b) Intermezo
(c) Sherzo
Orchestra.

MRS. LANIGAN DIES AFTER LONG ILLNESS

Mrs. Alice Lanigan, 32 years of age, wife of Charles T. Lanigan, secretary of the Almar Iron Mining company, died Saturday evening at 8:35 o'clock after an illness of many months.

Mrs. Lanigan was formerly Miss Ebner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alois Ebner. She was one of the popular young women of the city and her death will grieve a wide circle of friends and acquaintances. She was born in this city and had lived here practically her entire life. Until last June she was a teacher in the Franklin school, when she was married to Mr. Lanigan.

The funeral took place this afternoon from the family residence, 331 East Fifth street, the services being atended only by the families of Mr. and Mrs. Lanigan. Interment was at Forest Hill cemetery.

GREEKS OF DULUTH CELEBRATE CHRISTMAS.

Duluth Greeks celebrated Christmas Saturday night and Sunday. Their celebration comes on the feast of Epiphany in the Western church, Jan. 6, and is the date known as "Little Christmas." When the celebration of Christmas was inaugurated there was no certainty as to the exact date of Christ's birth. In the Western church, the celebration was fixed on Dec. 25, while the Greek or Eastern church retained the celebration of Jan. 6. There is no Greek church in Duluth so that the celebration was wholly informal.

NORTH DAKOTA FARMER KILLED NEAR ANAMOOSE.

Fargo, N. D., Jan. 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—Gotlieb Heer, a farmer living near Anamoose, N. D., had his skull fractured Saturday afternoon and died in a few hours. He was operating a small gasoline engine, when his coat caught in the machinery and he was knocked against a beam.

HAVE YOU ADEQUATE

TELEPHONE FACILITIES?

The value of telephone service is represented by what is accomplished. It is good business policy to provide lines enough and telephones enough to accommodate your business. A switchboard, even in a small office, generally requires no additional office force. Clerks who answer the telephone on the wall can do this even more conveniently at the small switchboards, which are placed on an ordinary desk. We suggest you look into your telephone requirements. See whether you cannot save money and make money by installing more lines and facilities adequate to your business. Extension telephones and additional lines cost but a trifle compared with their value. Can you afford not to put telephones on the desks of employes who use the service when the cost is less than 3c a day?

LEAVES FROM A REPORTERS NOTE BOOK BY X

The death of Mary Plummer last week has removed another of the coterie generally spoken of by the police as "old-timers."

Mrs. Plummer was one of the characters with whom the police had to deal frequently. She was in and out, sometimes on one charge and sometimes on another, but "drunkenness" was the one which was seen most frequently opposite her name on the police blotter. She was truly a character.

Her husband died quite a number of years ago. He was known about some places in the city because of his propensity for entertaining on a little tin whistle which he carried in his pocket. And those who remember him say that he could almost make the little tin whistle talk. They assert that the couple were seen much together, and that although he frequently abused her, his wife stayed with him whether the sun was shining or not.

When Plummer died he was buried in Greenwood cemetery near the poor farm. The funeral of his wife will take place this afternoon from the undertaking rooms of Flood & Horgan. Past friends have stepped in, and she will be given a proper burial, with interment at Park hill cemetery.

William Stehpen Price.

WILLIAM DODDS PRICE has come to Duluth to look for his father, William Stephen Price, who left his home at Sunderland, Eng., twenty-six years ago and has not been heard of since. The son says that his father came here to see his brother-in-law, Joseph Forester, a contractor, in answer to a letter informing him that he had a sum of money coming to him in this city, presumably through some estate. The young man says that if his father is still alive he would be past 60 years of age. He has a firm belief that he will be able to find him alive and well. He had an old photograph of his father which he has treasured since he was a baby and thinks that despite the years his father's appearance will not have greatly changed. He explained that his mother thinks his father dead and has married again. Mr. Price is stopping at the New England hotel on First street.

Lodgers are still going to the police station nightly seeking shelter in the big jail at headquarters. Last night sixty-three men were given an opportunity to spend their sleeping hours on a hard bench or the cement floor. The night before there were fifty-one from the down and out club registered there. Jan. 6 the books show forty-eight; Jan. 5, forty-five; Jan. 4, fifty-eight; Jan. 3, thirty-five; Jan. 2, thirty-five, and Jan. 1, forty-nine. The biggest night on record was Dec. 27, when seventy-six men were lodged in the bull pen. The authorities believe that the state board of control will approve the last set of plans for remodeling the jail. When this is done no time will be lost in making the alternations, which will provide quarters for the lodgers on the Michigan street floor. It is hoped that the board of control will approve the plans at the earliest possible moment. The most cursory examination will convince the most skeptical of the urgent need of remedying the present conditions at the headquarters station.

John Knutson, Andrew Lindberg and Alexander Hendrickson were picked up by the police last night on suspicion of being swindlers who have been doing some work in the city recently. The police assert that they are extremely undesirable residents. But there was no evidence on which to hold them and they were released, with more than a hint that they would be more welcome outside than in Duluth.

Two very crestfallen boys stood before Judge Cutting this morning to answer a charge of trespass. They were Walter Peterson, 17 years old, and Lawrence Windsor, two years his senior. They were brought in last night for hanging out in the waiting station of the street railway company on the incline. They explained that they had been working at Cohasset, but that they had been laid off. They came to Duluth to stay a couple of days, partly to look for work. They didn't find anything to do and were making a nuisance of themselves at the waiting room, more because they didn't know any better than for any other reason. When they had told their stories the court allowed them their liberty with the admonition to be more careful in the future. They were very ready to make the promise.

The order of Judge Cutting that no one should be allowed to stand about the court room is meeting with universal approval at municipal court. It has put an end to the practice of half a dozen or more men crowding in front of the bench and interfering with the work of the court. It will also require reports on prisoners to be made from the table and remove the possible thought that something was being covered up. There is no reason why practically all reports should not be made so that any one in the court room can hear them.

James O'Neil didn't talk himself into a suspended sentence when he was arraigned in police court for third offense drunkenness this morning. He talked himself into jail, instead. He started to "roast" the police department and the government in general. When he heard the sentence of sixty days pronounced he shouted that he was going to institute proceedings right away to be deported. "I never did like this country," he declared as he sat down, trying to get over the shock.

RAILROAD NEWS

LOOKING TO VERMILION

Canadian Northern Railroad Said to Have Extension Under Consideration.

Mining Man Says Surveys Have Been Made From Virginia to Tower.

That the Canadian Northern railroad is showing considerable activity in the vicinity of Tower in preparation to extend its Port Arthur line from the Canadian border to the Vermilion iron range and from there to connect with its Duluth line, is the declaration of a well-known mining man who has returned from a visit to the Vermilion range.

He says that preliminary surveys have been made from a point on the Canadian Northern's line north of Virginia to Tower, a distance of twenty-five miles, and states that iron stakes have already been driven to mark the survey.

This is taken to mean that the McKenzie-Mann interests have decided to tap the Vermilion iron range and will probably be an active shipper from that range within the next two years.

The new line, if built, will put Duluth in closer communication with Port Arthur and the Canadian Head of the Lakes.

ACTIVITY ON THE CUYUNA

Editor Breidford Tells of Railroad Extensions Completed and Projected.

More than 1,000,000 tons of iron ore will probably be shipped from the Cuyuna range next season.

George S. Breidford, editor of the Cuyuna Range Miner, Cuyuna, says that when navigation opens in the spring seven mines will ship ore.

The Kennedy mine will ship 600,000 tons this year. Armour No. 1 and Armour No. 2, both at Crosby, the mine of the Inland Steel company at Ironton, the Hanna at Burrows, two miles south of Brainerd, and two other mines near Crosby will all be shipping this year he says.

Three hundred men are now employed at the Kennedy mine, and last month's payroll ran up to $15,000.

The Northern Pacific has completed its four mile spur from Deerwood to the Adams mine and has been active in acquiring ore lands recently, says the Cuyuna editor. These lands are being purchased by the Northwest Improvement company, a holding corporation for the railroad.

The Soo Line, he says, is building a spur one mile long from Cuyuna and which will cross Rabbit Lake to the new townsite of Orefield.

RELIEF FOR SHIPPERS

Slight Moderation in Weather Permits Switching Crews to Work.

Shipments of All Perishable Goods Have Been Held Back.

Moderated weather today came as a relief to shipping interests at the Head of the Lakes and freight moved more freely. Little perishable freight has been sent forward for several days and owing to the extreme cold and the inability of switching crews to give the desired service, the coal shipments have shown a great falling off.

For the first time in several days, switch engines which have been frozen up and unable to work more than two or three hours a day, were in service all morning. As a result, the coal shipments have increased materially and other commodities which require switching service are getting better despatch.

In extreme cold weather, railroads refuse shipments of perishable commodities except in heated cars, which are hard to get. Wholesale grocery houses necessarily have held back shipments of this kind, much to the inconvenience of some outside trade. Canned goods, cheese, etc., cannot be sent until the weather moderates, unless at the owner's risk.

Shipments of beer and other beverages were held back last week on account of the extreme cold and Duluth brewery sales suffered a serious setback. One concern shipped a consignment to one of the range towns by express, but even then when it reached its destination it was frozen and unsalable.

December coal shipments from Duluth and Superior totaled 23,848 cars as compared with 40,250 for the month of November. Grain shipments were cut in two, the movement in December being 4,397 as compared with 9,808 in November. The total number of cars moved during December, 1911, was 36,529, according to the figures made available by the monthly report of James Kelley, manager of the Lake Superior Demurrage bureau. The December movement shows an increase of 1,729 cars over the corresponding month of the previous year, but a big falling off as compared with November, 1911, when the total number of cars moved was 60,843.

Despite the general dullness in business circles, the total freight movement for the year showed a gain of 10,376 cars. The gain though small, is encouraging. The record of the local demurrage bureau since it was organized in 1891 is as follows:

Year.	Total Cars Moved.
1892	247,923
1894	211,769
1895	246,815
1896	250,980
1897	242,841
1898	269,113
1899	301,776
1900	272,010
1901	284,058
1902	306,985
1903	317,523
1904	322,986
1905	332,633
1906	371,312
1907	415,642
1908	338,109
1909	370,490
1910	405,044
1911	415,422

RUSH CANADIAN WHEAT TO AMERICAN MARKETS.

The Canadian Northern has followed the example of the Canadian Pacific in making a rate of 18 cents a bushel on wheat shipped from Regina to Duluth. This has been in order to take advantage of American storage facilities, those in Canada being practically filled. Millions of bushels of Canadian wheat will be kept in bond in the warehouses at Duluth and Superior during the winter.

The elevators at Port Arthur are now full. Hundreds of cars are sidetracked in the railroad yards at that place, waiting to be relieved of their grain. This will be impossible until the elevators can shoot some of their supplies into the freight boats now wintering at Port Arthur. Even with this relief, it is said that Port Arthur cannot store any more grain after Jan. 20. The elevators will hold about 22,000,000 bu and the vessels about 28,000,000 bu.

In Saskatchewan the need of more room for the wheat that is constantly coming in from the country is imperative. A large syndicate farm near Regina has about 12,000 bu of wheat stacked under a tarpaulin. The owners have not yet been able to move this grain. Farmers coming into town have frequently been forced to wait several days before they could be given space for the storage of their grain. Many farmers, living near the American boundary, have been driving across, paying the duty and marketing their grain, losing money rather than wait in the Canadian towns for the congested situation to be relieved.

Wheat has been directly consigned of late to the market at Minneapolis by Canadian shippers, because the home market has been unable to handle it. This was never known to happen before.

The high price of barley in this country, and the scarcity of room for the storage of grain in Canada, has been causing a heavy movement of Canadian barley into the United States, notwithstanding the high duty. Last Saturday a deal was made at Minneapolis whereby a car of barley changed hands at $1.30 per bushel. During the last ten days Minneapolis has received nearly 100,000 bu of Canadian barley.

Lecture Postponed.

At the monthly meeting of the Northern Railway club, which was held Saturday evening, the address which was to have been given by W. W. Brackenridge on "Lubrication" was postponed until Jan. 27, when the next meeting will be held.

Field Gets Berth.

Circulars have been received at Duluth railroad offices announcing the appointment of H. H. Field as general solicitor for the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railroad. The appointment will become effective at once.

FREEZES TO DEATH ON WAY TO CAMP

Body of Andrew West Found By Settler Near Deer River.

Andrew West, 40 years old, 725 South Sixty-ninth avenue west, was found frozen to death at 2 o'clock yesterday morning five miles from Deer River, by William Hulbert, a settler. The body was taken to the morgue at Deer River, where it was identified.

West was employed at the camp of the Minnesota Cedar & Log company and had gone to Deer River Saturday morning for the purpose of drawing money from the company which he intended sending home to his family.

After having drawn $30 West remained in the village until 10:30 o'clock in the evening, when he started for the camp, several miles away. The thermometer registered 40 degs. below zero at the time he left the city. He was found within two miles of the camp.

West was well known in this end of the city, having been janitor of the Irving school for four years. He leaves besides his widow two children, a boy of 8 and a daughter of 4. He was a member of the Duluth Camp, No. 2341, Modern Woodmen of America. The body will be brought to Duluth today when the funeral arrangements will be made by the Woodmen lodge.

WEST DULUTH LODGE INSTALLS OFFICERS.

Fraternity Lodge, No. 56, Duluth Lodge, No. 450, and West End Lodge, No. 2250, Modern Brotherhood of America, held their annual installation of officers at the Great Eastern hall, Saturday evening.

West Duluth Court, Independent Order of Foresters, will hold its annual installation of officers this evening. The new Duluth lodge of Maccabees will install officers tomorrow evening and West Duluth tent will install Wednesday evening.

DR. McCUEN SPEAKS TO REPUBLICAN CLUB.

Dr. J. A. McCuen, Republican candidate for mayor, was the principal speaker Saturday evening at the meeting of the West Duluth Republican club.

There was a large crowd present at the meeting, in spite of the cold weather. Among those who spoke were: Emil J. Zauft, Republican candidate for alderman in the Eighth ward; Capt. Clement De Roach, aldermanic candidate in the Seventh ward; W. B. Henderson, Charles Rossitter, Thomas Olafson, William Anderson, Otto Gafvert, M. T. Carlson, W. F. Markus, L. A. Barnes, Charles Kauppi, William Chesney, John K. Morgan and Capt. D. E. Stevens.

INDUSTRIAL HIGH SCHOOL REOPENS.

The Irving school reopened again this morning after the holidays. Prof. S. W. Foster, principal of the school, and his daughter, Miss Bernice Foster, returned last evening from Minneapolis, where they spent the holidays with relatives.

Students of the Industrial high school have sent a petition to the school board for a gymnasium. The boys have planned to rebuild the attic for a gymnasium, and it has been found that a good-sized room can be fitted up for that purpose.

The senior class of the high school will hold a meeting the latter part of the week and make the plans for the annual dance to be given before the close of the present semester.

Club Secures Rooms.

Arrangements have been completed by the members of the recently organized Conjurati club for new club rooms to be located at 109 Central avenue. The rooms will include a reading room, rest room, club room and gymnasium. The officers of the club are: Edward Briggs, president; Thomas Lee, vice president, and Ray Ratley, secretary and treasurer.

Officers Elected.

William Ritchie was re-elected president of the Christian Endeavor society of the Westminster Presbyterian church, Fifty-eighth avenue west and Ramsey street, at a meeting held at the church last evening. The other officers are: Miss Florence Mellin, vice president, and C. I. Towner, secretary-treasurer. Mrs. William Ritchie led the meeting of the society last evening.

Funeral of Mrs. Brotherton.

The funeral of Mrs. Mary Brotherton, 43 years old, wife of John E. Brotherton, 232 Fifty-third avenue west, who died Thursday morning at the Graham hospital, was held at 9 o'clock this morning from the St. James' Catholic church, Fifty-seventh avenue west and Kinnear place. Rev. D. W. Lynch, pastor of the church, officiated and interment was in the Calvary cemetery.

Christian Endeavor.

The Christian Endeavor society of the Smithville Presbyterian church met in the church last evening under the leadership of Miss Dorothy Dash, president of the organization. Following the meeting the annual election of officers was held.

Funeral of J. C. Erlanson.

The funeral of John C. Erlanson, 52 years old, who died Friday at his home, 128 South Sixty-eighth avenue west, was held at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon from the family residence. Rev. W. H. Farrell, pastor of the Asbury M. E. church, officiated and interment was in the Forest Hill cemetery.

Curling Matches.

No games were played Saturday and last evening at the Western Curling rink on account of the cold weather. The members postponed the scheduled games for those evenings and this evening Method will meet Ashley in the Commercial club event, for the right to meet Judson for the trophy. Judson will play Clark in the Union Match event, the winner entering the semi-final. Holland is matched with Evered in the Esterly event.

YOUNG REPUBLICANS TO HEAR TALK ON MONETARY SYSTEM

A. A. FIDER.

J. E. HORAK.

An interesting program has been arranged for the meeting of the Young Men's Republican club in Foresters' hall B, in the Winthrop block, Fourth avenue west and First street, this evening.

J. E. Horak, assistant cashier of the Northern National bank, will speak on the "National Monetary System." The subject is of prime importance at this time on account of the agitation for monetary reform. Mr. Horak has made a careful study of the subject and he will discuss the different plans offered for the improvement of the system.

A. A. Fider, Republican candidate for alderman in the Second ward, will speak on the municipal campaign. Mr. Fider is making a strong campaign for election. He will discuss different issues brought up thus far in the campaign and define his stand on them.

There will be impromptu talks by other members of the club.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

The Christmas vacation ended this morning and sessions were resumed in the high school and all grade schools throughout the city.

The weekly rehearsal of the orchestra will be held Friday of this week instead of Wednesday.

There will be no meeting of the Musical society this week.

During the chapel services this morning, President Floyd Lawson on behalf of the class of 1915, challenged the sophomores to a hockey game. President William Craig of the sophomore class accepted, and will announce the date later.

Only two members of the faculty were missing when the roll was called this morning. Miss Palmer sent word that it would be impossible to be present, but Mr. Brackett, the director of public speaking arrived in time to welcome his fourth period class.

The selected candidates for the Central basketball team met with Coach Schilling today. Mr. Schilling announced the policies to be followed and the first practice will be held Tuesday.

In chapel this morning Principal Young formally announced the concert which the school orchestra, under the direction of Dwight Heistand, will give Friday night, Jan. 26. This concert, which is to be given for the benefit of the athletic association, will be varied. Several prominent soloists will be heard.

Gideons Organize.

Members of the Y. M. C. A. interested in the project of winning commercial travelers to the Christian church, held a meeting at the Y. M. C. A. building Saturday evening and organized the Society of Gideons, with a charter membership of thirteen. Officers were elected as follows: President, E. D. Rancle; vice president, S. V. Ballon; secretary, F. L. Berkherser, and chaplain, C. E. Parsons. The first religious meeting of the society was held at the Y. M. C. A. Sunday evening. Regular meetings are to be held once a month. One of the methods by which the society will work is to install Bibles in the various rooms of hotels. It is hoped in time to have every hotel in America thus equipped with Bibles.

Break in Sprinkling System.

The alley back of the Lyceum building is adorned with decorations which would be in place in some mammoth ice palace. The wires running into the office of the Zenith Telephone company are loaded down with icicles. A pipe in the sprinkling system broke yesterday, causing a small flood. A considerable part of the water froze as it struck the wires.

Non-Support Is Charged.

Walter Graveille was arrested this morning on a warrant sworn out by his wife charging him with non-support. He entered a plea of guilty but his case was set over for this afternoon for a further report.

BRYAN THREATENS APPEAL TO PEOPLE

Guffey Calls Palmer "Liar" at Democratic Meeting.

Washington, Jan. 8.—The lie was passed in the Democratic committee late today, and William J. Bryan made a threat to "appeal to the people" if overridden by the committee in his fight to unseat Col. James M. Guffey, national committeeman from Pennsylvania.

This threat, coming immediately after the Bryan-La Follette conference of yesterday, renewed gossips as to the possibility of a third party.

Col. Guffey hurled the charge of "Liar" at Congressman A. Mitchell Palmer, who is contesting his seat. The latter replied that he had spoken the truth and that only Guffey's age prevented him from making a personal matter of the affair.

REASON FOR $1,000 FUND

Severe Weather Conditions and Scarcity of Work Made It Necessary.

Poor Board Scope Limited---Big Increase in Emergency Cases.

Why should the call for $1,000 for charity be made at this time?

Why doesn't the county take care of the poor of the city as it formerly did?

Isn't the charitable work of the city being duplicated?

These are questions which have been asked by many Duluthians during the last few days, and those in charge of the city's charitable work were interviewed this morning in an attempt to secure an answer to these questions.

The severe weather conditions and the scarcity of employment made necessary the raising of $1,000 to be used as an emergency fund.

The money has been raised under the direction of the Associated Charities and will be expended by officers of the society to relieve the situation. At a recent meeting of the directors of the society, the situation of the unemployed was gone over thoroughly and it was decided to raise the money to relieve the situation, which is only temporary, it is thought.

Every day the office of the society at the courthouse is crowded with men anxious to get work at the rockpile or any other employment that the secretary knows of. Many of them need clothes to keep them warm while working and these are usually furnished the Associated Charities by individuals and given out to those who need them.

Recently the council created a revolving fund for the upkeep of the city rock quarry and its enlargement. At the present time but sixteen men can be accommodated at the yard. Later when the funds become available and the yard has been enlarged, at least thirty men will be given city employment. This will be done as soon as possible.

The raising of the money at this time was necessary because all the societies have more than they can do, the poor board is restricted under the law as to how much help it can contribute and hundreds of men were applying for work and relief at the office of the Associated Charities.

The poor board is doing as much as it can under the restrictions put upon it by state laws. The poor board may give but $4 per month to each family for groceries and fuel, no matter how deserving the case. The yearly amount allowed by law is $50. This puts the poor board at disadvantage in extending help and it becomes necessary for private charity to step in. That's the reason the campaign for funds was started and carried out so successfully.

The Associated Charities was organized for emergency cases and to act as a clearing house for the rest of the charitable societies so that there would be no duplication. The surplus cases caused at this time because the other societies have more than they can do are considered emergency cases.

Spends $150 Monthly.

The Associated Charities had been spending about $150 a month for emergency cases up to the time the present cold spell descended upon the city. This money was taken from the general fund and the general fund was at low ebb at the beginning of the time money was needed most.

The situation became so acute that money was needed badly at once and the campaign for the $1,000 was decided upon.

A number of local manufacturing plants have closed for the winter. This throws many men out of employment who were barely able to make both ends meet with their weekly wages. There was nothing for them to do but to appeal for help to the Associated Charities.

Many of them were without coal. Many were caught without a supply of food.

The mills are not employing as many men as they have in other years and not so many men are being employed in the woods.

The wages paid in the woods are smaller than for some years. But $22 a month is offered men, it is claimed, and jobs are scarce. The men who formerly were cared for by the Bethel also swell the list.

It is possible that a "visitor" will be employed temporarily at the office of the Associated Charities. This "visitor" will investigate cases and extend help where it is absolutely necessary.

He will go home with the man who comes to the office for help and investigate his story. All those now employed at the office have more than they can do. No help is extended until after investigation.

JOHNSON WILL GO TEN ROUNDS

Champion to Enter Short Bout in Preparation for Flynn Battle.

Chicago, Jan. 8.—Jack Johnson probably will fight a ten-round battle with someone before May 1, after which he must engage in no more contests until he has met Jim Flynn, according to the articles of agreement signed here last Saturday. Just who the colored champion's opponent in the short fight will be, is not known. He has several offers under consideration.

Casey Moran of South Porcupine, Ont., today wired an offer of $50,000 for the Johnson-Flynn bout. It was not considered as the bout probably will go to Windward, Nev.

Flynn left here today for Toronto, where he meets Al Kubiak, Jan. 17.

CURLERS WILL PLAY FOR TROPHY

Duluth curlers will go to Superior tonight for the first of the series of matches for the Manley-McLennan trophy. The second match will be played Wednesday evening at the Duluth Curl-club rink. There has been come conflict over the dates, but they are now definitely fixed.

The Superior curlers will bring a number of skating members with them Wednesday evening as guests and there will be special music for the skating division of the club. Flaaten's band will play Tuesday night as usual and again Wednesday evening, for any Superior club members who care to come.

The hockey game between the Pheonix club of St. Paul and the Curling club team has been postponed until after the bonspiel.

CLARENCE FORBES WANTS TO "COME BACK."

Chicago, Jan. 8.—Clarence Forbes, who eight years ago was one of the best featherweights in the country will essay to "come back" in a bout with "Kid" Taylor of Kenosha, Wis., Jan. 22. In the same ring on that night Harry Forbes will meet Johnny Coulon for the bantamweight championship.

CHILDREN WANT IT THREE TIMES A DAY

Duluth children want "Minnesota" macaroni and spaghetti three times a day. They are delighted with its delicious, nut-like flavor, and Duluth ladies find there is nothing better for them.

People are just beginning to realize that good macaroni and spaghetti are the best and most nourishing foods and they will take the place of meat very largely. They are easily prepared and no one ever tires of them, because they can be served in so many appetizing ways.

But if you want that rich, nut-like flavor be sure and get the delicious "Minnesota" brand macaroni or spaghetti — made from the finest Northern Durum wheat, with all the nourishing Gluten left in. It is easily digested and never gets soggy. All good Duluth grocers sell it.

NEWS AND VIEWS OF MINNESOTA POLITICS

The Democratic national committee is meeting in Washington today. The time and place for the national convention will be fixed. Other matters likely to come up are the presidential primary and the proposition to change the majority requirement for nomination.

The Democratic committee will probably take a position similar to that of the Republican committee on the presidential primary. The matter will likely be left to the states without interference from the committee. There is strong opposition to any action by the committee in the rule providing that a candidate must get two-thirds of the votes at a convention, to be nominated.

The convention date will probably be in July. The Republican convention is to be held in Chicago, June 18, and the Democratic convention usually follows that of the other big party. The last Democratic national convention was held in Denver, July 7, 1908.

The only contest of note before the committee is expected to arise in connection with the choice of the convention city. Denver, St. Louis, Chicago, Baltimore and New York are candidates. There is strong opposition to New York on account of the Tammany dominance of the Democracy in that city. The candidate nominated there would certainly be charged with the Tammany stamp, opponents of New York say. Chicago has the Republican national convention and wants the Democratic meeting but the committee is not likely to take kindly to that idea. Denver had the last convention. It looks as though the contest will be between St. Louis and Baltimore with the odds in favor of St. Louis.

Samuel Lord, member of the state tax commission, doesn't take very readily to the proposition that he be the candidate of the Progressive Republicans for the Republican nomination for governor. Mr. Lord thinks Sam Gordon is Progressive enough to be the Progressive candidate and he suggests that possibly the Sams are mixed. A dispatch from St. Paul says:

"They've got their 'Sams' mixed," said Samuel Lord of the state tax commission, in discussing the report that Progressives in Minneapolis had selected him as a prospective candidate for governor.

"They meant Sam Gordon, the lieutenant governor," he said.

Mr. Lord is not inclined to take seriously the proposal that he make the race against Eberhart.

Sam Gordon's candidacy will be announced in a few days, is the words that has gone through the state. Mr. Gordon will probably make the announcement in the form of a statement, setting forth the basis for his candidacy.

That Gordon would be a candidate has been understood for some time. When he committed himself, in the Canestorp letter, to announce himself for the nomination if conditions shortly after the first of the year warranted there was little doubt in the minds of anyone as to what the outcome would be. The country press feels very kindly toward Gordon and his boom was given prompt and hearty impetus.

George T. Simpson with the "king for a day" letter and the interest-controlled press did their best to pulverize Gordon, but apparently they have done him little harm—maybe some good.

Some of the Progressives have vainly endeavored to get Congressman Lindbergh into the race, which would divide the Progressive support and insure Eberhart the nomination, but Lindbergh refused and the field is now left to Gordon and Eberhart.

Between Gordon and Eberhart, there is a well-defined issue—corporation domination. Eberhart is the tool of the interests; Gordon incurred the enmity of the interests by acting independent of them in making his appointments as presiding officer of the senate at the last session. If Eberhart wins, it will be because the interests are in control and are able to force their man through the state convention.

The Eveleth News, published in Senator James P. Boyle's home town, has started booming the youthful senator for the Republican nomination for congress. The attitude of the News would seem to indicate that Senator Boyle is considering entering the race, or his ardent admirers are urging him to do so. Many of Senator Boyle's real friends are doubtful of the wisdom of advising him to enter the race this year. He is young, is valuable in the state senate and would be in imminent danger of incurring a defeat that would put a blight on his political future. Of Senator Boyle's ability there is no doubt, but Congressman Miller is strong on his record since his first mistake of judgment and any opponent would have great difficulty defeating him.

Ed Smith, the czar of the Republican party in Minnesota, is coming in for considerable adverse press comment. Smith has never been regarded as one of the anointed and since the Simpson interview has laid bare his methods and revealed his undying allegiance to Eberhart, the comment has been general and pointed.

The Owatonna Journal-Chronicle says:

Who is Ed Smith? He is a mighty smooth Minneapolis politician, state senator for several terms and then known as the boss of the senate, the man who "helped" Eberhart, then lieutenant governor, to appoint the all-important committees, and the managing brains of the corporation-representing combine in the legislature. When he was forced upon the party as state committee chairman by Eberhart there was loud protest everywhere, beginning from some of the other candidates on the state ticket, but none of the latter has dared go very far in "bucking" Ed Smith.

Further light upon this interesting situation is afforded by little-known but well authenicated facts concerning the last state campaign. These facts are as follows: Although a state Republican committee was appointed consisting of representatives from every county and district which committee was supposed to direct the campaign and the financing of the same, but one meeting of that committee was ever called nor did the members of that committee have any part in or knowledge of the securing of the usual campaign subscriptions to raise funds.

This means simply that Ed Smith and his chosen assistants ran the campaign, raised the funds, were the "whole works.'

The average member of the committee knews nothing of where the money, which was plentiful apparently, came from, how much there was or what was done with it if any was used aside from the expenses of headquarters, literature and the speech-making tours.

Knowing Ed Smith's affiliations, it is not hard to guess that the brewers, the railroads, and the big corporations, generally, made it unnecessary for Ed Smith to call upon anyone else for money; and also made it desirable for Chairman Smith to avoid an inquiry into or interference with the campaign such as might grow out of a committee meeting.

HUMANE SOCIETY BEGINS CAMPAIGN FOR SQUARE DEAL FOR HORSES

The Duluth Humane society has begun a campaign to protect horses during the present cold spell. The assistance of all citizens is asked and they are especially urged not to order cabs until they are needed. This will prevent horses being kept standing in the cold.

The society has sent out the following as hints on the treatment of horses in cold weather:

"Don't use cold bits in cold weather. Your horse's tongue is tender and his mouth is formed of delicate glands and tissues.

"Don't clip your horse when the mercury is below the freezing point.

"Don't fail to blanket your horse when he stands exposed to the cold.

"Don't forget that nasal catarrh, diphtheria, bronchitis and other ills often result from exposure to the chill which follows suddenly checked perspiration.

"Don't fail to keep your horse's shoes sharp when the streets are slippery.

"Don't put your horse's feet into the care of unskilled hands. Good feet can be spoiled by poor shoeing.

"Don't keep your horse in an overheated stable, then stand him for hours in a freezing temperature and wonder why he became paralyzed.

"Don't fail to water your horse the first thing in the morning—but not with ice water.

"Don't load your horse too heavily on the ice covered hills.

"Don't try to convince your horse that he is on skates when he strikes a slippery asphalt pavement. Go slow.

"Don't fail to oil your wagon axles. There is a lot of humanity in wagon grease if your conveyance is not on runners.

"Don't fail to have your horse's teeth examined every little while. Of what good is food if a horse can't eat it?

"Don't dock your horse's tail. He needs it in the winter as well as in the summer.

"Don't forget that there is more profit in coaxing a horse than in kicking him.

"Don't wait until your horse is dead before you send for a doctor.

"Don't forget to notify the Humane society when its services are needed for a successful investigation or prosecution of a case."

From a certain Republican standpoint the Roosevelt agitation is a gospel of hope; from the viewpoint of a majority of Democrats the revival of Bryan talk is a counsel of despair.

The Roosevelt Candidacy.

Just what started the moment's vigorous discussion of the Roosevelt candidacy puzzles politicians. It is too vigorous, finds simultaneous expression in too many widely separated sections to be wholly spontaneous. Politicians look to Wall Street for an explanation, for it is well known that big business would not be averse to the colonel's renomination. But I learn on unimpeachable authority that the Standard Oil crowd is convinced that he does not intend to run this year, but will save himself for the more propitious days of 1916. If the movement for his nomination this year had a Wall Street origin it must have been in other than the Standard Oil camp. Perhaps, Pierpont Morgan or Judge Gary, whom President Roosevelt treated so kindly in the matter of Tennessee Coal & Iron, may be able to tell. At any rate no one thinks that Garfield and Pinchot fought so strongly against the Ohio indorsement of La Follette without some assurance from New York.

What Will Bryan Do?

Two years ago Mr. Bryan returned from South America just in time to toss county option as an apple of discord into the Nebraska Democratic ranks. Thereby he defeated his long-time friend, Dahlman, for governor and put the senatorial seat of his supporter, Gilbert M. Hitchcock, in jeopardy. Fear is expressed here that his return from the West Indies on the eve of the national committee meeting portends action equally troublesome. That he will urge the committee to provide for nation-wide presidential primaries in its call is to be expected. That would be done in any event, even though Mr. Bryan were not present. The committee will turn the proposition down whoever urges it, for beside the questions of expediency involved, there is the question of money. It is estimated that to hold a primary in Illinois or Missouri would cost from $75,000 to $100,000 and there is absolutely no way to find the money. The question is one that will settle itself in time, for before the 1916 convention most of the Northern states will have presidential primaries by law.

There is no way in which Mr. Bryan can drag the liquor question into the national committee, but he may in his address before the banquet that night — which is an official occasion—say something which will embarrass his party. As to the nervousness of Democrats here concerning his utterances there can be no doubt. All regard him as an unknown and probably a dangerous quantity, and his arrival tempers the Democratic optimism which has soared so high.

The Politicians' View.

If the thoughts in the minds of men in Washington could be made graphic and printed one upon the other, as negatives of their faces are printed one above the other to form a composite picture, I believe this would be the composite thought of political Washington—all types of Republicans, all types of Democrats and the shrewd observer without a party:

The Republican party cannot win with Taft; La Follette probably cannot get the nomination and, if nominated, cannot be elected; Roosevelt, if nominated, stands a chance of election as no other Republican does. He is the Republican hope.

The Democratic party can win with Harmon, Wilson, Clark Underwood or even some unknown candidate if Bryan does not by some act in the convention, or by his course during the campaign, defeat it. He is the Democratic danger.

tection of the canal and zone; fourth, whether the government should lease lands in the zone to Americans for agriculture, or should use the entire area as a military reserve.

"The committee held hearings of a most extensive character, and all the officials in the zone supplied full accounts of their work, news and suggestions.

The Toll Question.

"Perhaps the most important item is that of tolls. Many believe the canal should be be free. If tolls are charged, how much shall they be? The canal officials believe in tolls, I think most of the committee favor tolls of some amount. Speaking for myself alone, I think we should charge $1.25 per registered ton, which would be 62 cents per actual ton of freight. This is much less than the charge at Suez, and that canal cost $80,000,000, while ours cost $400,000,000.

"I believe some reduction should be made to American ships—a preferential in tolls would help materially to rehabilitate the American merchant marine. In general, we must make the toll high enough to pay the operating expense, and yet keep it low enough to make the route attractive to trade.

Fortification Unnecessary.

"I have become converted to the need of an extensive military establishment at the canal. The two forts, one at each end, must be ample, then the fullest protection must be given to the gates and locks—they are the valuable parts, the protection must be against the dynamiter who can make a quick dash across the zone. The problem is not simple. Some favor leaving the jungle on either side of the canal, because this is hard to get through. Others think the jungle should be cleared, and the whole carefully protected. One thing is certain, the canal henceforth will be an important feature of our national defense, and we must insure its protection and preservation.

Simple Government.

"I think the form of government should be very simple and inexpensive, much simpler than that now in existence. Probably it should be largely military.

"Workingmen there of the American class enjoy the best wages and best conditions I have ever seen anywhere.

"The greatest achievement of all, in my opinion, is really not digging the canal—gigantic as that is—but in transforming this plague spot of the world into a health resort, where every comfort is at hand, and disease eradicated.

"Duluth people will be interested to know that I saw much of the Gaillards. The colonel has charge of the Culebra cut section, the most important section of the canal."

Committee Meets Tuesday.

The committee of which Mr. Miller is a member will hold its first meeting tomorrow to frame a program for hearings and other parliamentary work as a basis of the bill which will be reported out to the house later in the session. The question of the treatment to be accorded American shipping, whether to give craft flying the American flag preferential rates and the problem of whether to vest wide discreation in the president as to the amount of tolls or to make specific legislation for the rates in the bill, will be fought out in the committee. The senate committee on inter-oceanic canals has made no plans, being disposed to wait upon the house.

RACINE DAILY NEWS PASSES.

Is Merged With the Journal After Sixteen Years.

Racine, Wis., Jan. 8.—Today's issue of the Racine Journal-News marks the passing of the Daily News after sixteen years of publication. The merger of the News into the Journal was consummated several weeks ago by direct purchase, the latter paper taking over the entire equipment of the News and also its subscription lists. This accretion places the Journal-News in a class with the largest papers in the state. The management of the Journal-News will continue under the direction of Frank W. and Frank R. Starbuck of the Journal. The policy will remain as heretofore.

BABY BURNS TO DEATH IN HER HIGH CHAIR.

Chicago, Jan. 8.—Wrapped in a blanket in a high chair drawn up to the kitchen stove, 2-year-old Jewell Berhaur, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Berhaur, was found by her mother burned to death, when the latter returned after an absence of ten minutes Sunday. It is supposed that a corner of the baby's blanket caught fire from the hot stove.

Manslaughter Case Set.

Calumet, Mich., Jan. 8.—Peter Winsa and Charles Helberg, charged with manslaughter for the alleged killing of Bernhard Matela, whose body was found in Portage lake Tuesday, will be given a justice court examination on Jan. 10.

GREAT NORTHERN WRECK PREVENTED

Broken Rail Near Grasston Discovered and Gopher Limited Is Saved.

Grasston, Minn., Jan. 8.—(Special to The Herald)—Ex-Roadmaster J. Postal and his son are in line for hero medals, as their prompt action is believed to have prevented the wreck of the Gopher limited, the fast Great Northern train, Saturday. While walking along the track east of here, en route for their home on a farm, they discovered a badly broken rail half a mile east of Grasston, which would have wrecked the fast Gopher, running between Duluth and St. Paul, had it not been discovered. Mr. Postal sent his son to notify the station agent and also the section men and he went east to flag any train that might come from the east. The extremely cold weather is thought to have caused the rail to break. It was fortunate that Mr. Postal found the broken rail as it certainly prevented a wreck.

As the section men had patrolled the beat in the forenoon the rail must have been broken by some train passing over it during the day.

The last few days have been the coldest during the winter, being 20 deg. below zero Saturday.

HE TURNED DOWN VICE PRESIDENCY

Judge Lindsey of Denver Declined to Run on Hearst Ticket.

Fargo, N. D., Jan. 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—"I am a firm believer in woman's suffrage" said Judge Ben Lindsey, "the juvenile judge of Denver, while in Fargo Friday between trains, "but there will be women and many of them who will be machine women, in politics, just as there are machine men."

In Colorado.

The judge said that he did not take the candidacy of Mrs. Sarah Platt Decker for United States senator, seriously, although he said Mrs. Decker is a very estimable woman. She is being mentioned as a possible successor to the late Senator Hughes.

Judge Lindsey said that in 1908 he was offered the place of the vice presidency on the Hearst ticket, but turned it down and intimated that there already had been offered to him an alignment of Democracy, whereby he was to get the vice presidency, but that he absolutely refused to be a candidate.

HOSE ARE FROZEN AT HURLEY BLAZE

Firemen Finally Extinguish Bad Fire Under Great Difficulties.

Hurley, Wis., Jan. 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—The local firemen fought a fire here Friday afternoon during the bitter cold under very adverse circumstances. It started from a defective chimney in the attic of John Greace's candy shop and spread to Torino's saloon next door. At first six nozzles were turned on the fire and then two were shut off. When the firemen wished to turn on the two extra hose, they were so badly frozen they could not be used again. Main street is so filled with ice from the water used that street cars are tied up, not being able to pass because the ice is over the track.

The quick work of the firemen saved the adjoining buildings, the fire raging all afternoon. The firemen had to drag the hose to the town hall, because they were so badly frozen they could not be put on the hose carts. The interior of the buildings are about demolished by the fire. No estimate of the damage could be learned at this time.

SOO PRESIDENT WILL SPEAK AT HARVEY, N. D.

Harvey, N. D., Jan. 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—President Pennington of the Soo railroad will speak here on Jan. 24, when the Wells County Development league, recently launched, will be permanently organized Thomas Cooper of the North Dakota Better Farming association, President J. H. Worst of the state agricultural college, and E. S. Delaney, a prominent worker in the Barnes County Hundred Dollar Acre association, will also speak.

NEW BESSEMER STORE IS DAMAGED BY FIRE.

Ironwood, Mich., Jan. 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—Fire broke out Friday afternoon in the store building occupied by La Bloud & Co., at Bessemer starting from the furnace, and getting between the chimney and the casing around the chimney. The quick work of the fire department saved the building, but a great deal of damage was done to the goods by water. La Bloud & Co. just moved into their new store before Christmas. No estimate of the amount of damage done could be made at this time.

MISSED LAST BOAT FOR GRAND MARAIS.

C. H. Carhart of Grand Marais, sheriff of Cook county, arrived in Duluth yesterday on his way home from Indianapolis.

He had intended to go home on the steamer Easton of the Booth line, but the Easton made her last trip of the season last week.

Sheriff Carhart left this morning for Cramer, a station on the Alger Smith line. From Cramer he will stage it across the country for forty miles.

FOUR QUALITIES OF THE SUCCESSFUL MAN.

"Four essential qualities go to make up the successful man—wisdom, justice, courage and self-control," said Rev. Robert Yost in a lecture on "The Making of a Man" yesterday afternoon at the Y. M. C. A. There was a large crowd in attendance.

Wisdom, declared the pastor, is the choice of life. A man must select the proper course and aim at the right mark if he successds. Justice, he said, was simply the working of the Golden Rule. The elements of courage and self-coorol, he said, should also be inculcated.

PASTOR SAYS ALL MEN NEED ENCOURAGEMENT.

"A Man Who Needed Encouragement" was the subject of a serman preached last evening at the First Presbyterian church by Rev. Robert Yost. The pastor took the life of Paul for an example and pointed out how this great soldier of the cross never wavered although it was certain that he needed encouragement at times.

"We will need encouragement," he said. "More men die of despair and the belief that no one cares, than are spoiled through over-encouragement. Young man, go out and see what you can do."

During the evening, Miss Isabelle Pearson rendered three organ selections. Miss Pearson studied in Paris under the direction of Guilmant and her organ numbers were especially pleasing. Two anthems were sung by the choir and a solo was given by Miss Glenn Bartholomew.

NOTORIOUS BOX CAR THIEF PLEADS GUILTY.

Butte, Mont., Jan. 8.—John Laird, alleged to be one of the most notorious boxcar robbers operating in the Western country, pleaded guilty here to robbing a boxcar of the Milwaukee railway of 4,500 cigars, kid gloves and various other articles. He was sentenced to five years in the penitentiary. In different parts of the country he has been known as J. B. Corrigan, W. C. Wilson, "Fat" Wilson and Fred Strand. He is one of a gang operating between Butte and Spokane.

Mike Davis Identified.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 8.—Scars on the body of the man arrested in Michigan for burglary and sentenced for a term ranging from seven and one-half to fifteen years, positively identifies him as the Mike Davis, alias "Lancaster Curley," wanted for participation in the Puposky safe blowing, according to Charles E. Keller, state fire marshall. Bertillion measurements from the prison has convinced Mr. Keller that Michigan has the man wanted here.

PIONEER CASS COUNTY FARMER BORNE TO GRAVE.

Fargo, N. D., Jan. 8.—The funeral of Charles W. Burnham, who died Friday night at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Joseph Matters, took place Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock from the Matters residence, and the services were conducted by Rev. Dr. R. A. Beard of the First Congregational church of this city. The deceased is survived by his widow and seven children, four of whom reside at Wheatland, which is the homestead farm of the family.

Mr. Burnham was one of the old pioneers of this section and was loved and respected by all who knew him. He was 82 years old at the time of his death, which was caused by apoplexy. He had been a farmer all his life and was one of those who came to Cass county in the early days.

Examining Williston Charges.

Williston, N. D., Jan. 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—Bn an investigation in progress here, W. T. Poe, ex-city auditor, will have an oportunity of proving statements he made before the state pardon board recently that he had been "jobbed" in being prosecuted for alleged shortages in city moneys. The council is backing the investigation and the city books are being thoroughly re-audited.

Photographic Contest.

Bemidji, Minn., Jan. 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Crookston Lumber company, owning 40,000 acres of land in Beltrami county, of which 23,000 acres were sold last year, through J. P. Biddell of this city, offers $5 prizes for the best photographs of typical Northern Minnesota scenes to be used in advertising the lands. The contest closes Feb. 1.

Heavy State Land Receipts.

Bismarck, N. D., Jan. 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—Purchasers and renters of state lands are in better financial condition this year than they have been for the past three years, judging from the receipts of the state land commissioner. For the last five months of 1911 the receipts were the heaviest in the history of the department, $186,856.34.

Double Murderer Held.

Hayward, Wis., Jan. 8.—Nels Paulson, who shot and killed the squaw wife of Anaquad Bluesky and her 1-year-old child then shot himself in the face, has been held by the coroner's jury for the double killing. He is in jail in bad shape from his wound.

Deer River Powerless.

Deer River, Minn., Jan. 8.—The town was without electric light or power for about ten hours Saturday, because of the breaking down of the plant. As the plant pumps water fears were experienced that a fire might result.

A BAD COLD IS EASILY BROKEN

Surely Cures a Cold and Ends Grippe Misery In a Few Hours.

There is not one grain of quinine in Pape's Cold Compound, which, when taken every two hours, until three consecutive doses are taken, will surely end the grippe and break up the most severe cold, either in the head, chest, back, stomach or limbs.

It promptly relieves the most miserable headache, dullness, head and nose stuffed up, feverishness, sneezing, sore throat, running of the nose, catarrhal affections, soreness, stiffness and rheumatic twinges.

Pape's Cold Compound is the result of three years' research at a cost of more than fifty thousand dollars, and contains no quinine, which we have conclusively demonstrated is not effective in the treatment of colds or grippe.

Take this harmless Compound as directed, with the knowledge that there is no other medicine made anywhere else in the world which will cure your cold or end Grippe misery as promptly and without any other assistance or bad after-effects as a 25-cent package of Pape's Cold Compound, which any druggist in the world can supply.

The same way you would make it today if you had all the materials handy and time to spare. A rich nourishing broth; and good chicken-meat aplenty in it. All materials of the same high quality—polished "head"-rice imported from India; crisp celery, fresh parsley and leeks—a delicate species of onion.

Just try it today. You'll say there never was a better or tastier soup made.

CASCARETS WORK WHILE YOU SLEEP

Salts, Calomel and Cathartic Pills are violent—they act on bowels as pepper acts in nostrils.

Take a Cascaret tonight and thoroughly cleanse your Liver, Stomach and Bowels, and you will surely feel great by morning. You men and women who have headache, coated tongue, can't sleep, are bilious, nervous and upset, bothered with a sick, gassy, disordered stomach, or have backache and feel all worn out.

Are you keeping clean inside with Cascarets—or merely forcing a passageway every few days with salts, cathartic pills or castor oil? This is important.

Cascarets immediately cleanse and regulate the stomach, remove the sour, undigested and fermenting food and foul gases; take the excess bile from the liver and carry off the decomposed waste matter and poison from the intestines and bowels.

Remember, a Cascaret tonight will straighten you out by morning. A 10-cent box from your druggist means a clear head and cheerfulness for months. Don't forget the children.

WEST END

THE CHRISTIAN AND POLITICS

Rev. Milton Fish Defines Privileges in Government Affairs.

Rev. Milton Fish, pastor of the Central Baptist church, Twentieth avenue west and First street, spoke on "Political Rights Peculiar to the Christian" at the services last evening. The pastor compared the earthly governments as being pitiable excuses for the kingdom of God. Until that kingdom is set up, said Rev. Fish, the children of God pay taxes and support modern governments only as a gracious concession to public opinion.

The Christian has the following peculiar political privileges, said Rev. Fish:

"1. He can conform to the demands of government feeling that he is graciously waiving his legal rights. He knows that soon he will reign with Christ.

"2. He can have God's help in upholding even an unjust government as a good public spirited citizen. It never interferes with a Christian's loyalty to Christ to be a patriot in regard to nation or a booster in regard to the city.

"3. He can be a fighter for civic reform at the impulse of a genuine zeal for God's honor. Personal grievance forever disgusts us. The protest of citizens, who forget to commend and encourage where it is possible, realizes every reform movement. God's children can be enthusiastic reformers with no axes to grind.

"4. He can be well poised in the midst of the failures and success of political reforms. Modern society is doomed and all present day kingdoms will be destroyed. Political and social reforms afford but temporary relief. The world powers are breaking up into lawlessness.

"5. He can see that all political reform is a success, in that it prepares the world to accept the teaching, the only hope for the people of this age is the personal return of Christ as king."

ST. FRANCIS HAD SUBLIME FAITH

Rev. George E. Silloway Preaches on Life of Saint of Assisi.

Rev. George E. Silloway, pastor of the Grace M. E. church, Twenty-second avenue west and Third street, spoke on "Francis of Assisi" at the services last evening. The sermon was the fifth in the series on "Great Religious Leaders." Next week Rev. Silloway will speak on "Martin Luther." He spoke in part last evening, as folows:

"The Bishop of London said recently that the two lives which have had the most far reaching effect on modern civilization were those of Napoleon and Francis of Assisi, and in a comparison of the two men the influence of St. Francis would seem to be by far the greater. The spend-thrift son of a rich and indulgent father, he was the leader in all the revels among the young men of the village of Assisi until his twenty-fourth year. Then, after a serious illness and some other misfortunes, he resolved to devote his life to Christian service; and after his twenty-seventh year gave his life as whole heartedly to the service of Christ as he had previously given himself over to seeking his own pleasure. The first thing he saw that needed to be done was to restore the local church that was going to ruin. This he did with his own hands; he ministered to the poor; he cared for the lepers; he preached with simplicity and power wherever he went.

"If an artist lives on a crust of bread in order to devote himself to his art, it does not follow that he is to be pitied as an unfortunate. It simply means that his art is far more of a joy to him than would be the delights of the sumptuous feasts. He has given up the lesser joys for the greater. So when a Christian finds it in his heart to give up certain pleasures, if he does, it is because the religious joy so far surpasses them that they are as naught compared with it. He does not give up all joy in living, but attains the highest joy that earth can know, and expects the 'brighter joy of heaven.'

"The distinguishing characteristic of Francis was his faith. 'No one really believed in Christ and Christianity. Most men only half believe. What the church needs today is men like this man, who in absolute simplicity and faith try to live as nearly like Christ as the conditions of the times permit.'"

LAST SERMON ON OLD TESTAMENT HEROES.

Rev. J. A. McGaughey of the Second Presbyterian church, 1515 West Superior street, gave the last sermon last evening in the series on "Old Testament Heroes." The subject yesterday was "Jeremiah" and Rev. Mr. McGaughey showed how this young man performed his duties even in the face of defeat.

"Jeremith was not the type of man who has an unpopular, disagreeable message to deliver and who usually shrinks from his duty. When God told him to tell the king that the country would fall, Jeremiah was true to his obligation Jonah ran away from his duties and when he was asked to go on a mission, he said he was afraid.

"The fact that God always asked the young man to perform the hardest missions, shows that he can accomplish as much as the older man, and when one goes back to history, he can find where the greatest feats and wonders were accomplished by the young man. David was young when he became king. John Calvin wrote his greatest work before he was 24 and John Wesley organized his church when he was 25. If a man is given power to serve, he must do his best under every difficulty, and it is that man who will always succeed."

REVIVAL SERVICES IN THE WEST END.

Nearly every West end church is holding revival meetings this week and the pastors have secured assistants for the work. At the First Norwegian-Danish M. E. church, Twenty-fourth avenue west and Third street, Rev. E. Hanson of Ashland, Wis., will assist Rev. Edward Erickson at the meetings beginning tomorrow evening.

Rev. Fred Stromberg of Lindstrom, Minn., will assist Rev. Edward Stromberg of the First Swedish M. E. church in the revival meetings during the week. At the Swedish Mission church, Twenty-first avenue west and Second street, Hugo Lillefeldt of North Park college, Chicago, will assist Rev. J. J. Daniels at the prayer meetings to be held every evening at 8 o'clock. At the East end church, Seventeenth avenue and London road, special revival meetings will also be held.

Dramatic Club.

A number of women in the West end organized a dramatic club last week at a meeting held at the home of Mrs. Enid Shaw, 2229 West Third street. The club is planning several plays and sketches during the winter and will present a drama at the Second Presbyterian church in the near future. The officers chosen at the meeting are: Miss Enid Shaw, president; Mrs. Hutchinson, secretary; Miss Ruth Glover, treasurer, and Mrs. M. Fish, musical director.

REV. OLSON TO PREACH IN RANGE TOWNS.

Rev. C. G. Olson of the Bethany Swedish Lutheran church, Twenty-third avenue west and Third street, left this morning for Alborn, Minn., where he will conduct a mission meeting this evening. Tomorrow evening he will deliver two sermons at Bovey. On Wednesday evening he will preach at Warba and on Thursday he will preach in the afternoon and evening at Grand Rapids. Rev. Olson will return home Friday morning.

ANDERSON INQUEST TO BE HELD AT BAUDETTE.

According to a letter received this morning at the Anderson home, 2013 West Sixth street, the father of Andrew Anderson, who was killed in a prize fight at Baudette on New Year's day, the coroner's inquest will be held some time today and Mr. Anderson will return with the body tomorrow. The funeral arrangements will be made on the return of Mr. Anderson.

Choir Officers.

The choir of the Swedish Mission church, Twenty-first avenue west and Second street, held its annual election of officers Friday evening in the church parlors. The choir now has fifty-five members and the following were elected to office: Gust Hjelm, president; Carl Mellin, secretary; Albin Carlson, vice secretary; John Johnson, treasurer; Mrs. J. J. Daniels, director, and Miss Esther Ekholm and Ines Turnquist, organists.

Returns to College.

E. A. Martell, a divinity student at the Augustana college of Rock Island, Ill., who has been supplying the pulpit at Bovey and Grand Rapids during the holiday season, will preach this evening at the Bethany Swedish Lutheran church, Twenty-third avenue west and Third street. Mr. Martell will leave tomorrow to resume his studies at the Lutheran college.

Holiday Party.

Mr. and Mrs. George D. Jewell, flat 16, U. S. block, entertained Friday evening at a unique holiday party. The evening was spent in music and games following which a luncheon was served. Those present were: Mesdames N. Baillie, Hutchinson; Misses Lulu Potter, Edna Dice, Enid Shaw, and the Messrs. Frank Glover and Lud Horton.

Skating Party.

Miss Anna Knutson, 2723 West Third street, entertained at a skating party Friday evening in honor of Miss Marjorie Armstrong, who is a student at the University of Minnesota. A supper was served to the following guests: Misses Marjorie Armstrong, Catherine Farrell, Sue Scribner, Ella Johnson, Claudia Con, Pearl Hansen, Mary Knutson, Ruth Hansen, Alma Anderson; Messrs. Ralph Armstrong, Edward Devaney and Earl Devaney.

Entertains College Girls.

Miss Alma Peterson, 2216 West Third street, entertained at a party Friday evening in honor of several girls who returned to college Saturday. Those present were: Mesdames Frank Swanstrom; Misses Lydia Johnson, Evodia Olson, Edna Bergquist, Tillie Johnson, Esse Olson, Marie Johnson, Edith Dahl, Nyberg, Ebba Olson, Ella Johnson, Rose Youngvall of Eau Claire, Wis., and Lillie Larson.

Entertains Friends.

Mrs. M. Talmquist, 2026 West Fourth street, entertained a number of her West End friends Friday afternoon. Those present were: Mesdames Gus Bergquist, Hans Olson, J. W. Olson, M. M. Talmquist, and the Misses Ebba Olson, Edna Bergquist, Cora Bergquist, Ina Olsen and Mildred Lundholm.

Bachelor Club Dance.

The Bachelor club of the West End entertained at a dance Friday evening in the Columbia hall, Twentieth avenue west and Superior street. La Brosse's orchestra furnished the music and the committee in charge of the affair was: Messrs. C. Pierson, Victor Helstrom and C. G. Anderson.

Funeral of Suicide.

The funeral of Mrs. James Azzo, 35 years old, who committed suicide Thursday afternoon at the home of her father, J. L. de Mell, flat 5, United States block, Nineteenth avenue west and Superior street, was held from the residence at 9 o'clock this morning. Interment was in the Calvary cemetery.

West End Briefs.

The Men's club of the First Norwegian-Danish M. E. church, Twenty-fourth avenue west and Third street, will hold its regular monthly meeting in the church parlors this evening.

The Sunday school teachers of the Bethany Swedish Lutheran church, Twenty-third avenue west and Third street, will hold their annual election of officers in the church parlors Friday evening.

Nels Holmer, 1812 West Second street, returned Saturday from a short visit at Chisholm and other range towns.

Miss Ella Johnson, 2624 West Third street, left this morning for Oxford, Ohio, where she will resume her studies at Western college.

Mrs. J. E. Tarum left yesterday for Virginia, Minn., where she will organize a Ladies' auxiliary of the B. of L. E.

Lawrence P. Drohan, 109 Sixteenth avenue west, left this morning for St. John's college after spending the holidays with his parents.

Miss Velna Clark, 1911 West Third street, returned Saturday after a two-weeks' visit with her parents at Minong, Wis.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Hallada of Minneapolis are the guests this week at the home of Mrs. Hallada's mother, Mrs. J. Sheehan, 1820 West Third street.

Mrs. William Granger, 114 North Nineteenth avenue west, spent the past week visiting friends and relatives in the Twin Cities.

Miss Blanche Kimball of Iron Mountain, Mich., is a guest this week at the home of Mrs. Erick Engstrom, 1917 West Third street.

Rev. Swaney Nelson of the First Swedish Baptist church, left this afternoon for Minneapolis, where he will attend the board meeting of the state Baptist convention tomorrow.

The vestrymen of St. Peter's Episcopal church, Twenty-eighth avenue west and First street, will hold their monthly meeting in the guild rooms this evening.

The Women's Missionary society of the Second Presbyterian church, 1515 West Superior street, will hold its first meeting of the year in the church parlors Wednesday afternoon.

COLD SNAP HOLDS ON; SUNDAY TEMPERATURE LOWEST IN EIGHT YEARS

for the day was 17 deg. below zero.

The demands on the coal companies required constant work by every available team. The suffering among the poor is terrible; the business of the retail stores is down to a minimum and there will be great relief when the mercury passes the zero mark again on its climb upward.

Snow Follows Cold Wave.

Chicago, Jan. 8.—Predictions of warmer weather for today brought joy to the railroads west and north of Chicago, but it was short-lived. Heretofore throughout the cold spell they have been hampered by frozen pipes and other equipment that is damaged by extreme cold. Now the snow is filling the roadbeds and otherwise slowing up traffic. Practically all trains in the states where snow prevails are running behind schedule time.

At 10 a. m. the temperature was 8 deg. above zero, the warmest weather in four and a half days. Until last night Chicago had experienced almost four days of "below zero" weather.

A general snowfall, accompanied by a rising temperature, prevailed throughout Illinois, Indiana, Michigan, Iowa and a part of Wisconsin today. It was predicted the temperature would drop a few points tonight.

Snow in Milwaukee.

Milwaukee, Wis., Jan. 8.—The cold wave in Wisconsin has given way to a snow storm and much milder weather.

The weather bureau reports the snow fall in Milwaukee at five inches and promises a continuation throughout the day. The mercury registers 6 above zero in Milwaukee this morning. At Oshkosh and Green Bay minus 2 is the mark, while Eau Claire reports 8 below the cipher. Madison gauge records zero.

Warmer at La Crosse.

La Crosse, Wis., Jan. 8.—After yesterday recording the lowest temperature since 1888, 38 deg. below zero, the cold wave was broken today, and the thermometer has risen to the zero mark, which, after recent experience is accepted as comparatively balmy. Trains are running nearly on time today after a week of disorganized schedules. Last night the principal mail train from Chicago arrived more than eight hours late.

Death in Tennessee.

Memphis, Tenn., Jan. 8.—Harry B. Paul, a clerk for the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis railway, was found frozen to death in the freight yards here yesterday.

Open Churches to Sufferers.

St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 8.—Chief of Police Young fed 500 men who had spent the night in the four courts basement, paying for 300 loaves of bread and 118 gallons of coffee out of his own pocket. St. Paul's Episcopal church of East St. Louis opened its doors to anyone who wanted shelter, and St. Louis churches are preparing to do likewise. One woman was frozen to death early this morning.

Indiana Is Chilled.

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 8.—Cold weather records for seven years were broken Sunday when the government thermometer registered 16 deg. below zero.

Central Illinois Suffers.

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 8.—With one exception, Feb. 13, 1905, Sunday was the coldest day Springfield and Central Illinois have experienced in fifteen years. At 7 o'clock the government thermometer registered 19 deg. below zero. At Bloomington it was the coldest day in the history of the local weather bureau. The minimum was 19 deg. below zero.

New Record in Southwest.

Kansas City, Mo., Jan. 8.—The records for cold weather over Missouri, Kansas and Oklahoma for several years were broken Sunday, 6 to 20 deg. below zero being reported from various points. Train service was demoralized.

Montana Train Late.

Helena, Mont., Jan. 8.—Although the backbone of the blizzard is broken in Montana and the Dakotas, excessively low temperatures are reported from all over the Northwest and train service is demoralized. Trains are from ten to fifteen hours late from the East.

IDENTIFICATIONS OF WRITING MAY BE RULED OUT IN PACKERS' TRIAL

Armour & Co., testified that he wrote three letters giving the record of the week's business and mailed them to the defendants named. Later they were returned to him, containing figures in pencil indicating the firm's percentage shipments and profit margins for the current week as agreed on at the Tuesday afternoon meetings of the packers.

Later Judge Carpenter said he would withhold his ruling on the disputed points until Pratt's testimony is concluded.

Judge Carpenter said:

"The purpose of these papers is not so much to show the existence of a pool as to show that the pool was continued through the packing company after its organization in 1903.

Connect Two Periods.

"So far as the existence of any agreement prior to the three years covered by the statutory period is concerned, these letters are not important. The government does, however, need something to connect the old period with the new.

"Only one of these letters has been positively identified by the witness Pratt as being in the handwriting of these defendants. In regard to the other two letters the witness does not swear whose handwriting it is. He has an opinion who wrote the figures, but that opinion was obtained in the ordinary course of business. His opinion cannot go in the record under these circumstances."

After the opinion of the court had been given, Jerome H. Pratt was recalled to the stand and questioned by District Attorney James H. Wilkerson.

Met After Injunction.

The witness said that after the issuance by Judge Crosscup of an injunction in 1902 restraining the packers from continuing the pool, the packers held their meetings to fix prices and apportion business at the homes of the members.

"How many of these secret meetings were held?"

"About five, I think."

"At whose homes were these meetings held?"

"I remember we held one meeting at the home of Louis Swift, another at the home of Arthur Meeker, one at the residence of J. P. Lyman and another at the home of E. A. Allen," replied the witness.

"What was done at those meetings?"

Decided Profit Margins.

"We discussed the beef situation for the current week and decided the shipment percentages and profit margins to be changed."

"Was there any particular difference in those secret meetings held at members' houses and those held downtown?"

"No, they were about the same."

"About the same matters of business were discussed?"

"Yes."

The witness described at length the method of making shipments to branch houses. The district and branch house managers, he said, received instructions in regard to the margin price to be charged at the time shipments were made. These margins and shipment percentages, the witness said, were based on the agreement reached at the packers' Tuesday afternoon meetings.

"I got no figures and no instructions for awhile in 1902 when the meetings were being held at the members' homes," said the witness. "That was during the period of the Grosscup injunction. In 1903 and thereafter I got my figures and instructions from Arthur Meeker."

RICHESON TO GO TO CHAIR?

for commutation of the death penalty comes before them.

On the matter of commutation the governor cannot act without the consent of a majority of the executive council. One member of that council, John Quinn of Boston, has expressed himself as opposed to inflicting the death penalty on Richeson, but the other members have refused to express themselves.

Enlarged on Confession.

Richeson passed a quiet Sunday. Even his counsel did not visit him. At the Immanuel Baptist church in Cambridge, over which he was presiding as pastor when arrested, his confession received no mention.

While Richeson's formal confession was bare of details, it is understood that he enlarged on it to his counsel, and that the district attorney is now in possession of most of the information which has come to the defense. While no person can be quoted as responsible for it, the statement is made on high authority that Richeson's amplified confession to his counsel, was on the following lines:

After purchasing a quantity of cyanide of potassium from William Hahn, a Newton Center druggist, on Oct. 20, the minister took the poison to his rooms in Cambridge. A few days later he borrowed from Mrs. Frank H. Carter, in whose home he was a lodger, an earthenware mixing bowl "to make some book paste."

Used Poison at His Rooms.

Returning the bowl to Mrs. Carter an hour or two later, he warned her to be sure and wash it out thoroughly, saying: "I have been mixing poison in it." It was in this bowl, and at this time, it is said that the minister, by mixing the cyanide of potassium with flour and water, made the capsule which ultimately caused Miss Linnell's death. This was Thursday, Oct. 12.

On Saturday, Oct. 14, Richeson met by appointment his one-time fiancee, who still believed herself his intended. Following their custom, the couple had a short walk, and then went into a Boylston street cafe. Here they had luncheon, after which they took another walk, this time to the Fenway. It was while seated in a secluded spot in the park, after the girl had again told him of her worry over her physical condition, saying she feared it was becoming apparent to her friends, and had once more entreated him to procure some remedy for her, that the minister is said to have handed her the capsule, declaring it was a medicine which would certainly act in the manner desired. He directed her as to the manner of taking it, and then the pair walked to the car line.

Went to Her Room.

Miss Linnell went to her room in the Young Women's Christian association, while Richeson boarded a car for Brookline, going to the home of Miss Violet Edmands, the wealthy heiress whom he was to have married a few weeks later. Meeting her chum, Miss Lucille Ziegler, Avis said she had been walking with her "friend" (by which Miss Ziegler understood she meant Richeson), and complained of a headache as her excuse for hurrying to her room. A few hours later she was found unconscious in the bathroom, and died without regaining consciousness.

"Of Two Personalities."

That Richeson is a man of two personalities and was and is insane is the belief expressed by Frank H. Carter of Cambridge, one of the leading members of the pastor's former church and the man with whom Richeson made his home. Mr. Carter said that after a nervous breakdown which Richeson suffered last June, the Carters never returned home after an absence of any length of time without searching the house, fearing to find the clergyman dead.

BRYAN GIVEN SHARP SLAPS

various cities bidding for the convention. As this time approached, Baltimore's chances seemed increasing. It was said supporters of Governor Woodrow Wilson were throwing their strength to Baltimore. Governor Wilson reached the city today.

Baltimore seemed to have a slight lead early today, with St. Louis pressing hard as the nearest competitor. New York, Denver and Chicago also had put in claims. The time of the convention probably will be two weeks after the Republican national convention, to be held in Chicago, June 18.

William J. Bryan promised to be an important factor in the day's doings. He was prepared to continue his war against Col. James H. Guffey, national committeeman from Philadelphia.

Democratic leaders from all sections of the country are here for the committee meeting and the Jackson day dinner tonight. Business at the house end of the capitol, where the Democrats are in control, practically was at a standstill.

Winner Must Have $100,000.

Just before the committee went into session there appeared to be a unanimity of opinion among the members that the city be awarded the convention must come forward with a definite offer of $100,000. Baltimore, it was said, was the only city at this time to have made such a definite proposition, but the advocates of that city had not succeeded in obtaining pledges from a majority of the committee.

Many of the members were hoping that St. Louis during the afternoon would meet Baltimore's offer, in which event is was freely predicted that the Western city would carry off the prize. There was some opposition to St. Louis on the ground that both Former Governor Folk and Speaker Champ Clark of Missouri were presidential aspirants.

New York's chances for the convention suffered from a feeling among the Democrats that that city was "too near Wall Street and too close to Tammany Hall."

Contests First Business.

The contests from Pennsylvania and Tennessee were expected to occupy the committee's attention, perhaps for several hours, and to take precedence over all other business. The indications were that McGuffey from Pennsylvania and R. E. L. Mountcastle from Tennessee, would be sustained in their memberships.

The probabilities are that the committee will dispose of the primary question by adopting a "permissive primary" plan, whereby states having primary laws may select delegates in that manner. It also is proposed that state committees shall be given power to direct that primaries be held in states that desire to raise the necessary money.

Some doubt existed today as to just what disposition the committee would make of the question of convention arrangements. The whole matter may be left in the hands of Chairman Norman E. Mack or it may be turned over to a sub-committee, which it was said, would be headed by Roger Sullivan of Illinois, Tom Taggart of Indiana would be a member of such a sub-committee.

THREE FIRES DUE TO COLD

Overheated Stoves Keep Department Busy—Steamer Is Scorched.

Members of West End Family Escape By Breaking Window.

The overheating of stoves in an effort to offset the bitter cold weather, caused three fires yesterday and today.

Fire broke out this morning in the cabin of the steamer Ball Brothers which is tied up at the foot of Thirty-seventh avenue west. C. A. Massey, the watchman, was living aboard the steamer. He had three pet dogs with him for company. When the fire broke out he was forced to break a window to rescue the dogs, and his hand was badly cut. The fire scorched the interior of the cabin, and the loss from water and smoke will be quite heavy.

The home of Albert Zinny at Thirty-second avenue west and Tenth street was totally destroyed last evening because of the inability of the firemen to get water, and so rapid was the headway by the flames that the members of the family were forced to climb out of the windows in their night clothing and take refuge with neighbors. Mr. Zinny's daughter received a bad cut on her arm while breaking a window in order to escape. The house was a one-story cottage and they escaped without injury. The fire started from the chimney at 11:16 p. m. The building was worth about $1,200 and the contents $600. The loss was partially covered by insurance.

The third fire was at 715 East Fourth street, where an oil stove set fire to the carpet, but the blaze was extinguished before the firemen reached the scene.

North Dakota Bankers Meet.

Grand Forks, N. D., Jan. 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—The annual meeting of the executive council of the North Dakota Bankers' association will be held here Jan. 26. About twenty-five bankers will attend.

DESTROYER TERRY BADLY BUFFETED

Two Men Lost From Flotilla on Trip to the Bermudas.

Washington, Jan. 8.—Considerable anxiety was felt early today by officials of the navy for the safety of the torpedo boat destroyer Terry and her crew of three officers and eighty-three men. The little vessel, which left New York last Thursday in company with seven battleships of the Atlantic fleet and the mother torpedo vessel Dixie, convoying five destroyers, was discovered yesterday floundering about in the heavy seas in a helpless condition half way between New York and Bermuda.

Her low powered wireless apparatus, sending out faint appeals for help, were picked up by the royal mail liner Tagus, which left Bermuda Saturday for New York. Capt. Laws of the Tagus, who rescued Walter Wellman and his crew from the balloon America when the trans-Atlantic voyage of the air craft came to grief, directed his vessel to the Terry. He found the little vessel unable to make any headway, with her engines disabled and pumps out of order.

Lieut. John C. Fremont, in command, informed Capt. Laws that his men had had a terrific experience in the most severe storm of the year on the Western Atlantic, and that the Terry became separated from the other vessels of the fleet. The Tagus stood by the Terry and with her wireless flashed out appeals for help.

The safety of the Dixie and the destroyers Sterrett, Perkins, Ammen and Walke, which after a perilous experience reached Burmuda yesterday, was a source of relief to naval officials. The Dixie was badly battered by the heavy seas. Two men were lost overboard from the flotilla.

The vessels will be put in shipshape at Bermuda, where the courtesy of the British dockyard has been extended to American vessels.

Clyde Sperry Murder Case.

Lakota, N. D., Jan. 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Clyde Sperry murder case will not be tried at Fargo until the latter part of February or the early part of March, according to stipulations which are being entered into by the prosecution and defense, agreeing to the transfer of the case from Nelson to Cass county.

LIQUOR DOESN'T DROWN TROUBLE

Ten Million Men Have Completely Ruined Their Mental and Physical Health Trying to Make Black Failure Look White by Drinking Liquor.

In an attempt to free himself from the Chain of Remorse, accompanying "Failure," the "moderate drinker" will drink more deeply; but he will forge another and stronger chain. Any kind of liquor drinking—moderate, steady, periodic—brings the same result—an alcoholic poisoned system. The poison is cumulative, causing a peculiar kind of nervousness which extends to every vital organ of the body—it dominates the brain—and this nervousness responds to no other sedative than alcohol in ever increasing quantities That is why a real, good, true man continues to drink once he starts—why he can't stop.

The Neal internal treatment cures the periodical, occasional or moderate drinker, the habitual and excessive drinker, and the nervous man who has to drink to keep from becoming more nervous. It takes away all inclination to drink, all desire and craving to drink, by neutralizing the poison of alcohol in the system and ridding the blood of the poison by a rapid system of elimination, leaving the drinker in the condition that he was before tasting liquor, so far as the effect of alcohol may be concerned—all appetite for drink gone—and he a new man.

No Hypodermic Injections.

Refuse to take any treatment for drink habit where hypodermic injections are given, for they are so liable to result in blood poison from the use of an infected needle, through the carelessness of others.

Plain Contract Given.

Each patient is given a plain contract, agreeing to effect a perfect cure, or return the full fee paid at the end of the third day.

Call, write, phone or wire for copy of contract and free booklet concerning the treatment. Everything confidential.

INSURANCE MEN ANGRY

Protest Against Methods Used By Board of Education.

Say Partiality Was Shown to the "Favored Five."

The coup by which five insurance agencies renewed the school insurance for a five-year term five months before the old policies expired, has aroused general indignation among the agencies ignored by the board.

Since Saturday evening, when The Herald told of the coup, there has been an almost continuous explosion of verbal fireworks. The members of the board of education are charged with connivance with the five agencies to the exclusion of the others. The action of the board in closing the deal without giving the other agencies notice is termed unfair and discriminatory. Among the protesting business men are insurance agents who have been in business in Duluth for years, who are paying heavy taxes as real estate owners and agents, and who intend to make their influence felt.

If the board sought, by agreeing to the proposition of the five companies, to avoid a renewal of the controversy that has occurred previously in connection with the making of insurance contracts, the plan will fail. Some of the agents say they will go before the board at the next meeting, request that the action at the meeting Friday evening be rescinded and the matter reopened. The five favored agencies are the Manley-McLennan agency, Mendenhall & Hoopes, Little & Nolte, O. H. Clarke and John A. Stephenson.

Members of the board say they considered nothing but the best interests of the district. They say that when the five agencies came before the board with an advantageous proposition, they acted just as they would if they were directors of a corporation and closed a deal that was advantageous to their stockholders, the taxpayers of the district.

"Isn't Fair."

C. P. Craig of C. P. Craig & Co. was not slow to express his indignantion this morning. "It isn't fair," he said. "It isn't a square deal. It was most unjust of the school board to connive with five agencies in their efforts to retain a monopoly on the school business. The deal was evidently cooked up beforehand and was rushed through before the other agencies could have any notice of it.

"The schools are public buildings. There are other insurance agents in the city interested in the schools. They are heavy tax-payers and they should be given an opportunity to be heard. The business amounts to no inconsiderable figure and should not be held by a monopoly.

"The claim that the rate quoted represents a big saving will not hold water. Any rate that the five companies can make can be made by every other company—must be made, for it is the legal rate fixed by the representative of the underwriters. We can write insurance just as cheaply as the other companies and the members of the board ought to know that.

"It is not good business for the board to make itself a party to any such schemes as that perpetrated Friday evening. The insurance should be given as wide a distribution as possible. It is done in other cities and should be done here. I have no objection to the board exercising care as to the standing of the companies, but some of the best companies represented in Duluth are shut out under the present plan. It isn't a fair deal and I am surprised that the board should be guilty of it."

T. H. Hawkes, manager of the insurance department of W. M. Prindle & Co., talked in similar vein. "It looks as though the school board insurance is in the hands of a stock company," he said. "It certainly should be passed around. The city's insurance is distributed among the various companies and it does not amount to nearly as large a total as that of the school district. In other cities school insurance is divided and there are many different agencies. If the board wants to keep the insurance among a few companies, different companies should be selected for each five year term. That would show a spirit of fairness and there is no fairness in the attitude taken by the board Friday evening. I believe the action of the board should be rescinded and a different distribution made."

E. D. Field of E. D. Field company said:

"The recent distribution of insurance upon the Duluth school buildings seems to me manifestly unfair and I think that all fair-minded citizens will agree that a great injustice has been done some of our leading insurance firms, who represent some of the strongest companies in the world, in not being given a share or even a chance to bid for same.

"Among those not sharing in the distribution are several firms who are among the heaviest tax payers among the real estate men, while among those favored with lines are some who pay comparatively an insignificant amount in taxes.

"The fact that the school board and the chosen five have arranged to rewrite all insurance five months before policies expire certainly indicates that the school board is in league with the said firms to prevent any others from participating in the distribution.

"That the matter of rate is not the controlling factor in the situation is shown by the fact that certain Duluth agents appeared before the board five years ago and offered to write the entire school insurance at a rate which would have affected a saving to the city of $1,200. We were prepared to take care of a large line at that rate in companies we represent, each having from $5,000,000 to $8,000,000 in assets, and other companies of similar size and strength in other agencies were prepared to take their share of the business, but the board chose to place the insurance at a greater cost with the chosen five who are now again favored with the business for five years more.

"I know of at least a half dozen representative firms that have been in the fire insurance business here for from fifteen to twenty-five years each representing some of the strongest companies known. Each of said firms has paid large sums in taxes each year and at times has been burdened with excessive taxes and assessments, and each has been the means of bringing great sums of outside money here to help in the upbuilding of our city and these have been totally ignored by our school board and I protest that this treatment is unfair and unwise."

DULUTH PEOPLE SHOULD TRY THIS

W. A. Abbett, 201 West Superior street, states that any one who has constipation, sour stomach or gas on the stomach, should try simple buckthorn bark, glycerine, etc., as compounded in Adler-i-ka, the new German Appendicitis remedy. A SINGLE DOSE brings relief almost INSTANTLY and Duluth people are surprised how QUICKLY it helps. This simple remedy antisepticizes the digestive organs and draws off the impurities.

WRECK VICTIM IN HOSPITAL AGAIN

E. H. Weil Seems to Be Seriously Injured Internally.

Fargo, N. D., Jan. 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—At 1 o'clock this morning, E. H. Weil, who was injured in the Great Northern wreck and was discharged from the hospital this morning after having an arm bandaged, was taken with severe internal pains and was again taken to the hospital. He is said to be internally injured and in a critical condition.

WOMAN SAVED FROM BIGAMY

Judge Gilpin Halts the Wedding Ceremony Just in Time.

Man Returns Wedding License and Gets His Money Back.

Mrs. Jelva Corvich came near being a bigamist this morning when she all but married William Barachin in the probate court.

Close questioning by Judge Gilpin disclosed the fact that the woman was still the wife of a man named Corvich, no divorce having ever been granted.

The man and woman applied at the clerk's office this morning for a marriage license.

To Deputy Frank Smith the woman stated that she had been divorced three years ago. After some delay the license was granted. As an interpreter was used it was hard for Mr. Smith to get much out of either the man or the woman.

The suspicions of Judge Gilpin were aroused and he questioned them more fully, bringing in an interpreter.

The woman said that her husband had deserted her three years ago and she considered that they were divorced because of the length of time he had been gone. This is a custom of her native country, she said.

Judge Gilpin refused to go on with the ceremony, telling the woman she would be guilty of bigamy.

The man returned the license to the clerk and received his money back.

"LUCKY" EBERHART—HOW LUCKY?

A newspaper which delights in fawning upon the special interests for which the governor of this state is lackey and errand-runner recently said that Adolph O. Eberhart is so lucky that his name ought to have been Fortunatus.

He HAS been lucky. Picked for lieutenant-governor in times when nobody cared who got that nomination except long-headed and far-seeing special interests which were greatly concerned in the framing of senate committees,—the lieutenant-governor's most important function,—he became governor through the death of John A. Johnson.

He was re-elected largely because the Democratic candidate was at odds with the bulk of his party on an issue of relative unimportance.

He seems likely, at this time, to get the Republican nomination to succeed himself because his party in this state is flaccid, lifeless, spiritless and lacks a sense of shame and the spirit of self-respect.

So Eberhart, unquestionably, is very lucky. If he had not been very lucky fate never would have tossed him into a position of such importance.

How far will his luck carry him?

During his tenancy of the governor's office he has been the amiable and alacritous servant of those who put him on the road there, though neither he nor they suspected then where that road led. The bell wether of the special interests who dictated his committee appointments when he was lieutenant-governor is his chief advisor now, and the head of his campaign committee. This is all a matter of wide public knowledge, and if his political fortunes can survive it he is indeed, most lucky.

While Minnesota underwent the humiliation of being the only Northwestern state whose 2-cent passenger fare law failed to stick, while its people were paying 3 cents a mile to travel when the people of every adjoining state are still paying 2 cents—2½ cents in the case of North Dakota—Governor Eberhart talked incessantly and valiantly about conservation and consolidation of rural schools—the Heavenly Twins of consolidation and conservation, "con" and "con" for short—and defied the world to make him stop. He took no step toward redeeming the state from this humiliation of being railroad-ridden. While the governors of other states were talking of intervening in the Minnesota rate cases in the interests of the right of states to govern their own domestic affairs and to protect the rights of their citizens, he was absent; and when he heard of it he expressed his disapproval of the effrontery of these governors in daring to challenge railroad greed. All this is widely known throughout the state, and if his political fortunes can survive it he is, indeed, most lucky.

It is due entirely to his indifference and neglect if not to his abject subserviency to railroad interests that while this was going on railroad property in this state was being taxed less than any other property. By his failure to call an extra session to increase the railroad tax he caused the state to forfeit $2,000,000 in taxes that is lost forever because no increase can now be made for two years. This is well known throughout the state by the taxpayers who are compelled to pay what the railroads escape; and if his political fortunes can survive it he is, indeed, most lucky.

This year, because of extravagant, wasteful and inefficient management of the state's affairs and because of the fact that the general taxpayers are compelled to pay the share of public expenses which the railroads escape, the state tax will be the highest in nearly forty years. This is fairly well known, though The Herald is the only newspaper in the three cities in which it has been published; and if Governor Eberhart's political fortunes can survive it he is, indeed, most lucky.

On Dec. 1, 1910, the Northern Minnesota Development association in convention at St. Cloud heard Governor Eberhart promise that if reapportionment was not passed by the legislature at its regular session he would call it in extra session for that purpose. Later he refused to keep that promise, and even tried to quibble about whether he made it or not. This fact is widely known in Northern Minnesota; and if his political fortunes can survive it he is, indeed, most lucky.

On Dec. 2, 1910, the Northern Minnesota Development association adopted a resolution demanding an extra session for reapportionment if it failed to come at the regular session. On Dec. 9, 1911, the association refused to renew that demand. Its failure was due to the work of the emissaries of the governor. The governor himself, rather than face the association, had taken the advice of his counselors and had fled to the East in a special train provided by the Great Northern railroad. The fact that the political agents of the governor, and the agents of the special interests that were protected by the failure of the extra session campaign, diverted the association out of the true course laid out for it at Bemidji, Crookston, Brainerd and Duluth, is widely known in Northern Minnesota; and if the governor's political fortunes can survive it he is, indeed, most lucky.

Adolph O. Eberhart has been a very lucky man so far, but he has placed an enormous burden on his luck.

A SLIGHT MISTAKE.

Says the Sauk Center Herald: "H. J. Maxfield of Wadena has been chosen immigration commissioner to succeed the late George Welch. The Herald doesn't know very much about Mr. Maxfield further than that he originated the idea of the Northern Minnesota Development association, was its president, and presided with dignity and ability at the St. Cloud conclave."

Without any desire to detract in the slightest degree from any praise that may be due Governor Eberhart's appointee to the highly important office of immigration commission, as a matter of justice it should be stated not only that the idea of the N. M. D. A. originated with W. R. Mackenzie of Bemidji, in the beginning and still its secretary, but that the vitality and aggressiveness of the association are due more largely to Mr. Mackenzie than they are to any other half dozen members.

A GOOD SAFEGUARD.

The change in the Aldrich central reserve association plan proposed by the monetary commission looks like an improvement upon Secretary McVeagh's suggestion that banks be prohibited from owning stock in other banks.

It is proposed to curtail the voting power in the association of banks whose stock is largely held by holders of stock in other banks.

This is a better guaranty against improper control of the reserve association than the prohibition of bank ownership of bank stocks.

It is easy to prohibit a bank from owning stock in other banks.

It is not easy, if it is even possible, to prohibit individuals from owning stock in as many banks as they wish to invest in; and that provides a more dangerous possibility of improper control than bank ownership of bank stock.

It might easily be that no bank in the country would own a single share of stock in any other bank, and yet that a small group of men could control the reserve association through their holdings of stock in banks scattered over the country.

It sounds like a farfetched idea that any man or group of men would try to control the reserve association through gaining control of enough banks to give them such power. It would be a mighty task, it is true, but it would be by no means impossible; and the stake is mighty enough to make it worth while. The reserve association will handle all the bank reserves of the country, and it will be the depository for every dollar of the government's money. The fund at its command will be the most gigantic aggregation of money ever gathered together under a single control. Any man or any group of men who had the power to use that money would wield the mightiest power over the destinies of mankind ever centered into one hand. Markets would rise and fall at its command. Good times or hard times would come or go at its dictation.

There is no man on earth, and no group of men acting for their personal benefit without public regulation, fitted to exercise such power as this. Therefore it is absolutely necessary that the Aldrich plan be safeguarded in every possible way against the remotest possibility of the creation of such a power.

BRYAN AND LA FOLLETTE.

William J. Bryan and Robert M. La Follette met and conferred in a Washington passenger station last evening, and great was the speculation about the meaning of the meeting, which seems, however, to have been accidental. It is interesting, nevertheless. Here are two men, one a Democrat and the other a Republican, who have vastly more in common than either of them have with many members of their own respective parties. It shows how far the currents of growth and progress have carried the issues from party starting points, and how little relation there is between party lines and the real division of public thought.

THE COMMISSION PLAN IN OPERATION—17.

Tacoma adopted the commission plan in 1910. It didn't work right. Then it was found that this was because the people had elected the wrong men, and it was realized that there is no plan of government so perfect that it can overcome the results of public neglect or the people's mistakes. But the commission plan includes the remedy for just this situation. In 1911 the people of Tacoma recalled the mayor and two commissioners. Now things are running better.

Isn't a device so handy as this worth trying in Duluth?

HUBBARD COUNTY ALIVE.

Last week a rousing good roads' convention, with delegates from all parts of Hubbard county, was held in Park Rapids under the auspices of the Commercial club of that city. The meeting appears to have been due to the enterprise and initiative of men like Representative L. H. Rice, Editor Scheers and others, and it resulted in much enthusiasm and enlightenment.

Hubbard county is on the right track. Good roads are the key to development. They are the foundation of progress, and there is no single thing so important to the settlement of Northern Minnesota.

The good roads committee of the Northern Minnesota Development association, too, is doing splendid work in spreading the gospel of good roads.

A FEDERAL LABOR BUREAU.

In a resolution introduced last week Congressman Littleton proposes a Federal labor exchange to co-operate with state free employment bureaus such as those of Minnesota.

There seems to be a field for such work by the government.

Often there is a congestion of labor in some places and a scarcity of labor in others. The big cities always have a surplus of labor even when work is delayed in other places for lack of men, as the case often is in the harvest fields.

A Federal labor bureau, surveying the whole field, should be in a position to direct the surplus labor of the cities and to supply the demand wherever it exists, working through the state bureaus. If it could manage to equalize the labor supply in this way it would be a great boon to labor, and a great benefit to the country.

SPARE US THIS.

There are rumors of another strike in the anthracite coal regions.

It is to be hoped that it won't happen. Bitter experiences of the past make that wish on the part of the public most ardent and sincere.

The public knows that the coal mining laborers haven't got much out of previous strikes.

It knows, too, that the owners of the coal mines—or owner, as the case may be, depending upon whether or not there is a coal trust, if there is any question about that—have got a great deal out of them.

The public has had to pay the full cost, with usurious interest, in every case. Whatever gain the miners got, the public has had to repay with interest at about 10 per cent a minute; and it is still paying it. It is paying, when it buys hard coal, for every strike that happened and for some that didn't happen.

So the public, while hoping that the coal miners will get decent treatment and fair pay, will be sincerely wishful that there will be no coal strike.

THE OPEN COURT

(Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their ideas about the topics of general interest, but discussions of sectarian religious differences are barred. Letters should not exceed 300 words—the shorter the better. They must be written on one side of the paper only, and they must be accompanied in every case by the name and address of the writer, though these need not be published. A signed letter is always more effective, however.)

THE BITTER CRY FOR BREAD.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Some eight months ago the writer prophesied that this section of the country would experience the hardest times ever known hereabouts. Certain business men who read my statement at the time—which was published in The Duluth Herald—took me to task for my utterances. One of them had the gumption to tell me that I was "talking through my hat, etc., etc," but now somehow the "chick has come home to roost." Both local papers are lamenting the fact that the conditions hereabouts are the worst ever. The Commercial club has already held meetings and its members have had wise discourses upon this "unfortunate problem." They have appointed committees to devise ways and means for dealing with this problem, and even the common council has been forced to get busy and do something—yes, they even went so far as to appropriate $1,000 "to be used as a revolving fund" to carry the poor through the winter months. In fact almost everybody is getting ready to admit that something must be done except the churches. Naturally it should be expected that the "saviors of souls" would at least be getting busy and make haste to prove their fealty to the teachings of the Proletarian Evangelist who gave to the world that most noble preachment "the Sermon on the Mount." Surely if Jesus did give forth the command to "feed the hungry," "shelter the homeless," "help the unfortunates," then these commands are literally as true today as they were true in the first century of the Christian era—alas, how easy it is to preach and how hard it is to practice! This city is studded with churches of all denominations and creeds, and up to the present time I regret to say that NOT one of these churches has dared to open its doors and invite into its portals those unfortunates who find themselves up against it good and hard—and who lacking means to pay for the night's lodging, are compelled to apply to the jail warden for the privilege of resting their weary heads and tired limbs among such unsavory surroundings, and yet these ministers dare do sacrilege to the Son of Nazareth by "glorying in His name" every Sabbath day. For myself, I had rather a thousand times be "a sinner who knows not God" and honestly follow my convictions than to be the hypocritical expounder of an idealistic doctrine that for pay only would keep his mouth shut from fear that if he mentioned to his partishioners an intention to convert the church pews into beds for the homeless during the rigorous winter weather may possibly be censured by his Christian (?) flock. Yesterday I had with us a very distinguished visitor this week, Louis W. Hill—the son of his father—and he brought a retinue of paid lackeys with him—and the private palace car awaited the pleasure of his serene majesty while here. We were given nearly two full pages of reading matter to a review of what this great man said, and also what the other banqueters had to say. Everyone present vied with each other to tell about the "great and glorious future" of Duluth. Not a word nor a thought to the orphaned children were to be found in the selling newspapers on the streets of this city in weather 20 deg. below zero. No thought to the outcast women walking the streets—perhaps selling their bodies to provide for fuel and other necessities of life. No thought of the broken-hearted feeble creatures forced to apply to the jail for a night's lodging. No thought of the hundreds of cheerless homes, minus the funds to keep the families in proper condition. No thought about the hosts of unemployed men marching and tramping the highways and byways of "God's country" searching for work. And all this in the Twentieth century of "Christian civilization!" What a mockery to the name of the founder of Christianity? To sit and revel in luxury in times such as this at a Balshazzar's feast truly means that we are nearer the doom of capitalism than most of us dream. The handwriting is becoming plainly evident upon the wall. "Mene Mene Tekel Upharsin." MORRIS KAPLAN.

REGULATE POOL ROOMS AS WELL AS SALOONS.

To the Editor of The Herald:

I should thank you very much if you can find space in your valuable issue to insert this plea, which I trust will appeal to some of the worthy persons of influence in this city, who would act in its behalf.

I read daily of the efforts of our city officials who are striving to rid our city of vice and corruption.

There is a much more disgraceful and harmful vocation that is followed by men in this city—that of conducting pool halls and allowing young boys of 14 to 20 to frequent them, and to spend their small and hard earned earnings in these dens, some of which are permitted to run all night. Gambling is allowed, and these young boys, at an age where they are building their foundations for a future, are permitted to remain until all hours of the night and morning, pool playing and gambling. These pleasures only fit them for a life which may lead them to the penitentiary, causes them to become lazy and shiftless, and to depend upon their winnings at pool and cards. Many a mother's heart is breaking when she sees her boy indulging in these so-called pastimes, and sits waiting for his return, only to be disappointed, and then to hear his footsteps approaching in the early hours of morning, or perhaps the next day.

It seems to me that this should not be allowed. If the saloon is forced to close at 11 o'clock, why should not these places which are just as harmful, if not more so, be forced to close their doors at 11 o'clock and bar minors from frequenting them?

I feel sure that Mayor Cullum could do a great deal in this matter if the subject were brought to his notice, and I trust that these pool rooms will be watched as closely as the saloon, and that the proprietors be dealt with just as other people are who are violating the laws of the city.

A WORRIED MOTHER.

Dated, Jan. 7.

The Christian Ideal of Government.

Winston Churchill in the Atlantic: Only the man who has read the American superficially would say we are not idealists. This very Declaration of Independence, so scoffed at in Europe, itself proves it. And it is that idealism more than any other fact which has drawn millions of emigrants to our shores, which will save us in the end. What then is the Christian ideal of government? We must not let the brightness of the vision dazzle us, we must not let it frighten us—we must keep our eyes turned steadily toward it. The Christian ideal is the least possible government, a government wherein neither you nor I nor any other man or woman will labor and obey because we have to, but because we have learned the lesson which Christ taught, that happiness lies alone in service, in giving to the world that which God gave us. To hold up that vision, the vision of what we may be if we try, the vision of what God wishes and expects us to be, is the mission of the church.

All in the Family.

Argonaut: A young New Haven man, returning home from a health trip to Colorado, told his father about buying a silver mine for $3,000. "I knew they'd rope you in!" exclaimed the old man. "So you were foolish enough to buy a humbug mine."

"Yes, but I didn't lose anything. I formed a company and sold half the stock to a Connecticut man for $7,000."

"Y-you did? "gasped the old man as he turned white. "I'll bet I'm the one who bought it."

"I know you are," coolly observed the young man as he crossed his legs and tried to appear much at home.

A WEE BIT O' CHARITY.

Edna Turpin in "Honey Sweet." "It's my dooty to come to you, lady," said Mrs. Flannagan, "and I does my dooty when it's hard on other folks. You wouldn't give me a bit of groceries last week, but they tell me you rain down grocery orders on Mrs. Callahan, and she spendin' money like she was President Taft or Johnny Rockefeller."

"What do you mean, Mrs. Flannagan? Please explain," said the long-suffering charity lady.

"I mean this," said Mrs. Flannagan, "With my own two eyes I seen 'em yestiddy afternoon—Mrs. Callahan and them four biggest children walkin' down the street like a rainbow in silk and satin and lace, goin' past my house without lookin' at me any more'n I was one of them cobblestones. 'Good-day,' I says and Mrs. Callahan says, says she, 'Good-day. It's Mrs. Flannagan, ain't it?'—like she hain't been in and out of my house these two years! 'Whar's the kittle bilin' of you goin' today?' I asked, and she tosses her head and says, says she, 'Oh, it don't agree with the children's health to stay at home so clost. I'm takin' 'em on a 'scursion down the river to see the shows.' And they ain't come back till dark, for I sat at my front window to see. There's where your charity money goes, ma'am."

Miss Margery sighed as her informer flauntered away. She must look into the matter before giving any more grocery orders, and if Mrs. Callahan was really wasting money, as Mrs. Flannagan declared, the charities' aid must be withdrawn.

"I cert'ny am glad to see you at last, lady," said Mrs. Callahan, with rather an offended air, when Peggy and John Edward and Elmore and Susie ushered in the visitors. "I been lookin' for you to bring me that rent money. I told the agent's young man he should have it early this afternoon."

"I did not promise to let you have any money, Mrs. Callahan." Miss Margery's tone was crisp and firm. "On Monday you had all your rent money except one dollar. You said you expected to get that this week for sewing."

"I ain't got no sewin' money," said Mrs. Callahan. "The lady she couldn't make the change and she told me to come back Monday. That's why I had to send and ask you to lend me the loan of three dollars."

"But it was one dollar you needed for the rent, Mrs. Callahan," said Miss Margery, resolved to get at the bottom of the matter.

"Well, I did have two dollars, but I had to spend it," said Mr. Callahan. "I was thinkin' I could get it somehow. And I knew you could let me have it. Ain't that what the charity is for?"

That was what many of those "poor things" thought, Miss Margery knew to her regret—that the charity was merely a reservoir for the wasteful and the thriftless to draw from at will. Could it ever be, she wondered, that it ought to be a crutch to be cast aside with regained health, a hand of brotherhood to lift the fallen and teach them to stand alone, to steady the weak and would be a very happy solution of the make them strong? How hard it was to give help and at the same time to teach the poor to be self-helpful! Miss Margery sighed, but she knew it was useless to argue the matter, so she only answered reprovingly: "I fear you have wasted money, Mrs. Callahan. A neighbor told me you had been off with the children on an excursion."

When Mrs. Callahan dimpled and chuckled as she did now, she looked like Peggy's oldest sister. "Peg told me Mrs. Flannagan went to you with that tale. I cert'ny did fool her. Why, Miss Margery, I ain't been on no more 'scursions than this old machine settin' here. When I took Mrs. Peckinbaugh's sewin' home, I carried the children with me, like she told me, for her to see how I'd fixed the clothes she gave me. She give us a reception like the president's—sandwiches and lemonade and iced cakes and street car fare back home. I laugh every time I think how I fooled Mrs. Flannagan. I told her that bundle of sewin' was our lunch and wraps. And she was fool enough to believe me!" Mrs. Callahan laughed till tears stood in her eyes.

"Mrs. Callahan, aren't you ashamed to tell falsehoods—and before your little children, too? How can you expect them to believe you? And how can you expect them to tell the truth when you set them such an example?"

"Why, I wouldn't tell a lie to harm anybody for the world," said Mrs. Callahan. "But there wouldn't be no fun in livin' if you didn't tell white lies."

Miss Margery saw that it was useless to protest. "I think I ought not to give you any money, Mrs. Callahan," she said rising to go. "You had it in your hand an' you spent it. If we give in such cases as this, we will not have funds to meet real need."

"If you must know," said Mrs. Callahan, "I lent them $2 to the negro woman next door. Her rent was due on Wednesday, and she'll go the money for her wash tonight. I told Peggy not to tell you, for you'd told me so partic'lar not to spend a cent of that money—but if you must know, you must. She was needin' it worse than me."

And Miss Margery lent the lacking rent money.

Bulletin.

Life: Mr. Well Known Philanthropist announces that by reason of his increased earnings, the result of the greater efficiency obtained through the application of superscientific management to conditions in his various industries, he will, until further notice, award to the American public for their non-interference with his methods, benefits as listed in the following schedule:

(1) For the twisted lives and pirated happiness of 1,000 children (by-product of his mills), one charity ward in hospital, to be operated as part of medical college university hereinafter mentioned.

(2) For the smirched characters of 1,000 women, driven to the street to eke out, to the point where they can live, the skimped wages allowed them in his department stores, one library, adjunct of the university hereinafter mentioned, wherein may be obtained books on leading the higher life.

(3) For the sodden hopes and blasted health of 1,000 men, worn out in his factories, one scholarship, for the properly pliant, in university hereinafter mentioned.

(4) For the wrecked integrity, or non-perpetuation, of 1,000 families, one university whereln will be thoroughly promulgated the policy of Let Well Enough Alone.

Note—Mr. Well Known Philanthropist scorns, in advance, the imputation that he makes the above concessions in order to draw attention from, or to offset the activities of, certain seeming tendencies of the times. His offers are prompted by purely philanthropic impulses.

Further, he holds that it were to show bad taste to question his motives.

In a Friendly Sort o' Way.

When a man ain't got a cent and he's feelin' kinder blue,
An' the clouds hang dark and heavy and won't let the sunshine through,
It's a great thing, Oh, my brethren, for a feller just to lay
His hand upon your shoulder in a friendly sort of way.

It makes a chap feel queerish, it makes the tear drops start,
An' you feel a sort of flutter in the region of your heart;
You can't look up into his eyes, you don't know what to say,
When a hand is on your shoulder in a friendly sort of way.

Oh, the world's a curious compound,
with its honey and its gall,
With its care and bitter crosses, but a good world, after all,
An' a good God must have made it;
leastways that's what I say,
When a hand is on your shoulder in a friendly sort of way.
—James Whitcomb Riley.

What It Is.

Chicago Record-Herald: "Well, Johnnie, I hear you have another baby at your house."

"Yep."

"What is it?"

"The nurse says it's a girl, but pa seems to think it's hard luck."

TWENTY YEARS AGO

Taken From the Columns of The Herald of This Date, 1892.

•••The thermometer in the United States signal office reached the lowest point it has touched this winter, at 7 o'clock yesterday morning, when it indicated 9 deg. below zero.

•••At a meeting held in the Ferguson block, a new Democratic organization known as the Tilden club was organized. The following officers were elected: M. R. Baldwin, president; A. C. Weiss, vice president; C. J. Marshall, secretary; Simon Clark, treasurer, H. F. Greene, F. H. Cutting and A. H. Crassweller were appointed a committee on by-laws.

•••It is understood that Judge O. P. Stearns intends to resign at once from the district court and that Page Morris, now judge of the municipal court, will be appointed to succeed him.

•••Charles Kingston, an old friend of J. B. Sutphin and many other Duluthians, died on Jan. 6 at Central Mine, Mich.

•••Mayor M. J. Davis, who was elected as an independent two years ago, will probably be the Republican candidate at the coming election, but Alderman C. A. Long is in the field and may run independent if not given the Republican nomination. It is probable that Charles d'Autremont will be the Democratic candidate.

•••The plans of Engineer Arentz of Milwaukee for a drawbridge across the ship canal have been accepted by the board of public works, although the decision is still nominally a secret. He will get the prize of $1,000.

•••Alexander Crawford of McLean & Crawford of the Clyde Iron Works, has purchased the old buildings on Lake avenue which were occupied by Scott & Holston before their removal to the West end, and it is said the plant will be remodeled for laundry purposes.

•••Judge Start has filed a decision holding that the street railway company can condemn a right-of-way to Woodland across the lands owned by Richardson & Day and others. This is the first decision of the kind in Minnesota and places street railway companies upon the same level as other railway companies as common carriers.

•••The new board of managers of the Duluth Y. M. C. A. has elected Orlando G. Brice chairman, G. Fred Stevens, vice chairman, and J. M. Anderson, secretary. These three, with the general secretary, S. G. McConaughy, form the executive committee for 1892.

•••H. G. Logan, formerly in the Omaha office in this city, left yesterday for Sioux City to take a position with the same road.

OUR NEXT GOVERNOR.

Motive For Attacks.

Bemidji Pioneer: It is interesting to note that in nearly every instance the newspapers that are shouting in tones of horror that Lieutenant Governor Gordon's extra session episode has "eliminated" him as a candidate for governor are the ones that have daily prayed diligently that Lieutenant Governor Gordon might be eliminated as a candidate for governor.

Sam Is Not Scared.

Cambridge North Star: The North Star predicts that Sam Y. Gordon will be a strong candidate for the nomination for governor, in spite of the fact that Ramsey county will oppose him. Sam is Scotch and can't be easily scared.

Compromise Candidates.

Warren Register: If W. W. Sivright or L. C. Spooner were governor, there would be no question as to who was at the head of the state administration. The nomination of either next year would be a very happy solution of the gubernatorial question.

Difference In the Feet.

Lawrence Journal: Wasn't John A. Johnson out of the state a great deal, even as much as Eberhart is now, when he was governor? ask the apologists for Governor Adolph. Yes, Mister-Man-Afraid-to-Criticise-the-Head-of-Your-Party. Yes, Johnson did a lot of galavanting around the country and right sharply he was censured for it, too. The reply we the Johnson men was that it was a splendid advertisement for the state to "have its best foot forward" at all times. Now there was a little something attractive to that argument in John A. Johnson's case, even if it was mere sophistry. But who, who, (speak up ye judges of great beauty and fine oratory), who would say that Minnesota has her best foot forward when the cringing, whining Eberhart is chasing all over the nation singing his little song about consolidated rural schools?

Slight Acquaintance Better.

Anoka Union: Our governor appeared as well as any of the other governors, and he was warmly greeted whenever he spoke. The Union is convinced that if the people of Minnesota were better acquainted with Governor Eberhart, they would resent the vilification heaped upon him.

Cass Lake Times: If Governor Eberhart did not gad about the country most of the time the people might become "better acquainted" with him.

The saying of an old Greek philosopher—"a very slight acquaintance is all that is desirable with some people, a more intimate one is both dangerous and unsafe" will apply beautifully in this case.

Destiny From Another Viewpoint.

Holt Northern Light: Governor Eberhart is credited with holding the belief that he is a man of destiny. We believe he is, but we don't believe the destiny is just the kind he thinks it is.

A Disagreement.

Mahnomen Pioneer: His accidency, Adolph O. Eberhart, according to Prime Minister E. F. Smith believes he is a man of destiny. Perhaps this is so, but just what that destiny is to be is a matter where Adolph and a lot of other people disagree.

Or Staying Home Altogether.

Hibbing Mesaba Ore: Sam Y. Gordon asked a very simple question of the attorney general, but it kicked up a considerable bit of dust about the state capitol, and you'll observe that hereafter our little two-for-five governor will be gittin' in earlier o' nights.

The Complexity of "The Simple Life."

Katharine Fullerton Gerould in the Atlantic: The real drawback to "the simple life" is that it not simple. If you are living it, you positively can do nothing else. There is not time. For the simple life demands virtually that there shall be no specialization. The Hausfrau who is living the simple life must, after all, sweep, scour, wash, and mend. She must also cook; from that, even Battle Creek cannot save her. She may dream sternly of Margaret Fuller, who read Plato while she pared apples; but in her secret heart she knows that either Plato or the apples suffered. And from what point of view is it simpler to have a maid-of-all-work than to indulge one's self in liveried lackeys? Not, obviously, for the mistress; and it is surely simpler to be an adequate second footman than to be an adequate bonne-a-tout-faire. We should really simplify life by having more servants rather than fewer; more luxury than less. The smoothest machinery is the most complicated; and which of us wants to sink the Mauretania and go back to Robert Fulton's steamboat? One would think that the decision would be made naturally for one by one's income. But it is the triumph of the new paradox that this is not so. Thousands of people seem to be infected with the idea that by doing more themselves, they bestow leisure on others; that by wearing shabby clothes they somehow make it possible for others to dress better—though they thus admit tacitly that leisure and elegance are not evil things.

Getting the Men to Pull Together.

Business for January: "Last week I was on the point of having a good scrap with the superintendent," said a foreman in a big shop. "I had a whole bunch of grievances against him and intended telling him what I thought of his executive ability. Somehow the general manager got wise to it and dropped in for a little chat yesterday. He got to jollying me about different things and, almost before I knew it, had gotten the story of my grudge. Then he very diplomatically showed me wherein I was wrong. When he finished the chat with me he went over to my erstwhile opponent and tried out the same kind of speech with him. As a result, no two men get along better together now than the superintendent and myself."

The higher officials of this company make a practice of adjusting such petty grievances among men and keeping the employes working in perfect harmony. All the foremen in the plant take lunch together each day, eating at the same table. After luncheon they pass out into a small courtyard or enclosure where a baseball diamond is laid out. The company has a foremen's baseball team and in season the more enthusiastic ones like to practice for a time during the remainder of the noon period. The others throw discs at a dust line or play some similar game, which is bound to provoke fun and good natured raillery among the participants. A foreman finds it impossible to hold a grudge against one of his co-workers.

"I don't want men without opinions," said a superintendent there. "Give me the fellow who can think out a way of his own and argue in its favor. He is worth something to the company, because he either brings to light factory betterments himself or stimulates some one else to improve methods. Of course, we don't want any erratic individuals around; we are after the sane, thinking man who will stand up and argue reasonably with his associates. Frankness and open argument do far more to take away distrust and enviousness between workers than anything else."

This company's policy is modern and liberal. They encourage foremen to put their impressions, suggestions and ideas about the management of the business to the practical test. Men are allowed sufficient latitude to initiate, create and promote new ideas.

Vocal Vengeance.

Lippincott's: A rather brutal thing was said unawares at an evening party. Shortly after midnight a gentleman was pressed to sing. Very thoughtfully he put forth the excuse that at the late hour the next-door neighbors might object.

"Oh, never mind the neighbors," cried the young lady of the house. "They poisoned our dog last week."

WOMAN'S REALM.

A baby's nursery but no babies.

This was the case at the First Presbyterian church at the morning service yesterday. A nice warm nursery with attendants to care for the little ones, was ready to receive babies during the service, but no babies arrived.

Perhaps the mothers hated to take them out in the cold and perhaps they thought they would wait until some other mother had entrusted her treasures to the care of strangers first. At all events there were no babies at the nursery.

The plan has just been inaugurated at the church and one of the parlors has been made ready for the care of babies so that mothers may attend the morning services and leave their babies in the care of responsible persons during that time.

A regular checking system will be introduced. At the door of the room the attendants will take the babies and give the mother a check in return for which she can again claim her baby at the close of the services.

The plan ought to prove satisfactory as many a mother is kept at home from services, which she would like to attend because of the lack of a suitable place to leave the baby or because there is no one to care for it during her absence. In this way she can have the baby near her, well cared for, and can attend the services regularly.

MME ALDA.

Noted Soprano as "Marguerite."

Mme. Frances Alda, the noted soprano who will sing in Duluth at the Lyceum theater on Monday evening, Jan. 15, is noted for her dramatic force and the artistic way in which she characterizes her songs. The Musical Leader gives the following report of her singing in "Faust" with the Montreal Opera company:

Mme. Frances Alda scored a tremendous triumph as Marguerite in the performance of Gounod's "Faust," given in Montreal, Nov. 8, by the Montreal Opera company. Without exception, the critics were enthusiastic in their praise of the prima donna's singing and acting.

"Mme. Alda's Marguerite,' said the Montreal Star, 'is the essence of romance, instinct with the spirit of youth, a clearly-defined poetic conception. She dispenses with much of the conventional and wretchedly artificial detail that has become attached to the role in the course of half a century, just as barnacles adhere to a ship's bottom. Her hurried exit, after repudiating Faust's advances in the second act, and with a swift glance of fear at Mephisto, is an instance in point. The sudden change from pensive mood to gay at the opening of the garden scene is another. Again, she does not sing the song of the Roi de Thule to the audience, but to herself, mezzo-voice, in part, as it should be sung, but very seldom is.

"'In the Jewel Song, once more, Mme. Alda reveals her innate artistry. She sings it to the mirror, not to the gallery. And in her voice—admirably suited to the lyric charm of the justly famous aria—there is a wealth of girlish wonderment and delight.

"'In the closing scene in prison, Mme. Alda gave an indication of the dramatic force of which she is capable when she gives histrionics full play. There was not only surprising strength, but a sense of passionate faith and trust in her final 'Angea pura, anges radieux,' which thrilled the whole audience. The trio evoked a demonstration of more than customary enthusiasm.'"

ANGELINA SPINELLO.

New Haven has produced a musical prodigy. She is Angelina Spinello, a girl of 10. She was a piano pupil of Professor Conselotti, who was the organist of St. Michael's church. Professor Conselotti had to resign his position. When they asked him to name a successor he suggested little Angelina. With only twelve hours warning, Angelina played at the Sunday morning service and gave entire satisfaction. Angelina has a sister of 13, who plays the violin, and a brother of 11, who plays the cello.

RUSSELL-PARKER.

Superior Wedding of Interest to Duluthians.

Of general interest is the wedding of Miss Elinore Emily Russell of Superior and Joseph Fletcher Parker of this city which took place Saturday evening at the home of the bride, 1327 Hammond avenue, Superior. Rev. Patrick Lee of the Sacred Heart cathedral read the service before the relatives of the bride and groom.

Promptly at 7:30 o'clock the familiar strains of the wedding march from Lohengrin, played by Mrs. E. F. McCausland, announced the approach of the bridal party. White satin ribbons were stretched by Frank E. Parker and George Russell to outline the pathway for the bridal procession. Misses Winifred Bardon and Grace Waldo, cousins of the bride, were bridesmaids and the bride's sister, Miss Marion Russell, was maid of honor. Charles Brown of Duluth, attended the groom as best man. Miss Bardon was gowned in cloth of gold and rose velvet with an oriental tunic. Miss Waldo wore light green messaline, with gold lace and each carried English violets, tied with lavender chiffon. Miss Russell's gown was yellow messaline with overdress of iridescent net, and silver fringe trimmings. The maid of honor carried a shower of pink roses.

The bride was beautiful in her gown of white satin, which was made on empire lines with court train. She wore a full length tulle veil and cap of real lace and lillies of the valley. The bodice was cut high neck with pearl trimmings and elaborate garniture of rose point lace. Her only ornament was a pendant of diamonds and pearls, the gift of the bridegroom.

The bride carried out the time-honored custom of cutting the bride's cake each of the maids in turn doing the same. During the evening Mrs. Lucia Judd McAuliff sang several selections. Mrs. James Bardon and Mrs. Victor Linley served in the dining room, and were assisted by the Misses Grace Whitstruck, Jane Van Vleck, Rachel Conan, Janet Le Claire, Marguerite Hoover and Anna Roy Bardon. Assisting about the rooms were Mesdames John T. Murphy, G. H. Winsor, and W. H. Hoover. Little Mary Russell, niece of the bride, preceded the bride and groom as they descended the stairway, scattering rose petals, from a pretty basket. The bride's going away gown was navy blue, with hat of coronation color, trimmed with white wings.

Guild of St. James.

Th regular meeting of the guild of St. James' will be held Friday afternoon at 2:30 in the bishop's clubrooms.

Students Return.

The students at the Minnesota university who have been home for the holiday vacation returned to Minneapolis yesterday and today. Among those who were home were: Misses Ethelwynn Phelps, Gladys Lenning, Marjorie Davis, Jessie Reed, Gladys Segog, Myran Pressnell, Nellie McFadden, Dorothy Davis, Ethel Quinn and Agnes Graham. Messrs. Archie Glass, Harold Cant, Lawrence Jaques, Leonard McHugh, Lawrence Boyle, Phillip Poirier, John Jenswold, Jr., Morrison Harris, Sam Gingold and Raymond C. Rose.

Violinist to Play.

Miss Margaret Horton of St. Paul, who will play before the Matinee Musicale on Jan. 15, is an accomplished violinist. Miss Horton returned recently from Berlin, where she devoted two years to the study of the violin.

Shower for Miss Reau.

Miss Mary McDonald of 4006 Regent street, Lakeside, will be hostess at a shower for Miss Irene Reau, whose wedding to E. A. McConville will take place soon.

First Steinway Dance.

Steinway parties for the year have commenced. The first of the series for this year was held Saturday evening in Steinway hall. La Brosse's orchestra played a delightful program for about sixty dancers. As in former years these parties will be given every alternate Saturday evening and will be most informal in nature.

Error in Report.

A quotation from Mrs. C. J. Lesure's report on "Fresh Air in the Public Schools," presented at the Woman's council meeting, which was printed in Saturday evening's paper was incorrect in one statement owing to a typrographical error. The quotation reading, "We found one room at 120 and the thermometer—rising" should have been "We found one room at 72 and the thermometer rising."

Sewing Guild.

The Orphanage sewing guild will meet tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Christian Brothers' high school. This guild is assisting in the support of the St. James' Orphans Home and an invitation is extended to all interested in the work to attend this meeting.

Try This, Instead of Quinine, for Colds

Pinex Cold Tablets give almost instant relief in colds or la grippe and usually wipe out the trouble completely inside of 20 hours. No other remedy will stop the aches and pains so quickly. Cost no more than quinine capsules, and are immensely superior.

Pinex Cold Tablets reduce the fever, check the nasal discharge, restore normal activity in the pores, and are very pleasantly laxative and tonic. Do not contain a particle of opiates or coal tar heart depressants. Simple, harmless and very agreeable.

Don't accept a substitute—one trial of this quick-acting remedy will show you that there is nothing else "just as good" as Pinex Cold Tablets. Money refunded if disappointed. 25c per box. If necessary, send to The Pinex Co., Fort Wayne, Ind., (makers of "Pinex" Cough Remedy).

THE EVENING STORY

EAVESDROPPERS

By Susanne Glenn.

Mable Pierce settled herself comfortably in the hammock back of the arbor. She had many pleasant things to think about in case she cared to stay awake, but the breathing of summer winds in the maple boughs and the sing-song of bees among the flowers soon soothed her to unconsciousness. She awoke with a start to hear voices in the summerhouse.

"Will you be seated here for a few minutes, Miss Tracy?" Alan Little's unmistakable voice was saying, "I have something very special to say to you.

"To me, Mr. Little?"

"Do not think me too abrupt, dear Miss Florence, if I beg you to become my wife," he continued, without further preamble. "Every young man should marry when he can maintain a home. And I have long felt the stirrings of love—Florence!" He paused eloquently. "Will you?"

"Oh, Mr. Little, you can have no idea how surprised I am. I never had such a thought. I esteem you very highly and appreciate the honor you confer, but—truly this is impossible. Mabel crouched among the cushions, too stunned to think of stirring.

"You have dealt most kindly with my presumption," said Little gently. "Will this make any difference with our friendship, Miss Florence?"

"I trust we may always be friends," said the girl. Mabel heard them walk away, as if in a dream. "How could he do it? How could he do it?" she thought over and over. "I can never believe a man again." Through her stunned mind passed a remembrance of the hours spent with him, of his devotion to her, of his fine strong face that she had learned to trust, of the strange happiness his presence brought her. She pressed her fingers over her dry eyes to shut out the mocking beauty of the afternoon. Presently she heard some one again approaching the summer house. Mabel crouched miserably in the hammock, too shattered to attempt flight or to chance encountering any one.

"Will you be seated here for a few minutes, Miss MacWayne. I have something very special to say to you." Mabel sat up suddenly, rigidly, at the sound. Alan and Mary MacWayne!

"To me—Alan?" faltered the astonished young lady.

"To you, my dear Mary. Do not think me too abrupt if I beg you to become my wife. Every young man should marry when he can afford to maintain a home and I have long felt the stirrings of love." He paused.

"Will you," he finished impressively, "be my wife?"

"Oh, Alan," wailed poor Mary, "are you crazy? I never dreamed of such a thing. I thought you cared for—"

"Then you refuse me?" he interrupted, gently but firmly.

"Oh, yes, yes," she said, "and I'm so sorry, Alan, if you are really sincere."

"You have dealt most kindly with my presumption, Mary," he said quietly. "Will this make any difference with our friendship?"

"I shall always want you for a friend," answered the girl.

"Then we will forget all about it, dear girl," he concluded, with unmistakable relief in his voice. Mabel sat motionless long after they had left the summer house. "Can he possibly have gone crazy? she thought.

When Mabel encountered Alan on the hotel veranda after dinner that evening she studied him critically. His smooth, tanned face looked serene and healthy. His steady, sane eyes looked into hers with a tenderness that made her dizzy in spite of her overpowering fear and indignation. "Mabel," he said in his brief compelling way, "come with me for a walk." The girl rose reluctantly.

"Not far," she stipulated.

"Only to the arbor," he said. A sudden daring entered her heart. Would he ask her, too? It is rather an unusual experience to be proposed to in words as familiar as those in which this proposal would undoubtedly be versed. "I may as well see it through," she thought bitterly. In the fragment twilight of the arbor he made her comfortable in silence.

"There is to be a little variety this time," she thought with strange humor.

"Mabel," he said huskily, taking her cold little hands in his big comfortable ones, "I love you—I love you so, because I have loved you so long, and it seems as if you must have known it. You could not ask me to marry me before, dear, when I had nothing to offer you. I have just got the new position that I've been working for—I've only been reasonably sure of it for two hours, and now I can take care of you, Mabel, as I would wish. Will you marry me, darling? I offer you a clean record and as great a love as a man can give a woman.

"A clean record," cried Mabel. "Alan Little, I was in the hammock back of the arbor this afternoon; I heard every word. How can you come to me this evening with a tale of love? Do you suppose I would marry —"

"Wait!" commanded the young man sharply. "Do not say another word, I beg. You in the hammock, Mabel? Oh, good heavens!" he dropped her hands. "Only trust me a few minutes longer, Mabel," he pleaded at last. "I can explain the whole accursed thing, black as it looks against me. Do not say another word. Come!" She followed him silently.

"Stay here," he whispered, seating he rbeside a window on an upper veranda. Then he tapped lightly on the window and stepped inside. "MacGregor," he said to the man seated at the table," you offered me that position on a peculiar condition. You wanted a married man."

"I do, Alan."

"And since I am neither married nor engaged you stipulate that I am to propose to three eligible young ladies, the first two of whom are to reject me and the third to accept—that this is to be done without any explanation of any sort to the young ladies. Those are the conditions?"

"You are right my boy. Any young fellow who has the nerve to pull off a stunt of that sort is just the fellow I want."

"Very well, sir. At 4 o'clock this afternoon, I proposed to Florence Tracy. She refused me. At 4:30 I proposed to Mary MacWayne with similar results. Half an hour ago," his voice grew suddenly tender, "I asked the dearest girl in the world to marry me."

"And she accepted you?"

"She is going to," he answered.

"I only wish," said MacGregor admiringly, "that she knew the sort of fellow she is getting? Come up in the morning and we'll fix up the papers,' MacGregor's usually gruff voice was very cordial.

Alan Little stumbling through the window, held out his hands entreatingly to the girl. She slipped her own into them happily.

"Sweetheart, forgive me for saying you were going to accept me," he begged humbly. "I had to say that or lose you—and I cannot lose you, Mabel."

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST

CLUB BARS NOT LEGAL

Drinking Places Maintained By Lodges Also Forbidden in North Dakota.

Attorney General Miller Gives Enforcement League Cue to Future Action.

Bismarck, N. D., Jan. 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—War has been declared by the State Enforcement league and the attorney general's office on clubs and lodges which maintain bars. Announcement of that fact is made public in a letter from the attorney general to the enforcement league, written in response to a query by the latter organization.

That clubs and lodges are forbidden under the state law, to maintain bars at which liquor is kept either to be given to members or to sell to members is the position taken by the attorney general.

"Every person who assists or abets in keeping or maintaining club rooms or any place in which intoxicating liquor is received or kept for the purpose of use, gift, barter or sale as a beverage or for distribution and division among its members by any means whatever, violates the law and is subject to penalties," he says.

Any Member Liable.

Under this construction of the law all members of the lodge in question can be hailed into court.

The attorney general also says that it is the duty of the state's attorneys to prosecute all such lodges and clubs as may be located in those counties, and that in the event of any of them to fail to do so, and information showing such violations is laid before him, that he will prosecute.

Superintendent R. L. Watkins of the Enforcement league declares that there will be no let up in the campaign against lodge and club bars in the state until all are cleaned up.

POUND LARD CAN CASE COMING UP

Test of North Dakota Food Commissioners' Ruling at Fargo Tuesday.

Fargo, N. D., Jan. 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—The question whether a state can compel the sale of lard, put up in containers, in one pound lots or whole multitudes of that number only, will be tested for the first time in the United States in Fargo beginning next Tuesday.

Prof. E. F. Land, pure food commissioner of North Dakota, holds that this law is on the same order as the law which regulates the sale of bread in one pound loaves or whole multiples of that number only.

He has started an action against Armour & Co. as a test case and Swift, Cudahy, the Hammonds' the McMillans of St. Paul are fighting the case with Armour.

Ball, Watson, Young & Lawrence and possibly some of the packers' attorneys from Chicago, if they can be spared from the big packers' trial, will represent Armour & Co., and United States District Attorney Edward Engerud will assist States Attorney Fowler in the prosecution.

ATTORNEY GENERAL SEEKS RE-ELECTION

North Dakota Official Announces That He Will Run Third Time.

Grand Forks, N. D., Jan. 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—Attorney General Andrew Miller will be a candidate for re-election according to statements made by him in an interview here. He states that he has decided to make the third try for the position that he has held during the past two terms.

By his announcement Mr. Miller settles a much disputed political question in the state. For some time the probabilities of his becoming a candidate for re-election has been the source of a great deal of speculation.

That he will be an "independent" candidate is Mr. Miller's statement. Just what action the Progressive Republicans, who have heretofore been supporters of his, will take, is still an uncertain quantity because of differences which have arisen between him and the factional leaders.

TWELVE STAND TEST.

Result of Examination for Doctors in North Dakota.

Grand Forks, N. D., Jan. 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—Of fifteen candidates who took the medical examination last week, twelve were successful according to Secretary Williamson. For the first time the board conducted practical tests in surgery, at the state college of medicine. Those successful were: Arnt F. Floow, Minnewaukan; A. K. Blair, Hampden; A. E. Rumreich, Pisek; L. P. Botsford, Valley City; G. F. Warelheim, Valley City; H. J. Munler, Jamestown; A. F. E. Schlerbaum, Heron; Thomas M. Morrow, Minot; H. O. Fjelder, Abercromnia; A. E. Spear, Belfield; J. H. Vallancy, New Rockford, and Gabriel Nygaard, New England.

BIG MINNEAPOLIS FIRE.

Firemen Fight During 20 Deg. Below Temperature All Day.

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 8.—Fire of unknown origin starting on the second floor of the Waterman-Waterbury company building, Sunday morning, completely destroyed the plant, the Continental hotel, and did damage of $10,000 to the Janey, Semple Hill company's plant, a wholesale hardware house. The fire which caused a total loss of $185,000, was not controlled until late in the afternoon. Fireman Ole Mitby had both ankles sprained when he fell from an ice-coated ladder. The conflagration was the hardest fight that the local department has had for twenty years, owing to the extreme cold, the thermometer registering 20 deg. below zero. Immense clouds of steam arose, preventing the firemen from getting to the heart of the blaze.

Ice also coated the ladders and made the handling of the hose difficult.

The Waterman-Waterbury company i sthe heaviest loser, the loss on stock being placed at $80,000. The loss on the building, which was owned by James J. Hill is $60,000. The total loss of the Continental hotel, owned by the Schlitz Brewing company is $25,000.

HOUK PRAISES WISCONSIN LAW

Says Similar Compensation Act Will Be Offered in Minnesota.

Madison, Wis., Jan. 8.—After careful study of the several workmen's compensation laws in operation in the United States, William Houk, state labor commissioner of Minnesota, believes the Wisconsin act is the best of them all. Mr. Houk visited the Wisconsin industrial commission and commented to this effect when asked for his views. He said he believed that Minnesota will consider the adoption of such a law at the next session of the legislature. Mr. Houk said that Wisconsin is deservedly praised throughout the Union for the advanced ground taken in labor and other legislation. He declared, however, that no state has better labor laws than Minnesota, and in this opinion Commissioner J. D. Beck of the Wisconsin commission agreed.

COOPER'S TRIAL COSTLY.

Traill County Gets Bill for $6,830 From Grand Forks.

Hillsboro, N. D., Jan. 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—The unsuccessful prosecution of McLain Cooper on a charge of murder, in connection with the death of J. Frank Ross, was costly for Traill county. Bills filed by Grand Forks county, in which county the case was tried, are for $6,830.18. The largest single item on the statement is for witness' fees, totaling $1,762.90. The item for the jury is also large, bein $1,560. The fees for a special counsel was $1,444.50, while incidental expenses bring the total up to $6,850.18.

WILLISTON COURT NOTES.

Alleged Assailants of Conductor Meyers to Be Tried.

Wahpeton, N. D., Jan. 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—Robert Hart and Albert Spencer, charged with holding up and beating Conductor Meyers of the Great Northern, will be tried at the present term of the district court, over which Judge Allen is presiding. The defendants, it is charged, beat Meyers in an unmerciful manner, waylaying him as he was walking along the railroad track a short distance from town.

Out of forty-eight criminal cases on the calendar, twenty-nine are prosecutions that grow out of alleged violations of the prohibition law. The major portion of them come from Lidgerwood, where a successful raid was made by the officials. There also are about seventy-five civil cases on the calendar.

STATE ELECTRICAL BOARD.

Makes Its Annual Report to Governor Eberhart.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 8.—Eight master electricians, eight journeymen electricians and eleven special electricians were licensed in Minnesota during 1911, according to a report made to the governor by the state board of electricity. On the other hand, nine master, one journeyman and four special electricians were refused license because of incompetency or lack of knowledge of the trade. The board had $74.49 in the treasury at the end of the year.

James Pascoe of Hancock has announced the dates for the conference to be held in the Methodist church of this section as follows: Calumet, Jan. 9; Laurium, Jan. 10; Tamarack, Jan. 20 and 21; Baraga, Jan. 21, p. m.; Lake Linden, Jan. 22; Pewabic, Feb. 3 and 4; Atlantic, Feb. 4; L'Anse, Feb. 10 and 11; Centennial, Feb. 14; Houghton, Feb. 26; Hancock, Feb. 27; Calumet Finnish mission, March 20.

EAST GRAND FORKS MAN IS SENTENCED.

Crookston, Minn., Jan. 8.—After being out for an hour and a half, the jury in the case of the state against J. L. Crawford, accused of larceny, returned a verdict of guilty, and the defendant was sentenced by Judge Watts to serve an indeterminate sentence of from one to ten years in the state penitentiary. Crawford was bound over in the East Grand Forks municipal court on charge of robbing Martin Lien of $20 and was also indicted on the charge of robbing William Peterson of Willmar, Minn., of $83 in the rear of Brown Bros. saloon.

RUTLEDGE ESTATE IS FIXED AT $3,484,429.

Chippewa Falls, Wis., Jan. 8.—The appraisal of the estate of the late Edward Rutledge filed in county court here by William Irvine and A. B. McDonnell appraisers, fixes a total value at $3,484,429.02 in stocks, loans, cash and other personal property. Of this sum $1,000,000 is left in trust for charity, and aside from a few small personal bequests the remainder is to be divided among Mr. Rutledge's fourteen heirs, share and share alike.

Marquette's Cold Record.

Marquette, Mich., Jan. 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—For five hours during Friday night the temperature on top of the Marquette office of the weather bureau stood at 12 deg. below zero, being the lowest January temperature recorded since 1881, when it registered 26 below for a brief period. At the plant of the Marquette Gas Light company the mercury dropped to 27 below, which equals the lowest temperature recorded in this city since the establishment of the weather bureau in 1875.

PENNINGTON COUNTY BOARD HOLDS MEET.

Thief River Falls, Minn., Jan. 8. —(Special to The Herald.)—The board of commissioners for Pennington county organized by electing Edward Aubol of St. Hilaire chairman and Olof Larson vice president. The county printing was distributed as follows: The News of this city, the commissioners' proceedings and financial statement at 15 cents for the first publication, and 10 cents for the remainder; the Eleven Towns, printed twenty miles east of here, the delinquent tax list at 2½ cents per description.

The most important action taken by the commissioners was the final step in completing the great trunk highway which now runs from one end of the county to the other in a direct line. This road will be constructed next summer under the supervision of Engineer C. H. Mattz and application was made to the state highway commission for $9,000 to aid in so doing. It will be made an Elwell road and will be the first one in this section of the state.

D. P. O'Neill of this city attended the meeting of the commissioners of Polk and Red Lake counties held at Crookston Saturday to settle the dispute as to the location of the Duluth-Winnipeg through the Red River valley.

FLOYD UP IN AIR.

North Dakota Farmer Must Be Tried a Third Time.

Carrington, N. D., Jan. 8. — (Special to The Herald.) — With one jury having disagreed and another having convicted him, Bud Floyd of Foster county is still as far from prison or from freedom as ever, the verdict of guilty being set aside by Judge Burr on the showing that the information was defective. Floyd is once more in jail and will be compelled to remain until the next term of court, unless it can be stipulated that the third trial shall take place immediately at Jamestown.

Floyd is a Foster county farmer charged with robbery. Another farmer claims Floyd robbed him of a little over $80.

FOUND GUILTY AGAIN.

North Dakota Farmer Again Convicted of Horse Stealing.

Williston, N. D., Jan. 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—Melvin H. Howe, a McKenzie county farmer, has been convicted in the district court of horse stealing. He will seek another new trial.

The verdict of guilty, returned by the first jury, was contrary to the judge's instructions and was by him set aside, the supreme court affirming his view of the situation, and ordering a second trial. Judge Leighton presided at the first trial, with Judge Fisk presiding over the present trial just ended.

Howe was charged by Andrew Berg with having stolen a horse from him, the animal being located in the hands of another party. A mass of evidence was introduced to show the transactions through which the horse had passed before finally reaching the holder. One of the state's most important witnesses, Felix Baxter, could not be found, being isolated on a Canadian homestead.

ISHPEMING WOMAN FOUND DEAD IN BED.

Ishpeming, Mich., Jan. 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mrs. Thomas Tregear, aged 65, a native of Cornwall, Eng., and a resident of this city for twenty years, was found dead in bed Saturday. She had apparently retired enjoying the best of health. Besides her husband she leaves seven children—Jennie and George, both married and residing in the Copper country; Harry, living at Ann Arbor; Thomas, William, Flossie and Walter are residents of this city.

STARK COUNTY FARMERS ASK COUNTY FOR GRAIN.

Dickinson, N. D., Jan. 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—Stark county farmers have made application to the board of commissioners for the purchase of about $45,000 worth of seed grain for the coming spring's operations. The purchases will be made under the state seed law, which grants counties the authority to bond for the seed purchase, taking mortgages on the crops that are raised from such seed.

It will require about 35,000 bushels of wheat and 17,500 bushels of oats, according to the petitions on file.

DAIRYMEN TO GATHER AT MANDAN, FEB. 15-16.

Mandan, N. D., Jan. 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—With the program practically completed for the annual meeting here of the North Dakota Dairymen's association, Feb. 15-16, new impetus will be given the dairying movement.

The Northern Pacific railroad company will give two butter trophies at the butter contest, for the best creamery and dairy butter exhibit. The association also will offer cash prizes for the best butter exhibited.

BROKEN RAIL WRECKS NORTHERN PACIFIC TRAIN.

Little Falls, Minn., Jan. 8.—Northern Pacific No. 7 westbound, was wrecked seven miles north of here Sunday morning, a broken rail causing the accident. All the cars left the track, the sleeper rolling down a twenty-foot embankment. No one was injured. Traffic was delayed seven hours.

Winona Strike Called Off.

Winona, Minn., Jan. 8.—Labor leaders here announce the strike of street car motormen which has been in existence since Dec. 13, temporarily had been called off because of the hardship to the general public. They declared, however, that the strike would be resumed later. The cars now are being manned by non-union workmen.

Milwaukee Black Hand Busy.

Milwaukee, Wis., Jan. 8.—An explosion under the grocery store of Antonio Mostello, in the Italian district early Sunday followed his receipt of several Black Hand notes demanding money. The grocer, his wife and two children were all slightly cut by the explosion.

WISCONSIN BRIEFS

Menomonie—Mrs. Clara Stall, widow of a retired farmer, was found dead in the home in which she had lived alone. Neighbors had not seen her since Tuesday and it is supposed she was taken ill and perished with the cold. The mercury here dropped to 38 below Saturday.

Milwaukee — Lawrence Murphy, a well known money lender, has been sentenced by Judge Backus of the municipal court to three months in the house of correction for usury. This is said to be the first sentence imposed for usury in Wisconsin.

Washburn—T. N. Okerstrom of Port Wing has begun extensive logging operations in the northern part of the county, the logs being hauled to Port Wing, where they will be sawed in Mr. Okerstrom's mill during the coming season. Mr. Okerstrom will use a large traction engine in hauling the logs from the woods to Port Wing.

Ashland—Much interest is manifest throughout this section of the state over the announcement that the Edward Hines Lumber company would remove one of its Wisconsin mills to Fort Frances, Ont. The Hines company owns sawmills on Iron River, Mason, and Hayward, and the inhabitants of these towns are practically dependent upon the operation of the sawmill for their support.

Webster's White Liniment for Rheumatism

WHEN you are stiff or sore or lame in any part of your body, it simply indicates that some body poisons have accumulated in that part. The blood is not able to carry them away fast enough. Aches and pains result. What you want to do is to remove the cause—these accumulations of body poisons and mineral deposits.

This is the way that Webster's White Liniment gives you quick relief. It is what doctors call a "counter-irritant." It is a scientific compound of stimulating and lubricating oils and counter-irritant ingredients. When rubbed vigorously and thoroughly into the pores of the skin at the affected part, it stimulates the circulation of the blood. You will notice the skin get red. The blood stream, now working with more vigor and energy, and flowing more freely, carries off the poisons to the kidneys, where they are disposed of.

Should Be In Every Medicine Cabinet

In the same way, Webster's White Liniment relieves muscular rheumatism, lame back, stiff neck, swellings, discolorations, strains, sprains, burns, stiff joints, bites of insects, etc.

Webster's White Liniment is pure, clean, non-poisonous—will not stain, blister nor irritate a tender skin. It is scientifically compounded by the ablest pharmacists. Our forty years' experience as manufacturing chemists has taught us how to make all Webster's preparations so good that we can absolutely guarantee them.

The price of Webster's White Liniment, 25c. and 50c. will be cheerfully refunded, if you are not satisfied with results after a fair trial.

Under the Webster trade-mark and guaranty are sold sixty different articles, including effective remedies for all such human ailments as do not require a doctor—household remedies that should be in the medicine cabinet of every family—also pure toilet preparations.

Your druggist has them or can get them for you.

WEBSTER CHEMICAL COMPANY

S.S.S. THE REMEDY FOR SORES AND ULCERS

The combination of healthful vegetable ingredients of which S. S. S. is composed, makes it an especially desirable and effective remedy in the treatment of sores and ulcers of every kind. Since an impure condition of the blood is responsible for the trouble, a medicine that can purify the blood is the only hope of a successful cure; and it should be a medicine that not only cleanses the circulation, but one that at the same time restores the blood to its normal, rich, nutritive condition. S. S. S. is just such a remedy. It is made entirely of healing, cleansing vegetable properties, extracted from nature's roots, herbs and barks of the forest and fields. It has long been recognized as the greatest of all blood purifiers, possessing the qualities necessary to remove every impurity in the blood. When S. S. S. has purified the circulation, and strengthened and enriched it, sores and ulcers heal readily and surely, because they are no longer fed and kept open by a continual discharge into them of irritating disease-laden matter from the blood. S. S. S. brings about a healthy condition of the flesh by supplying it with rich, nourishing blood and makes a permanent and lasting cure. Put an Extra Stomach to Work

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets Will Do the Work of Two or Three Stomachs. Affords Instant Relief.

FREE TRIAL PACKAGE.

When your food does not digest, when gases form, when you experience that uncomfortable feeling of fullness, when the breath is foul, the tongue coated and that sour taste is in the mouth—take a Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablet and watch how quickly every one of these symptoms disappear. All that was needed was to digest that lump of food in your stomach,—and the glands, whose duty it is to supply the gastric juices, had simply given out from overwork. So when you took that little tablet you were supplying exactly what was necessary to complete the process of digestion that the stomach had begun but was unable to finish.

If you would continue to take a Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablet after each meal for awhile, your stomach would have a chance to rest up and get well and strong again.

Try just one box and you will never want to be without this wonderful little remedy for stomach troubles. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets contain an ingredient, one grain of which will digest 3,000 grains of food. They are so entirely harmless because they have absolutely no effect on the system one way or another, except to do just the one thing—digest food.

40,000 physicians use and recommend this National Remedy. Every drug store everywhere sells and recommends Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. The price is 50 cents per box. A sample will be sent free if you will write F. A. Stuart Co., 150 Stuart Bldg., Marshall, Mich.

Secretary Fisher Recommends Changes in Public Land Laws.

He Also Wants Enlarged Application of the Leasing Principle.

Washington, Jan. 8.—Enlarged application of the leasing principle os applied to the public domain, especially a liberal leasing law for the development of the mineral resources of Alaska, particularly its coal lands, and immediate consideration by congress of the whole subject of water power development and control, are the most important recomdations contained in the annual report of the Secretary of the Interior Fisher.

A general overhauling of conditions in Alaska is needed, the secretary says. He favors a law for the retirement of government employes, basing it on the ground of good business policy. He urges the creation of a bureau of national parks, each of them at present being "a separate and distinct unit for administrative purposes." There is also serious need, he declares for the enlargement of the work of the bureau of mines.

Must Bar Exploitation.

"The great public movement for the conservation of our national resources," says Secretary Fisher, "is not in any way opposed to prompt and wise development of the public domain. The essential thing is to see that under the guise of settlement, we do not permit more exploitation, which in the last analysis retards both settlement and development."

Many of the restrictive provisions which now irritate and hamper the bona fide settler and industrial pioneer, should be removed, he says.

"The man on the ground should be the object of our solicitude, and we should protect him against those who would place upon his shoulders any unnecessary burden."

In regard to agricultural land settlers, Secretary Fisher holds that the law should insist absolutely upon cultivation, but "should permit the relaxation of the rule requiring residence during the first two years," in some cases, on account of conditions, there being "no reason whatever for insisting upon the requirement of actual residence at the outset."

Modify Payment Law.

Some modification of the law in regard to repayment of reclamation charges is recommended and a change in the law is proposed to permit the settler at any time after five years from the date of entry and after he has lived for three years upon his land, to acquire title to the property.

"The timber and stone act should be immediately repealed," he says, "and also the act authorizing the cutting of timber on mineral lands. They hold out a constant invitation to abuse and to more exploitation.'

The secretary calls attention anew to the "inconsistent manner in which the work of the government has been divided among the interior, agricultural and commerce and labor departments. The patent office, he says, should be under the department of commerce and labor.

Joint Installation.

Duluth lodge, No. 10, A. O. U. W., with Degree of Honor, No. 110, will hold a joint public installation of their newly elected officers, at I. O. O. F. hall, Tuesday evening, Jan. 9, at 8 o'clock.

Grand Foreman Joseph Schumacher will be the installing officer, assisted by Past Masters, R. G. Foote, R. R. Delchsel, Andrew Hager, John Newman, Charles Ottinger and others.

Following the installation ceremonies, a special program will be given by the members of the Degree of Honor. Among those who will speak during the evening are, Grand Foreman Joseph Schumacher, Past Master Workman T. J. St. Germain and Master Workman-elect A. J. Wink. Following the program, refreshments and dancing will be indulged in.

PIONEER HEARS FINAL SUMMONS

George Becker Helped Save Settlement of St. Cloud From Indians.

George Becker, 80 years of age, one of Minnesota's pioneeers and a resident of Duluth for the last twenty-two years, died yesterday at the home of his daughter, Mrs. J. Palinquin. Death was due to complications resulting from old age.

Mr. Becker was one of the early settlers who had to fight the Indians to save their homes from destruction. He was one of the home guards who fought in the uprising of 1862 and helped save St. Cloud and other settlements from being razed. He was one of the four men who platted Alexandria.

He came to the United States sixty years ago from Hamburg, Germany, and shortly afterwards settled in Minnesota, making his home in Richmond, where the body will be sent for interment. He is survived by five daughters and four sons, as follows: Mrs. J. Palinquin of Duluth, Mrs. T. Warren of Akeley, Mrs. Charles Mills of Portland, Mrs. Katherine Karnaldat of Milwaukee, Mrs. H. C. Jeckell of Seattle, John, Will and Val Becker of St. Paul, and Joseph Becker of Aurora.

CLAIMS HE WAS ROBBED

Thief River Falls Man Says $40 Dollars Was Taken From Him.

Dennis Shevlin of Thief River Falls, Minn., reported to the police Saturday night that he had been robbed of $40 in the saloon of Ole Oleson at St. Croix avenue and Railroad street. He claimed to have been thrown outside and held down while two men went through his pockets, relieving him of his bank roll.

Lawrence Anderson, bartender at the place, was brought to the station and identified by Shevlin as one of his assailants. He was locked up. Anderson has been known to the police before. He was one of the men on a photograph which caused the arrest last week of two men who are alleged to have swindled Carl Boline out of his money the morning of Nov. 4. Anderson denied that he knew the men, but when shown his picture appearing with that of the men who are supposed to have taken Boline's money in a big mitt game, his memory was refreshed.

Shevlin claimed to have taken part in a dice game in the saloon. He claimed that after he had participated in eight games he quit and went to the rear of the barroom. When near the door he said that some one pushed him out and held him down while his money was being taken from him.

BRYAN MEETS LA FOLLETTE

Conference at Washington Station Excites the Politicians.

Both Say They Only Talked of Direct Election of Senators.

Washington, Jan. 8.—Col. W. J. Bryan and Senator Robert M. La Follette of Wisconsin had a conference at the union station last night upon their joint arrival in the city. The meeting was said to be accidental.

No sooner was it known that the Progressive leaders of the two parties had come together than tongues began to wag and "third party" talk flew thick and fast. It was not wholly confined to members of the Democratic national committee who were gathering for the meeting today. Republicans too showed a lively interest.

All day the Democratic committeemen had been seeking methods of dealing with the several perplexing questions scheduled to come up at the meeting, but nearly every possible solution advanced seemed to depend upon the probable attitude of the Nebraska leader. Progress was slow because of the general desire to consult Mr. Bryan on his arrival.

Rushed Toward Each Other.

Shortly before 6 o'clock the Nebraskan's train arrived. Many prominent Democratic leaders were at the station. After handshaking all around, Mr. Bryan sighted Senator La Follette, or to be exact, they seemed to sight each other at about the same time. They rushed toward each other and shook hands and lost no time in witudrawing a short distance from the crowd. They sat down on a bench and conversed with evident earnestness for several minutes.

"What's being pulled off?" was the question the waiting Democrats seemed to be asking each other as they watched the two men. This interrogation in the vernacular of the street was not actually propounded, but that there was some consternation in the party was apparent.

When Mr. Bryan and the senator parted there was another show of good feeling. Mr. Bryan then explained tersely that Senator La Follette and he had talked about the resolution pending in congress providing for the election of senators by popular vote.

Senator La Follette gave the same explanation by telephone, but in the minds of some there remained a little skepticism.

Was Purely Accidental.

It was reported also that La Follette had gone to the station to meet Mr. Bryan. When telephoned about this report, the senator said that the meeting was purely accidental, resulting from the fact that their trains happened to get in at the same hour.

"We only talked about the direct elections resolution," said the senator. "We are both deeply interested in the subject, and Col. Bryan agrees with me that the resolution should be passed."

Col. Bryan drove from the station to the home of Cotter T. Bride, his closest friend in Washington. He declined to talk about any of the problems the national committee will have to solve. It was evident that he wanted to get his bearings before plunging into what promises to be a stirring gathering.

After removing travel stains, Col. Bryan drove to the hotel apartment of Norman E. Mack, chairman of the national committee. The colonel dined with Chairman Mack.

Refused to Be Pumped.

At the hotel Mr. Bryan was met by a large number of newspapermen. He was asked questions in every conceivable form, but he would not discuss candidates, contests, presidential primarics, or any of the matters pending before the committee. He would not talk of the letter said to have been written by Woodrow Wilson a few years ago urging the party to rid itself of the Nebraskan, but he was affable as ever as he edged away from the press group and slipped into the elevator which carried him to Mr. Mack's apartments.

ANGLERS WILL BE ORGANIZED

Game Warden Plans to Form Organization to Protect Fish.

Game Warden Thomas J. Storey is planning to organize a club of anglers, the object of which will be to improve fishing conditions in this vicinty. The club will make it a point to obtain fry for nearby streams and to protect the fish after they have been planted. It is expected that a meeting of those interested will be called in a short time to discuss the matter and take steps toward forming a permanent organization. The club will make it a point to obtain bass, pike and perch fry as well as trout fry.

SAYS ROOSEVELT WILL NOT TRY IT

Stimson Talks After Lunch at Oyster Bay—Stubbs Is for Teddy.

New York, Jan. 8.—Henry L. Stimson, secretary of war, said after luncheon with Theodore Roosevelt at Oyster Bay Sunday, according to the Tribune, today, that in his opinion Mr. Roosevelt would never be a candidate for the presidential nomination against President Taft.

Secretary Stimson is a personal friend of both the ex-president and president Taft. He was quoted as deprecating the stories of Mr. Roosevelt's political activity as a possible candidate in 1912 as being without any foundation.

"I have never believed Mr. Roosevelt would be a candidate for the nomination against Mr. Taft, and I have not the slightest reason now," he said, "after talking with Mr. Roosevelt, to change that opinion."

Stubbs Is for Roosevelt.

Topeka, Kan., Jan. 8.—"I am in favor of the nomination and election of Theodore Roosevelt for president," said Governor W. R. Stubbs, Progressive Republican, in a statement issued here. "First," continued Mr. Stubbs, "because the imperative need of our country for the next four years is a president who believes in the policies advocated by Lincoln and who has the courage of his convictions.

"Second, because Col. Roosevelt, more than any other man, is responsible for the nation-wide forward movement in the direction of a government administrated honestly and vigorously without fear or favor, for rich, poor, high, low, black or white.

Only One Who Can Win.

"Col. Roosevelt is not only the logical candidate for president at this time, but he is the only one who is sure to win. He can carry the New England states, New York, Pennsylvania and Ohio, and his majority throughout the Middle West and Pacific states would be overwhelming. He would not only carry the full Republican vote in Kansas if nominated, but he would receive a large share of 'Progressive' Democratic votes."

WOULD RAISE POSTAGE ON SECOND CLASS MATTER.

Washington, Jan. 8.—Adequate postal rates are discussed at length in the annual report of Third Assistant Postmaster General James J. Britt, just made public. Mr. Britt recommends a flat increase of 1 cent a pound for newspapers and periodicals, in connection with his consideration of second class rates. He also recommends that postage stamps be issued to United States senators, representatives and executive officials of the government, instead of permitting the use of the congressional frank and penalty envelope as at present.

The representative shows that at the close of the last fiscal year 27,864 newspapers and magazines were admitted to second class mail privileges. It is pointed out that good feeling and co-operation now exists between the department and publishers, due to the removal of many burdensome requirements, the effect being to relieve the department of unnecessary work and the publishers of much annoyance.

LEAVES POORHOUSE TO CLAIM AN ESTATE.

Ashtabula, Ohio, Jan. 8.—While Albert Olson was being taken to the poorhouse at Kingsville to spend the winter, a sister in Beloit, Wis., was seeking him to inform him that their father in Sweden had died, leaving him a third interest in his large estate. He was located in the poorhouse Sunday. He will go to Beloit and later to Sweden to claim the estate. When but a boy, Olson left his home and came to America and for many years his whereabouts was unknown. He was the proprietor of a saloon here until the county went "dry," when he became destitute.

COLORED MAN PREACHES IN FRIGID WEATHER.

Kalamazoo, Mich., Jan. 8.—While the mercury stood at 8 below zero, Sunday afternoon, Rev. Daniel Francis Shields, a colored preacher of New York, suddenly went insane and began preaching to an imaginary congregation on Main street. He was taken to the county jail, where he is being held pending an investigation into his insanity.

Kellogg's

It's the national favorite—never was a food so popular before. Last year the country ate more KELLOGG'S than all the other brands together, and there's hardly a home that doesn't serve KELLOGG'S regularly. The tempting filmy flakes have made a hit with the nation's appetite.

From youngsters up, the enchanting flavor of the tender, meaty, sun-ripened sweethearts of white corn, has made good. And you're missing the treat of your life if you're not serving the most delightful of all foods in your home. Try it tomorrow and let the children's vote decide.

IRON AND STEEL REVIEW

New York, Jan. 8.—The steel mills of the largest interests last week again benefited from the specifications derived from the large contracts for finished products placed in December, but many of the smaller mills especially in the East were actively in search of orders to fill out nearby rollings. As a whole the volume of business was much reduced from the weekly average of December, and it is evident that the railroad tonnage anticipated is to be subject to delays. Interest was centered mainly in contracts for fabricated steel for buildings and bridges and the orders placed call for about 30,000 tons.

The Burlington road placed a bridge order for 1,000 tons with the American Bridge company and the Chicago & Great Western is taking bids on 2,000 tons. The New Haven will soon call for bids on bridges requiring 45,000 tons of steel. Plans for the union depot at Cincinnati are practically completed and call for over 20,000 tons of structural steel; bids will be called for soon.

The Pennsylvania railroad has ordered 4,500 cars and the New York Central is about to release orders for 178,000 tons of rails for this year's delivery.

The railroads placed contracts in 1911 for 2,500,000 tons of rails, 138,000 cars, 2,900 locomotives and 325,000 tons of bridge material.

Transactions in pig iron last week again aggregated about 100,000 tons, including 25,000 tons of steel-making iron and 75,000 tons of foundry grades, the latter covering 10,000 tons for export to Italy.

BISHOP SCANNELL IS BADLY HURT IN FALL.

Omaha, Neb., Jan. 8.—Rt. Rev. Richard Scannell, bishop of the Catholic diocese of Omaha, was painfully injured Sunday morning when he fell the entire length of the flight of stairs leading from the second to the first floor of the bishop's residence. The fall resulted from an attack of dizziness, and his injuries consist of severe bruises. Bishop Scannell is 76 years old, and because of this fact it was at first feared the fall would result seriously.

MRS. ROOSEVELT IS RECOVERING FROM ILLNESS.

Oyster Bay, N. Y., Jan. 8.—Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt, has been quite ill for several days, but is recovering. Two months ago she was injured by a fall from her horse while riding with the colonel. Her present illness is said, however, not to be a result of it.

LANDMARK IS BURNED

Old Central School at Chisholm Destroyed By Flames Early Monday.

Building Escaped Great Fire of 1908 When Village Was Destroyed.

Chisholm, Minn., Jan. 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—One of the landmarks of Chisholm, one of the few buildings that escaped the great fire disaster of 1908, was destroyed by fire early today when flames claimed the old Central school.

The fire was discovered about 1 a. m. but by the time the firemen had water playing upon the flames the building was beyond salvation and the firemen devoted their energies to saving adjoining property.

Insured for $4,600.

The loss is about $6,000 or $7,000 and the insurance $4,600. Defective wiring probably caused the fire although this may never be known.

The building had an interesting history made doubly so by the structure passing through the great fire of four years ago next September and there is general regret here over its destruction.

HIBBING WROUGHT UP OVER REPORT

Rumor Missabe Road Would Build Through Town Alarms People.

Hibbing, Minn., Jan. 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—This village is on the qui vive over an unconfirmed rumor that the Missabe railroad will ask the council for permission to build its line over Fourth avenue from the south end of the city to connect with the old Missabe tracks, such action being necessary by reason of their tracks being put out of commission by a big cavein. If the line were built it would involve condemning some of the best pieces of property in town and there is much opposition to the idea. No one connected with the road here credits the report and it is not believed the company seriously contemplates such move but the rumor has stirred up no little talk.

VIRGINIA SKI SLIDE IN SHAPE

Range City Ski Enthusiasts About Ready for Interstate Meet.

Virginia, Minn., Jan. 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—The steel ski slide of the Ski club is nearly finished. The slide will be ready the early part of this week.

Everything will then be in readiness for the inter-state tournament to be held here Jan. 14.

The local club will send a strong delegation to Chicago the latter part of the month with the object of capturing the 1913 tournament for Virginia.

EVELETH PLUMBERS BUSY.

Thermometers Sunday Registered 40 Deg. Below Zero Mark.

Eveleth, Minn., Jan. 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—Eveleth yesterday experienced the coldest weather of its history. Thermometer showed 40 deg. below zero early in the morning and little traffic resulted as the cold snap continued throughout the day. One restaurant suspended business for a few days because of the extreme cold weather and as the water pipes froze. Other business houses have also been suffering.

Plumbers have been kept busy repairing broken pipes while heating systems have also become disordered.

HIBBING DOCTOR CITED INTO COURT.

Hibbing, Minn., Jan. 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—Failure to pay his divorced wife the alimony ordered by Judge Hughes when he granted the couple a divorce here some time ago resulted in Dr. John H. Cummings of Hibbing and St. Paul being brought before court Saturday on a citation for contempt. He told the court he was broken in health and not able to raise the money, but the judge prevailed upon to provide $75 at this time and the balance later and allowed him his liberty. The marital affairs of the Cummings furnished quite a local sensation at the time the divorce was granted.

Dr. Cummings said that when he "gets on his feet again," he intends to locate in Virginia.

D., where he will continue in the theatrical business.

RESIGNATION OF PASTOR REJECTED

First Presbyterian Church of Eveleth Wants Mr. Schwarz to Stay.

Eveleth, Minn., Jan. 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—At a meeting of the First Presbyterian church congregation last evening the resignation of Rev. Philip A. Schwarz, Jr., was unanimously rejected. Rev. Henry E. Neff of the First Presbyterian church, Virginia, acted as moderator. Rev. Schwarz's contract does not expire until March and it is expected he will remain here until then.

At the M. E. church yesterday morning services were suspended because of the extreme cold weather. In the evening Rev. B. D. Hanscom spoke on "Things That Change."

MIDNIGHT MASS IS CELEBRATED

Many Range Greeks Gather in Chisholm Church to Observe Christmas.

Chisholm, Minn., Jan. 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Greek Christmas began Saturday night in accordance with the belief of the Greek church and the event is being celebrated by Greeks all over the range. Many parties and other social gatherings are being held in celebration of what is known among Greeks as "Young Christmas." Viands and liquors of all kinds are provided in the most lavish abundance at these gatherings.

A large number of followers of the Greek church came to Chisholm Saturday night, where midnight mass was celebrated at the new Greek church by Father Rogicivish.

EVELETH CHURCH HAS CLOSE CALL

St. Patrick's Takes Fire, But Fire-Fighters Soon Extinguish Flames.

Eveleth, Minn., Jan. 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—Sunday afternoon the rear rooms of the St. Patrick Catholic church caught on fire from what is believed to have been an overheated stove. The firemen made a quick run, and extinguished the flames after half an hours' work. Much smoke spread to the auditorium of the church but did little damage. The vestments were saved and it is not believed the damages will exceed $200.

It was possible to hold services in the church in the evening following the fire.

Saturday afternoon the firemen fought two blazes in the Spruce location, two homes being partly destroyed, causing a damage on the both dwellings which will amount to about $1,000.

WEEK OF PRAYER TO BE OBSERVED

Evangelical Churches of Virginia Outline Seven Days' Devotion.

Virginia, Minn., Jan. 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—The week of prayer will be observed at the First Methodist church, beginning this evening at 7:30 when the official board of the church will be in change, Tuesday the Epworth league will be in charge, Wednesday, the Sunday school; Thursday, the Ladies' Aid society; Friday, the leader will be given out later. There will be hort addresses by various persons and a song service each evening.

The week of prayer will also be observed in the Presbyterian and Scandinavian Evangelical Mission church.

TWO CHILDREN ARE COMMITTED

Hibbing Girl and Aurora Boy Sent to Owatonna School.

Hibbing, Minn., Jan. 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—Helen Hendrickson, 9 years old, was ordered committed to the state school at Owatonna by Judge Hughes in the juvenile court Saturday afternoon. The little girl's mother died in Hibbing about three years ago. Eighteen months ago her father went to Montana to seek employment. A short time after he left the city a letter was received from him from Missoula, Mont., in which he stated that he had been unable to secure employment. Since that time has has failed to correspond with Mr. and Mrs. Peter Juntenen, with whom he left his little daughter, and all efforts to locate him have been without results.

Aurora Lad Committed.

Joe Bettisch, 10 years old, was also made a ward of the state upon the petition of County Humane Officer McKerchor. The lad was taken in charge by the county authorities at Aurora two months ago. He had been deserted by his mother and an older sister and, neglected by his father, slept in barns and dry goods boxes until his case was called to the attention of Dr. Darrow, who communicated with the county authorities.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Prustl of Brooklyn were before the court to show cause why their two children should not be made wards of the state. It is alleged that both parents are addicted to the habitual excessive use of liquor and do not properly care for their children, one of whom is a cripple. They will have to appear at the next term of the juvenile court and unless conditions complained of are improved it is probable that the children will be taken in charge by the state.

LUMBER TRADE NOTES

Low grade lumber has advanced in price $2 a thousand and is expected to go higher within the next thirty days. The low grade stock is well sold.

S. J. Cusson, manager of the Virginia & Rainy Lake company of Virginia believes that lumbermen are going to share in the general prosperity which has been forecasted for 1912. The Rainy Lake mills at Virginia are working day and night shifts and Sundays and manufacture 650,000 feet a day.

The recent snow storm which visited Northern Minnesota left about ten inches of additional snow for the loggers to reckon with. This is a little two much but the temperature has been so low that the roads have been kept in excellent shape.

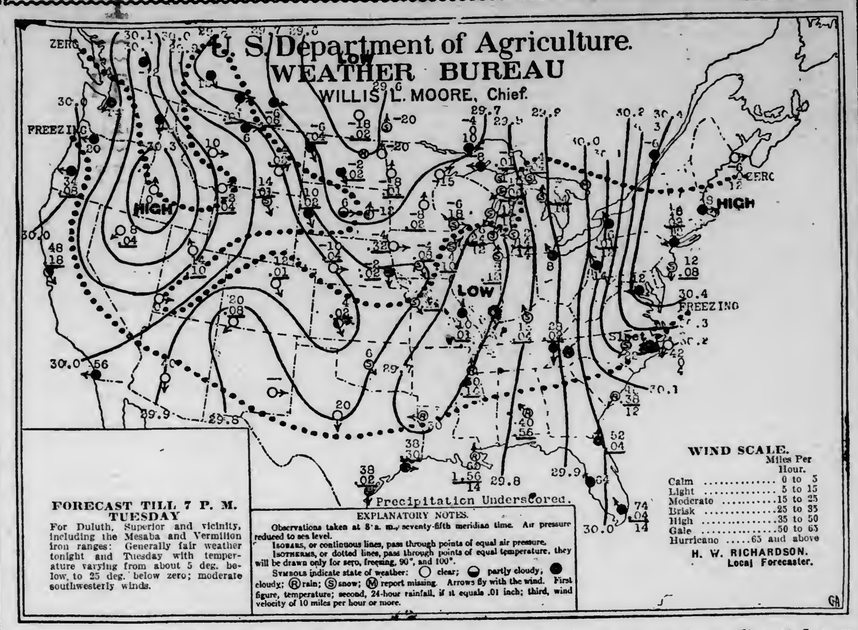

John W. Comstock of Comstock & Wilcox, shippers of white pine lumber and Pacific coast products, with offices in Lyceum building, has announced that he has associated himself with R. Knox, former sales manager for the Worcester Lumber company of Chassell, Mich. The new firm name will be Constock & Knox. The business will be conducted along the same lines as in the past.

Canada Fears Smallpox.

Madison, Wis., Jan. 8.—Alarmed at the proximity of the smallpox epidemic existing at Superior, Dr. Montizambert, register general for Ontario, has wired Dr. C. A. Harper, secretary of the state board of health, for information.

The Canadian authorities fear the disease will spread to dominion towns. Dr. Harper replied the situation is well in hand.

OFFICIAL MAP OF THE WEATHER

FORECAST TILL 7 P. M. TUESDAY

For Duluth, Superior and vicinity, including the Mesaba and Vermilion iron ranges: Generally fair weather tonight and Tuesday with temperature varying from about 5 deg. below, to 25 deg. below zero; moderate southwesterly winds.

EXPLANATORY NOTES.

Observations taken at 8 a. m., seventy-fifth meridian time. Air pressure reduced to sea level.

Isobars, or continuous lines, pass through points of equal air pressure.

Isotherms, or dotted lines, pass through points of equal temperature, they will be drawn only for zero, freezing, 90°, and 100°.

Symbols indicate state of weather: ○ clear; ◒ partly cloudy; ● cloudy; R rain; S snow; M report missing. Arrows fly with the wind. First figure, temperature; second, 24-hour rainfall, if it equals .01 inch; third, wind velocity of 10 miles per hour or more.

This weather speaks for itself. Comment would be superfluous and it might be maddening. A continuation of the present delightful conditions is promised for tonight and tomorrow, with the temperature ranging between 5 deg. and 25 deg. below zero. "Oh, joy!" says the coal man.

There was a heavy snowfall a year ago today.

The sun rose this morning at 7:53 and it will set at 4:37 this evening, giving eight hours and forty-four minutes of sunlight.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"During the last twenty-four to forty-eight hours snow or rain fell over nearly all of the United States, principally in connection with the low pressure conditions now centered over the Mississippi valley and to the northward of the Dakotas. These disturbances also caused somewhat milder weather in the Missouri, Mississippi and the Ohio valleys and region last night, but a return to severe cold will occur throughout the Northwest by Tuesday morning. Sunday morning the zero weather extended to Northern Texas, Oklahoma, Arkansas, Tennessee and West Virginia. Early Sunday morning, the temperature reached 36 deg. below zero at Duluth. More or less severe cold may be expected to continue at the Head of the Lakes during the ensuing thirty-six to forty-eight hours."

General Forecasts.

Chicago, Jan. 8.—Forecasts for twenty-four hours ending at 7 p. m. Tuesday:

Iowa—Generally fair tonight and Tuesday; colder tonight.

Upper Michigan—Unsettled weather with probably snow tonight and Tuesday.

Wisconsin—Snow this afternoon; generally fair tonight and Tuesday; continued cold with colder in Southeast portion.

Minnesota—Generally fair tonight and Tuesday; colder in southeast portion tonight.

North and South Dakota—Montana—Fair tonight and Tuesday; colder tonight.

Shippers' Forecast: Protect thirty-six hour shipments of perishables against temperatures varying from 5 deg. below to about 30 deg. below zero in the Dakotas, Minnesota and Wisconsin.

TONIGHT'S ATTRACTIONS.

LYCEUM—Lambardi Opera company in "Lucia Di Lammermoor."
ORPHEUM—Vaudeville.
EMPRESS—Valdeville.

GRAND OPERA FOR DULUTH

Lambardi Company Will Open Engagement of Three Nights and Matinee.

"Lucia," "Thais," "Carmen" and "Madame Butterfly" Will Be Sung.

Duluth will have a taste of real grand opera tonight, and Duluthians will not be forced to go to St. Paul or Chicago for their annual musical treat.

The Lambardi Opera company, an organization of 100 people including an orchestra of twenty-five, will open an engagement of three nights and a matinee. The opera to be given tonight is "Lucia di Lammermoor." Tomorrow night "Thais" will be the attraction. "Carmen" will be given at the Wednesday matinee, and Wednesday evening "Madame Butterfly" will be sung.

However brief the visit of the Lambardi company may be, the assurance is at hand that the organization will bring a number of distinguished operatic stars. The list of principals in the Lambardi company is a large one. The orchestra which is sufficiently large to permit of the perfect rendition of the greatest masterpieces, will be presided over by Signor Fulgenzio Guerrieri. Mr. Guerrieri uses neither score nor baton in conducting the operas. A large and highly efficient singing chorus also constitutes a noteworthy feature of the Lambardi organization, while special attention has been given to stage settings, scenic effects, costuming and properties.

The Lambardi company travels in a special train of seven cars. The organization has just completed a tour of the largest Pacific Coast cities and advance information from dependable sources tells of the unqualified success of the singers at every point. Impresario Lambardi has provided each opera with an almost entirely different cast of principals, many of whom are wholly new to American audiences and are making their initial bow to the music lovers of the United States.

Mr. Lambardi's big array of songbirds will this season, for the first time in its history, visit the city of Chicago for a season. The organization spends months each year touring the great cities of South America, the remainder of the time in the past having been devoted to the larger cities of the Pacific coast, and New Orleans. The demand for opera throughout the country this season, however, has convinced the well-known impresario that real Italian opera sung by real Italian artists, will be welcomed in the Windy City where Puccini's operas are so much in demand. The Puccini operas call for a heavy royalty which the Chicago Grand Opera company has this season refused to pay. Mr. Lambardi, having no issue with the Puccini publishers, has decided to enter the Middle Western amusement field, giving the most finished operatic productions that superb voices and magnificent stage properties can afford.

PANTOMIME AT ORPHEUM

French Novelty Delights Large Audience on the Opening Night.

The development of pantomime in this country is an interesting chapter in recent theatrical history. A few years ago pantomime was well nigh an unknown art here. Among the pioneers were Rosario Guerrero, the Spanish dancer; Mlle. Dazie, the American ballet dancer, and a number of the French school. As an example of the newest pantomime, "La Somnambule" at the Orpheum this week, ranks high. It is presented by Mlle. Nina Payne, in the title role of "the sleep-walker," and a company of French and Italian artists. The pantomime was written and produced by G. Molasso. "Written" is used advisedly, because when a pantomime is produced the story is carefully written out, and the parts are handed to the artists quite as in the conventional play. A somnambulistic dance, executed by Mlle. Payne, is the piece de resistance. The music was written by Daniel Dore, who has gained fame by his impressionistic style.

As a feature of a vaudeville bill, pantomime is a novelty to Duluthians, and there was no doubt of its popularity last night.

This week's program contains two headline acts, the other being presented by Lily Lena, the English comedienne. Miss Lena is dainty, attractive and clever, and her songs have a lilt to them that had a large part of the audience whistling last evening. She is the best of the English song birds yet seen at the Orpheum, and her act was unquestionably a hit last evening.

When two colored men make good on a first-class vaudeville circuit, it is on their merits. Fiddler and Shelton are two colored performers, and they made good with last night's audiences. They are two versatile young men. One of them plays the piano and has an excellent baritone voice, while the other makes a very funny Chinaman.

Mabelle Adams and company present a dramatic little playlet called "Zita," which gives Miss Adams an opportunity to display her ability as a violin player. She impersonates a gypsy violinist who is beloved by two art students of Paris, and the story of the play revolves about their rivalry for her affections. It has a well-worked-out climax, and proved a very popular act last evening.

Hufford and Chain have a dialogue, in which one of the men impersonates a colored parson and the other appears as a minstrel man. They have two good songs, one of them a new "skeleton rag" which was popular. The burlesque sermon of the "cullud parson" is also amusing.

The opening act is presented by Alsace and Lorraine. It is quite a pretentious little musical novelty. They play several unique instruments, the best of which is the "Alsacephone," a cross between a cornet and a violin.

The bill last evening was one act short, owing to the late trains. Chick and Chicklets failed to arrive in time, but reached the city this morning. In spite of this, the performance was longer than usual, owing to the length of several of the acts and the many encores. The bill will continue all week with a daily matinee.

DANCING GIRLS ARE THE FEATURE

New Bill at Empress Theater Pleases Many at First Performances.

Joe Maxwell's dancing girls are "topping the bill" this week at the Empress theater, the first performances of the new program having been given yesterday.

In four as pretty scenes as have ever been shifted on the stage of the Empress, the company, which consists mostly of girls, has an assortment of dances and musical numbers which please, to say the least.

The girls are young and pretty, they prove that they know how to dance and their voices have been well trained. "Heinie Kline," "Down the Line with Arabella," "My Reindeer," and "Rain, Dear" are some of the more enjoyable of the numbers given. With the songs and dances is mixed some clever talk and it all makes an enjoyable turn.

Mae Devlin, in a special attraction called "The Girl From Yonkers," a turn by the way, which runs a close second in point of popularity to the dancing girls, proves herself a charming comedienne. The scene of the play is laid in the apartments of John Kaufman, a New York man about town. There are but the two characters in the playlet, but the movement is lively and the plot refreshingly new. Miss Devlin plays the part of a country girl and proves that country girls are not always what they seem. The sketch is one of the best scen at the Empress in some time.

The Altus brothers appear in a juggling act. The feature is their Indian club manipulating. They keep so many of them going at a time that it is confusing to watch them. They do other juggling and the act is well up toward the top in this line of entertainment.

Coy De Tricey calls herself "the Belle of Coontown," and her performance would almost bear out her label. She dances, sings dialect songs and portrays several different colored types.

Val and Ernie Stanton have a lot of new daffydills which they use to good advantage on the audience. They also dance and sing and succeed in making themselves popular. "Who Stole the Shoes," a song, is featured, and it proved amusing.

The show ends as usual with moving pictures. There will be three performances daily, one each afternoon and two each evening during the remainder of the week.

QUARTET SINGS AT FREE CONCERT

Small Crowd Hears Excellent Program at the Masonic Temple.

The second of the Sunday concerts given in the auditorium of the Masonic temple was well attended, considering the inclemency of the weather and the audience made up in appreciation what was lacking in numbers.

The vocal portion of the program was taken care of by the Scottish Rite Quartet, who gave four selections, two of them in response to encores. Vigor and snap characterized the numbers on the program. The first, a love legend in Spanish style, called "In Old Madrid," by Trotere, is a somewhat difficult piece, but was well executed by the singers and Mr. Custance with a quasi-mandolin accompaniment on the piano. The air is carried by the first bass and first tenor, alternately. It called for an encore and a new arrangement of "The Rosary" was sung in good taste and careful shading, making a good contrast to the piece which preceded it. The harmonica blending of the four voices was especially evident in this selection.

The second vocal selection was of the rollicking, virile nature, full of abandon and the spirit of the Bohemian gypsy life. The quartet sang it well, giving evidence of careful training and determination to become perfect. A beautifully melodious setting by Eugene Cowles of Stanton's poem, "Don't You Mind the Sorrows and the Sighs," was given as the second encore.

The organ music ranged from Wagner to Sousa, with Donizetti, Terschak, and Bizet between, each contributing a choice number. "The Huldigungsmarsch" would never do to march behind, any more than Chopin's waltzes to dance to, but it is melodious, well orchestrated and, perhaps, the most pleasing of Wagner's marches, maybe not the greatest composition. Following this was the "Um stets heiter and glücklich," selection from the opera of "Lucrezia Borgia," a bright, tuneful piece. Terschak's "Mordio" called an Italian air, seems to be several melodies grouped together, all of them pleasing and very well arranged. This was followed by two dances from Bizet's second suite, L'Arlesienne, first the Farandole, an old village dance in which the dancers stand in a row forming a long chain by spreading out and clasping hands, then they twine rapidly in and out under each others arms, forming a spiral figure around a central couple. The music was typical but was less varied than the minuet which followed it, deriving its name from the French word meaning small, referring to the steps of the dancers. A collection of national airs arranged by Sousa completed the program. The next concert will be given next Sunday.

MANY WOODMEN TO ATTEND MEETING.

It is expected that nearly 500 Woodmen will attend the joint meeting of the Head of the Lakes lodges of the M. W. A. at Foresters hall, Fourth avenue west and First street, tomorrow evening. Superior, Two Harbors, Proctor and Carlton will send delegations.

George R. Laybourn will be chairman of the meeting and John H. Norton, county attorney, will be the principal speaker. Exhibition drills will be given by the West Duluth, West end and Superior degree teams. There will be several speeches and a program of music.

Fatal Wreck in Iowa.

Waterloo, Iowa, Jan. 8.—J. P. Kennedy of Washta, Iowa, was killed and several trainmen injured in a wreck on the Illinois Central railroad near here Sunday.

THAWING OUT THE PIPES IN THE SPORTING HEATER

Duluth Is Marooned on the Desert Island of Bush League Ball—Something of Pilakoff and His Personality.

(BY BRUCE.)

LIKE the villain in the last act of the melodrama, hope has deserted us. We have been marooned on a baseball island of despair. The same old story has been re-enacted. Politics and the double-cross served to hand the cities at the head of Lake Superior theirs. We got it in that section of the fowl that is passed to Johnny when there are four or five guests for dinner. The baseball future is bleak. During the past several weeks we have been gayly swinging on the flying rings of hope—alas, we are fallen to the unpadded floor of realization with a dull thud. If capital and courage were twin brothers in the undertaking to place teams in the Twin Cities, we might have a better league than the one Duluth and Superior have been in for the past two seasons. But bucking a league like the American association, not to mention the national association of baseball clubs, requires much of the stuff that has made John D. Roockefeller so talked about.

It is natural to hope, even with eggs at their present price. We have been hoping, in a sort of pale azure way, that at last Duluth was going to get something at the hands of the baseball moguls of the American association. Old hope was left at the post in this race for every-day cheerful existence.

What Duluth and Superior will do is something problematical. It is not for the press to tell what magnates carrying the burden of coin are to do. Judging from the feeling upon the part of the fans here, another season of the Minny would prove even more unprofitable than the past season, even with its rain on every conceivable sort of a holiday.

A town large enough for Western league baseball—in fact larger and more metropolitan than several of the cities in the Western league—Duluth has been compelled, because of its location, to join hands with several towns that ought to be playing weekly semi-professional ball, judging from the support they have given their teams.

When Duluth adds 100,000 souls to its present population there is the probability of some large league where they have double-decked grand stands and a popcorn man who drives his own automobile. But while we are all optimists—still we can't exactly predict when this glad time is to come.

To have to travel out to Athletic park and again go through the experience of witnessing some of the baseball that was played here last season is a prospect drear enough, quite, to make any writer of baseball try book reviews.

At least now we know our fate. The future will be taken up with wondering what in the world we are going to do when the robin appeareth and the annual flood of unripe poetry pours into the city editor's desk. Spring and baseball are as closely linked as beefsteak and onions or as Damon and Pythias in the past.

In the grip of the present freezing freeze we may be angry at Boris and things in general and say in a reckless moment that we do not care. Ah, but we do! With spring comes love, sulphur and molasses, and baseball. Some people set fire to their front lawns and to their houses, quite by mistake, also. But that is quite beside the question.

A city as large as Duluth should have good baseball. There is no argument on that question. The only question is how are we going to capture said brand of baseball. That question may remain unanswered for some time. We an almost hear the irritating cackle of several dinky tank towns. Oh, misery, although we hate you, come in, the water is fine.

WHILE this isn't exactly a Henry James on the character of Pilakoff, it is a little insight upon the personality of the big wrestler who has made his home here, dating back from one sultry day last August. On that particular afternoon the giant strolled in from Chicago, deposited his traps and asked for work. This fellow is a great deal brighter than some people think. He is at the disadvantage of not being able to make himself understood perfectly. Ask Pilakoff something in the Russian language and he is there. He can feel his way along in the Delsarte, the shoulder gymnastics and the words that accompany and form the French language. He can also make himself understood in the German language, though he does not play pinochle.

Confidence is part and parcel of the make-up of the Finnish Lion. In his heart he believes that he can defeat Charley Cutler—this after he lost the spectacular battle with the Chicago Nonpariel. He cried like a baby after the battle with Zbyszko because he failed to remain longer in the second fall.

Sometimes his confidence trips him up and defeats his own ends. After making a wonderful showing with Zbyszko he grew careless—for which he wouldn't be consoled.

His manners are those of an officer in one of the continental armies. Introduce Pilakoff to a friend and he will remove his hat and salute with his heels clicking together. He has traveled in Finland, his native country; France, Germany, Russia, England, Sweden and has taken part in a big tournament in South Africa. His manners are those grave ones of the Old World.

His temper when aroused is as fiery as that of a Viking of old. Usually he is as placid as a boy. His strength is nothing short than marvelous. His grip when meeting anyone generally leaves the persons he has been introduced ruthfully massaging his right hand with his left. Like many people from Europe, he takes most things very seriously.

Philakoff has nothing but good to say of any opponent. He says that if they ever start wrestling in the catch-as-catch-can style in Europe the next generation will develop some wonderful wrestlers, as wrestling is the principal sport in several of the countries of Europe.

At Greco-Roman the Finnish giant is one of the greatest wrestlers in Europe. Last winter he was to have wrestled Hackenschmidt at Greco-Roman. The match was to have taken place at Trenton, N. J., but at the last moment the Russian refused to take on Pilakoff, who had only been in the United States for a short time.

Emotional, like many of the athletes that have come forth from Europe, Pilakoff has become so excited in some of his matches here that he has failed to understand what the referee was saying. He has but one idea when on the wrestling pad: that one idea is to win. He is not a defensive wrestler; he goes after his opponents all the time.

When a boy he traveled with a circus and was an acrobat. That fact accounts for his remarkable agility and quickness for a man endowed with so gigantic a physique. His physique is remarkable in its development. He is constructed from the ground up. He tapers like a boxer and yet is massive. His wonderful strength comes from his perfect symmetry.

TYRUS RAYMOND COBB DECRIES TRAINING TRIPS

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 8.—"Training trips are useless for the baseball player who takes care of himself."

No less an authority than Tyrus Raymond Cobb, made this declaration when here last week. When Cobb announced that he would terminate his theatrical contract in three weeks, it was expected that he would accompany the Tigers on the Southern trip. Ty, however, declared a week's preparation would put him in playing condition.

Takes Care of Himself.

"I take care of myself the year around; I do not indulge in excesses, nor do I overwork myself, so why should I go on a training trip?" was Ty's question and answer. "A training trip is a grind all players, excepting recruits, abhor. And as President Navin and Manager Jennings have never insisted on my taking them, I cannot see the object in doing so.

"I am willing to do my share and more for the good of the Tigers, and I would consider myself doing unnecessary work on a training trip. For a man who is prone to taking on flesh, or for players who do not keep themselves in condition during the winter, a training trip is all right, but there are any number of players in the big leagues to whom a training trip is more of a detriment.

Does Not Want To Go Stale.

"They go South and they take off more flesh than they really should. They work under a boiling sun, and they get tired out. When the time for the opening of the season comes they are stale. For my part, I believe in doing light work throughout the winter, and when spring comes a week with the team puts me in mid-season form.

"I will probably join the team a week or so before the opening of next season. I will probably be in Detroit a greater part of the winter, and, being here will likely put the 'bug' into em sooner than usual. Last spring I didn't join the Tigers until a week before the opening of the season, and I had the best year in my history.

"It is noticeable that my worst year was the one which followed a spring training trip."

MINNY LEAGUE TURNED DOWN

Refused Permission to Enter Territory of American Association.

Chicago, Jan. 8. — What had promised to be a lively session of the annual meeting of the American association baseball club owners passed off quietly here Saturday.

The following actions were taken:

Thomas M. Chivington was unanimously re-elected president of the league and his term extended to five years.

Applications of the Minnesota-Wisconsin league to place teams in Minneapolis and St. Paul and the Blue Grass league to enter Louisville, were denied.

An agreement was reached to return to the "three trips around the circuit" schedule, which obtained prior to last year.

The president was instructed to draw up a schedule of 168 games for this year. The first games will be played in eastern territory between April 9 and 16, the exact day to be agreed on later.

The board of directors was increased to eight members and President Chivington made chairman exoffico.

The expected fight on the election of President Chivington failed to materialize. The other three candidates, George C. Rice, a Chicago baseball writer; Charles F. Moll, president of the Wisconsin-Illinois league, and an unidentified "dark horse," from Columbus, were represented, but it soon became evident that Chivington had a majority of the votes pledged. As a result only Chivington's name was presented. The vote was unanimous.

The resolution to make Chivington's term five years, met with some opposition. Three clubs reported to have been St. Paul, Minneapolis and Milwaukee, voted in the negative. Later Charles E. Havenor of Milwaukee addressed the meeting, saying he had no personal motive in voting against the extended term, but he thought it unwise to elect any man for such a long term.

Although several managers were present, no trades were reported.

Connie Mack of Philadelphia, was one of the first to arrive and last to leave, but he did not find the utility infielder he sought. Asked if he desired a man for first base, fearing "Stuffy" McInnis would be unable to play, Mack answered:

"No, indeed. McInnis will be there next year. I'm not worrying about him."

PAL BROWN AT THE HAPPY HOUR

Champion Lightweight of the Northwest Will Act, Sing and Spar.

Pal Brown, who in a little more than a year has fought his way from a homestead and obscurity near Hibbing into fame as the champion lightweight boxer of the Northwest and Canada at the age of 20, has turned actor for a little while. This afternoon he will make his first appearance at the Happy Hour theater in a sketch written for him by Manager KeKlley, entitled "College Athletes." Pal will appear at every performance throughout the week, including next Sunday.

At rehearsals Brown has shown adaptability. He has his lines down pat and demonstrated that he can act and sing as well as fight. The sketch opens with his sparring partner, Danny Schwitzer, at the piano. The two sing a song, one off the key. They quarrel and agree to go to a gymnasium and fight it out. The curtain next rises on the gymnasium scene, in which Pal and his partner box four fast rounds, Pal winning of course.

BURNS GOES TO MILL CITY TEAM

Philadelphia Pitcher to Be Seen in American Association Next Season.

Philadelphia, Jan. 8.—Pitcher Burns of the Philadelphia National league team will be sent to the Minneapolis team as a result of a conference held here between President Fogel and Manager Doolin.

Doolin and Fogel met for the first time yesterday since their disagreement and outlined plans for the coming season. Thirty-five men will be taken on the spring training trip which will start for West Baden on Feb. 24.

ORDEMANN WILL REACH DULUTH TUESDAY EVENING.

In a letter received today from George A. Barton, sporting editor of the Minneapolis Daily News, and manager of Henry Ordemann, he states that the big Norsk will arrive from Minneapolis tomorrow evening on the evening Twin City train. Barton will reach here Wednesday noon.

A conference will be held Wednesday afternoon between Barton, H. J. Maki, manager of Pilakoff, and the two gladiators. The last word will be said at this meeting on the toe hold. Maki will fight for the elimination of the hold and it is very probable that Barton will hold out for its use.

Crack Teams to Meet.

The Cathedral high school and the Young Men's Sodality indoor baseball teams will meet this evening in the latter team's hall in the West end. The Cathedral high team has lost but one game during the season and the Y. M. S. aggregation has also been defeated but once. It is expected that the game will be one of the best played during the season.

FOGEL AND DOOIN FINALLY GET TOGETHER

CHARLEY DOOIN.

NEW GROUNDS MAY BREAK AN OLD CINCY HOODOO.

Cincinnati, Ohio, Jan. 8.—Will the building of a new arena bring pennant fortune to the Reds? Will they have the gorgeous good luck that has attended other clubs which put up new stands and were rewarded by having a chance to celebrate with flapping flags? Or will the hoodoo of nearly thirty years stick fast and keep them from reaching the goal of their ambitions, despite the mascot of new scenery?

The Pirates fixed up Forbes field, put it into great shape and made it one of the palaces of the game. They were rewarded by a pennant and the championship of the world. The Giants reconstructed the Polo grounds after the big fire, fitted up a huge concrete stadium—and won a flag. The Athletics arranged Shibe field, and didn't have long to wait for a grist of glory. The Cubs reshaped their park, put in new stuff in all sections of the old arena, and won enough flags to make them walk bowlegged.

New scenery seems to mean new honors. In most cases the construction of new stands has meant complete success, with Charley Comiskey about the only sad exception. His new ballyard hasn't brought him any banners yet, but it hasn't been in existence long enough to be called "old," and if he grabs a roofalon this year or next the mascot role will still hold good. Even Cleveland, with a new stand, finished high last season.

The Reds are to have a big ballyard, with all sorts of giddy appendages. Will it reverse the evil luck that has been clinging at the coattails like a bull pup interviewing a yegg, or will that hard luck keep right on chewing?

JIM FLYNN WILL MEET JOHNSON

Fight Will Take Place at Point in Nevada July 22.

Chicago, Jan. 8.—Jack Johnson and Jim Flynn have been matched for a finish fight to be held in Nevada next July. The tentative date selected is July 22, although this may be changed. The city in which the fight is to be held will be selected later. Johnson was guaranteed $31,000 and one-third the moving picture receipts for his share.

Both men agreed not to engage in any other contest between May 1 and the date for this fight. This means Johnson's fight with Sam McVey will be postponed.

BASKET BALL PRACTICE TO START AT CENTRAL.

With the resumption of sessions at the high school, Capt. "Dutch" Jeronimus of the Central high school basket ball team will get his men down to hard practice for some of the big games of the season. Both of the Superior high schools are to be played and negotiations are being carried on for a contest with the St. Paul Central high school quint. Ashland would like to get a game here and Virginia also wants to play the Duluth team either at Virginia or in Duluth.

There is some good material for the team. Jeronimus, "Bunk" Harris and several members of the football squad are out for practice. Hard practice will be held every afternoon from now on.

FORMER STAR TO REMAIN WITH HUB

MIKE DONLIN.

'GRAB THE BALL AND RUN!' A RULE OF NEW FOOTBALL

They're going to drop one football mandate next summer, when the 'varsity candidates trot out for preliminary practice.

The whip-like, "Fall on that ball, freshie!" will be missing. In its place coaches will shout to vet and newcomer, "Pick it up, can't you? Get it on the bound."

Varsity infielders will be in demand and trick-tumblers will be out of date.

Sam White of Princeton, the big blonde end who defeated Yale and Harvard and made the Tiger champion of the East, is responsible for the new order. His trick of snapping up a loose ball and scoring touchdowns did more to speed up the game than any one play of the season.

Many critics have said "White is the luckiest guy that ever wore moleskins, but his success was not due to luck, but to a persistent practice in grabbing a bounding ball.

In the Yale-Princeton game November 12, 1910, Daly, Yale captain, missed a punt on his 22-yard line and White recovered the ball.

He fell upon the ball because he had been drilled to do so day after day, by coaches who adhered to the old order instead of seeing something new, when it was shown to them.

White had a better chance to score at the time than he had this year, when he succeeded twice, but he obeyed orders, even if in doing so he broke a lot of Princeton students.

All that winter and last spring, Princeton talked of "what might have been." White always insisted that he could have scored, but the men who "knew" football laughed at him.

Despite this attitude White began to work on his idea. He kicked the ball about and practiced grabbing it on the bound, until baseball practice started.

When Princeton called for football candidates ast September, White returned to the attack. He insisted upon demonstrating his theory and to Keene Fitzpatrick was delegated the job of discouring the man wih a hunch.

Fitzpatrick fortunately knows a good thing when he sees it and as he watched White grab the ball time and again, seeming to outguess the oval as it hopped crazily in an unevpected direction, he realized the value of a man like White with a loose ball.

Upon Fitzpatrick's recommendation, the coaches began drilling the eleven in picking up the ball instead of falling upon it, and won both of Princeton's big games.

Princeton ranks White above Poe, John De Witt, Phil King and other heroes. He is the only individual who ever won games from both Yale and Harvard through his own efforts.

White doesn't care for bootball. Baseball his his forte. His ambition has been to wallop Yale. He has on a few occasions.

It was White's hit in the final Princeton-Harvard game of 1910 that broke a 4-4 tie and won the series. Against Harvard last spring he won with a three-base hit that scored three men. Later, Yale-Princeton game, he scored the winning run. He has made a name as one of the best orange and black basketball players.

SOME INSIDE PLAYS— THE BALL PLAYER'S WIFE.

Chicago, Jan. 8.—Here are a few things that a girl must get used to if she would be happy as the wife of a popular ball player:

Seeing pretty girls "make a fuss over him" when they see him at the game or on the street.

Hearing women sing his praises and gush over his manly physique.

Letting him have his own way.

Seeing him smile when people flatter him.

Waiting around while he talks nice to every one.

Having him invited out with "the boys" in towns where he makes a hit.

Mrs. Arthur Devlin, formerly Ilma Wilk, daughter of Frederick L. Wilk, vice president of the Union Trust company, could not get used to that program. After seven years trying she gave up and came home to her parents the day before Christmas.

"My husband made me go home," said Mrs. Devlin today at the house, 415 Surf street, "and I never will go back to live with him. I don't think I will get a divorce."

Mrs. Devlin said there were other reasons why she could not get along with the New York Giants' third baseman and utility player but those reasons were "indefinite."

"I don't want to talk about my affairs," she said. "You can just say that I am home and that I intend to stay home. He sent me home, and I will not go back to him."

Mrs. Devlin is pretty and demure. She first met Devlin when she was 19 years old. She was attending a boarding school in Washington and he was the crack outfielder of the Georgetown university baseball nine. She was romantic. The yound fielder's dashing personality and popularity had a great attraction for the Chicago banker's daughter. The two were married Thanksgiving day, 1906, two years after the first meeting. They passed the honeymoon in Cuba.

Ilma's father never approved the match.

MIKE GIBBONS WILL MEET JACK DENNING.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 8. — Mike Gibbons, St. Paul welterweight, will meet Jack Denning of New York in a ten-round bout before the Fairmont Athletic club of that city Jan. 22, instead of Young Erne, as had been anticipated. Eddy Reddy, manager for Gibbons, today accepted the terms offered by Promoter Billy Gibson of the Fairmont club. Gibbons and Reddy will leave here for New York Jan. 18.

GAMES SCHEDULED IN BAGLEY EVENT.

The first games in the Bagley event will be played this evening. Following are the games scheduled for the curling club for Monday and Tuesday evenings:

Monday—Herald event: West vs Harbison; Hallock vs. Park.

Baagley event—Lathers vs. Spalding; Piotnicky vs. Gravatt; Reichert vs. Stillman.

Tuesday—Herald event: C. J. McBride vs. R. J. McLeod; A. E. McManus vs. William Dinham; E. R. Jacobs vs. R. D. Bradley; P. F. Heimick vs. C. F. McDonald; W. C. Harris vs. J. A. McLennan.

JEFFERSONS TO MEET.

East End Athletic Association Will Install Its Officers.

Officers of the Jefferson Athletic club will be installed at the clubrooms of the association, on East Fourth street, this evening. Carl O. Zuck, president; Alex Plant, vice president; Howard Elliott, secretary; Henry Swenson, treasurer, and Arthur Anderson and Walter Blaski, sergeants-at-arms, are the officers to be installed.

The Jefferson Athletic is one of the growing athletic institutions of the city. It has been organized but a year and during that time has achieved a progress that has placed it among the leaders of sports in the city. The association is composed of East end boys and during the coming season it will be represented in every field of sports. At the meeting tonight there will be plans made for the summer season. The Jeffersons are expected to place a very strong baseball team in the field.

JAMES TEN EYCK IS BACK FROM THE EAST.

James Ten Eyck, coach of the Duluth Boat club, reached here from the East yesterday. He will start the candidates of the crew at work on the machines some time next month. He stated that the new shells recently ordered by the officials of the club would be here in April. The coach believes that Duluth will have the most successful season in the history of the club. He will spend some time going over the equipment of the club.

STRONG INDOOR TEAMS WILL COME TOGETHER.

The Fitwells and Company I of Superior will play the second indoor baseball game of the season this evening at the Auditorium. The clothiers have some of the men who formerly played on the All-Stars and have one of the best teams in the city. The Superior team is said to be strong. There will be roller skating before and after the game. Bancroft, Taylor, Landry and Hoffman of the Superior baseball team are members of the military aggregation from over the bay. One of the best indoor baseball games ever played here is expected.

Sporting Annual Out.

The best little sporting reference book of the year is the "Police Gazette Sporting Annual" for 1912, published by Richard K. Fox. It is a compendium of best performances in all branches of sports; ably compiled and edited by Sam C. Austin, a well known sporting writer and critic. The athletic records are the records of the Amateur Athletic union, and officially accepted by that organization; the rowing, yachting, racing, trotting, pacing, automobile, bicycling, football, aeroplane and swimming records, made all over the world, are officially correct. The baseball statistics were furnished by the National Baseball commission, and include the details of the world's championship series. The main feature of the book, however, is the pugilistic records, and includes the history of every boxer of prominence in the world. This splendid book is made doubly attractive by its high class illustrations and photos of the champions. It is authentic and reliable and stands today an authority on the subects upon which it treats. The price is 10 cents; postage two cents extra.

Hill Wants Matches.

J. W. Hill of Ontonagon, Mich., writes in to the sport department of The Herald asking that he be matched with Pilakoff for the Finnish championship. Hill is a strong man and weight lifter and although beaten some time ago by Karl Lehto he still believes that he can give a good account of himself on the mat. In his challenge Mr. Hill includes Chris Person and Henry Ordemann.

Pitcher Kimball Sold.

Fulton, Mo., Jan. 8.—Pitcher Kimball of the Burlington team of the Central association was sold for $1,000 to the Indianapolis American association club.

HIGH SCHOOL BURNS AT CLEAR LAKE, IOWA.

Clear Lake, Iowa, Jan. 8.—The high school building here has been completely destroyed by fire. Loss $75,000. The thermometer registered 20 deg. below zero and the firemen and citizens were unable to fight the fire successfully. The insurance was but $18,000. The fire originated from a quantity of waste used by the janitor in thawing out water pipes.

College Ice Cream Course.

Ames, Iowa, Jan. 8.—What is said to be the first exclusive college ice cream laboratory in the world, has been opened at Iowa state college for students in dairy short course. Prof. M. Mortensen is in charge and nearly 100 students are taking up work in ice cream making.

Ban on Election Bulletins.

Berlin, Jan. 8.—The police will prohibit the display of Reichstag election returns in Berlin by means of stereopticons or other similar devices Friday. The explanation is that traffic has been greatly interfered with by the display of returns in previous elections.

SPORTING NOTES

James A. Kase has been appointed basketball coach of Indiana university. Kase formerly coached a professional five which won the championship of Pennsylvania.

Fans of Allentown, Pa., are being sold shares of stock in the new club which will operate there at $25 per share.

Sacramento has signed for trial next season a left-handed pitcher named Kohner, from Santa Clara college.

Noah Henline, the Baltimore outfilder, is slated to return to the Southern league, where he began his baseball career. It is said that Billy Smith, manager of the Chattanooga club, who brought Henline from that organization when he was selected to lead the Bisons, is desirous of having the fleet little fly chaser back with him in 1912.

The Boston Americans have signed another schoolboy phenom in Joe Ferrin of Lawrence, Mass. Patsy Donovan picked him up for the Red Sox.

Now, all for the scramble after the new model automobiles. All 1911 modes wil be relegated to the scrap heap.

Mrs. Arthur Devlin has asked waivers on her husband. Not because he was reduced from regular third baseman to utility man, but because the rest of the feminine tribe made too much over "Li'l Atha'." It looks as if he will be a free agent before long.

It is said that Packy McFarland has not been real well since he reduced to 136 pounds for his fight with Tommy Murphy.

Although Bat Nelson is being licked with monotonous regularity, he is piling up the rocks in the little savings bank.

Teddy Roosevelt says in The Outlook that the Sam Langford-Sam McVey fight in Australilia was a fake. He threatens to expose the fight game.

If Andy Carnegie is sincere in his wish to die a pauper, why doesn't he back the new third league? The easiest way!

Charley Griffin, the Australian lightweight who went home a few weeks ago, has returned to America.

If you're on the wagon, remember to hold fast going round the curves.

Day of the Louisville Herald prays for a real ball club to be wished on Louisville for the coming year. Why hope for the impossible, partner?

Mike Donlin is out boosting Red Murray, the lime of the world's series. He sure has picked out one who needs boosting.

January, February, and then they have to report for practice. Be patient, gentle fan, be patient!

'Tis said that Charley Murphy is going to turn over Admiral Schlei to Louisville. It will be a mean trick to wish George on a town like that, but we can't all have the desert.

Dave Rowan, who batted .365 for the browns and was then let out, will play first base for the Mobile Southern association team next season. He was undersized for a first baseman.

George Nill, once a Nap, may land the managerial berth at Wheeling.

Cluark Griffith has signed a Washington amateur pitcher named Joe Engle. Engle weighs 170 pounds and stands six feet one inch.

Paddy Livingston, the rolypoly catcher, secured by Cleveland from the Athletics, says he is going to try and make Krapp, the Nap spitball artist, steadier next year. Krapp issued more passes last season than any other hurler in the Johnson league.

When the reds are playing the Phils, every redleg will be instructed to drive the ball on the ground straight at Downey. Then watch Charley Dooin hoist the distress signal.

Eastern league fans look to Toronto to beat out Rochester in the pennant race next year. With Jordon, McConnell and Holly in the infield and O'Hara, Shaw and Dalton in the outfield, the Leaf team looks real classy.

Pitcher Ed Killilah, former Detroit star, is on the reserve list of the Nashville club of the Southern league but is anxious to get back to a cooler clime. He will probably go to the International league.

Minor league ballplayer named Katz was fined $250 for assault and battery the other day. He said he couldn't control his temper, when a would-be humorist yelled: "Hello, Tom, how is Mrs. Katz and the little kittens?"

Larry McLean is driving the water wagon. Drive slow, Larry, somebody is liable to spill into the road.

Lutberg Gets Decision.

St. Louis, Jan. 8.—Max Lutberg of Cincinnati was awarded the referee's decision after he had wrestled one hour with Al Wasem of this city here. The men are lightweights.

HOT, SUNNY WEATHER

Reports of Ripening Argentine Crops Send Wheat and Flax Down.

American Wheat Demand Weaker—Receipts of Flax Still Large.

Duluth Board of Trade, Jan. 8.—Both wheat and flax were cheapened at Duluth and in most other leading markets of the world today by the reports of hot, sunny weather in Argentina, just the kind that is sorely needed in that country for the ripening of the crops. Duluth May flax closed ⅞ to ¾ of a cent down and July half a cent down. May durum closed at a loss of ¾ of a cent. Cash wheat closed at the May price to ⅛ higher. Duluth January linseed closed half a cent off and May a full cent off.

Reports of clear, sunshiny weather in Argentina this morning put down the price of wheat in North America and on several of the principal European markets. The cables from that country, however, were not altogether bearish. The snow report stated that wheat had made scarcely any progress in ripening during the last two weeks, and that only the early-sown wheat had escaped black rust. Dealers, he said, were trying to cancel their advance sales, sellers paying the difference. Yet the Buenos Ayres market opened this morning with January wheat ⅞c off and February 1¾c off. Lower cables were received from Liverpool, Paris, and Berlin, and higher from Antwerp and Budapest. Liverpool closed ⅛d to ¾d lower by reason of reports of fine weather in Argentina, free Manitoba offers and realizing by many houses that covered over the Argentina holiday, fearing more bad weather reports from that country.

Bearish openings were made at Duluth, Chicago, Minneapolis and Winnipeg. The American primary receipts were considerably smaller than a year ago, yet they were large in comparison with what they have been for several days. Minneapolis reported its cash wheat market a little easier, but it was stated that the millers were still good buyers, though the trade was rather quiet. Duluth May wheat, which closed Saturday at $1.07¾, opened today at $1.07 asked, and at noon was selling at $1.06⅞.

Flax Goes Lower.

The fine weather reports in Argentina had a bearish influence on the Duluth flaxseed market. Eastern crushers have of late been buying rather liberally at Duluth, many of them feeling that their long-cherished hope of seeing the value of flaxseed the world over beaten down by a heavy exportation from Argentina would never be realized. Receipts on the Duluth market from the country continue fairly large. They are vastly in excess of those of a year ago. The total receipts at Duluth since Aug. 1, 1911, are 5,538,557 bu, against 3,100,718 bu during the corresponding period of the previous crop year. Today there were 43 cars on the track for inspection at Duluth, and Saturday there were 29, against 3 a year ago. At noon January flaxseed was ½c down and May a full cent down.

"The way the price of flaxseed is keeping up," remarked one Duluth broker today, "looks to me like a man holding himself up by the boot straps. I see no logical reason for its being so high. Under normal conditions, the price of flax ought to be about $1.25 a bushel. Just now the paint trade is very dull. There is no great amount of consumption of flaxseed. What keeps it so high is something of a riddle to me."

FLAXSEED.

The general trend of the flaxseed market has been upwards for the last six weeks. The week ending last Saturday was no exception, the average of the closing prices of cash flaxseed at Duluth being $2.19.

The average of the closing prices of Duluth cash flaxseed for the week ending Saturday, Dec. 2, was $1.95; for the week ending Saturday, Dec. 9, $2.02½; Dec. 16, $2.05½; Dec. 23, $2.11; Dec. 30, $2.14; Jan. 6, $2.19.

The steady gain was the result of bullish Argentine news. The price of flax has been going up by leaps and bounds on the Buenos Ayres market, by reason of delay in the harvest on account of rains. January flaxseed has been selling on the Buenos Ayres market around $2.20. Last Thursday night it closed at $2.22¼. Friday night it closed at $2.21⅝. Saturday was a holiday at Buenos Ayres. On Friday night Duluth January flax seed closed at $2.19¾. To expect Buenos Ayres flax to compete with Duluth flax in the eastern American markets, with a net duty of 20 cents a bushel to overcome and with the markets standing relatively as they are now, is manifestly absurd.

Duluth sales, however, have been for the most part to western crushers. Eastern crushers have been watching the Buenos Ayres market with intense interest, hoping for a break. They have delayed their purchases in the hope of being able to get the foreign flaxseed at a cheaper rate than the domestic. But the Argentine reports have sorely disappointed them. Many of these crushers last week decided to discontinue their bearish attitude and placed orders at Duluth.

Receipts of flaxseed on the Duluth market are still vastly ahead of those of the previous crop year. The receipts from the 1911 harvest of the Northwest keep gaining steadily on those of the 1910 harvest, demonstrating beyond a doubt that the 1911 yield was vastly the greater of the two. There certainly was need of a good 1911 crop. The crop of 1910 was about a third of a normal yield and that of 1909 was about half of a normal yield.

The following tables tell in figures what the Duluth flaxseed market did last week:

MARKET GOSSIP

The Minneapolis Commercial West sums up the flaxseed and flaxseed oil situation as follows:

"There is no change recorded in the oil market over the holidays. The trade is still existing on its minimum requirements and is still indifferent to the Argentine crop damage news. Trade opinions as to prices develop from time to time peculiar crochets; the market is experiencing one of these conditions at present. It is held by most of the crushers that buyers have it in their minds that oil can be bought around 60c before long or, at least, as soon as the present agitation over Argentina calms down and it will be found that the damage was overestimated as it generally is during all periods of crop scares. There is a hedge, however, which takes the form of holding that if oil cannot be bought at 60c it is better to go on that supposition even though it is so wrong that one may have to make purchases 5c to 10c higher. The theory is based, of course, on the ground that if oil does so that high figure it will mean that there has been no gross exaggeration of an unfavorable seed situation in the international market. The quotation on oil now is 68c f. o. b. carload lots.

"Cake is ruling quiet chiefly on the holiday apathy abroad. It is selling around $37. Meal is quoted $36.

"There is very little change in the seed market. The receipts are still lacking in quality. The arrivals so far on the crop amount to 5,061,440 bu compared with 4,186,000 bu last year."

The Minneapolis Commercial West says:

"The international situation is still disturbed by the tenor of the Argentine crop news. In spite of official and semi-official reports that the private estimates of damage are exaggerated, it is noticeable that the exportable surplus is being reduced right along. Broomhall, who must be accepted as a conservative authority, has, in his latest estimates, brought the exportable figures down from 120,000,000 to 104,000,000 bu which is not far from the lowest private guess yet cabled—100,000,000 bu. Weather at Chicago, Minneapolis and Duluth today were 311 cars, compared with holiday last week and 348 cars the corresponding day a year ago.

MINNEAPOLIS MARKET.

Wheat Is Narrow and Easier in Spite of Government Estimate.

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 8.—Wheat market narrow and a trifle easier. May and July both closed ½c lower than Saturday on account of favorable changes in Argentine weather. Bullish federal estimate on spring wheat crop had little effect on market. Local elevator stocks decreased 50,000 bu for two days.

Car lots wheat: Minneapolis today, today, 281; week ago, holiday; year ago, 293. Duluth today, 24; week ago, holiday; year ago, 33. Winnipeg today, 183; week ago, holiday; year ago, 37.

Cash wheat was quoted a trifle easier today. No. 1 northern sold for ½c to 1c above the May contract, with bulk going at lower premiums. Demand excellent coming from millers.

Millstuffs—Shipments, 2,077 tons. Bran continued in good demand. Other feeds slow. Prices firm.

BOSTON COPPER STOCKS

The Boston stock quotations furnished by Gay & Sturgis, 326 West Superior street.

Boston, Jan. 8.—Copper was sold today by the United States Metals Selling company at 14½c and we understand said interests predict 15 cents by Jan. 15. Exports last week were 23,000,000 pounds, a new record for like period in history of the trade. Coppers were strong but except for some of the cheap ones, did not advance in accordance either with general news or the metal situation. The reason for this was the reactionary tone of leading shares in general list, especially Union Pacific. Unless some special reason of general consequence appears for this action of prominent stocks it seems as though coppers will soon break away from this influence and have a general advance.

London Stocks.

London, Jan. 8. — American securities were quiet and steady during the early trading today. Prices ranged from unchanged to ⅛ higher than Saturday's New York closing.

SELLING IS PERSISTENT

Union Pacific Is the Pivotal Point in Stock Market.

Its Weakness Emboldens the Bears to Attack Rest of List.

New York, Jan. 8.—Trading was fairly active when the stock market opened today. Transactions were made virtually on a level with Saturday's closing. Some of the leading stocks eased off, but losses were restricted to slight fractions.

Substantially higher prices were made by the local traction stocks and Wabash preferred before the whole market crumbled under a vigorous attack on Union Pacific and Lehigh Valley. These issues lost 1½ and were instrumental in dragging down Reading and United States Steel a point. Central Leather gave way 1 and the preferred 2½ on a continuation of the recent liquidation.

Union Pacific was the pivoted point in the stock market during the morning trading. It bore the brunt of the attacks on the list and led in the decline which affected virtually all of the standard issues. Persistent selling of Union Pacific has been continued for so long a time that considerable significance is attached to its movements, although the source of pressure is a matter of conjecture. The weakness which the stock displayed emboldened the bears to attack the remainder of the list, but the raid did not reach large proportions.

The urgent selling seemed to have been completed in the first hour. The market thereafter rose slowly on a lessened volume of dealings. Recoveries were small. Brooklyn Transit was taken in hand again by pool operators and was pushed up more than two points to 75¾. Bonds were irregular.

Leading stocks went gradually higher after midday, the recovery from the lowest reaching a point in Lehigh Valley and United States Steel. Vulcan Detinning preferred jumped ten points.

The market closed steady. Trading was narrow and irregular in the closing hour and an upward tendency in the general market was interfered with at times by persistent selling of Union Pacific. Westinghouse rose 2⅝ and General Electric 2¾.

THREE RAPS ON THE DOOR

Dennis Shevlin "Tipped" Police to Means of Entering Saloon.

Had Received Information Before Being Thrown Out and Robbed.

Before he was thrown out of Ole Oleson's saloon and robbed Saturday night, Dennis Shevlin was told by the bartender that if he wanted a drink on Sunday he could get in by rapping three times on the door.

After he had been touched for his roll Dennis went to the police and in addition to reporting the robbery, told of his information relative to getting in on Sunday. To test the matter he went to the saloon yesterday. He was accompanied by Sergeant John Roberg.

He gave the three raps as prescribed and they worked like a charm, says the officer. When Dennis went inside the sergeant went in with him. It is claimed they found the place doing a nice business. This morning Oleson was arrested on a charge of selling liquor on Sunday. When arraigned in police court he entered a plea of not guilty and his trial set for tomorrow afternoon.

Lawrence Anderson, the bartender who is alleged to have robbed Shevlin, asked for an examination when arraigned on a charge of grand larceny. His hearing was set for Wednesday morning, but it is expected that the case will have been acted upon by the grand jury before that time.

INVESTIGATING THE FOOD SUPPLY

Labor Commissioner Neill Begins Comprehensive Piece of Work.

Washington, Jan. 8.—A nation-wide investigation of the food supply of the United States, with special reference to the increased cost of living, has been inaugurated under the personal supervision of Commissioner of Labor Charles P. Neill.

This inquiry, ordered by Secretary of Commerce and Labor Nagel, will be the most comprehensive ever undertaken in this or any other country and will last for several months. Experts will be sent over the country to visit fields, factories and stores. Each important article of food will be traced from its beginning to the door of the consumer, and then the department statisticians will prepare a report for the government and the public.

NEW MEXICANS ENTER CONGRESS

Congressmen Are Introduced By Sulzer—One of Each Party.

Washington, Jan. 8.—New Mexico's first members of congress, George Curry, Republican, and H. B. Ferguson, Democrat, were sworn in as members of the house today amid generous applause. They were presented by Mr. Sulzer of New York. New Mexico's admission to statehood was ratified Saturday by President Taft.

MARINE

BIG FREIGHTER NAMED.

Sister Ship of Schoonmaker Will Be Called W. P. Snyder, Jr.

Word has been received at the Duluth office of the Shenango Furnace company that the sister ship of the Col. James M. Schoonmaker will be named after W. P. Snyder, Jr., son of the president of the furnace company.

Snyder Jr., is assistant to his father and is in charge of the vessel property of the company, which consists of four large steel freighters, one of which, the Schoonmaker, is the largest bulk freighter on fresh water.

The W. P. Snyder Jr., will be launched at the Ecorse yards some time this month. The date for the launching has been set for Jan. 20, but weather conditions point to a later date.

BELIEVE FIREMAN WAS DROWNED.

Port Huron, Jan. 8.—James Storms, 30, fireman on the steamer Minnekahta, which is lying here with a load of storage grain, is supposed to have lost his life by falling into St. Clair river.

The authorities here can find no trace of him. Storms' relatives in Cleveland and Milwaukee are now trying to locate the young man.

COMPANY FORMED TO CONTROL NEW BOATS.

The two new Tomlinson boats, the Harvey D. Goulder and the Salt Lake City, recently purchased by G. A. Tomlinson of this city from the Hawgood interests at Cleveland, will be owned and operated by the Continental Steamship company, which filed articles of incorporation with the secretary of state Saturday.

The incorporators are Mr. Tomlinson, David W. Stocking and Fred P. Houghton. The incorporation was for $220,000.

Easton on Last Trip.

The steamer Easton of the Booth line is expected to arrive in the local harbor on her return from the last north shore trip of the season, some time before midnight. She left Good Harbor bay at 8 o'clock this morning headed for Duluth. Except for the cold weather, her trip up the north shore has been uneventful.

SUPREME COURT ADJOURNS.

Holds No Session Out of Respect to Mrs. Day.

Washington, Jan. 8.—The supreme court of the United States adjourned immediately after meeting today because of the funeral in Canton, Ohio, of Mrs. Day, wife of Associate Justice Day. No business was transacted. On account of a cold, Chief Justice White was absent. Associate Justice McKenna presided.

Dr. Mayo Able to Travel.

New York, Jan. 8.—Dr. Charles H. Mayo, noted Rochester, Minn., surgeon, has sufficiently recovered from the two operations for appendicitis and gallstones performed recently to be able to leave the Presbyterian hospital and started for his home Saturday.

SENTIMENT OR BUSINESS?

ON WHICH BASIS DO YOU BUY ADVERTISING SPACE?

Some men buy advertising space in a paper because the paper tells them that "it deserves their support," not because the space will produce results.

Then they charge the amount up to their advertising appropriation.

An advertising appropriation is the seed of the modern business, properly sown and cultivated it will multiply a hundred fold.

So that each cent taken from the advertising appropriation robs the advertiser not of one cent, but of a potential dollar.

Be charitable, not with the seed, but out of the abundance of the harvest! Next time a paper approaches you with an appeal for your "support"—subscribe for the paper out of your private purse if you like, and have it sent to a friend, but don't buy alleged "advertising" space and deduct the cost from the amount you can afford to spend in real advertising.

Business and sentiment are oil and water—they won't mix. The heavy-lidded poppies luxuriate over the business-graves of hundreds who have refused to accept this truism.

And remember—every time you "buy" 10 cents worth of space in a worthless advertising medium, you are throwing nine dollars and ninety cents into the lake.

That isn't even charity—it's just foolishness!

GUARDING OF INDIANS FROM LIQUOR HAS HAD VERY SEVERE SETBACK

Commissioner of Indian Affairs Discusses Conditions in Minnesota.

Suit By Liquor Dealers Hampers Work of the Department.

Says Minnesota Has Admirable Laws Prohibiting Sale to Indians.

FROM THE HERALD WASHINGTON BUREAU.

Washington, Jan. 9.—(Special to The Herald.) — Commissioner of Indian Affairs Robert G. Valentine, in his annual report made public today, has this to say regarding the liquor traffic in Minnesota as it relates to Indians:

"The suppression of liquor traffic among Indians in Minnesota received a very severe setback during the year. The activities of the service there had been increasingly devoted to exclusion of liquor from territory immediately adjoining reservations and Indian settlements, as well as from the reservations and settlements themselves. The administrative justification of this policy needs no argument; its legal justification was a provision contained in each of a series of treaties by which the different bands of Chippewa Indians, just prior to and during the Civil war, ceded some of their lands to the government and accepted reserva-

KILLED IN DUEL WITH HIS WIFE?

New Theory Is Advanced as to Death of Charles B. Morrow.

Chicago, Jan. 9.—With the preliminary hearing of Mrs. Rene B. Morrow, accused by the police of killing her husband, Charles B. Morrow, scheduled to be resumed today before Municipal Judge Fake, it was rumored that the developments of the day might be the most interesting since the woman's arrest.

Mrs. Morrow declared yesterday that she would testify in her behalf, declaring that she could easily prove her innocence.

Another story had it that Inspector Clancy was prepared to show that Morrow was killed in a duel. According to this story it was said the police would attempt to prove that when the first witnesses found Morrow dead on the porch of his home, he clutched a .44-caliber revolver in his hand. Next him lay a .38-caliber revolver. This one they declare, is the property of Mrs. Morrow.

According to the police theory, Morrow was shot by someone quicker with a weapon than himself. He was shot through the heart, they argued, while in the kitchen of his home, and was shot the second time after falling on the porch.

It was rumored that the police have evidence that Morrow's head rested on a bullet which had passed entirely through his brain and skull. Evidence was also said to be at hand to show that the couple had a violent quarrel just previous to the shooting.

GRIEVANCES OF INDIANS

Brotherhood of North American Indians Formed to Demand Rights.

Will Not Support Politicians Who Refuse to Aid Them.

Washington, Jan. 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—The organization of the Brotherhood of North American Indians is an accomplished fact. They held a two weeks' council in Washington, which was attended by 116 delegates from forty-two tribes, and they are really and seriously in earnest. They have become imbued with the fact that all nationalities have known for many years that in organization there is strength. They have organized for the purpose of obtaining their rights and their privileges under the Constitution of the United States, because they are now citizens of the United States and accept all responsibilities as citizens and demand all their rights and privileges as such. They claim they have not received these, and this organization is for the purpose of enforcing their claims and obtaining these rights. They are Indians first and politicians next, and the politician of whatever party who refuses to promise them that their rights shall be

ONE OF EIGHT BROTHERS OF MEXICO'S PRESIDENT

JULIO MADERO.

New York, Jan. 9.—Julio Madero is one of the eight brothers of President Madero of Mexico. He is now visiting this country. In the course of an interview he said that the danger of a revolution in Mexico is now very slight. Reyes proved to have no followers and the Zaptistas are no longer active. He thinks there will be no serious opposition to the rule of Madero and that it will be successful.

ALL HAVING TROUBLES

Every Presidential Possibility Has Rough Places at Home.

Disaffection in the States of Favorite Sons Is General.

(By Willis J. Abbot.)

Washington, Jan. 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—The attack of Representative Whitacre of Ohio upon Governor Harmon has created less stir in Washington than it has elsewhere—if the newspaper comments may be taken to indicate the way in which other sections have received it. This is partly because Mr. Whitacre is not a particularly prominent member of the house, or even of the Ohio legislature. His opposition to or support of any candidate would not be regarded as of any particular importance. In reference to Harmon he has importance only if he speaks for some influence more powerful than his own, and this the other members of the Ohio delegation declare is not the case. They regard his as a voice crying in the wilderness, and declare that his wails are due to the fact that Governor Harmon declined to call an extra session of the legislature to redistrict the state and provide Whit-

INCOME TAX HELD VALID

Wisconsin Supreme Court Upholds Act of Last Legislature.

Cites Ratification By Popular Vote as Proof of Its Standing.

Madison, Wis., Jan. 9.—The legality of the income tax law enacted by the last legislature was sustained in a decision by the supreme court today.

After sustaining the jurisdiction of the supreme court, the general object of the law is reviewed, the court saying:

"This change was ratified by the people at the general election held in November, 1908, and thus was clearly expressed by both the legislature and people, the idea that some form of general taxation in addition to or in place of property taxation might well be adopted. The attempt has now been made to carry out this idea and we have the result before us in the present law.

"With the political or economic policy or expediency of the law, we have nothing to do if it be within constitutional license and embodying public policy, because it is enabled by that

MINNESOTA LUMBER RATE REDUCTION IS UPHELD BY COURT

Washington, Jan. 9.—The orders of the interstate commerce commission restoring and reducing the rates on lumber from the Northwestern states to the Mississippi valley and east to what they were before Nov. 1, 1907, were approved and upheld today by the supreme court of the United States.

The United States circuit court for Minnesota had enjoined enforcement of the orders.

RICHESON IS SENTENCED TO DIE IN CHAIR

Minister Pleads Guilty to Charge of First Degree Murder.

Petition for Clemency May Be Presented to the Governor.

Boston, Jan. 9.—A plea of guilty of murder in the first degree was made by Rev. Clarence V. T. Richeson in the superior court today, and he was sentenced by Judge Sanderson to death by electrocution sometime during the week of May 19, 1912.

Richeson had pleaded not guilty when arraigned after his indictment on the charge of poisoning Avis Linnell of Hyannis, Mass., his fiancee, but following a written confession made public Saturday last he today retracted that plea and made a formal plea of guilty.

It is understood a petition may be made to Governor Foss and the executive council of the state to commute

EIGHT MEN KILLED BY MOLTEN STEEL

Molders in French Gun Works Meet Horrible Death.

Ruelle-Sur-Louvre, France, Jan. 9.—Eight steel molders met a horrible death and eleven others were seriously injured today by the bursting of a gun mold at the government naval arsenal near Angouleme. While the workmen were pouring the metal for the casting of a big gun, the gases emanating from it caused an explosion and the men surrounding the mold were enveloped in the mass of hot metal. Eight of them died instantly and many of the others are suffering from severe burns.

EQUITABLE BUILDING IN NEW YORK BURNS; LOSS OVER $10,000,000

Four Are Known to Be Dead, Including Deputy Fire Chief.

Men Enter Vaults and Are Locked in During the Fire.

Streams From Roofs of Skyscrapers Keep Flames From Spreading.

New York, Jan. 9.—The great marble ten-story building of the Equitable Life Assurance society at 120 Broadway—the home of the Mercantile Trust company, the Equitable Trust company, the banking house of Kountze Brothers, the Mercantile Safe Deposit company, and the Harriman lines—was destroyed early today by fire, with a loss of over $10,000,000.

Four men are known to be dead and five injured in the fire and several persons are missing, including Battalion Chief Walsh, whose body has not been found. Three lost their lives by jumping from the roof. The fire was still burning in the debris in the basement of the building this afternoon.

Deputy Fire Chief William Walsh and five firemen were caught when a section of floor in an upper story gave way. The firemen managed to reach a window ledge, from which they were rescued by means of a life line, but when they looked back, Walsh had disappeared in the smoking ruins. Efforts were made to reach the spot where he was buried, but the firemen could not find him.

AMUSEMENTS OF PUPILS CHECKED

Auto Rides of High School Boys and Girls Forbidden By Rule.

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 9. — High school boys are forbidden to take high school girls automobile riding, and all high school fraternity and sorority members are ordered to be expelled, in edicts issued today by J. H. Francis, superintdentent of schools, here.

Mr. Francis asserts that a practice of automobile riding has developed which is bad for the students. Fraternities and sororities are being organized, despite an "honor system" under which pupils bar themselves from membership in such organizations.

EQUITABLE BUILDING, NEW YORK.

TRANSFER TAX IS HELD VALID

New York Statute Sustained By Federal Supreme Court.

Washington, Jan. 9.—Advocates of the taxation of inheritances won a long fight today in the supreme court when that tribunal decided that the New York "transfer" tax on a life interest retained in property transferred during life was constitutional. The constitutionality of the law arose over the taxation of a portion of the estate of Mrs. Susan A. Kenney of Brooklyn.

DEMOCRATS MEET JUNE 25

National Committee Sets Date Week After G. O. P. Session.

Representatives of the Rival Cities Bid for Convention.

Washington, Jan. 9.—Baltimore was chosen as the place of the national Democratic convention.

Washington, Jan. 9.—When the Democratic national committee reassembled today the troublesome contests and the bitterness that marked their disposition yesterday were things of the past; the Jackson day dinner had been a veritable love feast and the Democratic atmosphere had considerably cleared after the defeat of W. J. Bryan in his effort to oust Col. Guffey of Pennsylvania from the national committee.

Representatives of the various cities bidding for the national convention began their speeches at 11 o'clock. Baltimore continued a decided favorite among the cities, and the representatives from the Maryland metropolis were confident of victory. There was a strong undercurrent for St. Louis, however, in the event that city should offer anything like the financial inducements held out by Baltimore.

SURGEON GRAFTS HUMAN CORNEA

Paris, Jan. 9. — An important operation in eye surgery, the grafting of a human cornea, has been successfully performed by the oculist, Dr. Magitot. He showed before the academy of sciences a patient who had become blind by the splashing of quicklime in his eyes. A thick film formed over the cornea. Dr. Magitot cut an opening in the opaque mass and grafted a portion of the cornea from the living subject. Adherence of the tissues was complete in a week. The patient's vision is about one-tenth normal.

HELD FOR DEATHS OF WIFE AND HER MOTHER.

Blytheville, Ark., Jan. 9. — C. P. Carpenter, a wealthy planter and former banker of this city, was arrested last night and will be detained pending the conclusion of a coroner's inquest into the deaths of his wife and mother-in-law, Mrs. Mary Davis, whose throats were chopped with an ax and their heads almost severed at the Carpenter home early yesterday.

FIVE CHILDREN BURN TO DEATH IN HOME AT MOTLEY; FATHER HURT

Home of Irwin Carlisle Is Destroyed By the Flames.

Mother and One Twin Daughter Escape Unharmed From the House.

Stovepipe Is Believed to Have Started the Fire.

Motley, Minn., Jan. 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—Five children were burned to death and the father, Irwin Carlisle, was seriously burned here, when the residence caught fire last evening and the father ran to the second floor to extinguish the blaze. The fire and smoke overwhelmed him and he fell back down the stairs. His wife, Jennie, and a twin daughter, Pearl, aged 13, were saved, but Merle, aged 13, Millie, aged 11, Pansy, aged 9, Ida, aged 5, and Bessie, aged 2, died in the flames. The house was totally destroyed.

The fire is believed to have started from a stove pipe. The parents of the father are Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Carlisle, living in Martin county, in the southern part of the state. The injured man was taken to a Brainerd hospital, where he is being treated for severe burns.

Motley is twenty-three miles west of Brainerd, in Morrison county.

Warned by Neighbors.

The fire started about 10 p. m. in the upper chamber in which the children were sleeping. The parents and one child were down stairs and were unaware of the peril until a neigh-

GRAND JURORS HEAR McMANIGAL

Question of Use of McNamara's $1,000 Expense Fund Is Raised.

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 9.—Evidence concerning the secret stores of dynamite and nitro-glycerin kept at Tiffin, Ohio, Richester, Pa., Muncie, Ind., and Indianapolis, from which it is said Ortie McManigal, John J. and James B. McNamara procured their supplies, occupied the attention of officials today in the federal grand jury investigation of the alleged dynamite conspiracy.

Another question to be inquired into is, "Who, if anyone, besides John J. McNamara, knew the uses to which he put the $1,000 a month allowed him as secretary treasurer of the International Association of Bridge & Structural Iron Workers and for which he was required to give no accounting?"

McManigal was expected to appear before the investigators again today to continue the task of repeating in more detail his confession, which in typewritten form covers several hundred pages. While it is believed the grand jury has progressed well into the inquiry, it will be three weeks or more before it is completed, as a mass of documentary evidence remains to be examined.

Most people felt the cold more in Duluth this morning than at any time during the long period of below-zero weather. Low temperatures last night and this morning were accompanied by a wind that attained a velocity of forty-two miles an hour at one time during the night. By 7 o'clock the wind had gone down considerably, but it was still stiff enough to drive the cold air with penetrating sharpness.

The mercury almost reached the zero mark yesterday, but stopped at 1 deg. below zero and maintained the record of not touching zero since Dec. 31.

FORGAN HERE THURSDAY

Chicago Man Will Address Duluthians on National Monetary Reform.

Dinner and Meeting Arranged at the Commercial Club.

David R. Forgan of Chicago will address the business men of Duluth on "National Monetary Reform" at the Commercial club Thursday evening. A dinner will be held at 7 o'clock, after which a meeting will be held in the assembly hall of the club. The addresses will begin about 8:15.

The meeting will be under the auspices of the Citizens' League of Minnesota, of which F. A. Patrick is one of the vice presidents. The Minnesota league is affiliated with the National Citizens' league, which is composed of business men interested in monetary reform.

The league advocates suppression of panics. It stands for bank co-operation in support of the business operations of the country and hopes to see a condition under which disasters to soundly managed business institutions in time of financial distress will be impossible.

The purposes of the league are to arouse and direct the interests of business men in such a manner as to encourage congress to enact needed legislation without delay. The league stands for no individual's plant, but advocates certain reforms which it is anxious to bring about.

The subject is one which should be of interest to all business men and those who have arranged the Forgan meeting are anxious that every Duluth business man who can possibly do so will attend the dinner and the meeting to follow. Mr. Forgan is a former Duluthian and many of his old friends will be on hand to greet him.

Mr. Forgan will deliver the principal address, discussing the present monetary system and the reforms for which the league is working. The public is not as familiar with the subject as it should be, considering its importance, and it is believed Duluthians will take advantage of the opportunity to hear an expert on the subject.

MAKES GIFT TO COMPANY

North American Iron Mining Stockholders Receive $37,500 Present.

No Royalties Until September, When Mine Will Be Shipping.

The shareholders in the North American Iron Mining company, the annual meeting of which was held this afternoon, had an agreeable surprise in the form of a gift for $37,500. T. J. Walsh, president of the company, is the fee owner of its mining property and $22,500 was due him for royalties. July 1 next, $15,000 more would be due. President Walsh gave the company his receipt in full for the $37,500 and his assurance that no more royalties would be due or payable until next September, at which time he expectts the company would be in a position to ship ore.

No more treasury stock will be issued under the plans outlined in the president's annual report. He has presented the townsite of Walsh to the North American company and estimates that the coming spring the lots can be sold for $100,000. Mr. Walsh had already presented to the company the royalties paid by the American Brick, Tile and Pottery company, which are likely to run as high as $40,000 a year.

President Walsh in his report told of the costly work of sinking the shaft, which is now down 160 feet, and going through solid rock. He believes forty feet a month can be made after Feb. 1. The shaft is now securely sealed and no more trouble with water is expected. The shaft is of concrete, one of the largest on the range and has a machinery equipment costing $30,000.

The company today received from the Duluth Laboratory the result of an assay of the rock at the bottom of the shaft, which gave $210.80 to the ton. More than 150 assays of this rock hitherto made by various assayers have shown an average of $22 a ton in gold and $7 in silver. This ore is being stockpiled. The shaft to reach the iron ore body is being sunk through the gold and silver ore. Mr. Walsh is devoting every effort to make the mine a shipper of iron ore first.

The directors and officers were re-elected.

EASTON IS SAFE IN PORT

Ice-Coated Steamer Brings Passengers and Herring Cargo.

Breaking all cold weather records for lake navigation, the steamer Easton, ice clad and beautiful, steamed into the local harbor this morning at 10 o'clock, safe and sound.

She came from Grand Marias, Chicago Bay and other north shore colonies. The boat left Chicago Bay at 8 o'clock yesterday morning and encountered considerable rough weather last night. She tossed on the sea which was running all night, and the spray froze in fantastic forms from bow to stern, encasing her in ice.

At no time, Captain Fred Hokanson says, did the thermometer indicate a temperature higher than 25 degrees below zero and at one time, the mercury fell to 36 below.

The Easton brought back sixty-five passengers and 125 tons of herring. Some of the passengers were fishermen who will spend the winter in the city, while others were residents of the north shore towns. The latter may return home by stage.

Grand Marais, Chicago Bay and other north shore settlements will now be isolated for the winter. All of the north shore towns are well stocked with provisions.

THREE ARRESTED AS BANK ROBBERS

One Confesses and Another Has Served Time at Stillwater.

Chicago, Jan. 9. — Frank Holloway, aged 32, who is also known under different names, made a statement to the police today in which he confessed that he was concerned in two bank robberies, one at Panama and one at New Westminster, B. C., in which $450,000 was stolen. He said he was wanted for two murders and for many robberies in Oklahoma.

Pardoned From Stillwater.

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 9. — Charles Hoffman, alias Charles Deen alias C. W. Howard, has been arrested here by agency detectives, charged with being connected with the robbery of the Bank of Montreal, New Westminster, B. C., Sept. 15, 1911.

According to the detective agency, Hoffman, or Deen, has a long criminal career. He was arrested on Nov. 11, 1898, with Link Taylor, J. Edwards, J. C. Hall, W. C. Reiss and Homer J. Minot, alias Albert Addison, at Moorhead, Minn., for the robbery of the Great Northern train Nov. 3 the night previously near Carlisle, and on May 20, 1899, was convicted and sentenced to 19½ years in the state prison at Stillwater. In 1906 he was pardoned.

About a year later on Nov. 11, 1907, he was arrested with Al Addison and A. S. Grant, alias Graham, after having an explosion of dynamite while they were extracting nitro-glycerin at Natororium park, Spokane, Wash. Grant, whose true name was Raddigan, was killed by this explosion.

Arrest in New York.

New York, Jan. 9. — John McNamara of San Francisco, known to detectives of half a dozen cities as Australian Mack," has been arrested here on a warrant charging him with larceny of $375,000 from the Bank of Montreal at New Westminster, B. C., which was dynamited Sept. 14 last. Eleven hundred dollars was found in his wallet and detectives are searching the city tonight for $240,000 of the bank's funds which he is believed to have brought to New York.

REMORSE CAUSES SUICIDE ATTEMPT

Joe Stankovich Glad He Failed to End His Life.

Despondent because he had spent all of his money on a spree, Joe Stankovich tried to end his life late yesterday afternoon in the saloon at 411½ West Michigan street by drinking a "pain killer" containing a large quantity of poison, according to the police.

The police were hurriedly summoned and he was rushed to the police station, where he was given medical attention. He was out of danger in a short time.

This morning Joe looked at things in a different light. He said that he was glad to be alive and would never again make such a mistake. He realizes that he had a narrow escape, but claims that he took the stuff thinking that it would cure a headache. A charge of attempted suicide is booked against him.

POSTAL LAW VIOLATIONS SHOULD BE INVESTIGATED

Judge Morris Instructs Grand Jury to Be Thorough in Work.

Fifteen Civil Cases on January Federal Court Calendar.

Alleged infractions of the postal laws, such as using the mails to libel or defraud, should be thoroughly investigated by the United States grand jury, according to the charge given the jurors by Judge Page Morris this morning at the opening of the January term of the federal court.

Judge Morris also cautioned the jurors to be alert and attentive to all matters brought before them concerning the violation of any section of the criminal code of the federal government. Not only were crimes against the mail service to be watched, but also crimes against other government departments, such as that having charge of the issuance and supervision of money, and the collection of taxes and imports.

Judge Morris spoke along general lines, stating that he knew of no particular investigation that the grand jury should have special charges for. He generalized on the criminal code of federal law, as passed by congress and stated that it was the duty of the jury to inquire into and to carefully investigate any alleged violations of the federal laws and to return true bills, if, in its opinion, the matter warranted further investigation.

Judge Morris also charged the jury that if any one of their number knew of any particular matter which was worthy of investigation and came under the jurisdiction of the court, that it was a duty incumbent on him to bring it before the other members of the jury. Nineteen members constitute the present grand jury. John M. Lauderdale was named as foreman.

Just what matters will be brought to the attention of the present federal grand jury is not known. It is thought, however, that there will be one or two alleged violations of the United States postal laws to be aired by the jurors, and it is also understood that they will investigate a counterfeiting case. The criminal calendar is not a large one.

Civil Calendar.

Fifteen civil cases will be tried at this term of court, including one bankruptcy and one admiralty case. Out of the seventeen jury cases, which were on the peremptory call, nine will be tried at this term, six were dismissed and two continued.

The first case on the call at the afternoon session of the court was that of the United States against William Grakela. The action is a timber trespass suit, it being claimed that Grakela, during the logging seasons of 1904 and 1909, logged and took from government lands in the southeast quarter of northeast quarter of 25 30-20, white pine, Norway pine, ties and pluywood valued at $1,576.69. Judgment for this amount is asked by the government. This case will probably not be disposed of until tomorrow afternoon. C. C. Houpt, United States district attorney will appear for the government and W. E. Culkin for the defendant.

The second case on the call is also a timber case brought by Granville A. Burns against the Cloquet Lumber company and the Northern Lumber company. A personal injury action brought by H. E. Speakes of Superior against the Duluth Street Railway company will be next in order. Another personal injury action against the Northern Pacific railway company brought by Bessie Nickander, will be fourth on the call. There are also two other personal injury actions against the Northern Pacific railway which will come up at this term for trial.

Judge Morris this morning sustained a demurrer and dismissed the case brought by A. Persteln vs. the Booth Fisheries company, which involved an alleged breach of a contract.

The court also overruled an application for a demurrer in a personal injury suit brought against the Cloquet Lumber company and William Yeskie by William A. Meyer. Meyer was injured while employed as a brakeman on the Cloquet Lumber company's logging road on Jan. 21. He asks $14,000 for a mutilated right foot, which will render him a cripple for life. Yeskie was engineer on the train which caused Meyer's injuries and is held partly responsible for the accident.

Plan New Ashland Courthouse.

Ashland, Wis., Jan. 9.—The Ashland County Bar association has initiated a movement for a new courthouse for Ashland. They propose having the building erected in a public square on what is known as the Chequamegan block, and it is the intention to have the plan endorsed by the Ashland Advancement association.

RAILROADS

TRAINS ARE BEHIND TIME

Many Delays Are Caused By the Extreme Cold Weather.

Continued cold weather still causes much inconvenience and delay to passenger traffic on the railroads.

The Duluth-Chicago limited of the Northwestern road was three and half hours late this morning and the South Shore train from the Soo was two hours and forty minutes behind time. Trains on the Northern Pacific were not running up to schedule and on the range railroads there were a few delays.

The Great Northern, according to advices given out today at the office of the superintendent at Superior, has instructed its train crews to take their time during the cold snap and be on the safe side and consequently the trains are from thirty minutes to one hour behind, in many cases.

Twin City-Duluth trains have been delayed in some instances by connections, but even if such is not the case, the cold weather proves a serious setback to traffic.

ATTEND MEETING OF CHICAGO TRAFFIC CLUB.

W. W. Walker, vice president and general manager, and S. R. Lewis, general freight agent of the Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic railway left last evening for Chicago, where today they will attend a monthly meeting of the Chicago Traffic club. The club will hold its meeting and dinner at the La Salle hotel this evening.

NETTLETON RESIGNS OFFICE ON ROCK ISLAND.

Chicago, Jan. 9.—W. A. Nettleton has resigned as general superintendent of maintenance of power on the Rock Island and T. Rummey has been appointed assistant second vice president in charge of the mechanical department of the road. Mr. Rummey was formerly general mechanical superintendent of the Erie, with headquarters at New York.

OBITUARY

Mgr. Rogar Ryan, vicar-general of the Catholic archdiocese of Dubuque, is dead at Dubuque, Iowa, as the result of a fall on an icy pavement several weeks ago, in which he sustained fractures in the side and limbs. Mgr. Ryan was 75 years old and a native of Ireland. He had been prominently mentioned for archbishop in former years.

Rev. Emil Kauten, one of the best known Catholic missionaries of the Pacific Northwest and for the last nine years chancellor of the diocese of Seattle, is dead at Seattle, aged 59. Death was caused by a cerebral hemorrhage.

Michael W. O'Brien, vice president of the People's State bank of Detriot, Mich., is dead. He was 76 years old and had been in poor health for some time.

Joseph Leachman, 74 years old, senior member of J. Leachman & Son, publishers, resident of Minneapolis for forty-five years, is dead. He is survived by his wife and one son, Henry P. Leachman.

Mrs. Mary Hatcher Foster, 63 years old, resident of Minnesota fifty-three years, is dead at her home in Minneapolis. Mrs. Foster was born in Virginia and settled at the age of 10 years with her parents in St. Peter. She went to Minneapolis forty-five years ago. Surviving are her husband, Lawren Foster; a daughter, Mrs. Bertha Foster Fulcrut, and a son, Jay L. Foster.

John J. Lee, 504 Selby avenue, St. Paul, 54 years old, a resident nearly forty years, is dead. He has been a contractor for twenty years.

E. W. BACKUS LOSES.

Injunction Case Against Lumber Companies Has Been Dismissed.

Fort Frances, Ont., Jan. 9.—The injunction motion launched by E. W. Backus against the various lumber companies in this district was dismissed on Friday at Toronto. If the order had been granted it would have meant, it is said, the ruination of the lumbering business, since the dams are absolutely necessary for logging. Shevlin-Clark, the Rainy River Lumber company, the Northern Construction company and the Northwestern Construction company and Lockhart & Co., fought the motion.

Six second mates will be selected from among students of the company's nautical school, which opened in Cleveland Wednesday. Twelve first assistant engineers will be promoted to chief engineers and like number of second engineers will step up one pace when the Pittsburg Steamship company announces its appointments in this department. The committee working on the appointments has not completed its work and it is not intended to give out the list until every position is filled.

WRECKERS BRING SUIT

Admiralty Case Will Be Heard in Federal Court.

A case in admiralty growing out of the stranding of the steamer City of Berlin on the rocky north shore of Lake Superior, one and one-half miles below Split Rock May 28, 1910, will be brought before Judge Page Morris of the federal court for trial some time this month. The action is the only admiralty case on the January calendar. It will be taken up first after the jury cases have been disposed of.

The Barnett & Record company are libelants in an action to recover $750 from Henry Wineman, Jr., of Detroit, owner of the steamer City of Berlin, for services claimed to have been rendered in assisting the stranded boat and lighterinr her cargo.

The City of Berlin, coal laden, left Ashtabula for Duluth on May 24. She encountered thick weather on Lake Superior on May 28 and during that night ran ashore on the rocky coast near Split Rock. The steamer was in danger of going to pieces, being exposed to the wide sweep of an open sea.

The captain sent a part of the crew to Two Harbors where they sent a telephone message to the Barnett & Record company at Superior asking for assistance. The Barnett & Record company sent the derrick scow, Zenith, which lightened the steamer, and the tug Ferris, which towed a scow with a load of coal back to Superior and delivered it to the vessel's agents. All of the Barnett & Record's equipment mentioned was in service for eighteen hours and the tug Ferris was in service forty-eight hours. The bill for the work was $750, which has not been paid and which is the cause for action.

The steamship owners claim that the equipment sent by the Barnett & Record company was insufficient and defective and that the boat was not released until other help arrived and that more money was spent in getting the boat clear than the libelants had asked for in their bill.

Attorneys for Mr. Wineman, Jr. have asked that the court determine on a more just and equitable sum to be paid the Barnett & Record company for its services.

SEASON NOT SO GOOD.

Washburn, Wis., Jan. 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—Custom house reports for the port of Washburn during 1911 show a decrease in lake traffic over 1910. The total number of vessels, both foreign and American to clear last year was 165, as compared with 160 during 1910. In 1910 the total tonnage was 274,927 as compared with 273,148 during the year just closed.

Coal shipments fell off 14,289 tons and there was a dropping off of 6,050 tons in shipments of nitrate of soda during 1910 as compared with the previous year. Lumber shipments were on the gain.

The receipts and shipments were as follows:

RECEIPTS.

Coal, including 5,848 tons hard	200,443
Iron pyrites	4,014
Nitrate of soda	5,417
Total tons	209,874
Logs, feet	40,400,000

SHIPMENTS.

Lumber, feet	33,416,764
Lath, pieces	7,776,000
Total value, receips and shipments	$1,775,637

85-Cent Shirt Sale

Starts Wednesday at the Big Duluth.

Returned to Penitentiary.

Stillwater, Minn., Jan. 9.—Fred John Spaulding, who was arrested in Minneapolis three weeks ago on a charge preferred by a Forest Lake, Minn., girl, pleaded guilty here Monday and was sentenced to an indeterminate term in prison. He has twice before been in prison for forgery.

ENGINEERS' REPORT IN PRINTED FORM.

The first batch of the 10,000 printed copies of the reports of Engineers Pillsbury and Claussen, containing estimates of the electric light plant, have been received at the office of City Clerk H. W. Cheadle. They are for distribution to the public and the city clerk states that he will be glad to supply any one who desires them. It is probable that a considerable number of the reports will be placed in different stores and business places about the city for distribution.

Oil Prices Go Up.

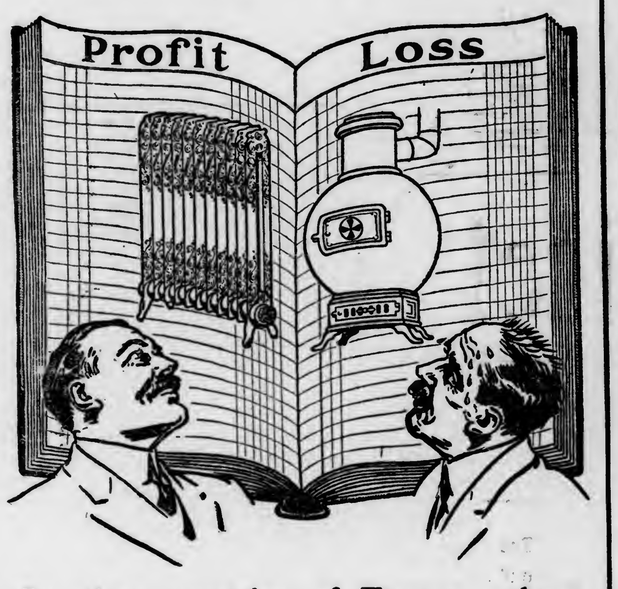

New York, Jan. 9.—The Standard Oil company today announced an advance of ten points in all grades of refined petroleum.

Sum up the heating account

While taking annual inventory, don't overlook summing up your household account on heating expense. If your business is one of making or selling the usual staple lines, you will find it does not yield you as big a percentage of profit per dollar as would an equal sum invested in an outfit of

AMERICAN RADIATORS & IDEAL BOILERS

In the countries of Europe where every penny counts in the practice of domestic economy, these heating outfits are finding enormous sale. If Americans were not so wasteful, no inhabited building of any kind in this country would be without an outfit of IDEAL Boilers and AMERICAN Radiators.

They save so much in fuel, need so little care, protect the family health, do away with repair bills, give vastly longer life to the furnishings and decorations of the rooms because of absence of ash-dust and coal-gases, will wear as long as the building stands, and finally enable one to sell or rent his property quicker, at higher price—get your money back. One of the big features of AMERICAN Radiators which makes them the pride of the world's great construction engineers is their marvelous, yet simple, right- and left-hand threaded nipple connections, making the tightest joint known to radiator mechanics.

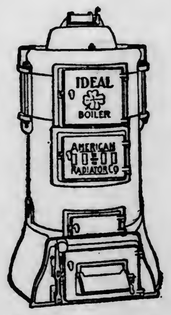

AMERICAN Radiators are always dependably tight and alike in quality, whether placed on the 40th floor of the Metropolitan Life Company's tower or to warm the tents of the tuberculosis hospital patients on the alkali sands of Arizona.

AMERICAN Radiators are not only the best known but they are known as the best—all over the world—for tightness, strength, full water-way openings, safe shipments, ease in taking apart and tightly reassembling, and for many, many years of perfect service.

A No. 1-22-W IDEAL Boiler and 400 ft. of 38 in. AMERICAN Radiators costing the owner $190, were used to heat this cottage. At this price the goods can be bought of any reputable, competent Fitter. This did not include costs of labor, pipe, valves, freight, etc., which are extra and vary according to climatic and other conditions.

Sum up at once your heating expense and the results you are getting therefrom. Don't put off action until you build—comfort your present home at once—economize now by making the right investment. Write to-day for free book. Prices are now most attractive.

IDEAL Boilers have no parts to burn out, no rivets to loosen, no thin metal to warp, no repair bills.

Sold by all dealers.
No exclusive agents.

NEWS AND VIEWS OF MINNESOTA POLITICS

A rumor is in circulation that the Republican state central committee, which consists of Ed Smith, is considering holding the state delegate convention and the state nominating convention at the same time.

The story does not stand up under scrutiny. It does not dovetail with the announced intention of Governor Eberhart to make his fight independent of President Taft's chances. It does not fit in with Ed Smith's rumored determination to have a late nominating convention so as not to stir up trouble too early in the year. The plan does not conform with the general conception of Ed Smith's political astuteness.

A double convention would not improve Eberhart's chances. President Taft is not strong among the farmers of the state and coupling Eberhart's fortunes with those of the president would not help either. Smith knows that. The chances are there will be two conventions as of old and the Eberhart people will not be guilty of any "pernicious activity" prior to the delegate convention.

The Progressives are said to have thought better of their plan to bring out a candidate against Alvah Eastman for the Republican nomination for congressman-at-large. No candidate was indorsed at the Progressive meeting in Minneapolis last week. The leaders of the Progressives are said to fear alienation of some support for La Follette by opposition to the St. Cloud editor.

Twin City papers say Senator Lende denied that he said he would not consider making the race for congressman-at-large, but the Marshall News-Messenger, which attributed the statement to Senator Lende, stands by its guns and is supported by the Minnesota Mascot. The Canby News, published in Senator Lende's home town, has an editorial advocating his candidacy. Senator Lende might make the run if sufficiently urged, but Mr. Eastman seems to have the popular support corralled and the Progressives may decide to make the most of it.

Charles B. Cheney, political writer on the Minneapolis Journal, has been watching anxiously for signs of a contest on Congressman Miller in the Eighth district. He has now cented the rumored caddacy of Senator James P. Boyle and predicts a hard fight for Miller. If Senator Boyle is to be a candidate, he hasn't made the fact known. Many of his friends believe he will think better of it and steer away from a clash with the Miller organization for two years, at least.

The Minneapolis Journal says:

The primary election of the Eighth congressional district is not going to be any pink tea affair after all, judging by the latest report from the wind-swept areas at the head of Lake Superior. It is said that James P. Boyle of Eveleth, the young Demosthenes of the state senate, has decided to file for congress and go after Clarence B. Miller. The report comes "on good authority," and indicates another shift in the scenery, which seemed to be set a short time ago for Congressman Miller's triumphant return. Senator Boyle was boomed for the nomination last summer and had the matter under consideration for some time, but along in the fall it was given out that he had decided not to run. He had been assured of the support of the Progressives, and when he was thought to have dropped out they began talking of other possibilities, such as Henry Rines of Mora and Alex McKnight of Duluth. Now it seems, through some development behind the scenes, where Eighth district politics is enacted most of the time, Senator Boyle has changed his mind and is preparing to run for congress. It is conceded by Miller's friends that Boyle will be a strong opponent. He does not live in Duluth, but he has many friends there, and will have a good deal of support in the range towns as a range candidate, while his record in the legislature will give him a good talking point before the people of the southern agricultural counties of the district. Miller has the organization and two years ago swamped his opponents, but Boyle's candidacy undoubtedly means a real fight for him.

The Luverne Journal does not think the fact that Edgar Weaver is a brother-in-law of John C. Wise of the Mankato Review is a sufficient title to the right to be the Republican candidate for congress in the Second district. The Review has been one of Congressman Hammond's staunchest supporters and some of the Second district Republicans figure that support could be withdrawn from Hammond by nominating the editor's brother-in-law. It's queer reasoning and the Luverne Journal takes a fall out of it in this fashion:

Some of the political dopesters have picked out County Auditor Weaver of Mankato as the proper man to select for the Republican nominee for congress in this district. One of the strong arguments in his favor is that Mr. Weaver is a brother-in-law of Editor Wise of the Mankato Review, the leading Democratic paper in the Second district, and that the Review could not oppose him. The question the Republican voters are interested in is not, Mr. Weaver, "who's your brother-in-law;" but "what do you stand for?"

The St. Cloud Journal-Press doesn't believe C. E. Vasaly of Little Falls will be the Democratic candidate for congress in the Sixth district. Mr. Vasaly has two years to serve as a member of the board of control, is almost certain of reapportionment and would have too much to lose by defeat, in the opinion of the Journal-Press. Congressman Lindbergh has a strong hold on his district and the Democratic candidate would perform something akin to a miracle in defeating him. The Journal-Press says:

A rumor has been started that Charles E. Vasaly, member of the state board of control, and editor of the Little Falls Herald will try conclusions with Congressman Lindbergh, by accepting the Democratic nomination. As Vasaly has two years more to serve as member of the board of control, and with prospects of reappointment even if a Republican governor is elected, the chances are that he will not make what looks like a hopeless fight to be elected to congress. He is one of the best fellows on earth, is a good speaker, has lots of independence, and would make a popular minority candidate.

Ed Smith furnishes the theme for an editorial in the Minnesota Mascot, the editor of which has opinions and doesn't hesitate to express them. He writes in his last issue:

That the people of the state need to wrest from the clutches of "special interests" the control of the state's politics is becoming more and more evident.

The Ed Smiths have owned the state — politically speaking — long enough.

The "gang" has selected governors and other state officials about as often as the people should stand for.

The "inner circle" has controlled the politics of Minnesota for many decades.

The "circle" has selected the candidates and the people have done the voting—and it hasn't made much difference which way they have voted, for the selection has generally been without a flaw, as far as the "interests" are concerned, on both party tickets.

Loaded dice and stacked cards could not have done better execution in their line of sucker-catching than the packed conventions and preselected candidates have done to thwart the interests of the masses.

The way to get at this thing is to abolish the state conventions, in other words, to make the present limited primary a state-wide affair.

No matter how you figure it, the "ring" will run your state convention nine times out of ten.

But the "ring" can not run a state-wide primary, just as the "ring" can not control the county and congressional nominations at present.

We are thoroughly alive to the fact that a state-wide primary, like any primary, has its disadvantages. It is difficult to get the proper distribution of offices under the primary system, and sometimes an inferior man may get the nomination, owing to a mix-up following a multiplicity of candidates.

This will happen under the primary system and there is no preventing it. But it seems to us that the advantages of the state-wide primary far exceed its disadvantages; that is, as long as delegates are not more carefully selected than they now are, there is no hope for any "redress of grievances" from that source.

There is no hope except in the abolition of the convention system and the introduction of a state-wide primary.

The "interests" can control a convention; it is difficult to control the electorate of the state.

This subject was treated by The Duluth Herald in a recent editorial.

acre with a safer district, this being his first term and his present district close.

Be this as it may, it is the fact that the Whitacre proclamation created only a passing stir, though it was set forth in large type in John R. McLean's Washington newspaper. Mr. McLean is seldom friendly to Ohio Democrats; he is particularly unfriendly to Harmon because the latter did not urge the election of McLean to the United States senate.

Others Have Troubles.

One reason why this latest attack has created little excitement is that curiously enough every presidential probability of either party has rough places at home to be smoothed out. Foss, Marshall and Underwood, being as yet only remote possibilities, are not thus troubled—though they do say that the Hon. Thomas Taggart is not bending his entire and undivided efforts to securing the nomination of Governor Marshall.

If Governor Harmon has to encounter the antagonism of McLean, National Committeeman Garber, and Representative Whitacre, Governor Wilson is not in much better stead. The redoubtable James Smith, Jr., erstwhile United States senator, and the man to whom Wilson owes his gubernatorial nomination, is quietly explicit as to his opposition to any higher advancement for the Princetonian. With Senator Smith is his long-time ally "Bob" Davis. The twain do not make as much noise as Messrs. Garber and Whitacre, but they are the sort whose views speak through the primary results.

Folk and Clark.

Speaker Clark is, of course, in parlous state as a candidate. It is idle to underestimate the result of Folk's tenacious hold on that indorsement by the state convention, and to urge that Clark is the only Missourian who can get any considerable number of delegates outside his own state. That is true enough. But Folk accepted the indorsement in good faith and has discharged his part of the bargain. For the dominant faction in the Missouri Democracy to refuse to abide by its agreement, and to give to Clark the delegation they had promised to Folk would awaken resentment among the followers of the latter that might easily imperil the electrical vote of the state. Missouri is by no means a rock ribbed Democratic community, and a few Democrats sulking in their seats would make troubel in the national election.

Roosevelt and New York.

The Democratic candidates are not alcne in having their troubles at home. Col. Roosevelt must now be considered a candidate—about half way between the varieties known as "avowed" and "receptive." Yet the indications are that though he should get a swinging majority in the convention, his own state of New York would be the last to coincide. As for his carrying that state, there are few who believe that he can do it, despite the fact that very powerful interests in the Wall Street district are for him, and have been ever since his underground maneuvers for the nomination began. But the state organization is enphatically against him, and its members point significantly to the fact that his return to politics in 1910 was signalized by the election of a Democratic governor.

Ohio May Be Divided.

President Taft faces the prospect of a divided delegation in his own state. The activities of James R. Garfield and State Chairman Brown, and the size and enthusiasm of the recent convention of Progressive Republicans prove that. Indeed the Ohio situation is the one which gives the administration forces the most concern. It is not encouraging when a candidate cannot take an undivided delegation from his home state to the convention from which he asks a nomination. But it is doubly discouraging when that candidate happens to be the president of the United States, with an army of office holders at his command to reenforce the efforts of his firends and neighbors.

La Follette's Smooth Sailing.

Of all, Senator La Follette has the smoothest sailing at home. There is opposition to him, but it is mainly mute and inglorious. His colleague, Senator Stephenson, would split the delegation if he could, but even with the advantage of presidential primaries it is doubtful whether the foes to La Follette can make any inroads on his forces. Which demonstrates that, beside being a reformer and Progressive of force and eloquence, the Wisconsin man is a practical politician of quite Tammanesque skill.

All in all, the sudden discoveries of disaffection in the state of favorite sons are so general, so universal that they prove nothing more than a truth as old as the scriptures, namely that a prophet is not without honor save in his own country.

tions and other considerations in lieu thereof.

"This provision while varying slightly in the different treaties, guaranteed to the Indians that the laws of the United States should apply with equal force to the whole of the ceded territory as well as to that retained. Some of these ceded lands immediately adjoined Indians' homes and others were remote and now contain only white settlements and towns.

Only to Protect Indians.

"Acting under these laws and treaties, I made every possible attempt to keep liquor away from the Indians. I realized that a strict enforcement of the letter of the law would involve not only this, but also the prevention of its introduction into any part of the ceded territory, which covered two-thirds the state of Minnesota, and included many large towns and cities, among them the city of Minneapolis. I did not attempt to enforce the law throughout the whole territory for two reasons —first, because the office had not the money or the men to see that any orders given to that effect were carried out; and, second, because, in the case of laws passed so long ago to meet conditions which had now, as to a great extent of the territory, utterly changed, I felt that it was my duty to begin by doing what would bring about in the quickest possible time the complete protection which the laws extended to our wards, the Indians. I felt that afer I had used every cent of money and every man at my disposal to bring this result about it would then be time enough to consider the immediate duty toward the wider territory and the city of Minneapolis. I felt, and have always felt, that while it was the duty of the Indian office to exert itself to the utmost to keep liquor away from the Indians, it was no part of its duty, unless under direct and unequivocal order of statute, to keep liquor away from white men, or to take any part whatever in temperance or prohibition movements in white neighborhoods, even in those situated closely to the Indians, provided those communities saw to it that the Indians were not debauched or tempted.

Had to Change Policy.

"Acting according to this policy, the office bent its first energies toward closing saloons and arresting bootleggers who conveyed liquor into the immediate porximity of the Indians. When we had closed the saloons in one town that did this, we went to the next town, not taking the time to deal with saloons which were rigorously obeying the laws of the state which forbid the sale of liquor to Indians. But this course involved us in so many charges of discrimination, and it was so difficult to sift the totally unjust charges from those that might have had some element of justice, that we decided to abandon this policy, and to mark out that part of the whole ceded territory which immediately surrounded reservations which had in it the largest number of towns that were notoriously selling to Indians.

"I drew this line because I knew that, as to the territory within it which immediately and vitally affected the Indians, we had money and men enough to enforce the law. The office gave notice that the saloons within this territory would be closed. Pending consideration of the strong protests that arose from the communities involved, the date was put forward a month, and after further consideration of all the issues involved, the department decided on Oct. 7, 1910, that the liquor provisions of these treaties should be put in force throughout the whole ceded territory, involving a large part of the state of Minnesota, and the city of Minneapolis, without discrimination as to persons or territory.

Arouse Violent Protests.

"This order naturally aroused even more violent protests than before, because it affected over two-thirds of the state, in a very large part of which no Indian question whatever was involved.

"In some of the treaties there was an authorization for the president, by executive order, to change the boundaries in others, only by the action of the congress could a change be effected. On Feb. 16, 1911, the president modified the treaties where he had the power, and made recommendations to congress as to the others. The effect of this wise action is supplemented by future congressional action will be to limit the operation of the liquor provisions of the treaties to that portion of the ceded territory immediately adjoining Indian homes, and thus to retain all of the law that was valuable to the Indians. The regulation of liquor traffic in those portions of the ceded territory remote from the Indians, and inhabited exclusively by whites will be left, as it should be, to the state, thus repealing all of the law that could in any way be properly objectionable to the whites. The congress adjourned without action.

Complicated By Suit.

"The matter is further complicated by the institution of a suit by certain liquor dealers seeking to enjoin the officers of the department from interfering with their business. A temporary injunction was granted and the matter is now pending in the United States circuit court for decision. Although this case does not directly involve any territory except that ceded by the treaty of 1855, the decision will in all probability control by analogy in all the ceded territory, except that covered by the treaty of 1863 which relates to the territory surrounding the Red Lake reservation.

"The reasoning for the court in granting the temporary injunction was in substance that the act admitting Minnesota into the Union, in 1858, contained the usual provision that Minnesota was admitted on an equal footing with the other states of the Union; that neither that act nor the ennabling act of 1857 nor the state Constitution contained any limitation on the powers of the state under the former treaties; that one of the well-recognized powers of the other states was, and is, the police power to regulate the traffic of liquor within its borders—hence, that the provision of the treaty was repealed by implication.

"Minnesota has admirable state laws for prohibiting the sale of liquor to Indians, and all that we are able to do until this matter now in court is settled is to present such evidence as we find to the state authorities, for their action in in the state courts."

SAYS THAT EVERYONE CAN HAVE AN ABUNDANCE OF PRETTY HAIR

Never any falling hair, itching scalp or dandruff if you use a little Danderine.

To be possessed of a head of heavy, beautiful hair; soft, lustrous, fluffy, wavy and free from dandruff is merely a matter of using a little Danderine.

The very first application cleanses the scalp, stops itchiness, destroys and dissolves every particle of dandruff and prevents the hair from falling out.

It is easy and inexpensive to have nice, soft hair and lots of it. Just get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine now—all drug stores recommend it—apply a little as directed and within ten minutes there will be an appearance of abundance; freshness, fluffiness and an incomparable gloss and lustre and try as you will you cannot find a trace of dandruff or falling hair; but your real surprise will be after about two weeks' use, when you will see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair—sprouting out all over your scalp—Danderine is, we believe, the only sure hair grower; destroyer of dandruff and cure for itchy scalp and it never fails to stop falling hair at once.

If you want to prove how pretty and soft your hair really is, moisten a cloth with a little Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair—taking one small strand at a time. Your hair will be soft, glossy and beautiful in just a few moments—a delightful surprise awaits everyone who tries this.

How to be Certain of Curing Constipation

Prejudice is a hard thing to overcome, but where health is at stake and the opinion of thousands of reliable people differs from yours, prejudice then becomes your menace and you ought to lay it aside. This is said in the interest of people suffering from chronic constipation, and it is worthy of their attention.

In the opinion of legions of reliable American people the most stubborn constipation imaginable can be cured by a brief use of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. You may not have heard of it before, but do not doubt its merits on that account or because it has not been blatantly advertised. It has sold very successfully on word of mouth recommendation. Parents are giving it to their children today who were given it by their parents, and it has been truthfully said that more druggists use it personally in their families than any other laxative.

Letters recently received from Mr. E. M. Connelly, Genoa Jct., Wis., and Mrs. E. Bolch, Hatfield, Wis., are but a few of thousands showing the esteem in which Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is held. It is mild, gentle, nongriping—not violent, like salts or cathartics. It cures gradually and pleasantly so that in time nature again does its own work without outside aid. Constipated people owe it to themselves to use this grand bowel specific.

Anyone wishing to make a trial of this remedy before buying it in the regular way of a druggist at fifty cents or one dollar a large bottle (family size) can have a sample bottle sent to the home free of charge by simply addressing Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 405 Washington St., Monticello, Ill. Your name and address on a postal card will do.

MANY METERS ARE FROZEN

Cold Snap Causes Work for Water and Light Department.

Gas Pipes Blocked With Ice —Special Water Rates.

The repair force of the water and light department has been busy night and day since the cold snap started in. About 200 water meters have been frozen and in about 250 buildings the gas pipes have been bothered by frost. On Park Point, shifting sands have brought the water services up to within two feet of the surface in some places and many services have been frozen.

If the people who fear the freezing of water pipes or services within their houses will certify to the water and light department that it is necessary to keep the water running to prevent freezing, a special rate of 2 cents per 100 feet, or 750 gallons, will be made on the consumption registered above the normal.

By allowing a small stream to run, Manager Case says that freezing can be prevented for about 5 cents a month. The freezing of pipes entails great expense and inconvenience and a few cents will prevent it.

Gas pipes are closed by frost more quickly than water pipes. The moisture in the gas clings to the pipes and closes them up. The repair men of the water and light department pour alcohol into the pipes, run the frost out and the pipes are cleared.

The consumption of water has been increased somewhat by the continuous running of water during the cold snap, but not abnormally so and the capacity of the department has not been nearly approached at any time.

preserved, that they shall obtain redress for all wrongs and a decided and radical change in the methods of the Indian bureau concerning those claims and rights will fail to get their support.

Delegates Present.

They held a convention that was partly secret and partly open, and in their secret conclaves every man was instructed as to his duties to his tribe and what he was to say to them when he returned to the home council fires. Richard C. Adams was elected great sachem and Joseph Craig great secretary. Among those present as delegates were: John J. Doherty, Richard C. Adams, Sewire G. Waters, Aleck Tilto, Billy Mason, Alex Amlor Morris, Nealy N. Olney, Somkeen Waters, Umapine, No Shirt, Joseph Craig, Tom Hill, Charley Van Pelt, Thomas Yallup, Wee-oulck-Saluskin, Les-hihit-Owe-hi, Henry Matt, Antoine Moise, Babtiste Ka-ka-she, Antist Kootenay, George Reilly, David Zephier, Sr., Angelina Fedora Johnson, Leo D. Adams, Richard Shunatona, John Pipestem, Charles Watson, J. H. Adams, William H. Adams, Florence H. Pemel, August A. Bruniger, J. M. Riley, Louis J. Carpenter, Mrs. Louis J. Carpenter, Mrs. Nancy Murray, Frank B. Murray, Carrie E. Adams, William Obem Odanah, Ed Clairmont, Simon J. Kirk, John J. Kirk, John Redthunder, Silas D. Whitman, Modest Peachet, William Neveaux, Sam D. Denomie, Edward Dennis, Dan R. Morrison, Anna E. Lyons, Alfred C. Smith, Mrs. Eliza Waters, John Young, Jefferson D. Sarcoxie, William Bean, Big Tobacco, Simon Antelope, Eagle Track, Luke Billy, Philip McFarland, Pile of Clouds, Yellow Bull, Joseph Hayes, Alakot, Governor Douglas H. Johnston of Chickasaw Nation, Governor Locke of Choctaw Nation.

Memorial to President.

They drew up a memorial to the president of the United States, in which they recited a long list of grievances and asked that the president and the congress of the United States should relieve them of certain burdens and allow certain claims, and among these grievances are:

"A large number of the Indians have their allotments of land, but without a dollar under their immediate control with which to improve the land, while their money, millions of dollars, is either in the United States treasury, or in certain banks which loan it at a high rate of interest, and profit to such institutions. Under the present administration, these funds are dealt out in such meager amount as to be of no real use and lasting benefit to our people. Such moneys are sorely needed and should be used for the betterment of the Indians. By reason of this condition, many of the Indians are now in destitute circumstances, actually suffering for want of the bare necessities of life, while there are hundreds, often thousands of dollars to their credit in the United States treasury or in some bank, which they are unable to obtain or use because the Indian's needs are not understood, or if understood, because of lack of proper attention and appreciation. This is a matter of crying necessity, a matter of daily bread and butter and a subject of the most vital importance to our people.

Want Control of Their Money.

"Had the Indians the control and management of the moneys which belong to them and which are deposited in banks and now used for speculative purposes, they would be enabled to improve and cultivate their allotments, which they are now unable to do for lack of means. They would thereby be able to gain a comfortable living and this would, to a very great extent, do away with the want and suffering so common among our people. It is only fair and reasonable that congress should pass a general jurisdictional act which shall refer all claims of the Indians to the court of claims for adjudication. If the Indians are willing to trust the determination of their rights to the courts of the United States, certainly the government should trust its own courts."

Another convention will be held, beginning on Jan. 16 and lasting over ten days or two weeks. Great Sachem Adams expects a larger number of delegates to be present and more tribes to be represented at this second conclave than at the first. It will be held in the old Masonic temple in Washington.

STILL BELOW ZERO MARK

The mercury dropped sharply during the night and at 7 o'clock this morning was at 20 deg. below zero. One hour later it had gone to 22 deg. below zero.

There is a raw feeling in the air that makes the cold more intense than during the dry cold weather last week. It is very cold all through the Northwest and no break in the cold snap is expected. Temperatures of from 10 deg. to 30 deg. below zero are expected for the next thirty-six hours.

Chicago Cold Again.

Chicago, Jan. 9.—Chicago's respite from zero weather was brief. After reaching 8 deg. above zero at 9 o'clock yesterday, the mercury turned backward again and at 9 o'clock last night went 1 under zero. At 11 o'clock it had descended another degree and remained at this point until 2 a. m., when there was a slight moderation. At 6 a. m. the thermometer stood exactly at zero. A driving northwest wind had set in at this hour and it appeared that the cold would last during the day.

Michigan Railways Hampered.

Grand Rapids, Mich., Jan. 9.—Snow drifts piled by a strong wind have seriously delayed railway service in Western Michigan. One Grand Rapids & Indiana train from the north was the only train which succeeded in reaching this city at 9 a. m. today. The Pere Marquette morning train to Saginaw was not started. Interurban lines were crippled.

Some Western Trains Abandoned.

Portland, Or., Jan. 9.—The heaviest snowfall in the history of railroading in the Pacific Northwest has played havoc with traffic on the Oregon-Washington Railroad & Navigation and the Spokane, Portland & Seattle railroads. Rights of way through the Columbia river gorge are blocked with snow drifts twenty to forty feet deep and extending many miles. Numerous westbound trains are stalled. Eastbound traffic practically has been abandoned.

branch of the government which determines public policy."

Not An Experiment.

The court went on to state that income taxation is no longer a new and untried experiment in the history of taxation.

"By this act the legislature has in substance declared that the state's system of taxation has been changed from a system of uniform taxation of property (which so far as personal property is concerned has proved a failure) to a system which shall be a combination of two ideas, namely: taxation of personal property, progressively according to the ability to pay the taxation of real property uniformally, according to values."

Enforcement of the income tax law is entirely in the hands of the state tax commission, which has appointed K. K. Kennan of Milwaukee supervisor of income tax.

The exemptions include individual incomes up to $800. A husband and wife are allowed $1,200 and for each child under 18 years of age and for each legal dependent and additional $200 is allowed.

Rates Are Graduated.

The rates of income taxation under the law, after making exemptions, are graduated. For instance the first $1,000 or part thereof, 1 per cent, the second $1,000 or part, 2¼ per cent; the twelfth $1,000 or part, 5½ per cent, and over $12,000, 6 per cent.

The principal suit to test the validity of the measure was brought by Harry W. Bolens of Port Washington against Secretary of State James A. Frear, State Treasurer A. H. Dahl and members of the state tax commission.

FIVE CHILDREN BURN TO DEAT IN HOME AT MOTLEY; FATHER HURT

bor told them the house was on fire. The father rushed upstairs, and though suffocated by the dense smoke, he managed to break a window. This started a draft and the entire room was instantly in flames. The children lay unconscious in their beds. The father, suffocating, staggered to the head of the stairs and fell their entire length. He was picked up with his clothes aflame and carried from the building. Mother and younger child had been taken from the scene. As the father was dragged from the building the entire upper floor fell, with the five children.

The fire could not be extinguished and the house burned to the ground. The bodies could not be removed until this morning. Nothing was left of them but charred bones, which were placed in baskets. This morning they were interred in the local cemetery.

The mother, overcome by the tragedy, is almost insane. The family saved nothing but the clothing they wore.

the death sentence to imprisonment for life.

A great crowd thronged into the corridors of the courthouse today to see Richeson in his first public appearance since his confession of the murder of Avis Linnell, his former sweetheart.

Former Senator William A. Morse, Richeson's leading counsel, whose illness yesterday caused a postponement in the court proceedings, notified District Attorney Pelletier early today that he would be present with his associates.

Richeson made no statement. He was in court for only six minutes. His face was pale, but he was perfectly composed. He answered formal questions propounded by Judge Sanderson in the simplest possible way, and when asked if he had anything to say, replied:

"I have nothing to say further than my written confession."

ed by Clark Howell of Georgia, met this morning and prepared a report to be submitted later to the national committee dealing with the primary question and the call for delegates. Primaries, it is believed, will be permitted wherever state committees desire.

Meet June 25.

The first business transacted was to decide that the convention should be held June 25, one week after the Republican national convention. At this time the place of the convention had not been determined. St. Louis was working hard to overcome the Baltimore lead.

Denver made the first bid for the convention, Charles F. Franklin of that city addressing the committee at length.

Chicago next had its innings, when Roger Sullivan introduced Fred Upham of Chicago, assistant treasurer of the Republican national committee. J. Hamilton Lewis closed the argument for Chicago.

Chicago, in addition to defraying the expenses of the convention, offered $40,000 to be the Democratic campaign fund.

Baltimore's bid followed Chicago. O. F. Hershy spoke for Robert Crain, chairman of the Baltimore committee, and called out a storm of cheers when he drew from his inside pocket a certified check for $100,000 and laid it upon the table. The demonstration continued for a minute or more.

the man imprisoned in the safe deposit vault, the firemen dragging him away just as a shower of bricks and stones fell on the spot where he had been kneeling. As the firemen carried Father McGean away the dying man turned to him and said: "For God's sake, Father, take me out of here, I am dying. Can't you get at me?"

Two porters in the safe deposit company were rescued from the basement of the building when the sidewalk in front of the structure caved in. They were injured and removed to the hospital.

The fire was finally confined to the Equitable building, though for a time it seemed as though the flames would sweep across the street and set fire to the American Exchange National bank at Cedar and Broadway on which the sparks were falling in a shower. This building was kept wetted down by streams of water from the skyscrapers on all sides.

Like a Blast Furnace.

The flames had the intensity of a blast furnace. The heavy floors of the building buckled under the white hot fire and fell in while the walls crumbled and dropped piecemeal into the streets. Part of the Brooklyn fire department was sent to aid in preventing the spread of the flames.

After the flames had been checked three men were reported to be alive in the vaults of the Mercantile Safe Deposit company, where one man had already lost his life, and the firemen tried to batter down the steel doors. The falling stone and brick and the heat had blocked and warped the doors so that they could not be unlocked. While the firemen were hammering away, a part of the coping fell and the rescuers had a narrow escape. After the stone had fallen the firemen made renewed efforts to penetrate the doors.

Three employes of the building leaped from the third floor to the street. They were taken to the hospital seriously injured.

The fire was in the heart of the financial district and the flames were fought mainly from the tops of towering skyscrapers. Business was brought almost to a complete standstill among the banking and brokerage houses, whose employes could not reach the scene of their daily activity.

Loss Over $10,000,000.

A conservative estimate of the damage places the loss in the neighborhood of $10,000,000, while others say the loss will run as high as $15,000,000.

According to an officer of the Equitable, the great safety deposit vaults in the building contained last night securities aggregating between $250,000,000 and $300,000,000. The vaults are believed to be intact.

Many of the large New York banks announced today that owing to the fire they would not exercise their prerogative of calling loans today. The money market, owing to the action of the stock exchange, was practically at a standstill.

Banking and brokerage business was halted for a time by the fire, and the governors of the stock exchange met to determine what action should be taken with respect to deliveries of securities purchased yesterday. The decision reached was that transfers may be suspended for a day by mutual consent.

The clearing house in the Chase National bank was closed and temporary quarters were opened at the chamber of commerce. Depositors and bank customers of the burned-out trust companies, as well as those of financial institutions located in the neighborhood of the burned building, were unable to reach their banks, being held back by the police lines.

Duplicates of Records.

An officer of the Equitable Life Assurance society said that the society had duplicates of every record, which were stored in a building several blocks away from the burned structure. The fire, he said, would not affect the company's business with its policyholders throughout the country.

Officials of the Mercantile Safe Deposit company said the vaults were intact and not a cent would be lost.

William Giblin, president of the Mercantile Safe Deposit company, was rescued from the vaults of his company after the firemen had sawed through several steel bars. He was carried to the boiler room of the Trinity building, where ambulance surgeons stripped off his clothing and wrapped him in heavy blankets. Stimulants were administered. After a brief interval of rest, Mr. Giblin said:

"I was sitting up last night with my wife, who has been very ill, when an employe of the hotel informed me that the Equitable building was on fire. When I arrived at the building there were no flames, but plenty of smoke. I hurred into one of the vaults to get some valuable papers, followed by one of the night watchmen. The vault has a spring lock and I left my keys outside. When the man and I started to leave, the door swung shut and we were both prisoners.

Was Locked in Vault.

"The smoke was awful. We screamed and shouted, but it seemed as though we were both doomed. The other man was alive up to half an hour ago, but just before I was carried out he fainted and I think he must be dead by this time."

Mr. Giblin was then taken to the Hudson street hospital. He was very weak, but in no immediate danger.

The offices of the Harriman lines, which were in the building, were being moved to 165 Broadway. Everything had been moved save the papers in the legal department. Many valuable records, including the autobiography of E. H. Harriman, were there, and it is believed that these and other valuable records were destroyed.

President Day of the Equitable called a meeting of the executive committee at the company's new building on Greenwich street, to consider the matter of securing temporary quarters. Of the 1,300 clerks employed by the society, about 600 were in the main building while the others were engaged at work in the Greenwich street building.

The offices of the Equitable Trust company luckily escaped the flames, but were damaged by water, as were the offices of August Belmont, who said his offices were practically untouched by flames, though well watersoaked.

The Equitable building occupies the block between Broadway and Nassau streets and Pine and Cedar streets. The fire was first discovered on the ground floor in a store room of the Cafe Savarine, and carried by a draught of air, shot upward through an elevator shaft, setting fire to the upper floors.

A general alarm was turned in, and when the fire department reached the scene the flames were bursting out of the windows in the southeast corner of the building. A gale sweeping through the streets drove the flames through the building from end to end. Firemen dragged their hose to the top of the Chase National bank on Pine street and the Fourth National bank on Nassau street, while other lines of hose were run up on a skyscraper opposite the burning building on Broadway, from which streams of water were directed on the flames.

Five alarms were turned in, and fire tugs from the North and East rivers grouped themselves at a convenient dock and pumped volumes of water into the building.

Watchmen Leaped From Roof.

Three watchmen in the building heroically remained to fight the flames with fire extinguishers, but they were driven finally to the roof. Firemen made a heroic attempt to save them and scaling ladders were run up. Rescuers got as far as the fourth floor when the watchmen, their forms outlined against the glare of the flames, were seen to kneel and pray, and then, as the corner of the building on which they were standing fell, they jumped to the street.

The firemen on the scaling ladders had difficulty in making their way back to the street.

Fire Commissioner Johnson discovered a man imprisoned in the vaults of the Mercantile Safe Deposit company, at the corner of Cedar street and Broadway. The man could be seen from the street and his legs were pinned down by a mass of fixtures and debris which had fallen from above.

He was alive and held out his hand to the firemen, who made frantic, though futile, efforts to break through the heavy steel doors. Father McGean of the fire department gave the last rites to the dying man.

Later it was said that the man was a watchman who is locked each night in the vaults of the company.

HOPING TO FREE HARRY K. THAW

Friends Will Start Habeas Corpus Proceedings Very Soon.

New York, Jan. 9. — According to a special dispatch from Matteawan to the Herald, friends in the close confidence of Harry Thaw declare that habeas corpus proceedings will be begun within the next few days to obtain the release of the man who killed Stanford White. These friends are quoted as "almost positively confident" of success and declare that Thaw's release will be obtained within thirty days.

Mrs. Thaw, his mother, has been in consultation with prominent lawyers in New York during the last week. Clarence J. Shearn, counsel for Thaw, is said to have been working for several days on a plan in the new proceedings.

MANY DAYS YET OF TRIAL OF PACKERS

Case May Not Be Ended Before the Last of April.

Chicago, Jan. 9.—Jerome H. Pratt, veteran employe of Armour & Co., began his third day on the witness stand when the trial of the ten Chicago packers charged with operating an illegal combination in restraint of trade, was resumed this morning. He may be on the stand several days before both sides get through questioning him.

The government has nearly sixty more witnesses to examine, together with a mass of documentary evidence which will be read to the jury. This indicates that the trial may last until May.

KANSANS ELECTING NEW CONGRESSMAN.

Hutchinson, Kan., Jan. 9.—Voters of the Seventh district have shown little excitement over the congressional campaign which will end today with the election of a successor to the late Representative E. H. Madison. The Republicans are united in their support of Judge F. L. Martin and the Democrats are standing by G. A. Neeley, who was the opponent of Madison at the last election. Both candidates live in Hutchinson.

HEAR HINES IN LORIMER INQUIRY

Senator Himself May Follow Lumberman on the Stand.

Washington, Jan. 9.—Edward Hines, the Chicago lumberman, alleged to have "put Lorimer over," was called to the witness chair again today when the senate committee resumed its investigation.

General Manager Funk of the International Harvester company testified that Hines asked him to contribute $10,000 toward a fund of $100,000 alleged to have been spent electing Lorimer, and it is charged that Hines called a meeting of prospective contributors in the Union League club in Chicago. Hines' examination today was upon the latter point.

If Hines' testimony is short, Senator Lorimer probably will begin telling his story. In anticipation of hearing his testimony, the committee room was crowded.

ALASKA BANKERS PLEAD NOT GUILTY

Summers and Holt Are Arraigned on Charges of Fraud.

Juneau, Alaska, Jan. 9.—Clem H. Summers, former president of the First National bank of Juneau, and Stuart G. Holt, former cashier of the Juneau bank, entered pleas of not guilty yesterday to the indictments returned against them by the federal grand jury charging fraudulent banking. Summers secured a change of venue and Judge Lyons took under advisement a motion by Holt's attorney for a continuance of his case. Both men are at liberty under $5,000 bonds.

The indictment against the two former bankers contains fifty-six counts.

NURSE GETS BEQUEST.

Milwaukee Judge Decides Woman Is Entitled to $40,000.

Milwaukee, Wis., Jan. 9.—That Miss Louise Mohring, a pretty trained nurse, is both legally and morally entitled to the $40,000 bequest made to her in the will of the late Henry Trowbridge, who died last May 24, is the decision of Probate Judge M. S. Sheridan.

Miss Mohring nursed Trowbridge during the last ten years of his life. He was a helpless paralytic. His brother, William Trowbridge, aged 71, who received $30,000, contested the bequest on the ground that the testator was not of sound mind when he made his will, that the bequest was not voluntarily made and that undue influence was brought to bear upon him. The court, however, finds that such was not the case. The estate was worth $100,000.

EAT CABBAGE, ONIONS OR SAUSAGE WITHOUT DREAD OF INDIGESTION

No Misery-Making Gas, Heartburn or Sour, Upset Stomach If You Will Eat a Few Diapepsin Occasionally.

Do some foods you eat hit back—taste good, but work badly; ferment into stubborn lumps and cause a sick, sour, gassy stomach? Now, Mr. or Mrs. Dyspeptic, jot this down: Pape's Diapepsin digests everything, leaving nothing to sour and upset you. There never was anything so safely quick, so certainly effecive. No difference how badly your stomach is disordered you will get happy relief in five minutes, but what pleases you most is that it strengthens and regulates your stomach so you can eat your favorite foods without fear.

Most remedies give you relief sometimes—they are slow, but not sure. Diapepsin is quick, positive and puts your stomach in a healthy condition so the misery won't come back.

You feel different as soon as Diapepsin comes in contact with the stomach—distress just vanishes—your stomach gets sweet, no gases, no belching, no eructations of undigested food, your head clears and you feel fine.

Go now, make the best investment you ever made by getting a large fifty-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin from any drug store. You realize in five minutes how needless it is to suffer from Indigestion, dyspepsia or any stomach disorder.

HAVE WORKED SIDE BY SIDE

Howard Elliott Talks on Relation of Farming and Transportation.

President of Northern Pacific Urges All to Pull Together.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—"Farming is the greatest business in the United States," said President Howard Elliott of the Northern Pacific railway in an address before the State Agricultural society this afternoon. "In this great North Star state, rich in natural wealth and resources, other forms of business have grown, but agriculture has always been the most important occupation and will continue to be if the state is to reach its destiny as a place where the highest type of man and woman and the best type of citizen will be developed.

"Farming is an older business than transportation, but the business I represent is also old and began as soon as the tiller of the soil produced more than he could use himself and therefore sought to improve his condition by exchanging some of the things of which he had too much for other things that he needed. Since the early '60s agriculture and transportation, both of equal importance to the country and state, have worked side by side in bringing about the development and use of the land, of which much that should yield today a comfortable income and afford a healthful life to settlers, is still unused, and much of which, sad to say, is unwisely and ineffectively used.

Supported By Railroads.

"The population of less than 200,000 in Minnesota when the construction of the first railroads was begun, has increased with the expansion of railroad facilities, to a total of 2,075,000. Minnesota had no railroads in 1860, but as 8,514.27 miles now and stands eighth in miles of railroad among the states.

"This large railroad mileage, so absolutely essential to the highest development of agriculture and to the growth of the state, gives employment to about 62,000 people, paying annually more than $36,000,000 in wages. On the conservative basis of four persons supported by each wage-earner, this means that 248,000 people are supported directly by the operation of the Minnesota railroads. This is about one-eighth of the population of the state and is more than the population of the prosperous city of St. Paul.

"For the year ending July 31, 1911, the state taxes received from the various counties, as their contribution to the support of the state government and institutions, was $4,611,597, while the railroads paid $8,896,091, almost as much from a business which represented only one-eighth of the population, as was paid by the other seven-eighths. Surely this was a very liberal contribution from but one form of business.

Business From the Orient.

"In a long forgotten report made by Hon. Joseph A. Wheelock, as commissioner of statistics, to Governor Ramsey in 1860, he took an optimistic view that in time the products of the Orient would find their way across Minnesota to the eastern markets. Shipments of Chinese and Japanese silks, tans, matting, jump and other articles from the Orient arrive at Pacific coast ports and are carried east through this state, helping the railroads in a small way to maintain themselves, so as to care for the domestic business of importance to the farmer and merchant of this state.

"Neither Mr. Wheelock nor others who believed in the growth of this great country, foresaw that the politician (not the statesmen) would attempt to so frame the laws in this country that the railroads could not participate freely in any business coming from the Orient to the United States, or sent back to the Orient from Minnesota, without so disturbing all other rates that they could not afford to engage in the business; nor did anyone imagine that a public policy would be seriously considered which must tend to prevent Minnesota and the Mississippi valley from reaching the Pacific coast with their products in competition with the same articles produced east of the Alleghany mountains. And yet that is what is confronting the great Mississippi valley, with its varied industries today. Unless the people rise up and demand of their congressmen and of the commerce commission that their railroads have the right to place the products of the Mississippi valley on the Pacific coast and in the Orient in competition with the same articles produced elsewhere, without forcing the railroads to reduce all of their intermediate rates, that section of the country will be closed to our merchants and manufacturers and the policy suggested will tend to draw a circle around Minnesota, beyond which she cannot trade.

Rates To the Pacific.

"Those who say that to make a lower rate to the Pacific coast than to intermediate points creates an unjust discrimination against interior points, ignore the fact that the Pacific coast, with ocean transportation, is independent of transcontinental railroads for the movement of freight from the Atlantic seaboard; and also,—which is more important,—is independent of the Mississippi valley as a source of supply for many manufactured articles. Nearly all that the Pacific coast needs may be shipped from the Atlantic states by the Panama canal or may be imported from foreign countries, and whenever the railroads make the rate to the Pacific coast which is necessary to equalize the coast of these commodities handled by ocean, they only change the source of supply and substitute one means of transportation for another; the difference between the cost of any commodity delivered at the Pacific coast or at some interior point would be the same whether the railroad entered into competition with the ocean carrier or withdrew entirely from the business.

Decrease in Freight Rates.

"The great advance in agriculture in Minnesota has been the natural result of the building of railroads. In spite of the great increase in wages, taxes and in the price of many classes of material, freight rates have not increased, or even remained stationary, but have dropped approximately 25 per cent. The farmer and shipper obtains as much freight transportation today for $3 as he received in 1888 for $4. On the Northern Pacific, only one of many roads, the fall of rates has been such that if freight shippers and passengers had paid in every year since 1885 the same rates as in that year, the additional revenue to this one railroad would have been $583,879,996.25. This very large sum represents what has been saved to the users of the Northern Pacific by means of reductions in rates, which have been very largely voluntary. It is equal to $63,986.84 for every day during that twenty-five year period. A most experienced railroad officer estimates that the saving to the purchasers of rail transportation in the United States in the fifteen years from 1894 to 1909, inclusive, amounted to $1,300,000 a day, or $7,144,343,000 in all, which saving has been possible because of the effective work done by the railroad owner, officer and employe in creating and operating the American railroad machine.

"Soil experts pointed out long ago the possibility of exhausting new and rich land by poor farming and during the past few years the states, business men, the Federal government and the railroads have all been working closely with the farmer, trying to improve the methods and increase the production.

Better Farm Methods.

"The farmer is under the obligation to the whole population of the United States of making the best use of his land, because the welfare of the country depends very largely upon his efforts and its people must be fed from the products of his acres. There is much talk about efficiency and inefficiency in the railroad business and in other forms of business. The railroads are trying hard to improve and are working steadily in order to give safer and better service to the public. There is the same necessity of improvement in farm methods and production.

"One of the most important facts shown in the investigations of the Minnesota state agricultural school into farm costs and profits is that there is great variation in cost of operation and profit balance in the same districts and on adjoining farms. Only the best managed farms are making the profits that are believed to be possible for all the well improved farms of the state.

"Upon the railroad owner, officer and employe falls the duty of keeping the railroads of the country in condition to move the commerce of the country, and of adding to them yearly at a rate which will take care of the demands of the people. This task means an addition of between $500,000,000 and $600,000,000 a year of new capital.

"This great sum will not be forthcoming unless people who put money into railroads feel that their investment is safe, and that they will get a return somewhat in line with what is received from other forms of business in the same territory. It is clearly to the interest of the farmer to help to so frame the laws of the land that capital will freely invest in railroads, because the farmer needs the best transportation and the widest possible market for his products.

Co-operation With the Farmer.

"It is for the purpose of increasing farm yields, improving rural prosperity and encouraging the better and more general use of the land of this state, that railroads, banks, the state and its educational department, organizations of commercial clubs and individuals are co-operating with the farmer. In this work there is no direct personal profit to be made for anyone except the farmer himself, but its objective point is a bigger and better Minnesota and a greater general prosperity in which all may join.

"Co-operation has been the keystone of the arch in the development of business in America. It is becoming the keystone of improvement of farm efficiency and in Minnesota there are already several noteworthy examples of farm communities working together for the common good.

"It would seem as if better results could be obtained for all forms of business—farming, railroading, merchandising, manufacturing and banking—if all pulled together and did not attempt to come to conclusions about business methods and results based on half knowledge and misleading and distorted statements. Truth is mighty and will prevail' is a true saying about the moral life of the nation, and in due time it will prove to be true about the business life of the nation in spite of the demagogue and trouble-maker."

CARD INDEX SYSTEM FOR SCORING MEAT SHOPS AND BAKERIES A SUCCESS

The health department bulletin for December summarizes briefly some of the most important work which has been done the department the last year. It speaks of the card system of scoring meat shops and bakeries and states that the lists will be published from time to time, as the department has found publicity a most valuable adjunct in its campaign for pure food products and sanitary shops.

With the beginning of the year the department is instituting a system of recording sanitary reports. They are all indexed and filed, and when complaints are made the location of the premises and their condition is noted.

The hiring of the nurse to care for tuberculosis is characterized as one of the greatest steps forward which has ever been made by the department. Space is also devoted to the baby hospital tent which was in use last summer and to the campaign which was conducted to help mothers care for infants properly during the hot summer months.

The bulletin goes on to state that all the midwives working in Duluth have been looked up and required to take out licenses.

Comment is made on the proposed lodging house and housing ordinances to the effect that they are badly needed but must have been lost in some pigeon hole.

During December there were 166 births and 79 deaths. Of the latter, 16, or over 20 per cent, were caused by tuberculosis, and pneumonia claimed five. There was an increase in smallpox, chicken pox and diphtheria, buf the city generally is free of other contagious diseases.

ADVOCATES LIGHT BONDS

A. A. Fider Talks at Meeting of Young Men's Republican Club.

Says There Will Not Be Two Lighting Plants in Duluth.

J. E. Horak, assistant cashier of the Northern National bank, and Arthur A. Fider, Republican candidate for alderman in the Second ward, were the principal speakers at the meeting of the Young Men's Republican club last evening.

Mr. Horak devoted himself to a discussion of the national monetary system and the various plans for reforming it. He has made an exhaustive study of the subject and his talk last night was an interesting and instructive one. He explained the various plans of reform in terms that could be understood by the man not trained in financial matters.

Mr. Fider, after declaring for a business administration for the city, talked on the electric light bonding proposition. He advocated the voting of the bonds and declared that there would not be two plants, but that a lowering of rates would come from voting the bonds. He said the bonds will probably never be issued.

Discussion Averted.

After Mr. Fider's talk, there were signs of a heated discussion, but it was headed off by a motion to adjourn. The motion was carried after protests on the part of those who were anxious to discuss the proposition. The attitude of those who supported the motion to adjourn was that the members of the club are already conversant with the proposition and further discussion would be a waste of time.

Mr. Feder said in part last evening:

"Our municipality is but a collection of individuals. It should be run for the people. We all believe in the ten commandments and those that put those principles into practice are known as honest upright men, while those that suspend those moral principles in moments of temptation are weak and if persisted in, become criminals. The man that is serving his fellows in the council needs moral courage and business judgment to withstand the pressure and argument that is brought to bear on him by the corporations and those who have special interests that are asking favors and are spending large sums to get them. It is said, 'Every man has his price.' I believe that cynical saying is false and no man likely to have a price is deserving of the votes of his fellows. There are men in our common council today beyond price. There may be others and they should be retired. The public should be as ready to punish unfaithful servants as it is to reward the faithful.

Any party to succeed in our or any city must owe it to its city to study its needs and throw the weight of its influence upon the right side of every question. I believe that every man who seeks to serve his city should have opinions on public questions—should have convictions—that he should study and take a stand for or against on every question affecting the welfare of the people. That there should be a fair discussion from every standpoint, that the majority vote should settle it. The common council of our city should not be a resting place for mollycoddles or petty grafters with a cloud of suspicion encircling their heads, but men that can measure up to the requirements of that high office, conscious that they honestly serve their city—men whom the fear of corporate greed and their political working will not swerve.

My platform is: Run the city on strict business principles. Keep the taxes down—results up. Get for the Second ward residents their share of city benefits, including police protection, fire protection, street repairs, street lighting, storm sewers, low assessments.

Will Work for Bonds.

I will vote for the bonds at the special election, and do all in my power to place the municipality in such position that it can make an advantageous bargain or contract with the present company.

I have confidence in the people and believe they can procure an electric light plant and operate it at cost to the consumer and cut the present rate in two.

The Duluth-Edison Electric company when selling stocks or bonds value their plant at $3,000,000, in their statement on file in the city comptroller's office at $686,000. This is a sworn statement.

The engineers are generous and estimate that the present plant can be duplicated for less than $1,000,000. The people should be allowed to use the natural resources and any comforts resulting from them at cost. This is the spirit of municipal ownership that prompts the aggressive work that carried to its logical conclusion will add one more public service institution to the number already acquired and make our city a better place to live in and help reduce the high cost of living. Generated from our great natural water power, electric light, power and heat should be cheaper than coal oil or candles—for heating purposes it should be cheaper than wood or coal. It should be furnished so cheaply that every working man, no matter how humble his home or small his wage, could afford to use it and it is up to the people. It can be done. Other cities are making a success of it. Guelph, Can., is paying for its street improvement out of the profits from its public service institutions.

"There will be no confiscation of the Edison Electric company's property if these bonds are voted. It will probably never be necessary to use them. If voted, the council cannot buy or build a plant without again submitting the facts to the people and have them vote authority. There will be no duplicate electric plant and there will be no increase in taxes. There will be a reduction in cost of electric light as soon as the company knows that the people are not fooled by the expensive campaign they have put up but mean business if necessary to get their rights. The people of Duluth can save $168,000 a year in their electric light bills, which will more than pay for a new plant in six years. Personally I don't believe in being small in our dealing with this company, but I do beieve the people can get a much lower price for lighting by voting for the bonds. Municipal ownership people are willing to pay a good price for the present plant and many of them advocate paying 40 per cent more than the physical value of the old plant, 40 per cent more than the engineers say it is worth. We can be generous and still cut our bills in two.

"This proposition is purely one of business. It is necessary for the people to authorize the bonds to show the electric light company that they insist on a fair deal, a fair contract for lighting or a fair price to buy out their plant. The people should stand by such aldermen as are willing to stand for the peoples' rights—back them up in their fight for the peope. We will get the red blood circulating in the strong right arms of our press Feb. 6 will remove the cloud of suspicion that hangs over some of your councilmen. The people will own the common council and Duluth will press forward in bounds and within the next five years wil double its population."

The city campaign has been very quiet thus far, especially on the Democratic side. The Republicans have held several meetings and Dr. J. A. McCuen, the candidate for mayor, has made a number of addresses. All candidates are doing quiet personal work and the campaign will warm up as the election draws near.

The Socialists are busier than the two other parties. Meetings are being held every night and they are drawing crowds. Tonight at Rowley hall a joint meeting for the Third and Fourth wards will be held. The speakers will be J. A. Johnson, candidate for mayor; W. E. Towne and Richard Jones, candidates for alderman in the Third and Fourth wards, respectively; and Morris Kaplan.

WHERE MEN GET CURED

of Bad Heart, Stagnant Circulation, Varicose Veins and Other Diseases.

There are thousands of men walking around who are a picture of disease. They are all fagged out and dragged down by it. The cause of it may be a bad stomach, kidney trouble, or some secret suffering. Others, again, are the very picture of health, but they suffer nevertheless, from imperfect circulation, of which knotted veins are the result.

The veins are dark blue, because of the poisonous waste matter, while the arteries are bright red. When this vein-blood, heavy with poisons, again reaches the lungs, it exchanges its carbon-dioxide, a heavy and very poisonous gas, for pure oxygen and returns again through the arteries. When some part of the body is injured by abuse, excesses, kicks, blows, or overwork, the veins are injured and retard free circulation. The poison-loaded blood, instead of returning to the lungs for a fresh supply of life-giving oxygen, piles up against the injured part, poisons the walls of the veins, swells and dilates them, hardens them and sometimes expands them to an enormous extent. In men the legs and other vital parts are usually attacked by this self-generated poison, which, after first poisoning the veins, attacks the vital parts themselves, causing weakness and wasting. Walking becomes difficult, hard knots form which open easily and form "VARICOSE ULCERS," the patient is easily exhausted, becomes nervous and depressed, his memory weakens and all ambition leaves him.

Later the poison will take an upward course, and, entering the pelvis, will poison the pelvis nerves. Stagnant circulation will result in nervous diseases, in diseases of the rectum, prostate and associated parts, and is not strictly local, because nerves, blood vessels and lymphatics are all connected. What affects one affects all, just as a broken wire or short circuit in any part of a serially connected electric system has an effect on any and every part of that system. We found in former years that cutting and dissecting out these veins did not cure the patient, the deep-seated nerves that control the functions and nutrition of the organs still caused trouble and more pain than before. We therefore invented the 'Dissolving Process' a method as superior to the old way of cutting and bloodletting as the modern electric light is superior to the tallow candle of bygone ages. We can explain the practical application of the dissolving process to any man if he will give us the necessary statements about his case, although we would rather examine and demonstrate to him than talk or write about it. The specialists who can guarantee to cure this and all other diseases without cutting, without chloroform or any of the ordinary old-style hospital methods, will surely be wanted by any man who is suffering from it. That is what we can do, and guarantee to do! Consultation free from 9 to 8 p. m. Sundays, 10-1.

WOMAN'S REALM.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick A. Kemp have arrived in Duluth from their wedding trip. They were married Thursday, Dec. 28, in Spokane, Wash., the bride's home city. A clipping from a Spokane paper gives the following account of the wedding:

"At 3 o'clock this afternoon Miss Ida Amelia Hutchinson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Hutchinson, 1703 Grand boulevard, becomes the bride of Frederick Albert Kemp of Duluth, Minn., the wedding to take place at the Hutchinson residence.

"The service is to be read by the Rev. William C. Hicks, dean of All Saints' cathedral, in the presence of the immediate family and a few friends.

"The bride will be attended by her sister, Mrs. Herbert Vincent Wales, as matron of honor. She is to be given away by her father. As the bridal party enters the large living room, where the ceremony is to be read, the wedding march from Lohengrin will be played by Miss Mabel Paulson. Mendelssohn's march is the recessional. During the service Miss Paulson will sing Mrs. Beecher's "Ecstacy."

"The bride will wear a beautiful gown of white satin, with an overdress of Paris net and trimmed with dainty lace. She will carry a small bouquet of bride's roses, caught from a prayer book. The matron of honor will be gowned in pretty white chiffon, with a Spanish lace overdress and bands of brocade and pearls. She carries soft pink roses. Mrs. Hutchinson will appear in a pearl gray satin trimmed with pearls and fringe.

"An informal reception is to follow the service, the guests being received by Mrs. J. B. Hayes of Portland, Or., a sister of the bride, and Miss Margaret Paulson, a cousin of the bride. Little Misses Raphel Hutchinson and Marita Carr will assist in serving. The house is attractively decorated in pink and white, large palms and blooming plants making the rooms quite pretty.

"The bride is well known in Spokane. She was graduated from the local high school and has a host of friends here."

Mr. Kemp is a traveling salesman for F. A. Patrick & Co. and he and his bride are at home for the present with Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Reynolds, 1108 East Third street.

FORSYTH-DUNCAN.

Invitations Received for Wedding in East.

Invitations have been received from Mr. and Mrs. John Forsyth of Yonkers, N. Y., for the wedding of their daughter, Helen, to David Charles Duncan of this city. The event will take place Thursday, Jan. 25 at the Methodist church of Yonkers at 8 o'clock and will be followed by a reception at the Forsyth home. Mr. Duncan is building his home at Twenty-fifth avenue east and Sixth street and they will be at home there after May 1.

MISS EVERED HOSTESS.

Silver Tea for Silver Guild.

Miss Ida Evered of the Evered flats was hostess at a silver tea last evening at her home for the benefit of the Silver guild of St. Paul's Episcopal church. The evening was pleasantly spent with games for which the prizes were won by Miss Clewerth, Miss Thorn, Messrs. Hanft, Kreimer and Stoelting.

During th eevening musical numbers were given by Miss Evered, Mr. Kreimer, Mr. Stoelting and other guests. Pink and white carnations and roses were effectively placed in the dining room. The Silver guild now has a membership of thirty.

BIBLE CLASS.

Philathea Girls Will Meet.

Members of the Philathea Bible class of the First Presbyterian church will hold their regular monthly business meeting tomorrow evening at the home of Miss Fay Joy, 421 First avenue east at 8 o'clock.

A systematic study of the Bible will be taken up by the class this year. The Sunday school teachers' text book, "Preparation for Teaching," by Charles A. Oliver, will be used in the study. As an introduction to this study Mrs. C. M. Willson will give a talk next Sunday on "How We Got Our Bible."

Issue Invitations.

Invitations were issued yesterday for a dancing party to be given by the photo-engravers on Tuesday evening, Jan. 23, at the old Masonic temple hall. The cards were attractive little souvenirs of gold and cream. The committee in charge consists of F. H. Hamm, William E. Cumming, Norman M. Burrell, and James A. Abernathy. Flaaten's orchestra will play a well arranged progra of dance music.

Round Table.

The regular meeting of the Round Table of the Young Women's Christian association will be held tomorrow evening at the association building at 7:30 o'clock.

Joint Installation.

Companion court, Pride of Duluth, No. 208, I. O. F. and Court Duluth, No. 724, I. O. F., will hold a joint installation Friday evening at Steinway hall.

Art History Class.

The art history class of the Twentieth Century club will meet tomorrow at 10 o'clock in the library club room. Mrs. MacGregor will lead the discussion of Paul Potter and Albert Cuyp.

Installation Postponed.

The installation of officers of the Sons of Veterans and their auxillary which was to have been held tomorrow evening at Memorial hall has been postponed one week.

Club Tea.

The club tea, the regular monthly social event of the Twentieth Century club, was a delightful affair yesterday afternoon. A large attendance of club members enjoyed an informal impromptu program given by some of the guests, and tea was served. Poinsettia blossoms lent their holiday air to the tea table, and Mrs. G. A. Elder, hostess for the afternoon, served the tea, assisted by Mrs. F. W. De Vey, Mrs. Herbert Warren, Mrs. M. R. Baldwin and Mrs. M. H. Kelley.

Former Chorus Girl Gains Recognition of English Nobility

LADY ASHBURTON.

This is a new photograph of Lady Ashburton. She was Frances Belmont, a former friend of Evelyn Thaw. She stepped from the chorus of a Boston theater to a trip to London and thence into the ranks of British nobility. She has had a hard time in obtaining recognition by English society, but has at last won the victory. By dint of demure conduct and by giving up of all her friends and settling down to the peaceful life of an English land owner's wife, she has been officially recognized by society.

THE EVENING STORY

BAGGING AN OCTOPUS

By L. P. Copperthwite.

The following story of an encounter with an octopus is told by a ship's captain, who, in his earlier seafaring days, had done some salvage work in the dress of a diver. The adventure took place in connection with the salving of the barque Tom Jones, a rotten old hulk that had fouled a submerged barge and gone down with her cargo of tinned salmon off a rocky shore in nine fathoms of water.

"The worst part of the whole business," related the captain, "was to free the hatches from the mass of twisted and tangled iron rods that had come about them. I worked at this nearly a week, and then was ready to begin taking out the cargo. It was a slow job, sorting out cases in the blackness of that hold, and by the time I had sent from two to half a dozen loads, the pressure and the cold would make me break cover for the top to thaw out a bit.

"I had to work carefully, too, because the wash of the tide brought packing cases of all kinds round me, and if my air pipe had been caught there might have been a new diver drawing my pay at the end of the month.

"By the thirteenth day we had lifted all the cargo I could handle from the main hatch, and I began to work forward. I was just tipping a case toward the open net in which the ceses were hauled up, and which I had spread on the tilted inner side of the hull, when I realized that there was something moving near the open hatchway.

"I approached the opening cautiously and was about to peer out, when there came across the square of opaque light a long, wavering arm. I shrank back, then threw myself forward and half closed the sliding grating beneath the hatch. I didn't want any visitors, especially such when they happened to be visitors with eight arms of unlimited strength, directed by a sullen disposition.

"The year before one of our men had been caught under water, and had been held prisoner there until he was nearly dead with cold and fright. He had been caught at the foot of a pier by an octopus, which had wrapped one arm about the post and two or three more about him. The man didn't dare to signal to the boat above to be hauled up, for fear the devil fish might be strong enough to crush in his ribs or injure him internally. He simply sat through this game of patience which his pisitor had proposed, and he didn't know how long it would last, or whether it wouldn't end eventually by his suffocation. After nearly an hour of this nightmare, the terrible creature had gone as it had come.

"I paused and considered something that had just come into my dazed mind. Yes, perhaps it would work. I would call off the octopus through his very responsiveness to motion. There was a chance of my being able to reach the main hatch by traveling under decks, and perhaps I could entice him away from the vicinity of my airpipe and signal line long enough to let me escape. I began to feel my way back, each moment getting farther and farther from the amber shadows of the forward hatch.

"It was a perilous undertaking. Any second I might bring something tumbling down and sever my supply pipe. I groped cautiously along, however, and presently had the joy of feeling the ladder of the main hatch lying across my path. Under currents had drifted the outer door shut, but I shoved it open and jerked the grating across the aperture. A moment later a black, wavering shadow was thrown across the checker board of light and darkness formed by the crossed timbers of the grating, and I knew that my ruse had worked—thus far.

"I took a long time to my return trip, trying not to stir up the water nor to displace anything that would tell of my progress. Suddenly I stood still. There, before me, was that telltale silhouette. The octopus had beaten me to the goal. To say that I was utterly discouraged does not half express it. I had not let myself consider this possibility, but now I was cowed, beaten, broken spirited—the thing that threatened me was so utterly removed from anything I had ever fought against, was so diabolical and unyielding, that I felt my sinews rebelling against further effort. Already I was a thing of the past, sitting face to face with death.

"I don't know how it came to my head. I had been staring at the blotch on the floor that represented my net, when all of a sudden I began to wonder how the Japanese fisherman who sold devil fish on the water front caught the creatures. It seems strange that I had never heard. Snare them! I kept repeating the words and every time they came back they seemed to be speaking to some faculty that was asleep within me. Then I got up hurriedly. I would have jumped, but my rig was too heavy for that; but I got up and went over and picked up that net, and began working at the knot which held it to the manila line from the tackle above. I was fully alive and awake now; there was something to do. With a thousand needles stabbing my fingers and wrists, I continued to maul the knot, and after what seemed an interminable struggle, the rope was at last free in my hands.

"Feverishly I parted the strands for a distance of two feet up, then painfully tied a slip knot in one of them and approached the door with it in my hands. Cautiously I shoved the grating back a trifle, then retreated from the gap, for my adversary had reached for me with one of his five foot arms. Agtin I approached and extended the loop of manila. This time I stood my ground and watched the tentacle groping toward me. It touched the surface of my rubber suit, drew back quickly then advanced again.

"This was my chance. I slipped the noose well over the groping arm and yanked it tight. Instantly it disappeared, and the rope was jerked from my hands. Convulsively I signalled the men above to haul u pthe freight rope. There was a mighty commotion in the water, and I knew that I was alone, that my grim compaition was bound for the scow above, and that a gang of hungry and ill-tempered derrick men up there would deal with him. Two minutes passed. Then there was a peremptory signal on my line, 'Come up.' I shoved open the grating and signalled back. 'All right.' The next moment I was being hauled up and as I went I believe I was resolving that I would never again go below the surface."

WOULD IMPROVE OATKA PARK

Alderman Shartel Thinks City Is Neglecting an Opportunity.

Alderman Shartel of the Fourth ward, president of the council, believes that something should be done by the park board to improve the strip of three blocks in Oatka Beach division, which was dedicated to the city years ago.

He was investigating the matter at the city hall this morning and stated that he will probably bring it up at the council meeting next Monday night. He believes that some additional property should be acquired adjacent to that now in the possession of the city while it can be secured at a small price. With little expense he thinks that it could be made one of the most attractive small parks in the city.

WANTS ALIMONY PENDING SUIT

Judge Cant of the district court has ordered Arthur P. Mandelin to appear at a special term of court on Jan. 20 and show cause why he should not be made to pay his wife a suitable weekly amount until after the divorce action brought by his wife is tried.

Mrs. Gabriella M. Mandelin, who is suing for a divorce, claims to have no means of support and no money with which to carry on the action.

Upon her petition Judge Cant has forbidden the defendant to dispose of any of his property. The property is said to be worth about $5,000.

The husband is also restrained from interfering with his wife in any way. Mrs. Mandelin in her petition stated that he has a violent temper and she is afraid of him.

The petition and order were filed with the clerk of the district court this morning. The complaint in the action has not been filed.

L. B. HANNA HAS QUIT BANK HEAD

North Dakota Congressman Retires From Presidency of Fargo Bank.

Fargo, N. D., Jan. 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—At the annual meeting of the stockholders of the First National bank of Fargo this afternoon, E. J. Weiser was chosen president to succeed Congressman L. B. Hanna, who has been the head of the institution for a number of years. The change was made at the request of Mr. Hanna, who, in a letter to the stockholders, stated that as he was out of the city so much, he asked to be relieved from responsibilities.

The First National is the strongest banking institution in the two Dakotas. It has a capital and surplus of $250,000. It was merged with the Red River Valley National bank in 1906, and since that time Mr. Weiser, the new president, has been active in the management.

The other officers were elected as follows: Vice president, John S. Watson; cashier, Fred A. Irish; assistant cashiers, L. R. Buxton, G. H. Nesbit, Harold Sorenson; directors, Thomas Baker, Jr., Peter Elliott, L. B. Hanna, F. A. Irish, James Kennedy, R. S. Lewis, Peter Luger, W. O. Olsen, W. A. Scott, J. W. Smith, John S. Watson and E. J. Weiser.

DEPRESSION IS DUE TO GRAFT

Seattle Real Estate Man Says Pacific Coast City Is Quiet.

"Seattle is not enjoying the best of times now, and one of the reasons is graft," said Charles H. Murphy, a real estate man of the Washington metropolis, at the Spalding today.

"When they graded the hills away or cut in streets on the side of the hills, just as you might cut in streets on the sides of some of the hills around Duluth, they changed the contracts on some of the jobs ten times.

"The original contract would be let at a certain price and that contractor would sell the contract to some other contractor and up went the price. Only graft made this kind of buying and selling possible; but it went. The property owners paid the freight. Assessments doubled over the original estimate and the people paid. That is one of the reasons a city that enjoyed buoyant prosperity several years ago is at the present time feeling the temporary depression probably greater than any city on the Pacific slope.

"San Francisco again has some of the business that came knocking at the door of Seattle after the quake at Frisco. There is a general lull, but graft has been the principal foe against the prosperity of the city."

AN IMPORTANT MEETING.

Thursday evening at the Commercial club David R. Forgan, a Chicago banker and finance expert of country-wide fame, will talk on the banking and currency measures now before congress. This is a subject which vitally concerns every citizen of the country. The present banking and currency system is wretchedly inadequate, and a new one is needed. It is the duty of every citizen to neglect no opportunity to inform himself upon the situation and the proposed remedy, to the end that when action is taken it will be such as will safeguard fully the interests of the country and all its people. Thursday night's meeting will be of great value, and everybody who can should attend it. Mr. Forgan probably will advocate the Aldrich plan, and in order that there may be an enlightening discussion, it is to be hoped that those opposed to the plan will also be present.

THE FIRST THOUSAND.

The Herald is getting and publishing many interesting letters in the contest on the problem of how to make the best use of the first $1,000 which rich men have said is the hardest part of the journey to wealth.

Most of these replies are entirely theoretical. That's interesting, and it is to be expected that most of them will be of that character.

But The Herald would like also to hear more from those who can speak from experience. It seems to it that this is a chance for them to make their practical wisdom of wide use. It will help not only the young man whose inquiry suggested the contest, but it will help many other young men who are in his position or who hope to be when they have saved the rest of that thousand.

Some of these men may hesitate to write because they don't like people to think they are competing for the prizes. There is nothing to be ashamed of in that; but anyway we hope all contestants are thinking more of the good their advice may do others than they are of prize-winning, and we believe they are.

The replies now coming in are very interesting, and before the contest closes Feb. 1 there should be many more like them. But it would add enormously to the interest if men who speak from the viewpoint of attained success would contribute their advice. Some have already. There should be more of them.

THE COMMISSION PLAN IN OPERATION—18.

Burlington, Iowa, went under the commission plan April 4, 1910. In the first three months the city was put on a cash basis, its debt being refunded in serial bonds bearing 4½ interest. Before that the city was paying 6 per cent on its floating debt. Taxation was equalized, and besides shifting the burden to those who were escaping their share because others were compelled to pay it, the commission by economies reduced its total amount, at the same time accomplishing more and better work. The mayor and councilmen devote their entire time to the city's affairs, and things get done. All city bills are discounted, and the city gets interest on its daily bank balances. About $20,000 was saved to the taxpayers the first year.

May it not be possible that a plan of city government that would do these things for Burlington would help Duluth?

BLIND STUPIDITY.

In his New York speech last week Governor Woodrow Wilson pointed out that this country has deliberately handicapped itself in the world's markets by an absurd tariff policy and by an antiquated and inadequate banking system.

"A new tariff situation is before us," he said. "Our export trade in manufactures is, in spite of us, gaining very great volume. It has been a sort of inevitable overflow. And we must meet this new situation by liberalizing our methods of dealing with the world. We cannot readily open our gates of export unless we also open our gates of import. Our chief competitors are England and Germany. They enjoy at present a great advantage over us. England is supreme in the carrying trade and in the extent, serviceability and elasticity of her banking system. English sea captains and English bankers are the servants of English commerce everywhere, while we have no banking system which can help our merchants in like fashion, and no merchant marine at all. Germany, in like manner, has an admirable and most serviceable banking system, and has devoted her practical thoroughness to perfecting her selling methods."

The protective tariff has been not only a means of robbing the many for the benefit of the few, but it has also robbed this country of much of the foreign trade it should have enjoyed. We have been trying to buy as little as we could of the rest of the world; and yet we have expected the world to buy freely from us. No country can do the business it should do when its commerce is chained by tariff restrictions.

This country has no merchant marine because the tariff has killed it. Tariff duties that make shipbuilding in competition with other countries impossible still exist. A ship subsidy is the remedy proposed by the Republican party, which means heaping another burden of taxation upon the many to make for shipowners profits that are now impossible because of absurd tariff restrictions. The simple way, and the only way, to remedy this condition is to shatter the tariff shackles that prevent the growth of a new American merchant marine.

This country is on the road toward a banking and currency system that will enable it to take its proper place in the world market, and that will also safeguard domestic trade against absurd panics and periods of depressions due to the inelasticity and utter inadequacy of the present system—which is no system at all. No doubt the Aldrich plan is the nucleus of this new system. Maybe it is the system that will be adopted. Men of finance appear to be generally agreed that it will meet every need. There remains only to be settled the question whether it does not also contain new and cunningly devised mechanism for increasing the power of Special Privilege to exploit the people through control of the people's money. If it is made clear that it does not contain this possibility of mischief, then it will have practically unanimous approval and it will be adopted. If it is made clear that it does include this menace, then the danger will be removed by amendment and the measure adopted in its new form.

But the tariff—years of agitation and protest and condemnation notwithstanding — still stands just where it did; still blocks and balks American commerce, still keeps the United States without the merchant marine it needs to carry its products and to broaden its markets.

GOOD FOR BEMIDJI!

In Bemidji, birthplace of the Northern Minnesota Development association, which has done splendid work and which will yet give forth the fruits of its early promises, rises a new movement of meaning to Minnesota.

The Bemidji Commercial club, "firmly believing," as it says with manifest sincerity, "that Minnesota has been better endowed by nature with natural resources, fertility, pure water, pure air and healthy climate, beautiful lakes and places for recreation, as well as mineral and agricultural wealth than any other state in the Union or on the North American continent," has appointed a traffic committee to enlist the co-operation of the different transportation, industrial, agricultural, financial and commercial interests "in boosting Minnesota as the best state on the North American continent."

This is good work, and the spirit that puts fire into the announcement of it displays an earnestness and vigor that are going to make it count.

Of course Bemidji can't carry out this big purpose alone. It can do much, because its people are hustlers, and in earnest. But every other community in Northern Minnesota should join hands with it and get behind a big, broad, boosting movement that will bring Minnesota into her own. Bemidji deserves all possible encouragement and praise, and the best form of these testimonials would be for each community to do likewise.

The state is doing a little something toward encouraging immigration into the northern sections. It is very little indeed, however. The immigration bureau is poorly supplied with funds. The state, which owns most of the land to be offered to prospective settlers, does not even know itself what the character of this land is and has no businesslike method of marketing it. The branches of the state government which should be concerned in various divisions of the work of development were mostly created a long time ago; and as a whole they are sadly defective. There is an overlapping of authority in some places, and others, perhaps more vital, are reached by no authority at all. One of the first things to be done is to correlate the state's functions of conservation and development, and so make them into an effective whole. One of the next things should be a complete survey by the state of its landed possessions, so that it will be in a position to tell prospective settlers what it can offer them and to provide them with what they want.

The Northern Minnesota Development association, independent of state and local work, is maintaining an immigration bureau in Minneapolis in charge of Secretary Mackenzie of the association. It is in good hands and will give a good account of itself.

When the state is doing the right thing, and when all the communities follow the example of Bemidji and cooperate with each other, with the state and with the Northern Minnesota Development association, the campaign to settle Northern Minnesota will assume large proportions and will be irresistibly effective.

The Bemidji commitee will make the enlistment of the railroads in this work one of its principal objects. Though the railroads have been doing something, they haven't been doing enough for Minnesota. They have been too much interested—from the Minnesota viewpoint—in settlement farther west, where they own lands and where settlement will give them a longer and more profitable freight haul. However, it is to their interest that all the territory along their lines shall be settled as soon as possible, and it ought not to be hard to increase their interest in Minnesota's problem of development. The Soo road, which apparently has a closer interest in Minnesota development than the Hill lines, can be counted on to set an example in this respect that will be helpful.

THE NEED OF A HOSPITAL FARM.

The story told in the local columns of The Herald the other evening of the aged preacher who had been sentenced to twenty days in the county jail lends new emphasis to the need of a hospital farm—commonly called a "jag farm"—to be used in treating drunkards.

After a long life of usefulness, brooding over the death of his wife drew this veteran missionary into drink. His friends wanted to save him from drinking himself to death. There was no place to put him and no way to care for him; so they had to have him sent to jail for twenty days, during which he will be kept away from liquor, of course, and given a chance to get on his feet again.

The only thing that it was possible to do for this unfortunate old man was the very thing that ought not to be done to any man in his predicament.

Many a man has been confirmed in the habit of drinking to excess by a jail sentence. The pride that had kept in him some semblance of self-respect was crushed by this experience, and when he got out his first impulse was to seek relief in more drink. And so to the jail again, and again and again until finally he became a habitual violator of the law against drunkenness and a regular occupant of a cell in the city jail.

This is a blundering method, which seldom cures and almost always kicks its victims further down the hill.

If, on the other hand, there were a hospital farm to which such men could be sentenced, a place where good food, fresh air and outdoor work could have a chance at them, a different story could be told.

The old method of sending drunkards to jail makes them worse and then still worse, until finally they are useless charges on the community.

The new method of sending drunkards to hospital farms where they can be cured and strengthened, will make sober, industrious citizens out of them.

When a man who has thoughtlessly let drink carry him on gets into police court for the first time, it is a parting of the ways for him. The jail sentence too often condemns him to confirmed drunkenness and a fearful death following a useless life. The sentence to a hospital farm puts his feet back upon firm paths of industry, sobriety, self-respect and usefulness.

Better one hospital farm for drunkards than a thousand jails.

THE OPEN COURT

(Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their ideas about the topics of general interest, but discussions of sectarian religious differences are barred. Letters should not exceed 300 words—the shorter the better. They must be written on one side of the paper only, and they must be accompanied in every case by the name and address of the writer, though these need not be published. A signed letter is always more effective, however.)

SCHOOL BOARD INSURANCE.

To the Editor of The Herald:

The recent action of the school board in allotting the entire insurance on the schools of Duluth to five firms is in our opinion, a very unfair act. We can see no reason why the insurance on the schools of Duluth should not be divided among all the agents, giving at least a share to each. We understand it is so divided in other cities, and can see no reason for Duluth taking an exception. As far as the rate is concerned the five agencies which received the business cannot write this business at a lower rate than any other agent, for all companies have the same rate. We believe that this contract should be rescinded and that the insurance should be distributed among all of the agents of this city.

HAWKINS-WHITE AGENCY.

Duluth, Jan. 8.

Why We Drink Less.

New York Mail: The American people are almost cured of drunkenness.

Notwithstanding the breadth of this assertion, it is a fact.

A hundred years ago most Americans were confirmed dipplers, and to be sogged with drink at bedtime was the privilege and practice of a gentleman.

Fifty years ago inebriety had taken such a hold upon the American people that reformatory measures followed one another in about this order: The Washingtonians, Gough, Father Mathews, Reynolds, Murphy, the Sons of Temperance, Good Templars, Knights of Columbus, Temple of Honor and White Ribbons, all commendable means to wean people from family wrecking, nation-threatening drunkenness.

Today it is a positive disgrace to get drunk and a serious handicap to have a name for tippling.

This national transformation has taken place in practically the first century's history of our people.

It is a remarkable result for which there is a remarkable and patent cause.

It must not be wholly attributed to religion, education, social dictum, moral sensibility, or any theoretical arguments.

The mania for drink has been supplanted by a more mastering mania—personal ambition.

Ambition for achievement, position and power brooks no handicap; so Americans have made laws of deportment individually, and in cold-blooded concern for self the problem that neither prohibition, nor moral suasion, nor both, could solve has been adjusted in conserving regulation of personal lives, with no pretense to beneficence or humanitarianism.

This definite cause for diminution in drinking as an American habit is not popularly comprehended, nor conceded as the primal reason why drinking is less prevalent than in other countries, but it is the real reason.

To prove it—had not ambition been the stronger, the sodden practices of the sideboard of a hundred years ago and the debauching conviviality of fifty years ago would have triumphed.

That's the answer.

By the Impudent Bard.

Lady, lady, passing fair!
As I view your beauty rare,
Coldly radiant, like a star,
How I wonder what you are!
Your weight, 90 pounds, I guess—
All the rest of you is dress.
Some is hair and some is hat,
Fluff and feathers and all that!

Say, how many lives were paid
That you might be thus arrayed?
Your warm, furry coat reveals
Epitaphs of several seals;
Sable boa, sable muff—
Twelve small lives were not enough.
Egrets six were surely slain
For your headgear, smart and plain.

These your dainty hands are hid
In the skin of slaughtered kid.
Calfskin of the kind called "ooze"
Makes (they cost a life) your shoes.
Your hair—yours by purchase, please—
Was shorn from off a slave Chinese;
Silks and laces that you wear
Represent vast toil and care.

Your "complexion"—chemic bane!—
Cost a world of woe and pain.
Lady, that you may be gay,
Thousands throw their lives away.
Do you ever in your pride,
Count its cost in homicide?
Lady, lady, passing fair,
Do you know—and do you care?

Hands.

Thomas L. Masson in Lippincott's: Hands are going out. There was a time when they were used for various purposes. Now their principal occupation is to wear gloves in winter, and to swing all the year around.

What can the average man do or make with his hands nowadays? At one time he could make a fire, a coat, a boat, a sledge, a wagon. He could put up a house or chop down a tree. He could make a model for a machine, and the works of a clock—and they tell us that the old-fashioned clocks with long pendulums, all made by hand, are the only accurate timekeepers.

But hands are no longer employed to make things. In New York at the present time, about the only use they have is to talk with. In other parts of the country they are used as guides.

But as producers the hands are no longer of any consequence.

It is a great pity, but this is a machine-made world; not a hand-made one.

The Bring-Up of Mother.

Lippincott's: Martha heard some one speak of her mother's deficiencies in arithmetic—which are perfectly visible to the naked eye—so she came and sat down beside her gravely and began:

"Mother, take four from fourteen and how much does that leave?"

"Ten," proclaimed the parent, thinking she was teaching the little one her lesson.

"Now, three from eight—that's rather hard, you know."

"Yes, it's frequently gotten on my nerves, too — but it eventually leaves five."

"And four from five."

"One," exclaimed her elder from the proud pinnacle of perfect knowledge, thinking also what a nice teacher she was.

Martha rose with a sigh of relief from the region of her pinafore, and said kindly but with some condescension, "Well, now you have learned that much, anyway."

On a Main Traveled Road.

Harper's Weekly: Pottleton drew up at the side of the road and accosted a man sitting on top of a load of hay.

"I say colonel," said he, "are we on the right road to Claypool Junction?"

"Ya-as," said the farmer.

"How's the road, pretty good?" asked Pottleton.

"Fine," said the farmer. "We been twenty years wearin' them ruts through."

Her Desires Were Modest.

National Monthly: An old negro preacher did the honors, and the candidate for baptism was a coal-black negro woman. The preacher led his victim far out in the stream where she could be thoroughly immersed, and at the auspicious moment he cried, in a loud voice:

"Be stiddy, sistah, he stiddy, an' you'll come up whitah dan snow."

"O, parson," she exclaimed, "dat's askin' too much; a cream color'll do!"

A Misanthrope.

Chicago Record-Herald: There is no use wasting sympathy on a man who can't be happy with good health, good meals and good weather.

CZAR SMITH AND HIS "MAN OF DESTINY."

Cal Goodrich's Status.

Fergus Falls Journal: The St. Paul Dispatch has a story to the effect that when Attorney General Simpson wanted to be candidate for governor and wanted Ed Smith to give him a chance to run Cal Goodrich, president of the Twin City Rapid Transit company was present. The Dispatch does not say whether Mr. Goodrich was representing Mr. Simpson, or whether Mr. Smith was representing Mr. Goodrich. In any event Ed and Cal are two good men to have O. K. you when you want to run for a state office.

Smith Is Notorious.

Thief River Falls Times: Attorney General Simpson retired from public life, having resigned because Ed Smith refused to ask Governor Eberhart to resign. Smith is notorious. He is chairman of the state Republican central committee. He is in reality, the executive head of this great commonwealth. As one Northern Minnesota newspaper said in the fall of 1910, he is the core of a rotten apple. Smith's reasons for declining to make the request upon the chief actor in his "Punch and Judy" show was that he was an intimate friend of the governor and could not ask him to quit. Politics gave Minnesota Governor A. O. Eberhart—we've got to keep him. Politics gave Minnesota Attorney General Simpson—we've got to lose him by politics. Truly, politics "air a strange institooshun."

"Sinews of War" Aren't Votes.

Long Prairie Argus: The confidence with which Governor Eberhart has looked forward to a nomination and election is now understood. Attorney General Simpson's interview with E. E. Smith, chairman of state committee, left no doubt that the breweries were behind the governor. He has no doubt felt sure of the sinews of war and that lends confidence. We will see about this later.

Hard to Go Against the Interests.

Mora Times: Attorney General George T. Simpson says he decided to forego his ambition to be governor of Minnesota because he could not get the support of Ed Smith, the head of the state machine and representative of the big interests. Smith has promised to see that the present executive gets another term and could do nothing for our friend Simpson. Any candling for our friend Simpson. Any candidate who has the opposition of the machine, the brewery and other big interests of the state has a hard proposition and the attorney general felt that it would be too expensive an undertaking.

Smith's Backing.

Detroit Record: George T. Simpson, attorney general of Minnesota, is out in the papers with a real interesting interview as to why he resigned his lucrative political appointment. Of course every person in the state knew, as soon as Mr. Simpson's resignation was made public, that there was a "story" connected with it, but few hoped that they would ever have the pleasure of reading the story in the press. According to Mr. Simpson his resignation is due to the fact that E. E. Smith, chairman of the Republican state committee, refused to allow him to become a candidate for governor, or at least told him most emphatically that he could not have the support of the state organization so long as Adolph A. Eberhart was in the race. The story told by Mr. Simpson also shows that the present executive is practically dominated by his state chairman, and the interests he represents, all of which is no particular news to the state at large other than the assertion is being made by one of the fellows who has been "on the inside." Of course Mr. Smith is a powerful man; he has "powerful" backing, and Mr. Simpson learned this just in time to save his private reputation although he has to do it at the sacrifice of his public career. The story will hardly strengthen the governor in his campaign for re-election but its adverse effect will not be determined before the votes are counted next November.

Awakening Is Coming.

Virginia Enterprise: Eberhart considers himself a "man of destiny" and refuses to quit the field. And Ed Smith, who controls the Republican party in Minnesota and who looks after the control of the legislature by the interests, believes Eberhart is right. That bunch has an awakening coming, and it will show up about the time of the next general election.

Retribution to Come.

St. Peter Herald: George T. Simpson, who retired from the office of attorney general, made public an interview with the notorious Ed Smith, chairman of the Republican state central committee. Attorney General Simpson cherished an ambition to become governor of Minnesota, but gave up his gubernatorial aspirations when informed by the chairman of the committee that he must expect the opposition of the organization—that he was free to become a candidate for the nomination but must expect to fight the machine. His story bears all the earmarks of truth, and it exposes a condition of affairs which shows that Minnesota is as badly boss-ridden as Rhode Island or Wyoming. The most partisan Republican can have no reason to doubt the words of a man who has been a party leader. Perhaps they will hasten the retribution that is sure to come.

Need for Primary System.

Moose Lake Star-Gazette: Minnesota lost a good man Jan. 1 when Attorney General Simpson resigned. If we had been Attorney Simpson and wanted to be governor we would have gone to the people of Minnesota and not to Ed Smith. This brings you back to the fact that all offices in the gift of the people should be nominated under the primary system.

Strength and Skill.

Business: To cast a weight farthest; to vault a bar highest; to stick a bull downward between the shoulder-blades, clean to the heart—these things command applause.

To live a considered life; to do a good job today and a better one tomorrow; to meet your brother every time you meet anybody; to stand with your feet in the inevitable muck of convention and suck with your nostrils the high air of sane idealism—these things justify a man to his own conscience and before every decent tribunal.

It is a man's business to be strong and to be trained. Man is his own devil. When he is strong enough to whip himself all other enemies are as straw, and may be laid flat by the push of a knuckle. The real gymnasium is the one in which the muscles of the soul are made competent.

In the last analysis, material tasks are wrought by spiritual fingers; but even so, the flesh is not to be despised. The carcass itself is good while the soul stirs within.

So let us get both soul and carcass into an estate of strength and cleanliness. The big premiums go to skill, and skill is the first-born from the womb of the ideal. Skill is the child of passion—carried with patience, borne with pain, and suckled into stature through many toilsome days.

The great man is strong; the great man is skilled; not flawless, always human, but strong and skilled.

Not the Real Thing.

Lippincott's: From a city apartment little Jack was going for the first time to spend Christmas at his grandfather's farm. As he ran up the steps of the old house, his grandmother caught him up in her arms and put him down, rosy and laughing, before the great log fire in the living room.

"Isn't that fine, Jackie Boy," she said. "You don't have big log fires like that in New York, do you?"

The boy looked with wide-eyed delight at the huge logs as they blazed and crackled in the generous old fireplace, but he was staunchly loyal to his "six rooms and bath."

"It's nice, Grandma, but it's only an imitation gas log, isn't it? We have real ones in my house."

TWENTY YEARS AGO

Taken From the Columns of The Herald of This Date, 1892.

•••At a meeting of the Epworth leagus of the First Methodist church, the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, Henry Cable; first vice-president, Mrs. R. L. Scovell; second vice-president, Miss Edith Scovell; third vice-president, Calvin Butters; fourth vice-president, Miss Christie Williams; secretary, Miss Lucie Wiggins; treasurer, John Graham.

•••Miss May Hanson will leave on Jan. 15 for a two weeks' visit with her parents in Manistee, Mich.

•••Mrs. William Lockwood, who has been visiting here for several weeks with her sister, Mrs. Trainor, has returned to her home at Stillwater.

•••A committee has been appointed by the local branch of the Irish Federation of America to make arrangements for the reception of Dr. Fox, M. D., who is expected to be in Duluth at an early date.

•••H. D. King, a former merchant of West Duluth, accompanied by his family, left yesterday for Galesburg, Ill., where they will make their home.

•••J. P. Baker of the Benton Transportation company, Bismarck, N. D., has written a letter to Duluth parties regarding the building of a large grain elevator here by that company.

•••Stocks in the three Mesaba iron companies which are now actively in the market are selling at about the following figures: Mountain Iron, 60 to 62; Biwabik Mountain, 23 to 25; Cincinnati, 20 to 22. This is a remarkable advance for all three. Many of the other companies do not intend to sell any stock.

•••The report of the Booth Packing company shows that 2,600,000 pounds of fresh fish and 250,000 pounds of salted fish are handled through Duluth yearly.

•••The M. W. A. of West Duluth has installed the following officers: Dr. A. Forin, V. C.; E. J. Luther, A.; A. F. Rockwell, B.; J. S. Herrill, clerk; F. L. Kuhn, escort; T. Govett, guard.

•••S. N. Blount started last night on a two weeks' visit to the East.

•••Duluth Methodists, who are now building a fine $110,000 church, have a new idea on foot for the use of the property occupied by the old house of worship. They have an excellent corner on Second street and Third avenue west, and they propose building thereon a terrace of half a dozen or more dwellings, at a cost of about $35,000, the net profits of which shall be devoted exclusively to the furtherance of Methodist missionary work at home and abroad. The scheme is a new one for this section.

•••A. G. Covell and family of Sykeston, N. D., are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Klock at Lakeside for a few days.

WITH THE IMMORTALS.

The Anxiety of Noah.

John Kendrick Bangs in Lippincott's: It was the first day out, and Noah was standing on the upper deck, nervously sweeping the vast expanse of the waters with his eye.

"'Smatter, Pop?" said Shem, leaning against the rail beside his father. "Anything gone wrong?"

"I don't know, my boy," said the old gentleman. "But if the wind continues to blow in this direction, I'm afraid we'll land somewhere in the United States, and if that happens the duty on this menagerie of ours will bust me."

Whereupon, ringing for the Library Steward, the Skipper called for a copy of the latest tariff schedule, and spent the remainder of the morning in an anxious perusal of the same.

Casabianca's Consolation.

The boy was standing upon the burning deck whence all but him had fled.

"I guess I'm done for," he said as he glanced around him, "but there's one comfort; they'll never be able to say I had cold feet!"

Whereupon he went below gaily whistling that popular ballad,

"You needn't set up for me,
For I ain't a-comin' back."

Sir Walter's Good Fortune.

Sir Walter Raleigh had called to take a cup of tea with Queen Elizabeth.

"It was very good of you, Sir Walter," said her majesty, smiling sweetly upon the gallant knight, "to ruin your cloak the other day so that my feet should not be wet by that horrid puddle. May I not instruct my lord high treasurer to reimburse you for it?"

"Don't mention it, your majesty," replied Raleigh. "It only cost two and six, and I have already sold it to an American collector for eight thousand pounds."

A Moment of Triumph.

Browning had just finished his poem "Sordello."

"There, by George!" he ejaculated as he signed his name at the end. "If that hasn't got Henry James and the Sherman law skinned ninety-two ways at once in the line of periphrastic ambagiosity and nubiferous obfuscation. I'll go in for vitrified diaphaneity from this time on."

Charles the Second's Retort.

"Whatever he lacked in qualities of the heart," said Lord Clarendon, in discussing Cromwell with the king, "we must admit that he had a good head."

"Why should we not admit it?" said Charles, with a glittering eye. "He took my father's."

Not in the Life.

"All great men have their weaknesses, doctor," said Boswell, taking his fountain pen from his pocket, "and so I am going to ask you what you consider the most asinine thing you ever said."

"Boswell," replied Dr. Johnson, without a moment's hesitation.

The Novelists' Proclamation.

H. G. Wells in the Atlantic: We are going to deal with political questions and religious questions and social questions. We cannot present people unless we have this free hand, this unrestricted field. What is the good of telling stories about people's lives if one may not deal freely with the religious beliefs and organizations that have controlled or failed to control them? What is the good of pretending to write about love, and the loyalties and treacheries and quarrels of men and women, if one must not glance at those varieties of physical temperament and organic quality, those deeply passionate needs and distresses from which half the storms of human life are brewed? We mean to deal with all these things, and it will need very much more than the disapproval of provincial librarians, the hostility of a few influential people in London, the scurrility of the Spectator, and the deep and obstinate silences of the Westminster Gazette, to stop the incoming tide of aggressive novel-writing. We are going to write about it all. We are going to write about business and finance and politics, precedence and pretentiousness and decorum, and undecorum, until a thousand pretences and ten thousand impostures shrivel in the cold clear air of our elucidations. We are going to write of wasted opportunities and latent beauties, until a thousand new ways of living open to women and women. We are going to appeal to the young and the hopeful and the curnous, against the established, the dignified, and defensive. Before we have done, we shall have all life within the scope of the novel.

"Making the Best of Things."

Atlantic: There are several injudicious ways of making the best of things. One of them is illustrated by the humble young curate, pictured long ago in Punch, who protested when the bishop, his host, expressed doubts of an egg the curate was eating. "Oh, no, my lord; I assure you some parts of it are excellent." Fancy looking on the bright side of a bad egg! The effort was surely less ingratiating than the curate supposed. Indeed, this habit of seeing good in everything may become the most unendurable of virtues—as distressing as grim patience, which is a common and effective method of wearing out the mind. I like to remember the complacent old lady who said, when a friend reminded her that she had little trouble in her life, "Yes, but I've made the most of what I have had." She chose more wisely than the people who come exhausted out of their victories over circumstance. Wounds of the spirit are glorious only when the battle has been mighty.

The Old Beau.

Lippincott's: "Crabbed age and youth cannot live together," said Senator Davis, apropos of an unhappy divorce suit in Little Rock. "Whenever I hear of an old man marrying a young girl, I think of the Cupid story.

"'Cupid!' indignantly cried an old millionaire. 'Cupid would be powerless before such an iceberg as you, miss. Why, a score of Cupids, armed with a hundred arrows each, could find no vulnerable spot upon your heart of stone!'

"The young and beautiful girl who had refused to wed him tossed her head as she replied:

"'No, they couldn't—if they used an old beau to shoot with.'".

Suggesting Improvements.

Washington Star: "Does your boy Josh, take an interest in the farm?"

"He's beginnin' to," replied Mr. Corntossel. "He's been showin' me where we could have some dandy golf links an' how easy it would be to turn the barn into a garage."

How It Looked.

Washington Star: "You think she married him for his money?"

"Yes," replied Miss Cayenne. "It didn't seem to me as much like a wedding as like a speculation."

Salvation Army Will Open Soup Kitchen in West End.

Those Unable to Pay Nickel Will Be Fed Free.

The Salvation army will open a soup kitchen in connection with the hotel at Twelfth avenue west and Michigan street. The department will be in charge of Lieut. Sorenson. He will provide a meal consisting of soup, bread and coffee for five cents. Those who are not able to pay for the meal will be given the food free of charge and the department has announced that anyone wishing to contribute groceries, meats or cash to help the cause may do so by telephoning the army headquarters, 1202-1 West Michigan street.

The new hotel opened the first of November is constantly in operation and during this cold weather is filled every night. The prices for a night's lodging and baths are 15 and 25 cents, while those who are not able to pay anything for their rooms are given their lodging free until some kind of work is found for them. "The rooms are filled every evening," said Capt. Krause yesterday, "and the Army could easily find fifty more lodgers nightly if we had enough rooms."

The local department is daily trying to obtain all the old clothes possible to help the many poor families without necessary clothing. The wagons will call at any home in answer to a telephone call to headquarters.

The new home has widened the scope of the work and now gives employment to a number of men in return for which they receive their room and board free with a small compensation. "This plan," said Capt. Krause, "is to help the man who is out of a job and tide him over until he gets something to do." The large basement of the building is given over to the paper industry which Capt. Krause started in the old quarters at 1606 West Superior street. About twenty men are given employment collecting waste paper from the business houses and packing it for shipment.

WILL DISCUSS LIGHTING BONDS.

City Attorney Bert Fesler and Roy Hood will be the principal speakers this evening at an open meeting to be held at the Emerson school by the Fifth Ward Improvement club. The subject for the evening is the bond question and the club has extended an invitation to all the residents of the West end of the city.

Members of the club are interested in the municipal light question and this is the second meeting held by the club to consider the proposed bond issue. The club will hear both sides of the subject before the election, and it is probable that the electric company will have representatives at the next meeting of the club.

The club will also take up the third charter amendment at the meeting and one of the committee representing the Twenty-seventh avenue property owners will take part in the discussion. The club will appoint a committee following the addresses to work with the special committee of property owners. Officers recently elected who will assume their new duties for the first time this evening are: D. C. Moore, president; A. C. Parson, vice president; and W. L. Pierce, secretary-treasurer.

Miss Ella Johnson, 2615 West Third street, left yesterday for Oberlin, Ohio, where she is a student at the Oberlin college.

ASSAILANT OF COLLEGES DIES

R. T. Crane's Death Comes Shortly After New Attack on Schools.

Chicago, Jan. 9.--Richard T. Crane, head of the Crane company and foe of universities and higher educational institutions, died at his home last night after a three-day illness of grip. The death of Mr. Crane was sudden,as his illness had not been considered serious. A casual examination by physicians led to the belief that he had suffered from an attack of heart disease. He had just finished a light dinner.

Nearly 80 years old, Mr. Crane, who had been without the advantages—or disadvantages, as he characterized it—of training in universities, and had worked his way to the head of a large iron working company, contended all his life that the college and the university was a useless fixture, and that the money devoted to higher education could be spent more profitably in extending industrial education and aiding persons who had met with adverse fate.

Had Made New Attack.

His demise occurred within a few hours of the issue of his last attack on schools—an attack called forth by repudiation of his theories by college professors and presidents. In it he renewed his assertion that college graduates were ill-equipped for earning a living and that the majority of them could not command the salary of a skilled mechanic. Culture, and not livelihood or the means of earning it, was the only purpose he could discover for the existence of colleges.

Only yesterday concluding a detailed announcement of the result of his investigation of the work accomplished by graduates of the University of Illinois, Mr. Crane said:

"The farther I go into this education question, the more firmly am I convinced that I was right when I took the ground some years ago that this university, as well as all others, ought to be burned down, and that the money spent on them should be expended where it would do some good."

The statement of Mr. Crane is in the nature of an answer to articles which refuted statements made by him in that technical school graduates were not in demand by business men.

Looked Up Grnduates.

Mr. Crane detailed efforts made by him to learn the employment and remuneration of civil engineering graduates, electrical engineers, graduates from the academic department, and the school for business training and also the agricultural school. He declared that he found only a small percentage of the civil engineers working for representative firms, and they for a "remuneration of about one-third of that commanded by a skilled mechanic."

Similar conditions he asserted, prevail in the case of the graduates from other departments. The agricultural department was also scored by Mr. Crane, and in this connection he wrote:

"Fertilization is the most important subject before the farmer today, but the university has done nothing more than barely touch the surface. The university-trained farmer is not in demand by farmers generally; in fact, they would not care to have one of these men even at the price of common labor."

In compiling the answer, Mr. Crane corresponded with all the graduates that he could reach whose names were given by the university authorities.

IN THE DAY'S WORK AT WASHINGTON

Avoit Pension Data.

Washington, Jan. 9.—Consideration of the McCumber pension bill, which will be offered in the senate as a substitute for the Sherwood bill passed in the house, has been delayed awaiting statistics from the pension bureau.

Heyburn Scores Child Labor Bill.

Senator Borah of Idaho, in a speech in the senate, said the bill creating a child labor bureau in the department of commerce and labor was intended especially for juveniles of the larger cities, where many "hive and fester and steal and starve." He said the United States could as properly protect children as livestock. Senator Heyburn denounced the project as "pestiferous interference" under which Abraham Lincoln's parents "would not have been permitted to bring him up." Mr. Heyburn said that the bureau would cost $3,000,000 annually and that "pretty soon everybody in the United States would be drawing a salary." Mr. Borah, defending the bill, referred to Mr. Heyburn as a "combination in restraint of knowledge." The measure was not acted upon.

Sherwood Attnckes Pension Estimate.

Representative Sherwood of Ohio, whose so-called dollar-a-day pension increase bill, recently passed by the house and is pending in the senate committee, attacked Secretary of the Interior Fisher's estimate of $75,000,000 as the probable annual cost to the government if the bill became law. In a speech in the house, Mr. Sherwood declared the secretary's estimate was "too high by $25,500,000." "I can prove it from their own records," he said.

Arbitration Treaties Discussed.

The arbitration treaties were broached in the senate when Senator Cummins sought adoption of a resolution asking the president to ascertain whether Great Britain and France would consent to a provision requiring the parties to the treaties to submit to arbitration all justifiable controversies with other countries regardless of whether they had treaties with them or not. Senator Burton objected to immediate action. The resolution went over until Mr. Cummins can address the senate.

Andrew Carnegie Subpoenaed.

Andrew Carnegie, the iron master, will appear under a subpoena before the house "Steel trust" investigating committee next Wednesday morning. He so telegraphed to Chairman Stanley of the committee after having once politely replied to the committee that his counsel advised him not to appear. Chairman Stanley admitted that it had been necessary to subpoena Carnegie as a witness.

To Encourage Aviation.

Two bills designed to encourage aviation in the United States army and to reward the officers and enlisted men who engage in the art of flying, were introduced in the house. One, by Representative Hardwick of Georgia, would double the pay and allowances of officers to be detailed for aviation duty, and limits to thirty the number of officers to be detailed for such duty. Representative Sharp of Ohio proposes to advance officers one grade in rank and double their pay and allowances for aviation service.

Bill on Cost of Living.

Senator Crawford introduced a bill to provide for the appointment by the United States of members of an international commission to investigate the general increase in the cost of living. The measure would provide for a general inquiry. It is in line with suggestions at the recent economic congress in this city.

ATTORNEY GENERAL MILLER UPHOLDS PARDON BOARD.

Grand Forks, N. D., Jan. 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—That the North Dakota board of pardons was justified in granting pardons to the number of prisoners who were freed and who were given commutations of sentences at the recent session, is the opinion of Attorney General Andy Miller, a member of that board, who contends that such criticism as has arisen has been the result of ignorance of the actual conditions.

"The showings made before the board of pardons in every case was complete," said Attorney General Miller, "and we granted pardons and commutations of sentences only in cases where conditions were such as to make it seem, to us, that our course was justifiable."

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST

LADD AFTER POOR CREAM

North Dakota Pure Food Commissioners Trying to Stop Its Sale.

Certain Brands of Pop Bottle Stoppers Are Also Put Under Ban.

Agricultural College, N. D., Jan. 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—Handlers of "decomposed cream," as Prof. E. F. Ladd of the state pure food commission terms it, will have a hard time in North Dakota during the year of 1912, as there will be a hot fight made against its sale.

That there is a certain condition attained by some cream which places it in the "decomposed" class is the contention of the pure food authorities, and they will wage their campaign on the ground that it does not conform with the pure food laws of either the state or nation.

Such cream, the department head says, often times is shipped out of the state, and it is in such cases that the greatest difficulty is experienced in getting results.

Patent Stopper Hit.

The department has also issued an order against the use, in this state, of certain pop bottle corks, declaring them to be insanitary. The department warns all dealers in pop to avoid the patent stopper in question, and promises arrests.

One arrest was made at Grand Forks last week of a merchant who was engaged in handling an adulterated maple cream product.

DETAINS TRAIN FOR MARRIAGE

Great Northern Passenger Conductor Accomodates Couple at Rugby.

Rugby, N. D., Jan. 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—Cupid and a Great Northern passenger conductor worked hand in hand here when Axel B. Carlson of Souris, N. D., and Miss Jeanette K. Rosenquist of Topeka, Kan., were married, George Else, the conductor, made possible the completion of cupid's work, by holding his train here eleven minutes while the couple got married at the residence of Rev. I. D. McBain, nearby.

Miss Rosenquist arrived from Topeka to meet the groom, who was waiting in this city. It was necessary that the groom return to souris the same day, and they wished to be married in Rugby, and this was made possible when Conductor Else held his train long enough to allow for the ceremony.

DRINKING CUPS BARRED

From Public Buildings By Wisconsin State Board of Health.

Madison, Wis., Jan. 9.—The state board of health has issued new rules, one of which makes the prohibition of drinking cups apply to all public buildings. An opinion on the term "public buildings" has been asked of the attorney general.

Another rule requires the minimum period for quarantine for scarlet fever shall be three weeks and school children with the disease must remain out of school for six weeks.

GOVERNMENT TAKES HAND.

Interstate Commerce Commission to Probe Great Northern Wreck.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 9.—With a view probably to securing evidence for prospective legislation to compel steel makers to manufacture rails under government supervision, the interstate commerce commission is conducting an investigation of the wreck of the Great Northern railroad's "Oregonian" coast train near Sharon, N. D., recently, in which five persons were killed and a score or more injured.

The commission already has demanded from the railroad company the broken rail, and this, together with a photograph of it taken by an examiner of the commission, will be shipped to Washington. Pieces of the steel already have been sent there.

This is said to be the first time that the commission has taken such a step in the Northwest. It is said by railroad men here to presage a series of investigations of railroad wrecks in the Northwest due mainly to broken rails.

LATER STATE FAIR NOW BEING URGED

Northern Minnesota Men Claim Fair Is Too Early to Exhibit Products.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—One of the subjects of importance to be thrashed out by the board of managers who are holding their annual session today is the demand from Northern Minnesota that the date of the fair be made later in the year.

Yesterday C. F. Mahnke of Moose Lake and George J. Silk of Pine River, a committee from the Northern Minnesota Development association, appeared before the board requesting them to take action in changing the date of the state fair. The reason given by the committee was that the fair is held at such an early date that the counties of the northern portion of the state cannot compete on an equal basis with the counties of the southern portion from the fact that the crops are not fully matured.

In its petition to the board Mr. Mahnke said that the committee had no desire to quarrel with the board but only wanted justice done to the northern counties and asked them to consider the matter and advise the committee at an early date of their decision. He stated further that unless favorable action was taken the matter would be carried to the floor of the convention of the annual meeting today. The northern counties are determined to get recognition in this matter and will do their utmost to get for Northern Minnesota what is rightfully theirs and which has been denied for many years. W. R. Mackenzie, secretary of the Northern Minnesota Development association, was an interested spectator during yesterday's hearing.

Present Annual Reports.

Annual reports will be presented today by President Glotfelter, Secretary J. C. Simpson and Treasurer E. L. Mattson. C. P. Craig, member of the board from Duluth, will deliver an address on "Why I Believe in the State Fair."

To Elect Friday.

The meeting will continue in session until Friday afternoon, when officers will be elected. No opposition to Mr. Glotfelter has developed.

Eli S. Warner will succeed Reuben Warner as the St. Paul member of the board. Mr. Glotfelter, E. J. Stilwell, Minneapolis, Robert Crickmore, Owatonna, and Mr. Craig probably will all be re-elected.

FAMILY ROUTED OUT BY FLAMES

Aged Woman Badly Frozen While Seeking Shelter From the Cold.

Cumberland, Wis., Jan. 9.—(Special to The Herald.) — The farm house and contents owned and occupied by A. E. Wilday, six miles west of here, burned to the ground Sunday night, entailing a loss of $800 with no insurance.

Mrs. Wilday, aged 80 years, was badly frozen, while two of the Wilday children had their feet and hands frozen as the fire occurred at night and the occupants escaped the fire in their night clothes and had to stand around outside with the weather 40 deg. below zero, until the neighbors came to their rescue.

ROBBED OF $1,200 WHILE WORSHIPING.

Cumberland, Wis., Jan. 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—While Carl Olson, a farmer living west of here, was attending services Sunday, someone broke open his trunk at his home and stole $1,200 that he had hidden inside. No clew has been obtained.

KNOWN IN GRAND FORKS.

Indicted California Labor Leader Once Lived in North Dakota.

Grand Forks, N. D., Jan. 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—Olaf Tveitmoe, the California State Federation of Labor official indicted with several others for alleged complicity in the dynamiting plots, had an unusually interesting record while a resident of Grand Forks. He dropped from sight here after promoting a "co-operative boarding house" plan, and into which several young men of Grand Forks invested no small amount of cash. Tveitmoe was engaged while here as a printer, and was at one time employed with the Normanden Publishing company.

Tveitmoe was exceptionally well known by a large number of the prominent Norweglans of the city, but they were not aware of his whereabouts until the time of his arrest.

WOOLEN MILL PROSPERS.

Fergus Falls Plant Declares Large Cash and Stock Dividends.

Fergus Falls, Minn., Jan. 9.—The annual meeting of the Fergus Falls Woolen Mill company just held developed a prosperous condition. It was decided to add to the plant.

A cash dividend of 25 per cent was declared on the common stock for the year, together with a 20 per cent stock dividend.

The company is about to issue $10,000 in new stock for the new building, and the stock dividend means that stockholders will be allowed to take new stock at a discount of 20 per cent.

The officers of the company were all re-elected as follows: President, I. J. Boyum; vice president, Andrew Boyum; secretary, A. G. Anderson; treasurer, C. O. Utne. These, with J. O. Barke, O. J. Fossen and M. H. Stang constitute the board of directors.

BLACKDUCK MAN SEEKS DAMAGES

Starts $5,000 Suit Against M. & I. Road for Recent Wreck Injury.

Bemidji, Minn., Jan. 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—Peter Ertz of Blackduck is the first one of those injured in the Minnesota & International wreck at Farley a week ago, to bring action against the company for damages, having filed suit in district court and alleging that he should receive $5,000 as a result of his injuries.

Huston Byrd of Pinville, W. Va., seriously injured and whose life at one time was despaired of, is reported at the hospital here as having progressed so far that his recovery is assured. B. Leach and wife of Lorimer, Minn., left last night for Minneapolis, but the other ten injured persons still are at the hospital.

NORTHERN CITY OPENS NEW HOTEL

Rex Hotel of International Falls Costing $75,000 Built By Duluth Concern.

International Falls, Minn., Jan. 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—The beginning of the year 1912 will be remembered here for years as it marked the opening of the new Rex hotel, one of the finest hostelries in Northern Minnesota, first-class in every way and representing an outlay of $75,000. The building has sixty guests' rooms. It was erected by and is the property of the Duluth Brewing company, and occupies a central location in the business section. It is 65 by 100 feet, three stories high, and is built of cream-colored pressed brick, with trimmings of red. Its architecture throughout is pleasing to the eye, and its interior finishing being of marble, tiling and stucco, and its general plan modern in every particular.

BREN LOSES DEMURRER.

Accused Ex-Cashier of University Must Go to Trial.

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 9.—The demurrer of J. D. Bren, former cashier of the University of Minnesota, accused of embezzling about $13,000 from the university and failing to turn over public funds to the state was overruled in the district court here yesterday afternoon. Bren's trial is scheduled to begin Feb. 13.

The demurrer asked the quashing of the indictment alleging that the charges were not sufficiently specific.

SAME PRICE SCALE

For Rich or Poor Patients, Says Milwaukee Judge.

Milwaukee, Wis., Jan. 9.—That the cost of a surgical operation should not be put at a high figure because a physician thinks he has a wealthy patient who can afford to pay almost any price, is the decision of Judge M. S. Sheridan, of probate court. Judge Sheridan holds that the scale of prices for operations should be the same, whether a poor man or a millionaire has to foot the bills.

OTTER TAIL COUNTY TO BUILD SANITARIUM.

Fergus Falls, Minn., Jan. 9.—The county commissioners of Otter Tail county Monday appropriated $8,000 to begin the erection of a county tuberculosis sanitarium. Further appropriations will be made as soon as required. A sanitarium committee, consisting of Dr. O. M. Haugen of this city, O. J. Morrison of Pelican Rapids, and T. A. Banstad of Battle Lake, was appointed to take charge of the work of selecting a site and erecting the first building.

Baby's Voice

Every woman's heart responds to the charm and sweetness of a baby's voice, because nature intended her for motherhood. But even the loving nature of a mother shrinks from the ordeal because such a time is regarded as a period of suffering and danger. Women who use Mother's Friend are saved much discomfort and suffering, and their systems, being thoroughly prepared by this great remedy, are in a healthy condition to meet the time with the least possible suffering and danger. Mother's Friend is recommended only for the relief and comfort of expectant mothers; it is in no sense a remedy for various ills, but its many years of success, and the thousands of endorsements received from women who have used it are a guarantee of the benefit to be derived from its use. This remedy does not accomplish wonders but simply assists nature to perfect its work. Mother's Friend allays nausea, prevents caking of the breasts, and in every way contributes to strong, healthy motherhood. Mother's Friend is sold at drug stores. Write for our free book for expectant mothers.

DAKOTA BRIEFS

Fargo, N. D.—That unusual interest is being taken in the Northwestern Democratic get-together banquet conference is shown by the fact that over 400 have written for information as to rooms and arrangements for the banquet. W. P. Porterfield, chairman of the finance committee, is issuing banquet tickets at $2 per plate.

Jamestown, N. D.—Bailey W. Fuller, aged 66, one of the best known men in the state, died Saturday. Mr. Fuller served in the North Dakota senate from Stutsman county for ten years. He was mayor of Jamestown for several terms. He was born at Underhill, Vt., and had been a resident of Jamestown since 1881. Before coming to North Dakota he served as a member of the Vermont legislature.

Fargo, N. D.—B. F. Ashelman, local manager of the National Cash Register company, has received a signal honor in being made a member of the 100 Point club of the big manufacturing plant. Mr. Ashelman left yesterday for Dayton to attend a meeting of the big organization, which comprises only those men who make 100 points a month on the reckoning scale at the home offices.

Bismarck, N. D.—A decision of the supreme court handed down Saturday holds the articles of war of the United States do not govern the militia or national guards of the state in times of peace and hence the judgment of the court martial in the case of Brigadier General T. H. Poole, retired, is null and void because in excess of jurisdiction.

Grand Forks, N. D.—W. H. Carnathan, formerly a resident of Gilby, but more recently a resident of Leeds, Benson county, died at his home in that city Friday. He had been ill only a short time. Mr. Carnathan, when a resident of Gilby, was engaged in the blacksmith business with his brother, Charles Carnathan, now a resident of Canada.

Dead Lake, N. D.—Deputy Sheriff Thomas Lonnevik has returned from Williston with Leo Scott in custody. Mr. Scott is accused of being implicated in the theft of Lieu Elliot's overcoat and has just completed a term at Williston for stealing another coat.

Bismarck, N. D.—The North Dakota Socialists will nominate their candidates for election this year by petition. This is for the reason that under the North Dakota law the Socialists will not participate in the primaries, not having secured sufficient votes at the last election.

Minot, N. D.—Peter Hvedsen, proprietor of the Waverly hotel, was bound over to the district court by Judge N. Davis on the charge of violating the liquor laws. Clarence Parker was arrested by the sheriff on the charge of leasing a place for gambling. Mr. Parker appeared before Judge Davis and put up a bond guaranteeing that he will appear for trial.

WILL CONDEMN LAND FOR FAIRMONT PARK ADDITION

Council Votes to Proceed With West Duluth's Pet Project.

New Gas Contract With the Zenith Furnace Company Is Approved.

Following a lengthy discussion in which most of the aldermen and a number of West Duluth citizens participated, the council last evening decided by a vote of 12 to 2 to proceed with the condemnation of the proposed addition to Fairmont park, whereby the city may acquire about 104 acres of land partially submerged between Sixty-third and Sixty-ninth avenues west.

The resolution follows charter requirements and directs the board of park commissioners to proceed with the condemnation. This does not make it obligatory upon the park board to take all the property named in the description, but gives the board an opportunity to exercise its best judgment. The two votes against the proposition were cast by Aldermen Bergsrom and Hector.

The general opinion expressed was that the city ought to have the property and that no more favorable opportunity than the present will offer itself to secure it. It was pointed out that Fairmont park will be in the center of a thickly populated district and that too much ground cannot be secured for a breathing spot. There was considerable difference of opinion as to the price which the city would pay for the ground. Several well-informed residents of the western end of the city declared the belief that the lots can be purchased very reasonably now, but they were not sure that this condition would be true in the future. They stated that if the matter should go to the courts they did not think that the real estate men interested there would be able to collect anywhere near the price which has been placed on the land, characterizing the values as speculative.

The West Duluth men who strongly urged the condemnation were W. B. Getchell, Dr. I. T. Burnside, F. H. Martin, James Foubister, Lieut. Charles Wilcox, A. G. Macauley, David Sang, Thomas Olafson and J. A. Scott. They attended the council meeting in a body, Dr. Burnside acting as chairman of the delegation.

The council approved the contract which has been entered into with the Zenith Furnace company by the water and light board to supply the city with gas for ten more years. The situation was explained by L. B. Manley, a member of the board. He explained that under a former contract the company was bound to construct fifteen new ovens, under a penalty of $3 a day, but that a new process has been discovered whereby the capacity of the present ovens can be greatly increased. He said that the company is planning to spend about $5,000 a year to extend the use of gas, and that as the city retails it, the city will benefit from the added consumption.

• • • •

Alderman Bernard introduced a resolution calling upon the street car company to operate large cars on the Piedmont avenue line. Alderman Hogan added an amendment asking the same consideration for the line on Duluth Heights. The resolution passed without opposition.

The board of public works was directed to advertise for bids for the construction of the new jail at New Duluth, following a report from the board that the plans would be approved by the state board of control. The conference committee levied $5,000 for the purpose.

The park board sent in a request for the issuance of $50,000 of park bonds under the special legislative act. The matter was referred to the committee on harbors, parks and roads.

An ordinance giving the West Duluth Land company the right to use part of Lesure street, in the West Duluth mill district, for railroad purposes had its first reading.

Mary Veitch filed notice of a personal injury claim for $15,000. She alleges that she sustained a fractured leg and was otherwise hurt Dec. 5 last while coasting at Eleventh avenue west. It is claimed that the sled hit an obstruction in the street, for which the city was responsible.

• • •

A petition was received for the construction of a sanitary sewer in West Fourth street between Thirty-eighth and Forty-first avenues. A petition was received for temporarily grading Ninth street from Seventh avenue east to Chester park.

• • •

The city engineer was directed to prepare an estimate of the cost of grading Third avenue east from Mesaba avenue to Fifteenth street and thence along the most practicable route to a connection with the Swan Lake road.

DEMOCRATS JOIN HANDS

Preach Peace and Unity at Jackson Day Feast in Washington.

Nearly 1,000 Cheer Wilson and Other Speakers at Dinner.

Washington, Jan. 9.—Democratic leaders of the country at the Jackson day dinner here last night urged their followers to stop fighting each other and assail the common enemy, the Republicans, with a united front. Governor Wilson of New Jersey, Speaker Champ Clark, W. J. Bryan, W. R. Hearst, J. W. Folk and others who have differed in the past, joined in a unanimous plea for harmony and predicted that political victory would follow. It was a tumultuous dinner, in which prospective candidates for the presidential nomination shared the honors of the occasion.

Senator Atlee Pomerene of Ohio, speaking for Governor Judson Harmon, gave a dell to Mr. Bryan. The Ohio senator denied the charge that Governor Harmon was too friendly with the interests, and said that 100,000 plurality in the last election hurled the accusation in the teeth of those who made it. He said the charge had been made in Ohio, where the governor was known and had been elected. The embarrassment was dispelled by a facetious speech by Senator Taylor of Tennessee who followed.

Nearly 1,000 Present.

Nearly 1,000 leading Democrats from all sections of the country were present.

Senator O'Gorman of New York, the toastmaster, had at his right Champ Clark of Missouri, speaker of the house, one of Missouri's aspirants for the presidential nomination. To the right of Mr. Clark was Alton B. Parker of New York, defeated candidate of the Democracy in 1904. Beside Mr. Parker sat Senator John W. Kern of Indiana, former candidate for vice president, who appeared as the champion of Governor Thomas R. Marshall, the Hoosier aspirant for the highest honor of the coming Democratic convention.

To the left of the toastmaster sat Norman E. Mack, chairman of the Democratic national committee and at his left was Mr. Bryan. Between Mr. Bryan and Governor Woodrow Wilson of New Jersey, sat Senator Newlands of Nevada. At Governor Wilson's left was Joseph W. Folk of Missouri, who received the indorsement of his state committee for presidential honors. Next was Senator Pomerene of Ohio, who appeared as the representative of Governor Harmon.

Long Cheers for Wilson.

Governor Woodrow Wilson was received when he arose to speak, with cheers prolonged for many minutes. The governor of New Jersey discussed the tariff and other issues before the country, but his reference to the currency question awakened the greatest interest.

"The country," said Governor Wilson, "will not brook any plan which concentrates control in the hands of the bankers, because it knows that the banks are tied in by a thousand enterprises, and by interests in many intricate ways. The outside public must in some thorough and effective way be put in a position to keep its credits and its financial opportunities free and untrammeled. The bankers may have the highest and purest intentions, but no one class can comprehend the country; no one set of interests ca safely be suffered to dominate it."

Harmon at Columbus.

Columbus, Ohio, Jan. 9.—Governor Harmon appeared unexpectedly at the Jackson day banquet in this city late last night upon his arrival from New York, and made the first direct public reference to his presidential candidacy. Previously a letter from the governor had been read.

In mentioning his presidential candidacy, Governor Harmon declared that he would be less than human if he failed to appreciate the work of his friends in his behalf, and that he could not help doubting at times his own fitness for the responsibilities of the presidency.

"Thank God the past is secure," said he. "I am deeply grateful that I should have been chosen to right some of the wrongs from which we have suffered in Ohio."

In closing he said:

"When you mention me in connection with the presidency, I know our administration has merited the confidence of the people, and whatever man will represent the Democratic party in Washington, he must set himself to work for the abolition of special privilege. That's what Democracy means."

The governor was given a great ovation.

"PRETTY FIRE" PROVES TO BE CHILD'S CLOTHES.

Des Moines, Iowa, Jan. 9.—Playing with matches nearly cost 3-year-old Harry Hatton his life. His young playmates ran to his mother in the kitchen exclaiming: "Come and see the pretty fire, mama." The mother found the clothes of the child in flames. The fire was extinguished, but the little one was badly burned about the face and arms. Physicians say he will recover.

WILL NOT TESTIFY; GIRL IS FINED $1,700.

Chicago, Jan. 9.—Miss Hazel Hogan, who last week was sent to the county jail by Judge Honore of the criminal court for refusing to testify in a case in which she was the complaining witness, again was hauled before the court and again defied the judge or anyone else to make her testify. She was fined $1,700.

Bricklayers in Session.

St. Joseph, Mo., Jan. 9.—The convention of the Bricklayers', Masons' and Plasters' international union of North America is holding a biennial session here.

PIMPLES ON FACE CAUSED GREAT DISFIGUREMEMT

For Three Long Years, Suffered Great Deal. Cuticura Soap and Ointment Brought Marvelous Results. In Few Weeks Cured Completely.

1015 W. 20th Place, Chicago, Ill. — "I was troubled with acne for three long years. My face was the only part affected, but it caused great disfigurement, also suffering and loss of sleep. At first there appeared red, hard pimples which later contained white matter. I suffered a great deal caused by the itching. I was in a state of perplexity when walking the streets or anywhere before the public.

"I used pills and other remedies but they failed completely. I thought of giving up when nothing would help, but something told me to try the Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I sent for a Cuticura Booklet which I read carefully. Then I bought some Cuticura Soap and Ointment and by following the directions I was relieved in a few days. I used Cuticura Soap for washing my face, and applied the Cuticura Ointment morning and evening. This treatment brought marvelous results so I continued with it for a few weeks and was cured completely. I can truthfully say that the Cuticura Remedies are not only all, but more than they claim to be." (Signed) G. Baumel, May 28, 1911.

Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment do so much for skin eruptions, poor complexions, red, rough hands, and dry, thin and falling hair, and cost so little that it is almost criminal not to use them. Sold by dealers everywhere. Liberal sample of each mailed free, with 32-p. book. Address, "Cuticura," Dept. T, Boston. Tender-faced men should shave with Cuticura Soap Shaving Stick.

WHITE EARTH LAND FRAUDS

Success of Suits Means Recovery of Lands Worth $2,000,000.

Timber Valued at $1,755,000 Also Involved in the Cases.

FROM THE HERALD WASHINGTON BUREAU.

Washington, Jan. 9.—(Special to The Herald.) — In reporting upon the White Earth situation, Indian Commissioner Valentine says in his annual report, made public today:

"Immediately after original discoveries by a special agent of the Indian office, the department, in the summer of 1909, sent a United States Indian inspector, together with the special agent, to investigate further the affairs of the White Earth Indians, due to the attempted alienation of lands by full-blood and minor Indians under the provisions of the act of June 21, 1906, which removed the restrictions from lands of adult and mixed-blood Indians of the White Earth reservation.

"It was early discovered that there existed hundreds of fraudulent conveyances of both land and timber of full-blood and minor Indians, and the question of protecting the interests of these Indians by actions in the courts was, as soon as the facts could be obtained, referred to the department of justice. The attorney general of the United States assigned to the work Hon. M. C. Burch, special assistant to the attorney general, and as his assistant Hon. E. H. Long, special assistant to the attorney general, with offices at Detroit, Minn. The department detailed J. H. Hinton of the Indian office as special agent to assist.

Total of 1,086 Cases.

"During the past year 901 equity suits have been filed. About sixty more were ready to be filed on the next rule day of the court after June 30, 1911. About 125 cases require further consideration before they are ready to be filed. This will make a total of 1,086 cases. Since the work has begun 18 mortgages have been released, 7 quit claim deeds received, 1,800 acres restored to the Indians without decree of any court, and 3 criminal indictments have been obtained involving 10 persons.

"Meanwhile, an official roll showing the blood status of White Earth allottees has been prepared and approved by the department.

"It is believed that the effective work which is being performed under the direction of the attorney general will result in the restoration of a large part, if not all, of the lands involved to the Indians to whom the allotments were originally made, or, in case of their decease, to their heirs. Complete success means the recovery of 142,000 acres, valued at over $2,000,000, and for timber valued at $1,755,000, on behalf of more than 1,700 Indians, forming almost 34 per cent of the White Earth allottees.

Patents Where No Fraud is Found.

"Vigorous opposition to this work has naturally developed, and every kind of effort has been made to debauch the Indian testimony on which the recovery of these valuable holdings will depend. A great deal of criticism has also come from innocent purchasers residing in other states of the Middle West, who are seeking to make legitimate purchases on the White Earth reservation. To relieve the situation as much as possible, the department of justice and the interior department have co-operated in issuing patents in fee to adult mixed-blood Indians as fast as possible in all cases where there has been no apparent taint of fraud. This removes any just criticism, which could at any time be made, about the action of the Indian office, and the burden of having, as the cry was, "generally clouded titles in that country," is placed upon the speculators and others who consummated the frauds, rather than upon the department, which is protecting the Indians."

Field For the Grafter.

Indian affairs, even under the best possible administration, are peculiarly a field for the grafter and all other wrong-doers, as is the frank admission made by Commissioner Valentine. "The lands and the moneys of the Indians," he continues, "offer a bait which the most satiated will not refuse, and frequently a whole community will get on the wrong track toward the Indians. To offset this, not only publicity as to Indian affairs, but the freest discussion of all divergent views with regard to the more essential."

Commissioner Valentine declares that tribal organization is breaking up and that "the point of evolution thus reached is almost epochal, for it marks the time when each Indian begins to stand forward as his own business man, and in a measure, reaches the statue of white citizens."

In keeping with the determination of the bureau to give the Indian every opportunity to become industrious, Mr. Valentine declares that at least $145,000 of the year's expenditures for the Indian office was paid to Indians for labor, and the reclamation service, on the four projects it is constructing for the Indian service, paid out $169,000 for Indian labor.

"The report of the supervisor," he added, "whose chief business was to assist Indians in securing employment away from reservations and on the same conditions as white persons, setemed to show continued good results."

CAN BUY STEEL STOCK.

Corporation Tells Plan for Purchases By Employes.

New York, Jan. 9.—In accordance with its prifit-sharing plan of the last nine years, the United States Steel corporation has made known the terms and conditions under which officers and employes of the corporation and its subsidiaries may subscribe for additional preferred and common shares for the current year. The subscription price for the preferred is $110 and for the common $65.

Under this plan employes receiving $1,100 or less a year may not subscribe for more than one share of the preferred, while those receiving between about $2,000 and $3,400 may subscribe for as many as fifteen shares. Of the common stock, employes earning under $500 are limited to one share, with a maximum of twenty-five shares for the highest priced employes or officials. Payment of the subscriptions is to be made in monthly installments to be deducted from salary or wages. Subscriptions will be received until Feb. 3, next.

WILL NOT RAISE PRICE OF GAS IN KANSAS.

Topeka, Kan., Jan. 9.—That the Kansas Natural Gas company has decided not to try to raise the prices of its commodity in the thirty Kansas towns now served by it, is announced by John Marshall, attorney for the public utilities commission. A re-organization of the company's affairs in Kansas is slated to be undertaken to avert charges of violation of the anti-trust laws.

ADMIRAL HICHBORN'S SON SEEKS DIVORCE.

Washington, Jan. 9.—An echo of an elopment which stirred Washington society to its center a little more than a year ago was heard yesterday in the local courts when Philip S. Hichborn, a son of Admiral Hichborn of the navy, sued his wife, Eleanor Hoyt Hichborn, for absolute divorce, naming Horace Wylie as correspondent. Mrs. Hichborn is a daughter of the late Henry M. Hoyt, solicitor general. It is charged that the elopment occurred in December, 1910, and that Mrs. Hichborn and Wylie visited New York, Quebec, Liverpool, London, Paris, Monte Carlo, and took a trip together on the Riverside.

ROOSEVELT'S NAME TO BE ON OREGON BALLOT.

Salem, Ore., Jan. 9.—A petition to place the name of Theodore Roosevelt on the primary ballot for president has been received by the secretary of state. It was filed by Oliver H. Hickey of Portland, who stated that 1,000 signatures could be secured "at a moment's notice," and that more would be solicited when the form of petition was approved by the secretary.

Here are two Good Reasons why you should drink Fitger's Beer

FIRST:—Because it is brewed at the head of the lakes—a "home" industry employing hundreds of men.

SECOND:—(and most important)—Because it is the best beer. It is brewed with the greatest care by thoroughly competent brewmasters. The Fitger mechanical conveniences for cooling, ageing, storing and bottling are of the latest designs. The one great advantage over other beers is the use of Lake Superior Water, acknowleged by scientists to be the finest in the country for brewing purposes.

TWO COLERAINE LODGES INSTALL

Modern Woodmen and Royal Neighbors Invite Public and Give Dance.

Coleraine, Minn., Jan. 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—Fraternity hall was the scene of a merry party last night. The Modern Woodmen of America and the Royal Neighbors held a public installation after which an elaborate dinner was served. When the tables had been cleared away the young people and the adults danced. It was a jolly crowd and every minute was one of enjoyment.

The following officers were installed: Modern Woodmen of America: venerable consul, W. F. Young; adviser, R. C. Oswell; clerk, A. E. Smith; banker, Grant Seaton; escort, Arthur Johnson; watchman, C. A. Benson; sentry, — Jorgeson; manager, H. Krieger; physician, Dr. Caldwell.

Royal Neighbors: Oracle, Bertha Shanesy; vice oracle, Libbie Jodoin; past oracle, Ansile Downing; chancellor, Rena Thompson; recorder, Helen Young; receiver, Augusta McCarthy; inner sentinel, Hannah Nelson; outer sentinel, Sophia Jorgenson; marshal, Dora Larson; manager, Luella McClelland.

DEFECTIVE FLUES BLAMED FOR FIRE

That Is the Latest Theory About Chisholm School Burning.

Chisholm, Minn., Jan. 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—While not surely known the latest theory of the origin of the fire which destroyed the Central high school, a landmark, early yesterday, is that it resulted from defective flues. The alarm was sounded about 2:45 a. m. and when the department arrived the flames were already shooting through the roof. After making a heroic attempt to save the school building the effort was abandoned when the roof fell in and three streams of water were then directed in saving adjoining residences which were in imminent danger until the big school building collapsed. The fire was one of the most spectacular seen here since the big fire which destroyed the town over three years ago. The school was insured in the sum of $4,600.

It was built in 1901 as a two-room school and was enlarged from time to time until it had eight rooms in all. It was a frame structure and so inflammable that the streams of water played upon it by the department did not affect the fire.

The destruction of the building will make material changes in the plans of the school board. The opening of the new Lincoln school barely takes care of the last year's growth of Chisholm's school population, and it is stated today that rooms will again have to be rented down town and plans begun immediately for the erection of another fire proof grade building.

TO RETIRE ON PENSION.

Old Employe of Oliver Iron Mining Company to Rest.

Ely, Minn., Jan. 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—Benjamin Collins, an old employe of the Oliver Iron Mining company here, will retire on a pension April 1 and move with his family to their old home in England to spend the rest of their days.

FINE FLOWING WELL

Struck By Ore Drillers Near Grand Rapids.

Grand Rapids, Minn., Jan. 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—While drilling for iron on the John Costello farm, one mile west of Grand Rapids, the Moe Bros. drill which has been operating there for some time struck a flowing well at a depth of 175 feet. The flow of water comes up over the tops of the pipes used in drilling and the water is fine tasting and clear, and gives promise of being the finest kind of drinking water. Mr. Costello will leave the well as it is, and the drill will be removed to the McAlpine property, adjoining the Costello farm, where the iron prospecting will be continued.

In drilling to the depth at which the flowing well was discovered, the drill encountered some very encouraging stuff in the way of ore and indications, and the drilling will be continued quite extensively over the Costello farm and adjoining property.

BUILDING TRACK TO CONCENTRATOR

Great Northern Road Lets Contract for Work at Nashwauk.

Nashwauk, Minn., Jan. 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—Erickson & Long of Cloquet have received a contract from the Great Northern railway to lay two miles of track from the Hawkins Junction near the Dupont Powder company's warehouses, south to the new concentrating plant.

Ole Erickson of Cloquet is foreman of the work and has erected a boarding camp near the junction for his men. Mr. Erickson has seventy-five men employed and is pushing the work as rapidly as possible. The Hawkins Mining company, constructing the plant is furnishing dirt from the open pit mine for embankments. The work is expected to be completed within four months, this length of time being due from a muskeg that must be crossed and will take an enormous amount of dirt which will be filled in to afford a solid roadbed. This track when completed will be used in hauling washed ore from the concentrating plant to the Great Northern main line.

GILBERT BUILDING CLAIMED BY FLAMES

Family Living in Second Story Escapes Hastily With Few Effects.

Gilbert, Minn., Jan. 9.—(Special to The Herald.) — The two-story frame building on Broadway avenue in the first addition to Gilbert, owned by Isaac Walla, was completely destroyed yesterday by fire which is believed to have started from an overheated stove. The alarm was not rung in until the flames had a very good start and when the firemen arrived the structure was almost destroyed. The flames spread to the Nosen two-story building which was saved by the firemen.

The Walla family which occupied the second floor of the burned structure managed to make their escape with a few effects. The ground floor was vacant. A loss of $2,000 was sustained by the owner. It is not believed the structure will be rebuilt. No insurance was carried with Gilbert companies.

SUE LUMBER COMPANY

For Damages By Fire to Timber Near Angora.

Virginia, Minn., Jan. 9.—(Special to The Herald.) — The case of David Lahti et al against The Virginia & Rainy Lake Lumber company, in which the plaintiff sues for $10,000 for damage to timber on their land near Angora, alleged to be due to fires started from the sparks of passing locomotives, was taken up before Judge Hughes in district court yesterday afternoon and will continue most of today.

TO BEAUTIFY CEMETERY.

Biwabik's "God's Acre" Will Be Considerably Improved.

Biwabik, Minn., Jan. 9.—(Special to The eHrald.) — At the annual meeting of the Lakeside Cemetery association last night it was decided to fence the tract and generally improve the landscape features. The following officers were elected: President, F. B. Myers; secretar·· and treasurer, H. G. Seeley; trust:es, L. G. Seeley, F. B. Myers and N. B. Shanks.

BIWABIK WOMAN DIES.

Mrs. Emil Korkonen, Wife of Merchant, Is Called.

Biwabik, Minn., Jan. 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—After an illness of some time of pulmonary tuberculosis, Mrs. Emil Korkonen, aged 24, wife of a well known merchant, who came here six years ago from Hurley, Wis., died last evening. The funeral will be held Thursday at 1 p. m. from the Finnish Lutheran church.

NASHWAUK SKATERS PLANNING ICE RINK.

Nashwauk, Minn., Jan. 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—The matter of building an ice rink at O'Brion lake, a little over a mile from here, is being considered by the young men. The ice at the lake has been tested and is found in first-class condition for skatnig. Alrady a neat sum has been subscribed towards making a fine rink. The boys expect to have a large space cleared off in a short time where they may enjoy the remaining winter months on skates. There are many fast skaters in the village.

The new power house recently built by the Hawkins Mining company on the lake shore will well afford a place of shelter for the skaters. The school authorities have recently completed an ice rink on the west side of the high school and is being used by the school children.

Eveleth Militia Election.

Eveleth, Minn., Jan. 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—The militia company will hold a social election Thursday evening, as the state armory board has ruled the last election invalid, the numbers of ballots cast being insufficient. FINE BUILDING IS TO BE CONSTRUCTED

Virginia School Board Goes Over Plans With Representative Citizens.

Virginia, Minn., Jan. 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—At a special meeting of the school board last evening the plans for the proposed new northside school building were again considered. Superintendent M. S. Hawkins of the Oliver Iron Mining company, General Manager S. J. Cusson of the Virginia & Rainy Lake Lumber company, A. B. Coates and Captain Chinn of the Minorca mine were present, having been invited to be present. The blue prints of the plans prepared by Architect F. G. German of Duluth were gone over and Clerk C. E. Hendrick explained the purpose of the meeting and what the board had done in the matter.

Twelve Rooms—Fire Proof.

The building as planned will have twelve rooms, will be fireproof and modern in every particular. It is proposed to have it ready for school next September. There are nearly 300 children of school age on the northside, which was platted only about three years ago, and that part of the city is growing rapidly. The proposed building will seat 420.

Mr. Cusson stated that he was satisfied that the building was necessary and he favored a good fire proof structure.

Mr. Hawkins said there was no question the building was needed, that none of the fire proof features should be sacrificed on the ground of economy and that the best of ventilating and heating systems should be installed. He thought some of the exterior frills of the building could be eliminated at a saving.

Mr. Coates favored the improvement and suggested a saving would be effected by putting the heating plant in the building, and he also thought the exterior would be improved in appearance if made plainer but would be satisfied with the judgment of the board.

Mr. Chinn thought a saving could be made in several respects, particularly by making a rectangular building and cutting down in the corridor space.

It was voted to request Architect German to be present at the regular meeting of the board Wednesday evening for further consideration of the plans.

CARPENTERS WERE MAKING REPAIRS

So Charge Against Hibbing Merchant of Keeping Open Sunday Failed.

Hibbing, Minn., Jan. 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Retail Clerks' association which has undertaken a campaign to enforce the law covering Sunday closing in Hibbing failed to secure a conviction yesterday in a case brought against Thomas Sachs of A. Sachs & Son, merchants. Sachs produced witnesses who testified that his place was not kept open on the date named in the complaint for the purpose of making sales, but merely to permit a carpenter's crew to make interior repairs. The action was dismissed upon this representation by Judge Brady. It is the second case brought by the clerks' association, the first resulting in a conviction. A nominal fine was imposed.

IS ARRESTED ON FORGERY CHARGE

Eveleth, Minn., Jan. 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—Edward Jallen, a former local confectioner, was arrested yesterday afternoon by Chief of Police John J. Farley, charged with passing a forged check for $16.38 on a Duluth candy firm, Sept. 4 last. He was unable to raise $100 bonds required by Judge William E. Moylan and spent the night in the city jail.

He will be given an examination in the local police court today before Judge William E. Moylan.

John Borin was arrested yesterday afternoon for assaulting Jerry Snyder a fellow workman, at the Adams mine, Sunday. He was allowed to go on $15 bonds and will be given a hearing today in municipal court before Judge Moylan.

Biwabik Safes Freeze Up.

Biwabik, Minn., Jan. 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—The recent cold weather has frozen nearly everything, but the queerest happening here was the freezing of the safe Sunday of the Biwabik Co-operative association and the one in Seigal's meat market. When the combinations were run the safes refused to open and considerable trouble was had in thawing them out.

FIRM FOUNDATION

Nothing Can Undermine It in Duluth.

People are sometimes slow to recognize true merit, and they cannot be blamed, for so many have been humbugged in the past. The experience of hundreds of Duluth residents, expressed publicly through newspapers and other sources, places Doan's Kidney Pills on a firm foundation here.

L. P. Schneider, 210 West Fourteenth street, Duluth, Minn., says: "The public statements I have given in praise of Doan's Kidney Pills still holds good. In 1898 I said that for a considerable length of time, I had suffered from pains in my back. My condition finally grew so bad that I could not stoop or lift without being tortured. It seemed as if a sharp knife were piercing me. I could not lie in one position long without becoming stiff and sore. The kidney secretions passed irregularly and contained sediment. I found no relief until I began using Doan's Kidney Pills. They drove away my trouble, and during the twelve years that have since passed, I have never had any serious recurrence."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

VERY COLD AT TOWER.

Thermometer Registers 46 Degs. Below Zero on Sunday.

Tower, Minn., Jan. 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—Sunday morning was the coldest of the season in Tower, the thermometer going down to 45 deg. below zero.

Mrs. E. E. McIntire was expected to join her husband and family Monday, the family having arrived here several months ago to make their residence, Mr. McIntire being superintendent of schools.

The Misses Stromgren, Erickson and Prof. McClintock of the high school faculty, have returned from their holiday vacation.

Miss Mehan, another teacher, arrived Monday afternoon on the delayed train after spending her vacation at her home at Adams, Minn.

Supt. McGuire of the Almar mine was a business visitor at Tower on Monday.

Miss Beadle of Cresco, Iowa, arrived Monday to accept a position in the local schools.

Helen Benson returned to Duluth Monday morning to resume her duties there as a student in the high school.

DULUTHIAN IN CHARGE.

R. W. Strang New Manager of Hibbing Lumber Company.

Hibbing, Minn., Jan. 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—E. S. Stewart, for the past fourteen months secretary and manager of the Hibbing Lumber company, capitalized at $50,000, has been succeeded as manager by R. W. Strang of Duluth, formerly with the Radford company of that city. Strang has acquired a substantial block of stock in the concern. Mr. Stewart's plans for the future are indefinite, but he will not leave the city.

HIBBING THEATER TO PRESENT VAUDEVILLE.

Hibbing, Minn., Jan. 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—L. F. Allerdt of Chicago and H. J. Sigel of Virginia, have closed a deal for the lease of the Healy theater here and it will be opened about Feb. 1 as a vaudeville house, playing the bookings of the Western Vaudeville association.

Ellsworth, prelate; O. E. Sundile, master at arms; Henry Peterson, master of work; Harry Olson, inner guard; Alfred E. Bawdenmouter, guard; James A. Robb, master of exchequer; Thomas J. Trengrove, trustee; Sid J. Sicotte, master of finance and keeper of records and seal.

The Modern Woodmen also installed officers last evening.

Leonidas Sunday School Elects.

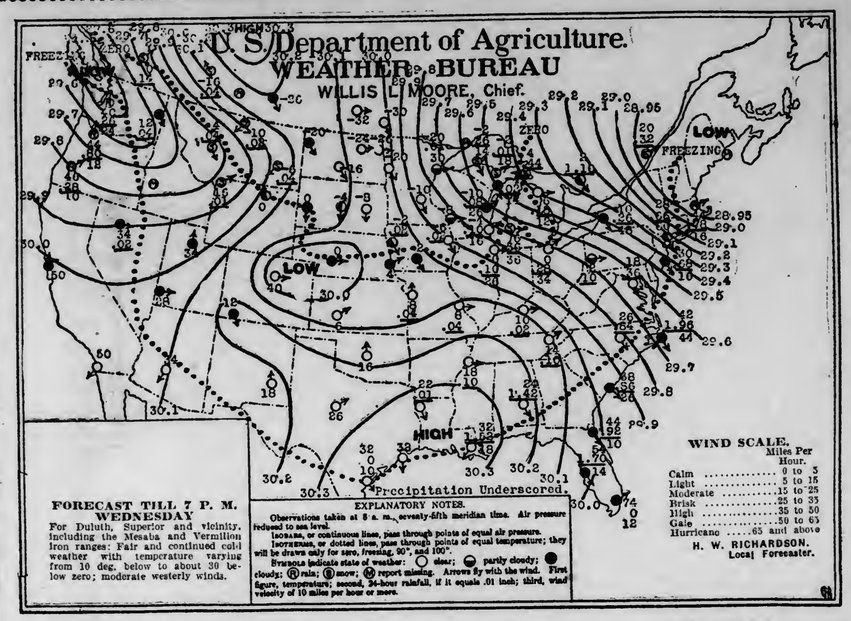

Eveleth, Minn., Jan. 9.—(Special to The Herald.) — The Leonidas Sunday school which holds weekly classes at the Leonidas school has elected the following officers: John Hill, superintendent; Florence Hagen, assistant superintendent; Mrs. William Holder, secretary; Mrs. R. F. Williams, treasurer. Thirty members have already joined the class.

The Eveleth Art club yesterday elected the following officers: Mrs. M. E. Nichols, president; Mrs. Burton O. Greening, vice president; Mrs. W. R. Van Slyke, secretary; Mrs. Edward H. Hatch, treasurer.

Darwin, Minn., Creamery Burns.

Litchfield, Minn., Jan. 9.—The Darwin creamery was destroyed by fire. The loss amounts to about $4,000. There was $400 worth of butter in the building. The stockholders will make plans for rebuilding at once. Thirty students are enrolled in the farmers' short course term being held here.

CONTINUED COLD

In the face of frozen water pipes, pyramiding coal bills and suffering humanity, the man who rants about the clear, cold, bracing qualities of the Northern winter is in danger of assassination. Are there any ranters? Continued cold with temperatures of 10 deg. to 30 deg. below zero is predicted by the weather man.

There was a slight touch of frost a year ago today. The temperature dropped to 10 deg. below zero.

The sun rose this morning at 7:53 and it will set at 4:38 this evening, giving eight hours and forty-five minutes of sunlight.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"Severe cold weather continues throughout all the Northwestern states and Western Canada. No signs of any immediate relief are in sight, in fact, a turn to colder has occurred in connection with the high pressure centered over Alberta. During the ensuing thirty-six to forty-eight hours the temperature in St. Louis and Douglas counties will range anywhere from 10 deg. below to 30 deg. or more below zero. A storm of marked intensity centered over Maine has caused heavy west gales along the Atlantic coast and over a large part of the lake region and Ohio valley and light to heavy falls of snow or rain from the Mississippi valley eastward to the Atlantic coast. Another depression centered over Washington has caused much warmer weather and snow or rain in the plateau region and North Pacific districts during the last twenty-four hours."

General Forecasts.

Chicago, Jan. 9.—Forecasts for twenty-four hours ending at 7 p. m. Wednesday:

Upper Michigan—Snow flurries tonight and Wednesday; continued cold.

Wisconsin—Fair and continued cold tonight; Wednesday increasing cloudiness and not so cold.

Minnesota—Fair tonight, followed by increasing cloudiness Wednesday; continued cold.

Iowa—Increasing cloudiness, with probably snow flurries late tonight or Wednesday; rising temperature in south portion Wednesday.

North Dakota—Generally fair and continued cold tonight and Wednesday.

South Dakota—Increasing cloudiness, with snow tonight or Wednesday, continued cold.

Montana—Snow tonight and Wednesday; colder tonight and in west portion Wednesday; cold wave in west portion tonight.

Shippers' forecast—Protect 36-hour shipments of perishables against temperatures varying from 5 deg. below to about 30 deg. below in the Dakotas, Minnesota, Wisconsin and the Michigan Copper country.

GRAND MASTER TO VISIT DULUTH

Local Lodge of Independent Order of Svithiod to Have Smoker.

Edward T. Carlson of Chicago, grand master of the Independent Order of Svithiod, will be in Duluth Jan. 12 on a tour through Minnesota. Lokel lodge of Duluth will have a smoker Friday evening and Mr. Carlson will be the guest of honor.

Mr. Carlson will be in St. Paul tonight, Eveleth tomorrow night, Two Harbors Thursday night and Hibbing Saturday. The Independent Order of Svithiod has 15,000 members and is the largest Swedish organization of the kind in the United States.

ALLEGED FORGER BROUGHT FROM NEW YORK CITY.

Grand Forks, N. D., Jan. 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—Julius Moe, captured in New York city and returned here to face a charge of forgery, will be tried in the district court. Arraigned before Judge McLoughlin yesterday afternoon, he waived examination, and the case was sent to the higher court, where he will be tried the latter part of next month.

Moe is accused of passing a forged check for $190.

TIED DOWN.

20 Years' Slavery—How She Got Freedom.

A dyspepsia veteran who writes from one of England's charming rural homes to tell how she won victory in her 20 years' fight, naturally exults in her triumph over the tea and coffee habit:

"I feel it a duty to tell you," she says, "how much good Postum has done me. I am grateful, but also desire to let others who may be suffering as I did, knew of the delightful method by which I was relieved.

"I had suffered for 20 years from dyspepsia, and the giddiness that usually accompanies that painful ailment, and which frequently prostrated me. I never drank much coffee, and cocoa and even milk did not agree with my impaired digestion, so I used tea, exclusively, till about a year ago, when I found in a package of Grape-Nuts the little book, 'The Road to Wellville.'

"After a careful reading of the booklet I was curious to try Postum and sent for a package. I enjoyed it from the first, and at once gave up tea in its favor.

"I began to feel better very soon. My giddiness left me after the first few days' use of Postum, and my stomach became stronger so rapidly that it was not long till I was able (as I still am) to take milk and many other articles of food of which I was formerly compelled to deny myself. I have proved the truth of your statement that Postum 'makes good, red blood.'

"I have become very enthusiastic over the merits of my new table beverage, and during the past few months, have conducted a Postum propaganda among my neighbors which has brought benefit to many, and I shall continue to tell my friends of the 'better way' in which I rejoice." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

Read the little book, "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs. "There's a reason."

Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time time. They are genuine, true, and full of human interest.

BIG CROWD AT YEOMEN MEETING

Installation of Officers and Initiation of Duluth Homestead.

About 500 attended the initiation and installation of officers of the Duluth homestead of Brotherhood of American Yeomen last evening. The following program was rendered:

Greetings ..... Foreman-elect C. H. Loomis.
Welcome speech ..... District Manager J. P. Garland.
Solo ..... William Mather.
Piano accompaniment, Miss Lillian Potter.
Recitation ..... John Allen.
"Our Order" ..... State Manager J. H. Murphy, Owatonna, Minn.
Recitation ..... Mrs. Jennie Lutzsky.
"Our State Manager and Our Homestead" ..... J. C. Wesenberg.
Piano solo ..... Miss Gertrude Colombe.

Lady Rowena, Mrs. Claudia Brassard, announced the numbers on the program. Sixteen young ladies were selected last night for the Homestead drill team and will be equipped with uniforms. Mrs. J. C. Wesenberg was selected as captain of the drill team.

Refreshments were served and dancing concluded the evening's entertainment.

LAST LECTURE IN SOCIALIST COURSE

RALPH KORNGOLD.

Ralph Korngold will speak Thursday evening at First avenue east on Third street on "Socialists at Work." It is the last number in the Socialist lecture course.

SOLONS HEAR FROM WILSON

New Jersey Governor Tells Legislature of Needed State Reforms.

Simplifying of Methods and Guarding of Health Urged.

Trenton, N. J., Jan. 9.—Woodrow Wilson, governor of New Jersey, sent his first annual message to the legislature today. He deals almost exclusively with economy and the necessity of co-ordinating and simplifying the state government. Such matters, says the governor, admit of no partisan bias, and "whatever differences of judgment may arise with regard of them, they need have no feeling of party flavor. We can get at the heart of things if we choose, and we could not render the state a greater service than by so doing. Wastefulness and inefficiency are themselves virtually forms of graft. They afford fruitful opportunities for every kind of abuse. "It is to the question of efficiency and economy, therefore, that I first invite your serious attention."

Simplify State Affairs.

The governor points out that the number of state boards is confusing, and recommends the appointment of a commission "to take into consideration the whole question of simplifying and co-ordinating the administrative agencies of the state" with the request that the commission act promptly and harmoniously and report to the legislature as soon as possible.

He adds that the commission's inquiry ought to take in the question of equitably adjusting assessment and taxation and should include a "very thorough examination of our tax system itself; its basis and principle."

Furrther, the governor recommends investigation and legislation looking to serviceable co-operation between the charitable and correctional institutions in the state; dwells on the need of a reformatory for women, and adds that the machinery for supervising the public health is woefully inadequate. "Every sort of infection should be guarded against," he says. "A costly war must be waged on the mosquito and the housefly. The dissemination of poisonous gases from factories, from locomotive engines and from vast bodies of smoke which pervade our cities must be prevented. The dairy business must be sharply supervised, along with cold storage and the handling of food stuffs in the markets. Oyster beds must be inspected; there must be some thorough and efficient system of keeping our lakes and streams from pollution, and systematic war must be made when such diseases as tuberculosis.

Simplify Court Procedure.

"It seems to me imperative," continues the message, "that the use of the courts of justice by the people should be simplified and facilitated. Our legal procedure is too technical, too complicated, too expensive, too little adapted to the use of the poor and unschooled. With splendid courts of undoubted integrity, we nevertheless feel that the rich litigant can tire the poor litigant out. We are proud of our bench; why should we not put ourselves in a position to be equally proud of our administration of justice as based upon the best reformed models? It is not the courts we wish to change so much as the methods of procedure.

"Both parties are pledged also to take up the matter of jury reform; to consider in particular the methods by which grand juries are chosen in order to devise, if possible, a process of choice by which abuses of a serious kind which have arisen to the scandal of public opinion may hereafter be prevented. I commend this deeply important subject to your very earnest consideration.

Laws for Workmen.

"Our workmen very justly demand further legislation with regard to the inspection and regulation of factories and workshops, and I recommend legislation of this kind to your very careful and earnest consideration. I recommend, moreover, the passage at an early date of an act requiring the railways operating within this state to provide their trains with adequate crews. Our sister state of Pennsylvania has adopted legislation of this kind, and the railways whose lines cross from Pennsylvania into New Jersey actually carry full crews to the border of this state and then send their trains on through New Jersey with diminished crews, to the jeopardy, as I believe, of life and property, requiring more of the small crew than it can safely and thoroughly do."

The one hundred and thirty-sixth New Jersey legislature convened today. The Republicans have a majority of one in the senate and a good working majority in the house.

Senator John D. Prince was elected president of the senate. The presidency of the senate carries with it the acting governorship in case of a vacancy in the office of the chief executive. The session is expected to be brief.

Stillwater Landmark Burns.

Stillwater, Minn., Jan. 9.—Fire which started in the heating plant almost totally destroyed the St. Paul Lutheran church on South Third street Sunday afternoon. The pipe organ was ruined. The loss is estimated at $10,000 with $3,500 insurance.

The St. Paul church was one of the oldest in the city, being built in 1871. Rev. A. C. Ernst is the pastor.

Oppose Dunn County Road.

Manning, N. D., Jan. 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—Dunn county's irrigation project, involving the construction of an irrigation ditch that would care for property near this city, the water supply being secured from the Knife river, will get into the courts as a result of the decision of the county board to construct a highway which will, in a manner, interfere with the irrigation movement.

Better Kidneys By Tomorrow Morning

Quick Work Is Necessary to Save Even Slightly Diseased Kidneys.

If you think you can go around with a pair of diseased, back-killing kidneys very long without cheating Fate, you're wrong. The percentage of kidney deaths is enormous. Just an ordinary pain-in-the-back is only one of the ways kidney trouble starts.

You've got to get your kidneys working right, and at once. Only a scientific treatment will do it. Dr. Clarke's Kidney Wafers are the scientific triumph of 18 years' medical experience by Dr. Clarke himself, the well-known successful kidney specialist These Wafers give you the benefit of a specialist's knowledge at a small price.

Dr. Clarke's Kidney Wafers will save your kidneys! Back pains, bladder trouble, diabetes, rheumatism, cloudy or foul urine, have their beginning in wrong kidneys. Go to your druggist and get a package of Dr. Clarke's Kidney Wafers for 25c, or they will be sent direct from Regent Drug Co., 40 Regent Bldg., Detroit, Mich.

If you want to prove first that all these statements are true; tell your druggist to give you a free sample package. If you want advice in regard to your condition, it will be given free and cheerfully, if you write to the above company.

Dr. Clarke's Tonicum, the great strength builder. A remarkable remedy for nervous weakness and general debility. Harmless — pleasant — efficient. Two weeks' treatment 50 cents, at all druggists.

For Chilblains, Frost Bites and All Sore Feet.

Many persons dread the approach of winter on account of chilblains and frost-bites which cause a soreness and itching at times almost unbearable, frequently bringing on a nervous condition. To those thus afflicted the following treatment will be welcome information as it gives immediate relief and soon cures. "Dissolve two tablespoonfuls of Calocide compound in a basin of warm water (not hot). Soak the feet in this for fifteen minutes. Repeat this for several nights until the trouble disappears."

The action of Calocide compound for all foot ailments is really remarkable. By its use corns and callouses can be peeled right off. Sweaty, smelly feet and tender, aching feet need but a few applications. Bunions get relief instantly. Any druggist has it in stock or will get it from his wholesale house. A twenty-five cent package is usually sufficient to put the worst feet in fine condition.

SPORTING NEWS OF THE DAY

CARRYING THE MESSAGE TO THE SPORTING GARCIA

Ordemann Going to Meet a Tough Man in Pilakoff ---Boxing Should Be Placed on a Decent Basis---The Johnson-Flynn Fight Looks Like Some Old Joke.

(BY BRUCE.)

AROUND town they are saying that the gruelling Ordemann will give Pilakoff will make the Finnish Lion look with deep disgust on wrestlers in general and Norsmen in particular. Since the wrestling season opened with the Rogers-Pilakoff match this same line of conversation has been heard—only now more are saying it. Ordemann has the reputation of being a rough and ready grappler. Some of the fans remember to this day the things he did to Chris Person on the stage of the Lyceum theater. Henry learned his little wrestling book under the best roughhouser in the world, Frank A. Gotch—and he hasn't forgotten some of the lessons.

But when it comes to strength and general toughness this Pilakoff person has some stuff of his own. George Barton, adviser of Ordemann, knows this fact full well. After witnessing the match in this city between Cutler and Pilakoff, he went back to Minneapolis and wrote nearly a column in his paper about the strength and endurance and toughness of the Duluth wrestler.

Ordemann will find that he is not up against men like Person or Lehto. Both of these men were pounds lighter than the big Norseman. In the gladiatic Fina Ordemann is going against a man heavier and stronger than himself. One would be rather foolish to dispute the fact that Ordemann has much the better of the argument in science—but he is going against a man who will give him some game during the evening's entertainment.

The big Minneapolis man is due to arrive this evening from Minneapolis. George Barton, the man Friday to the Crusoe of Ordemann, will get in tomorrow noon, if he keeps on friendly terms with his schedule. These two, with Manager Maki, Pilakoff's pilot, are scheduled to meet in a conference that may have one of the war conferences of the petty kingdoms looking like a lecture on the clinging tendencies of our plant life.

Barton has put his walkover down firmly on the elimination of the toe hold. Maki is just as firmly opposed to having the Triby tuister play the lead in the repetory, as they say in Keokuk, Iowa. While Ordemann holds the title of American champion and is not looking for stumbling blocks in the shape of tough mat customers, some of the fans at the Head of the Lakes can't see why the Norse won't give Pilakoff the same leeway that he gave to Cutler.

One of the innovations of the wrestling game here is the taking of a flashlight picture of the two big wrestlers before they answer the call of the referee. George Barton will cover the match for his paper, the Minneapolis Daily News, while one of the other Minneapolis papers will have its sport writer at the match.

⊙ ⊙ ⊙ ⊙

Now that one of the Iowa colleges has instituted a special ice cream course we may hear of the amalgamation of the rah rah boys with the dairy dealers. Whether a credit will be allowed some ambitious football player for learning the moulding of cones and bricks is a matter that should come up with other equally important business at the coming meeting of the Western conference representatives.

⊙ ⊙ ⊙ ⊙

While it is rumored that there were several picnics yesterday, some parties taking advantage of the balmy weather, we are unable to confirm the rumor.

⊙ ⊙ ⊙ ⊙

With the threatened repeal of the Frawley fight law in New York state, with ministerial agitation against the boxing game in Australia, and with the churchmen busy in merrie old England, one stops for a moment in the busy activities of the day and meditates as to the future of the manly art of self-defense.

Boxers are mostly to blame for the present condition of the fight game. If the house is not what some of these very important men believe it ought to be, they either stall or refuse to go on. If the house is large, the fighters generally get so much of the money that the promoter is generally left with the small end of the deal.

If fighting is to continue in this country there must be rehabilitation. Business men and not grafters must be placed at the heads of the boxing clubs. Fighters should be made to understand that they are not in the least privileged persons but ordinary individuals who should be very thankful that the public is sufficiently interested in them to enable the promoters to pay them even an ordinary sized purse.

Some of the knights of the knuckles might do well to take a lesson from some of the fallen idols. Have you ever seen a fawning man who was once a celebrity? It is a sight that sickens one: a sight that often speaks of depraved manhood and wasted opportunity.

The D. O. P. cares for a fighter just so as he is at the top. When you see a cocky fighter walking along the street with his hat on one side of his bum-shaped head and one of those disgusting tough looks on his map—well, the whole thing makes you sick and you want to wish some honest labor on him.

Some day we may have the limited round fight law in this state. If we do, here's hoping that the promoters of Minnesota are clean fellows, chaps with some brains and business ability; men who will tell some of the howdy rowdy fighters just where to alight at.

St. Paul, Minneapolis and Duluth have the reputation of being three cities where the wrestling game is upon a higher plane than in any other three cities of the country. To the credit of the three Minnesota cities it can be said that the game has not fallen into the evil hands that has succeeded in killing it elsewhere.

It is to be hoped that sometime in the future the boxing game will be given a trial in Minnesota. In reputable and licensed clubs, with responsible men at their heads, with the supervision of the police and the proper restrictions of the game, there is no doubt in the mind of the writer but that boxing would not harm any community.

Boxing is going to die out or to be thoroughly reformed and conducted along decent and respectable lines. The fighter of indecent habit should be chased from the pastime. He is a parasite. Boys living clean lives, with an athletic and physical ideal, are making the game better—but at the present time these fighters are far too few.

If the intelligent promoters in those centers where boxing is permitted would organize and seek to purge the game of its evils, there might be hope for its continuance. Something must be done and the sooner it is done the better it will be for the game.

⊙ ⊙ ⊙ ⊙

If some of us in these days of coal buying and gambling with cold storage eggs could look forward to the same sweet assurance that Jack Johnson has toward money and a victory over Pueblo Jim Flynn—we could sing merrily tra la la at the coal man and ask the price of tickets to California.

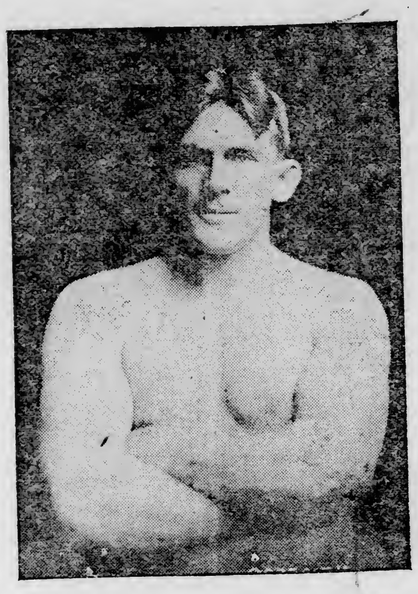

That fight should be about the easiest on record—even easier than the time James J. Corbett took the title aspirations away from Charley Mitchell. If Johnson had a picnic with wee Tommy Burns, what will he have with Flynn?

Burns gave the Flynn person a nice and neat licking out on the Pacific slope. Sam Langford stalled through ten rounds with Flynn and gave the man from Pueblo, who is inclined to be chesty, all kinds of the chesty chin ammunition. The two men fought a return battle and what the brunette did to the blonde Flynn came very near being incorporated in the post mortem statement of a coroner.

Figuring things by some of the past performances of the two men, where do we get the idea of a fight. It is more on the order of a boxing lesson with Lil' Artha in the role of instructor and James Flynn in the humble and grateful role of the pupil.

But if Windward, Nev., or any other place in the desert country is going to fall for the fight between Johnson and Flynn it is their own business after all—and that is all there is to it.

FITWELLS WIN EASY VICTORY

Company I of Superior Easily Beaten at Indoor Baseball.

In the second indoor baseball game of the Auditorium league, played last evening between the Fitwells of this city and Company I team of Superior, the Duluth aggregation of diamond stars won an easy victory by the score of 19 to 3.

Simpson pitched steadily for the locals and at all stages of the contest held the militia men. On the other hand Clemons for the boys from across the way had nothing but hope, and even that became frayed around the edges during the latter part of the contest.

The Fitwells slugged the ball to all corners of the big Auditorium, ran bases at will, and in all departments of the game outplayed the Superior visitors. The visitors were willing but weak.

Following is the line-up:

Fitwells—	Position.	Company I—
McAuley	r.	J. Murphy
Schaeffer	2b.	F. Murphy
Summers	rf.	R. Fluget
Menlece	3b.	Stern
McGraw	s.	Snyder
Bennett	c.	Van Armoned
Woods	lf.	Jepson
Pease	ls.	Frisco
Simpson	p.	Clemons

CENTRAL WINS FROM SHAMROCKS

Last evening the youngsters from Central high school broke into the hockey stuff, winning from the Shamrocks of Superior by the score of 9 to 5. The game was played at the Duluth Curling club rink and was a clean and interesting exhibition throughout.

The goal playing of Mahan for Central was one of the features of the contest. Several times during the games the Superior men rushed the puck up to the net only to be checked skillfully by the clever work of the Duluth net guarder.

With more experience it is believed that the Central team will develop into a very strong contender. Games have been arranged with some of the range teams and also with the Duluth Curling club team. The line-up:

Central High.		Shamrocks.
Mahon	g.	Morrison
Emmons, Wall	p.	McKenzie
Wharton, Capt.	r.	Rowdn
W. Brown	lw.	Holgate
Owens	rw.	L. Larson
Harris	c.	Johnstone

CHAMPIONSHIP AT MINNEAPOLIS

Skaters Will Race in Mill City for Western Amatuer Honors.

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 9. — As a result of the announcement made yesterday by James T. Fitzgerald, secretary of the Western Skating association of the reinstatement of the Northwestern Skating association of Minneapolis, Edward Dickinson of the latter organization announced that the western amateur championship meet would be held here the latter part of January or early in February.

Norval Baptie, world's champion professional skater, is desirous of meeting Ed Lamy of Saranac Lake, N. Y., the world's amateur champion, or Morris Wood, and it is probable that a match will be arranged here shortly.

Mandol Is the Winner.

Memphis, Tenn., Jan. 9. — George Mandol of New Orleans outfought Billy Allen of Ottawa, lightweight champion of Canada, at every stage of their eight-round bout before the Southern Athletic club last night and was awarded the decision.

Board Yields to Student.

Ithaca, N. Y., Jan. 9. — Yielding to protests of thousands of students and alumni of Cornell, the athletic council announced that it has rescinded its recent action awarding the "varsity "C" to the managers of major sports. The insignia will hold strictly as an athletic honor.

Regan Gets Decision.

Salt Lake City, Utah, Jan. 9. — Jimmy Regan of San Francisco was given the decision over Chalky Germain after five rounds of a scheduled 10-round fight.

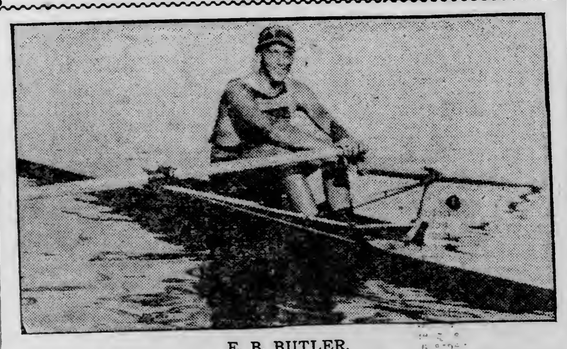

Hedges Elects Himself.

St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 9.—Robert Lee Hedges, principal stockholder of the St. Louis American league club, re-elected himself president at the club's annual meeting.

Jeffersons Hold Meeting.

At a meeting of the Jefferson Athletic club last evening the installation of officers was held. The annual banquet of the club will be held Jan. 23. A campaign for new members will be begun.

BUTLER MAY ROW ARNST

E. B. BUTLER.

Reports from Toronto, the home of E. B. Butler, the champion amateur sculler, state that there is a possibility of Butler meeting Arnst, the professional sculling champion, within a year or so. Experts have stated that Butler is by far the greatest sculler turned out by North America in years. He seems the only man in sight to give Arnst a good race.

NATIONAL SKI MEETING WILL BE A GREAT EVENT

What is expected to be the greatest athletic event of its kind yet conducted in the United States is this year's tournament of the National Ski association. The meet will take place at Cary, Ill., Jan. 27 and 28, under auspices of the Norge Ski club of Chicago. Last winter when the Chicago organization was awarded the national tournament there were serious misgivings in the Northwest and the Lake Superior country, where the most of the clubs of the association are located, lest a mistake had been made, it being contended that conditions as to location, distance and weather were adverse to a successful meet. However, a fine clubhouse and ski slide have been built by the Norge club, the most liberal prizes in the history of the association have been offered and there has been prepared a fine program for the entertainment of the riders and the delegates. The result has been the creation of great interest and the assurance that all of the clubs will be well represented. It is likely, indeed, that more ski jumpers will take part in the tournament than have ever before competed in America, and as they will comprise the very best riders in the country it is not improbable that the meet will witness a shattering of records.

Thirty-two Prizes Offered.

There will be thirty-two prizes, trophies and cash. The twelve cash prizes for the professional class will amount to $350, and in addition there will be five special cash prizes, totaling $150. Ever since the first national tournament, held at the Ishpeming hill some six years ago, the ski clubs have had to offer cash prizes in order to procure the best riders, practically all of whom have refused to jump for trophies. Besides the cash prizes there will be three championship medals, valued at $150, placing the total value of the prizes for the professionals at $650. The winners in the amateur class will receive twelve silver cups valued at $350.

The hill of the Norge club has a 370-foot natural elevation, and in addition a steel structure ninety feet in height, making it the longest slide in the country. Quarters and board for four contestants and one delegate from each club affiliated with the national organization will be provided free of charge. A complimentary banquet will be given the guests at the conclusion of the tournament. The Norge club's hall at Cary, which is not far from the Northwestern railroad, twenty miles out of Chicago. Six or seven years ago the only ski slide in the United States was at Ishpeming, the home of the sport in this country. Now there are more than thirty. Steel and concrete are supplanting timber in the construction of the trestlework, and it is estimated that in building their slides and clubhouses the members of the national association already have expended more than $100,000.

Most of the thirty-two clubs affiliated with the national association will hold interstate tournaments this winter. Dates already announced are: Chippewa Falls, Jan. 21; Chicago, Jan. 27 to 28; Beloit, Jan. 31; Duluth, Feb. 4; Red Wing, Feb. 8; Superior, Feb. 11; Hudson, Feb. 12; Glenwood, Feb. 14; Fergus Falls, Feb. 15; Ironwood, Feb. 18; Ishpeming, Feb. 22; Cameron, Feb. 25. The first tournament of the year was held at Stoughton, Wis., was marked by a jump of 137 feet by Barney Riley, a former Ishpeming boy, now of Minnesota, a feat which indicates that the youngster is likely to put the world's record in serious jeopardy this season. Barney is jumping as a professional this year for the first time.

LOCAL SCOTS DEFEATED

Superior Curlers Take Opening Manley-McLennan Event By 47 to 35 Score.

"Billy" Dinham Only Local Skip to Win Laurels for Duluth.

On the ice of the Superor Curling club last evening the Duluth Curling club picked rinks lost the first four games of the Manley-McLennan event to the respresentatives of the Superior Curling club, the score being 47 to 35.

"Billy" Dinham, the kid skip, was the only Duluth skip to win a contest, Ron McLeod, Ron Smith and E. R. Jacobi being beaten by the Superior stane handlers. The surprise of the evening was the severe beating Ron McLeod received at the hands of D. C. Gates. The score was 19 to 4, the Duluth rink being outclassed all the way through.

The closest and by far the most exciting game of the evening, was that between J. S. Gates of Superior and E. R. Jacobi of Duluth. Gates won out by the score of 11 to 10. Interest in the outcome was intense, as the game was decided on the last head.

While the Duluth curlers are disappointed in the outcome of the first game, they are more than ever determined to reverse the result at the second meeting, which will occur on Thursday evening on the ice of the Duluth rink.

Following are the scores:

	Ends.										Total
E. Jacobi	0	4	1	0	0	3	0	0	0	2	0—10
J. S. Gates	1	0	0	1	1	0	3	1	2	0	1—11

SKI OFFICIALS CALL MEETING

At the meeting of the directors of the Duluth Ski club, set for this evening, it is expected that delegates to the national meet at Chicago, Jan. 27 and 28, will be named and also the riders who are to represent the Duluth club in the events.

It is stated today that an effort is being made to secure John Jenswold, Jr., to represent the local club at the national. A great effort is going to be made by the Duluth officials to land the next national meet for this city and it is pointed out that Mr. Jenswold is just the man to address the national directors upon the behalf of the Duluth club.

The official program of the national meet has arrived. The prizes are the handsomest ever offered at a ski tournament in this country. The prize list will total over $1,000. The communication received by the Duluth Ski club officials states that the tournament promises to eclipse all former tournaments.

Duluth contestes and riders may go to the meet in a special car. This matter is due to come up at the meeting this evening. One of the range ski clubs, it is said, will have a special car for the trip to Chicago.

CATHEDRAL TEAM WINS.

Y. M. S. Nine Defeated at Indoor Baseball By 17 to 14 Score.

Last evening at the Sodality hall the Cathedral high school indoor baseball team defeated the Young Men's Sodality team by the score of 17 to 14. The victory of last evening places the C. H. S. team in second place in the league race.

Patt was hit freely by the Y. M. S. team and was relieved by Summers. England failed to puzzle the Cathedral hitters and was found when hits counted the most. Summers proved an enigma to the West enders.

The lineup:

C. H. S	Position.	Y. M. S.

THREE CURLING TROPHY GAMES ARE PLAYED

Bert Gravatt was defeated by Jack Plotnicky in the Bagley event curling game last night. The game was close throughout, the score being 13 to 12. Reichert was defeated by Stillman by the score of 13 to 11, also a Bagley event game, and in The Herald event West was defeated by Harbinson by the score of 17 to 6.

Weather Interferes.

Grand Junction, Tenn., Jan. 9.—Weather conditions prevented the opening of the annual trials of the United States Field Trials club, the largest of the year, here today, and the all age stake will be run Tuesday. Charles E. Sisson, Muskegon, Mich., is one of the judges.

COMPANIES MUST PAY FIRE LOSSES

Sums which aggregate $5,250 will be paid to Annie Gerzin by six insurance companies for losses sustained when the Boston Cigar company at 112 West First street burned about a year ago.

Judge Dibell yesterday ordered them to pay in the following amounts:

Royal Insurance company, Ltd., of Liverpool, $714.28; Pennsylvania Fire Insurance company, $714.28; Commercial Union Assurance company, Ltd., of London, $714.28; Niagara Fire Insurance company of New York city, $714.28; British American Assurance company, $714.28; Dubuque Fire & Marine Insurance company, $1,678.56.

On March 19, 1911, a jury in district court allowed the plaintiff $5,000 as stock damages and $250 as damage to furniture. The companies refused to pay the claims when they were presented.

The court states that there were some points brought out in the evidence which would cast come doubt on the legitimacy of the claims, but holds that the evidence on the other side is strong enough to justify compelling the companies to live up to their agreement.

FOREST RESERVE MONEY IS RECEIVED BY STATE.

St. Paul, Jan. 9.—Drafts from the federal government aggregating $1,729.29 for distribution to the counties wherein lie the Minnesota national forests were received by State Auditor Iverson yesterday. According to the federal act providing for distribution of receipts from national forests the money is to be expended in such a way as the state legislature may prescribe, either for the use of the schools or roads and bridges.

Cullom Seeks Re-election.

Chicago, Jan. 9.—Circulation of petitions to place the name of Senator Shelby M. Cullom on the primary ballot has begun. In some quarters this is taken to mean that Governor Deneen soon will take the field for renomination. Primary day is April 9.

ILLINI AND GOPHERS.

Old Rivals to Meet at Basket Ball the Present Week.

Champaign, Ill., Jan. 9.—Basket ball players at the University of Illinois are preparing for an exceptionally hard-fought struggle with the University of Minnesota when the Illini open their conference schedule by playing on the Gopher floor next Friday night.

Knowledge that Minnesota again has the speedy all-western forward, Lawler, on her quint this season is causing the local men considerable anxiety, but with the advantage of two victories over minor colleges and continual practice during the Christmas holidays the Illini expect to overcome all obstacles to winning the opening game.

The Illinois team will go from Minneapolis to Madison to meet the Badgers on Saturday evening.

Coach Huff and Prof. G. A. Goodenough, faculty conference representative, are preparing for a long session over the question of amateurism when the conference delegates hold their meeting in Chicago, Jan. 28. Both Mr. Huff and Mr. Goodenough will be in attendance at the Chicago meeting to co-operate with Minnesota and the other "progressive" conference members to procure more advanced legislation for the "Big Eight." Coach Huff expects to arrange several baseball games for Illinois at that time.

SUGAR PRICE GOES LOWER

Duluth Broker Looks for the Low Point of Year in February.

Heavy Crop in Cuba Has a Bearish Effect on the Market.

Sugar is still declining. During the last few days the wholesale price at Duluth has gone down 10 cents, cane ganulated declining from $6.23 to $6.13 and beet granulated from $6.03 to $5.93 a hundred pounds.

H. F. Sleepack, sugar broker, expects to see a still further decline during the present month, possibly 20 points. He expects to see a low point of the year reached in February.

"Cuban sugar is now coming into the United States," said Mr. Sleepack today. "Cuba is harvesting a large sugar crop. Furthermore, the beet sugar crop of the United States harvested last year, was the largest in history. These two factors are making raw sugars much cheaper. Of course this has its natural effect in bringing down the price of refined sugars.

"I do not look to see sugar become as cheap as it was in February, 1911. I doubt whether it will get within $1 per hundred pounds of that price. At the same time the danger of extremely high-priced sugar is past.

"Notwithstanding the large sugar yields in the United States and Cuba, the world's sugar crop for the year 1911-1912 will be about 1,500,000 tons short of the world's needs. A normal crop for the world would have been about 17,000,000 tons. By the year 1911-1912, I mean the period from September, 1911, to June, 1912, for it is from September to June that the world's various crops of sugar come upon the market.

"Sugar was cheaper in February, 1911, than it has been since. At that time the world looked for large yields of sugar for that crop year. But it developed that the Cuban crop was short. A yield of about 1,800,000 tons had been expected, but the actual crop proved to be only 1,484,000 tons. It is thought that the yield that is being harvested and is coming to the United States now will prove about 1,925,000 tons. But we can't tell just what this yield is until next June.

"During the latter part of last winter and early in the spring it became evident that the Cuban yield would be disappointing. During the following summer another great bullish factor began to affect the market and that was the drouth in Germany, Austria and other parts of Europe, causing short crops of sugar beets. In the fall sugar made some skyrocket movements. It did not begin to come down until a large yield of American sugar beets was assured.

"American sugar consumers are now looking forward with great interest to see whether Great Britain will take any of the Cuban sugar beet crop. If Great Britain becomes a large customer of the Cuban sugar producers, the price in this country will without doubt be affected. It all depends on whether Russia will be allowed by the other powers of Europe to export much of her beet sugar. Russia is a great sugar producer. By a commercial convention of the powers, her export is now limited to 200,000 tons a year. She would like to have this limit enlarged to 500,000 or 600,000 tons. This question will probably be determined at a convention to be held at The Hague on Jan. 29.

"The high price of sugar during 1911 greatly reduced its consumption. During the year 1911, the consumption of sugar in the United States amounted to seventy-nine pounds per capita, whereas in 1910, when sugar was much cheaper, the per capita consumption was eighty-two pounds."

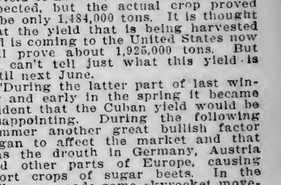

PRAISE WOMAN SUFFRAGE.

Chicago Society Leaders Meet at Chatfield-Taylor Home.

Chicago, Jan. 9.—Equal suffrage for women and men, what it has accomplished and what it will accomplish, was the theme of a meeting when leaders of Chicago society met in the ball room of the home of Mrs. Hobart C. Chatfield-Taylor and listened attentively to speakers who depicted the merits of the equal suffrage propaganda. The ball room was crowded with women whose names are listed in the blue book, when Miss Jane Addams called the meeting to order.

Among the speakers were Miss Harriet Monroe, who told of "Woman;" Mrs. Stanley McCormick, who discussed the expediency of woman's suffrage; Mrs. Alice D. Miller, whose theme was "The Next Step," and Mrs. Joseph Tillon Bowers, who told "What Has Been Accomplished in the Suffrage States and What May Be Accomplished in Illinois." George H. Mead, professor of psychology at the University of Chicago, spoke on "Woman's Suffrage."

Every speaker pointed to what had been accomplished in the states which have given the ballot to women, and told of the need of general co-operation.

DOCTORS GET A FINE SITE

Electro Medical Doctors Have Rooms on Second Floor at No. 26 West Superior St. (Next to Gidding's).

WILL OPEN TO RECEIVE PATIENTS IN A FEW DAYS

The First Hundred Patients Will Be Treated For Half the Fee.

Yesterday it was announced in these columns that the Electro Medical Doctors had at last consented to establish one of their world famous medical institutes in Duluth and that it would be ready to receive patients soon. The board of directors have been looking around the city for some time for a suitable site upon which to erect a permanent home for the institute, but have at last decided to postpone building the sanitarium till the office in the down-town district is well established.

The Duluth office will therefore be opened at once in a convenient down-town location. Fine suites of rooms have now been leased on the second floor at No. 26 West Superior street and these rooms will be occupied by the medical offices for the first year, or until a more suitable building can be purchased or erected for a permanent home.

The work of furnishing and equipping the new institute is being pushed as rapidly as possible and it is hoped that patients can be received for treatment the latter part of the week. One of the great secrets of the success of the doctors in curing diseases is their expert knowledge of medical diagnosis. So complete is their knowledge of the human body that oftentimes by the aid of their wonderful instruments they are able to diagnose a case, describing and locating every ache and pain without asking the patient a single question.

The treatment used by the doctors is largely non-surgical. They never use the knife; never mutilate the body which God built in His own image. They will prove their superior ability to cure with success diseases where scores of doctors have failed or have pronounced the case to be incurable. The Electro Medical Doctors will not accept any incurable cases, however, they have cured scores of men and women and even children where doctors of all schools have met failures.

The expensive and elaborate instruments used in diagnosis and the extreme care used in procuring pure remedies and preparing them specially for each case makes the treatment used by the doctors more expensive than ordinary treatment, yet the large number of patients treated makes it possible to place the price of treatment within the reach of all.

The doctors in charge of the Duluth branch of Electro Medical Doctors are experts both in diseases of women and men. They are neither young nor inexperienced, and have spent their life in the great clinics of the Berlin Charitee, the Kochs Institute and the Vienna Krankenhaus and are experts in their line second to none in this country. In order to prove their superior ability and to introduce this wonderful system of curative treatments in Duluth, they desire to secure a few supposedly incurable cases at once, and in order to secure a large number of difficult cases quickly, so that they can cure them at once and thus prove to the public the wonderful curative powers of this new system of treatment, they will cure the first few cases absolutely free.

Both examination and treatment will be free to those who will let the doctors prove that they can cure them. If your case is incurable you will be told so and not one penny of your money will be accepted. However, many cases that are incurable by old methods can be quickly cured by this wonderful new treatment of the Electro Medical Doctors.

The date of opening the new institute will be announced soon.

FROM TEXAS FRUIT FARMS TO 10 PER CENT SECURED NOTES IN NORTH DAKOTA

Many Suggestions Offered the Owner of That First $1,000.

Herald Contest Is Creating Interest in Many Neighboring Cities.

Even if one has saved one's first $1,000 and has profitably invested it, one may find something attractive in the suggestions offered by contestants who are trying to work out a salvation for a married man of 35, who has a wife, children, plenty of expenses, a fair living wage, and $1,000 saved.

Interest in the contest seems to have grown for answers are coming in, in larger numbers. Independence is aimed at in every answer, but all kinds of avenues are open to the investor with his first $1,000.

A Hibbing man suggests buying a fruit farm in Texas, but a farmer at Hallock, Minn., thinks Minnesota land will do just as well and advises investing the money in this state. A Minneapolis contestant tells of how he invested his first thousand by putting it in well secured 10 or 12 per cent notes, which may be had, for instance, in North Dakota. The investment, he says, proved profitable.

A farmer at Rockford, Ill., comes in with the suggestion that the young man invest his first thousand in a building lot in some growing city. Among today's answers are the followings:

Albert Kaiser, 502 Lincoln street, Hibbing, Minn.—In regards to the answer of how I can invest my $1,000.

If I were you and had that $1,000, I would go down around Houston, Tex., and look over some fruit land. There is some bad land and some very good land, but go for yourself and look it over. There are nice fruit lands of all kinds. You could buy thirty acres for about $50 an acre, amounting to $1,500. They have you pay so much down and the balance is paid in about three years on easy terms. You could fence it in and have it planted by someone down there and inside of three or four years time you would have a fine orchard. There is no trouble in selling your fruit because the salesmen come there and furnish boxes and crates and buy your fruits. Otherwise you could let your land stand for a while and see if you could not sell it for a higher price than you paid for it.

If you wanted to live on your land you could let your wife and children stay with her or your mother until you had things straightened out. Then you could send for them, or else pay some man to plant it for you. If you did not want to live on your land you could hold your position, work in your own town until your land went up to a higher price, then you could sell it and make a little money. Next if you succeed buy some more land or start a business if you have money enough and you will find at the end of a few years you will have a nice roll if you use it right.

Sam Anderson, Hallock, Minn.—Mr. $1,000 man, buy eighty or 100 acres of good agricultural land right here in Minnesota and pay for it cash. Never go in debt; keep the position you have.

Time will come when you will see that you have deposited your money in a bank that will make you more independent than a czar of a whole nation.

H. C. Kinney, 33 Twenty-second avenue Northeast Minneapolis—My conditions, size of family, age, etc., are the same as yours, and my advice is to invest your $1,000 in well secured 10 or 12 per cent notes, many of which may be had in North Dakota. You have no tax to pay on same; no insurance; no repairs as you will have on a house, and if you lose your position or change positions you simply carry your investment in your pocket. I rent a house for much less than 10 per cent on the valuation of the same and I know many people who have bought houses that say it costs them more than it does to rent. I have no difficulty in picking up good 10 and 12 per cent paper for all I have to invest without any expense whatever to me (on account of my occupation) and I will gladly help my small investor to do the same. Nearly every bank in North Dakota gets 12 per cent and cannot supply the demand even at this rate. I don't refer to doubtful paper but paper well secured 3 to 1, that is $3 worth of security for every $1 loaned. This is why North Dakota banks can afford to pay 6 per cent on time deposits. As I understand it you wish an investment for your $1,000 for investment that will not interfere with your present occupation, and if so, how can you use a truck farm or even a $1,000 house, for in order to use a farm you would have to give up your position and a $1,000 house in town would not be, perhaps, such as you would care to live in, and if you pay $1,000 on a $3,000 house you will have to pay interest on $2,000 besides taxes, insurance and repairs, then if you lose your position and cannot meet your interest you lose your $1,000. Many people who own houses and rent them out do not get 7 per cent net on their investment. By investing your $1,000 as above, then keep on working as you have in the past and reinvest your interest from year to year and you will be surprised to note how much easier it is to accumulate the second $1,000. It took me ten years to accumulate the first $1,000 but in the next seven years I have a total of over $3,000 by buying 12 per cent paper at 5 per cent discount, and it comes easier every year. I have tried this and am following the plan right now, and know it is a success. I will be glad to give names of parties who will pay 10 per cent, as I cannot accommodate all who are willing to pay it.

H. E. Abell, Stevenson, Minn.—Let the young man purchase forty acres of state of Minnesota cut-over lands (preferred location St. Louis or Itasca county), which will likely cost him around $250, 15 per cent of which will have to be paid in cash, also interest at 4 per cent in advance for one year, together with the cost of having some one show him some of the state lands will probably bring the necessary cash outlay up to $125. The land will double in value in ten years, without his improving it at all. Just pay the interest on the unpaid balance and keep up the taxes. Loan $500 to a settler, located preferable adjoining his own little plot, so as to be sure some one is going to live near his own place and help develop that locality. Then place the balance of his money in a savings bank, to insure some quick assets in case he gets fired before he wants to quit, or sickness visits him or his family. Hold his job for five years more, at which time he should have property and cash to the value of his second $1,000 and be 40 years old, at which time a man is supposed to be able to decide what is best for his own particular case.

W. A. Burdick, R. F. D. No. 7, Rockford, Ill.—Invest your $1,000 in a building lot in a good neighborhood, inhabited by the middle class. Build a small, attractive cottage costing from $1,500 to $2,000. This can be obtained on a five or ten-year mortgage at 6 per cent. Use this for a home. The interest charge for rent on this would be from $7.50 to $10 per month. This amount added to taxes and an economic upkeep would make a saving in rent which would be a material saving of salary. The advance in real estate value in a live community in ten years would be a snug nestegg. Nothing anchors a man like a home of his own. It makes an investment in a community of whose environment he knows of or may know. It keeps his money at home. It permits the tenure of an occupation of which he is familiar. It requires no social change which is often untenable. It removes the risk of inadaptability in other pursuits, ignorance of the new venture perchance, or a ruinous competition.

All new ventures in either production or distribution must face a much stronger competition than existed twenty-five years ago. Most successful reduction or distribution requires much larger capital than was necessary a quarter of a century ago.

The above plan also removes all tendency to gambling, which is always baneful.

The above is submitted on the premise that the party is married or about to be.

G. B. Heath, Hovey—In answer to "I've Got the First $1,000: What Shall I Do With It?" I would advise this:

Get a piece of good old Minnesota soil. Get onto it with that little woman and the children. That partner who has helped you to save the first $1,000 is worth $1,000,000 to you right now and in the future.

She's a jewel, don't forget that.

Quit working for someone else. You will always be poor and you both are getting old.

Put your money into something that appreciates instead of depreciating and that will be Minnesota land.

Then hustle.

Every day's work is yours. The old clock be banged.

Keep hustling.

Take the little woman's advice always and then plug away.

Plan for the future and not for today only. The old farm will be an asset in your old age for yourself and the children.

Resolve not to be a trailer. Think and act for yourself. Take a half dozen good farm papers and The Duluth Herald and keep step with modern methods in farming and the doings of the world. Don't hibernate or grow moss. Be a farmer, indeed. It is the highest calling on earth. A thousand isn't much, but lots of men have started with less. It will go a long way if you know how to make it.

The farm is no get-rich-quick scheme, but if you are planning to live it will be the nicest old home when you arrive at the time when you sit on the porch with your cane and dream of the days when the whistle blew and you started to your day's work for someone else's profit.

Become your own boss.

Be free if you would be happy.

Employers want young blood in their business. You will get old in time and your job will be turned over to a younger man. What will you do then?

It took you ten long years to save that first thousand. You could have owned 160 acres by now had you worked as hard on the farm as at your present employment, and the farm would be a mighty poor one if it were not worth several times that with ten years laid out upon it.

Minnesota land appreciates in value yearly. What better investment then than a piece of state land with deferred payments covering forty years.

Land is wealth and always has to him who works it and plans to get ahead instead of trying to grow a mortgage upon it.

Get the land and then hustle.

Jacob Garon, 301 East Fifth street—Contrary to the average man of 35, who, after saving $1,000 of his salary after ten years of working is unable to determine what to do with the money, I have been planning during that period, at the end of which I am ready. Having laid aside the "cat and rat ranch" scheme, and all others of the same nature, I determined to start in some business that is most suitable to my ability and taste, the business, of course, to be conducted on a small scale at first. Half of the amount I have saved I shall leave in the bank, and invest the other half in the business. The $500 that I shall have left in the bank will serve two purposes. First, to draw living expenses from in case the business does not bring returns at the start, since no business does that; second, should the business prove to be a failure, I shall have something to fall back upon. The second part, I am convinced, will not have to be resorted to; but everything must be taken into consideration, since the most careful of planning may come to naught. After doing all this I feel certain that the business, if conducted to the best of my ability, will succeed.

The man in search of advice may take a hint from this.

Leo Prodinski, 211 Oak street, Virginia—If I was that man that has that $1,000 I would buy two or three acres of land about two or three miles out of town, and there start up in the poultry business. There is no hard work about it. His children would enjoy it a whole lot, and his wife would not have much to do. Eggs are getting to a pretty stiff price now and I think that man will like that kind of business and so will the rest of the family.

R. F. Chute, Ray, Minn.—I would suggest to the man that has $1,000, more or less, that he invest it in Koochiching county, Minnesota farm land. He can buy rich, black soil without rocks and partially timbered at from $8 to $10 per acre, according to location.

If he wishes to make a home and farm on this land he can make money and if he wishes to hold it for speculation he is a sure winner. This county is new and land will double in value rapidly.

"I'VE GOT THE FIRST $1,000; WHAT SHALL I DO WITH IT?"

For the second of its series of contests The Herald has an interesting problem which comes to it in the form of a letter that explains itself:

To the Editor of The Herald:

We have often been told—at least we used to be—by rich men that the hardest work on the road to wealth is to get the first $1,000.

I've got that sum now—saved it out of my salary during ten years. Who will tell me how to go the rest of the way? How shall I invest it? Shall I go into business, and what kind, and how?

I am 35 years old, with a wife and two small children, and have a fair position with a living salary, but that's about all. Probably I could, if nothing happened, save another $1,000 in another ten years, but with the cost of living going up faster than salaries—and I can't expect mine to go much higher than it is—it is going to be harder. If I am ever going to start out for myself and gain independence or wealth, now is the time for me to begin, while I am strong and healthy and young.

What shall I do with myself and my $1,000—and my family?

Here's a real problem, a vital one that will interest everybody; and The Herald hopes to see a large and interesting variety of answers. It hopes, too, that men who have traveled the road that lies before this young inquirer will take part in the discussion. The prizes will, of course, be no temptation to them; but this is a subject of wide interest, and they should be glad to contribute their wisdom and experience to its solution.

Write out your answer, limit it to 300 words, put your name and address at the top of the sheet, write on one side of the paper only, and send it to the Contest Editor of The Herald before Feb. 1.

For the best answer to this young man's problem The Herald will give a prize of $10.

For the next best answer The Herald will give a prize of $5.

For the third best answer The Herald will give a prize of $3.

J. B. COTTON IS BACK FROM EAST

Duluth Man Says Business Outlook Is Much Brighter.

Joseph B. Cotton returned late yesterday afternoon from the East. Since leaving Duluth, over six weeks ago, Mr. Cotton has been enjoying a brief vacation in California, was before the Stanley investigating committee in Washington, and has been in New York.

Referring briefly to the hearing and some of the remarks that have been made, Mr. Cotton declared that his dispatch from the East thoroughly covered the situation as it now existed. He stated that there was nothing new that could come from him.

"Business is looking fine," said Mr. Cotton. "The copper outlook is better. In the East there is a spirit of optimism. Generally speaking the situation is better than it has been for some time and the prospects are that it will continue to get better."

REALTY DEAL CAUSE OF SUIT

Martin Brown Claims Lot Was Misrepresented—Allegation Denied.

Claiming that Olaf G. Olson showed him one lot and sold him another, Martin Brown is suing Mr. Olson for $1,650 as the result of a real estate deal between the two men which was made in 1893.

The plaintiff claims that in 1893 he purchased a lot from Mr. Olson in Merritt's addition. At that time the streets were not cut through and he claims to have relied absolutely on Mr. Olson's word for the exact location of the lot.

He claims to have purchased lot No. 4, the one shown him, but last summer he found that he had built a house on lot No. 8. This he claims is no fault of his as he thinks he erected the house on the lot that Mr. Olson showed him.

The fact that he had built his house on the wrong lot was pointed out to him by a neighbor, he says. He states that he has no right on the lot now occupied by his house and asks damages.

In his answer Mr. Olson denies all the allegations of Brown's complaint. He states that he showed Brown the lot he finally purchased and that if Brown erected a house on the wrong lot it is no fault of his. Mr. Olson claims he made a reduction in the price because the lot sold was in a ravine, and this was fully understood by Mr. Brown.

DULUTH'S GRAND OPERA SEASON IS OPENED

MME. LIDIA LEVY AS "LUCIA."

Before a most disappointly small audience, and under the heavy handicap of having no special scenery and singing in a cold theater, caused by the opening of the large rear stage door in order to bring in the late arriving stage equipment, the Lambardi Opera company last evening provided the faithful few in attendance with the musical treat of the season.

It was a most unauspicious opening of Duluth's grand opera season, but the redeeming feature of it is that there is still an opportunity for Duluthians to realize their opportunities.

The special train carrying the 100 members of the company did not arrive in the city until nearly 7 o'clock, owing to the severe cold. There was no chance to hang the special scenery carried, and only the theater scenery was available. Then the opening of the stage door chilled the theater, and the singers shivered on the stage, while many in the audience wore their wraps. But all of these handicaps will be removed tonight. The company has had an entire day to arrange its scenery, and if the standard of their work last evening is any criterion, the performance this evening should rank with anything that Duluthians are accustomed to travel to Chicago or St. Paul to hear.

The familiar and popular "Lucia di Lammermoor" was the opera chosen for presentation last evening. This is probably the best known of Donizetti's operas, and the story is familiar to the majority of people. It is based upon Sir Walter Scott's novel, "The Bride of Lammermoor." Musicians criticise it as "conventional," and say that Donizetti fell short of his best work in it, but there are many passages of real power in the opera, and it is one that never fails to appeal to the average music lover. The beautiful sextet is almost as well known as the popular ragtime songs, and it never fails to thrill. The gloomy air in which the hero calls on the spirits of his forefathers is another rare gem, and the mad scene, a smooth charming melody ending in a cadenza divided between the flute and the voice, is another. The audience last evening insisted on an encore for both the latter and the sextet.

Mme. Lidia Levy sang the title role of Lucia last evening. She has been called "the little Tetrazzini," Duluth has never heard the only Luisa, but her namesake was certainly received with open arms last evening. This tiny artist possesses a clear, flutelike tone, and handles the bird-like notes of the top of the register seemingly with the greatest of ease. Her voice has a clear, ringing quality, and surprising volume. The difficult role of Lucia was apparently well within her abilities, and she left the impression of always having something in reserve.

Only six other principals are called for in the caste. Angelo Antola gave a finished performance in the role of Henry Ashton. He has a full, rich baritone voice, and is a good actor as well. Manuel Salazar as Edgar of Ravenswood, grew upon the audience. He suffered from a rather unfortunate makeup, and his first impression was not pleasing, but his work told before the first act was over, and his intelligent handling of the passage in which he visits the grave of his forefathers following the death of Lucia, was one of the most exquisite pieces of vocalization heard during the evening.

Atonio Sabellico's impressive physique and deep bass voice made the chaplain's role stand out. In the less important roles of Norman, Lord Arthur Bucklaw and Alice, R. Marchesini, Arilde Neri and Adalgisa Giana were thoroughly satisfying.

The orchestra is excellent. Duluthians have been trained to appreciate good orchestra music, through the frequent visits of the Twin City organization, and the splendid playing of the orchestra last evening was not lost on the small but very enthusiastic audience. The conductor, Chevalier Guerri, uses no baton, and rarely consults his score, but he gave an intelligent, artistic and finished performance. The flute accompaniment to the mad scene was exquisite.

"Thais" will be sung this evening with a new caste of principals. Tomorrow afternoon "Carmen" will be the bill, and tomorrow evening "Madam Butterfly."

The attendance last evening was deplorably small, probably owing in part to the bitter cold weather, but when Duluthians realize that the Lambardi company offers a first-class substitute for a trip to St. Paul or Chicago they should fill the theater. "Seeing" Mary Garden sing may be a better advertised form of amusement than listening to other artists, but it is doubtful if either St. Paul or Chicago will offer a more satisfying production to the music lover than that offered by the Lambardi company.

MABELLE ADAMS
At the Orpheum.

Amusement Notes.

Seldom is the combination of a good musician and a good actress found. Mabelle Adams, who is appearing at the Orpheum this week in the dramatic little sketch "Zilla" is not only an accomplished musician, but an excellent actress as well. The sketch was written for the purpose of displaying her ability as a violin player, and it answers the purpose well. It is also a very dramatic little playlet, and offers her scope for intelligent and forceful acting. She does not fail to take advantage of this opportunity, and her act is one of the most popular features of this week's bill.

It is doubtful if a program better calculated to attract and amuse the public than the one being presented this week has been seen at the Empress in a long time. Each act possesses genuine merit. Heading the bill are Joe Maxwell's dancing girls. Mr. Maxwell has submitted some fine attractions to the public, but it is doubtful if any have equalled the dancing girls from an entertaining standpoint. The girls are all clever singers and dancers, their costumes elaborate, and the lighting and scenic effects surpass anything yet presented at the Empress. The act is presented in four scenes, the first being Toyland, followed by Iceland. From Iceland one is transported to a cotton field in the Sunny South, which is followed by the famous rain scene. This last scene is most realistic, and while the rain patters merrily, the girls sing and dance in a most pleasing manner. As a whole the act is an excellent one and one that can be heartily enjoyed. Another attraction of extra merit is "The Girl From Yonkers," as presented by Miss Mae Devlin & Co. The central figure in the playlet is a supposedly innocent country lass who seemingly in error, enters the apartments of a young man but with full intent to carry off everything not nailed down. She succeeds very well in accomplishing her desire, but it is the manner in which she accomplishes it which proves most amusing. Miss Devlin as Daisy, the country lass, is charming and handles her role in an excellent manner. John Kaufman as the wise city boy, also does some excellent work and holds up his end of the playlet in fine style.

The other three acts on the bill are fully up to the standard.

BLOOD POISON PERMANENTLY CURED

Pimples, spots on the skin, sores in the mouth, ulcers, falling hair, bone pains, catarrah, etc., are symptoms. Delays are dangerous. Send at once to Dr. Brown, 935 Arch street, Philadelphia, for Brown's Blood Cure. Convincing proof in a $2.00 bottle—lasts a month. Sold in Duluth by Max Wirth, 13 West Superior street, and by all druggists.

When some enthusiastic citizen, with a tear in his eye tells of the terrible things that happen to drunks in the local police court, the records will be ready for him.

In compiling the records of the police court for the annual report, Deputy Clerk Walter J. Richeson has made a separate classification of the drunks and a brief analysis of the figures is interesting as well as enlightening.

During the year 1911, exactly 2,949 charges of drunkenness were entered on the books of the police court. Of this total 1,661, or considerably more than half received suspended sentences, being allowed to go as soon as they had been arraigned; 456 paid the minimum fine, and 38 paid fines greater than $3; while 794 were committed to the county jail. Of the latter the majority were sent up to serve sentences of three days.

That is "some showing," as the man standing near the railing expressed it when he heard the figures read. The person who goes to the police court regularly knows what goes on. Watching the grist morning after morning, he knows that of the number committed but very few are sent to jail on the first offense. If these cannot pay a fine of $2, they are given their liberty unless they have committed some more serious offense than becoming voluntarily intoxicated. It must also be borne in mind that of the 794 commitments, quite a few might have been for one person. Duluth, as well as every other city, has its bunch of "old timers." They are brought in by the police and sent to the county jail. When they get out they get drunk again as soon as they can. It is not at all unusual for some of these to be back in the city jail the same day that they are turned out of the county bastile. And sometimes the court finds a man before him who is on the verge of delirium tremens. It would hardly do to turn him out in that condition, and he is sent to the county jail for five to twenty days to sober up and receive medical treatment.

Duluth hasn't any city hospital or any work farm. Nobody knows better than Judge Cutting and Judge Windom how badly the work farm, particularly, is needed. But they have to meet conditions as they find them and the records show how they are handling the problem.

Even a little investigation of some of the cases which come from the poor farm, shows that all people are not endowed with a spirit of charity.

Information is generally picked up when there is a death at the institution. Not all deaths, but some of them. Then the relatives appear. Sometimes it may be a son, or maybe a brother, and sometimes a sister or daughter. It is after the death that they claim the body. While their relatives were alive they allowed them to stay at the poor farm. When they pass into the great beyond they summon the undertaker to give them a proper burial. And that's where the information comes out. The relatives who have been living in town in comfortable circumstances do not want anybody to know that the deceased died at the poor farm. They wait it kept out of the newspapers. Once in a while they will make the request personally, but generally they are so ashamed that they get some third person, or the undertaker, to make the request. When they had an opportunity to make life pleasant for the old people for it is nearly always an old person who is sent or allowed to go there, they had no time for them. They think, or at least seem to think, that they have done their full duty when they save them the stigma of being buried in the paupers' field.

Another such case came to light today. The relatives are not financially able to care for the destitute ones, but in other instances they are.

Dancing a jig was an unfortunate experience for Mike Eluk yesterday afternoon. While kicking his heels in his boarding house near Twelfth avenue west and Michigan street yesterday afternoon he lost his balance. In striking the floor he broke his leg. He was taken to St. Mary's hospital, where it was set by Dr. Graham.

Percy Johnstone and William Quirk "put one over" on Secretary Dinwiddie of the Associated Charities yesterday, and in turn had "one put over on them" by the police. The secretary gave the men tickets entitling them to jobs. Going down to the bowery, Quirk sold his for a dollar, telling the purchaser that it would get him a job with big wages. Johnstone was trying to sell his to another victim when Patrolman Connor appeared on the scene. He sent them both to headquarters on charges of vagrancy, and when they admitted the allegation in police court this morning they were sent over the hill for twenty days each.

Frank Proznovich wants to go back to his old home in Hungary. He went to the police yesterday afternoon and asked them to deport him. He was locked up for vagrancy and on pleading guilty was sent to the county jail for twenty days. The federal authorities were notified and will investigate the case.

* * *

When Patrolman Danielson was arresting Ed Erickson for being drunk yesterday, his brother, Andrew Erickson, thought he could take better care of him than the police. He was too insistant and he was taken to the station with his brother. Ed didn't deny that he was drunk when arraigned with the grist this morning, and as it was his first offense, sentence was suspended. And the conduct of his brother was considered so natural that the case against him was dismissed.

Walter Gravelle was placed on parole for three months when he was brought into police court yesterday afternoon for non-support. He promised to get on the water wagon and turn his wages over to his wife.

Ole Oleson, a St. Croix avenue saloon keeper, arrested on a charge of selling liquor on Sunday, will be tried Jan. 16, the case being continued to that date in police court today.

BRAINERD HAVING CHURCH REVIVAL

PLEASED AT COUNCIL'S ACTION

West Duluthians Delighted at Prospect of Park Extension.

Residents in West Duluth are well pleased with the action of the city council last evening in passing the resolution offered by the park board to condemn the property along the river front between Sixty-third and Sixty-ninth avenues west for park purposes. This will extend Fairmont park to the water front. The land to be condemned containes 104 acres, 40 under water.

"It is no more than right that the city should be allowed to buy this property," said one of the West Duluth business men this morning. "Duluth needs such a park and this is the best opportunity offered the city for acquiring the property. Our park committee of the Commercial club should be congratulated for its untiring efforts to get the council to condemn the property."

W. B. Getchell, Dr. I. T. Burnside, James Forbister, A. G. Macauley, David Sang, Lieutenant Wilcox and Thomas Olafson represented the West Duluth Commercial club at the council meeting last evening.

EVENTS AT CURLING CLUB NEAR FINALS.

At the Western Curling club last evening Dr. Judson defeated Clark in the Union Match event, 11 to 9, entering the semi-finals with Zauft and Iltis. The scheduled game between Method and Ashley in the Commercial club event for the right to meet Dr. Judson for the trophy was postponed until this evening. Holland defeated Evered, 12 to 11, in the Esterly event.

This evening Evered is matched with Buckley, Iltis will play Brown, and Holland will meet Wade in the Esterly event. The following is the present standing in the Commercial club and Union Match events:

BURGLARS ENTER HARDWARE STORE.

Burglars broke into the C. J. Ketchum hardware store, 232 Central avenue, last night and stole about $25 worth of merchandise from the cases. They took four revolvers, four cheap watches, several sets of cuff links, cartridges and pocket knives. The police believe that the work was done by four boys who live in this end of the city.

That the thieves were familiar with the store and its contents is shown by the fact that they drilled a hole in the back door with a bit, just a few inches above the bolt. Then by sliding a finger through the hole one of them managed to pull the bolt and open the door. The revolvers and watches were kept in a case which was locked and the key kept in a small drawer. The boys found the key and opened the case, taking just enough articles to go around. No money was taken.

ANNUAL MEETING OF WESTERN STATE BANK.

Directors of the Western State bank of West Duluth will hold their annual election of officers this afternoon in the president's office. The following directors elected last week by the stockholders at the annual election will be at the meeting this afternoon: James Cochran, A. H. Donald, J. A. Scott, Dr. David Graham, Louis Ramsted, Charles T. W. Korth, A. J. Meldahl, Frank H. Wade, S. J. Nygren, A. Henrikson, H. R. Elliott, L. A. Barnes and J. P. Wier.

The officers of the bank for the past year and who will probably be re-elected for the following year are: James Cochran, president; A. H. Donald, vice president, and L. A. Barnes, cashier.

WATER FRONT IN RANGE EXPLODES.

In an explosion of the water front in the range at the home of C. H. Gidding of New Duluth yesterday morning, the entire kitchen was wrecked and Miss Ann Goddell, a domestic, narrowly escaped serious injury. Quick work on the part of Mr. and Mrs. Gidding prevented a serious blaze.

The water in the tank had frozen during the night and when the girl went down to light the fire yesterday morning, the tank exploded, demolishing the stove and tank. Mr. and Mrs. Gidding heard the explosion and rushed down stairs, putting out the fire themselves. A small piece of a stove cover hit Miss Goddel, causing a slight wound.

EXHIBIT BABY WITH TWO HEADS.

Residents in West Duluth are strongly objecting to an exhibition that is being held at 312 Central avenue, in which an embalmed child is being shown in a glass case. The child was born with two heads and died immediately after its birth and is now being shown in the various towns in this part of the state. A small admission is charged.

Sergeant Barber of the West Duluth station said last evening that a permit should never have been given allowing the exhibition and that it was an outrage and insult to a community. It is probable that the permit will be cancelled after the protests of the residents are heard.

Mrs. Hannah Anderson Dies.

Mrs. Hannah Anderson, 85 years, who had been living for the past year with her daughter, Mrs. Nils Hanson, 4508 Third street, died at 5:30 o'clock last evening after a brief illness. The funeral will be held at 2:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon from the Fillatrault undertaking rooms. Rev. Edwin Stromberg of the First Swedish M. E. church will officiate and interment will be in the Oneota cemetery.

APPROVE PLANS FOR NEW DULUTH JAIL.

At the council meeting last evening the borad of public works was directed to advertise for bids for the construction of the new jail at New Duluth, following the report of the board that the plans would be approved by the state board of control.

The plans for the building were drawn by Ellerbe, Round & Sullivan, local architects, and call for a brick, concrete and absolutely fireproof structure. Among the other features of the new building are private apartments for the officers in charge, a room for vagrants, three cells for men prisoners and one for women. The building will cost $5,000.

West Funeral.

The body of Andrew West, 40 years old, 725 South Sixty-ninth avenue west, who was found frozen to death early Sunday morning five miles from Deer River, Minn., arrived in the city this morning and was taken to the Richter undertaking rooms from where the funeral was held at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon. Rev. Gustav Oberg of the Swedish-Finnish Lutheran church, officiated and interment was in the Oneota cemetery.

To Attend Big Meeting.

The members of Old Hickory camp, Modern Woodmen, will attend the social session at Imperial camp at Duluth this evening in a body. They will meet at the lodge rooms at 7:30 o'clock and take street cars downtown.

Gave Beer Away on Sunday.

Pete Christoff, keeper of a poolroom at New Duluth, gave a bottle of beer to Patrolmen Root and Brouillette Sunday. Today he was arrested on a charge of furnishing liquor unlawfully. He entered a plea of guilty but his case was set over until this afternoon for final disposition to enable the court to make a further investigation of the circumstances.

New Secretary Chosen.

Melvin A. Becklinger was last evening elected secretary of the New Duluth Commercial club at a special session of the board of directors for the purpose of getting a successor to J. T. Youngberg, who resigned recently. All the new officers of the club will be installed at a special meeting this evening. They are: Dr. C. J. Wallace, president; Noble Sampson, vice president; M. A. Becklinger, secretary; and G. H. Lewis, treasurer.

The reports for the year will be read this evening, and the president will appoint the standing committees for the year. The committees to be appointed are: Public affairs, membership, wholesale and retail, and streets and sidewalks.

Dissolve Partnership.

Scott & Kreidler, real estate dealers in West Duluth, have dissolved partnership and the company has been taken over by J. A. Scott. Mr. Kreidler is planning on entering the banking business in West Duluth.

Sprained Her Arm.

Mrs. Emil Erickson, 320 North Fifty-first avenue west, fell while walking on the sidewalk this morning and severely sprained her arm. She was taken to Dr. D. E. Seashore's office where her arm was dressed.

Falls Asleep in Shed.

Mike Doyle, 7021 Raleigh street, was found in a shed at 19 Sluth Sixty-third avenue west by one of the West Duluth policemen early this morning and was taken to his home. He was drunk when he left Central avenue to go to his home and fell down near the shed, finally crawling in and going to sleep. He was found about 1 o'clock this morning, and was badly frostbitten.

Rinks Are Flooded.

The rinks at the New Duluth Curling club in the Atlas building at the foot of Commonwealth avenue were flooded last evening and the members of the club will start play tomorrow evening. The club hopes to enter a rink in the Northwestern bonspell, which begins in Duluth next Monday. The officers of the club elected at the meeting last Friday are: A. C. Anderson, president; U. C. Tower, vice president; H. W. Connors, treasurer, and W. L. Dash, secretary.

West Duluth Briefs.

The congregation of the Westminster Presbyterian church, Fifty-eighth avenue west and Ramsey street, will hold a special meeting tomorrow evening for the purpose of issuing a call for a pastor.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl J. Johnson are the parents of a son and daughter born this morning.

The Ladies' Aid society of the Merritt Memorial M. E. church will be entertained tomorrow afternoon at the home of Mrs. Harry Merritt, 4610 Magellan street.

The official board of the Merritt Memorial M. E. church, Forty-sixth avenue west and Halifax street, will meet in the pastor's study this evening.

The Ladies' Aid society of the West Duluth Baptist church will be entertained tomorrow afternoon at the home of Mrs. M. E. Allen, 608 North Fifty-seventh avenue west.

Mrs. W. H. Hawkins, 601 North Sixtieth avenue west, returned home yesterday from a visit among relatives in the East.

The Plymouth Home and Foreign Missionary society of the Plymouth Congregational church will hold its annual meeting Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. T. F. Olson, 512 North Fifty-ninth avenue west.

Evangelist William Hume of Lowry, Minn., conducted the gospel services last evening at the New Duluth Baptist church.

Hard on Southerner.
H. W. Fletcher of New Orleans is a guest at the Holland. Mr. Fletcher came to Duluth when the thermometer was hovering around the 30-below mark and has bravely stuck to his post—or to the hotel. He said today the present weather was the coldest he had ever experienced. He isn't taking any chances of getting a frozen ear or a frozen nose, for the hotel people conveyed the information that he had played tag with the steam radiator since coming to the Holland.

Blumenthal Goes East.
Ben Blumenthal, manager of Leiser & Co.'s store, left last evening for the East on a special buying trip to replenish the store's stocks, made necessary by the great volume of business done during the half price sale. As Leiser & Co. never do anything by halves the public can expect a sensational sale of women's and misses' outer garments on Mr. Blumenthal's return.

Case Is Dismissed.
Late this afternoon Judge Dancer dismissed the action of Martin Brown against Olaf G. Olson upon a motion for dismissal being made by Attorney Andresen, who appeared for the defendant. Brown claimed that Olson had shown him one lot and sold him another which resulted in the building of a house on the wrong lot. The real estate deal took place in 1893. He asked damages of $1,600. Mr. Olson denied all the allegations of the complaint.

Reports of Heavy Canadian Stocks of Wheat Pull Down Prices.

Slack Demand and Bearish Argentine News Cheapen the Flax.

Duluth Board of Trade, Jan. 9.—Reports of large stocks of Canadian wheat, of which no note had previously taken, proved to be a powerful bearish factor on the North American wheat markets today. Duluth May closed at a loss of ½@⅝c, in spite of persistent reports of bad harvesting weather in Argentina, and bullish European cables Cash wheat closed at the May price. Durum closed ⅝c off, oats ¼c off, rye 1c up, and corn and barley unchanged. January Duluth flax closed 2¼c down and May 1½c down.

The wheat markets of the world this morning presented a peculiar situation. The North American markets were heavy and bearish, in spite of bullish news from Liverpool, Paris, Berlin and Buenos Ayres, and reports of more damage to the Argentine wheat crop by bad weather. The exceedingly heavy yield in Canada, as reported by Bradstreet's, was the principal bearish factor on this side of the North Atlantic.

Last night Buenos Ayres January wheat closed 1⅞ cents off and February 1⅜ cents up. B. W. Snow reported heavy thunderstorms over the southern part of Argentina, and said no progress to speak of was being made with the harvest. Such reports as these and the announcement that the Argentine railroad strike was spreading and rapidly tying up the freight traffic of the country, bulled wheat at Liverpool, Paris and Berlin in spite of favorable European crop conditions, freer Australian offers and the expectation of a larger world's visible supply. Liverpool closed with wheat ½@⅝d higher.

On the North American continent the main bullish factor was the strong foreign demand for wheat, as reported by Montreal. It has been very hard, however, to get the proper facilities for moving the wheat to supply this demand. There has been an embarrassing congestion of wheat in Western Canada, and this condition has had its natural effect on the markets of Canada and the United States. Much Canadian wheat has been moving into this country for storage in bond and a great deal of it is finding sale here in spite of the duty. Today American primary receipts did not vary a great deal from those of a week ago or a year ago. The domestic demand for wheat was very poor. Both Minneapolis and Chicago reported their wheat markets very heavy. Bradstreet's report of the world's visible supply was a big bullish factor on all the North American markets. He reported an increase of 7,925,000 bu, mostly in Canadian wheat, consisting of stocks not previously reported. Duluth May wheat, which closed yesterday at $1.06½@1.06⅝ asked, opened today at $1.06¾, and at noon was selling at $1.05¾. Declines were reported at that time at Chicago, Minneapolis and Winnipeg.

Flax Is Lower.

Flax trade was not active on the Duluth board this morning. The paint trade has been dull, and that in turn has caused a light demand for linseed oil and linseed. What selling there was at Duluth was largely to Eastern crushers. At times some time offers were also conservative, so that there was no great sagging in the market, though values did lose a little. Another bearish influence was the news from Buenos Ayres. On that market January receded last night to close at $2.17½, a decline of 2¾ cents since the day before, and this morning there was a further decline of 1⅝ cents. At noon today Duluth January and May flax were both down a cent.

Broomhall wired from Liverpool: "The wheat market opened with a steady undertone and values ⅛@¼d higher. The weaker American cables yesterday and the decline in Buenos Ayres were offset by shorts covering on the continued unsettled weather in Argentina, in the province of Buenos Ayres, and less favorable reports. European crop conditions are generally favorable. Spot markets are easy. Australian offers are freer and it is expected that the visible will show a large increase for the week against a decrease the previous week. These influences, although potent, were without effect and following the opening there was further heavy covering by shorts and buying by prominent interests here, and prices advanced ⅝@¾d from the opening level with the principal strength in March. The railway strike in Argentina is spreading and with the scarcity of Plata offers it is feared that arrivals will be deferred. The quality of Argentine arrivals at the ports is unsatisfactory and conservative firms here are estimating the surplus of wheat at 92,000,000 bu. The Argentine situation at present is the controlling influence in this market. At 1:30 p. m. the tone was strong and ⅛@⅞d higher than yesterday.

"Corn opened ⅛@¼d lower with free European offers but later advanced ⅛d with wheat. The market on the whole was dull but steady.

"The Argentine Buenos Ayres wheat market closed irregular, 1⅛@¼d lower than the opening. There was heavy realizing in the nearby months on the more favorable weather conditions for the movement."

CHICAGO MARKET.

Wheat Prices Tend to Rise on Argentine Estimates.

Chicago, Jan. 9.—Wheat prices today showed a tendency to rise. Much complaint was being made as to the quality of the Argentine shipments which had been received at British ports. Conservative firms were said also to be estimating the Argentine surplus as low as 92,000,000 bu. The opening here was ¼@½c higher. May started at $1.01⅝-¾ 1.01½, a gain of ⅜@½c but reacted to $1.01.

An apparent big increase in the world's available supply carried prices much lower despite statements that the showing was due to the addition of Canadian afloat stocks at Buffalo and Duluth. The close was easy with May down ⅝ net at $1.00⅝.

There was considerable scattered commission selling of corn. May opened unchanged to ¼c up at 64⅝@64⅞c and reacted to 64½@64⅝c.

Later the market felt the effect of the setback in wheat. The close was steady at 64⅜c for May, exactly the same as last night.

Oats though dull held firm until other grain began to weaken. May started the same as last night to a shade higher at 49¼@49⅜c, but gradually sagged to 49c.

A decline in hogs at the yards here and a big run at Western centers made provisions lower all around. First sales were at last night's level to 5c off, with May delivery $16.22½@16.25 for pork, $9.52½ for lard and $8.72½@8.75 for ribs.

Car lot receipts: Wheat 18 cars, with 4 of contract grade; corn 568 cars, with none of contract grade; oats 74 cars. Total receipts of wheat at Chicago, Minneapolis and Duluth today were 277 cars, compared with 473 cars last week and 212 cars the corresponding day a year ago.

MINNEAPOLIS MARKET.

Wheat Goes Down on Cash Demand and General Outlook.

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 9.—Wheat again today registered a decline. Prospects of a temporary increase in local receipts, an easier cash demand, and a heavy gain in the world's visible were bearish factors. Bullish Argentine cables caused strength at opening. Both May and July closed ½c lower than yesterday. Local elevator stocks decreased 150,000 bu for three days.

Carlot wheat receipts: Minneapolis, 212; week ago, 439; year ago, 142; Duluth, 47, week ago, 19; year ago, 38; Winnipeg, 361; week ago, 608; year ago, 92. Cash wheat was easier today. Demand was not as active and offerings showed a slight increase. Bulk of No. 1 northern sold early at ½c over May but late today mills bid only the even May price. Millstuffs: Shipments, 2,186 tons; market was steady today. Demand continued good for bran but slow for heavier grades. Mills well sold ahead. Wheat—May opened $1.07⅝@1.07¾; high, $1.07¾@1.07⅞; low, $1.06⅝@1.06¾; close, $1.07; July opened $1.08¾; high, $1.08¾; high, $1.08¾; low, $1.07⅝; closed, $1.07⅞@1.08. Closing cash—No. 1 hard, $1.08; No. 1 northern, $1.07@1.07½; to arrive, $1.07@1.07½; No. 2 northern, $1.05@1.05½; to arrive, $1.05@1.05½; No. 3 wheat, $1.03@1.03½; No. 3 yellow corn, 60c; No. 3 white oats, 46@46½c; No. 2 rye 91c; bran in 100-pound sacks, $23@23.50. Millstuffs generally reported very slow flour sales, although two noticed a slight improvement today. Shipping directions continued only fair and prices were unchanged. Shipments, 49,985 bbl. First patents, $5.30@5.60; second patents, $4.90@5.20; first clears, $3.70@4.05; second clears, $2.60@3.

Flax—Receipts, 16 cars; year ago, 8; Shipments, 3. Demand good for choice flax but slow for all other grades. Spot closed at even Duluth January contract and to arrive 1c lower. Closing price, 2.16¼; to arrive 2.15¼.

Midway Horse Market.

Minnesota Transfer, St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 8.—Barrett & Zimmerman report: The market is quiet and clearance is slow in all classes. Dealers think with the appearance of warmer weather that trade will improve. Heavy shipments of horses that have been detained in the country on account of the cold weather will arrive on the market during the next two or three days. A good number of inquiries are being received from Canadian buyers who plan to be in the market in the next few weeks. Shipments were made to Fond du Lac, Wis., Duluth, Minn., and Sands, Mich.

London Stocks.

London, Jan. 9.—American securities opened steady and about unchanged today. Later the market declined under realizing and at noon the tone was weak with prices ranging from unchanged to ⅜ below yesterday's New York closing.

WEAKNESS IN STOCKS

Business on Large Scale and Prices Have Sharp Slump.

Bear Raid Successful and Uncovers Many Stop Loss Orders.

New York, Jan. 9.—Heavy pressure was directed against the leading railway shares at the opening of the market today and prices receded rapidly. Union Pacific was once more subjected to a severe attack, opening with a sale of 5,000 shares of 169 to 168¾, an extreme loss of 1⅜. Canadian Pacific fell back 2 points and St. Paul 1 point. The industrial issues held fairly steady with the exception of United States Steel, which was forced back a point.

Prices stopped falling within a few minutes after business began but the resultant recovery was trivial and the development of weakness in certain specialties kept the list somewhat feverish. Interborough Metropolitan preferred declined 1½.

After a brief period of weakness, due largely to the alarm over the burning of the Equitable building, the stock market became quiescent, and displayed little life during the remainder of the morning. Early reports of the fire as sent to London led to selling of Americans there. When the New York market opened traders took their cue from the heaviness abroad and attacked the list. The weakness was more pronounced at the opening in the international list. Stock exchange houses were flooded with inquiries from their out-of-town correspondents and selling orders were heavy. The nervousness son wore off, but the list made only a small recovery. Large selling orders made their appearance again in Union Pacific and it receded to its initial low figure. Not much change occurred in other stocks, outside of Third avenue, which improved 1½. The general undertone was heavy and business was exceedingly light.

Bonds were easy.

Only a momentary response was made by the copper stocks to the monthly report of the Producers' association, which showed a reduction in stocks on hand of 22,300,000 pounds. Rock Island preferred was bid up 2 points, which aroused some interest in other Reid stocks, Lehigh Valley rising to 184. The tone of the general market was much better but stocks were in scant demand.

The market closed very weak. Acute weakness developed among the standard stocks in the final hour and business was on a large scale. Union Pacific again bore the brunt of the selling and gave way over 4 points. There was recessions of 1 to 2 points in most of the important stocks, including Southern Pacific, United States Steel, American Smelting, Amalgamated Copper. The movement bore the earmarks of a successful bear raid and uncovered many stop loss orders.

BOSTON COPPER STOCKS

The Boston stock quotations furnished by Gay & Sturgis, 326 West Superior street.

Boston, Jan. 9.—Copper Producers' figures were extremely bullish, fulfilling expectations of even the most optimistic. Notwithstanding this fact coppers closed weak under influence of a severe break in the general list led by Union Pacific. The cause for this break is not explained at present but its probability means further Washington action of some sort.

Copper shares can only be sentimentally affected by this and for a short time only. We hear on good authority of a sale of copper today for March delivery at 14¾.

This break may unsettle confidence for a day or so but not longer.

COPPERS SLUMP AT THE CLOSE

An unexpected and seemingly unaccountable slump took place in the copper stock market late in the session today. There was also a slump in the general stock list of New York. I. J. Sturgis wired from Boston that "somebody must have expected a blast of some kind from Washington." The London copper metal market closed at a decline of 1s 6d under yesterday. This was a slight decline and would not, in view of the general strength of the copper metal market, produce any slump in copper stocks. Some of the high-priced coppers closed as much as $2 under the close of last night.

New York, Jan. 9.—The statement of the Copper Producers' association for December shows a decrease in stocks on hand of 22,330,493 pounds compared with the previous month.

Production for December was 122,896,697 pounds as against 111,876,601 in November. Domestic consumption was 65,988,474 and exports, 79,238,716 pounds, compared w'th 68,039,776 and 67,049,279 respectively in November.

In the first three months of the calendar year, the stocks of metal on hand decreased 51,440,161 pounds. This was more than an offset to the first five months when increased stocks ranged from 20,409,295 pounds in January to 440,000 pounds in May.

ANDREW CARNEGIE IS WITNESS BEFORE THE STANLEY COMMITTEE

Laird of Skibo Tells Story of His Interest in Steel Trade.

Criticizes American Financial System as Panic Breeder.

Says Trust Problem Will Be Solved Without Revolution.

Washington, Jan. 10.—Andrew Carnegie was an involuntary witness today before the house committee probing the affairs of the United States Steel corporation.

Mr. Carnegie had once expressed a willingness to appear, but recently declined on the ground that he was named as a defendant in the government's suit against the Steel corporation. He was then subpoenaed.

When Mr. Carnegie took the witness stand he furnished the committee with a statement regarding steel industry conditions and told of his career in the business from the outset. The committee room was crowded with spectators, including many women.

Career Began in 1861.

Mr. Carnegie said he began his steel career in November, 1861, with the firm of Miller & Small, and that in 1862 he borrowed $1,500 from the National Bank of Pittsburg to engage in a partnership in the Keystone Bridge company at Pittsburg. He told of gradual expansions of his interests and said that 1867 saw the beginning of the Carnegie Steel company, Ltd. Chairman Stanley asked:

"What was the capital of your properties in the '90s?"

"My dear sir, I have no more idea than you have."

"I have an idea," replied Stanley. "Was it as much as $500,000?"

"Oh, yes, the Superior ore mill alone

$500,000,000 IS BURIED IN RUINS

Vaults in the Equitable Building Are Not Yet Reached.

New York, Jan. 10. — Half a billion dollars or more lie in the glowing ruins of the Equitable building, guarded by 140 policemen and detectives. The bulk of the Gould, Harriman, Ryan and Belmont estates and the vast securities of the Equitable Life Assurance society are locked in the vaults buried beneath hundreds of tons of debris. Streams of water still are playing on the smouldering ruins. All the vaults are believed to be intact.

The ruins still hold the body of Battalion Chief William Walsh. Two watchmen employed by the company also are missing and are believed to have perished in the fire, in which six lives were lost.

Because $50,000,000 to $75,000,000 in collateral of Wall Street loans are locked in the vaults, the governors of the stock exchange announced today another postponement of the day in deliveries.

Harriman Records Lost.

The records of the Harriman railroad line, showing the names and addresses of 40,000 stockholders were lost. A duplicate set of the names without the addresses was kept by the Mercantile Trust company. It is not known if these have been destroyed. If they are it will be necessary to advertise for the names and addresses of stockholders.

DELCASSE IN POWER AGAIN

Famous French Minister Recalled to Head Foreign Affairs.

Clemenceau Causes Split in Cabinet Over Moroccan Matter.

Paris, Jan. 10.—Theophile Delcasse, until now minister of marine in the French cabinet, has been offered and has accepted the portfolio of minister for foreign affairs in succession to Justin De Selves, who resigned yesterday after a dramatic scene during the meeting of the committee of the senate on foreign affairs. It is rumored today that other changes may occur in the ministry, and speculation is rife as to who will join the cabinet.

It was the "cabinet breaker," Georges Clemenceau, who brought about the ministerial crisis, as he has done on many previous occasions. He has been a thorn in the side of Premier Caillaux for some time, and was

PACKERS WIN ON ONE POINT

Alleged Armour Letters Are Stricken From Record By Court.

Pratt's Testimony Identifying Other Papers Also Ruled Out.

Chicago, Jan. 10.—United States District Judge Carpenter today struck from the record in the trial of the ten Chicago packers charged with criminal violation of the Sherman law, certain papers and letters bearing notations purporting to be in the handwriting of J. Ogden Armour, one of the defendants.

The ruling was on the motion of the defense, who contended that the presentation of the evidence to the jury without definite connecting links would be prejudicial to the defendants.

Other papers bearing similar notations purporting to be in the handwriting of other defendants were permitted by the court to remain in the record, but the court ruled out Jerome H. Pratt's testimony identifying the handwriting.

THEOPHILE DELCASSE.

Theophile Delcasse, once again foreign minister of France, is a former journalist. He was a deputy for some years and entered the administration as under secretary of the colonies in 1893. He was colonial minister in 1894-95 and acted as mediator between the United States and Spain in 1899.

ST. PAUL TICKET AGENT IS MISSING

M. D. Nealy of Union Depot Said to Be Short $15,000.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—M. D. Nealy, city ticket agent at the Union depot, has been missing for two days, it is said, and the police say shortages approximating $16,000 to date, exist in his accounts. Accountants of the company with which Nealy is bonded, who have been investigating Nealy's accounts, report, it is understood, a discrepancy of something like $15,000.

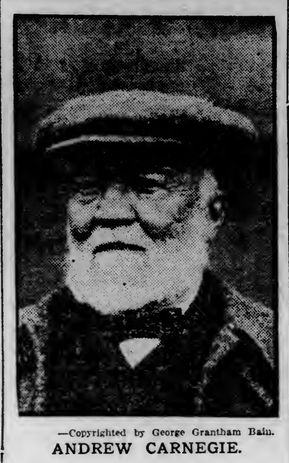

Nealy is bonded to the extent of $5,000. The bonding company said today it had a clew to Nealy's whereabouts, but refused to make it known. Nealy has been employed at the Union station for seven years as chief ticket seller.

THANK CZAR FOR ACTION IN PERSIA

Armenians and Mussulmans Send Telegram to Emperor.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 10—Some groups of Russian subjects, Armenians and Mussulmans, inhabiting the port of Enzeli on the Caspian sea, have telegraphed today to the emperor of Russia, thanking him for the restoration of order by his troops after four years of anarchy in Persia. The conditions which had prevailed during that period had, said the dispatch, ruined commerce and endangered life and property.

TO ABROGATE BOTH RULES

Democratic Leaders Would End Two-Thirds and Unit Rules.

Change Not Likely to Be Made at Coming Convention.

(By Willis J. Abbot.)

Washington, Jan. 10. — (Special to The Herald.) — The current number of Harper's Weekly contains a symposium upon the advisability of the continuance of the two-thirds rule in all the Democratic national conventions, to which some of the most prominent leaders of the party contribute.

There is indeed wide discussion of the subject among Democratic leaders, and it may be said with confidence that the general sentiment is against the maintenance of the rule and of the unit rule as well, though there is difference of opinion whther action should be taken in the 1912 convention. Neither do the national committeemen now gathered in Washington regard it as fit matter for committee action.

Democrats with whom I have talked on the subject may be divided into three groups:

1.—Those who believe that both rules should be abrogated at the coming convention. This is the smallest group, but contains some influential leaders, e. g., Senators Chamberlain

$2,000,000 RAILROAD EXTENSION

First Line Across the Extreme Northern Part of State.

Backus-Brooks Line Will Be Built to Thief River Falls.

Will Connect With the Soo and Great Northern Roads.

A $2,000,000 railway project, now under contemplation by the Backus-Brooks interests of Minneapolis, is expected to become a reality this year. If present plans mature, steel will be laid in the spring on the first railroad to run across the extreme northern part of the state.

The new railroad, which will be an extension of the Minnesota, Dakota & Western, the logging line of the Backus-Brooks Lumber company, will connect International Falls with Thief River Falls. There is now a gap of unsettled country extending for 150 miles between Loman and Thief River Falls. At Thief River Falls it will connect with the Soo road and Great Northern giving a new outlet to the West for the products of the paper mill and sawmill.

MORROW HEARING NEARING ITS END

Suicide Claim May Be Abandoned By the Defense.

Chicago, Jan. 10.—The state is expected to close its case today before Judge Fake in the preliminary hearing of Mrs. Rene B. Morrow, accused of the murder of her husband Charles B. Morrow. One or two minor witnesses are yet to be called by the prosecution.

Assistant State's Attorney Northrop predicted that the line of defense would be changed and that no attempt would be made by the woman's counsel to show that Morrow had committed suicide.

OLLIE M. JAMES.

Frankfort, Ky., Jan. 10.—On the ballot for a successor to U. S. Senator Thomas Paynter, whose term expires in March, 1913, Ollie M. James received 105 votes in the Kentucky legislature. His Republican opponent, Edwin P. Morrow, received 28 votes. Joint ballot in the house and senate confirming the selection of Representative James will be taken late today.

HAVE SENSE OF HUMOR

Thieves Loot McGregor Postoffice While Postmaster Prosecutes Case.

Uncle Sam's Agent Gets Hurry Call to Come Home.

Postoffice thieves at McGregor have a sense of humor.

While Postmaster J. W. Clark of McGregor, Aitkin county, was in Duluth giving evidence in a case against a prisoner for an offense against the McGregor postoffice, thieves looted the McGregor office of $75 in stamps and money.

Postmaster Clark received a telegram that the theft had occurred early today. He is attending federal court here and yesterday appeared before the grand jury to testify against a prisoner held for receiving and converting to his own purposes, a registered letter and money from the McGregor postoffice last September.

No details of the theft were given in the telegram received this morning by Postmaster Clark. A long distance message from McGregor to The Herald this afternoon carried the news that in addition to stealing the money from the office that an attempt had been made to set fire to the building.

Kerosene oil had been poured on the building, but evidently the plund-

Michigan People Suffer Severely While Stalled on Train.

Soo and Eastern Wisconsin Swept By Terrific Storm.

Spokane, Wash., Jan. 10.—A snowslide swept down upon a rotary plow near Cutbank, Mont., last night and several men are said to have been killed. A great storm is raging in that district and many telegraph wires are down. Details of the accident are not available.

Fierce Storm at Soo.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Jan. 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—Never in the history of the Soo weather bureau has such a severe combined wind and snow storm visited this section of Upper Michigan as prevailed yesterday afternoon and last night. Between ten and eleven inches of snow fell in six hours, and was accompanied by a thirty to forty-mile gale. All of the roads throughout the country are blocked and it will be a week before traffic becomes normal, even should there be no further fall.

Farmers who brought loads to town during yesterday forenoon became stormbound and are still here. Quite a number who started home were obliged to seek the nearest shelter.

Reports from the interior are that the storm was more severe there than in the immediate vicinity of the lakes. All trains are from three to six hours late.

The weather for the first eight days in January is far below the average. There has been considerable suffering among the poorer classes, and both the city and county have had numerous calls for assistance.

NEW YORK THIEF IS IN WINNIPEG

Charles Ross Says Prominent Men Will Go to Prison With Him.

New York, Jan. 10.—Two New York detectives left today for Winnipeg to take charge of Charles Ross, arrested there in connection with the robbery last March of Aaron Bancroft, an aged banker. Eight New York men, several of them prominent, are said to be involved in Ross's confession to the Winnipeg police.

To Hide Business Deal.

Winnipeg, Man., Jan. 10.—Making what the Winnipeg police declare to be a complete confession regarding his part in the theft of bonds valued at $97,000 from George Bancroft in New York city last March, Charles Ross, under arrest here, implicates, it is said, not only several prominent New York men, including one society man, two millionaire stock brokers and one club man, but says the theft was perpetrated for the purpose of covering up certain business transactions.

Prefacing his confession, Ross is reported to have said that he expected a long term in prison, but that when he went he expected to take others of a higher sphere in life with him. He has expressed his willingness to return to New York and will not fight extradition.

GOING WHERE IT GETS COLD

Prof. Parker Will Make New Effort to Climb Mount McKinley.

Steeps Attempted By Dr. Cook Once More Are Sought.

New York, Jan. 10.—With the summit of Mount McKinley as its goal, an expedition headed by Prof. Herschel C. Parker will leave New York within the next few days—possibly tomorrow.

The expedition will have as its station for supplies a trading post on the Susitna river about 150 miles from the base of the mountain. Five hundred pounds of pemmican, fifty pounds of alcohol for fuel above the timber line, tea, sugar, raising, dried fish, bacon and rice will be taken into the wilderness.

The party will be clad in wolfskins and soft, smoke-tanned moccassins, with spiked ice-creepers. So intense is the cold that mercury freezes, and to take the altitude Prof. Parker will carry a hypsometer, by which he

CRIMINAL COURT CASES

Municipal Tribunal Had Busy Year Dealing With Law Violators.

Money Collected in Fines Exceeds Cost of Conducting Court.

The municipal court handled 4,840 cases coming under the criminal classification during 1911, according to the figures for the annual report, which have been completed by Deputy Clerk M. S. Lloyd.

During the same period $18,846.23 was collected in fines, or several thousand dollars more than the total expense of conducting the court for the year.

Of the cases tried 3,599 were for violation of the state statutes, 1,080 were for violations of the city ordinances and 161 were cases preliminary to action by the grand jury. Of those up for violating state statutes 1,753 received suspended sentences, the majority of them being for drunkenness; 949 were committed, the majority for drunkenness; 152 cases were dismissed and 745 paid fines aggregating $3,599.

Of those charged with violating city ordinances 269 received suspended sentences, 175 were dismissed, 250 were committed and 386 paid fines amounting to $11,592.23. Of the 161 grand jury cases, 34 were dismissed. The cases handled included 2 murders, 1 manslaughter case, 2 first degree assault cases, 15 second degree assault cases, 4 of carnal knowledge, 1 abduction, 2 abandonments, 3 robberies, 6 attempted robberies, 41 grand larceny cases, 19 burglaries and 4 swindling cases.

The court heard 139 petty larceny cases, 78 third degree assault cases, 12 for interfering with an officer, 24 for violating the pure food laws, 23 non-support cases, 33 game law violations, 4 for tampering with an automobile, 7 for keeping unlicensed drinking places, 14 for running houses of ill fame, 9 for residing in a house of ill fame, 12 for visiting a house of ill fame, 22 common prostitutes, 293 for being disorderly, 181 for vagrancy, 35 or selling liquor without a license, 46 for gambling, 31 for carrying concealed weapons and 10 for selling liquor without a license.

The report only represents the criminal work which was handled in the court during the last year. In addition to this a large number of civil actions were tried.

ICE CUTS OFF THE APPLETON POWER

Thirty Plants Idle and Cars Stopped---May Dynamite Bridges.

Appleton, Wis., Jan. 10.—The power plant of the Wisconsin Light, Heat & Power company was today forced to close and about thirty manufacturing plants have shut down on account of lack of power, occasioned by the freezing up of what is known as the "middle dam" in the Fox river here.

Dynamite was used today to break the ice, but the broken ice got under the frozen surface and forced the water up several feet, though sixty men have been trying for twenty-four hours to get the ice out.

All the interurban cars are standing wherever they were when the power was was cut off. The thermometer is 20 deg. below zero. The water is already six feet above normal.

The railway companies have been asked to dynamite their bridges, as the ice has formed under them, making a solid jam and raising the water on the upper river side two and a half feet higher than on the down side.

Every newspaper plant in the city is closed down on account of the lack of power.

Milwaukee as an Example.

The Socialist administration of Milwaukee was used as the best example of the party's advancement in the United States in Ralph Korngold's address before the local organization at the Sons of Norway hall last evening. Mr. Korngold told of the advance of Wisconsin's largest city and how the workingmen have all benefited since the Socialists took hold.

Assessment Cut in Half.

The amount previously assessed on the Soo road and subsidiary companies for the paving of Main street will be reduced by one-half, according to a verdict returned by a circuit court jury yesterday afternoon. The Soo appealed from the assessment, claiming that the paving of the street did not benefit it.

Voting Machines for Election.

In order that all the voters may become accustomed to the new voting machines they were all placed in the regular polling places yesterday by City Clerk Norquist. The special election Jan. 23 when the Superior voters will decide whether they want the commission form of government, will be the first time that the machines will be used in this city.

COMING FOR BIG 'SPIEL

Winnipeg Clubs Will Enter Ten Rinks This Season.

Greatest Gathering of Curlers in History of Northwestern Association.

Word was received today that ten rinks are coming from Winnipeg to represent the Canadian city at the annual Northwestern bonspiel, which opens in Duluth Monday. Secretary Withrow of the bonspiel has not yet received all the names of the Winnipeg rinks. The Thistles, the Granites, the Strathconas, the Assiniboias, and Civics will probably be here, while Kenora may send a rink. The Brandon club and also the Winnipegosis club may also be here.

The bonspiel that opens Monday is to be the biggest ever held in the Northwest, if the present indications count. Last season there were no rinks from Winnipeg. Not only does Winnipeg promise to send more rinks than ever before, but several of the towns around the Western Canadian metropolis have indicated that they will send some of their best curlers.

"Bill" Hall, the father of curling, will not be here the present season. Matrimony sternly holds up a lily white deterring hand. "Bill" went and done it. He is not quite 70 and to one with his roseate temperament the world must remain ever young. But just the same he went to Florida, which is giving in some to the years and winter's blast.

Reedal of Phillips, Covey of Portage, and Blackstone of Portage, are coming, and Cameron, Wis., is going to send a rink. Not all of the outside towns have been heard from, but Secretary Withrow says he has the assurances that practically all of the rinks that were here last season will come again, with the addition of a large number of rinks that were not represented last year.

A rink that should get some of the jewelry is the combination of Sam Hastings and George Labatt's rinks. These two men are among the best curlers in the Northwest. Labatt is going to skip the rink, Hastings play third, J. A. Hunter will play second, and Walter Poehler will lead. This will make a combination very hard to beat.

If Braden of Winnipeg brings a rink down, the battle between the Winnipeg man, Dunbar and the combination rink of Minneapolis ought to prove a pretty fight.

From present indications no one rink will have a clean sweep as was the case with Dunbar's crack aggregation last season.

RIVALRY WAS BITTER

Trunk Dealers Had Each Other Arrested for Mailing Libelous Matter.

The new code of business ethics which two local trunk and bag retailers appear to have established, will probably be aired at the present term of federal court in Duluth.

Business jealousy prompted W. H. Sonderman, proprietor of the Twin Ports Trunk company, and E. W. Ellert, proprietor of the Northern Trunk company, to exchange several libelous postcards—and other things, it is alleged.

After Mr. Ellert received a card from Mr. Sonderman one day he hurried to the postoffice, showed the card to Inspector Smith and demanded Mr. Sonderman's prosecution. Mr. Smith interviewed Mr. Sonderman and the latter admitted it, it is claimed. Incidentally he showed the inspector some cards that he had received from Mr. Ellert. He in turn, asked for Mr. Ellert's arrest.

Both men were taken before the United States commissioners and bound over to the grand jury. Both are alleged to have admitted writing the cards and indictments will probably be returned.

The postcard episode is but a small matter as compared with other compliments which have been exchanged between the men, according to the stories which both men told the inspector.

Telephone messages gave each an opportunity to give vent to their feelings and neither was surprised to find a note from the other under the door when he opened his place of business in the morning.

That one of them hired a "sandwich" man carrying the advertisement of his firm and had him patrol up and down in front of his rival's place of business is one of the stories told.

SHETLAND'S TAME GULLS.

There are many small villages in the world that have only one street; but Lerwick, in Shetland, besides having only a single street possesses only one tree, and it is not a very tall one either. There are no birds there, not even a sparrow; but the sea gulls are plentiful.

The inhabitants of Shetland are very proud of their tree and very kind to the gulls, of whom the children make pets. Children who are brought for the first time to see the wonders of one streeted Lerwick are always shown, as a great curiosity, "the only tree in Shetland."

The sea gulls are the sparrows of Lerwick; and as such they have a greater share in the town's life than the sparrows of London. In the morning you will note that a sea gull sits on every chimney pot. Sea gulls swoop and hover over every roof in town. The air is full of their strange, high, plaintive, haunting cries.

Every house has its own familiar sea gulls and every street its own band of them. But, according to the Fruit Magazine, they never mix. The children in each house have a pet name for their own particular sea gulls; and, having called them by those names, they feed them every day.

Each sea gull knows what is meant for him. No bird attached to one house ever seeks to eat the food scattered from the house next door. He does not dare to do so. So all day long the sea gulls hover and call over the roofs of Lerwick.

The people of the town if they come across a little pile of rice laid upon the roadway step over it with care. They know that it has been placed ther for some sea gull. And at night the sea gulls leave their appointed chimney pots and fly gracefully away to their resting places on the rocks of the Isle of Noss.

SAY AFTON ONLY NEEDS A WHARF

Army Engineers Report Against Improving the Channel There.

Washington, Jan. 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—Gen. Bixby, chief of engineers, today sent to congress a letter saying that engineers who investigated conditions in the St. Croix river at Afton, Minn., report that it is not desirable to undertake improvements there now.

The improvement desired is the dredging of certain shoals in front of the town of Afton to permit boats to land. The district engineering officer says that there are deep-water approaches to within 100 feet of the shore at the upper end of the town and that there are good depths close to the bank about a quarter of a mile below the town. In the opinion of the district officer what is needed is a good wharf, and he does not consider the improvement worthy of being undertaken by the United States.

PRISONERS ARE ARRAIGNED

Frank Edward De Gray, indicted by the grand jury for grand larceny in the second degree, pleaded not guilty when arraigned before Judge Dancer of the district court this morning. It is claimed he stole $300 from Edward Berg.

Clarence Dunn pleaded not guilty to burglary in the third degree. He is accused of having broken into a Northern Pacific railroad car.

William Pallager pleaded not guilty to forgery in the second degree. He is accused of having forged a check for $20 on the Oneota Meat Market company.

Henry Hansen pleaded not guilty to burglary in the third degree. He is accused of having broken into a railroad car.

Lawrence Anderson pleaded not guilty to robbery in the first degree. He stole $25 from Dennis Shevlin, it is alleged.

ERRING BOY FALLS AGAIN

Passes Another Bad Check After Being Released on Parole.

Operations Are Claimed to Have Cost Parents Nearly $500.

Placed on parole two weeks ago after having passed worthless checks for $400 to $500, Charles D. Thomas, 19 years old, could not resist temptation and Saturday night passed another worthless check for $7 in Charles Campbell's saloon in the Sellwood building.

This morning he was arrested by Detective Terry and Sergeant Bradley on a charge of passing a worthless check. He has a sentence of sixty days in the county jail hanging over him, but it is believed that the matter will be taken before the grand jury with a view to having the young man sent to a training school. He has been given every chance to "make good," but has signally failed, say the police.

The last time he was arrested the charge of passing the worthless was changed to one of petty larceny in order that it might come within the jurisdiction of the police court. His mother, almost heart-broken, pleaded that he be given another and last chance, and it was granted. The boy promised to change his ways, quit gambling and help his parents redeem the money which had been paid to him on his checks. It was stated that he had secured a position with a railroad surveying crew in Canada and that he would leave for there as soon as possible. But he did not go for some reason, going to work for an agent demonstrating coal in heaters which may be seen on the street corners. He had several stoves to keep fired up and was attending one of them when he was arrested this morning.

The last time he was in police court, the report was that he never drank and never smoked, but that his downfall was the result of a passion for gambling, both with dice and cards. This morning at the police station he told the police that he passed the check Saturday night because he had been drinking. He claimed to have had at least twenty drinks at the time he secured the money on the check.

As far as can be learned Thomas passed only the one check, although another already written out was found in his pockets when he was searched at the police station this morning. He asserted that it was one which he had had in an old coat which he had not used since last November, and that he did not know it was there when he donned the garment.

The young man's check operations cover a period of about six months. The police state that he has not only caused untold sorrow in his family by his actions, but that he has strained their finances through their efforts to pay his checks to keep him out of jail.

GRAND JURY INDICTS SIX

The grand jury reported six indictments today.

Three of them are made public and three are secret, as the men indicted are not under arrest.

Peter Christoff is indicted on two counts for having attempted to bribe two Duluth police officers in the discharge of their duties. The policemen are L. A. Root and Henry Brouillette. It is claimed that Christoff offered each of the officers $7.50.

E. Zoria is accused of assault in the first degree. He is said to have shot at a man named Paul Barda.

The grand jury went back into secret session after reporting to Judge Dancer, in charge of the January term of court.

WOODMEN HAVE BIG MEETING

Joint Gathering of Head of Lakes Camps at Foresters' Hall.

About 300 members of the different camps of the Modern Woodmen of America at the Head of the Lakes were guests of Imperial camp at a joint meeting at Foresters' hall last evening.

Talks were given by John H. Norton, Carl F. Wiberg, C. C. Salter and George P. Neller of Duluth and Dr. Clark and Frank Dow of Superior. George R. Laybourn was chairman of the meeting.

There was a program of music and speeches and the uniform degree teams of Old Hickory camp of West Duluth, Duluth camp of the West end and Whaleback camp of Superior gave exhibition drills. Refreshments were served following the program.

Resolutions of condolence were adopted on the death of Joseph M. Cotey, chairman of the Superior delegation on the general committee.

The following officers will be elected: One clerk, two deacons, five trustees, one superintendent of Bible school. The members of the church and congregation are urged to be present. The dinner is free.

PROFITS OF CANDY KITCHEN CAUSE OF SUIT.

Judge Cant yesterday ordered Peter Rorris to turn over $1,000 to Thorwald Hansen and C. V. McCoy until after Rorris settles his difficulty with Alex George and James Costakos.

Alex George, James Costakos and Rorris do business under the name of the Minnesota Candy Kitchen. It is clamed that Rorris is taking more than his share of the profits.

Judge Cant also ordered Rorris to turn over the books and the accounts of the business so that they may be investigated by his partners' attorneys.

Later it will be determined just how much money each of the proprietors is entitled to.

"THAIS" IS SECOND BILL

Massenet's Famous Opera Is Given Splendid Production By Lambardi Company.

Giuseppe Maggi and Jeanette Alvina Carry Off the Honors.

The Cast.

Athanael ..... Giuseppe Maggi
Nicias ..... A. Alblach

A servant..... Buonaventura Marco
Thais ..... Jeanette Alvina
Crobyla ..... Adalgisa Giana
Myrtale ..... E. Linderman
Albine ..... Luisa Baralvi

"Thais," Massenet's setting to music and action of Anatole France's beautiful romance, was the offering for the second night's engagement of the Lambardi Grand Opera company. If the members of the opera agreeably surprised and pleased a small audience on Monday evening, the efforts of the company pleased and won deserved and repeated applause from the slightly larger audience last evening. The work of Giuseppe Maggi in the role of Athanael and that of Jeanette Alvina as Thais was far above what Duluth expected. The efforts of the two artists were rewarded by frequent curtain calls.

The story of "Thais" is one of a love so strong, so compelling and all conquering that it beats down the prejudice against a simple and beautiful faith, and in the end wins a convert in the person of "Thais." Romantic as the story is, the music of Massenet is a fitting and beautiful vehicle for its expression. The sensuous beauty of Massenet's music, that yet takes on some of the nobler qualities of Wagner's composition, was at times given a beautiful interpretation by the two principals.

The enjoyment of the opera was rendered perfect by the orchestration. Under the guidance of Chevalier Guerrieri the big orchestra gave a fine execution. The charm, the romance, the beauty of the story was rendered far more effective by the harmony of voices and instruments.

In brief "Thais" tells the story of the love of Athanael for the sensuous, grossly material Thais. At first Thais seeks by the arts and wiles of women to lure Athanael from his vows as a monk. Through the story there runs the battle of the good and evil; of the growing love of Athanael for Thais, of the strong, deep passion of the man, deeper even than his religious fervour; of the dawning love of Thais, the abandoned, for Athanael.

Giuseppe Maggi and Jeannette Alvina carry almost the entire opera. To a voice of wide range, Signor Maggi brings expression and feeling and the ability to act, assets that are often lost to grand opera stars. His interpretation of the monk who came to redeem and lingered to love, was a finely shaded one, in which he gave delicate and subtle expression of passion, of remorse, of supplication and of the tenderness of love.

At the conclusion of his songs the singer was greeted by an outburst of applause that left no doubt as to the feeling of the audience. This genuine expression of appreciation made up in part for the lack of attendance.

The Thais of Jeannette Alvina was an artistic and effective creation. It is a role that requires range and sublety of voice and expression. Thais is a creature of varying moods—in the end a humble penitent. In the various expressions of feeling Jeannette Alvina gave an interpretation that clearly and forcibly conveyed to the mind of the auditor the struggle of Thais against a belief that pagan instincts fought against; and finally the sublime surrender of the woman to the spiritual conquest.

With the rich vibrant tones of Signor Maggi's voice the pure and clear tones of eJannette Alvina's beautiful soprano voice made a harmonious blending that showed to excellent advantage in their duets.

The Nicias of A. Alblach was good and the chorus work far above the average. The violin solo by J. W. Lewis was one of the treats of the evening. Mr. Lewis was obliged to respond to a burst of enthusiastic applause that did not cease until the violinist rose to respond.

This afternoon the company will sing "Carmen" and tonight "Madam Butterfly."

Amusement Notes.

"The recent impetus given to pantomime in this country may be largely traced to M. Molasso," said Miss Nina Payne, who is appearing in the pantomime "La Somnambule" at the Orpheum this week. "He came to this country several years ago and first introduced the 'apache dance,' which met with extraordinary favor. Since then M. Molasso has produced a number of pantomimes which have been successful. 'The Darling of Paris' was written by him, as was 'Paris, La Nuit.' At present M. Molasso is in Mexico with a company.

"The production of a pantomime is much more difficult than might be supposed. Of necessity, the story must be dramatic and simple in order to get it across the footlights the more easily. The parts must be written out with even more than the usual care, and the music must follow the emotions of the players, just as it must follow their gestures."

Miss Payne believes that the moving picture has had much to do with the favor now enjoyed by pantomimes in this country. "The extraordinary popularity of the moving picture has unquestionably helped the success of the pantomime," said the dancer. "When watching a moving picture you must catch the story from the gestures and expressions of the players, and those who have learned to do this are quick to understand a pantomime."

Joe Maaxwell's Dancing Girls, who are headlining the bill at the Empress this week are scoring a distinct hit with their spectacular singing and dancing novelty. This production is one of the biggest scenic productions ever presented at the Empress and is presented in four scenes, each of which is bringing forth unstinted praise from the patrons of the Empress. The big feature of this attraction is the rain storm scene in which real water is used, making the effect most realistic. Miss Julia Curtis is seen at the head of this company. Miss Curtis has been seen in some of New York's biggest productions including "The Burgomaster" and several others. Upon Miss Curtis' entrance into vaudeville she was offered an engagement over the Sullivan & Considine circuit, doing a "single" act, and she had already accepted the engagement, when Mr. Maxwell offered Miss Curtis her present engagement at the head of his Dancing Girls. After much persuasion Chris Brown, Sullivan & Considine's booking manager in New York consented to her joining the Dancing Girls and everywhere on the circuit, she has created a most favorable impression. Few people realize the size of Mr. Maxwell's production but the following statement will give some idea of its bigness. The act carries a whole carload of scenery and lighting effects and three men to work them and in addition, a wardrobe woman to look after the costumes. The Dancing Girls have one of the biggest productions in vaudeville.

SICK HEADACHE, DIZZINESS, TORPID LIVER, CONSTIPATION---CASCARETS

Sick headaches! Always trace them to lazy liver, delayed, fermenting food in the bowels or a sick stomach. Poisonous matter, instead of being thrown out, is re-absorbed into the blood. When this poison reaches the delicate brain tissue it causes congestion and that dull, awful throbbing, sickening headache.

Cascarets remove the cause by stimulating the liver, making the poison move on and out and purifying the blood. The effect is almost instantaneous. Ladies whose sensitive organisms are especially prone to sick headaches, need not suffer, for they can be quickly cured by Cascarets. One taken tonight will straighten you out by morning—a 10-cent box means a clear head and perfect health for months. Don't forget the children—their little insides need a good, gentle, cleansing, too. Children gladly take Cascarets, because they taste good and never gripe or sicken.

FRACTURE IS CAUSE OF DEATH

Anderson's Second Is Held By Beltrami County Officials.

According to the autopsy held yesterday at Spooner, the death of Andrew Anderson, 27 years old, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Anderson, 2015 West Sixth street, was caused by a fracture of the right side of the skull. Anderson was found dead in his bed Tuesday morning, Jan. 2 at Baudette, Minn., following a boxing match the night before. A blood clot had formed over the right side of the head, the hemorrhage of the brain being the immediate cause of death.

As a result of the inquest yesterday the coroner's jury held Bert Cadwell, who was in partnership with Anderson in the restaurant business at Baudette, and who acted as his second in the boxing match, as one of the principals responsible for the death. He was taken to the Beltrami county jail at Bemidji this morning to await the action of the grand jury, which will convene in February.

None of the other principals in the prize fight, which took place in the Spooner hall, have been arrested as yet, but it is intimated that a thorough investigation is to be made by the county authorities.

Charles Anderson, father of the young man, who went to Baudette for the body, will return this afternoon when the funeral arrangements will be made at the Olson & Crawford undertaking rooms. He was due to arrive in the city this morning over the Canadian Northern, but the train is six hours late.

NEW STATION AND SIGNAL SYSTEM

West Enders Begin Agitation for Better Police Protection.

West end business men have taken the matter of a new police station before the aldermen of the Sixth and Seventh wards and are now determined to secure a new building and better equipment than is used at the present time.

The business men began the agitation for a new station because of the inability to get officers on short notice. They also say the present station is inadequate and insanitary. It is claimed that when a call is sent into the central station for an officer, it often takes nearly an hour to get a policeman. The present station is located in the basement of the No. 1 fire hall at Eighteenth avenue west and Piedmont.

It is also planned to ask the city to install call bells at Garfield, Twentieth, Twenty-first and Twenty-fifth avenues west. By having these bells, residents claim that it would be possible to get an officer when he is needed.

STATE BANK MEETING.

One Change in Board of Directors Is Expected.

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Duluth State bank was called for this afternoon at 4 o'clock. One of the officers stated before the meeting that it was possible that there would be a change in one of the directorships, but he did not care to say what the contemplated change was. He did not think this would cause any change among the bank officers and he did not think there would be any such change. The present directors are: F. W. Sullivan, John G. William, Dr. J. J. Lyder, Jr., P. George Hanson, J. J. Moe and J. L. Washburn. The officers are: President, J. J. Eklund; vice president, P. George Hanson, and cashier, C. E. Lonegren.

MISS BAHLEN CHOSEN HEAD OF LUTHER LEAGUE.

Miss Ellen Bahlen was last evening chosen president of the Luther League of the Bethany Swedish Lutheran church, Twenty-third avenue west and Third street, at the annual election of officers held in the church parlors. The other officers elected are: Miss Edith Hallgren, secretary; Harold Olson, treasurer; Miss Edith Olson, organist; Miss Tillie Johnson, librarian, and Miss Della Olson, assistant librarian. Miss Hildegarde Miller, George Anderson, Miss Victoria Benson, Herman Olson and Miss Lillie Larson were elected for the program committee, and a constitution committee, consisting of George Anderson, Miss Hilda Olson and Miss Ellen Bahlen, was appointed.

Miss Bahlen was authorized to appoint five members of the society on a sick committee, five on a reception committee, five on a membership committee and three members on a finance committee. The society voted to take an active part in raising money to help pay the church debt, which amounts to about $3,000.

SUNDAY SCHOOL TO GIVE ENTERTAINMENTS.

Under the auspices of the Sunday school of the Grace M. E. church, Twenty-second avenue west and Third street, a series of interesting lectures and concerts will be given within the next few months. Arrangements are in the hands of R. E. Forward, superintendent of the Sunday school.

The first in the series of this month will be given Friday evening, Jan. 26, by Dr. M. S. Rice, pastor of the First Methodist church. Rev. Rice will give an illustrated lecture on his recent trip through the Holy Land. The second in the series is a concert to be given by the Scottish Rite quartet on Feb. 24. Prof. A. F. Custance will have charge of the special musical program.

JOHN BERGHOLM DIES AFTER LONG ILLNESS.

John Bergholm, 50 years old, 104 Exeter street, died of tuberculosis at his residence yesterday afternoon after an illness of over fifteen months. In the Westvdiedi emfwry emM emf—Mr. Bergholm was unmarried and lived in the West End for the past twenty-two years. He is survived by two brothers, Elof and Nels, and one sister, Miss Christina Bergholm, all of the West End. Funeral arrangements will be made some time today.

BOTH SIDES HEARD ON BOND QUESTION.

Both sides of the municipal lighting question were given last evening by City Attorney Bert Fesler and Roy Hood at the meeting of the Fifth Ward Improvement club held at the Emerson school. Mr. Fesler upheld the bond issue while Roy Hood spoke for the opposition, giving as his principal reason why the bonds should not be issued, the inability of the water and light plant to earn enough money to take up its bonds.

There was a large crowd present in spite of the cold weather, and following the addresses the members of the club held a short business session. Plans for the year were outlined and various committees appointed by D. C. Moore, newly elected president of the club. The other officers for the year are: A. C. Parson, vice president, and W. L. Pierce, secretary-treasurer.

and Owen.

2.—Those who hold that both rules are salutary and particularly uphold the two-thirds rule. A clear majority of the Southern senators belong to this group.

3.—Those who condemn the two rules, but would not set them aside until 1916, after due notice. To this group belong the majority of those who responded to this inqulry.

Would Leave It to Party.

Much of the present agitation of the two-thirds rule springs from the fact that new primary laws in various states have put an end to the practice of voting state delegations as a unit. As to the advantage of these laws Representative Henry D. Clayton of Alabama, chairman of the house judiciary committee, says:

"I do not believe in too much legislation in the selection and pledging of delegates to a national convention. I think the manner of selecting delegates and pledging them ought to be left to the party as a party unfettered by a statutory regulation. In other words I believe that the party ought to be allowed to make its own laws pertaining to its own organization and its business. I believe that too many statutory regulations of party affairs will result in destroying the party organization. There would be nothing left to the party organization except to have its meetings and to comply with fixed statutes and everything else would be done automatically. I think evil would come of such a plan. I believe that the only power to correct the veils that have grown up out of the unit rule is the national convention itself and that no federal statute ought to be passed on the subject—I am certainly opposed to any federal statute enacted by Democratic and Republican votes that has for its object the control of the delegates to a national convention.

Would End Two-Thirds Rule.

"As to the two-thirds rule, I favor its abolition in a Democratic national convention. For many years we had this rule in our Democratic state convention in Alabama, and the Alabama state convention in 1886 abolished it and we found the majority rule in making nomiations the better rule. How and when this rule should be abolished is a question of propriety and, of, perhaps some delicacy. I doubt the wisdom of abrogation in the convention of 1912. I believe that previous notice should be given at the meeting of a convention which shall operate under the rule to be obragated. The next national convention ought to adopt a resolution abolishing the two-thirds rule to be effective in 1916. It has been suggested that a referendum be taken to the state committee or to the states themselves. Of course there can be no objection to this referendum, but I hardly think it necessary. The national convention is sovereign and can abolish the rule if it sees fit to do so."

Judge Wade's Views.

One of the most influential men in the national committee is Judge Martin J. Wade of Iowa. On this vexed question, now before the Democratic party and likely to be hotly debated in the next congress, Judge Wade asys:

"I am personally in favor of the abolition of the two-thirds vote in a national convention. I believe that a majority vote is the proper method of nominating a candidate for president; but the difficulty is to change the existing rule in a convention without having it assumed that it is in the interest of some particular candidate. Conditions will always exist at the opening of the conventions, from which it will appear that an effort to change the rule is made in behalf of some particular person or faction. Therefore while I favor nomination by a majority vote, I would not favor the change of the rule at the coming convention, but would favor an expression by that convention of an intention or purpose to change the rule at the next Democratic convention. In this way the change from a two-thirds vote to a majority vote could be accomplished without exciting the animosity of the supporters of any candidate.

"If national legislation providing for the direct election of delegates becomes effective prior to the next national Democratic convention, and if thus the unit rule would be abolished, this might be taken as sufficient justification for the abolition of the two-thirds rule without having the change construed as being in favor of, or against, some candidate."

It is quiet evident to any observer that the persistence of the unit rule will be settled by state legislation before 1916. To one who has sounded Democratic opinion systematically it is equally apparent that the two-thirds rule will be attacked this year and demolished four years hence.

After the Age of Fifty

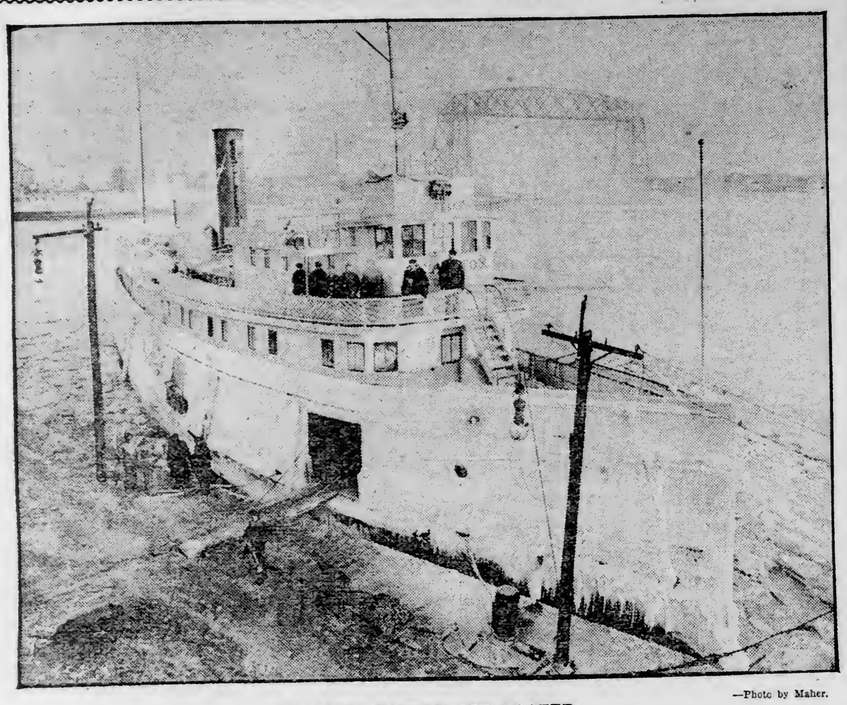

From this age the human system gradually declines and the accumulated poisons in the blood cause rheumatism in joints, muscles and back. These warnings should be promptly relieved and serious illness avoided by using the following prescription which comes from a noted doctor and is said to have no equal in curing rheumatism and restoring physical vigor. Good results come after the first dose. "From your druggist get one ounce of Toris compound (in original sealed package) and one ounce of syrup of Sarsaparilla compound. Take these two ingredients home and put them into a half pint of good whiskey. Shake the bottle and take a tablespoonful before each meal and at bed-time." If your druggist does not have Toris compound in stock he will get it for you in a few hours from his wholesale house. Don't be influenced to take a patent medicine instead of this. Insist on having the genuine Toris compound in the original one ounce, sealed, yellow package.

STEAMER EASTON HOLDS RECORD FOR COLD WEATHER NAVIGATION

STEAMER EASTON, ICE COATED.

The steamer Easton, which returned yesterday morning from its last north shore trip for the season, will tie up for the winter at the Booth dock, Lake avenue. Steam will be kept up and a part of the crew retained until spring.

The Easton was in commission ten months, having opened navigation on the north shore about March 15. The last two trips were made in weather below zero and it is believed that the Booth line boat now holds the record for cold weather navigation on the lakes.

During the coming season the Easton and the America will be on the north shore and Port Arthur routes. Capt. Fred Hokanson will be in command of the Easton. His chief engineer will be announced later. Capt. E. C. Smith will take command of the America and Frank McMillan will serve as chief engineer.

HUDSON IS FOR WILSON

Duluth Man Returns From East Booster for New Jersey Governor.

Says Former Princeton President Is Strongest Man for Democrats.

T. T. Hudson has returned from a week's business trip in the East, more firmly convinced than ever that Governor Wilson of New Jersey is the strongest man the Democratic party can nominate for president.

Mr. Hudson is one of the most prominent Democrats of the Northwest. He is a warm personal friend of William J. Bryan and enthusiastically supported the Commoner in all his campaigns. While in the East he talked politics as well as business with many men who are important factors in Democracy and he says the Wilson sentiment is strong in the East.

"I regard Governor Woodrow Wilson as the strongest man the Democratic party can nominate for the presidency at its next national convention," said Mr. Hudson today. "His efforts in behalf of legislative action, responsive to the wishes of the people, to better protect them in the possession and enjoyment of those things which naturally and rightfully belong to them, have won for his their confidence. His course while governor of New Jersey, independent of boss dictation and the influences of special interests, which so often embarrass the administration of the chief executive of a state, has favorably attracted the Democrats of the Central and Western states, who for a long time have been slow to accept a Democrat from the East as their candidate.

"Those who meet Governor Wilson are impressed with his democratic manner, cordiality and candor, and are convinced that he is seeking the right and has the courage to do it. His advocacy of the initiative and referendum and recall is evidence that he believes the government should be brought closer to the people and is, I think, the chief reason which induces them to turn to him as a leader. I have no doubt he will continue to grow in favor."

Cold and Grippe Stopped Quickly

Before you have taken four doses of Pinex Cold Tablets, you will have discovered the best remedy you ever used.

This is the quickest acting, most agreeable cold cure ever devised. Two doses give remarkable relief, and the trouble is usually completely conquered inside of 20 hours. And yet Pinex Cold Tablets do not contain a particle of opiates or coal tar heart depressants. No other remedy will stop the aches and pains so quickly.

These tablets are gentle, but very prompt and positive. They reduce the fever, check the nasal discharge, restore normal activity in the pores, and are very pleasantly laxative and tonic.

Don't accept a substitute—one trial of this quick-acting remedy will show you that there is nothing else "just as good" as Pinex Cold Tablets. Money refunded if disappointed. 25c per box. If necessary, send to The Pinex Co., Fort Wayne, Ind., (makers of "Pinex" Cough Remedy).

AN ECHO OF FAMOUS CASE

Mary Shea Sues for Royalties on Cedar Island Mining Properties.

An echo of the famous Cedar Island cases was heard in district court this morning before Judge W. A. Cant when the case of Mary Shea, who is suing Thomas Bardon for $3,642.32 royalties, which she claims is due her on a mining lease, was put on trial.

The plaintiff claims that through an agreement she was to have received a royalty of 25 cents a ton on 25,000 tons of ore each year whether any mining was done or not.

The defendant claims that the terms of the lease and the agreement as to royalties were terminated some time ago. The plaintiff is suing for royalties which she claims have been due since she bought the property from J. B. Middlecoff in November, 1908.

It is claimed by the plaintiff in her complaint that in November, 1908, J. B. Middlecoff delivered to Thomas Bardon a mining lease which was to run fifty years. This gave Mr. Bardon the right to mine the property and assured Mr. Middlecoff a royalty of 25 cents a ton on 25,000 tons, whether any ore was mined or not.

Shortly after this transaction, Mr. Middlecoff sold the property to Mrs. Shea and turned over to her the lease.

Mrs. Shea states that no part of the royalties has ever been paid. She asks $3,643.32, the amount she claims was due at the time of the filing of the action.

RAILROADS

FAVORS FEDERAL CONTROL.

Supreme Court Strengthens Hands of Commerce Commission.

Washington, Jan. 10.—The grip of the interstate commerce commission over the commerce of the country is tightened through the series of decisions by the supreme court yesterday. The principle was laid down that shippers suffering from civil injuries from railroads must go to the commission before appealing to the courts for relief.

The paramount authority of the commission in reasonable rate-making was upheld by the court's decision that the federal district court of Minnesota was wrong in preventing the enforcement of the commission's reduced rates on lumber from the Pacific coast, Oregon and Montana points, to St. Paul, Omaha and Chicago.

The legislative field touching the acceptance of goods by railroads for interstate shipment was marked forever as federal territory and states were warned to keep off.

The supremacy over state laws of similar import of the federal "hours of service law," the enforcement of which is confined to the commission, was upheld.

The court laid down the principle that railroad dividends are not to be a sole basis for judging the reasonableness of rates, but that conditions as a whole are to be taken into consideration. The fact that the commission allowed a higher rate to Omaha than to St. Paul was said to be justified by previous rate distinctions between the cities by the railroads themselves. The validity of the Hepburn rate law was not involved.

OPERATOR IS BLAMED

Claimed to Have Started Elevator Before Gates Were Closed.

License Revoked Following Fatal Accident to William Rogers.

Building Inspector S. M. Kielley has revoked the license of E. V. Le Clair, the operator who was in charge of the elevator in the Lonsdale building when William Rogers of Remer was killed by a fall down the shaft last week.

Inspector Kielley and Deputy Adolph Anderson have completed an investigation of the accident which resulted in the death of Mr. Rogers. They found that Le Clair had violated the ordinance in that he had started the car before the doors were closed.

From them comes the first authentic account of the distressing accident. As nearly as they could ascertain, Mr. Rogers was on the car when it started. The gates were not closed, and in some manner, possibly from the jerk of the car starting, he was thrown outward through the door. The bent condition of the railing on which the doors run shows conclusively, they assert, that the gates were not closed. After being precipitated from the elevator, Mr. Rogers must have struck the floor at the edge of the shaft and then fallen to the bottom, where he was picked up.

Inspector Kielley stated this morning that it is strictly in violation of the ordinance to start any elevator until the gates have been shut. He said that he wished any passenger who sees any operator starting any elevator before this has been done, would report the matter to his office. He explained that all operators have to come to his office to get their licenses, and that as a consequence he and his deputies are too well known to the operators to be able to detect them in any violations, which makes it impossible for them to learn which operators do not comply with the ordinance. He added that no consideration will be given any operator who is found to have been guilty of starting his car before the gates were shut.

MARINE

BOOTH COMPANY WILL SPEND $50,000 HERE.

When the directors of the Booth Fisheries company meet in February, they will probably take final action on plans which are now pending to improve their Lake avenue slip property by the erection of a re-inforced concrete structure for warehouse and office purposes.

According to the plans which are now under consideration the company will spend more than $50,000 in improvements for the coming year.

C. W. Turner, manager of the company is in the city and while in Duluth he expects to confer with contractors in regard to the proposed improvement. Proposals which he secures from the contractors will be put before the directors at their meeting next month.

It is probable that the structure will be a five-story affair, 80 by 125. One of the features of the new warehouse will be an up-to-date cold storage department.

HORSE STILL POPULAR.

Boston Advertiser: Newport has it that the horse as a fashionable motive power is to return to his own in the coming season, and while not altogether displacing the automobile in limousine and the like, will supersede the motor car as the preferred means of appearing in style when attached to an elegant carriage.

As a stylish vehicle the automobile has been practically a failure, and now that it has become as common almost as sand, it is no wonder that society will discard it for horses and elegant broughams and the like, now a rarity. They will become the emblem once more of elegant fashion.

To be sure, the limousine or other handsomely equipped motor car will be more costly than the finest equipped double harnessed brougham, but though cheaper to fit out, the two-horse team drawing a smart-looking carriage has ever exceeded in aplomb the automobile, however costly.

For one thing, the automobile goes too quickly. In effect it is a dash in point of time. In a fashionable summer community or on fashionable streets of the city, where driving is sought simply for the grand feeling of the exterior effect produced, horses and carriages have not been surpassed, society has found.

The automobile is noiseless, and how much more thrilling it is to drive along or dash up with a clatter of silver or steel chains. Moreover, a chauffeur and a footman, though in purple uniforms, look quite buried in the automobile, whereas, set up high on the driver's seat, the coachman and the footman are a truly inspiring spectacle.

It does not at all follow, however that the automobile will be entirely disregarded for this reason. As a means for expeditious riding when wanted, and for traveling long distances and in going about at night, it will hold its own.

Well, all this is not bad. It is nice to have variety. The automobile may however, consider itself fortunate that it is not to be dropped flat, as was the bicycle, which was once, it will be recalled, quite a fashionable means of conveyance and exercise. As soon as it became common it was dropped, and great was the thud thereof.

In accounting for the great speed attained by some aeroplane drivers, it is explained that the velocity of the air movement rapidly increases as one ascends into the higher regions. With the wind moving along at a comfortable speed of twenty-five miles an hour on the surface, it is double that at half a mile, and at one mile it is seventy-five miles an hour. At a height of three miles it is moving at the rate of 225 miles an hour.

Experiments are being made in sending Australian oranges and lemons to Canada.

DOCTORS PUT IN MACHINES

Large Offices of Electro Medical Doctors, at No. 26 W. Superior Street, Made Ready to Receive Patients Within a Few Days.

Separate Waiting Rooms for Men and Women. Large Treating Rooms Will Enable Doctors to Treat Men and Women Separately.

Machinery of Medical Science the Most Costly in the Northwest. Large Oxigo-Ozonator, High-frequency, Solar and X-Ray, Etc.

A great many people are expected by the Electro Medical Doctors when their offices will be opened to the patients; they have received scores of letters from sick people from nearly every town within a radius of three hundred miles. Ever since the first announcement was made that the Electro Medical Doctors would settle in Duluth inquiries have been coming in by the hundreds. The Doctors wish to state here that it is impossible to answer all these inquiries and would like to request the patients to come in soon after the office will be opened for the patients.

The wonderful curative effects the Doctors have had will be of a great benefit to the people of Duluth. Though they claim no personal magnetic power nor any wonderful or divine gift, it is all knowledge, experience and the result of scientific researches which enables them to handle these scientific instruments to the best advantage in the treatment of old and stubborn diseases. It is as much a science to find the cause of the disease as it is to cure it, and these doctors find out the disease with instruments which enable them to look through the patient and find out exactly the site and the nature of their troubles. People who have tried all doctors of all schools, who have been doped and baked, who have been burned and blistered and found just temporary relief, will do well to consult these Doctors. It has always been their principle to take only those cases which they were absolutely sure they could cure. They don't accept any cases which they cannot cure, and if they tell a patient that he is incurable he won't find a cure in the whole wide world. Many cases have been brought to them in Eastern cities which were thought to be incurable, but when they subjected the patient to the wonderful power of nature it proved that their diseases vanished like the snow in the spring. The Doctors will open their offices as soon as they will be fixed up, which will be within the next few days, this will be announced in the daily papers. The first hundred patients will receive their cures for half the fee, and those who are suffering longest and most should avail themselves of this great opportunity within the first week of their opening.

MANY CONTESTANTS SUGGEST AN INVESTMENT IN GOOD FARM LAND

Young Man With First $1,000 Advised to Raise Potatoes.

Some Would Buy Land Near City and Retain Position.

An investment in Northern Minnesota farm lands is the suggestion made by most of the contestants offering advice to the young man with his first $1,000.

Many suggest that he buy land near Duluth, raise potatoes and retain his work in the city, at least until he has increased the original sum. Others advise the purchase of more remote farm land as a speculation.

One contestant, whose letter is published today, suggests that the man start a poultry farm to be cared for by his wife and that he peddle goods through the camps. A boy suggests a store. Another contestant would get 8 per cent on farm land loans, while Pat O'Shea of Ashland would recklessly bet the whole on Flynn in his coming fight with Johnson. Pat would evidently not have the $1,000 long.

Some of the letters received follow:

Frank Casper, Rumely, Mich. — In answer to your contest: "I've got $1,000, what shall I do with it," I would say: Keep it and add to it. Try some of those Washington apple orchards or business.

Stanley G. Watt, Elmsburg, Minn.— If I had $1,000 I would go through Northern Minnesota buying up old rubbers and [illegible], exchanging merchandise or dry goods, tinware, etc. I would get a small team and visit all northern camps and citizens, ship from the nearest railroad point. It is the best investment at the lowest cost and the biggest returns than I know of. This rubber of which there are thousands of pounds in this county, can be had for the asking. By buying forty acres eight miles from International Falls for $250 or $300 you could have a home for the family and they could raise poultry while you were on the road.

J. W. Sherman, 5319 East Superior street — Replying to the young man who has saved his first $1,000 I wish first to congratulate him on his ability to do so on a moderate salary with a wife and two children. The fact that he has accumulated that amount in ten years at an average amount of $100 per year shows him to have already got on the right track to increase the amount, especially when we consider that there are so many salary earners with, perhaps, larger salaries than his who have been sidetracked on the road to success by living beyond their means in trying to keep up appearances out of proportion to salary received, and consequently are not saving anything and even getting in debt.

Success, in a measure, has already crowned this young man's efforts and I should advise him to keep at his present employment for a time at least and invest the $1,000 where it will earn the best possible income.

The largest income from any investment is what we are all looking for, we are also desirous of investing in something safe, and in general demand. There are any number of safe investments; some, of course, are more profitable than others, but in any case it is reasonable to predict that best results will be reached by investing in something in your own locality.

Real estate, if located in the right place, is a good investment, and the writer from his observations since coming to Minnesota from the East about twenty years ago, would unhesitatingly place land investment ahead of all others in that line.

There are no better farming lands in the state than right here in St. Louis county, lands which would not sell even for the government price of $1.25 per acre twenty years ago are now selling for $10 to $20 per acre and increasing in price all the time, whether business conditions would show we were on the verge of a presidential campaign or not. There are, of course, cases where a party has lands who wants ready money for some business enterprise where he is looking for a large profit and would be willing to sell below the market price. If our young man should find such a chance, he of course would realize a larger profit on his investment.

John Anderson, 2724 West Third street—To the young man with $1,000. Purchase ten acres of land near enough to the city that he and his family could live on it during the summer months and still hold his position in the city.

Now with these acres I would advise him to cultivate the land, but how could he do this, and still hold his position? Well that is easily solved. Hire a man with a team to get the ground ready for planting. This could be done in a very short time. His next step would be to plant potatoes. The crop could easily be taken care of by him and his family. If he should be fortunate enough to have a vacation, he could put his time to good use in the potato field.

When it comes time to dig them in the fall he would easily have a crop of 2,000 bushels at the least. Having no place to store them, make a contract with a commission man. He would get no less than 50 cents a bushel for them, and by this investment he would find himself with about $800 to the good any way, after deducting what it cost him to plow, and haul his potatoes to town. If this doesn't look reasonable stop a second and think what you have been and what you are at present paying for potatoes.

In so doing after a few years you would have enough money to build a nice new home, and tear down the shack you lived in during the summer, or else turn it into a hen house.

If you ever care to sell your land you will certainly get what you put into it, but I think you would get a good deal more for it, because the land is already broke, and on the other hand property will be always increasing in value, in and outside of Duluth, instead of decreasing. Now is the time to buy.

William Anderson, 534 North Sixtieth avenue, West Duluth—I am but 14 years of age and of course as you might know, I never saw $1,000. But if I had the $1,000 I think I know what I would do with it.

The first thing I would advise him to do is to buy a two-story store building, in which he could live up stairs and keep a grocery store down stairs. In this way he would not have to dig down in his pocket to pay the rent man and besides he will have money coming in from the store and as he has a good job he can keep it, and hire a clerk for the store and his wife can also work in the store all of her spare moments and at the end of another ten years if everything goes well he will have quite a bunch of money, and he can keep on doing the same thing over and over again until he gets quite old, then he can quit his job and sell the store and build a cozy little house and spend the rest of his life easy.

Albert Peterson, Swanville, Minn., R. F. D., No. 2.—Trying to answer the column that I saw in the paper about "what shall I do with the first $1,000." Well if a man has saved up $1,000, its easy enough to spend it, but a man has got to see that he gets something out of it. So if I had $1,000 I would invest it in some good land that I knew was going higher all the time. The man that I read in the paper about said he was young and married, and so he could keep his job in the city and support his family well and, so if he does get in a fix some time has got his land to help him out. After he can sell his land and go in some kind of business and work up higher all the time just as the Duluth Evening Herald has been doing.

E. J. Howard, 18 South Sixtieth avenue west—The best thing I think the man with $1,000 could do would be to put it out on interest at 8 per cent on good farm loans, say first mortgage.

Pat O'Shea, Ashland, Wis.—If I had $1,000 I would bet it on Jim Flynn against Jack Johnson.

"I'VE GOT THE FIRST $1,000; WHAT SHALL I DO WITH IT?"

For the second of its series of contests The Herald has an interesting problem which comes to it in the form of a letter that explains itself:

To the Editor of The Herald:

We have often been told—at least we used to be—by rich men that the hardest work on the road to wealth is to get the first $1,000.

I've got that sum now—saved it out of my salary during ten years. Who will tell me how to go the rest of the way? How shall I invest it? Shall I go into business, and what kind, and how?

I am 35 years old, with a wife and two small children, and have a fair position with a living salary, but that's about all. Probably I could, if nothing happened, save another $1,000 in another ten years, but with the cost of living going up faster than salaries—and I can't expect mine to go much higher than it is—it is going to be harder. If I am ever going to start out for myself and gain independence or wealth, now is the time for me to begin, while I am strong and healthy and young.

What shall I do with myself and my $1,000—and my family?

Here's a real problem, a vital one that will interest everybody; and The Herald hopes to see a large and interesting variety of answers. It hopes, too, that men who have traveled the road that lies before this young inquirer will take part in the discussion. The prizes will, of course, be no temptation to them; but this is a subject of wide interest, and they should be glad to contribute their wisdom and experience to its solution.

Write out your answer, limit it to 300 words, put your name and address at the top of the sheet, write on one side of the paper only, and send it to the Contest Editor of The Herald before Feb. 1.

For the best answer to this young man's problem The Herald will give a prize of $10.

For the next best answer The Herald will give a prize of $5.

For the third best answer The Herald will give a prize of $3.

DR. WEBSTER TO PLEAD GUILTY

Will Admit Murdering Wife and Throw Himself on Court's Mercy.

Oregon, Ill., Jan. 10. — Dr. Harry Elgin Webster of Chicago, facing trial for the murder of his wife, Bessie Kent Webster, will plead guilty to the crime of which he is accused, before Judge R. S. Farrand in the Ogle circuit court Friday.

This announcement was made by counsel for Webster and followed a conference with State's Attorney W. J. Emerson of Ogle county, in which the evidence carefully was gone over by both the prosecution and the defense.

No agreement has been entered into that less than the death penalty shall be imposed, and his counsel are preparing to present a plea in mitigation when their client pleads guilty and throws himself on the mercy of the court.

The chain of circumstances against Webster was not discovered for days after the nude body of his wife had been found in the woods between Dixon and Oregon, Oct. 1, with a knife wound across her throat, which almost had severed the head from the body.

WOULD SPEND $4,000,000 ON NORWAY'S NAVY.

Christiana, Jan. 10. — The cabinet has resolved to propose to the Storthing that it vote an extraordinary credit of 16,500,000 kroner ($4,125,000) for the development of Norway's naval defense. The plan is to add to the present navy two armored cruisers and a flotilla of torpedo boats, and includes also the construction of fortifications along the western coast.

KENTUCKY'S SENATE PUTS BAN ON LOBBYISTS.

Frankfort, Ky., Jan. 10. — Former state senators and state representatives are excluded from the floor of the Kentucky senate, by a rule just adopted. The new regulations, declared to be aimed at the professional lobbyist, upset a precedent of a score of years.

$200,000 LOST IN FIRE IN ONLY HALF AN HOUR.

East St. Louis, Ill., Jan. 10. — Three acres of buildings, comprising the plant of the Commercial Acid company, two miles south of here, burned in thirty minutes yesterday after an explosion. The plant consisted of four one-story brick buildings. The loss, including the finished products destroyed, is placed at $200,000.

RABBI WISE IS FOR WOMAN SUFFRAGE.

Kansas City, Mo., Jan. 10. — "It is not for those who advance woman suffrage to give reasons, but for those who oppose it," declared Rabbi Stephen S. Wise, addressing an audience composed mostly of young women of Westport high school here.

"There are reforms of law needed by the working women of America which never will be had until women vote. They will work these reforms as soon as they have the opportunity. That was shown in New Zealand, where the first use which women put their suffrage was to vote laws that regulated their working hours."

NORTH DAKOTA DRAIN LAW IS HELD VALID.

Washington, Jan. 10. — The North Dakota drainage law of 1905 is held to be constitutional by the supreme court of the United States. Property owners of Traill county had attacked its validity.

NORTH DAKOTA FAMILY IS NEARLY ASPHYXIATED.

Aneta, N. D., Jan. 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—Awakened by the illness of one of his children, sleeping in a crib at the side of his bed, Alfred Thuring found his home filled with coal gas. He was so nearly overcome that he fell to the floor three times while trying to reach a door. Finally, he was able to regain sufficient strength to hitch a team of horses and, carrying his three children and wife, who also was overcome by the gas, to the sleigh, he drove to a neighbor's home, where relief was obtained.

WILLIAMS, MINN., SALOON IS ROBBED OF $150.

Spooner, Minn., Jan. 10.—The saloon of L. A. Jensen at Williams, a small place in Beltrami county, near here, was held up by a masked robber Monday night and about $150 in cash and checks taken. Jensen and his bartender were both held up by the highwayman.

Editor's Daughter Weds.

Thief River Falls, Minn., Jan. 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—Miss Lillian Mussey and Edward Moran of this city were married Monday afternoon at the home of the bride's parents. The couple will make Thief River Falls their home. Mrs. Moran is the only daughter of H. L. Mussey, proprietor of the News, and one of the oldest citizens.

Pat Crowe in Court Again.

Chicago, Jan. 10.—Pat Crowe, kidnaper, evangelist, promoter of a sanitarium for inebriates, and police character, made his appearance in court here again yesterday. This time his brother wished him sent to the county hospital. He was suffering from exposure.

Wives Can Preserve Joys of Courtship

("Aunt Ruth" in Woman's Realm.)

"Every married woman should pay the same attention to her personal appearance that she did in her sweetheart days. Men admire well kept hair. Yours will be made light, fluffy and beautifully lustrous by dry shampooing, which is far better than soap and water. Put a cupful of corn meal in a fruit jar, add the contents of a small original package of therox, and shake well together. Just sprinkle a little on the head and brush thoroughly through the hair.

"Use face powder sparingly, if at all. To keep the skin soft and lovely and prevent growth of hair, gently massage the face, neck and arms with a solution made by dissolving an original package of mayatone in half a pint of witch hazel.

"Mothers often lose their good looks through worry. If you have 'croupy' children, or if they suffer from colds and catarrh, use Mother's Salve. You should have it ready for accidents, anyhow, for it is a truly wonderful healer of cuts, burns, sores, sprains, pains and aches."

Bricklayers Have $424,000.

St. Joseph, Mo., Jan. 10.—The treasury of the Bricklayers,' Masons' and Plasterers' International union now contains, according to the report of Treasurer Patrick Murray, $424,000. The defense fund amounts to $97,000, and there was disbursed during the last year in mortuary benefits $142,900. There is a deficit in this department of $30,000, the collections being only $112,700.

AVOID HARSH DRUGS

Many Cathartics Tend to Cause Injury to the Bowels

If you are subject to constipation, you should avoid strong drugs and cathartics. They only give temporary relief and their reaction is harmful and sometimes more annoying than constipation. They in no way effect a cure and their tendency is to weaken the already weak organs with which they come in contact.

We honestly believe that we have the best constipation treatment ever devised. Our faith in it is so strong that we sell it on the positive guarantee that it shall not cost the user a cent if it does not give entire satisfaction and completely remedy constipation. This preparation is called Rexall Orderlies. These are prompt, soothing, and most effective in action. They are made of a recent chemical discovery. Their principal ingredient is odorless, tasteless, and colorless. Combined with other well-known ingredients, long established for their usefulness in the treatment of constipation, it forms a tablet which is eaten just like candy. They may be taken at any time, either day or night, without fear of their causing any inconvenience whatever. They do not gripe, purge, nor cause nausea. They act without causing any pain or excessive looseness of the bowels. They are ideal for children, weak, delicate persons, and aged people, as well as for the most hearty person.

They come in three size packages 12 tablets, 10 cents; 36 tablets, 25 cents; 80 tablets, 50 cents. Remember, you can obtain them only at our store—The Rexall Store. E. M. Tredway, 208 West Superior street.

DIRECTORS AND OFFICERS OF DULUTH BANKS FOR 1912

As forecasted in The Herald last evening, W. I. Prince, who resigned as cashier and director of the City National bank, late yesterday afternoon, at the annual meeting of the stockholders of that institution, will be succeeded by H. S. MacGregor, formerly assistant cashier. All of the other directors were re-elected. The new board is as follows: Joseph Sellwood, Richard M. Sellwood, A. M. Chisholm, Alexander McDougall, John F. Killorin, Michael H. Kelley, Henry Turrish, R. J. Macleod, N. F. Hugo, G. A. St. Clair and H. S. MacGregor.

Herman Matzke, paying teller, has been slated to be the new assistant cashier, and Fred Ferguson, receiving teller, has been chosen for election as paying teller. These plans were outlined for this afternoon's meeting of the new board of directors.

The annual stockholders' meeting of the Northern National bank was held late yesterday and the directors were re-elected, as follows: J. L. Washburn, John G. Williams, Dr. J. J. Eklund, Francis W. Sullivan, John R. Mitchell, Louis S. Loeb, Marshall W. Alworth, George A. French and . W. Lyder, Jr.

Subsequently these directors met and re-elected all the officers, as follows, for the ensuing year: J. L. Washburn, president; John G. Williams, vice president; J. W. Lyder, Jr., cashier, and Joseph E. Horak, assistant cashier.

The two other national banks of the city likewise re-elected their boards of directors yesterday afternoon without change. As far as could be learned there were no changes slated among the officers. The re-elected directors are as follows:

First National—Albert M. Marshall, Alexander D. Thomson, Luther Mendenhall, Augustus B. Wolvin, Rudolph M. Weyerhaeuser, Albert Ordean, John Millen, Araspas C. Jones, Fred A. Patrick, Louis W. Hill, William F. Fitch and David Williams.

American Exchange National—W. C. Agnew, Kenneth Clark, T. F. Cole, Chester A. Congdon, A. H. Crasweller, C. A. Duncan, William G. Hegardt, S. G. Knox, H. M. Peyton and G. A. Tomlinson.

The following are the present officers:

First National—Albert L. Ordean, president; David Williams, vice president; John H. Dight, cashier; Walter J. ohnson, assistant cashier, and William W. Wells, assistant cashier.

American Exchange National—Hamilton M. Peyton, president; Chester A. Congdon, vice president; William G. Hegardt, cashier; Isaac S. Moore, assistant cashier and Colin Thomson, second assistant cashier.

The meeting of the American Exchange National was scheduled for this afternoon and that of the First National will probably be held some time this week.

The stockholders of the St. Louis County State bank, elected the following: Directors, C. W. and Fred C. Elston and Charles A. and F. Britts; president, C. W. Elston, and cashier, Charles A. Britts. A dividend of 16 per cent was declared for the year.

The directors of the Western State bank re-elected the officers, as follows: President, James Cochrane; L. A. Barnes; cashier. A dividend of 8 per cent was declared on the capital stock for the year.

was worth that, but I do not want to guess. Give me time and I will give you all the figures. I have had so much to think about for forty years, and in the last eleven years I have not engaged in the steel business, and so much has faded from my memory."

Mr. Carnegie related how, when he was superintendent of the Pennsylvania railroad, he had seen rails taken up every six weeks and had sought to find some process for hardening steel.

Mr. Carnegie denounced the banking system of the United States as a "disgrace to civilization."

"When panics come in this country," he said, "they are due to the fact that we have the worst banking system in the world. Panics spread ruin. If the bill now before congress is passed you will have something to prevent panics."

Told of Big Problems.

Mr. Carnegie, in the written statement filed with the committee, pointed out that the steel committee's task had arisen from the fact "that the law of competition in business has seemed recently to be impaired in certain findings, notably those of oil, steel and tobacco.

"Even now a gigantic railway system, embracing nearly one-half of the world's mileage, has been effected and several retail companies have been tried and convicted under the Sherman law.

"We are in a transition stage, and naturally suggestions are numerous and divers for effective compliance with the Sherman act as interpreted by the supreme court.

"That a satisfactory measure will finally be evolved is certain—one which does not go further than actually necessary to prevent restraint of trade and monopoly. These two and unendurable evils prevented, government and courts well may rest from further action until experience dictates any necessary modifications.

Nothing Revolutionary Needed.

"There is no cause at present for either alarm or haste upon the part of the courts, congress or producers or consumers, whose interests will become mutual wherever freedom of trade from monopoly are established. Nothing revolutionary is required."

Continuing the story of his life, Mr. Carnegie said that during the Civil war he suffered a sunstroke and was ordered to spend his summers in a cooler climate.

"I went to my native land, Scotland, and there I watched the Bessemer process of making steel. There, too, I met a Mr. Dodds, who had invented a patent for hardening the face of steel. I purchased the patents and brought Mr. Dodds to Pittsburg, where we built a furnace and made the first hard surface rails in this country."

About "Charlie Schwab."

Mr. Carnegie referred to "that great mechanical genius, Charlie . Schwab," as the "greatest man I ever knew in that line."

Mr. Carnegie said he suggested to Schwab that he test a process for making ore in open hearth furnaces and then "build an open hearth furnace."

"Charlie said he would try and it was not more than a week later that he came to my office in New York and laid on my desk plans for eight magnificent open hearth furnaces. We sold open hearth steel for $5 a ton more than other steel."

Mr. Carnegie said that in the open hearth mills at Homestead, "the greatest in the world," the committee would find "no restraint in trade."

Frequently Pounded Table.

Mr. Carnegie frequently pounded the table with his hand.

"Why," he said, "we were going to built at Conneaut, Ohio, an enormous tube mill that would have astonished the world and outdistanced competition. That's where Charlie Schwab comes in again. He told me he was satisfied he had a plan whereby he could build a tube mill that would save $10 a ton in the cost of manufacture over any other tube mill in the world."

erers lost courage or were interrupted in their work. At any rate, the building was not fired. The postoffice is located in a building also used as a store. Nothing was taken from the store. Entrance was effected through a window.

The money was taken from a drawer, which had been pried open. Mrs. Clark, who was left in charge of the postoffice, discovered the theft when she opened the office this morning. It is thought that the robbery occurred about 3 o'clock. There were no living apartments in the building.

The authorities were notified and the sheriff of Aitkin county and deputies have gone to Aitkin to investigate. It is understood that the burglars have left no clew and no one has as yet been arrested on suspicion. Postmaster Clark will leave for McGregor this evening.

Early last September James Papadiches, now in jail, had delivered to him at the McGregor postoffice a registered letter addressed to James Baltoraes. The letter contained a check for $28.10, to which Papadiches is said to have forged Baltoraes' signature, later cashing the check.

Papadiches and Baltoraes were Greek laborers and were both employed on the section by the Soo road at McGregor. Prior to his coming to McGregor, Baltoraes had worked at another place on the section for the Great Northern road. Early in September, the paymaster of the Great Northern mailed a registered letter to him with a check for $28.10, the amount due him for his services.

Papadiches was subsequently arrested and arraigned before United States Commissioner T. H. Pressnell, who bound him over to the grand jury. The grand jury yesterday again reviewed the evidence and at that time it was necessary that Postmaster Clark appear before them.

It is thought that the thieves who looted the postoffice last evening had knowledge of the fact that the postmaster was out of town.

BOAST OF CRIMES IS NOT BELIEVED

Frank Holloway Has Made Fake Confessions Before.

Seattle, Wash., Jan. 10.—Frank Holloway, who confessed in Chicago that he took part in the New Westminster bank robbery, gave the same information last October to a detective agency. Investigation proved that Holloway had no connection with the New Westminster robbery. The detectives learned that Holloway had a habit of boasting of committing crimes that he was not connected with in any way.

Accused in Texas.

Fort Worth, Tex., Jan. 10.—Frank Holloway, under arrest in Chicago, for some years lived at Vernon, Tex. He was under bond to answer to charges of safe blowing and robbery at Harrold, Tex., but failed to appear for trial.

OBITUARY

Thomas H. Rooney, one of the most picturesque figures of the old bonanza days and uncle of Mrs. William K. Vanderbilt and Mrs. Herman Oelrichs, is dead at San Francisco, Cal., of heart disease. Rooney was one of the few survivors of the romantic Comstock mining days. He was born in New York in 1846. He went to the Pacific coast with his parents when a child.

Fred N. Hendrix, one of the best known Minneapolis attorneys, is dead after a long illness. Mr. Hendrix has practiced law in Minneapolis since 1884. For seventeen years he was a partner of Judge F. C. Brooks, the partnership terminating when Judge Brooks went to the district bench in 1898. Mr. Hendrix was born at Spring Prairie, Wis., Jan. 4, 1854. He graduated in both the academic and law colleges of the University of Wisconsin, classes of 1877 and 1879, and practiced in Janesville and at Eau Claire. He went to Minneapolis in 1884. Mr. Hendrix was married Oct. 19, 1881, to Ella F. Underhill of Sharon, Wis., who survives him. He also is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Robert F. Keyes of Hinckley, Minn., two sisters, Julia M. and Rozette Hendrix of Minneapolis, and a brother, Frank Hendrix of Maryland, Wis. He was a member of the Chi Psi fraternity.

Col. Emanuel Wiley, 68 years old, veteran of the Civil war and for the last eight years an assistant doorkeeper of the house of representatives at Washington, is dead at Peoria, Ill., from the effects of a second stroke of paralysis which attacked him last month. He is survived by his wife.

CIVIC DEBATES TO REPLACE PRAYERS.

Kansas City, Mo., Jan. 10.—Discussions of civic problems are to take the place of time-honored Wednesday night prayer-meetings at the Linwood Christian church here. The first meeting in the new movement to be held tonight, when Judge E. E. Porterfield of the juvenile court will talk of the treatment of child offenders.

SURE TO BREAK A SEVERE COLD

How to Cure a Bad Cold and End Grippe Misery In a Few Hours.

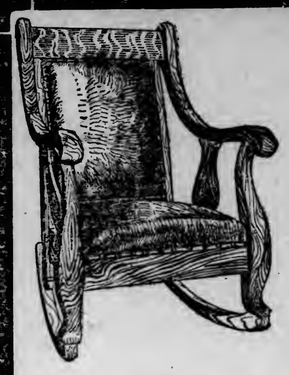

The most severe cold will be broken, and all grippe misery ended after taking a dose of Pape's Cold Compound every two hours until three consecutive doses are taken.

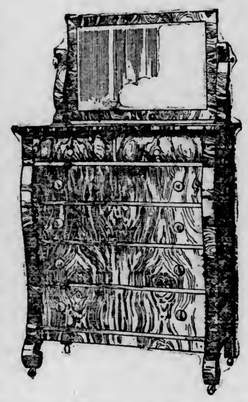

You will distinctly feel all the disagreeable symptoms leaving after the very first dose.

The most miserable headache, dullness, head and nose stuffed up, feverishness, sneezing, running of the nose, sore throat, mucous catarrhal discharges, soreness, stiffness, rheumatism pains and other distress vanishes.

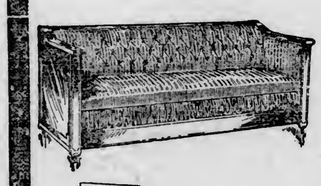

Pape's Cold Compound is the result of three years' research at a cost of more than fifty thousand dollars, and contains no quinine, which we have conclusively demonstrated is not effective in the treatment of colds or grippe.

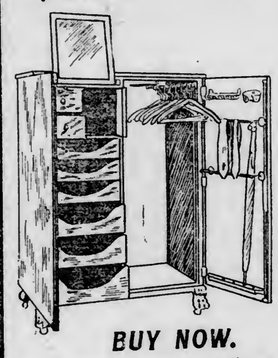

Take this harmless Compound as directed, with the knowledge that there is no other medicine made anywhere else in the world, which will cure your cold or end Grippe misery as promptly and without any other assistance or bad after-effects as a 25-cent package of Pape's Cold Compound, which any druggist in the world can supply.

FEWER SEALS WERE SOLD

144,743 Red Cross Stickers Were Disposed of in Duluth.

Slight Decrease From a Year Ago—Salter School Wins Prize.

Sales of Red Cross seals in Duluth during the holiday season just closed were about 23,000 less than in the previous year. Sales in the recent season were 144,743, while 167,907 seals were sold during the holiday season of 1910-11.

The falling off was due principally to smaller purchases by the business houses and a falling off of sales to the public in the business district. Sales in the schools were increased from 81,108 to 82,667. The postoffice booth sold 10,078 against 11,880 in the previous year. Sales in the Odeum theater increased from 8,375 to 11,760 and in the Lyceum theater there was a falling off from 3,665 to 3,031.

The Salter school won the $10 prize for the heaviest sale of the seals in proportion to enrollment. The Salter children disposed of 8,500. The largest number sold by a school 15,000 was disposed of by the Jackson school children, but the large enrollment at that building brought the percentage below that of the Salter school.

The money derived from the sale of Red Cross stamps goes to the Anti-Tuberculosis society. A small percentage will go to the national organization, another small percentage to the state society, and the Duluth society will net about $1,200, over expenses.

FAMILIES FLEE FROM MENINGITIS EPIDEMIC.

Austin, Tex., Jan. 10.—Fifty families, mostly women and children, seeking a haven from the meningitis epidemic, arrived here today from North Texas points. A large number of families is said to have passed through en route to San Antonio, where the disease has not appeared.

COUNTRY SCHOOLS CLOSE DURING COLD SPELL.

A number of country schools are closed until after the present spell of severe weather.

In many instances the children have a long distance to come to school and many of them have suffered from frozen ears, noses and feet.

The Arnold school has closed temporarily. Yesterday a number of children appeared with frost bites. There are 150 pupils in this school.

The county authorities agree with the teachers that the schools should be closed during the extremely cold weather.

PERTAINING TO THE POCKETBOOK.

Banking, currency and finance generally are pretty dry subjects to read about or to hear people talk about. Nevertheless, they are mightily important. They affect the prosperity and well-being of every citizen—of every man, woman and child in the land.

It is needful, therefore, that the citizenship of this country overcome its dread of this class of subjects, regarding which there is so much doubt and ignorance, and throw itself wholeheartedly into the task of probing them to the bottom.

Changes of vast significance in the existing system of finance in this country are impending. It is widely recognized that this system is the most absurdly antiquated and ineffectual in all the world.

Not only does it fail to guard against panics, but it makes panics.

Money is plentiful when nobody needs it—speaking, of course, in the business sense, because all of us need money all the time—and scarce when everybody needs it; and the present system affords utterly no remedy for that.

When doubt clouds the horizon money and credit freeze up like a pan of water outdoors in thirty-below weather. Banks have to look to their reserves, so they close down on loan-making and call in loans that are out. Because depositors get alarmed bankers get scared. Money gets "tight"—has a regular spree of tightness, in fact—and because it is "tight" credit disappears, business operations have to be curtailed or suspended, employment is reduced, men are thrown out of work and cease to buy because they have no wages to buy with, the disappearance of their custom adds further to the shrinkage in the volume of business and further curtails employment. A vicious circle is set up that ordinarily has but one end—hard times and a long, painful period of recovery.

That's what the present system—which is no system at all—does to us.

Manifestly, we need a new one. A monetary commission, headed by Aldrich, has recommended a new one. The country now is studying it. At least bankers are studying it, and public men. But everybody ought to study it because it's everybody's business. A condition that invites panics and hard times and suffering concerns everybody. A remedy for this condition also concerns everybody.

While this country is getting a new financial suit, it should, of course, get one that will fit and that will last. It wants the best possible plan that can be devised for the welfare of the nation and all its people. It does not want one that will be good alone for Morgan and Rockefeller. It wants one that will be good for John Jones and Bill Smith and Ole Peterson, too.

The question now before the country is whether the Aldrich scheme, which is offered as a complete and sovereign specific for what ails us financially, is what it is represented to be. The country can't afford to make a mistake about it. It wants a remedy, and it wants it quickly: but it wants the right one and it doesn't want to be given a dose of poison by mistake.

What this all leads up to is the fact that tomorrow night in the Duluth Commercial club rooms there will be an open meeting at which David R. Forgan, a banker and finance expert of standing, will talk on this subject. Since it concerns everybody, and since everybody ought to get all the light possible on it, everybody ought to attend this meeting, hear what Mr. Forgan has to say in behalf of the Aldrich scheme, ask him questions if anybody thinks of any to ask, and thus begin such a study of the problem as will form a definite and correct public opinion about it.

MOVING SCHOOLS TO THE COUNTRY.

F. W. Fitzpatrick of Washington, formerly of Duluth, who is exceedingly fertile in good ideas for the benefit of the people, has a new one.

He wants the school buildings moved out into the outskirts of each community where the children will have plenty of fresh air and lots of ground to play in. There would be more chance out there, he thinks, to teach practical things. He would send the pupils out in street cars provided for that purpose.

Says Mr. Fitzpatrick in a letter to the editor of The Herald: "I have in my mind the betterment of our schools, not only in the system of education but in the location of the schools, their environment and all that. The kid of today is the business man of tomorrow, and as he is trained today so will be his ideas and prejudices tomorrow. If we want a decent class of business men in that tomorrow it is simply up to us to look to his welfare while in the formative period, today. True, we have done a lot for the schools; they are ventilating them, some of the class rooms they are leaving open and benefiting the children thereby. Endless improvements have been made; but there is one great big step that can be taken and should be taken that would mean more for the kids' welfare, physical, moral and mental (note the order in which I put them) than anything and everything that's gone on before.

"Abandon our measly little schoolhouses, stuck in the crowded centers and with their little two-by-four playgrounds, and build big schools, away out in the suburbs, surrounded by real God's country, and send the youngsters to them from the city by street cars. It's bound to come."

It would not be at all surprising if it did come. It sounds like something that ought to come, ultimately. It should appeal more, of course, to large cities which have schools in congested centers, than to cities like Duluth, which have pretty fair breathing spaces around their school buildings. But then the large cities have to use so much of their money to support their political governments with their myriads of hungry hangers-on that they probably couldn't take it up now. And as for Duluth, of course, this is going to be a great city, too: and when it does it will have congested centers if it doesn't watch its growth carefully.

This is not a new idea with Mr. Fitzpatrick. He developed it twelve years ago in a French educational review, and has just dragged it out to the light of publicity in this country.

It's worth thinking about, certainly.

Duluth has an idea that in planning its growth it would like to arrange to get as many of its people out in the suburbs as possible. It has a dream of a city pretty much all suburbs, with an acre home for everybody in which father and mother can raise most of the family's food, and where the kiddies can have plenty of room to grow in and tumble around and get dirty and healthy and strong.

If that plan is carried out—and it may be, because it is about the most practical dream ever conceived—this city will accomplish Mr. Fitzpatrick's idea and go him a few better. It will not only take the schools and the children out into the outskirts, but it will take the families out there, too.

NORTHERN MINNESOTA'S SHOW ROOM.

When a business man has something to sell, he advertises it. One good way to advertise is to provide a show room where he can exhibit to the best advantage the things he has to sell.

Northern Minnesota has land to sell—or rather, the state has land in Northern Minnesota for sale and Northern Minnesota wants it sold and put under cultivation as soon as possible—and the Northern Minnesota Development association has taken the above method of fostering this enterprise of settling Northern Minnesota.

It has established immigration headquarters at 39 South Third street, Minneapolis, with W. R. Mackenzie, secretary of the association, in charge. In connection it has a Northern Minnesota exhibit, which is intended to be permanent. The advertising that Northern Minnesota gets out of a week's exhibit at the state fair it will get the year around through this admirable enterprise of the Northern Minnesota Development association.

So it is distinctly to the advantage of Northern Minnesota and of every person whose well-being and prosperity depend upon Northern Minnesota's growth that this show room should be a success.

To make it a success two things are absolutely essential:

First, money enough to keep it going.

Second, a complete and representative exhibit of the products of Northern Minnesota.

So if you can afford to contribute toward the cost of maintaining it, you will be putting your money out to good advantage to Northern Minnesota and yourself if you do your share toward keeping up this exhibit.

And if you have raised products that are characteristic of what the soil of Northern Minnesota can do, you should send samples to Northern Minnesota's show rooms, so that homeseekers will see them and thus be induced to buy land in Northern Minnesota and settle beside you to help pay taxes, build roads and schoolhouses, maintain churches and provide you with neighbors for social communion.

The Northern Minnesota Development association is taking practical steps, and it deserves to have your fullest and heartiest support.

THE COMMISSION PLAN IN OPERATION—19.

Columbia, S. C., went under the commission plan May 11, 1910. For current administrative and departmental expenses from Jan. 1 the previous administration had spent $167,468.09, or at a rate of $468,536 per annum. The commission got along the rest of the year with an expense of $167,435.04 for the same purposes, without curtailing work in any way, or at the rate of $262,300 per annum—a reduction of 44 per cent. The old council had spent $13,289 in repairing thirty-nine blocks of paving. The commission repaired 466 blocks for $17,426.

Maybe a plan of city government that would work these marvels for Columbia would help Duluth just a little.

MERCY FOR RICHESON?

The Herald does not believe in capital punishment, and it thinks Minnesota did the right thing when it abolished it.

Nevertheless, there are cases which weaken the firmest opposition to capital punishment; and we confess that we could observe with great complacency the failure of the present attempt to save the life of Clarence V. T. Richeson, who has been condemned to death following his admission that he killed a young girl who had trusted him.

It is hard to see how any man could offend more wretchedly. Using his high office of minister of the Gospel to gain the confidence of a young girl, he betrayed her. Then, to conceal the results of his crime in order that he might marry another innocent girl, he again abused the trust his victim placed in him by giving her a deadly poison on the pretence that he was offering her a remedy for her condition.

Probably Richeson, if allowed to live, would spend the rest of his life in repentence. Probably society will be no better off if it kills him; and, again, possibly extending mercy to such as he might encourage others of his kind.

We don't believe in capital punishment; but if mercy is denied this Richeson person we'll promise not to complain about it.

SOME JUDICIAL WISDOM.

Strange indeed, sometimes, are the processes of the judicial mind when it gets involved in the intricacies and complexities of technicality.

The Journal of the American Medical association reports a case from Indiana which illustrates this.

That state has a good pure food law and—better still—it is well enforced. One of its provisions is intended to protect the public against impure milk. The way the officers of the law enforce this law is to buy milk from dealers and test it.

Recently the officers found that a dairyman was selling impure and dirty milk. So they bought some of his milk, tested it, found plenty of dirt, and arrested him.

When the case came into court the attorneys for this vendor of dirty milk maintained that their client was not guilty of violating the law because it must be shown that the milk was bought for human food, when as a matter of fact this particular portion of milk was bought for analysis. The judge before whom the case came sustained this point and held that the dairyman was not guilty of violating the law against the sale of impure milk!

Fortunately, not all judges can be hoodwinked in this way. Most of them are as much concerned in seeing that justice is done as they are in seeing that the commas are all in the right places in the indictments.

THE OPEN COURT

(Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their ideas about the topics of general interest, but discussions of sectarian religious differences are barred. Letters should not exceed 300 words—the shorter the letter. They must be written on one side of the paper only, and they must be accompanied in every case by the name and address of the writer, though these need not be published. A signed letter is always more effective, however.)

SUGGESTS "SHOWER" TO AID THE NEEDY.

To the Editor of The Herald:

We have all been interested in the worthy efforts of the Associated Charities and others to help those of our citizens who are unfortunate in not having enough to make them comfortable during the cold weather. We all know that by reason of existing conditions many worthy families have suffered for the want of warm clothing, fuel and perhaps even food. Of course, by supplying them with some fuel and food temporary relief is given, and is thankfully received; but the long weeks of cold weather yet to come means that there is yet much to be done in looking after the needy ones to prevent actual suffering, especially old people and children and possibly sick people.

We sometimes give what are called "showers," for instance "a linen shower," for certain occasions or events, and along this line I would like to make the following suggestion. Let's have a shower for them, a comfort and blanket shower, and let each one who feels so disposed donate a comfort or a blanket to be distributed by Mr. Dinwiddie's assistants where most needed.

This I think would be a source of lasting comfort and enjoyment to those receiving them and would lessen the danger of sickness on account of lack of warmth. We all know it is bad enough to be cold during the day when one can stir around, but how much worse to go to bed at night for rest and have to lie there and shiver. One thing that brought this more forcibly to my mind was the condition of a family living in the vicinity of Thirty-seventh avenue west, where there is a man and wife with six children living in a tar-papered shack and the man unfortunately has been down sick with pneumonia and unable to work. Today as we all know has not been so severe as the past few days and this family found it necessary to let the fiers go out in order to save their fuel for possibly colder weather. This circumstance can be vouched for by a very reliable charitable woman who visited this family among others who need assistance.

Blankets and comforts can undoubtedly be purchased for such a purpose from a wholesale jobber or perhaps better yet from a factory right here at home for less than the regular retail price. Yours truly,

A SYMPATHIZER.

Duluth, Jan. 8.

WORKING HARD FOR NO PERSONAL GAIN.

To the Editor of The Herald:

It is surprising to see with what eagerness the Socialists in this city are working, and it does a man good, even if you don't believe as they do, to see the interest and energy they are putting into their work. The writer a few days ago wandered into their hall on Second avenue west. I found the hall filled with papers and books. Every one of the members was busy stamping and making up bundles of literature to be distributed throughout the different wards on Sunday mornings. As I was standing there looking on I said to myself: "Is it not a wonder that these men without personal gain are so willing to do all this work?" They go from house to house delivering literature, crawling over snow banks and slippery sidewalks, up on the hillside in temperature of 38 deg. below zero, and thus denying themselves a good rest on Sunday mornings.

I interrupted one of them, and asked him how much he was paid for all this work.

He looked at me with surprise and said: "Get paid. Bless my soul no! What we get, is hard cold words, from those who little know. We know that they don't know. If they did, they certainly would be one of us. Why? Because they all want what we want—we want nothing that they could not have—They simply don't understand us. They do not know our motives. All we want is a better world to live in; not only for a few of us, but for all mankind. We want our rights that nature allows us. We want the rights that the Declaration of Independence stands for. We want to live as civilized men should live. We want to establish a co-operative commonwealth, where every man, woman, and child will be included.

"Let every one who is able to work do some useful thing for society. The brotherhood of man will then flourish and triumph. That will be our pay for our work distributing literature. If we can establish this then our reward will be paid a thousandfold. Don't you think so?"

And here I had to say yes!

AN OBSERVER.

Duluth, Jan. 10.

Too Much of a Reformer.

New York Globe: The drubbing that Senator La Follette yesterday received from Governor Osborn of Michigan is no novelty to the Wisconsin senator. From his youth up—or at least since political illumination came to him when he discovered that while the acceptance of a bribe may be condoned, the refusal of one, if followed by blabbing, is unforgivable—Mr. La Follette has been steadily told that he is a demagogue, that he has made a profession of politics, and, finally, that at one time in his career Uncle "Ike" Stephenson was his colaborer.

No one in American politics has had more mean things said to him and of him. Much energy has ben wasted in futile efforts to suppress him. The older practioners in politics have never liked his methods and have never pretended that they did. When in county, congressional district, state, or national politics the Wisconsin senator has been a disturber of the peace. He has been constantly bringing forward uncomfortable reforms and has displayed time and again the most unreasonable spirit when compromises were being promoted.

When Col. Roosevelt was president and in the height of his political power he had La Follette thrown out of the Chicago convention. When La Follette came to Washington as senator it was the White House that snickered the loudest when reports came from the capitol of how the Wisconsin upstart was disciplined by his colleagues. Since Mr. Rosevelt has held up the La Follette laws of Wisconsin as models to the nation, but in the days when the progressive movement and the progressive policies were concentrated under the La Follette pompadour Mr. Roosevelt was careful not to be caught associating with a heterodox and unnecessarily extreme reformer.

Yet Governor Osborn is unquestionably right when he says that La Follette cannot be nominated, and doubtless right when he adds that he could not be elected if nominated. In a Democracy the real leader of a movement is not acceptable as a candidate. Calhoun was the moulder and the maker of the political thought of a great and dominant section, yet was unavailable, although the nation came to New England for a much smaller man. Clay tried three times for the presidency and always failed. Seward was the greatest personal force in the early Republican party, yet he was passed over.

La Follette has been tried and convicted on the charge of being too much of a reformer. It is not probable that he is under any illusions as to the possibility of his candidacy's success. Indeed, it is said that the candidacy was launched solely because of the feeling that the Progressive movement would go to pieces if there was not a Progressive candidate who was willing to stir about.

OUR NEXT GOVERNOR.

And Soon Will Be Consumed.

Grand Rapids Independent: It listens just now is if Governor Eberhart's goose was cooked as far as Northern Minnesota is concerned.

Bigger Issues.

Glenwood Herald: We believe in the consolidation of rural schools, but we also believe that the candidate for the governership next fall will need a stronger issus than that to be successful. There are a large number of more important matters that need solution and we need a chief executive who can roll up his sleeves and go after them.

"Gordon for Governor."

Pine City Pine Poker: "Gordon for Governor" sounds the headlines in many newspapers throughout the state. As yet the present lieutenant governor has not announced his candidacy for the gubernatorial position, but it is plainly evident that he will do so very soon if condiitons warrant it. The record made by Sam Y. Gordon as presiding officer of the state senate was the envy of leading "politicians" and the latter are anxiously awaiting the word from the Browns Valley man.

Great Traveler.

Battle Lake Review: Eberhart may not pass down in history as a wise governor—he may not win undying fame as a fluent orator, his name may never be associated with those of great statesmen but as a single handed traveler he is the greatest gad-about of modern or mediaeval times. He will have this distinction in spite of his detracters and envious opponents.

Gordon Is Popular.

Cuyuna Miner: "Sam Y. Gordon for our next governor," is becoming a popular slogan with the newspaper boys and the boys are most generally in the right. Yes, Sam Y. seems to be the people's and he well reserves the honor bestowed upon him by the good people of this grand state—Minnesota.

Riding School Hobby to Death.

Eden Valley Journal: The Progressive Republicans of the first district are wholly anti-Eberhart. They feel that the salvation of the Republican party doesn't lie in the consolidation of rural schools and that the school question is a non-partisan one anyhow. A governor who doesn't consider vital questions at issue and who rides the school hobby to death must expect a whole lot of opposition.

A Sound Rule for Candidates.

Breckenridge Telegram: If Sam Gordon is elected governor he is determined that he will go into that office without any entangling alliances. Sam is right as usual.

Big Interests May Control.

Middle River Pioneer: Never in the history of the state has any governor received so much flagellation at the hands of the press as Governor Eberhart is receiving at present. Unless al signs fail he will not be in the running at the next Republican state convention. That is, unless the big interests absolutely control the convention, as they have in some former instances.

Wanted—A Wife.

Wanted—a wife. Come, now, who will apply?
Hers shall be everything riches can buy,
All that I have will I lay at her feet—
If these requirements she's able to meet:

She must be witty and pretty and wise,
Able to counsel and aid and advise.
Strong as Gibraltar in will she must be—
Except in the case where she differs from me.

She must be able to sternly command:
All flesh must quail at the wave of her hand.
To no one on earth must she e'er bow the knee—
Except in the case where she's dealing with me.

Though her beauty may captivate those she doth meet,
She must husband her charms in a manner discreet.
For her powers and graces no others must see—
She may smile if she will, but smile only at me.

When the women shall vote, as they may before long,
May her power be great and her influence strong.
But on this I'll insist—she must always agree
With the platforms and principles fostered by me.

Wanted—a wife. What! Does no one apply?
Is there no ready mate for a man such as I?
When I'm offering wealth and a life fraught with ease
In return for requirements simple as these?

Wanted—a wife. What is this that you say?
That I've been asleep twenty years to a day?
That no such requirements longer are known
And that woman at last has come into her own?

A wife is no longer a chattel, you say?
Though she honors and loves, she's not forced to obey?
Woe's me! I'll withdraw my request for a wife
And go back to sleep for the rest of my life.

The Death of Barkis.

From "David Copperfield," by Charles Dickens: "Barkis, my dear," said Peggotty—bending over him—"here's my dear boy—my dear boy, Master Davy, who brought us together, Barkis; that you sent messages by, you know! Won't you speak to Master Davy?"

He was as mute and senseless as the fox, from which his form derived the only expression it had.

"He's a-going out with the tide," said Mr. Peggotty to me, behind his hand.

My eyes were dim, and so were Mr. Peggotty's; but I repeated in a whisper, "With the tide?"

"People can't die along the coast," said Mr. Peggotty, "except when the tide's pretty nigh out. They can't be born unless it's pretty nigh in—not properly born, till flood. He's a-going out with the tide. It's ebb at half-arter three, slack water half an hour. If he lives till it turns he'll hold his own till past the flood, and go out with the next tide."

We remained there watching him a long time—hours. What mysterious influence my presence had upon him in that state of his senses I shall not pretend to say; but when he at last began to wander feebly, it is certain he was muttering about driving me to school.

"He's coming to himself," said Peggotty.

Mr. Peggotty touched me and whispered with much awe and reverence. "They are both a-going out fast."

"Barkis, my dear!" said Peggotty.

"C. P. Barkis," he cried, faintly. "No better woman anywhere!"

"Look! Here's Master Davy!" said Peggotty. For he now opened his eyes.

I was on the point of asking him if he knew me when he tried to stretch out his arms and said to me distinctly, with a pleasant smile:

"Barkis is willin'!"

And, it being low water, he went out with the tide.

Hard Work.

Lippincott's: Scadds (proudly pointing to his new palatial mansion): "There it is. And you must remember I got it all by hard work."

Shadds: "Hard work?"

Scadds: "Very hard."

Shadds: "Who did it?"

What Milton Omitted.

Lippincott's: The rebellious angels had just been cast out of heaven. In the swift downward flight Lucifer overtook Beelzebub.

"What's troubling you, Bub?" he called.

"An old problem," answered the future foul fiend, between somersaults: "Where are we going this fall?"

TWENTY YEARS AGO

Taken From the Columns of The Herald of This Date, 1892.

W. W. Brown of Superior was victorious in the first of the skating races with Johnson of West Duluth. The time for five miles was 17 min. 12 secs.

Mrs. James Wilson, who has been the guest of friends in Chicago for several days, has returned home.

A new plan for the protection of the water front from loss by fire has been submitted to Chief Smith of the fire department by Capt. McDougall. He would build a scow to draw not more than a foot of water and to be about 55 fet long and 18 fet beam. This boat he would fit up with two Worthington pumps of large power. The cost would be about $3,000. An engineer at $100 a month would be necessary, and the total operating expenses would not exceed $1,500 annually. The scow could be towed by a tug to any point where a fire broke out.

Miss Emma Lokker of Elizabeth, Minn., is visiting her sister, Mrs. A. Youngberg, at West Duluth.

Mr. McKeal, who lives at the West end, had two fingers cut off while at work at the Atlas Brass works at New, Duluth.

A very pretty wedding was that on the evening of Jan. 6 of Thomas A. Merritt of Hazelwood Park to Miss Jennie S. Swanstrom, daughter of Hon. E. G. Swanstrom of this city. Over 100 relatives were present. The ceremony was performed by Rev. L. F. Merritt of Oneota. The couple will be at home after Jan. 15 at 2123 West Third street.

G. T. Edwards left last night for the Pacific coast and will spend the winter in California.

Charles F. Macdonald, formerly city editor of the Superior Leader, has accepted a position with the Duluth News.

Col. J. B. Fish of St. Paul, who died a few days ago, was well known in Duluth. He was an eminent engineer and located the Duluth-Ashland line of the Northern Pacific, as well as the Duluth & Iron Range from Two Harbors to the St. Louis river.

Walter Brown, one of the most popular of the younger members of Clan Stewart, died on Jan. 8. He was also captain of the football club.

The prospectors at the E. J. Longyear iron camp on section 6-55-22, about twenty miles northwest of La Prairie, are in five fet of ore at a depth of thirty feet from the surface.

G. M. Waddell left today for a short business trip to Chicago.

Word has been received here of the death of John Drummond, formerly manager at the Spalding. At the time of his death, Mr. Drummond was chief clerk at the Richelieu hotel at Chicago.

TOO SLY POLITICS.

New York Evening Post: Americans are just now having a stiff course in subtly ingenious theories of political goings on. The plain, blunt man, asking for light and seeking realities, may be pardoned for acting as one bewildered. He is very early told that he must not believe anything he sees, and that it is a fixed principle of political interpretation that things are not what they seem. His plight is like that of Sir Wilfrid Lawson at the time when, as he relates in his autobiography, he applied to T. W. Russell for information about Ireland. "Certainly," replied Russell, "but, before we begin, you must remember that there are no facts in Ireland." We might be forgiven for concluding that there are, at present, no facts in the American political situation. There are no faces; there are only masks. There are no candidates; there are only stalking-horses. Everything is mysterious, everything indirect. All appearances are misleading, and the only certain thing is that you cannot be certain of anything. A philosopher of universal doubt has, for the time being, settled down upon American politics.

In your simplicity, you fall into conversation with one of these mystic readingers of cryptic things in the world political, and you innocently lay before him your unsophisticated view of affairs. He turns upon you a pitying eye. "Are you so credulous as that?" And then he proceeds to explain to your halting understanding the inner meaning of every movement and the secret aim of every conspiracy. Little by little you discover mysterious truths. You learn that the great effort is, not to elect a president this year, but to nominate a candidate who will surely be defeated. Then you are informed that 1912 is of the least possible importance anyhow, and that 1916 is the year big with fate. All the maneuvering and intriguing and campaigning in either party now are really related to the election four years away. About that of next November no truly astute politician cares a straw. Like the dying gladiator, "his thoughts are far away." It is to be supposed that Roosevelt and his friends are bustling about simply for this year of grace? Ah, no; their hearts, being those of youth, are "filled with long, long thoughts." Not now but four years from now is their great blow to be struck. Similarly with Bryan; to him, also, 1912 means nothing, 1916 everything. And all the other politicians are so devilish sly that none of them means what he says or shoots where he looks. If you can believe the knowing fellows who explain it all to your ignorance, it may be said of every public man in this country today, as Talleyrand said of Chateaubrian: "When he is not intriguing he is trafficking."

No novel with a hidden plot, no drama with subterranean machinations, could equal the mysteriousness of the relations of La Follette and Roosevelt, as they are now daily set forth. The two have a mutual understanding, and they also distrust and hate each other fiercely. They are playing into each other's hands, and at the same time are smiting each other under the fifth rib. The friends and agents of Roosevelt are working night and day for La Follette, and likewise are betraying him shamelessly. There is clearly some kind of combination between them, but what is it? Possibly, what the late Lord James of Heresford called, in the case of Sir John Gorst and Randolph Churchill, "a poacher's combination—namely, a pointer to find game and a greyhound to run it down." But that does not help us to decide, in the hunting together of La Follette and Roosevelt, which is the pointer and which the greyhound.

We admit that it is barely possible that these cocksure decipherers of our political cryptograms are too clever by half. It may be that they first invent the deep intrigues which they then explain. If one's mind falls away baffled and weary from all this parade of puzzles and explanation of dark things by still darker, a certain comfort may perhaps be extracted from dwelling upon the plain and obvious considerations which occur to those who sometimes feel, with Sir Andrew Agnecheek, that they have "no more wit than a Christian or any ordinary man has." They can, after all, see a few facts and broad rules of political conduct. Parties are not so different from the men who compose them. They like to win, and they like to win right away. When they go into a fight, they do not wish their leaders to be as those beating the air and saying that this contest doesn't count and that you are to wait and see how vallantly they will lay about them after four years have passed. Why, they may all be dead men by that time; and if false motions and sheer pretence are to be tolerated now, what is to prevent them then? The humdrum and plodding intellect may also fall back upon history; may ask when did a party refuse an elected president a renomination, if he wanted it. Also may the unaspiring vision that does not devote itself to seeing through mill-stones fix a little attention upon actual developments. It may note the advantage of the White House policy of sitting tight and letting the others mutter and storm and predict. Plenty of time and opportunity have already made the La Follette candidacy hopeless. Others may go the same way. Indeed, it is not impossible that the World's dispatch from Oyster Bay may be correct, and that, in the course of a week or two, a pronouncement may come from that abode of moderation and wisdom setting all doubts at rest and making the present profound mysteries of our politics uncommonly foolish.

The Riot of the Commonplace.

A. M. Simons in "Social Forces in American History"—It was the time (the Centennial) when the American dollaracy of beef, pills, soap, oil or railroads became the world-wide synonym for the parvenu and the upstart. In literature it produced the cheap, wood pulp, sensational daily, the New York Ledger type of magazine, the dime novel, and the works of Mary J. Holmes, Laura Jean Libbey and "The Duchess." In industry its dominant figures were J. Gould and Jim Fiske. In politics it evolved the "machine," the ward heeler and the political boss, with Tweed as the finished sample. Its religious life found expression in sensational revivals upon the one hand, and a cheap negative atheism upon the other. In public architecture it erected the hideous piles that now disfigure our cities, and for private homes it added the type of the "Queen Anne front" and the "Mary Ann back." Its triumphs in sculpture were the bronze and cast iron dogs with which the millionaire decorated his front lawn. It moved forward to the music of Moody and Sankey hymns and ragtime bands, while its one contribution to the pictorial art of the world was the chromo.

Not a Fair Test.

Cleveland Plain Dealed: A man, impelled by a wager, went on the street and tried to sell genuine silver quarters for 10 cents apiece.

He drew a crowd but no buyers.

That wasn't a fair test, however.

He should have offered genuine 10-cent pieces for a quarter apiece.

That's where he would have succeeded.

The public dearly loves to be fooled.

A Fair Exchange.

Springfield Union: "Mamma, is it right to exchange Christmas gifts?"

"Why, yes, Willie, when you have more than one of a kind."

"Then, mamma, I wish you'd exchange one of the prayer-books I got for a pair of boxing-gloves, an air-gun, a jack-knife, a pair of skates and a sled."

GRAND FORKS EXPRESS OFFICE HAS BAD FIRE.

Grand Forks, N. D., Jan. 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—Packages stored in the Grand Forks express depot yesterday morning were practically destroyed by fire, which supposedly started from an overheated stove. The exact loss cannot be estimated as the express officials are without accurate information as to the value of the consignments destroyed.

The fire department had a stubborn fight as the blaze had gained a big start when discovered. The damage to the building was comparatively light.

FAT VANISHES
ONE POUND A DAY
BY NEW DRUGLESS METHOD
TRUE SUCCESS AT LAST.
DOUBLE CHIN GOES QUICK

Two Hundred Thousand Women Made Happy With This New Knowledge Through a Copy of This Remarkable Book, "WEIGHT REDUCTION WITHOUT DRUGS." Isn't This Convincing Evidence As to Its Value?

SEE ME HERE! I LOOKED AS FAT AS AN OX BEFORE I REDUCED MY FAT

HERE I AM AFTER REDUCING 37 LBS. IN FIVE WEEKS, WITH MY HARMLESS HOME TREATMENT

THE JOY OF LIVING IS THE HERITAGE OF THE LEAN. I WAS STOUT—AND I KNOW

My friends were charitable and they called it obesity; others referred to me as being STOUT, but I knew it was just plain bulky weight. I was miserable—you, too, are equally miserable if you are too stout.

To reduce your weight you must find the cause, you must get at the very reason.

I FOUND THE CAUSE—THE REST WAS EASY

Before I succeeded, I tried everything within reason and some things beyond reason.

It was maddening,—disgusting.

All I had to do was to remove the cause, and I swear under oath, that by my simple method, without drugs, medicine, harmful exercises, or starvation diet, I reduced my weight 37 pounds in five weeks, and guarantee that I can do the same for you. I do not use medicine of any kind or worthless stuff to rub on the body but a simple home treatment; even a child can use it without harm. Through this marvelous combination home treatment, I succeeded because I had found the right way. I can now climb to the summit of Pike's Peak with ease. I could not do that until I had taken off 37 pounds of my ponderous weight.

If you are interested in your own happiness and health and figure, you will permit me to tell you how to reduce your weight "Nature's Way."

It is astonishing the thousands of grateful letters I am receiving. J. E. Boiselle, Box 422, Great Bend, Kansas, writes that he lost fifty pounds with my harmless treatment. W. L. Schmitz, Montevideo, Minnesota, lost thirty pounds in thirty days. Mamie McNeils, Desloge, Missouri, writes that she lost sixty-five pounds with this new method, and I can send you thousands of names of satisfied customers who have given me permission to use their names. I never publish any name without written permission.

NEWS AND VIEWS OF MINNESOTA POLITICS

One would think that Bob Dunn's years of political activity would cause him to beware of Greeks bearing gifts. One would think that he knew the ins and outs of the political game and that his eyes could not be blinded by even the astute Ed Smith. If there is truth in the story now being circulated—a story that comes from one of Dunn's Duluth friends who is thought to know the fact—the sage of Princeton has been duped into allowing his name to go on the organization slate as a candidate for lieutenant governor.

A story was circulated some time ago that a deal had been framed up whereby Senator Nelson was to be a candidate for re-election, while Adolph O. Eberhart and Dunn were to head the machine slate. After all three were elected, it was said, Senator Nelson would resign, his resignation would be followed by that of the governor and Mr. Dunn, succeeding to the governorship, would appoint Eberhart to the senate.

The story was laughed down as ridiculous. It is, in fact, but it was not so ridiculous that it was not an argument to get Bob Dunn on the slate. It is said the tory was told to Dunn as authentic and belief in the story is given as the reason for Dunn's acceptance of Ed Smith's nomination for lieutenant governor.

Bob Dunn has a long-standing ambition to be governor. It is doubtful if, after the developments of other years, he can ever be elected to the office. A possibility of slipping into the executive chair through the lieutenant governor's office would appeal to him and, being blinded by ambition, he might believe such a story as that said to have been told him.

It is a safe bet that Senator Nelson is not a party to the arrangement. The senator would hardly go before the people under the Keefe law, make a hard campaign and then retire for the benefit of Eberhart. If Nelson is re-elected, he will serve his term if death does not cut him off. The story was evidently framed up to get Bob Dunn in the race in order to strengthen the ticket in Northern Minnesota.

Bob Dunn has many friends in Northern Minnesota. Many of them do not believe the lieutenant governorship is big enough for him. They will resent the double-dealing practiced to get him on the ticket. Eberhart is too big a load for Dunn to carry in Northern Minnesota.

There is something to the talk of Sam Iverson's ambition to make the run for governor. Sam is said to be making a careful survey of the field with a view to entering the race against Eberhart. He is an organization man, but he will probably not make Simpson's mistake. He will suddenly become a friend of the dear people and appeal to them without Ed Smith's aid, if he decides to make the race.

Iverson is far from popular, especially in Northern Minnesota. Should he get the nomination, he would be swamped in this section of the state. He may not know that and may get into the race. If he does, he will split Eberhart's strength and the slate may be upset.

That Congressman Halvor Steenerson has assurance through one of Ole Sageng's friends that Sageng will not be a candidate for congress this year, and that the election of a Socialist congressman in the Ninth district is not outside the possibilities, especially if Taft is the Republican candidate for president, are two significant statements in a letter received from Martin Widsten of Warroad.

Mr. Widstein writes to deny a statement recently made that he has been appointed campaign manager for Congressman Steenerson and would soon open an office in Crookston. He says he has looked after Steenerson's interests to some extent for three years, but has not risen to the dignity of "campaign manager," and the office at Crookston will not be opened.

In regard to Sageng, he says the congressman has been given assurance by one of Sageng's friends that the erstwhile Populist will not be a candidate for congress, either as a Republican or an independent.

Mr. Widsten also says that Steenerson's victory three years ago was greater than would appear on the face of the figures. He writes:

Steenerson won by about 3,000. John A. Johnson carried the district by 2,000. Steenerson campaigned the district for Jacobson and Sageng for Johnson and the fight on the governorship became quite bitter all through the district. So you will notice that in spite of this fact 5,000 of those who voted for Johnson also voted for Steenerson and not for Sageng, whom Johnson asked his friends to vote for in every speech he made in the district. This view of the matter does not seem to have occurred to most of the political writers. The primary election returns of 1910 also ought to make a showing. Mr. Bjorge was defeated by about 6,500 votes.

In conclusion, Mr. Widsten writes: There may be a Republican candidate in opposition to Mr. Steenerson, but it is very unlikely. The fight will come at the election, and indications are that the chief opponent will be M. A. Brattland, a Socialist and county attorney of Norman county. The Socialists have gained considerable headway in the district, capturing several of the larger towns, and while the probability of their electing a congressman is not great, it is not an impossibility, especially if Taft is the presidential candidate on the Republican ticket.

The Minneapolis Tribune publishes a list of probable district delegates from Minnesota to the Republican national convention. The Tribune evidently goes on the assumption that every district will elect Taft delegates, for nearly all of those mentioned may be counted for the president's renomination. Milo B. Price of Owatonna, mentioned as a First district probability, has lined up with the Progressives on occasions, but he has never taken kindly to the La Follette candidacy.

The list also includes some who are more likely to be delegates at large than district delegates. Six delegates at large are to be chosen and among those spoken of for the honor are J. A. Tawney, Winona; F. B. Kellogg, St. Paul; E. E. Smith, Minneapolis; Milie Bunnell, Duluth, and W. W. Sivright, Hutchinson.

Following is the Tribune list of prospective district delegates:

First district—J. A. Tawney, Winona; Milo B. Price, Owatonna.

Second district—S. B. Wilson, Mankato; Dan Schell, Worthington; Alex Janes, Pipestone; F. E. Wade, Fairmount.

$2,000,000 RAILROAD EXTENSION

districts of Koochiching, Beltrami and Marshall counties through which the Backus-Brooks line will be built. It will open up virgin timber, and tracts which are known to have great agricultural possibilities.

The Minnesota, Dakota & Western is now twenty-three miles long and serves the Backus-Brooks camps during the logging seasons. It now extends from International Falls to Loman. Besides the railroad, the Backus-Brooks people also control a corporation known as the International Bridge & Terminal company. A bridge is now being built across the Rainy river at International Falls.

The new line which will be run from Loman to the western part of the state will pass through Koochiching, Beltrami, Marshall and Red Lake counties. A preliminary location survey is said to have been made and it has also been learned from an authoritative source that $2,100,000 has been appropriated for the building of new railroads by the lumber company. This appropriation will also include the extension of the Minnesota, Dakota & Western six miles towards the Deer River road.

Yesterday two International Falls newspaper men were in Duluth, and told of these plans of the company. They were George P. Watson of the International Falls Press and C. B. Montgomery of the International Falls Journal. They report everybody happy and prosperous at the border town, which now has a population of 3,500.

"International Falls," said Mr. Montgomery, "is a 'man town.' Just now there is a dearth of the gentler sex. You see, most of the men who are now there are just getting settled and as yet have not moved their families there."

A new $75,000 hotel has just been completed by the Duluth Brewing company and plans have already been drawn and accepted for the erection of a $75,000 schoolhouse. A third band saw has been installed at the mills of the International Lumber company and the daily capacity will be 500,000 feet. A new hot pond has also been added to the equipment. There are no idle men there.

The paper mill at International Falls is also working to capacity, the output being 220 tons of paper daily. Another unit will be added to the plant which will bring the daily capacity of the plant up to 240 tons.

Hopes to Reach Summit.

Prof. Parker will be accompanied by Belmore Browne of the Parker-Browne expedition of 1910; Merl Lavoy of Seattle, and Arthur Aten of Valdez, Alaska, both experts in handling dog teams, will also accompany the party. They will take two dog teams on the final dash.

"I expect to be in the snow three or four months," Prof. Parker said today. "It is a hard trip, but I think that there is a chance that we will reach the summit."

Prof. Parker's first attempt at the mountain was made in the company of Dr. Cook. Parker started east and Cook went back and claimed that he made the ascent. This claim was discredited and disproved afterwards. Parker made another attempt in the company of Belmore Brown in 1910.

down, but the mercury continued to drop and the low point, 36 deg. below zero, was reached shortly after 7 o'clock. At 10 o'clock, the mercury had climbed to 27 deg. below zero and it will keep well below the zero mark all day, with another drop tonight.

There are some signs of a break in the Rocky mountain district, but Mr. Richardson does not base much hope for a pronounced change on it. He says that a continuation of the cold weather for at least thirty-six to forty-eight hours is practically certain.

Canada Reports 50 Below.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—"Twenty-two below and no relief in sight," was the word given out from the weather bureau this morning. The cold spell, instead of showing signs of letting up, is getting more pronounced, according to the early reports received by Forecaster Ryker.

Canadian cities reported temperatures in the neighborhood of 50 deg. below zero.

During the rush hours between 7 and 8 o'clock a. m. two trolley wires broke and traffic in both directions was tied up for forty minutes.

SEVERAL REPORTED KILLED IN SLIDE OF SNOW IN MONTANA

No. 1 on the Pere Marquette, which left Chicago Monday night and was due here at 6:20 yesterday morning, reached the Union station here twenty-four hours late. The train was stalled in snow drifts near East Saugatuck all day yesterday and had to be shoveled out. Water gave out, fires were practically extinguished, and with lack of food there was considerable suffering among the passengers before the release was effected.

Blizzard Gets Worse.

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 10.—Passenger and freight trains and interurban cars are stalled in many parts of Michigan. The blizzard which has held the state in its grip for several days grew worse in the western and northwestern section last night.

Eastern Wisconsin Snowbound.

Fond du Lac, Wis., Jan. 10.—The worst storm in many years raged here last night and traffic on the Chicago & Northwestern's Fox River Valley and Northern Michigan lines between Milwaukee and Fond du Lac is at a standstill. The train due here at 6:45 a. m. from Chicago is fast in a snow drift near Campbellsport, with the sleeper off the track. Other trains are stalled in the same vicinity.

Wyoming Trains Snowed In.

Cheyenne, Wyo., Jan. 10.—Railroad traffic in Wyoming is improved today. A passenger train of the Colorado & Southern railway which became snowbound yesterday, was dug out today. It returned to Cheyenne, a distance of seventy miles. A passenger train on the same line is snowed in twelve miles north of Saratoga.

Hope for Cattle.

Dalhart, Tex., Jan. 10.—Hope for the lives of thousands of starving cattle on the ranges is held out by a sudden rise in temperature to 40 deg. above zero. This is the first thaw in the Texas Panhandle for three weeks. It was fared the stockmen would lose heavily, as the cold and snow had covered the range feed.

As Quickly as Water Dissolves Sugar

About the Time It Takes for a Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablet to Work on the Food and Bring Relief.

TRIAL PACKAGE SENT FREE.

There is no long wait between the time you take a Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablet and the feeling of relief it will bring to an overloaded stomach. It gets busy in a jiffy and quickly sets things to rights in that tired and disordered stomach. It goes right at the work of digesting the food it finds lodged there and in no time at all has things on the move—the gases cease forming, the breath is sweetened, the coating on the tongue disappears and you are no longer conscious that you even have a stomach.

That is one of the chief recommendations for Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets—that they don't take forever to accomplish the purpose for which you need them. It is just as if you put an extra stomach or two to work when yours needed help. You can't continually overload your stomach and expect it to always smile. It is going to get rebellious and sulky after awhile and refuse to go on being driven to do double work. You must rest it occasionally—not by starving and thereby weakening yourself physically—but by using a Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablet to do the work of digesting your food.

These tablets contain all the active elements of the natural stomach juices and will alone and unaided digest food just the same as the gastric juices. And nothing could be more harmless than these tablets. They do not effect the system in any way—do not cure any ailment except as they digest food. Use them freely.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are sold by all druggists everywhere. Price, 50 cents per box. A trial package will be sent if you will write F. A. Stuart Co., 150 Stuart Bdg., Marshall, Mich.

DELCASSE IN POWER AGAIN

aware that there was some dissension between the foreign minister and the premier.

Clemenceau Started It.

When, during the meeting of the senate committee, M. Caillaux denied that there had been secret negotiations between France and Germany on the subject of Morocco, M. Clemenceau sprang to his feet and hurled the question at M. De Selves:

"Will you confirm the premier's statement?"

After some hesitation on the part of M. De Selves, the foreign minister replied that he could not answer the question because he was tied between a double duty—the telling of the truth and the interest of his country. Later on M. De Selves informed the premier that he could not remain with him in the cabinet, and handed him his resignation.

Theophile Delcasse, who once more has taken charge of the French ministry of foreign affairs, has had probably more experience in that department than any other statesman in France. He held the portfolio of foreign affairs from 1898 until 1905, during which period five different cabinets came and went.

M. Delcasse would in all probability have continued in office even longer but for the fact that his policy, especially in regard to Morocco, was viewed with such disfavor by the German emperor that the two countries almost came to blows.

Ousted to Please Kaiser.

The German emperor, after his visit to Morocco on March 31, 1905, said in a speech that French domination in that country would not be tolerated. On his return to Germany the emperor, it is said, demanded M. Delcasse's retirement from the French cabinet. His resignation followed shortly afterwards and the relations of the two countries improved, an agreement being finally reached during the Algeciras conference in 1906.

While he held office as foreign minister, Mr. Delcasse was successful in forming friendly relations between France and several European countries, including Russia, Great Britain and Spain.

M. Delcasse has always displayed a remarkable aptitude for administration.

DEMOCRAT TAKES MADISON'S PLACE

Brother-in-Law of Governor Stubbs Elected From Kansas.

Hutchinson, Kan., Jan. 10.—George A. Neeley, Democrat, was elected to the United States congress from the Seventh Kansas district, to succeed the late Representative Edmond H. Madison, Republican. John M. Kinkle, chairman of the Republican district committee, concedes the election of Neeley by 1,200 to 1,500 votes.

Frank L. Martin, the Republican candidate, carried only five out of fifteen counties, one of them by a majority of 1. Reno county, usually strongly Republican and the home of both candidates, went to Neeley. Neeley is a brother-in-law of Governor W. R. Stubbs. The governor campaigned the district for Martin.

Supporters of Champ Clark, speaker of the national house, who spoke at the convention which nominated Neeley, are jubilant. They predict that the speaker will get the Kansas delegation to the national convention. The "big Seventh" district has been Republican since 1900. It is one of the famous political battlegrounds of Kansas. Populism first flourished there.

ACTOR IS BADLY SCARED BY FIRE

Throws Trunk and Grip From Window and Prepares to Jump.

Chicago, Jan. 10.—Fire in the Creamery Package Manufacturing building in the rear of three hotels at North Clark and Kinzie streets early today, caused hundreds of guests to flee from their rooms and resulted in a loss of $30,000. None of the hotels was touched by the flames.

Ole Olson, an actor, who was sleeping in one of the hotels, decided that his hotel was on fire. He promptly threw his suitcase and trunk out of a second story window, and was standing on the ledge preparing to leap when a patrolman called to him that he was in no danger.

Five Children Committed.

Marinette, Wis., Jan. 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—Five children ranging in ages from 2 to 7 were committed Monday by County Judge Quinlan to the home for dependent children at Sparta. Howard Broiller, the father, is sick and their mother is alleged to be addicted to the use of liquor and morphine. The family lives in Wausaukee.

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST

BOARD HAS A PROBLEM

How to Divide Road and Bridge Fund Among Counties.

Attorney General Says Legislative Resolution Is Unconstitutional.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 10.—(Special to The Herald.) — Effort of the last legislature to appropriate money to counties which did not get their full "cut" from the old "pork barrel" in 1907, has placed the state highway commission in an odd predicament—unable to readily find means of distributing the road and bridge fund of 1912. Members of the commission are at a loss to know whether they shall follow the instruction of the lawmaking body as contained in a concurrent resolution but which has been declared unconstitutional by the attorney general, or totally disregard a legislative act.

During the closing days of the session H. C. Dunn introduced a resolution in the house, providing for an appropriation of approximately $100,000 for counties which had not drawn out their full allowance under the pork barrel distribution. The resolution "requested" the state highway commission in apportioning and distributing the road and bridge fund among the several counties for the year 1912, "to first apportion and distribute to each of the hereinafter named counties, the following amounts, to-wit:"

Then follows the list of sums not drawn as allotted by the "pork barrel" bill. The commission is then instructed to distribute what is left, to the counties as prescribed by law.

Will Bring in $300,000.

The quarter-mill tax for roads and bridges is expected to bring in approximately $300,000. This the commission is supposed to distribute with its own discretion, the law prohibiting the allotment to any one county of more than 2 per cent or less than one-half of 1 per cent. Accordingly, estimating the total revenue from the quarter-mill tax levy as $300,000, the most any county could receive would be $6,000, and the least $1,500. Were the full $300,000 to be distributed to all the eighty-six counties of the state in equal proportion, they would get about $3,500 apiece.

But on the other hand, if the $100,000 which the legislature attempted to give, by resolution, to the counties which did not draw their full "pork barrel" fund—if this sum were taken from the $300,000, there would be left only $200,000 and each county in the state would get only about $2,500, if distribution were made to all in equal amount. However, the highway commission distributes the road and bridge fund only according to what each county has expended or has arranged to expend, during the coming year.

Holds It Unconstitutional.

The attorney general has held that the resolution "requesting" the highway commission to first pay the remainder of the "pork barrel" sums before distributing the 1912 fund, is of the same nature as the old "pork barrel" bill, hence unconstitutional. Furthermore, if the highway commission does distribute the fund as provided by the resolution, some counties would get much more than they are entitled to. Blue Earth county, in particular, is a bump which blocks the commission. The sum awarded it by the "pork barrel" bill was $6,000. It has a balance in the state treasurer's hands now of $1,500. If Blue Earth county got the $6,000 "P. B." the $1,500 balance to its credit and the minimum appropriation this year of $1,500, it would be entitled in all to $9,000, while there are many counties in the state just as deserving or more deserving, which would not get one-fifth of that amount.

The following table shows counties which have a balance to their credit in the hands of the state treasurer, the minimum appropriation which can be made them, ($1,500 or one-fifth of one per cent) and the sum which the legislative resolution endeavored to have the highway commission give before starting the distribution to all counties as prescribed by law:

County—	Balance in Treasury Jan. 1, 1912.	Minimum This Year.	Pork Bbl.	Total
Blue Earth	$1,500	$1,500	$6,000	$9,000
Otter Tail	2,920	1,500	2,233	6,653
Carlton	3,043	1,500	2,350	6,893
Jackson	.....	1,500	4,700	6,200
Dakota	2,333	1,500	4,050	7,883
Douglas	2,643	1,500	212	4,355
Marshall	1,378	1,500	3,805	6,683

The foregoing are examples of the situation to be found in many counties. Fifty-four throughout the state are mentioned in the resolution "requesting" the highway commission to give them first aid.

All Ask the Maximum.

"All counties in the state are asking for the maximum amount," George W. Cooley, highway engineer, said, "and of course all counties can not be given it — $9,000, because it would take approximately $750,000 to go round and we will have not more than $300,000. We expect all the counties in the state to have made their estimates of work proposed and we expect to start our distribution before the first of March, as provided by law. And yet, we don't know how to go about with the distribution in a way that will give all the counties an even break. The question will be discussed at the next meeting."

It is believed by most state officials that the attempted re-enactment of the "pork barrel" bill, as contained in the resolution, will be ignored.

LOAN STATE FUNDS TO SOME DISTRICTS

Pennington County, Newest County, Is Given $35,903, Largest Sum.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 10.—Loans aggregating $81,003, to school districts, towns and counties were approved Tuesday by the state investment board. Pennington county, to cover the floating indebtedness created when it organized a little more than a year ago was given $35,903. Redwood Falls in Redwood county was loaned $19,000 for a waterworks system.

The village of Mountain Lake in Cottonwood county was given $8,000 with which to repair its waterworks system and construct a new well.

Other loans were as follows:

GETS $6.25 AN EAR.

Albert Lea Man Receives Good Price for Prize Corn.

Owatonna, Minn., Jan. 10.—Nate Whitney, 25 years old, of Albert Lea, Minn., won the sweepstake prize of $250 worth of machinery, in addition to the first prize for Southern Minnesota and other awards at the recent corn show held here, according to the announcement of the awards just made.

Whitney sold his prize-winning ten ears of corn to Senator Thomas Cashman of Owatonna for $62.50, an average of $6.25 an ear.

PIERZ WOMAN BURNED.

Mrs. Nestori, Aged 89, Perishes When Home Takes Fire.

Little Falls, Minn., Jan. 10.—Meager accounts have been received here of the tragic fate that came to Mrs. Rosati Nestori, aged 89, living alone at Pierz, who burned to death when fire partially destroyed her home Sunday. Fire was discovered in her house at 11 o'clock a. m. and was extinguished before the building was destroyed but when a search was made for the woman her body was found in her room burned to a crisp. The fire was probably caused by some accident to the stove and the aged woman was unable to escape from the house.

SERVED IN STILLWATER.

Indicted Labor Official Once Convicted in Goodhue County.

Red Wing, Minn., Jan. 10.—Olaf A. Tveitmoe, secretary-treasurer of the California State Trades council and head of the Asiatic Exclusion league, one of the three labor leaders of national prominence indicted and arrested at Los Angeles, on December 30, by the federal authorities for complicity in the so-called nation-wide dynamiting conspiracy, was formerly a resident of Goodhue county. He was arrested for forgery and served eighteen months' sentence for the crime at Stillwater state prison.

STATE MAY TAKE HAND

In Case of Mille Lacs County Children Barred From School.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 10.—Executive authority of the state may be exercised to require members of the school board in District 17, Mille Lacs county, to allow four children who have a brother afflicted with leprosy to get an education.

Elmer Broden, 19 years old, contracted leprosy from his mother who died about five years ago from the disease. The state board of health examined the other members of the family and found they were not afflicted with the disease. The district board, it is alleged, has barred the unafflicted children from school.

BUTTERNUT POSTAL BANK TO BE OPENED JAN. 15.

Ashland, Wis., Jan. 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—On Jan. 15 the second postal savings bank to be opened in Ashland county will open to the public. The postmaster at Butternut has received instructions in regard to the duties pertaining to receiving deposits and has orders to receive such deposits beginning on Jan. 15.

Calumet Has Boy Soprano.

Calumet, Mich., Jan. 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—Reese Le Roy of the Grand theater, has discovered what he believes a wonderful voice in that of Melville Glasson, the 14-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph F. Glasson of Pine street. Master Glasson sings Alice Wilson's songs, in the main, with a beautiful soprano voice. Mr. Le Roy says that metropolitan churches would quickly take advantage of an opportunity to secure the boy for choir work as he possesses a wonderfully clear and strong voice.

TRAMP BADLY FROZEN.

Caught Riding Blind Baggage of Train Near Lancaster, Minn.

Lancaster, Minn., Jan. 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—When the east bound flyer arrived at Orleans, first station north of Lancaster, Monday night, a tramp was discovered riding the blind baggage. His hands and face were badly frozen and he was almost exhausted. He was brought here in the evening and given medical attention, but as he refused to disclose his identity Sheriff Anderson was notified and he was taken to Hallock.

FARMER GOES INSANE.

Prosperous Pennington County Settler Is Sent to Asylum.

Thief River Falls, Minn., Jan. 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—Sheriff J. Labree brought O. Markuson of the town of Goodridge here yesterday and had him examined before Judge Michelet as to his sanity. The man was ordered committed to the hospital for the insane at Fergus Falls and was taken there today.

Markuson is a prosperous settler who took a homestead on the reduced reservation lands east of this city six years ago. He has a large and respected family and has been as successful in his farming operations as the ordinary settler. His home is large and well furnished and his farm is a first class one, but he became dissatisfied and he gradually became morose and finally insane, and threatened harm to his wife and children. He owns farm property in North Dakota also.

HELPED TO BUILD FARGO.

Pioneer Carpenter of North Dakota City Is Called.

Fargo, N. D., Jan. 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—Neil M. McLean, one of the pioneers of Fargo, died Monday at the home of his son-in-law, Russell P. Freeman, of hemorrhage of the brain.

The deceased was born at Cape Bretton, Nova Scotia, in 1836. He came to Fargo when the town was but a village, and being a carpenter by trade, assisted largely in the building of the city.

MINNEAPOLIS' MAYOR FAVORS SUNDAY DANCING.

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 10.—Mayor James C. Haynes has vetoed the proposed ordinance governing public dance halls in Minneapolis. In his veto message to the council he declares he will never approve an ordinance which prohibits dancing on Sunday. He declares this provision a "clear infraction of personal liberty."

HOUGHTON CONTRACTOR IS CALLED IN CHICAGO.

Houghton, Mich., Jan. 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—A. W. Anderson, one of Houghton's best known concrete contractors and builders, died Tuesday morning in a hospital in Chicago. The deceased was 57 years old and most of his life had been spent in Michigan. He engaged in the lumbering business for many years about Alpena, and later took up concrete construction work, which he had followed since 1888, being one of the pioneers in this field.

There survive the widow, five sons and three daughters—Frank, Simeon, Alfred, Charles, Earl; Mrs. David McArthur, Mrs. Mae Ellsworth of Butte, Mont., Gladys Anderson, at home.

UNIVERSITY PROFESSOR TO MAKE INVESTIGATION.

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 10.—Prof. John H. Gray of the department of economics of the University of Minnesota has been appointed to have charge of the investigation into the regulation of public service corporations under the auspices of the National Civic federation. Leave of absence from the university was granted Prof. Gray by the board of regents and he will leave for New York about Feb. 1. W. D. Kerr of Chicago will assist him in the inquiry.

ESCANABA MILL HAND IS SCALDED TO DEATH.

Escanaba, Mich., Jan. 10.—Falling into the scalding vat at the plant of the Escanaba Manufacturing company, Monday evening, Charles Desrosiers, 48 years old, was literally cooked alive. On account of the steam arising in the cold, the men could see but a few inches ahead and Desrosiers slipped and fell headlong into the vat. He leaves a wife and several children.

CONTRACT SUGAR BEETS REFUSED BY COMPANY.

Racine, Wis., Jan. 10.—Thousands of tons of sugar beets in Racine county, contracted for by the Janesville sugar beet company, will not be accepted at the mills, growers having received letters from the Janesville company instructing them not to ship more sugar beets and stating that the mills would be closed. It is estimated that the amount of sugar beets now in the county is about 200,000 tons. Last season's crop amounted to about 540,000 tons, or double that of any previous year. The Janesville company aver that the quality of beets grown in this county last season contains such a small percentage of sugar that the mill was being operated at an enormous loss.

MANY GATHERINGS AT GRAND FORKS

Number of Meetings to Be Held During January and February.

Grand Forks, N. D., Jan. 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—Grand Forks will be busy during the latter part of January and the fore part of February, as a result of shows and conventions to be held. These include the automobile show, the Red River Valley corn and clover convention, the Kennel club show, the poultry show, the North Dakota Civic Engineers' society, and the North Dakota Implement Dealers' association.

Corn and Clover Convention.

The corn and clover convention bids fair to attract very general attention, as the program which has been arranged under the direction of Secretary M. C. Bachellor is very complete and provides for addresses by a number of prominent farm workers of the Northwest. In addition there is the mid-winter fair and farm produce exhibit, a feature that will attract entries from a wide territory.

AFTER NEW INDUSTRIES.

Grand Forks Commercial Club Sends Out Population Statistics.

Grand Forks, N. D., Jan. 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—Within a thirty-three mile radius of Grand Forks there is a population of 64,101, and the Commercial club will use those figures as arguments in seeking to bring new industries here. That Grand Forks has the heaviest population within that district of any city in the two Dakotas is the claim made by the Grand Forks club.

The statistics also show that Grand Forks has a greater so-called district population by about 5,000 than any other North Dakota city, leading its South Dakota competitor by nearly 3,000.

MARQUETTE COUNTY FAIR.

Annual Meeting of Society Fixes Dates Sept. 2-6.

Marquette, Mich., Jan. 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—At the annual meeting of the Marquette County Agricultural society is was decided to hold the annual fair the first week in September. The fair will begin on Monday, Sept. 2, and continue through Friday, Sept. 6. The old officers were re-elected as follows: President, John D. Mangum; treasurer, F. W. Wright; secretary, W. A. Ross. Three directors also were elected, A. T. Roberts of Marquette being re-elected to succeed himself, while R. F. Bronson of Ishpeming was elected in place of George Newett, and Joseph Winter of Negaunee was elected to succeed E. C. Anthony.

Soo Track Walker Killed.

Chippewa Falls, Wis., Jan. 10.—The mangled and frozen body of Martin Walsner, Soo railway track walker near Thorpe, thirty miles east of here, was found Tuesday. It is supposed that while covering his beat on a velocipede during the storm, he was struck by a train and killed.

MINNESOTA BRIEFS

St. Cloud—According to figures compiled by the county treasurer's office there were 727 mortgage tax registrations during the year of 1911, amounting in fees to $6,394.74. Out of that amount the city will receive $1,902.80.

Slayton—Slayton faces an action in the sum of $20,000. It is a personal injury suit and Jake Quakenbush is the plaintiff. He claims to have received injuries when an explosion occurred at the municipal gas plant several months ago.

International Falls—Some chickens were fried in Frogtown Sunday by the burning of a hennery. The fire department was not called out, as the flames were not communicated to other buildings.

St. Cloud—The funeral of Henry S. Larson, who was killed in the yards at Bemidji last Friday evening, was held Monday afternoon from the St. John's Episcopal church, Rev. H. F. Parshall, formerly of this city, officiating.

Northome — The board of directors of the Koochiching-Vermilion Iron company had a meeting recently. The business of the year was brought up to date and it was decided to renew the campaign for disposing of the shares of the company, and to further plans for active and systematic prosecution of exploratory work on the company's promising iron lands in this vicinity.

St. Hilaire—At the yearly meeting of the Scandinavian Mission church Rev. F. L. Larson handed in his resignation, to take effect about March 1. He has accepted a call from the Zion church at Warren. This was his sixth call within the last few months. During nearly two years that Mr. Larson has been in charge of this congregation its affairs have been highly prosperous.

International Falls—An Italian who tried to commit suicide Saturday by shooting himself in the neck was able to come down town Monday to have his wound dressed.

St. Cloud—County Attorney J. B. Himsl has been informed by William O'Neil, who is in the county jail, that he desires to plead guilty before Judge Taylor and receive sentence. O'Neil was arrested during the last week in December after he had passed worthless checks in the sum of $10 each upon the Gluck Brewing company.

Baudette — Baudette's fine power house had a very narrow escape from destruction by fire about 10 o'clock New Year's morning, when a blaze started in the store house. The alarm was quickly given, and the fire department was soon on the scene. The building was saved after two hours work.

Little Falls—The four coaches and baggage car that were wrecked at Randall were brought to the local yards Sunday night and were taken to the car shops Monday afternoon. The wreckers were at work Monday afternoon lifting the sleeper and placing it on a flat car to haul it to the shops.

Brainerd — Milton McFadden received a telegram Monday from Duncan McDonald at Los Angeles, California, stating that H. R. Dixon, formerly a machinist in the employ of the Northern Pacific Railroad company here, had been killed in a boiler explosion in that city. The deceased was a member of Ascalon Commandery 16, Knights Templar, of Brainerd.

Moorehead — Sheriff Archie Whaley left Sunday night for Stillwater, over the Northern Pacific railway, having in custody Burt Page, Frank Schultz and William Ross, the members of the notorious gang of Fargo thieves that pleaded guilty to grand larceny before Judge C. A. Nye last week.

PENINSULA BRIEFS

Iron Mountain—Judge Flannigan returned from Colorado Springs in time to open the January term of the Dickinson county circuit court Monday. It is a jury term and a large number of cases are listed for trial.

Calumet—Players of golf who are unable to get out to the links because of the deep snow have invented a new game, golf-pool, which they are introducing about the clubs of Calumet. This game, it is said, is not the invention of Calumet golf players, however, but was introduced early this winter in some of the larger cities.

Houghton—The annual meeting of the Copper Country Fair association will be held in Houghton Wednesday afternoon. At this meeting officers and four directors wil be elected.

Negaunee—The funeral of the late Mgr. Langner, vicar general of the diocese of Marquette, was held in Negaunee on Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock. A solemn requiem high mass was celebrated, and about sixty priests from nearly all the towns of the Upper Peninsula were in attendance.

Hancock—Rev. Dr. Frank Newhall White, formerly of Hancock, is now pastor of a Minneapolis church. It is twenty-one years since he was pastor of the First Congregational church of this city. Following seven years as pastor of the local charge, Rev. White resigned to go into missionary work in Japan where he remained for several years.

Menominee—The option held by the Empire Portland Cement company of Kansas City on a valuable piece of real estate here, which was to have been given to them as a factory site, if they erected a plant here, has been allowed to expire. The site was purchased by the city council for $7,000.

DAKOTA BRIEFS

Devils Lake, N. D.—As a result of the big increase in business during the past year, and incidental to the purchase of the Dacey block, the capital stock of Mann's department store has been increased from $100,000 to $200,000.

Bismarck, N. D.—Several North Dakotans have been successful in securing patents, being as follows: C. Christianson, Kenmare, hub for vehicle wheels; W. E. Cooke, Harvey, rotary plow; Charles F. Glude, Beach, well digging machine; Thomas E. Morgan, Starkweather, commode; Chester L. Wylie, Valley City; grain separator, and Fred Paukert, Regent, grain separator.

Grand Forks, N. D.—Ed Williamson, now with the Kelley-How-Thomson company of Duluth, with headquarters in Grand Forks, arrived in the city Sunday and will travel out of here. Eleven years ago Mr. Williamson covered this territory and during the intervening period he had never visited the city.

Dickinson, N. D.—Four splendid new business and public buildings were erected in Dickinson during the year of 1911, and there is a promise of a larger number of permanent new structures of like nature during the coming year. In addition to the business blocks that were constructed, there were several lodge homes, including the Elks' building, which is one of the finest in the state.

WISCONSIN BRIEFS

Milwaukee — Anton Vinskiewitz, aged 65 years, 2421 Fratney street, a teamster for the Kieckhefer Box company, fell from his wagon Monday afternoon and sustained a fractured skull, from which he died almost immediately.

Ashland—Three Soo railroad trainmen, bound over to the circuit court on a charge of being criminally responsible for the death of a little girl at Glidden, who was run over by their train one month ago, have been released. Judge McCully held there was not sufficient evidence to justify their being held for trial.

Madison—The state department of education will soon let a contract for a year's supply of school library books, involving over 100,000 volumes a year, to cost $60,000. The department has compiled a revised list from which superintendents must select books.

Milwaukee—J. H. Stillane, aged 25 years, night telegraph operator of the Milwaukee road at Wauwatosa, was instantly killed Monday when he slipped on the icy sidewalk and broke his neck while transporting the mail from the depot to the postoffice. Stillane, who came from Bangor, Wis., was just finishing his first night's work in his new position.

Ashland—A commission form of government for Ashland is the latest move on foot. Petitions are out now for signatures and before Jan. 12 the petition will be presented to Mayor Dodd and it is then his duty to call an election to vote on the proposition.

Oshkosh—The place at the head of the children's department of the Oshkosh public library has been filled by the appointment of Miss Charlotte Fairchild of New York.

Marinette—The state has dropped the case against Edward Martin, the former Marinette alderman, who was charged with having caused the wreck of a Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul train within the city limits.

Ashland—William Burke, who was left over $1,500 from an estate in the old country about a month ago and proceeded to spend the same in riotous living was arrested by Ashland police and had to borrow money to pay his fine. He was picked up by the police after having spent about $500 of his inheritance and an effort was made at that time to keep him from squandering the remainder but without avail.

Milwaukee—The Milwaukee Retail Grocers' association has decided that America's 90,000,000 consumers of sugar are paying too much for that commodity and in a petition to congress has asked that the tariff be reduced 2 cents a pound on each pound of the refined product.

Marinette—The new $35,000 parochial school of our Lady of Lourdes church was dedicated with impressive ceremonies by Right Rev. Mngr. Lochman of Kaukauna, assisted by local priests.

Eau Claire—Surprise and sorrow were expressed by the congregation of the First Presbyterian church, Sunday morning when the Rev. Mr. C. L. Koons stated briefly that he had tendered his resignation to the session committee to be acted upon later by the congregation. It is expected he will accept an Ashland call.

Lady Baltimore Cake

The Most Popular Cake This Season

By Mrs. Janet McKenzie Hill, Editor of the Boston Cooking School Magazine

This is considered by many cooking authorities the finest cake that can be made, though in reality it is not at all difficult.

K C Lady Baltimore Cake

One cup butter; 2 cups granulated sugar; 1 cup milk; 1 teaspoonful rose water; 3½ cups flour; 3 level teaspoonfuls K C Baking Powder; whites of 6 eggs, beaten dry.

Cream the butter and beat in the sugar gradually. Sift together, three times, the flour and baking powder, and add to the butter and sugar, alternately with the milk and rose water. Lastly, add the egg whites. Bake in three-layer cake pans. Put the layers together with the following frosting.

Note.—The cake is a large one and sells at Women's Exchanges for $1.50. 32

Frosting for Lady Baltimore Cake

Three cups granulated sugar; 1 cup boiling water; whites of 3 eggs; 1 cup chopped raisins; 1 cup chopped nut-meats; 5 figs cut in thin slices.

Stir the sugar and water until the sugar is dissolved, then let boil without stirring until the syrup from a spoon will spin a long thread; pour upon the whites of the eggs, beaten dry, beating constantly meanwhile. Continue the beating until the frosting is cold; add the fruit and spread upon the cake.

$3.50 RECIPE FREE FOR WEAK MEN

Send Name and Address Today—You Can Have It Free and Be Strong and Healthy.

I have in my possession a prescription for nervous debility, failing memory and lame back, brought on by excesses, that has cured so many worn and nervous men right in their own homes—without any additional help or medicine—that I think every man who wishes to regain his health quickly and quietly, should have a copy. So I have determined to send a copy of the prescription free of charge, in a plain, ordinary sealed envelope to any man who will write me for it.

This prescription comes from a physician who has made a special study of men and I am convinced it is the surest-acting combination ever put together.

I think I owe it to my fellow men to send them a copy in confidence so that any man anywhere who is weak and discouraged with repeated failures may stop drugging himself with harmful patent medicines, secure what I believe is the quickest-acting restorative, upbuilding, SPOT-TOUCHING remedy ever devised, and so cure himself at home quietly and quickly. Just drop me a line like this: Dr. A. E. Robinson, 4671 Luck Building, Detroit, Mich., and I will send you a copy of this splendid recipe in a plain ordinary envelope free of charge. A great many doctors would charge $3 to $5 for merely writing out a prescription like this—but I send it entirely free.

Your Vital Strength Can Be Restored

Strong, vital, manly manhood fascinates all who come within its influence. As true as you are a living, breathing human being, I can restore your VITAL MANHOOD; there is not a shadow of a doubt as to what I can thus do. BUT there is a single condition, one restriction I put, a certain solemn promise I exact from you before you can exact a promise from me—namely, you must unconditionally agree now, at once and forever, to discontinue any wasting, debilitating excess or dissipation that you may be indulging; with this out of the way, I will do all the rest. Remember what I say; no matter what your present condition, no matter what has happened in the past, just forget it and put yourself in my hands; everything will come out as you wish it. I use no drugs, no lotions, no medicines; I place no foolish restrictions upon you; just lead a natural life, get all the enjoyment you possibly can, but cease dissipation; always remember that. I can then restore your vital energy; I can take you out of the half-man class and put you in the spot light of full, healthy, contented, manly vigor; I can make you feel young again and keep you feeling young to a ripe old age, because I drive into your system the one thing which keeps the whole organism in balance namely VITALITY. My HEALTH BELT with suspensory attachment is the greatest single self-treatment remedy or VITALITY RESTORATIVE that the world has ever known or probably ever will know. It is worn comfortably about the waist all night and every night for two or three months. Thus while you are sleeping it sends a great soft, potent, life giving current of VITAL FORCE into your blood, your nerves and your organs. There is not a moment's wait. It helps you immediately; it commences from the first time worn to show you the sunshine of new energy; it takes the kink out of your back in one night; it makes a man of you after you have given up in despair, simply because it supplies you with VITAL POWER—which means manhood. Just stop to think. You have the same organs, nerves and fibre, the same makeup exactly that healthy, vigorous men possess, the only difference being you are under tone; you need a foundation of NEW VITAL RESERVE, and it is this I give you. There is no reason why you should not be as strong, healthy and vigorous as the best, fullest blooded man of your acquaintance. The matter is easy if you do your part. Never mind about buying a HEALTH BELT as yet; first get in communication with me; read over my booklet and if you want to do so tell me your physical ailments that I may advise you; then a little later we can arrange in some way for you to try my HEALTH BELT. But first fill in the coupon and get the book free or call at my office. My HEALTH BELT also cures Rheumatism, Kidney, Liver and Stomach disorders.

Let Me Send You THIS BOOK Free

Fill in the coupon; let me send you at once my free booklet in plain sealed envelope; it is profusely illustrated with half-tone photos; keep it in your pocket for easy reference; read the chapter on Vitality; read the chapter on Debility; read the chapter on those subjects which interest every man, young or old, who would be strong in manly vigor. It is a word of hope, a carefully written, interesting booklet which should be in every one's possession. Therefore send today. If in or near the city call at my office.

WOODENWARE FACTORIES

Market in Northern Minnesota for Poplar, Basswood and Ash.

Settlers Can Clear Land and Be Well Paid for It.

Cohasset, Minn., Jan. 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—Not everybody knows that there are in Northern Minnesota two of the most extensive wood-working plants to be found in the West. One of these is at Hill City, Aitkin county, and the other is at Cohasset, Itasca county. The one at Hill City is owned and was recently built by the National Woodenware company, which belongs to the Armour packing interests, and the one at Cohasset is owned by the Superior Woodenware company, headed by S. H. Thompson, formerly of Fort Dodge, Iowa, where he operated a similar plant for several years.

These plants are engaged in the manufacture of woodenware, such as barrels, butter and lard tubs, candy and fish pails, olive kits, barrel hoops, etc., in which they do a very large business, the demand for the product being almost unlimited, for lard, butter, etc., are exported to foreign countries entirely in wood, because of the fact that metal or tin receptacles are not suitable for that purpose on account of their rusting from the effect of the salt air, in transit across the ocean. Wood for that purpose is therefore in demand, particularly the varieties of wood that are tasteless and will not taint the contents of the package or receptacle.

Plenty of Timber.

There are only a few varieties of wood that are suitable for the purpose, and these are poplar, basswood and ash, for the most part. Certain parts of Northern Minnesota abound in these varieties of timber and they are found in the counties of Aitkin and Itasca in great quantities. This class of timber has hertofore been unavilable for use or sale, largely on account of the fact that they are varieties that cannot be floated down the streams, as the pine species can, as the logs will not float long enough to carry them to points where the sawmills are located. For this reason these magnificant forests of timber of this species have been of little value, but instead have stood in the way of the intending settler, who could not undertake the task of cutting down a mighty forest which would only be a nuisance on his hands after he finished the job.

The establishment of these woodworking plants means much to the districts in which they are located. And no doubt others will be established in other portions of Northern Minnesota where timber of a similar character and adapted to these purposes is located.

Now, a farmer who desires to clear his land for active farming and dairying, for which these fine hardwood lands have proven to be so well adapted, get paid for it, for these factories want all of the timber they can get. The owners know it is here, and that is why they have built these costly plants and are giving employment to thousands of men in the work of converting it into useful articles of trade and commerce.

Bought in Bolts and Logs.

They buy this timber from whoever has it to sell, in bolts and logs. Bolts for this purpose are generally 32, 37 and 47 inches long. Bolts are simply a tree sawed up into short logs; or they buy the timber in ordinary sawlog lengths. The ruling prices now are $2.75 to $4 per cord for the bolts, owing to the length and kind, and $8 to $12 per thousand feet for logs. The quantity of timber that may be taken for this purpose varies, of course, but it is considered a poor piece of timber indeed, and is the exception, that will not yield twenty-five cords of bolts per acre, while there are thousands of acres that will yield fifty to 125 cords per acre.

Any one who can figure at all will readily see that here is the chance for the poor man or any other man who wants to work and get a home, for there are plenty of opportunities to buy this class of land with the timber on it at an average of $12.50 per acre. While the owner is clearing the land ready for the plow he will at the same time get well paid for it by the proceeds from the sale of the timber cut up into bolts and logs, and in many cases he can do more, he can lay up money by the operation. More than that he can work winter and summer. He can farm in the summer and carry on the clearing and lumbering in the winter. The stumps left on the land by this class of timber rot out in two or three years, so that by the time he is ready for more extensive farming and dairying operations the land is in condition for it.

Plenty of Cleared Land.

Of course there is much land in the districts referred to, and all over Northern Minnesota, for that matter, which has had much and in some cases all, or practically all, the timber removed from it, so that a man need not undertake the operations of removing the timber and disposing of it unless he so desires.

Northern Minnesota offers inducements unparalleled today, in the way of good land, upon which stands good timber heretofore considered a handicap and a barrier to the settler, which will now prove a blessing as it offers the best opportunities for home-seekers that are left in the American West, where good soil and climate and pure water combine to make a coming great dairy and farming country.

The district in which these factories and lands are located is within three hours' ride of Duluth which will afford a good market for the products from the new farms that will now be opened.

WINS POINT IN FIGHT AGAINST WABASH PLAN.

New York, Jan. 10.—Jack Politz, in the suit brought by himself in behalf of the stockholders has gained a point in his fight against the bond issue plan of the Wabash railroad. Politz attacked the plan for the issue of stock in exchange for $30,000,000 debenture bonds outstanding as beyond the authority of the corporation and illegal under the constitution of Missouri, one of the states under which the corporation was organized.

The company answered that ratification of the plan was made by a majority of the stockholders, and that the plaintiff knew of the matters at the time he purchased his stock. Demurrers to these and two more technical defenses were sustained by Justice Bischoff in the supreme court.

Minneapolis Woman Burned.

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 10.—Mrs. Paul F. Burris was badly burned here last night in saving her two children from a fire which broke out in the second floor of their home, supposedly from the explosion of a lamp. The oldest child aged 2 was badly burned about the face and hands but will recover.

STANLEY OUT OF PATIENCE

Threatens to Subpoena Steel Trust for All He Wants to Know.

Says Courtesy Has Come to an End---Lively Debate in House.

Washington, Jan. 10.—Threats of Chairman Stanley of the "Steel trust" investigation committee to issue subpoenas at once for everything he wanted from the United States Steel corporation, and personalities in debate for his fight for $9,000 additional appropriation for the inquiry, gave the house an exciting half hour late yesterday. The house finally voted the appropriation to supplement the original $25,000.

Mr. Stanley declared he had reached the end of courteous treatment of the so-called Steel trust officials. Representative Levy of New York, a Democrat, who said he opposed the inquiry as an interference with business stability, was assured by Mr. Stanley that he "need not lose any sleep, even though Mr. Levy had J. P. Morgan as one of his constituents."

Bowman Gets In the Way.

Representative Bowman of Pennsylvania questioned Mr. Stanley's statements that steel rails had sold uniformly at $28 a ton since the Steel trust's formation. Mr. Stanley retorted with a threat to subpoena Mr. Bowman, and demanded to know what he knew about steel rails.

"The mining company I am interested in has been buying them in carloads every year for the last thirty years," retorted Mr. Bowman, "and I know the price has varied widely from $28."

Representative Young of Michigan, a member of the committee, took issue with Chairman Stanley's statement that the committee's work had forced the Steel corporation's railroads in Minnesota to lower the rate for carrying ore. Mr. Stanley paid him the compliment of "knowing nothing about the facts."

Republican Leader Mann retorted that Chairman Stanley ought not to criticize members of the committee over which he presided. Mr. Stanley repudiated any intention of discourtesy to Mr. Young and Mr. Mann. He said the committee hoped to complete its investigation in sixty days, if it could get access to the corporation's books and records, but otherwise it might continue a year.

Subjected to Delays.

"The committee has been subjected to a scientific and tantalizing system of delay," said Mr. Stanley. "I have been uniformly courteous to the officials of the Steel corporation, but they in turn either do not let our experts see their records or delay us unreasonably. I intend to issue a subpoena for what I want, and I will get it or know the reason why."

IN THE DAY'S WORK AT WASHINGTON

Plan Probe at White Earth.

Washington, Jan. 10.—The house passed a resolution authorizing the committee on interior department expenditures to conduct investigations of Indian affairs at the White Earth reservation in Minnesota and at other Western reservations. The proposed trip was denounced as a "junket" during the debate on the resolution.

House Stenographers Lose.

The striking "extra men" who ass'st the regular salaried committee stenographers of the house announced that they would "stay struck" and their places have been filled by other outsiders. The trouble was over the reduction of their pay from 25 to 15 cents per folio.

Limit Entry of Chinese.

Representative Humphrey of Washington introduced a bill providing that Chinese shall enter the United States only through a Pacific coast port. He claimed the government discriminated against American railroads in favor of the Canadian Pacific railway by maintaining an immigrant station at Vancouver, B. C. The bill, Mr. Humphrey said, would abolish immigrant stations on the Canadian and Mexican borders maintained almost exclusively for the examination of Chinese.

Nelson Heads Commerce Committee.

The changes in committee assignments made necessary by the death of Senator Frye were made by the senate yesterday. Senator Nelson was made chairman of the committee on commerce; Senator Smoot of the committee on public lands; Senator Richardson of the committee on printing; Senator Lorimer of the committee on Pacific islands and Porto Rico, and Senator Poindexter of the committee on mines and mining. Senator Crane was assigned to the vacancy on the committee of commerce, and Senator Dillingham to the vacancy on foreign relations.

Reports Currency Plan.

The final report of the national monetary commission was formally presented in both houses of congress yesterday and referred to committees. Senator Penrose, chairman of the finance committee, to which the senate referred it, stated later that there might be hearings on the monetary bill and that the measure may be reported to the senate at this session of congress. Former Representative Bonyenge of Colorado, a member of the commission resigned and will return to his native state and take up his personal business interests.

Look Up Indian Timber.

An investigation of Indian land timber contracts held by the Weyerhaeuser interests and other large companies in the West is under consideration by the house committee on Indian affairs. Indians and others have complained that timber operators who contracted for the standing timber have been cutting out only the best of it, rendering the remainder unmarketable, thus cutting down the income of the Indians from the land. Chairman Stephenson of the committee may introduce a resolution to authorize an inquiry either by his committee or by a special committee.

Hill Assails Democrats.

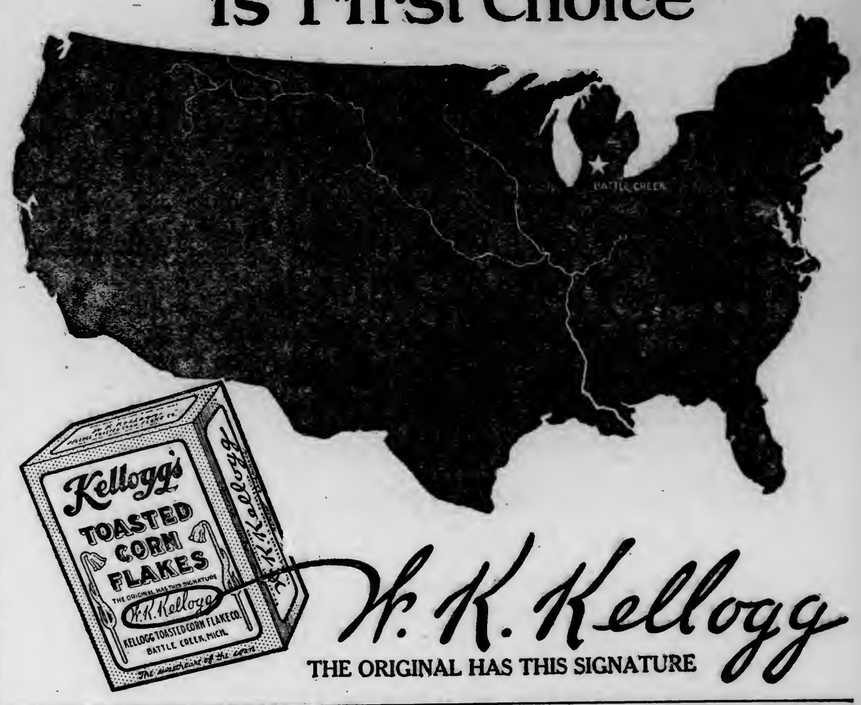

In an attack upon the Democratic party for its record in the extra session of congress last summer, Representative Hill of Connecticut, a Republican member of the ways and means committee, declared in the house that the extra session had demonstrated the inability of the Democrats to do constructive legislative work. Mr. Hill especially attacked the Democratic tariff record. He insisted that the free wool advocates, though greatly in the majority when the tariff began, had surrendered to those who favored a duty on wool, because the wool duty force was strong enough to combine with the Republicans and secure a majority of the house.

Should Accumulate Timber.

The government should accumulate a surplus stock of timber against the time when the demand for forest products, in view of the rapidly diminishing supply, will be one of the most critical economic conditions confronting the country, in the opinion of Henry S. Graves, chief forester of the United States, as expressed in his annual report submitted to Secretary of Agriculture Wilson.

"The application of this policy," he declares, "will not prevent sales of national forest timber to an amount sufficient to make the forests self-supporting."

PURSUED BY MISFORTUNE

Unkind Fate Dogs the Footsteps of J. A. Jeffreys.

Some perverse fate seems to follow the fortunes, or misfortunes would be more appropriate, of J. A. Jeffreys, who makes his living by selling newspapers at Fifth avenue west and Superior street, just west of the Lyceum.

Practically deprived of the use of both legs as the result of an accident which caused paralysis a number of years ago, he broke one of his limbs late yesterday afternoon. Unable to stand up for any length of time he makes use of a small, box-like contrivance from which he makes his sales. Forced to use crutches to get about, he slipped as he was trying to get into the affair yesterday and fractured one of his legs when he fell heavily to the sidewalk.

The helpless cripple was assisted by pedestrians, who also summoned the police. He was given temporary medical assistance and then removed to his home at Thirty-first avenue west and First street.

The accident which originally caused the paralysis of his limbs occurred when he was helping to fight a fire at Docks No. 1 and 2 of the Northern Pacific. A large plank fell across his hips, crushing them and injuring the spine. Last summer, while seated at his stand, only his quick presence of mind saved his life when a runaway team tore down Fifth avenue west. Dropping full length to the walk he rolled out of danger as the team galloped past, the wagon demolishing the ornamental light standard against which he had been sitting. He is 48 years old and has been selling papers on the Fifth avenue corner for several months.

FORESTRY ASSOCIATION HONORS MRS. CLEVELAND.

Washington, Jan. 10. — Mrs. Grover Cleveland, whose husband, the late President Cleveland, signed the original bill providing for the creation of national forests, was elected a member of the American Forestry association at the thirtieth annual convention of the organization held here yesterday. Governor Robert P. Bass of New Hampshire was re-elected president.

PHYSICIANS RECOMMEND MELLIN'S FOOD

"I have been recommending Mellin's Food in quite a number of cases and find where it is used according to directions that it is always satisfactory. One thing I notice especially is that the Mellin's Food babies all seem to have good, hard, firm, healthy flesh—which is something you do not always find in manufactured foods."

"My husband is a physician and feels he has saved many a child's life by prescribing Mellin's Food. We first knew of its good qualities when our first child was fifteen months old. I weaned her and she began cutting her stomach teeth and had bowel trouble. We tried Mellin's Food. In a short time she began to gain and thrived from then on."

BEAUTY STANDARD CHANGES.

Chicago Tribune: The standard of beauty as represented by the Venus de Milo has been taken, says the portrait painter, Carton Moorepark, as a basis of judgment for all time, and by this standard thirteen inches has become the measure of the ideally beautiful neck.

As a matter of fact the standards of beauty of the neck, indeed of the entire female form, have changed with the passing of time—changed with the seasons. For example, Michelangelo's pronouncement with regard to this portion of the female form would today be found to be at variance with modern opinion. And later masters say Sir Joshua Reynolds, one of the greatest authorities on female beauty, differed even from Gainsborough, his contemporary, on the ideally beautiful form, and this led to each painting a picture to prove his contention.

A woman's neck is, after all, most beautiful when it gives to her head a graceful poise, and unless the head, no matter how lovely, be upheld in a pose of grace, which only a beautiful neck can give, it can never approach the artist's ideal.

The changes time has worked in the costumes of the fair sex have not only created new ideals for the artists, but have actually changed the figures of the obedient slaves to fashion's decrees. In the days of the Elizabethan ruff, when the head was obliged to be held high, with the throat exposed, and later in the early Victorian period from other causes, the long "swan-like" neck was lauded by the poets and considered the ideal of beauty. Today a greater freedom of dress has resulted in a reversion to a form more nearly approaching the Greek ideal.

LEAVES FROM A REPORTER'S NOTE BOOK BY X

That a family difference may be settled and a broken home reunited before death makes it impossible forever, the police have been asked to help locate Mrs. John Blankine, supposed to be in Duluth. She is said to be known under the nickname of "Buster Brown."

Mrs. Blankine and her husband parted some time ago after a quarrel, not really serious in its nature, so far as can be learned. The husband is now believed to be on his deathbed in his father's home at Hibbing, and thus far efforts to find his wife have been futile.

The search is being conducted by the sick man's father, Joe Blankine, 719 Cedar street, Hibbing. In his letter to the police he does not tell the cause of the separation, but he earnestly asks that the officers use all means within their power to find his daughter-in-law for him. He says that there is "something between them," and is extremely anxious that she be found at the earliest possible moment.

The patrolmen on the Duluth police force are ambitious, if nothing else. This afternoon a dozen of them, out of about seventy-five on the force, are taking examinations which will entitle them to promotion with a sergeant's stripes. A new sergeancy is to be created and it is probable that the successful applicant will be placed in charge at New Duluth. Both the officers stationed in that suburb are among those who are taking the tests today. The man with the highest mark will get the new sergeancy, but the others will be in line for promotion when a vacancy occurs.

George Noble cannot stand being outside when the weather is cold. Last night he came into the station to ask for lodging. He was sadly under the influence of liquor and was booked for drunkenness. This morning he asked the court to give him thirty days in county jail so that he would be in no danger of freezing for at least a month. He got fifteen days.

Somebody in Duluth has a sense of humor, but just what kind is hard to say. This morning a man called up the police station and told the officer in charge that he feared a riot was liable to break loose in a certain saloon.

"What's the matter?" asked the policeman, who didn't want to go on a wild goose chase.

"There's a man down here who is liable to be killed," came back over the wire.

The policeman pricked up the ear nearest the telephone receiver and fired back a demand for more particulars.

"That man's got a sign over his cash register and it reads, 'It's Cool in Duluth,'" shouted the voice of the unknown.

George Johnson, who was taken from the police station to St. Luke's hospital Monday night, died yesterday at that institution. Further than that he was a lodger and a laborer, nothing is known of him. The body was taken to Crawford's undertaking establishment. It will very likely be buried in the paupers' field with the hundreds of other derelicts who have found their last resting place there.

Nick Kalemba, arrested on a charge of assaulting Mike Perish at New Duluth last week, pleaded guilty in police court yesterday afternoon and got $30 and costs or thirty days in the county jail. Perish said that after he threw Kalemba out of the store Nick came back with a revolver and would have shot him had not a policeman been on the job.

P. Christoff, who runs a "club" at New Duluth, is charged by the police with having tried to bribe Patrolmen Root and Brouillette to have them drop a prosecution against them. He is said to have paid each of the cops $7.50. He gave them a bottle of beer last Sunday and was arrested for disposing of liquor on the Sabbath. Mike Diviak, another "club man," was indicted by the grand jury yesterday for trying to bribe Patrolman Brouillette with a $5 bill to save himself from arrest. It appears that the policeman took a man into custody who had bought a gallon of whisky from Diviak and that Diviak thought he could square things by putting the greenback in the pocket of the policeman.

WON'T TELL ON PALEFACE

Indian Would Rather Lose His Freedom Than His Honor.

Will Not Disclose Name of Accomplice in Liquor Selling.

Mud-way-osh, an Indian, defies the law to make him tell his secrets.

Mud-way-osh is a prisoner who is charged with having introduced liquor on the Leech Lake Indian reservation.

He had an accomplice, a white man, whom the authorities want. Mud-way-osh is not disposed to disclose the name of the man who was a party to the crime.

The Indian has been promised his liberty if he would tell, but that would violate his sense of honor, he thinks, and he refuses to tell, preferring to take the blame himself.

Mud-way-osh is in Duluth in charge of Peter Graves, also an Indian, who is assistant clerk in the Leech Lake Indian agency. Graves came here to present the case to the grand jury on behalf of the government.

Mud-way-osh and a white man, whose name is not known, are charged with having brought thirty-six pints of liquor on the Leech Lake reservation. The Indian was to have sold the liquor among his red brothers. The authorities learned of the scheme and interposed. The Indian was arrested, but the pale face escaped.

The case is the only Indian case to be brought before the grand jury during the January term.

FALLING TREE KILLS MAN NEAR CHISHOLM.

Chisholm, Minn., Jan. 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—Abe Hendrickson, a woodsman employed by the Swan River Lumber company, was killed yesterday afternoon at a camp thirty miles north of this city by a tree falling and crushing his skull. He was taken aboard a light engine and brought here but died on the way. He was 33 years old and unmarried. Very little is known of him and he has no known relatives.

REVOLVER IN POCKET GIVES SERIOUS WOUND.

Chisholm, Minn., Jan. 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—Louie Kovacevich, while celebrating the Greek Christmas, discharged a revolver in his pocket while dancing at a big party given at the sawmill boarding house. The bullet struck him in the thigh and followed down the bone of his leg, inflicting an inch wound. Doctors probed for the bullet and removed it together with shreds of clothing. He is in a precarious condition.

YEGGMEN SERVE "SOUP."

New York Evening Post: "Soup of the evening, beautiful soup," however appetizing it may have been, is not listed in the latest definitive or variorum edition of cookery recipes, nor do you find on the carte du jour—after you have made certain of its equivalent on the bill of fare side—any potage du soir. Here is a recipe for soup served only after nightfall, preferably in the early morning hours. Try this on your neighbor's plano:

"First, take about ten or a dozen impwrl hz xug, crumble it up fine and put it in a pan or washbowl, then pour over it enough uswhohs (either chhx or laky) to cover it well. Stir it up with your hands, being careful to break all the lumps; leave it set a few minutes; then get a few yards of cheesecloth and tear it in pieces and strain the mixture through the cloth into another vessel, wring the sawdust dry and throw it away. The remains will be the Lhal ugx uswhohs mixed; next take the same amount of water as you used of uswhohs and pour it in; leave the whole set for a few minutes."

This is the "soup" employed by yeggmen, and a single portion of it is guaranteed to open the door of the stoutest safe, provided an aperture can be made sufficiently large to pour in the stuff. The names of the ingredients are written in a crude sort of cipher commonly used for preserving such secrets. This and dozens more of the same transparency of meaning are in the possession of the United States secret service men, the police, detective agencies, and others who deal with the cooks of such dishes. By a substitution of letter for letter—the first six for the last six of the alphabet, the second six for the third six, with G and N taken out of turn and made interchangeable—the cipher is easily read. "Impwrl hz xug," translated, is 'stick of dan" (short for dynacite). 'Uswhohs, either chhx or laky" —alcohol, either wood or pure—may be used.

The directions for serving this soup require considerable attention and the best of trained service. After the "gay cat," or advance agent, of the band has learned all that can be found out about the bank, store, or postoffice, its lighting, protection, and the means of escape by freight train, vehicle, or on foot, his companion or companions come on, avoiding notice so far as possible. "Stick-ups," or lookouts, guard the place while the "inside men" break into the safe. Sealing the cracks about the safe or vault door with soap, the yeggmen pour in the soup through a small hole left open in the top. The liquid flows down by locks, hinges, and bolts, and is set off by fuse or detonator. Blankets and covers of any kind are used to muffle the sound of the explosion and the fall of the door. Perhaps the "stick-ups" are forced to create a diversion outside and to frighten the citizens, or mislead them, while the "inside men" pick out the valuable papers and escape. Who pays the check for the soup them depends upon the ingenuity of detectives.

ONE PIE FOR SEVENTY GUESTS.

London Sketch: Seventy guests banqueted on a single pie at Gorleston, and there was plenty to spare when they had finished. The pie had a three-inch crust and weighed a hundredweight and a half. It was made in three sections or water tight compartments and each hold had a substantial bulkhead of crust. Its interior was packed with six rabbits, six kidneys, twenty-eight pounds of beefsteak and potatoes, turnips, carrots and sprouts. The sea pie, as it called, is boiled, not baked, and its builder, Skipper Harman, made the cooking process an eight hours' watch.

This three decker provided a savory meal which more than satisfied the guests, and its wrecked and dismantled hull provided ten gallons of excellent soup that was gladly welcomed by the poor of Gorleston.

New Zealand dealers recently shipped several consignments of frozen ducks to London with good results. They sold for about 75 cents each, and when ready for the table are said to have averaged up to the English product.

Ordemann and Pilakoff Ready for Their Long Delayed Battle---The Question of Fame--- Several Thousand Out for Olympic Team.

(BY BRUCE.)

TONIGHT brings us the mat battle between Pilakoff and Ordemann—an event that has been hanging fire the past two months. At first Ordemann demurred about the toe hold. Finally the Duluth promoters, acting with the consent of Pilakoff and his manager, decided to let the match go on with the toe hold allowed. The match was to have been wrestled in November. Less than a week before the match Ordemann was taken ill and the match was cancelled. After two months of hard work upon the part of the Duluth promoters the two giant wrestlers are awaiting the call of the referee. Ordemann arrived last night over the Omaha. He is quartered at the Lenox hotel. Pilakoff, following his defeat of big Sampson in the Copper Country, has trained steadily for the battle with Ordemann and will step upon the mat this evening in the best condition of the present season.

The bout promises to be the best wrestled here the present season. As to size the contestants are almost ideally matched. Ordemann is the more scientific and knows more of the tricks of the game. Pilakoff is the stronger and probably has more endurance than the big Norsk. In his march toward the championship crown, abandoned temporarily by Gotch, Ordemann may find a stumbling block in the gigantic Finn. At least we shall see.

OH YOU seekers after the shining light of fame, answer the burning question and tell us what is fame. Some say that it is the glory that comes from driving the mental engine at a more rapid and surer gait than Casey Jones drove the mogul on the Frisco run; others, whose literary ambitions have halted after assimilating Nick Carter and Old Sleuth, hold that men like the late Jessie James and Jack Johnson hold first mortgages on most of the fame stuff.

While poking around with a pair of spectacles in the book stalls of Boston the other day, some searcher after those souvenirs of fame, such as manuscripts and pawned jewelry—for fame has been known to tread the asphalt on run-down heels and thin soles—discovered the signature of President Eliot, former president of Harvard university, and John L. Sullivan, former president of the heavyweight division.

Both were great men and both did much for Boston. Charley Eliot's tastes ran much to books and John cared more for material matter that has done much to make Kentucky famous and melodramas possible. The searcher after the whiffs of greatness eagerly inquired the price of the signature of the man, who, next to Johnny Daly, has done much to make Harvard known west of the Alleghanies.

He was shocked when told that it could be purchased for a mere trifling amount. Then he inquired the price that the bold signature of John Lawrence Sullivan was quoted at. He again gasped—the price was quoted so high. The signature of the man who originally measured the yard of books was priced at about half that of J. L. Sullivan.

You can never tell about this fame stuff.

WILLIAM MOULDOON, the great rehabilitation high chief, he who presides over that temple of physical culture on the Hudson, where flock the broken broker and the fat financier, says the American race is rapidly degenerating. We wonder, now, has Bill the slump of Tom Longboat in mind or has he the sad experimenting of the white hopes as a rudder in the course of his sad philosophy. Judging from the record made last fall by the Carlisle football team there are a few of the simon pure Americans who are showing some signs of health and 33 deg. of rugged constitution.

GOOD morning, has your community some one in training for the Olympic events? As we peruse the evening paper—evening papers are perused and those published in the morning frighten horses and prove a menace to the keep-our-city-clean committee—different dots of the plat Rand & McNally laid out jump up and bump us in the optic with some missive of sporting interest. The item generally is from Muskegan, Mich., or Placa, N. D. It tells in ungrammatical language of the training of one of the 9,987 native sons for a place on the Olympic team.

If one-tenth, aye, George, one-twentieth of these village Apollos make the aggregation that is to uphold the honor of Uncle Sam, they will have to subsidize the White Star line fleet to move the boys.

⊙ ⊙ ⊙ ⊙

THEY are grooming a boy to fight Ad Wolgast—when Adolph is able to start training without danger of there being a lot of good sports walking slow and lookin solemn by said start. The chap they are talkin of is Joe Rivers. He is a Mexican and a heavy featherweight. In the future Rivers will do battle as a lightweight. Since Rivers disposed of little Frankie Conley he is looking for more worlds to conquer. Before even dreaming, during the afternoon siesta, of fighting the present lightweight champion of the world it might be well for the little Mexican chap to retrieve the beating he received at the hands of Johnny Kilbane.

When it comes down to the question of getting some man to fight Wolgast it looks as if Freddie Welsh is the man nearest the good graces of Uncle Tom McCarey, the Los Angeles promoter. The public was all worked up to th Wolgast-Welsh battle that was stopped on its eve by the sudden attack of appendicitis that threatened to unmake a world's champion. When Adolph recovers the public may stamp its collective feet and renew its clamor for the fight that was rudely prevented.

Of course the public would rather see Packey McFarland and Wolgast fight than any other two lightweights that you can name. The question of weight is one that may forever keep these great little glove men apart. Packey probably can't make the weight that Tom Jones, pilot for the champion, will demand, and there you are.

ORDEMANN SAYS GOTCH IS MASTER OF WRESTLING

"I will meet Zbyszko in Minneapolis on Jan. 16," said Henry Ordemann today, in discussing his future in the wrestling game. "Several years ago I tackled the giant Pole and made a great showing against him. I didn't know then what I know now of the wrestling game. Last season I was clear out of condition and Zbyszko beat me, the match going nearly two hours. I am wrestling better the present season than ever before and honestly believe that the Pole is going to have the hardest match of his career.

"Wrestling is getting more scientific all the time. The day is past when a man can win without speed and science. The day of huge wrestlers without a good knowledge of the game, is past. Frank Gotch revolutionized the wrestling game and the others, that is the best wrestlers, have followed in his path.

"I think that men like Westergaard, Cutler and myself are getting better all the time. We are all young men and are getting heavier and are learning more about the game. Wrestling is more scientific than most people imagine. Men like Yussiff Mahmout have wrestled practically all their lives; while we Americans—Cutler, Westergaard and myself—have been at the game only a few years.

"Cutler was a boxer before he took up the wrestling game. Westergaard came to Duluth about four or five years ago, maybe it was longer than that, and wanted to make this city his home. He was a green Swede and had done very little wrestling. Think of the progress he has made since then.

"Charley Cutler fought around these parts. He was a third-class fighter when he took up the wrestling game, not so very long ago. In condition the Chicago Nonpareil is one of the best wrestlers in America. I was an oarsman and all round gymnast before I took up the grappling game. I am just beginning to get wise to some of the finer points.

"Men like Zbyszko, Jess Pedersen and Mahmout are awfully hard to beat. Gotch beats these fellows with his wonderful speed, his perfect knowledge of time, his intuitive knowledge of the science of leverage and his wonderful defense.

"I have been behind Gotch a few times in the may times I have worked with the champion, but I didn't stay looking at his broad back very long. He goes out from under a man like a huge cat. He combines more qualities of the perfect wrestler than any grappler that ever lived. In my opinion there will never be another wrestler like Gotch.

"When we Americans learn the leverage of Gotch and combine with it some approach to his other qualities, we can hope to beat giants like Zbyszko and Pedersen, some of the greatest wrestlers—or Mahmout, who is remarkably clever. Size makes no difference to Gotch for with the proper leverage a man can almost lift a house. We are all going to school to Frank. I have learned what I know of the game from him and the same goes for Cutler and Westergaard. Mahmout has also learned a lot from Gotch.

"If wrestling continues to be a popular sport in this country the American wrestler is going to continue to get better. We have the championship in about every line from discus throwing to the heavyweight boxing, so I think we are going to develop another world's champion wrestler — after Gotch is gone."

Phil Brock the Winner.

Cleveland, Jan. 10.—Phil Brock of Cleveland got the decision over Phil Knight of Kansas City last night at the end of twelve rounds of fast fighting.

Referee Stopped Bout.

Dallas, Texas, Jan. 10.—To prevent unnecessary punishment to the Denver man, the referee stopped the bout between "Rube" Smith of Denver and Charles Pierson of Dallas early in the fifteenth round last night. The bout was scheduled to go fifteen rounds.

OUTLAWS TO PLAN LEAGUE

Rumor Says Plans Are Being Made to Invade the Twin Cities.

Sommers of Superior Favors Placing Teams in St. Paul and Minneapolis.

At the present time there is talk of forming an outlaw league and invading the Twin Cities. There was a rumor in baseball circles yesterday that H. P. Conrad of St. Paul, the man interested in placing a team in St. Paul, would call a meeting of those interested. It is said that delegates from Duluth, Superior, Winnipeg, Grand Forks, St. Paul and Minneapolis would be asked to attend the meeting.

Along the line of the proposed outlaw league the following taken from the St. Paul Dispatch, is timely:

"Outlaw baseball will invade the Twin City this summer, according to the announcement of H. P. Conrad of St. Paul, who, as the man behind Lew Drill of this city, has been actively engaged in attempting to procure permission from the American association to invade Minneapolis and St. Paul, and with clubs in these two cities organize a new league, to include also Duluth and Superior, Winnipeg and either Virginia on the Iron range or Grand Forks, N. D. Mr. Conrad returned last night from Chicago, indignant at the refusal of the American association magnates to permit additional clubs under organized protection in the Twin Cities.

"The St. Paul man is thoroughly determined to proceed with the organization of an outlaw league, now that his request to organized baseball has been turned down, and will not be alone in his efforts. President Sommers of the Superior club in the Minny league is quoted as favoring the proposition, while it is understood that all of the other cities mentioned will gladly enter the new combination. The only possible stumbling block that Mr. Conrad foresees is in the Minneapolis club and he believes that this proposition is already solved.

Sommers Suggests Ideas.

"'President Sommers of the Superior Baseball club first broached the idea of an outlaw league to me,' said Mr. Conrad last evening on his return from Chicago. 'At that time I did not harbor the thought or give it consideration a minute, until the American association turned us down in Chicago Saturday. If there is anything under the sun that can be done to organize that new league here, it is going to be done. If I have to build a new ball park, instead of using Lexington, I am going to do so, and I believe it is possible to construct one which will be much better suited for the purpose than Lexington, too.

Only One Drawback.

"'The only possible drawback to the proposition is in the Minneapolis club and I think that difficulty is already solved. We have one promoter who was exceedingly anxious to buy the Minneapolis rights in case we were granted permission to enter the Twin Cities by the American association. He has not been approached on the subject of an outlaw organization, but I believe he will favor the proposition. He is the only possible drawback to the whole scheme, for the others are decidedly in unison in following this idea. Duluth and Superior realize that they cannot have a reputable quality of baseball unless they are able to get into some league having clubs in St. Paul and Minneapolis. For this reason, now that the A. A. has turned us down, they favor the outlaw plan.'

"Winnipeg will be the fifth city, and either Virginia or Grand Forks will complete the membership of six clubs. Virginia is on the main line between Duluth and Winnipeg, so may be selected on account of its location, but Grand Forks is the larger city, and the final settlement will probably be made on the showing of the two towns in regard to financial backing.

"George E. Lennon, owner of the St. Paul club of the American association, and the Cantillons of Minneapolis were in favor of the proposition to permit a new league to enter the Twin Cities at the American association meeting in Chicago, Mr. Conrad declared. They were supported in their position by Louisville, which desires to let the Blue Grass league into that city.

"'Before the Chicago meeting,' he continued, 'all that was necessary for a new league to get into A. A. territory was to obtain the consent of the club owners in the cities invaded and that of the president of the association. But there a rule was passed forbidding any owner to give his consent to invasion of his city upon penalty of being fined $500 for each game played by such a league team in his city with his consent.

"'Mr. Lennon had promised to allow me the use of Lexington park if we played on dates when the St. Paul A. A. team was out of the city, and I believe he would let me use it with an unorganized league team if we were to consent to using only amateur or semi-pro ball players, thus not invading the association field. However, we could not give a satisfactory kind of ball under those conditions, so we shall probably have to build a new ball park here. I am willing to do so, if necessary."

EHLER AGAINST A SUMMER RULE

Madison, Wis., Jan. 10.—Director Ehler of the athletic department of the University of Wisconsin has returned from the meeting of the National Collegiate Athletic association, held in New York during the holidays, at which a resolution was adopted favoring "the establishment and upholding of a high amateur standard in intercollegiate sport."

"The passing of that resolution," said Prof. Ehler Monday, "will undoubtedly have an important bearing on the question of summer baseball when it comes up at next meeting of the conference.

Keep College Athletics Pure.

"Most of the men who attended that meeting declared afterward that the summer baseball question had been handled from the wrong angle in the past and that it should not be permitted to enter the field of college athletics.

"All emphasis in the past," he said, "has concerned itself with the amateur law and devising ways and means of upholding it instead of trying to uphold the spirit of the law. The athletic heads were more concerned with the building up of a sentiment which would make professionalism impossible."

Says "Professionals" Are Sorry.

Director Ehler stated that he did not think the rule had the slightest chance to get through. Even men who had played professional baseball in their college days, he said, declared in the meeting that they wished they had earned their money some other way. Director Ehler will go to the meeting at Chicago Jan. 26 instructed to hold out against the rule and it is expected that he will be one of the leaders of the fight against it.

SCHEDULE WILL BE ARRANGED

Chicago, Jan. 10.—American league members will meet here Feb. 14 in the annual playing schedule meeting, according to announcement by President B. B. Johnson yesterday. Mr. Johnson went to Cincinnati to join other members of the national commission in arranging the changes ordered at the recent meeting. He declared before going that the American league schedule would be more satisfactory to owners this season because Sunday baseball would be allowed in the four western cities. Chicago being the best Sunday ball town, he intimated that a couple of extra games would come here.

He also announced the membership of his rule board, which will meet with a similar board of the National league, consisting of Umpire Tom Connolly, Chairman James Callahan and Joe Jackson.

NEVADANS DO NOT WANT THE FIGHT

Salt Lake City, Jan. 10.—A spirit of bitter opposition to the proposed Johnson-Flynn fight has developed throughout Nevada, according to advices received here. Nevadans say that any benefits from a battle staged near the Nevada-Utah line will accrue to Salt Lake City, while any odium attached to the fight will remain with the state of Nevada.

A proposal to call a special session of the Nevada legislature to repeal the law under which unlimited ring battles are sanctioned has been discussed freely among men prominent in politics in Nevada and there is little doubt that Governor Oddie will be urged to do his utmost to prevent the battle.

Petropolis, Nev., has notified Promoter Jack Curley that the offer of a site for the fight arena and other inducements to bring the battle to that town has been withdrawn.

FINE IMPOSED ON NEW YORK CLUB

Cincinnati, Jan. 10.—In refusing the request of Player F. B. Magner that he be declared a free agent and that he be awarded $66 in settlement of salary which he claimed to be due him from the New York American league club, the national baseball commission in a finding handed down yesterday, fined the New York American league management $50 for failure to file the player's contract in the office of President Johnson within a reasonable time after its execution.

Magner in his complaint charged that the New York club invalidated its 1911 contract with him by violating a clause prohibiting his release during that season, when it released him to Rochester.

The commission found that Magner was released for the season of 1912 and that the New York club had not violated the 1911 contract.

Hockey Game Off.

The hockey game scheduled for this evening between the Broadways of Superior and the Big Duluths of this city has been called off. The game will be played later in the week or the first part of next week.

AMERICANS OPPOSED TO OLYMPIC DATES.

Chicago, Jan. 10.—Western athletes who expect to take part in the Olympic games at Stockholm this year are almost unanimous today in announcing their dissatisfaction with the date set by the international committee for the opening of the games, June 20.

The Americans feel that this date will not give them proper time for training in the Swedish city before they must compete. Several have hinted that the date was fixed in an effort to handicap the Americans, who have been victorious in three straight meetings.

GUN CLUB HOLDS ANNUAL ELECTION

About 150 members of the Northwestern Gun club met last evening in their hall at 431 East Fourth street, for their fifth annual election. The officers elected for the ensuing year were: Jake Patskowski, president; Alex Schubitzke, vice president; John Wold, treasurer; Harry C. Anderson, financial and recording secretary; Al Arnson, field captain; trustees, M. Monson, one year; Ed Chalk, two years; Leo Teske, three years; Dr. McCuen, medical director. After the election was over a smoker was held. Dr. McCuen told of some hunting experiences he has had. Lunch was also served.

Their annual dance will be held at the Armory, Jan. 31, and a committee of five was appointed to make arrangements for it.

SKI DIRECTORS HOLD MEETING

At a meeting of the directors of the Duluth Ski club, held last evening, John Jenswold, Jr., was appointed a delegate to the national meeting to be held in Chicago, H. H. Borgen being appointed an alternate.

It was decided to send John Mangseth to represent the club in the professional events. Some of the other professional riders of the club have been declared ineligible, because of the trouble of last winter. Several amateurs will also be sent to represent the club.

According to the sense of the meeting Duluth will make a strong bid to secure the next national meet. If the right amount of enthusiasm is shown a special car will be secured to carry the Duluth delegation to Chicago.

SODALITY BOYS WIN.

Catholic Athletic Team Beaten at Baseball By 11 to 5 Score.

Last evening the Young Men's Sodality indoor baseball team defeated the Catholic Athletic Club's team by the score of 11 to 5. The contest was played on the Y. M. S. floor. Wade pitched a fine game for the winning team and his mates hit the pill hard. Fogarty pitched a better game than the score would indicate, his team failing to give him the same support accorded to Wade.

Rifle Record Broken.

Iowa City, Iowa, Jan. 10.—The Iowa City high school, shooting against the Morris high school of New York City, has broken the interscholastic rifle record of the United States, making 956 out of a possible 1,000.

Cleveland Wins.

Cleveland, Ohio, Jan. 10.—The Cleveland Athletic club hockey team defeated the New Edinburgh club of Ottawa, Ont., here last night by the score of 3 to 2.

GOOD PROGRESS BEING MADE IN HERALD EVENT

Harbison's Rink the First to Reach Eights---Many Games Will Be Played This Week.

Play is progressing rapidly in The Herald curling event.

But one game remains to be played in the preliminary round and several games have been played in the first round. Five games are scheduled for The Herald this evening, ten games for Friday evening and ten more for Saturday evening. The officials of the club want to progress as far as possible before the opening of the Northwestern bonspiel.

Surprises have been the feature of the event to date. Barring a rather late start the games in this event have been played more regularly than has been the case in the past. From now on all skips must play according to the schedule or forefit games.

One of the surprises of the play has been the showing of Harbison's rink. His defeat of the verteran Hurdon has made the fireside curling brigade keep their eyes on future progress of Harbison. Ralph Bradley's rink is playing in great form. There are an unusually large number of gretn men on the various rinks, which in a way accounts for some of the surprises in the play to date.

Harbison is the first skip to lead his rink into the promised land of the eights. His defeat of West places him in the lead to date.

Following is the standing in The Herald event:

Preliminary	First Round.	16's.	8's.

PUEBLO JIM IS GETTING CHESTY

Chicago, Jan. 10.—Having signed articles to meet Jack Johnson in a finish fight for the world's heavyweight championship, Jim Flynn, the Pueblo fireman, is taking the public into his confidence. He does not say he will whip the big negro for sure, but he declares if hard work and determination can help, he will fulfill all "white hope dreams."

"I have all the faith in the world in my manager, Jack Curley," says Flynn. "I will be guided absolutely by him. I intend to start for Syracuse within a few days, where I shall place myself under training instructions of Tommy Ryan. If any man in the world can show me how to put up an effective defense against Johnson's attack, it is Ryan. I am not afraid of the champion and I believe that when he gets some of my 'holiday punches' in his stomach he will feel his title slipping. He has not fought in nearly two years, while I have been scrapping as fast as I could arrange bouts. I hope to have my match with Al Kubiak in Toronto called off as it may interfere with my training. I expect to have no difficulty in putting Al Palzer out of the way and that will give me the undisputed right to meet the big black as the logical 'white hope.'

"Don't you forget it when the gong sounds for this scrap the sports are going to witness some fighting and I expect to have the sympathy and confidence of every four out of five men who see the battle."

REDMOND MATCHED TO MEET SAMMY TROTT.

Milwaukee, Wis., Jan. 10.—Jack Redmond, local lightweight, was matched yesterday to meet Sammy Trott, the well known Columbus, Ohio, fighter, for a 12-round bout at Columbus within the next two weeks, the weight agreed upon being 133 pounds at 3 o'clock.

COMMERCIAL CLUB MAY PURCHASE LINCOLN CLUB.

Lincoln, Neb., Jan. 10.—The situation of the Lincoln baseball club is serious. Unable to secure purchasers for $12,000 of preferred stock in the club, President Despain has turned to the commercial club for assistance and a meeting will be held today at which a special committee will report on the feasibility of buying the franchise.

White Sox Get New Player.

Chicago, Jan. 10.—V. J. Clemmons, a catcher, who played last season with the Pueblo team, is the latest recruit to sign with the Chicago American league team for the season of 1912. Clemmons is 20 years old and lives in Wichita. His batting average last season was .227 and his fielding .982.

Mansolf in Lead.

Mausolf played a fine game last evening in the four games for the city pool championship, winning by the score of 128 to 58. Mausolf keeps the lead in the games. Oliver did not show true form. The game this evening will be played at Central. The score last evening:

Mausolf ...6 35 27 29 8 10 1 12—128
Oliver .....0 0 13 7 5 11 10 12— 58

Fight Ends in a Draw.

St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 10.—Benny McGovern of this city and Frankie White of Chicago fought six rounds to a draw last night. The fighters weighed in at 118 pounds and put up a fast exhibition. Clarence Ferns of Kansas City and Billy Grupp, a local boy, went six rounds to a draw at 150 pounds. No decisions were given.

Sailor Wins.

New York, Jan. 10.—Sailor Burke, conceeding fully ten pounds, defeated Soldier Delaney, the heavyweight, in a ten-round bout in Brooklyn last night.

LUMBERJACK IS KILLED

Abe Hendrickson, Struck By Falling Tree, Dies En Route to Hospital.

Swan River Logging Company Employe Fatally Injured at Sturgeon Lake.

Chisholm, Minn., Jan. 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—Abe Hendrickson, an employe of the Swan River Logging company, died yesterday afternoon while being hurried here on a special train to the Rood hospital to be treated for injuries sustained at camp 2, near Sturgeon Lake.

He was felling a tree and in its descent the tree brought another one down upon him, striking him on the head and fracturing his skull. He was picked up in a dying condition, placed upon a car and rushed here, but expired before reaching the hospital.

The deceased was about 30, single, and so far as known has no relatives in this locality.

CLERK ADMITS TAKING MONEY

Roy Hutton, Employed at Hibbing, Pleads Guilty to Stealing Coin.

Hibbing, Minn., Jan. 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—Roy Hutton, a young man who has been employed here for several months by the Agnew Mining company as a clerk, pleaded guilty to a charge of embezzlement when arraigned before Judge Brady in municipal court. He was taken to Virginia, where it is expected he will enter a similar plea before Judge Hughes and receive a sentence. He was accused by the Agnew company of withholding $138 he had collected for some coal sold by the company and when confronted with the charge admitted its truth. He was promptly arrested and brought before Judge Brady. Hutton lived in the Agnew location, where the mining company operates, but was very reticent today when an effort was made to learn what he did with the money.

NASHWAUK FAMILY DRIVEN FROM HOME

House Burning With Thermometer 30 Deg. Below, Causes Suffering.

Nashwauk, Minn., Jan. 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—Driven from their home by fire early Tuesday morning, when the thermometer registered 30 deg. below zero Tony Margetti and wife and child living on First street, had a harrowing experience. They barely escaped in their night clothing. The firemen were soon on hand but were unable to save the home which was burned to the ground. The fire fighters devoted their energies to saving the Cleon building nearby which was scorched. Mr. Margetti carried little insurance. The fire started from an overheated stove.

NEW EMBARRASS CONCERN.

Biwabik Man to Manage Farmers' Co-operative Store.

Biwabik, Minn., Jan. 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—Gus Pawarinta, for the past eighteen years engaged in the mercantile business, will leave next week for Embarrass, north of here, to assume the management of the Embarrass Farmers' Co-operative Mercantile association just organized by the farmers of that locality. They will handle a general mercantile line. A fine new building is in the course of construction which should be completed this week.

SILLIMAN CANDIDATE.

Hibbing Engineer Would Be a Town Supervisor.

Hibbing, Minn., Jan. 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—A. P. Silliman, well known mining engineer, will be a candidate for town supervisor at the election to be held in March. Mr. Silliman has authorized the announcement of his candidacy.

Al Dixon, whose term as a member of the board expires in March, will not be a candidate for re-election, according to his friends.

"I am a candidate for town supervisor and will appreciate the support of my friends," said Mr. Silliman. "I am interested in road building, have the time and the means to devote to the work, appreciate the value of good roads to the agricultural development of this section of St. Louis county, and if I am elected I shall work with the board on all matters that will be for the welfare of this section. I have made no plan of campaign, but have decided to be a candidate and have no objection to my candidacy being announced in the newspapers."

VIRGINIA'S NEW SLIDE TRIED OUT

Barney Riley and Sig Bergersen Jump Well on Steel Structure.

Virginia, Minn., Jan. 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—The new steel slide of the Virginia Ski club is completed and yesterday afternoon Barney Riley and Sig Bergerson, leading ski jumpers of the Northwest and both citizens of Virginia, each made three trial jumps. Barney Riley's first jump was 116 feet, the second 126 feet and the third nearly 132 feet. Bergerson made 116 feet, 124 feet and 131 feet. Considering that it was very cold and that the track was rough, not having been used before, the jumps were considered remarkable and indicate that the slide is one of the very fastest in the world.

Tournament Prizes.

The prizes for the tournament to be held Sunday have been fixed as follows:

For experts' cash prizes: First, $50; second, $40; third, $30; fourth, $20; fifth, $15; sixth, $10; seventh, $5, and $10 in cash for the longest standing jump.

For amateurs—First, $40 gold medal; second, $30 gold medal; third, $25 silver cup; fourth, $20 silver cup; fifth, $15; sixth, $10; seventh, $5, and $10 for the longest standing jump. There will also be smaller prizes for the best jumps by boys.

Secretary J. R. Krogdahl has received assurances of a large number of entries for the tournament and the indications are that some of the best jumpers in the country will be here.

POUNDMASTER TO DO DOG KILLING

No One Else to Slay Animals Under Proposed Virginia Ordinance.

Virginia, Minn., Jan. 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—Through an ordinance introduced in the city council last night the dog license is amended so that no person is permitted to keep a vicious dog on his premises, or permit such a dog to run at large in the city and it is made lawful for any person to kill or destroy any dog or animal of the dog kind found running at large within the limits of the city, or any dog when is maintained contrary to the provisions of the ordinance. The poundmaster is authorized to kill or cause to be killed all vicious dogs. It is made unlawful for any person to in any manner interfere with the poundmaster or any officer engaged in carrying out the terms of the ordinance. The ordinance passed its first reading last night.

The Enterprise was made the city official paper for the year and the Virginian was awarded the job work of the city.

WARDEN WAS ON JURY

When Witness Told of Having Possibly Violated Game Law.

Virginia, Minn., Jan. 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—In the case of Clifford Sherman vs. the Duluth, Rainy Lake & Winnipeg railroad company to recover $10,000 for alleged damage to property near Angora by fires, on trial before Judge Hughes for the past few days, it was brought out in the testimony of Ernest Laduc of Duluth, an expert timber cruiser employed by the railroad company that he had a companion from Superior with him. Some of his testimony led to the suggestion that there had possibly been a violation of the game law. Game Warden George E. Wood is on the jury which is hearing the case and could not avoid hearing the testimony of Laduc, whose friends are asking him what he is going to do about it when the game warden gets after him. Whether the game warden will take any action remains to be seen.

CONTINUE COLLYARD CASE.

Charge Against Hibbing Saloon Keeper to Be Heard Later.

Hibbing, Minn., Jan. 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—The case of the village of Hibbing vs. Joseph Collyard, set for trial in municipal court yesterday afternoon, was continued for two weeks on request of the village attorney. Collyard has retained Attorney Ball of Duluth to represent him. The case is one in which Collyard claims he has been chosen as a goat by the Oliver Iron Mining ocmpany because he brought suit against it to recover for the value of liquor destroyed by the Oliver police.

HIBBING COMMERCIAL CLUB TO ELECT OFFICERS.

Hibbing, Minn., Jan. 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—The commercial club will give a smoker at the city hall tonight and officers for the coming year will be chosen. There will be a friendly contest for the office of president between the friends of Dr. P. R. Thomas, D. D. McEachin and J. L. Lewis. Judge Hughes will speak.

Hibbing Greeks Celebrate.

Hibbing, Minn., Jan. 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Greek Catholics of the nearby mining locations yesterday concluded a three days' celebration of the Greek Christmas. At the French location, a short distance from Hibbing, there was a particular observance. Yesterday, despite the inclemency of the weather, the participants held a dance out of doors into which all present entered with zest.

Have Returned to Hibbing.

KOSKI DIES IN HOSPITAL

Second Victim of Jack Drexler Succumbs to His Wounds.

Virginia Man Now Has Two Murders Charged Against Him.

A second murder is now charged against Jack Drexler, who is under arrest as a result of a shooting at Virginia on the morning of Dec. 24.

Jonas Koski, who was wounded by Drexler, died at St. Luke's hospital yesterday. Alex Pakala, the proprietor of the saloon in which the shooting occurred, was instantly killed. Joe Putis was shot in the neck and will recover.

The shooting occurred at 4 o'clock in the morning at Pakala's saloon. Drexler had been ejected from the saloon earlier in the morning, had gone to his boarding house for a gun and had returned to the saloon to wreak vengeance.

Koski's wounds were regarded as serious at the time, but he was thought to have a chance for life. He was brought to Duluth and rallied for a time, but the end came yesterday. He was 49 years old.

Drexler is being held at the county jail. His case will be taken up at the next term of district court on the range.

BROODS OVER HURT; TAKES HIS LIFE

Ely Man Blows Himself to Pieces With Stick of Dynamite.

Ely, Minn., Jan. 10.—(Special to The Herald.) — Brooding over being incapacited by an injury he sustained while working at Section 30 mine is believed to have prompted Dan Szikora, a laborer, to kill himself, near here yesterday afternoon in a most sensational manner. He is said to have lain down upon a stick of dynamite with the attached fuse lighted and then calmly awaited the explosion which tore his body to shreds.

A man named Siren, who was chopping wood near by, heard the explosion and rused to the scene, where he found Szikora literally blown into fragments.

Szikora was about 35 years of age and has a wife and family living in Austria. Nothing definite is known, but papers and letters show he has been employed at Coleraine and in the Swift & Co. ice department at South St. Paul.

TOWER COMMERCIAL CLUB PROSPEROUS

Annual Election Shows Forty-Six Members of the Organization.

Tower, Minn., Jan. 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—There was a fair attendance at the annual meeting of the Commercial club Monday evening. Annual reports of officers were presented, indicating a healthy condition. The club has forty-six members in good standing. E. E. McIntire, superintendent of schools, was unanimously elected a member.

The following officers and directors were elected: E. I. Atkins, president; J. H. Jeffrey, vice president; W. G. Gallien, secretary; O. W. Akerson, treasurer; Dr. R. L. Burns, Gunder Peterson, F. E. Kolb, directors. A substantial balance was reported in the treasury.

OFFICIAL MAP OF THE WEATHER

If one will take a moment to scan the table herewith and note the minimum temperatures for the twelve hours ending at 7 a. m. this morning, he will note Minnedosa with 46 deg. below zero, Prince Albert with 44 deg. below, Edmonton with 42 deg. below, Battleford with 40 deg. below and Winnipeg with 38 deg. below. Beside such marks, Duluth's 34 deg. below zero is comparatively warm. Of course it was 36 deg. below zero shortly after 7 o'clock this morning, but that is still several degrees removed from 46 deg. below. Indeed, we are having a most joyful time and the joy will continue for two or three days more.

Duluth had a sixty-two mile wind a year ago today.

The sun rose this morning at 7:52 and it will set at 4:39 this evening, giving eight hours and forty-seven minutes of sunlight.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"Severe cold weather covers the entire Northwest, all of Canada and the Lake region, and the temperature has fallen decidedly in Atlantic states. In Wisconsin, Minnesota, the Dakotas and Western Canada the temperature ranges anywhere from 20 deg. below to 44 deg. below zero—the latter occurring at Minnedosa. Light to killing frosts were reported in the northern half of Florida this morning. Prospects favor a continuation of the present severe cold spell in St. Louis and Douglas counties during the ensuing thirty-six hours. Snow or rain fell during Tuesday or last night over Eastern Canada, the Lake region, New England, Pacific states, Idaho, Utah, Wyoming, the Dakotas and extreme Western Canada in connection with the low pressure areas centered over the Gulf of St. Lawrence and Wyoming. High westerly winds prevailed last night on western Lake Superior, eastern Lake Erie and off the New York and New England coasts."

General Forecasts.

Chicago, Jan. 10.—Forecasts for twenty-four hours ending at 7 p. m. Thursday:

Upper Michigan—Generally fair, except snow flurries near Lake Superior tonight and Thursday; continued low temperatures.

Wisconsin, Minnesota and North Dakota—Generally fair and continued cold tonight and Thursday.

Iowa, South Dakota — Unsettled weather with snow tonight or Thursday; continued cold.

Montana—Snow and colder tonight; Thursday generally fair and continued cold.

Shippers' forecast—Protect thirty-six-hour shipments of perishables against temperatures varying from 10 deg below to about 36 deg. below zero in the Dakotas, Minnesota, Wisconsin and the Michigan Copper Country.

WILL FIX UP OHIO ORGANIC LAWS

Progressive Leader Is Made Chairman of the Convention.

Columbus, Ohio, Jan. 10. — The constitutional convention started its second day's proceedings not far from the point where it was ready to begin the actual consideration of clauses. Only the adoption of a set of rules, appointment of committees and a few minor considerations stood between the delegates and their task of recording Ohio organic law.

It was generally conceded that Delegate Doty's set of rules for the convention will be adopted with few changes. These rules, as prepared, provide for the recall from the committee of any clause submitted by a delegate and its presention to the convention. This, it was said, would prevent any burying of plans in committees.

The convention elected Rev. Herbert S. Bigelow of the Cincinnati permanent president. Bigelow's election was taken to indicate that the inlative, referendum and recall, the primary election law and other so-called "progressive" ideas would receive much consideration. Members of the Anti-Saloon league were also active in his campaign for the presidency. Prof. C. B. Galbreath was elected permanent secretary. He has been for years state librarian. He has written a number of works on constitutional conventions and is considered an authority on constitutional laws.

MRS. SPARLING'S HEARING PLANNED

Michigan Poison Case Advances Yet Another Step.

Bad Axe, Mich., Jan. 10. — According to the attorneys for Mrs. John Wesley Sparling, charged with poisoning her 20-year-old son, Cyril, no testimony on behalf of the defendant will be presented at the preliminary examination today.

The prosecution expects to submit evidence similar in many respects to the testimony offered at the preliminary examination four weeks ago of Dr. Robert A. MacGregor of Ubly, bound over to stand trial on a first degree murder charge, in connection with Cyril Sparling's death.

Cyril Sparling, whose stomach when analyzed showed the presence of arsenic, was one of four members of the family to die from a suspicious ailment. The viscera of his brother, Albert, was also found to contain arsenic. Peter, another brother, and John Wesley Sparling, the father, were the other victims of a deadly malady or of poison.

Mrs. Sparling was arrested following the examination of Dr. MacGregor and Marguerite Gibbs, the Sparling nurse, bound over to stand trial on a charge of accessory after the fact.

Breaks Jail—Is Recaptured.

Flaxton, N. D., Jan. 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—Seth Taylor was almost successful in escaping the border line authorities when he was captured at North Portal while making his way into Canada. He had broken jail in Flaxton while held for a misdemeanor and reached Portal by walking from here. Taylor, although on Canadian soil, consented to return to the United States. He was bound over.

WOMAN'S REALM.

"Cousin Kate," a delightful three-act play in which Ethel Barrymore starred, will be put on at the Lyceum theater tomorrow evening by local talent. Rehearsals have been running smoothly and last evening the cast rehearsed before several well known local critics who were delighted with the work.

Miss Lucille Bradley in the title role has worked out the part artistically and with the support of the rest of the cast, who have been well chosen, the play should be an artistic success.

During the evening several other features will be introduced. Little Elisabeth Magie in her Highland fling, and Gertrude Collins in a serpentine dance, both of whom won praise at the Kings' Daughters' fete last week, will again appear, and Master Harold Evered of Superior will dance a Russian dance. Miss Cordelia Collins, in a Spanish dance, will also be a feature. These dances are all under the supervision of Prof. Leo.

Several parties have been planned for the evening. Mrs. J. D. Morrison and Mrs. A. M. Miller will both be hostesses at box parties, while several other blocks of seats have been reserved in the pit.

The play is being put on under the direction of the ladies of Trinity procathedral for the benefit of the Park Point Mission church by Mrs. T. M. Holland of Park Falls, Wis.

The cast is as follows: Miss Lucile Bradley, as Cousin Kate; Mrs. H. B. Detweiler, as Amy Spencer; Miss Marie Erd, as Mrs. Spencer; Miss Morton, as Eliza; Fred H. Waldron, as Heath Desmond; Stanley Lamb, as Bobby Spencer; Mr. Hoag, as Rev. Bartlette.

MORAN-BREWER.

Simple Wedding of Well-Known People.

At noon today Miss Florence Moran, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Moran of 114 West Fourth street became the bride of Charles Duncan Brewer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank A. Brewer of 2215 East Superior street. The ceremony was performed at the residence of Bishop McGolrick by Rev. Father Lyden, in the presence of only the immediate relatives of the two parties. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Jeta Moran and Hans Haroldson was best man.

After the ceremony a luncheon was served at the home of the bride's parents at which covers were laid for sixteen.

Pink and white roses were used throughout the house in graceful and effective arrangement and the luncheon table was charmingly appointed with these flowers, a large basket of them being used as a centerpiece.

Mr. and Mrs. Brewer left for a two months' wedding tour. They are going to Portland first, from there down the coast through California, and Mexico to New Orleans and Florida and will return by way of Chicago.

CLAN DANCE.

Fifth Party in Winter Series.

Clan Stewart, No. 50, Order of Scottish Clans, will give one of its regular dancing parties this evening at the U. O. F. hall, 112 Fourth avenue west. This is the fifth in the series which the clan is giving for the members, their families and friends this winter and which are proving pleasant affairs.

SOPRANO ACTIVE.

Mme. Alda Shovels Snow; Also Approves of Taft.

Mme. Frances Alda, grand opera star and concert singer, who will sing an interesting program of twenty songs here Monday evening at the Lyceum theater, is a woman of interesting personality and perseverance which has won her fame.

Mme. Alda was the soloist with the St. Paul Symphony orchestra in a concert Monday evening at the Auditorium of St. Paul and she will also sing there Friday afternoon at the second of the series of educational concerts for the school children.

According to the St. Paul Dispatch, Mme. Alda "is some strenuous person."

The notice continues:

"According to a message which Manager E. A. Stein of the St. Paul Symphony orchestra received this morning, the singer was one of a dozen passengers who helped dig a New York Central train out of a snowdrift near Fort Wayne, Ind., yesterday afternoon.

"The message said:

"'Train delayed in Indiana by heavy snow. Will arrive either tonight or tomorrow morning. Passengers helped shovel snow and I cleared larger space than any man. Had pictures taken to prove it.

"'FRANCES ALDA.'"

In an interview with the St. Paul Daily News she also expressed herself in favor of President Taft. "I hope Mr. Taft is president again," she said, "because I know and like him very well."

ORCHESTRA AND CHORUS IN POPULAR CONCERT

The program given last night by Flaaten's Symphony orchestra and Normanna chorus proved to be one of the most delightfully entertaining of the season's series.

A crowded house greeted the performers despite the severe weather conditions. From the opening number—Mendelsohn's "War March," to Matt's "Norwegian Scenes," the audience greeted each number with a round of applause. The Normanna chorus sang in its usual entertaining and inspiring style, despite the fact that several of their numbers had contracted severe colds at their recent concert in Hibbing. Owing to the illness of their soloist, they were unable to sing Haarklou's "Varde."

"Spin, Spin," by Jungst proved to be one of their most popular selections. The chorus was encored for each number, and responded liberally. By special request from the audience, they closed the program with the "Soldiers Chorus," from "Faust."

The work of the orchestra showed a marked improvement particularly in the blending of the different parts, making the entire organization unified and under the complete control of Director Flaaten's leadership.

The two most popular selections by the orchestra were Grinwald's "Anthony & Cleopatra" and Matt's "Norwegian Scenes." The latter called forth a storm of applause from the audience, which demanded the repetition of the intermezzo and scherzo movements. The violin sections carried in this number in which the first violins The manner in which the first violins handled the scherzo movement would have done credit to any symphony orchestra. Their tones were clear and true and the entire section played together as one instrument. This number was the climax of the orchestra's triumph, and reflects special credit upon the artistic manner in which its director handled it.

There are still three more concerts in the season's series, the next one to be given Feb. 6.

THE EVENING STORY

BILLY HOUCK AND THE HOG THIEF

By William H. Hamby.

Fully seventy-five men sat on the grass or stood in groups about the yard, waiting impatiently for the trial to begin. It was only to be a preliminary hearing before the justice of the peace, but any sort of hog stealing was of great interest to Buckeye Bridge. Horse stealing, forgery, burglary and arson, might arouse other communities, but the great legal battles of Buckeye Bridge were fought over the dead or missing body of the hog. In the hills north of the valley was much wild timber land, and in the autumn many farmers marked their hogs with certain holes and slits in their ears and turned them out to eat the acorns.

But this was not to be much of a trial; it was a pretty plain case. Jess Owens turned the hog out one morning, and the next day Buck Powell sold it, dressed, to a store at Sarvix Point. The ears were left on, and Owen's mark was easily identified. Besides, you could convict Buck on almost any charge without a witness.

He was one of the class known to the community as "river rats," he lived in a board shack near the river and rented a patch of land that was overflowed about every other year. He was a shambling, bilious fellow, that with milky eyes that never looked at anything in particular, and a quivering mouth that never seemed decided whether it ought to stay open or shut. Suspicion attached to Buck as readily as summer flies to a runt calf.

"I guess they'll sure send Buck up," remarked Cy Todd, one of a group in the courthouse yard.

"Well, he's got the hog all right," said Jess Owens. "It was a good one, too. I'd been feeding it corn for six weeks, and had it just about ready to butcher. It weighed 225 when Buck sold it at the Point.

"Just the hog bein' fat would be evidence enough to convict Buck," chuckled "Windy" Jim Davis. "He never raised enough corn in his life to fatten any sort of hog; and nobody ever raised enough to fatten one of his. You could feed one of them razorbacks a whole carload of corn, and it would all go to legs and bristle.

"I wouldn't have bothered the law with it," said Owens, vindictively. "If Powell had been any sort of a man. But I ain't got th stomach to beat up an ornery runt like that."

"He ought to have been run out a long time ago," declared Todd. "There he is now. The constable had come up with the prisoner, and stopped near the courthouse door to wait for the squire. "Is that Powell's girl," asked one.

"Yes," answered Windy Jim. They all turned to look. The child was perhaps 12 years old, had brown hair and eyes, and a clear face, vivid with personality. She stood straight, with one hand holding to her father's sleeve. "Seems queer," reflected Windy Jim, "what good children some of the orneriest people have. But I reckon that is the only way we can ever get ahead any. If all the children were as trifling as their dads, this would sure be a wilderness of woe. That little girl Bess there keeps house for that scalawag and the two younger children. And the teacher says she's the smartest scholar that ever went to school in our district."

Billy Houck, the justice of the peace, came up, and they all followed into the courthouse. The case was called. The prosecuting attorney was there to represent the state. The authority of the justice was merely to hear the evidence and decide whether or not the accused should be held for trial in the circuit court. The witnesses against Powell—Jess Owens, several neighbors, the purchaser from Sarvis Point, and Bess, his own daughter—were asked to arise and be sworn.

Powell had no lawyer, no witnesses. He sat by a little table to the right of the justice, leaning on his left elbow, his face in his hand, his milky eyes on the floor. Bess sat down close beside him, and covertly sought his hand under the table. Her head was held high, and her wide open brown eyes searched the courtroom. The state's attorney rose and started to outline the story of theft as it would be proved.

First he spoke of the positive evidence he would introduce to prove the ownership of the hog. He had spoken only a few words when he noticed he did not have the attention of the men in the courtroom. He paused, and turned to see what they were watching. The little girl had gripped the edge of the table with both hands and was leaning forward, looking at him with surprise and wonder in her eyes, as if trying to understand what that had to do with it. The young attorney, slightly annoyed, lifted his voice to attract the attention of the court: "Your honor, Tuesday morning Jess Owens turned his hog out, and that very evening Buck Powell stole it."

There was a slight, sudden movement at the table, a quick intake of breath. The girl was on her feet, pulling at her father's arm. She was white and her eyes were open wide with horror and fear. "Papa, papa?" she whispered and the room was still enough for all to hear.

But Buck Powell did not look at his child; his head only drooped a little lower, and he shook it slowly. The child sank back in the chair, drew a long breath, and once more fixed her eyes on the attorney. "He killed and dressed the hog before daylight Wednesday morning," the prosecutor resumed. "This we will prove by his own daughter."

"Oh!" It was a sudden little cry from the table. The girl's face was burning red and her breath came fast. The attorney then finished the outline of the things he would prove and sat down, ready for the first witness.

For a moment the little girl looked around the courtroom, wonderingly, expectantly, and then at Billy Houck, justice of the peace. Were none of them going to speak for her father? A frightened look came into her face, but she got to her feet, trembling all over.

"He didn't do it. He didn't. He didn't steal any hog. It was this——"

"Just a minute, honey," Billy Houck said to her, kindly. "Wait just a minute." Then turning to the attorney, he asked in an undertone, "Might as well use her as the first witness, mightn't you?" The prosecutor nodded consent.

"Take this chair, Bessie," Billy said to her. "Now you are a witness, and remember, you have sworn to tell the truth." The attorney started to question her, but the justice raised his hand. "Let her tell it in her own way, Jackson. Now, Bessie," he turned his kind understanding eyes upon her and smiled one of his infrequent smiles, "tell us what you know about it."

With the sure instinct of a child the little girl knew here was a friend and she forgot the lawyer who had abused her father, forgot the crowd in the courtroom, and told her story rapidly and vehemently to Billy Houck.

"He didn't steal any hog; you know my papa wouldn't do that. He traded for it. You see, it was like this, last year the river got up and washed all our crops away—every little bit of it—and—and," she stopped to swallow, "I couldn't go to school, because my pa couldn't get me any books and clothes. Again she paused and quickly drew her hand across her eyes. "I wanted to go, but pa said he would get me books and dresses this year, and I could make up for lost time.

"I just thought of it all the time, and talked about it every day. And when the dry weather burned up the corn this summer, I was scared for fear I couldn't go. But pa told me not to cry; he'd get the books sure. Then is when he made the trade. He traded Mr. Owens two of our hogs for one of his, because ours weren't fat and wouldn't sell. He brought it home one evening and butchered it early the next morning, so that he could get an early start to town. It was a fair, square trade, truly it was," she added, confidently, "for pa told me himself that Mr. Owens offered to swap first." At the end of her story she stopped and looked round, suddenly frightened by the courtroom full of tense listeners.

"And did he get the books?" Billy Houck asked. Her eyes lighted, her face glowed, unconsciously she clanned her hands lightly. "Oh, yes, he got all the books I need and two of the prettiest dresses you ever saw—one is pink and the other is blue, with little white dots in in." As the little girl left the chair, all eyes turned to the father. His head sunk forward on the table, and his shoulders rose and fell. Bess stood at his side and patted his shoulder comfortingly. There was silence for nearly a minute, all wondering who was to speak next.

Jess Owens was the first to rise, and rough hill farmer that he was, he swallowed several times before he found his voice. "Billy,"—he forgot he was in court—"I reckon I ain't got no stealing charges agin' Buck. I'll stand by the trade like the little girl told about." The young attorney started to speak, but Billy Houck motioned for him to keep his seat.

"Case is dismissed. Court is adjourned," he said briefly. The little girl ran to him, hope and doubt in her face.

"Does it mean my pa is free, and there isn't anything more about it?"

"Yes, honey," said Billy, taking her hand, "it is all over. You run out into the yard now and play a little while. I want to talk with your pa."

"Thank you," she said, and impulsively she put out her hand and patted his sleeve. For half an hour Billy Houck sat by the table and talked with Buck. When he came out, a group of men still lingered in the courtyard, discussing the case. "Well, Billy," said Todd, as the justice joined them, "now that you've turned him loose, what are we goin' to do with Buck?"

Billy squinted his left eye thoughtfully. "Rent him a piece of land that he can make a living on, and treat him like a white man." There was a moment of silence, broken by Windy Jim. "Yes, sir, I reckon if that runt could once just get a start, that girl would raise him up and make a man of him yet."

"You bet," assented Jess Owens heartily.

"I reckon," said Billy, "I can furnish the land." Just then Powell came slowly out of the courthouse and stood near the door a moment, undecided. Then with a great effort he approached the group of men and held out his hand to Jess Owens timidly. Jess took it instantly with a hearty grip as he said: "I reckon Buck, if you want to put in some wheat this fall you can use that bay team of mine for a few weeks. I haven't any use for them just now." Buck turned quickly away and drew his sleeve across his eyes. Bess, who had seen and heard, ran to her father quickly, put her hand through his arm, and said over her shoulder: "Thank you, Mr. Owens; he'll take it."

MISSOURI GIRL IS LONDON SENSATION

FELICE LYNE.

Felice Lyne, a little American girl from Missouri, has created a sensation in the city which first acclaimed Tetrazzini as a great artist. London critics hail her as a "pearl beyond price," and compare her with the greatest sopranos of past generations. She is a slender little woman, weighing only 98 pounds, and with a girlish demeanor which is unusual on the operatic stage. She sang in New York in light opera last year, but created no sensation there. After her London triumph, however, she will undoubtedly be heard on the American stage in more serious work. She is a daughter of Dr. Sanford T. Lyne, now of Allentown, Pa.

The Art of Silence

By FRANCES WILEY.

It is to be regretted that among the dozen and one unnecessary things which the modern girl is taught, some deep-thinking person has not added to the list that most necessary thing for a girl to learn—the art of silence.

Silence is a tremendous power in this day of talkative women. Besides, it is infinitely nicer to have some depths which every passing acquaintance has not sounded. The girl who confides to you the story of her past flirtations and the secret hope her heart is set upon the second day of your acquaintance will soon bore you, if she does not actually disgust you.

There is no subject in the world that cannot be discussed with propriety with the right person and under the right conditions. But few girls seem to possess the eye of discrimination for these two facts. On the contrary, they frequently seem rather to pride themselves on discussing the wrong subject with the wrong person.

THE FASHIONABLE FACE.

Lady's Pictorial: The "delicate oval" which novelists once insisted upon as the ideal facial line for their heroines appears to be gathered among women's lost charms. The "line" of face most in evidence at the present moment is said to be perilously near the type of feminine beauty disrespectful persons call "moon faced."

Yet circular countenances do not really predominate. According to phrenologists, the chin of the model girl is usually well pointed, while her brow has expanded.

THE PUMPKIN PIE.

Chicago Post: It is hard to realize that there are thousands of people living today who never tasted real pumpkin pie, and who never will taste it.

If they were to be given a slice of the genuine variety they would turn up their noses at it.

Some of them have been fed nothing but the pumpkin pie of commerce. This is made by stewing up some anaemic squash, then adding some cinnamon to flavor it and some ginger to conceal the taste of the cinnamon and some sugar to soften the taste of the ginger. It is poured into a crust and baked. Sometimes they put meringue on top! This should be made a penal offense, without parole or pardon.

Others have been brought up on pie made from the squash pumpkin. The interior of this is a tint that is aptly described as "yaller." It bears no more resemblance to the real, old-fashioned pumpkin than brass does to gold.

There is, though, a faithful little band which clings to the old traditions. With them pumpkin pie is made of the genuine pumpkin. Such pie is a blessing to the meal and a benefit to the man.

But the time will come when only antiquarians will know what real pumpkin pie is. We shall not be surprised if within a few years someone puts a top crust on it.

An insane asylum in Jerusalem is one of the latest philanthropic conceptions. The father of this Christian movement is the Rev. J. Berendt, who is now pastor of a similar institution in Berlin.

First Woman Deputy Named By Sheriff of New York

MRS. JOHN SHERWIN CROSBY.

Sheriff Julius Harburger of New York has appointed three women to be special deputies. Harburger came into office on Jan 1, and immediately announced that he wanted to appoint some women deputies for special work. When this became generally known, there was a wild rush to the sheriff's office. Many well-known women were mentioned as possible appointees. The first appointed was Mrs. John Sherwin Crosby. She is president of the Women's Democratic club and worked hard for Mr. Harburger's election.

S.S.S. NATURE'S CURE FOR RHEUMATISM

The conditions and causes which produce Rheumatism all suggest a healthful vegetable remedy as the surest and safest cure. The disease is brought about by the accumulation of uric acid, an irritating, pain-producing property in the blood. This causes a weakening and souring of the circulation which then becomes unfit for nourishing the body, while the deposits of uric acid in the nerves, muscles, joints and bones produce the pain and agony of Rheumatism. To treat the trouble with medicines containing potash or other strong minerals, is simply adding another poison to the already weak, diseased blood, sapping it of its remaining vitality, and perhaps in the end making a physical wreck of the sufferer. The one safe and only cure for Rheumatism is S. S. S. It is nature's remedy for this disease, made entirely from healthful vegetable ingredients extracted from the roots, herbs and barks of the forest and fields. S. S. S. goes down into the blood and removes every trace of the cause of Rheumatism, cleanses and purifies the circulation, and restores health and comfort to those who are suffering from this painful disease. There is but one way to be sure you are not dosing your system with mineral medicines, and that is to take S. S. S. Book on Rheumatism and any medical advice free.

HOW LEW FIELDS BEGAN.

Chicago Record-Herald: Lew Fields was telling how he entered the theatrical world:

"Weber and I went together to the Allen Street school in New York. We were little kids from the East side and pals from the moment we laid eyes on each other. Fooling around doing 'stunts' as boys will, you know, we discovered that we could sing a little and that we could dance in a manner that made the other kids howl with delight. So we decided to make them pay for their fun.

"We opened a theater in a cellar and charged an admission fee of 2 cents."

"And postage stamps," said the visitor. He heard and smiled.

"Yes," he said, "we took those in lieu of money sometimes, and with them sent out announcements of what we could do—or thought we could do—to various powers that were. We heard from one of them, Binnell. Ever hear of him?"

"He was an old circus man. The P. T. Barnum of thirty-three years ago. He had a sort of variety house and he made us an offer. We took him up before he had time to clear his throat—and made good.

"After that, of course, nothing would do but for us to stay on the stage. So we did vaudeville for years and gradually worked up. Then we started the Weber & Fields house and made a big success with it. That, in a nutshell, is the story of my career." He smiled his darling smile.

"How do you like producing and managing and that sort of thing?"

"Love it. It's hard work, but it pays."

"But," the listener broke in, 'don't you find that you have enough to do without acting yourself? I should think you would give that up and confine yourself to the other end of the game." He leaned forward.

"I'll tell you why," he said. "I act because I have to. There is always something I want to do myself. Not that I think I can do it better than anybody else but because I happen to do it to suit myself and like to do it. I love the stage, I tell you," he added whimsically. "I love to act. I love to have people laugh at me. So why can't I do what I love to do? Answer me that."

Thomas William Burgess, who recently swam the English channel, being the first man to accomplish that feat since Capt. Webb's performance in 1857, is a naturalized Frenchman. However, he was born in Rothersham, Yorkshire, England.

I WANT TO GIVE AWAY THOUSANDS OF 10-DAY TREATMENTS FREE

TO RELIEVE THE SUFFERINGS OF HUMANITY

DR. ABBOTT

I want every man or woman reader of this paper who suffers to write me and get this wonderful TEN DAY TREATMENT of mine FREE.

It is not an experimental distribution of medicine, such as have been made before, that I am offering you. It is not a sample of a medicine or a proof, but a bonafide ten-day treatment that has cured a great many people and should cure you. And it is absolutely free to you. There is no money to pay. I even pay postage and all charges. I just want to relieve thousands of sufferers in return for the success that my thirty-two years of labor in the medical profession have brought me.

If you have rheumatism, backache, kidney or bladder troubles, chronic catarrh, or any of the other Uric-Acid complaints, such as often are female weakness and so-called male nervous debility, write to me, filling out the little coupon herewith attached and I will send you at once a full Ten-Day Treatment, as thousands of earnest testimonials I have in my possession will prove to you.

There is too much sickness in the world and it is mostly due to neglect. Long treatments, expensive, courses of medicine, with their consequent expense, are no longer necessary. I can and do cure with these Ten-Day Treatments and I want to give thousands of sufferers a chance to profit by my discovery at my expense. It costs you nothing, now nor at any time.

Don't Send Me Any Money

not even postage—I will pay all expenses. But if you value happiness, success, a healthy mind in a healthy body. Don't waste any time but fill out this coupon and mail it to me. Remember it is FREE. You will owe me nothing now nor later.

MY TEN DAY TREATMENT POSITIVELY CUSES BACKACHE FREE!

Are you racked with pain?

Do you suffer so that your daily work is a torture instead of being a pleasure?

Have you lost ambition, zest, enterprise, the desire to better yourself because of pains, aches, dullness?

Has rheumatism set its clutches on your muscles and palsied your limbs so that life is hardly worth living, your days a horror and your nights a terror?

I can relieve your sufferings and I want to do it now. Write to me. Fill out the coupon and mail it to me. That is all you need to do. I will do the rest and it will cost you absolutely nothing.

Rheumatisin, backache, kidney troubles, bladder troubles, chronic catarrh, female weakness and so-called weakness of men are generally due to one cause—uric acid poisoning. My treatment, which is different from all others, will dispel your pains; it will make life worth living. Take it and you will get up in the morning after a sound night's sleep, refreshed and invigorated. Once more your muscles will respond to your will and do so readily without twinges of agony, without reluctance. Your backache will vanish and you will bless me and thank me as have done thousands of others.

This treatment is not an experiment. It does not contain drugs that injure you while giving temporary relief. We have vouched for it according to law.

I am not offering to send you a sample but a full ten days' course of treatment with full instructions as to how to use it and all of it is absolutely free to you.

I want to convince you that it is your duty to yourself and to those who love you and are dependent on you to try this free 10 day treatment of mine.

No man tortured with uric acid complaints is fit for the battle of life. He cannot bring his brain nor his hands to work properly when his body is racked with pain. No woman can care for her home, bring up her children right or work if she is cross, miserable, distracted by suffering. The struggle is too keen, competition too merciless, the fight for success too strenuous to be handicapped by physical ills. To the man or woman who suffers I want to bring relief, comfort, happiness, success. Fill out the coupon attached here and mail to me. Don't wait until tomorrow, tomorrow never comes, do it at once. With my Ten-Day Treatment, I will also send my book on Uric Acid Diseases. It is a pamphlet full of the results of an experience of thirty-two years, during which I have specialized in uric acid complaints. It contains also a few of the tens of thousands of testimonial letters from preachers, lawyers, men and women of affairs the country over who have not hesitated to say just how much I have benefitted them.

DR. G. B. ABBOTT

P. S.—Perhaps you have a friend who is a sufferer. Don't hesitate to have him or her fill out this coupon or write me a letter, or you do it for your friend. They will call you blessed.

STATE FAIR MEN MEET

Fight Over Proposal to Change Exhibit Date Is Possible.

Minority Report on Proposition May Be Made to Delegates.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—Less than fifty delegates to the annual meeting of the Minnesota State Agricultural society were present when the session opened this morning under the auspices of the Minnesota Field Crop Breeders' association. None of the insurgents appeared until late, and then only to keep tab on the resolutions and credentials committees, which were in session all morning.

John H. O'Neall of Park Rapids, member of the resolutions committee from the Sixth district, is making the fight for Northern Minnesota to secure later dates for the state fair. Both the resolutions and credentials committees contain one delegate from each district. If the resolutions committee reports favorably on the proposition of changing the dates, a minority report will be presented and the fight carried to the floor.

Committee on Resolutions.

The members of the resolutions committee are: First district, J. R. Moreley; Second, F. M. Pain; Third, E. E. Miller; Fourth, C. M. Johnson; Fifth, F. M. Libby; Sixth, J. H. O'Neal; Seventh, Frank Millard; Eighth, L. B. Arnold; Ninth, Carl Gammitz.

The credentials committee is composed of: First district, W. A. Nolan; Second, C. T. Crowley; Third, John Farrell; Fourth, C. A. Wilkinson; Fifth, J. W. More; Sixth, A. Kostousky; Seventh, L. M. Landing; Eighth, August Stoneburg; Ninth, Edward Cameron.

Both committees will report at 1:30 p. m. tomorrow when general business is in order.

C. W. Glotfelter said today that his position in the controversy had been misunderstood. He stands for a free and open discussion, but feels that it is unfair to advance general business and election of officers from Friday afternoon to tomorrow afternoon.

"There will not be a representative gathering of delegates until Friday," he said. "I can see the move behind the motion to advance general business. It is clear to all who know the conditions."

Mr. Glotfelter referred to the probable candidacy of J. J. Furlong of Austin for the presidency.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

At the regular monthly meeting of the senior class this afternoon President Mars requested all the members to have their photographs taken for the Zenith.

* * *

The Junto Literary society will present a short dramatic and musical program at its regular meeting tomorrow afternoon.

* * *

Instead of holding the regular rehearsal this afternoon as was first announced, the orchestra will meet Friday afternoon.

* * *

The members of the Zenith board will hold a fudge party the first part of next week.

* * *

Girls of the sophomore and senior basketball teams will hold their regular practice games Thursday afternoon instead of Wednesday as was announced before the holidays.

WHAT DID TEDDY SAYS?

Reports as to His Talk About Presidency Differ.

New York, Jan. 10.—Just what did Col. Roosevelt say as to his possible candidacy for the presidency in his speech at the Abline club last night? This is a question that is vexing a good many New Yorkers today. Reporters were barred from the gathering at the colonel's request, and the accounts of his speech given today by those who heard him were evidently at variance.

The first man to leave the club quoted Col. Roosevelt as saying: "I am not a candidate for the presidency, but if nominated, I will run."

The next man out declared Roosevelt had said:

"I am not a candidate. I will not be a candidate. I do not want to be a candidate."

Another man declared that all the colonel said was:

"I am the most misrepresented man in America."

LORIMER ON STAND.

Senator Tells Committee About Politics in Illinois.

Washington, Jan. 10.—Senator Lorimer of Illinois continued his testimony today before the senate committee which is investigating charges of bribery in connection with his election. He told of political conditions in Illinois in 1908 and 1909, evidently to indicate that there was a movement of a faction of the Republicans to prevent the re-election of Former Senator Hopkins and that Governor Deneen was favorable to it.

NO STATE ACTION ON ANDERSON'S DEATH.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—No action will be taken by the executive department of the state relative to the alleged prize fight at Spooner on New Year's night, in which Andrew L. Anderson, one of the principals, is said to have received injuries which caused his death.

FARGO BOY TO ROW WITH OXFORD CREW.

Fargo, N. D., Jan. 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—Hubert K. Beard, son of Rev. R. A. Beard, pastor of the First Congregational church of Fargo, will make one of the Oxford crew in the famous eight-oared race between Cambridge and Oxford this year. He is a Rhodes scholar. The news that he had been made a member of the crew was received here today.

CLOQUET HOME BURNED.

Cloquet, Minn., Jan. 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—The home of Fred Gustafsen was totally destroyed by fire Monday night, the family escaping with only the clothes they had on and barely saving their two children. Mr. and Mrs. Gustafson were awakened by the smoke and found the fire burning close to the bed of the youngest child. It was a bitterly cold night, the thermometer registering 44 deg. below zero.

Wife of Columbia Professor Wants to Accompany Husband in Attempt to Scale Mt. McKinley

MRS. H. C. PARKER AT MOUNT McKINLEY.

Mrs. H. C. Parker, the wife of the well-known professor of Columbia university, is a helpmate in the fullest sense of that term. She went with her husband when he attempted to scale Mount McKinley in 1910, and she will go with him again when he starts for the West if she persuades him to take her. Prof. Parker thinks mountain climbing is a little strenuous for his wife and he is trying to persuade her not to go. Mrs. Parker was Miss Evelyn Naegele, daughter of a well-known New York portrait painter.

TRAFFIC IS DELAYED

Cold Weather Still Plays Havoc With Railroad Schedules.

The Winnipeg Flyer, due in Duluth at 8:30 o'clock this morning, is reported to be seven hours late and up to 3 o'clock this afternoon had not arrived.

Cold weather continues to tie up traffic of all kinds. Freight trains are badly delayed on all of the railroads.

The first morning Chicago train on the Omaha road was three and half hours overdue and the second train one hour and a half late. The South Shore morning train was three hours late, the Gopher of the Great Northern about thirty minutes late.

Northern Pacific and the iron range road trains kept nearly up to schedule.

SHOT AT MAIL BOX.

Is Charge Against Three North Dakota Youths.

Fargo, N. D., Jan. 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—Carl, Mathias, Jr., and Paul Grewer, three young boys of Almont, N. D., alleged to have used a United States mail box for a target for rifle practice, were arrested yesterday by United States Marshal Haggart and taken to Dickinson, where they will be arraigned on the charge of destroying United States property.

MORE DYNAMITE SUBPOENAS.

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 10.—Subpoenas for scores of persons who are believed to know about explosions in Nek York city and in Pennsylvania, Ohio, Illinois, Iowa and other points in the Middle West, were issued today for the federal grand jury's investigation of the dynamite conspiracy.

New disclosures by McManigal, who for three days has been examined here, are said to have mentioned men not heretofore named.

McManigal continued today to go over his confession in detail.

SUN YAT SEN TO HEAD ATTACK UPON PEKIN.

San Francisco, Cal., Jan. 10.—Dr. Sun Yat Sen, president of the new Chinese republic, personally will lead an army of 100,000 men against the Manchus in Pekin, according to a cable message.

Americans Ordered to Sail.

Manila, Jan. 10.—Orders for the First battalion of the Fifteenth infantry to leave for China reached here yesterday and the expedition was prepared immediately with 500 enlisted men and fifteen officers, hospital corps and a machine gun platoon. Brig. Gen. Frederick Funston, commander of the Department of Luzon, took charge of the arrangements.

Livestock Shippers Meet.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 10.—(Special to The Herald.) — The Minnesota Cooperative Livestock shippers held their first annual meeting today in the senate chamber of the capitol. Late June farmers who are heavy shippers of stock formed the association which embraces some twenty-six local co-operative stock shipping associations. J. E. Peterson of Barrett is president.

Confidence in Hines.

Chicago, Jan. 10.—A telegram containing resolutions of confidence was sent to Edward Hines at Washington by the directors of the National Lumber Manufacturers' association.

SAMPLES OF CLERICAL HUMOR

"Holy men have considered humor to have a high place in the ethics of life," says the Ecclesiastical Review, which is only another way of stating the well known fact that most clergymen, of whatever faith, like a joke as well as the next man.

"There was Nicholas Burke, for instance, better known as Father Thomas Burke, the great Irish patriot and preacher. Father Tom had a great fondness for riding on the top of an omnibus. Once when doing so after a long church service in Dublin he produced his breviary and was soon deep in its contents. A well known evangelical sitting near by took upon himself to comment upon the act, says the New York Sun.

"The Lord tells us," he said, "that when we pray we should not be as the hypocrites, who love to pray in public and at the corners of streets, that they may be seen by men." "Now," he added, "when I pray I enter into my closet and when I have shut the door I pray in secret."

Without looking up, Father Burke replied aloud, "Yes, and then you get on the top of an omnibus and tell every one all about it."

This incident recalls an episode in the career of vicar general, afterward cardinal, MacCabe, who disapproved of priests riding on top of a bus as undignified. Having seen Father Dan O'Keefe of St. Paul's traveling outside one of the aforenamed vehicles he addressed to him a brief note: "Dear Keefe, I have seen you on top of a bus! Get on the inside in future."

Father O'Keefe, described as a rough diamond, repilled by return mail: "Dear Cabe, I have often seen you on the top of a horse. Get thee henceforth inside the animal."

Once when Father Burke was going to Cork he met in a crowded railway carriage a man who, repeatedly slipping his hand into an inside pocket of his coat and drawing out a bottle, went on drinking drams, which made the father fear that he might soon become unpleasant company.

The next time the man took out the bottle Father Tom dryly remarked: "Your mother must have died very early, sir?" The man gazed at him in surprise. The priest continued: "It is quite plain you were brought up by the bottle." As all present laughed the man, feeling ashamed, put the bottle by and left I undisturbed.

A convert lady who hoped that he would write her in the style and length of his sermons, inquired of him what she should do to become truly religious. The reply, short and good, was: "Be as humble as a door mat and as pliable as a plate of porridge."

Among the clerical humorists of Ireland Father James Healy stands out prominent. Sir Redvers Buller dined with him on one occasion when the other guests were Archbishop Walsh and eleven priests. Sir Redvers made a slight start when he saw he was the only layman. "Never mind," said father Healy, "the soutane is not worse than the Sudan."

Once Father Healy was asked how he would describe a Scotsman, and in answer, assuming as he spoke the Scots accent, said: "A Scot is a mon wha keeps the Sawbath and everything else that he can git."

Father Healy, a thoroughly temperate man, on one occasion ordered a humorous cabman at Bray, known to indulge in an occasional drop, to call for him after dinner at the house of a friend. On the jarvey's arrival Father Healy was grieved to notice that he was not quite sober. "Drunk again, Peter," muttered the priest. "Well, to tell yer the truth, yer reverence, I'm a little that way myself."

A father once in shaving the father had a very trembling hand. "There now," exclaimed Father Healy, "you have cut me! Oh, whisky, whisky!" He wound up by way of lamenting the source of the barber's unsteadiness.

"Yes, yer reverence," replied the barber promptly, "it do make the skin tender, don't it?"

A good many witty sayings are put down to the credit of the Anglican clergy, too. A workingman once asked Bishop Wilberforce to tell him the road to heaven.

"Take the first turn to the right and keep straight on," was the ready and apt reply.

A Lutheran refrain. "The devil is dead," was once being chanted by two Oxford undergraduates as they lounged about the hall of Cuddesdon palace. Gently walking up to them the bishop placed one hand on each head, saying: "Alas! poor orphans."

Bishop Stubbs had a great objection to the complaints which squires and church wardens brought him about hard working clergy whose ritualistic practices gave offense to the former. On one occasion a layman having described the observance of his vicar added: "Why, my lord, before he begins his sermon he actually kisses his stole." "Well, well, Mr. ——, perhaps that is better than if he stole his kiss."

A clergyman once applied to the bishop for permission to go to the Holy Land for three months. The answer came: "My dear ——, go to Jericho! Yours ever, W. Oxon."

Although reputed a high churchman Bishop Stubbs did not care much for vestments, and when some ladies wished to embroider him a cope he was heard to say he would rather have half a dozen new shirts. One day the organ stopped in the middle of a hymn and the bishop was heard to exclaim: "Blow the organ!"

At the close of the Christmastide service the verger with great solmnity asked, "Have you any further use for the chance, my lord?" "No, take it away and put it in the pudding," said he.

From Canon Beeching comes the following story: "It was the morning after a banquet, and a solicitous friend who had sat beside Bishop Stubbs, happening to meet him, asked if he got home all right. The bishop looked slightly surprised at the question, but at once added, with an apparent gleam of comprehension, 'Oh, yes, it was only my boots that were tight.'"

DOWN TO FINE POINTS.

Los Angeles Times: Claus A. Spreckels was talking in New York about economics in the sugar trade.

"We work very economically," Mr. Spreckels said, "but we haven't got things down to such a fine point as some folks would have you believe. We are not quite so economical, in fact, as the lady with the pet cat.

"A lady who owned a tortoise-shell cat called her grocer up one morning and gave her usual economical order—an order for dried beans, hominy, yesterday's bread and so forth—and she concluded with a request for 1 cent's worth of cat's meat.

"The grocer sighed, for this order would have to be delivered three miles away—but, as he was entering the items in his order book, the lady called him up again.

"'Mr. Sands,' she said, 'oh, Mr. Sands!'

"'Yes, madam?'

"'Mr. Sands, I want to cancel that order for cat's meat. The cat's just caught a bird.'"

One of the results of the revivals in the Boer prison camps during the South African war was the foundation of the Boer missionary institute at Worcester, South Africa. One hundred and fifty-five young people have been graduated thus far from this institution.

TRADE SCOUTS OF GERMANY.

Into the office of an American in the City of Mexico there marched one morning a fresh faced blond young German of under 30 who presented the card of a famous Hamburg firm of manufacturers, says the New York Sun.

The German youth explained that his house was planning to extend its market in porcelain ware and that he had been sent out to visit Mexico, Central and South America, to report on possibilities, recommend agencies, perhaps suggest branches and find out just what was already being sold in the line. Very modestly but frankly and intelligently he began to ask the American questions. He had already visited such German firms in the city as he thought might be of help to him, but he wanted more information.

It was a fairly busy day with the American, but something about the earnest youth and the way he got at what he wanted to know captivated him. The American finally took him to luncheon at his club and spent altogether over two hours with him, giving the young man cards to several friends.

"I shall be gone over a year, I expect," said the youth. "My time is my own, that is I am not restricted at all. I can stay as short or as long a time as I like in any city or country. All I am held responsible for is the information I send in. It must be very full and accurate and tell the precise conditions in every place I visit. I am not sent out to sell a single mark's worth of goods. That will come later. Other men will handle that."

The American took such a liking to the boy and his mission that he began asking him about himself. This was young Gustav's first trip. He had been with his house twelve years and had been trained up in the office. For the last few years he had been in the export end of the business and had given all his time and thought to these problems, working nights to prepare himself.

"They specialize their men in the big businesses of Germany," said the lad, who spoke English perfectly. "As soon as a boy is taken in he is studied to see what he will be able to do best. For example, I am not of the makeup to be a good salesman. My line is executive work, planning, developing. I have known for a long time that I should make trips like this. So I have been fitting myself. I have studied languages; I can speak English, French and Spanish besides German. I have learned geography thoroughly, especially the parts of the world over which we want to extend our trade. I have studied shipping, too, tariff regulations, trade customs generally and something of the history and characteristics of these nations I am visiting. Of course I have had a thorough drill in business and banking."

"I report by every mail. By the time I get home the firm will have on file enough information to enable it to make a carefully digested plan of how to sell our goods in every country where I have been. You see, I include the special ideas and views of each country as to packing, shipment and quality. It is the knowledge of little things like these that will make certain a very profitable and extended new outlet for us."

The American asked his guest if he had much difficulty in getting information. "Are the men you meet generally kind to you?" he said. "Will they answer you freely and fully? Do you sometimes find that they haven't time and are short and curt? All in all, is it a pleasant job?"

Gustav smiled as he lifted his glass of Rhine wine. "Remember, I have been training myself for this sort of work ever since I was a little over 20. How a man is treated depends on what you call the 'approach.' I have one great advantage. I talk to men on the subject they are most interested in, on the chief topic of their daily life. Of course I must not appear ignorant. I must show myself well versed in the line, except just in that little corner with which they are especially familiar. No, the average man likes being appealed to as an authority, if you make the right sort of an impression on him.

"Naturally, now and then you will come across 'grouches.' I haven't found any yet, and men who have been at this kind of work much longer than I say I will not stumble on many. If I do find them, it doesn't matter. I shall simply pass on to some one else."

The young man was one of the trade scouts of Germany that for several years past now in greater and greater numbers have been doing the preliminary work of building up new trade for the big manufacturers. They form a small army that is scattered today in the Philippines, Brazil, in South and East Africa, in Australia, India and China, and even in the United States and Canada. They are simply sent to spy out the land for future business, and are youths that have the peculiar quality of good judgment and keen observation, combined with a pleasing personality.

The German manufacturer's trade scouts are the simplest, least expensive medium of the first breaking of the ground that could be devised.

They are young fellows of his own office, whom he has had his eye on for several years as having just the qualifications needed to pick up really useful commercial information in distant lands. Once having fixed upon such a lad, the merchant has had to train him, giving him a clear insight into business ways, and particulary his ways, and not a little general knowledge of manufacturing processes as well. The young man has known what he was intended for, and it has aroused all his ambition and skill.

Trade scouting is a prize to the German young man. It gives the fortunate youth thus launched a wide view of the world and it puts him on his mettle. More than that, it proves to him that he stands high in the confidence of his firm. For this trade scout, though he never sells a pfennig worth of his people's product, and is after all simply a ready and voluminous letter writer, really has a post of very large and weighty responsibility. Upon what he says, upon his view of conditions, a trade is built or is not.

The German merchant therefore picks his trade scouts with great care. They are apt to come from families well up in the social scale. The work requires more than anything else a presence and an address that is totally different from what a salesman needs.

The trade scout is before all accurate and far-seeing. To get the right information from men and unhesitatingly to reject the wrong that may have been given him through error or maliciously requires a type of man that a few years later falls into the post of a big executive in the business. The trade scout knows how to handle men. He is of the sort that has known how to do it almost from the cradle.

He and his traveling are not very expensive propositions, considering the vast trade they are likely to bring to the "house." And yet with the German system of making every dollar man earn large dividends, they are costly. The scout is young, he has an assignment that will place him high in commercial circles on his return, all his expenses are paid while he is away. Thus the scout who receives $75 a month salary, something more than 300 marks in German money, a good deal more than here, is well paid. More than one such young man is getting only about two-thirds that. For traveling expenses he will be allowed about 40 marks a day.

The world, but more especially Latin America, Africa and the Far East, is the great field of the trade scouts. Such a settled place as New York does not see them, of course. More than one, however, has been found wandering over the West and up in Canada, for these are lands to be explored by such pioneers and explorers of trade. In addition, they become, as they travel, capital publicity agents and living advertisements for their concern, for the name of the big house they represent always comes to light. That the Zimmermans, for example, have a man out in a country may never be known by the population at large, but the business world in that line quickly hears of it, and the great firm's products become talked about in offices and shops that can be of much value to them.

It might be thought that the smaller manufacturer who has goods to be pushed but no money for such an extended campaign of business exploration as this would be totally distanced and severely handicapped. This is not at all the case, however. Smaller manufacturers in lines that do not conflict combine and choose a young man who will report on the possibilities of all, without favoritism. Large export concerns in Germany wishing to extend their bluisness have been known to send out an investigator of this class and type, charging the cost pro rata upon the concerns that wanted such service.

TIME FOR MEN TO REBEL.

New Haven Register: We are told that the fellows who make the fashions in men's hats, who would be found in the last analysis not so far removed from the men who make the hats, have decreed that the low-crowned stiff hat shall be in fashion this year. This must mean that that abomination of abominations, the stunted, half-grown derby, which makes any man look like a fool, will presently be for sale.

Now, then, you gentlemen who have so readily ranted about the slavery of women to the despot fashion, what do you purpose to do about it? Some of you will buy those things. The fashion makers and the hat makers know you. You will rebel for the moment, it may be, but you will follow like sheep through a bramble pasture. Verily, as said the prophet Shakespeare, "what fools these mortals be."

There are real men, and such an occasion as this is the time for them to make their presence and their manhood known. That the man who buys the hat and has to wear the hat has a right to say what that hat shall be there can be no question. That he will assert his independence by refusing to buy the fat pancake with a brim, which a low-crowned stiff hat is, there is considerable reason to doubt. There are many who will find a way around by electing some other manner of hat that looks well on them, but they will be so inconspicuous, as really well-dressed men always are, that they will not alarm the tyrants who make fashions.

DAMAGE WAS OVERSTATED

Bad Argentine Weather Reports Seem to Have Bulled Wheat Unduly.

Duluth Brokers Assume Bearish Attitude to Both Wheat and Flax.

Duluth Board of Trade, Jan. 10.—A feeling that too much credence has been given to reports of damage to the Argentine crops by storms had much to do with causing bearish movements in both wheat and flax on the Duluth board today. Moreover, today's weather reports from that country were favorable to lower prices and Buenos Ayres quotations told the same story. Duluth May wheat closed ⅜c to ½c off, and July ⅝c to ½c off. Cash wheat closed at the May price to ½c under. Durum advanced ⅜c. January flax closed 1¾c off and May 3c off.

That reports on Argentine crop damage had been overdone and that it was time to discount such news, in establishing prices for both wheat and flax, seemed to be the general opinion on the Duluth Stock Exchange today. The bears had the better of it in both the wheat and flax movements. Moreover, the latest reports from Argentine were themselves of a bearish character and the quotations from Buenos Ayres pointed in the same direction.

Liverpool wheat sagged in the light of the bearish news from Argentina, freer Platte shipments and a less active demand from the continent. The close was ⅝@1d lower. The primary receipts of the United States were big compared with last year, but no lower than those of a year ago, but considerably greater than those of a week ago. The car arrivals at Winnipeg were still large in comparison with those of last year. These facts, taken in conjunction with the recent large increase in the world's visible supply, beat down the price of wheat steadily on the North American markets this morning. Duluth May, which closed yesterday at $1.06¼, opened today at the same figure asked, but by noon was selling at $1.05⅝, and there were bearish wires at that time from Winnipeg, Minneapolis and Chicago.

Weak Flax Situation.

Nearly all the visible factors operating on the flax seed markets during the morning were bearish. Cables of fine weather in Argentina, lower quotations from Buenos Ayres, a slack domestic demand and country offerings that were surprisingly liberal for this time of the year all tended to put the market down. The demand for linseed oil is poor and by no means what it should be at this time of the year. This is because the paint market is very dull. The demand for paint is smaller than it has been at this time of the year for several years. Winnipeg has of late been making some low cash sales of flaxseed, and these have attracted American buyers, and if strong enough to impair the demand on the American flaxseed markets. At noon today, Duluth January flax seed was ½ cents down and May was 2 cents down.

FLAXSEED SITUATION

Review of Conditions in American and Argentine Markets.

Much Depends on Weather Conditions in South American Republic.

Traders are "up in the air" regarding the flaxseed markets on account of the bullish situation and rapid advance in prices in the Argentine republic as compared with slower upturn in the American markets. Argentine flax prices have bulged to such an extent that American cushers are unable to purchase at Buenos Ayres and the chief buying power in the last few days has come from the local short interest. Just how large this short interest is, must be set down as questionable until the Argentine January deal is out of the way.

The buying in January has been in excess of trading in the Buenos Ayres February delivery and at one time the January sold at 1sc over the February. This evidence of a badly congested condition in the Argentine market was in line with crop reports from that country. The crop gave a favorable promise early in the season, and the Argentine short interest increased at a rapid rate. Argentine buyers sold heavily to American crushers and in a small quantity, comparatively, to European buyers. The latter were not so eager for Argentine seed as the Americans as they were not as bullish on the world's situation as United States buyers. When it became apparent that the Argentine crop would show a great shrinkage prices began to leap forward and the upturn swung the Buenos Ayres situation out of line with other markets when it became evident that the Argentine seller would be unable to deliver only a small percentage of his sales, not only on account of a short crop, but because of unfavorable weather conditions and a general railway strike.

Heavy Short Interest.

This short interest has not been retired. This is clearly evident from the comparative movements of prices at Buenos Ayres and Plata seed at Antwerp. The latter market has at times sold under the Argentine market. This singular condition of values, wherein the foreign market is under the home market, was caused directly by the large local short interest in the Buenos Ayres pit which induced a congested condition. This as compared with a more normal situation for Plata seed at Antwerp. One day this week Antwerp declined nearly 3c while Buenos Ayres was unchanged. The following day witnessed an advance at Buenos Ayres and an unchanged market at Antwerp. The Duluth market broke two days in succession but the Argentine markets refused to follow.

These conditions lead one to believe that there is very little if any evidence of weakness in the Argentine situation. The crop is reaching a point where rains would destroy a large quantity of the flax now on the ground and exposed to the elements. The percentage of this sort of flax is so large that it was the primary reason why Argentine sellers were willing to deliver and were compelled to buy back their offerings. They had not sold enough flax to foreigners to make it impossible for them to have made delivery on all of their sales for January-February shipment even in the face of a greatly curtailed crop. The sole reason that the short covering movement started as early as it did can be found in climatic conditions in the Argentine.

This situation has not been materially changed. It still exists. The flax is still in the open. It has already been greatly damaged. It is for the trade to say whether or not this damage has been fully discounted. If it has then there is present for consideration the problem as to possible further damage from unfavorable weather conditions. With this possibility hanging over the market the situation does not look favorable for the Argentine shorts of whom there is a legion.

American Markets.

The effect of high Argentine prices on the American markets was not as bullish as might have been expected on account of the heavy marketings of flax up to and following the close of navigation. The question then arises, have the American markets fully discounted the Argentine situation? While the Argentine markets were advancing about 60c a bu the Duluth market crept forward about 25c. It then fell back and the Argentine markets are still so high that the buying power is coming chiefly from the Argentine shorts as American or European crushers cannot purchase Argentine seed and lay it down at their home markets at a price that at times has been 10c to 25c in favor of American seed even after freight and import duties has been paid.

It is a well known fact that some crushers, both Eastern and Western, have not been buying in American markets except to fill current requirements. They must come into the market in the near future. Accentuating this phase of the situation is the selling of Argentine holdings by some American crushers who undoubtedly will have replenished their needs in American markets. The profit-taking of these American longs has been heavy and they can afford to come into American markets without being too particular about pushing prices upward. They will have a large margin between present prices and the top price at which they can replenish their needs in American markets and still maintain a profit from their Argentine operations.

Country Long May.

The local January delivery has been heavily bought but is closely held and when crushers needing seed even for current requirements are forced into the market they may find it more bare of offerings than they anticipate. The country is heavily long the May option and the country is bullish. It is a well known axiom among traders that the country will sell when prices are weak, but that it will "sit tight" when the situation is strong. Most crushers have bought very little flax for May delivery and those holders of January who desire to pass into the May have experienced some difficulty in making exchange at prevailing quotations as there has been very little May offered.

This condition leads the observer to the consideration of the Canadian and American crops. Estimates of the crops in these two countries differ widely but it seems a generally accepted theory that nearly all of the available American flax has been marketed. The primary offerings look big compared with last year they do not make an impressive showing compared with the markettings of other years even when the receipts are not much larger than that of this year. A large percentage of the American crop and a still greater percentage of the Canadian crop are frozen under the snow. Nobody knows just how large portions of the two crops will thrash out. There is little in past experience to indicate what percentage may be saved for commercial seed.

To a less extent this condition prevailed once a few years ago and it was the experience of farmers then that they were unable to save much of their seed. Their wet and frozen flax became bin burnt or moldy or large part of it rotted. There is no doubt that a large percentage of the American and Canadian flax crops under the snow will never be sent to market. What percentage this will be is up to the chronic guesser. Not even the best informed people will hazard a guess.

Experience thus far this season shows that about one-half and some times more, of the daily arrivals are off-grade seed. Yet the poorest flax has not been thrashed. The farmer usually markets his good stuff first this year he is marketing everything because he needs the money after two successive years of crop failures. The poorest flax is under the snow. Much of it is even uncut. The rest is in windrows. Some flax was stacked while wet or frozen. A large percentage of it probably will rot in the stack. This will be especially true if there is about two thawing and freezing weather in the spring.

Spring Weather a Factor.

The outcome of the crop under the snow will be determined by the spring weather. If rains come early and interfere with the farmers while they are trying to dry and thrash their flax the losses will be exceedingly heavy. Even if the weather is favorable the losses will be large.

With this condition in view many crushers are not inclined to be bearish even at present prices because they recognize that when they come into the market to fill their requirements from offerings for May and July delivery there will be nothing but curtailed shipments of exceedingly poor seed for them to buy. This attitude has been one of the reasons why the market has absorbed with very little the shock the comparatively large offerings of seed within the present month.

Oil buyers have not manifested an eagerness to take hold. They have not been fully informed of the real condition of the shrinkage portion of the American and Canadian crops and they have believed that the Argentine market was speculatively strong and that it was only a question of time until the bottom fell out. Now many are beginning to hold a nervous attitude toward the oil market. When they come into it they will force the crushers to become heavier purchasers of seed and the crushers will face a condition already described.

The Indian market showed some signs of weakening this week but the decline was not followed by the Argentine market which is oblivious to the movements of foreign prices. The London manipulators of the Indian situation probably forced the downturn in Indian prices to attract European buyers to Indian oil and seed on the eve of the period when Indian prices become factors in the world's markets.

CHICAGO MARKET.

Wheat Prices Decline on Argentine Weather and Movements.

Chicago, Jan. 10.—With offerings reported at Liverpool to be coming more freely from Argentine shippers, and with the weather in North Argentina favorable for the movement of the crop, which prices in this city today showed a material decline. Furthermore, the thrashing returns in the provinces of Cordoba and Santa Fe were said to be improving to a greater extent than had been looked for. Opening prices were ⅛c to ¼@⅜c down. May started at $1.00 to $1.00⅛@1.00¼, the same change from last night as the market taken altogether. A drop to 99¾c followed.

Subsequently a rally resulted owing to the interstate commerce commission's refusal to permit lowering of railroad rates from the Canadian Northwest. The close was firm with May $1.00¼@1.00⅜, a loss of a shade from last night.

Corn sank with wheat. The selling, however, was mostly of a scattered sort. May opened ⅛@¼c to ⅜c off at 64⅜c to 64⅜@64½c, touched 64½c and then descended to 64¼@64⅜c.

The fact that the severe cold has kept shelling and hauling at a minimum, brought about later a steady feeling. The close was firm at 64¾c for May, a net gain of ⅛c.

The bit crowd took the bear side of oats. May started a shade to ⅛@¼c lower at 48¾@48⅞c to 47⅞@49c, and sagged to 48¾c.

Provisions made only a modest decline in view of a sharp break in the hog market. There was but little selling pressure. First transactions were a shade to 5c down, with May delivery $16,07½ for pork, $9.47½ for lard, and $8.70 for ribs.

Car lot receipts: Wheat 10 cars, with 3 of contract grade; corn, 463 cars with none of contract grade; oats 82 cars. Total receipts of wheat at Chicago, Minneapolis and Duluth today were 136 cars, compared with 190 cars last week and 231 cars the corresponding day a year ago.

MINNEAPOLIS MARKET.

Wheat Is Easier in Keeping With Outside Market Reports.

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 10.—Wheat easier on lack of support or weakness in outside markets. Trading light and of professional character. May closed ¼c lower than yesterday and July ⅜@½c lower. Local elevator stocks decreased 275,000 bu for four days. Carlot wheat receipts follow: Minneapolis today, 114; week ago, 126; year ago, 166. Duluth today, 12; week ago, 36; year ago, 39. Winnipeg today, 148; week ago, 305; year ago, 21. Cash wheat was in only fair demand today and the market was easier. Bulk No. 1 northern sold for even May price. Millers were indifferent buyers and many were not in market. Elevators began to buy. Millstuffs—Shipments, 2,108 tons. Demand good for bran at advanced prices. Other grades in fair demand. Mills reported heavy sales.

Wheat: May opened $1.06⅝ to $1.06½, high, $1.06⅜@1.06⅞, low $1.06⅛, closed $1.06⅜. July, opened $1.07⅛, closed $1.07⅝@1.07¾, low $1.07⅛, closed $1.07⅝.

Closing cash: No. 1 hard, $1.07¾; No. 1 northern $1.06⅝@1.07¼; to arrive, $1.06¾@1.07; No. 2 northern, $1.04¾@1.05¼; to arrive $1.04¾@1.05¼; No. 3 wheat, $1.02¾@1.03¾.

No. 3 yellow corn, 60c; No. 3 white oats, 46@46½c; No. 2 rye, 91c.

Bran — In 100-pound sacks, $23.50@23.75.

Flour — Prices lowered on account of decline in wheat. Demand generally slow with only two mills reporting even fair sales. Shipping directions moderate. Shipments, 49,037 bbl. First patents, $5.20@5.50; second patents, $4.80@5.10; first clears, $3.60@3.95; second clears, $2.50@2.90.

Flax—Receipts, 6 cars, year ago 2; shipments, 6. Fair demand for flax. Quoted spot even Duluth January price and to arrive 1c lower. Closing price, $2.14½; to arrive, $2.13½.

Barley—Receipts, 20 cars, year ago 26; shipments, 23. Excellent demand for choice malting and slow for feeding grades. Prices unchanged; closing range, 85c@$1.30.

BOSTON COPPER STOCKS

The Boston stock quotations furnished by Gay & Sturgis, 326 West Superior street.

Boston, Mass., Jan. 10.—Dealings were professional today and prices rallied under short coverings. It was evident that the break of yesterday was a drive and it brought about the selling of any consequence this morning. The current news outside of railway earnings was good. Unfilled orders on the Steel corporation books increased nearly 25 per cent. There isn't anything wrong with the market except that prospective buyers fear Washington. We notice a constant daily increase in inquiries and interest in the market and it seems difficult to see any reason except political happenings to prevent this interest becoming a general and active participation in a bull market. Local activity was confined largely to cheap stocks.

London Stocks.

London, Jan. 10. — American securities opened steady and about unchanged today. During the first hour prices advanced on light covering. At noon the market was steady and from ⅛ to ¾ higher than yesterday's New York closing.

STRENGTH IN STOCKS

Prices Bid Up Vigorously By the Bulls on Limited Supply.

Large Increase in Unfilled Orders of the Steel Corporation.

New York, Jan. 10. — A better tone prevailed today when trading in stocks was begun. Several issues made sharp recoveries after the period of weakness late yesterday. Lehigh Valley moved up 1¼ and Canadian Pacific a point. Almost all of the active issues, with the exception of United States Steel and Northern Pacific, made gains. United States Steel yielded fractionally on an opening sale of 5,000 shares. Rock Island preferred and New York, Ontario & Western lost a point.

Trading became generally strong soon after the opening, a rise of 2 points in Lehigh Valley stimulating short covering in other issues. Railroad stocks were in keen demand, and there was also a rather large absorption of United States Steel and certain specialties. Union Pacific preferred rose a point. Realizing sales checked the rise afterwards and speculation became dull at fractional recessions.

The uneasiness which was displayed in the stock market yesterday seemed to have been dissipated over night with the result that there was a reaction toward a higher level of prices during the morning. Action of the governors of the stock exchange permitting the indefinite postponement of delieveries of securities tied up by the Equitable fire enabled the traders to proceed with more confidence. Bear operators covered extensively at the opening and their operations were a decided factor in raising prices. When the demand from this source was satisfied the market became dull. Bull operations were resumed in some of the speculative issues.

When Union Pacific had receded nearly to yesterday's closing, buying orders were distributed again and it moved up gradually until it reached 167 3-8, a higher level than before. Buying by both accounts also became more general in the remainder of the list and prices hardened. United States Steel touching 66½. Bonds were steady.

Aside from a brief spurt of activity around noon in United States Steel, when some large blocks of stock were dealt in, the announcement of the increase of 924,806 tons in unfilled orders was without effect. This showing was just about double the estimated gain. Operations in other stocks were on a much reduced scale and fluctuations were unimportant.

The market closed strong. Only a limited supply of stocks was available for covering purposes when the shorts began their customary evening-up process toward the close of the day. The bulls took advantage of this condition to bid up prices vigorously, and in addition there were investment purchases of some of the high-grade specialties, which contributed to the discomfiture of the bears. Union Pacifics rise reached 2⅜, and that of Reading 1⅝. United States Steel touched 67½ and advances of a point or more were made by St. Paul, Chesapeake & Ohio and the copper stocks. General Electric bounded up over 3 points and there was a rise of 2½ in Westinghouse Electric on the announcement of the appointment of a new chairman of the board.

JAIL PLANS APPROVED

Conditions in City "Bull Pen" Will Be Remedied at Once.

Separate Quarters Will Be Provided for Lodgers in Basement.

The state board of control will approve the plans for remodeling the city jail on the less costly basis, which does not require the addition of a third story.

The statement is made by Vernon J. Price, the architect who has been engaged by the city to prepare the plans and specifications. He says that he has received a letter from the state board telling him that he may go ahead with the work.

This will be welcome news to the city officials who have been interested in the proposed changes to be made at headquarters, and particularly to the police authorities, upon whom the present conditions impose the greatest hardship, if the discomforts of the prisoners and lodgers are not taken into consideration.

The changes will provide accommodations for the prisoners in the big room on the Michigan street floor. This will be completely remodeled, quarters being prepared in the rear for the use of the automobiles, while the front will be used for the men who nightly come to the station for shelter. New cells will be placed in the big jail, or "bull pen," and the window space will be doubled on the Michigan street end. Some changes will also be made on the top floor, but these will not be nearly as extensive as those on the two lower floors.

The last few years the conditions in the bull pen have been almost intolerable in the winter months. The men who have applied for a place to sleep have had to be placed among the prisoners. This has not only caused a great deal of trouble when the time has come to turn the lodgers out in the morning, but has been decidedly insanitary. The health officials have complained that men sleeping under such conditions will not only transmit disease from one to another, but will also be disease carriers, the germs remaining in their clothing and endangering the health of those with whom they are liable to come into contact.

When the plans have been officially approved, which ought to be very shortly, according to Architect Price, no time will be lost in getting the improvements under way. Bids will be advertised for at the earliest possible moment and the work started as soon as the contracts can be let. It is estimated that the improvements will cost about $10,000, or about half of what would have been the cost of adding a third story.

No Exception.

The season's best styles of hats are included in the sale tomorrow.

ALVAH EASTMAN OUT FOR OFFICE

St. Cloud Editor Wants to Be Congressman-at-Large.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—Alvah Eastman, editor of the St. Cloud Journal-Press, today announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination for congressman-at-large.

FORGAN TALK POSTPONED

The meeting at which David R. Forgan is to address Duluth business men on monetary reform has been postponed for two weeks. It was to have been held tomorrow night.

Mr. Forgan notified the Commercial club today that his wife is ill and he would be unable to come to Duluth tomorrow. He promised to come in two weeks.

The two weeks will be devoted to working up interest in the meeting. The subject is one of prime importance to business men, and those who are working with the Citizens' league of Minnesota are anxious that every Duluth business man hear Mr. Forgan. The Citizens' league, it is claimed, is not working for any particular plan or the plan of any individual. It has set down the desired changes in the monetary system and is working to bring them about.

RAILROAD SUED FOR FIRE DAMAGE

The case of Simon Salo against the Duluth & Iron Range Railroad company for $4,800 damages was begun this morning before Judge Dibell of the district court.

Salo claims that as the result of negligence on the part of the company, valuable timber on 120 acres of ground owned by him was destroyed. The complaint states that the company was negligent in that dry combustible matter was allowed to accumulate along the tracks. Sparks from the engines started the fire, which spread from the railroad track to the timber owned by Salo, he claims. The fire took place in June, 1910, a season of unusual drought, it is claimed.

ACCUSED MURDERER TO PLEAD SELF DEFENSE.

Brainerd, Minn., Jan. 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—The case against David Deloney, the Chippewa Indian accused of murdering his brother, Mike Deloney, will be taken up in district court today. It is said David will plead self-defense, claiming that the two brothers had a quarrel over a woman who was staying at the home of David and that the two brothers then went outside the house to fight it out.

THREE EX-CONGRESSMEN.

Federal Court Has Two of Former Law Makers in Attendance.

Three ex-congressmen are in Duluth attending the January term of the United States district court.

They are: Judge Page Morris, who is holding court; Hon. C. B. Buckman of Little Falls, Minn., and Hon. D. S. Hall of Olivia, Minn.

Judge Morris served in congress from 1896 to 1902; Mr. Buckman, now deputy United States marshal, served in congress between 1902 and 1904, and Mr. Hall, one of the petit jurors, was in congress during 1889-91. He is also a former state senator.

C. N. PARKER'S ESTATE.

Brainerd Man Left About Quarter of Million to Relatives.

Brainerd, Minn., Jan. 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—The will of the late C. E. Parker, the foundryman long associated with H. W. Topping, president of the St. Paul park board, was filed for probate this morning. He left $215,857 in personal property and $9,133 in real estate in this state, to be divided equally among his son, Fred S. Parker, the latter's wife, Hattie M. Parker, and four grandchildren, Ethel, Irma, Ruth and Clyde Parker.

The executors are his son, Fred and his granddaughter, Ethel Parker. The total property involved will not be known until an inventory is filed.

DOMINATION OF THE STEEL TRADE BY THE TRUST IS ADMITTED

Carnegie Assents to Statement By Member of Committee.

Says Partnership Is More Powerful Than Corporation.

Praises Man Who Owns and Tills Land—Laughs Over Ore Deal.

Washington, Jan. 11.—Andrew Carnegie was again a witness before the house Steel trust investigating committee today. The ironmaster was in a happy frame of mind when he reached the committee room, and as on yesterday he proved an attraction, drawing a large audience. He told the chairman before the proceedings began that he hoped the committee could conclude with him today, as he wished to return to New York.

Representative Beall of Texas began questioning Mr. Carnegie.

"You were connected with the iron and steel business altogether for about forty years, were you not?" he asked.

"Yes, sir."

"You found it at the beginning a small business?"

"Yes, very small."

"And you left it a business dominating the business of the world?"

"Yes, in steel."

"In the early years you found the business disintegrated?"

"Yes."

How He Left the Business.

"And you left a business greatly improved, greatly extended with all its attributes; the ore, the transportation, the coal and other facilities as-

WILSON DENIES ANY BREACH WITH HARVEY

COL. GEORGE HARVEY.

Trenton, N. J., Jan. 11.—Governor Wilson disclaimed today that he was in any way responsible for the recent change of front on the part of Harper's Weekly, which for two successive issues has ignored instead of advocating his presidential candidacy. He made a positive statement that there had been no breach in the friendly relations between Col. Harvey and himself and that he knew of nothing which could have given rise to such a report.

HANDCAR IS RUN DOWN BY ENGINE

One Man Killed and Two Injured at Sandstone, Minn.

Sandstone, Minn., Jan. 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—John Lundgren, Sr., was killed, John Lundgren, Jr., badly hurt and William Sieberts badly injured in addition to having his leg broken at 9 o'clock this morning in the railroad yards here. The three were riding on a handcar and in the smoke from several engines failed to see a Great Northern switch engine backing down upon them.

John Lundgren, Sr., died about an hour after the accident, from internal injuries. The other two are not fatally injured.

FASHION'S BAN ON HOBBLE SKIRT

Style Congress Issues Ukase for the Coming Year.

Chicago, Jan. 11.—This is what American women will wear the coming year, as declared by the Style congress held here by the Ladies' Tailors and Dressmakers' association of America:

No hobble skirts. Dresses must be two and a half yards wide, three-fourths of a yard wider than the hobble. They must be short—three inches from the ground. Blue and white are the colors and the materials, whipcords.

Jackets are to be twenty-six to twenty-eight inches long, close fitting.

Empire effects must be forgotten. If any waist line is effected, it must be "at the waist or lower." Reveres and sailor collars will be tabooed, but collars will be different colored than the coat.

No changes are ordered in plain tailored gowns or suits.

STAYS UNTIL HER POODLE IS SAFE

Woman Then Consents to Leave Burning Chicago Hotel.

Chicago, Jan. 11.—While flames were destroying the Oakdale hotel in Austin today, a woman and a man appeared at a window on an upper floor and called to firemen for help. A moment later a blanket was thrown by the man. Several firemen grasped the sides of the blanket and braced themselves to catch the body that was to fall into the improvised lifenet.

Suddenly, out of the smoke that filled her room, the woman's head appeared, and she cried:

"Hold tight, men!"

Then she threw out her little white poodle dog. It landed safely.

"Now put up a ladder and we'll come down!" came the order from above.

So a ladder was raised and the couple descended safely.

Besides the Oakdale hotel, three other buildings were destroyed. The loss was $50,000.

HOLDS BURNS DID NO WRONG

Judge Says No Case Has Been Made in Kidnaping Affair.

Boston Labor Leaders Called to Testify at Indianapolis.

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 11.—Detective W. J. Burns was not guilty of the crime of kidnaping when he captured John J. McNamara here and took him to California last April.

Federal Judge A. B. Anderson indicated today that such would be his ruling. The judge said the case against Burns was without merit.

Boston Labor Men Called.

Boston, Jan. 11.—Four local labor men left last night for Indianapolis in response to summonses to appear before the federal grand jury there. They are wanted, it is understood, to give evidence in connection with the dynamiting of the Boston opera house on March 27, 1909.

MORO AMBUSH PARTY KILLED

Last Twenty-six Rebels on Jolo Island Are Slain.

Manila, Jan. 11.—Twenty-six Moros were killed today while they were attempting to ambush a body of American troops on the Island of Jolo. In the course of the fighting, Lieut. McGee of the Second cavalry was shot twice and one American soldier was wounded.

Brig. Gen. John J. Pershing, commander of the Department of Mindanao, in the course of a conversation, declared that he believed this fight would mark the end of the armed opposition of the Moros to American rule in Jolo, and more especially in regard to the resistence against the order for general disarmament of the natives. The band of Moros who lay in ambush for the American troops on this occasion comprised, he said, the last of the remaining malcontents.

There are two officers named McGee in the Second cavalry—Lieut. Oscar A. McGee and Second Lieut. Hugh H. McGee. Lieut. Oscar A. McGee was designated in the last official roster as being absent from the division.

HOLLIGAN EXPELLED FROM STOCK EXCHANGE.

New York, Jan. 11.—W. R. Holligan, board member of the stock exchange firm of Holligan & Co., was expelled from the exchange today, according to announcement made by the governors. The cause of the expulsion was given merely as alleged misrepresentations that he made when obtaining membership in 1902.

The firm of W. R. Holligan & Co., was organized in 1903, and consists, besides Mr. Hooligan, of John W. Rodgers and Thomas J. Walsh.

Guilds Presented to Czarina.

St Petersburg, Jan. 11.—Ambassador Curtis Guild and Mrs. Guild were presented to the Empress Alexandra at the palace here today.

FAMINE IN FRUITS AND VEGETABLES

People in Small Towns Unable to Get Fresh Supplies.

Supplies of Potatoes Running Short Even in Duluth.

No Shortage in Other Staples—Even Express Shipments Freeze.

A famine in fruits and fresh vegetables threatens Duluth and the range cities if the cold weather continues.

Wholesale produce dealers of Duluth are sadly handicapped by the intensely cold weather in shipping fruits and vegetables either into or out of the city. Wholesale grocery houses in certain lines of their trade are facing the same problem.

Most of the railroads are refusing to handle any produce that is liable to be spoiled by freezing. They fear that if they attempt to carry on the usual traffic, they will have to face a well-nigh endless list of claims for ruined goods.

The situation that has thus tied up a large part of the commerce of this city affects, to a greater or less extent, all parts of the country, where such weather as this exists. To have business thus tied up by cold weather is no new thing. It happens to a greater or less extent every winter, but it is the long continuance of the present cold snap that makes the situation serious. A brief interruption of the traffic in fruits and vegetables would not be noticed by the general public.

The people who suffer most are those of the small towns, who are used to receiving steady supplies of fruits and vegetables, barreled, boxed or canned,

HASH POISONS 150 VETERANS

Inmates of Soldiers' Home at Leavenworth Get Sick.

Leavenworth, Kan., Jan. 11.—Investigation was continued today to find the origin of the poison which is believed to have been in the hash which caused the illness of 150 veterans of the Soldiers' home who ate it at breakfast Wednesday.

None of the old soldiers were in a dangerous condition at any time, Maj. J. L. Frier, chief surgeon, said, and those not already well are recovering.

Maj. Frier, who ate the hash and suffered no ill effects, believed that possibly a portion of the meat was poisoned, as only 150 of the 2,000 veterans who ate of it were affected.

HEAR TALES OF HOPKINS

Lorimer Investigators Question Illinois Senator Once More.

Witness Says He Thinks Hines Incompetent for Political Work.

Washington, Jan. 11. — Details of the "band of hope," the "Hopkins Helping-Handers," and the "Hopkins applebarrel," all things more or less synonomous with Republican politics in Illinois in the senatorial fight of 1908 and 1909, were told by Senator Lorimer today before the committee of senators investigating his election.

Part of the morning session was taken up by the reading of political stories printed by Chicago papers at the time of Senator Lorimer's election. Judge Haney insisted on reading them in full to the committee. He said they would support his contention that Hopkins could never have been elected with the opposition of Governor Deneen, and that Senator Lorimer was the one man at that time who could be elected with Democratic votes.

Third Day on Stand.

This was Senator Lorimer's third day as a witness and his testimony had reached only the groundwork stage. Counsel on both sides expressed the opinion that his cross-examination might not be reached before Saturday. Members of the investigating committee are taking a leading part in the inquiry. Senators Kern, Jones, and Fletcher ask almost as many questions as the lawyers.

Senator Lorimer gives complete an-

EPIDEMIC CLOSES TEXAS CHURCHES

Saloonkeepers Also Report Loss of Trade From Public Fear.

Dallas, Tex., Jan. 11.—The menace of meningitis in Dallas and other cities of north and east Texas has instilled such fear among all classes of population that public gatherings have been practically abandoned. Even church meetings have been given up; society gatherings are rare; saloonkeepers say fear of meningitis epidemic has caused a serious reduction in their trade, while women's and men's club meetings scheduled for the next ten days have been postponed.

The convention of the Texas Ice Cream Manufacturers' association, which was expected to bring 500 delegates here Jan. 17, has been put off.

"Quarantine Against World."

Groesbeck, Tex., Jan. 11.—A quarantine "against the world," has been established here. All persons are warned against buying railway tickets to Gresbeck, and the statement is made that no persons will be permitted to leave the train if they choose Groesbeck as their destination. Lime has been scattered through the streets. There has been no meningitis here.

POWDER MILL BLOWS UP AT WILPIN, MINN.

Two Men Killed in Explosion in the Glazing Plant.

James Healy of Hibbing and Charles Winter of Kansas Dead.

Accident Follows Daily Inspection of the Plant.

Hibbing, Minn., Jan. 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—The first accident at the new powder plant of the Dupont Powder company at Wilpin, three miles from here, which was opened Nov. 6 last, occurred this morning, shortly after 10 o'clock, when the glaze mill blew up, instantly killing two employes. No others were injured and the porperty loss is not to be great. The glaze mill is said to be one of the most dangerous parts of the plant. The shock of the explosion was felt here, but as there is so much blasting going on in the mines little attention was paid to it.

Hibbing Man Victim.

The victims are:

JAMES HEALY, Hibbing.

CHARLES WINTER, Columbus, Kan.

Superintendents Feenie and Smith had left the building after their daily inspection only five minutes before the explosion.

James Healy was about 47 years old, a brother of Representative John Healy, and was married about five months ago to Miss Louise Anderson of Hibbing. He also leaves a brother, George, of Hibbing, and a sister, Mrs. Kerr, of Stevenson.

Little is known here about Winter,

MRS. MORROW MAY TESTIFY HERSELF

Illness of Prosecutor Delays Action in Chicago Case.

Chicago, Jan. 11.—The resumption of the hearing into the charge of murder against Mrs. Rene B. Morrow was scheduled before Judge Fred Fake for this afternoon. Court proceedings were halted yesterday on account of the illness of the prosecutor, James E. Northrup and there was some doubt as to whether he would be well enough to appear today.

Should the hearing proceed it was believed the state would complete its case and the defense take up its side. There was a probability that Mrs. Morrow would go on the witness stand and make a complete denial of responsibility for the death of her husband, Charles B. Morrow.

The present cold snap, which has now continued eleven days with no break in sight, breaks all Duluth records for continuous below-zero-temperature.

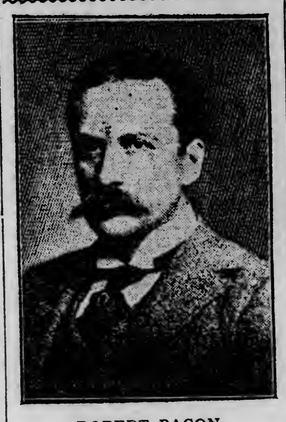

Duluth has had long cold spells in former years, but has never had one during which the temperature failed to get above zero, day or night, for so many days.

In January, 1888, the mercury dropped below zero on twenty-one successive nights, but on some days during that period the temperature went well above zero.

In January, 1885, temperatures of from 5 to 33 deg. below zero occurred

U. S. AMBASSADOR TO FRANCE RESIGNS

ROBERT BACON.

Paris, Jan. 11.—Robert Bacon, ambassador from the United States at Paris, today confirmed his resignation.

Mr. Bacon resigned to accept a position as fellow of Harvard university, to which he was nominated today and which will necessitate his residence in America. He declares he will not enter into politics.

MR. EDMANDS FOOTS BILLS

Father of Richeson's Fiancee Seeks to Save Preacher's Life.

Effort to Prevent Execution Gets Scathing Denunciation.

Boston, Mass., Jan. 11.—It is expected that within the next two weeks an appeal will be sent to Governor Foss and the executive council in an effort to save the life of Rev. Clarence V. T. Richeson, condemned to death for the murder of Avis Linnell.

The fight for a commutation of the sentence will be financed by Moses Grant Edmands, father of Miss Violet Edmands, the former fiancee of Mr. Richeson. He has retained faith in the minister, believing him mentally unbalanced when he gave Miss Linnell the poison which caused her death.

The formal withdrawal from the Baptist ministry of Richeson, with the removal of the title of "reverend," before the date set for his execution is regarded as probable. Members of his former parish in Cambridge be-

WEBSTER MAY NOT ADD TO CONFESSION

Attorneys Are Opposed to Anything But Simple Plea of Guilty.

Oregon, Ill., Jan. 11.—A conference between Dr. Harry E. Webster, who is to plead guilty to a charge of wife murder here tomorrow, and his attorneys will be held tonight. One of the points to be discussed is whether the physician shall make a new and complete confession of his crime or stand on the statement he made to the Chicago police several months ago. The prisoner's attorneys prefer that he make no further statements. It is their present plan to permit the state to introduce this statement in evidence and then follow it with the plea of guilty.

SEVEN MAY BE DEAD IN FIRE

Three-Story Frame House in New York Is Destroyed.

New York, Jan. 11.—Seven lives are believed to have been lost in a fire which cleaned out a three-story frame building on Bronxdale avenue early today. Those supposed to have perished in the flames, which spread so rapidly through the wooden structure that the firemen say that none could have escaped, are Thomas McDonough, his wife and five boarders whose names are unknown to the police. The origin of the fire is unknown. There is little chance of identifying the bodies, as they probably have been burned to cinders.

SAY FORTUNES IN VAULTS ARE SAFE

Reports Are Made Following Fire in the Equitable Building.

New York, Jan. 11. — Wreckers began today the work of clearing away the debris and ice which incase the safe deposit vaults in the burned Equitable Life Assurance Society building. The various vaults in the structure are said to be intact, and their contents of half a billion of dollars in securities are safe.

The work of the wreckers was badly hampered by the fact that the building is in such a precarious condition that the walls on two sides may fall at any time.

The vaults of the Equitable Life have been found to have successfully withstood the flames, though they will not be opened until they have completely cooled off. Officers of the society say there is no doubt that the $300,000,000 in securities of the society are unharmed.

It is announced that the 90,000 policies on which the Equitable had loaned something between $70,000,000 and $100,000,000 had been found to be unharmed in the steel boxes in which they were kept. Securities are already being removed from the vaults of the Mercantile Trust company.

The shoring of the walls on one side of the building was commenced today.

Shortly after the opening of the New York Stock Exchange today, notice was posted "that the law committee gives notice that delivery of securities between parties directly or indirectly affected by the fire in the Equitable building is further delayed until Jan. 15."

BRITISH TROOPS ARE ORDERED TO PERSIA.

Calcutta, British India, Jan. 11.—Orders have been issued to the brigade of infantry stationed at Ahmadnagar to hold itself in readiness to proceed immediately to Persia, owing to the dangers incurred by merchants traveling over the trade routes in the southern provinces of Persia.

The constant attacks on traders led to the dispatch of squadrons of two regiments of Indian cavalry in December, and it was while these troops were escorting the British consul at Shiraz, W. A. Smart, to his post that they were attacked by tribesmen and lost six killed and eleven wounded.

BOYS WILL BE BOYS.

STEIN SENT TO FEDERAL PRISON

Frauds Practiced on Inventors Admitted By Milwaukeean.

Milwaukee, Wis., Jan. 11.—Robert O. Stein, arrested in Washington, D. C., several weeks ago, charged with using the mails for fraudulent purposes, pleaded guilty and was sentenced to eighteen months in federal prison at Fort Leavenworth by Judge A. L. Sanborn of Madison, who held court last night after arriving on a late train. Ernst Stein, a brother, who was arrested as an accomplice, was fined $50.

According to postoffice inspectors, Stein, with his brother, had offices in Washington and Milwaukee. The Milwaukee concern offered to purchase patents and recommended that inventors have their various patents examined by the American Estimating Company of Washington. For this examination a charge of $25 was made. It is stated that after these examinations the Milwaukee firm would not purchase according to agreement.

LEAVES FROM A REPORTERS NOTE BOOK BY X

Obviously, it's a policeman's business to catch a thief; equally obviously is the fact that it's his business to throw him in jail to allow the law to pursue its course. That's what the people pay him for.

This policeman caught a thief, but he didn't throw him in jail. He not only condoned his act, but went further. Actions speak louder than words, and this policeman helped the thief complete the theft. When the little tale is finished the reader will know why his name, the location, or the identity of the thief cannot be used.

One of these bitterly cold nights some place west of the Point of Rocks, the policeman was drifting along his beat, muffled in his big coonskin coat. He was stepping into entryways trying the doors and keeping his eyes open. Everything considered he was very much on the job.

Dropping around a corner he was half swept from his feet as a whistling, cutting blast struck him full in the face. As he swung his back to the wind he saw a figure duck suddenly into a doorway, leaving something on the sidewalk. Keeping his presence of mind he poked along with head bent as though he had seen nothing, but his eyes were glued to the doorway where the shadowy form had disappeared as he drew nearer.

When he failed to turn down the street the figure jumped into sight and broke full speed down the street. The loud yells of the policeman to halt as he gave chase didn't stop him. Nor did several shots fired over his head appear to make any difference to him except to urge him to a greater burst of speed. Let it be remarked here that this policeman wasn't carrying his gun in his hip pocket where it would take an hour to get to it.

But when the chase started the policeman was only a short distance behind. Although he fell further behind he kept his man in sight. He found out where he went. To eliminate details, he caught the thief in his home.

But it was what the thief called home; it wasn't his conception of a home. It was a hovel of two rooms. If such a thing were possible, it was colder and drearier inside than outside. The policeman thought that he would sooner be outside patrolling his beat than to be obliged to remain there. The prisoner had a wife and three small children. They were sleeping in the next room. Or he was satisfied that they were because he heard nothing from them. All the information he had was the story told him by the thief. There was no wood and no coal in the place. The dead stove only accentuated the freezing atmosphere of the desolate, ramshackle place which the man called home.

The man didn't whimper and he didn't whine. He told the policeman that he had been stealing coal. He was lugging an improvised sled loaded with coal when the policeman saw him. He had hoped that the policeman would pass along and not see him.

"Come along with me," was the order of the policeman. The thief came along. He thought he was going to jail. The policeman marched him back to where he had left the coal. When they reached the sled he picked up the rope and told the man to take hold. He didn't swing the sled about towards the corner on which the patrol box was standing. He kept it going in the original direction. He helped the thief lug the load of coal to the place called home and before he left he saw a redhot fire burning in the stove which had been so dead and cold before.

The policeman caught the thief, but he didn't throw him in jail, and says he won't.

Quite a number of Duluthians are going about the city with swellings on their faces. They are not due to the mumps or an ulcerated tooth. They are the result of frost bites. One of the most remarkable things about the present cold snap is that the hospitals have received no patients who have been seriously froze. Since Christmas but one woman with a foot frozen and one man with both feet frozen have been received at the local institutions. Neither of these was so bad that any part of the limbs had to be amputated. Such a record is almost unprecedented, for every winter, with the weather less severe than that which is being experienced at present, has had its quota of cases which caused the loss of hands and feet.

J. A. Jeffrey, the crippled news vender, who broke his leg while trying to get into his box at Fifth avenue west and Superior street Tuesday afternoon, was removed from his home on Vernon street to St. Luke's hospital yesterday afternoon. It was stated at the hospital this morning that the limb has been broken twice before, and that for that reason it was more easily fractured than would otherwise have been the case.

The body of Roger Penie, who died early last week, is still being held at the undertaking rooms of Flood & Horgan. Word was received from relatives today that his brother is on his death bed at Salt Lake City, Utah. The body has been held for funeral arrangements, but the relatives telegraphed today that because of his brother's condition they would be unable to do anything. The body will probably have to be buried at the expense of the county. Penie was a sailor on one of the Booth steamers and was known as Harry Mitchell.

John Murray didn't get out to work when he was allowed his liberty in police court last week. This morning he was again brought up on a charge of drunkenness. He was sent over the hill for ten days.

Edward Daoust was arested yesterday afternoon about 4 o'clock for stealing a watch from William Detrick, a woodman, in a bowery saloon. Before 4:30 he had entered a plea of guilty in police court and been given a sentence of sixty days in the county jail, being unable to pay a fine of $75 and costs.

Mary Rebotich was found guilty after a trial i npolice court yesterday of running a blind pig. She paid a fine of $100. Mary Serdich, arrested on the same charge, was found not guilty and discharged.

FIRE PREVENTION DINNER ARRANGED

Gathering to Be Held at Commercial Club on Jan. 31.

Plans are progressing for the big "fire prevention dinner," to be held at the Commercial club Wednesday evening, Jan. 31, under the auspices of the Duluth branch of the National Credit Men's association.

Franklin H. Wentworth of Boston, secretary of the National Fire Prevention association; Former Secretary Charles E. Meek and Secretary Tregoe of the National Credit Men's association and F. H. Salisbury of Minneapolis, one of the directors of the National Credit Men's association, will be here for the meeting. They are making a tour of the West under the direction of the Credit Men's association and are visiting all cities having branches of that organization.

Insurance men, members of the board of fire commissioners, the mayors and the chiefs of the fire departments of Duluth and Superior will be invited to attend the dinner. The subject of fire prevention is one to which the association of credit men has given long study and the campaign of education this year is in line with the efforts of the organization to reduce fire losses.

ST. PAUL WOMAN FOUND SMOTHERED BY SMOKE.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 11.—Mrs. Mary Garvais, 65, was smothered to death in a fire in her home here late yesterday. Her body was found in bed when her common-law husband, Joseph Lemere, broke in the door soon after the fire started. The authorities believe the woman committed suicide. Kerosene had been poured about the room and a can partially filled with the fluid was found under the bed. Mary Garvais was a relative of Bazile Garvais, the first white child born in St. Paul.

GRAND JURY INDICTMENTS

Seven True Bills Returned in Federal Court—Report Incomplete.

Seven true bills were returned by the United States grand jury at the opening of the afternoon session of federal court at 2 o'clock today.

The jury only made a partial report, having not yet finished its business. It is expected that it will make its final report tomorrow morning.

G. W. Ellert and W. H. Sonderman were indicted for sending libelous matter through the mails.

James Papadiches was indicted on a charge of obtaining a letter not intended for him from the McGregor postoffice. The letter contained a check for $28.10 which Papadiches forged and had cashed, it is alleged.

Edward Paul and Sam Polinski, alleged counterfeiters, were indicted on a charge of making and having in their possession counterfeit coins.

Mah-dway-aush, a Chippewa Indian, was indicted on a charge of having introduced liquor on the Leech Lake Indian reservation.

One true bill, which was returned, was not made public, the person indicted not having as yet been taken in custody.

SUPERIOR

Inspect Milita Men.

General Charles King, state inspector of the Wisconsin guard, will be in Superior next Wednesday evening to instruct the commissioned and non-commissioned officers of Company I. The annual inspection is to be held in the spring and the instructions will be in the form of a preparatory examination.

Will Enter Prize Winners.

J. H. Batson of Superior is planning to make one of the largest and best exhibits at the annual poultry show to be held at 911 Tower avenue, Jan. 22 to 27. Mr. Batson last week took four prizes at the St. Paul exhibit for pullets and cockerels and he plans on making the same exhibit at the local show.

State Aids Institute.

Douglas county will get $83.57 as its share of state aid for the conduct of th teachers' institute. The annual apportionment of the funds has been made by State Superintendent C .P. Cary, and totals $9,000.

Discuss Commission Plan.

F. B. Jerrard will preside at the mass meeting to be held this evening for the purpose of discussing the commission form of government, which will come up at a special election to be held here Jan. 23. The meeting will be held at the Sons of Norway hall, and about ten speakers have been secured for the evening.

Meet in New Lodge.

The first meeting in the new Elks' lodge at Eleventh street and Ogden avenue will be held at 8 o'clock this evening and a definite date will be set for the dedication of the building to be held the first week in February. The furniture from the old building has all been removed and the new quarters are furnished and afranged for the members.

Decrease in Attendance.

The vaccination order issued by the school authorities cut the attendance during the month of December. In some of the schools, as shown by the monthly reports issued yesterday by the school principals, the attendance fell off more than one-sixth.

Switchman Mangled.

E. G. Harding, a switchman, was ground to death at 3:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon by the Gopher State Express engine, which was returning from Duluth. Harding stepped on the main track of the road to allow the engine of his crew to pass when he was struck by the oncoming engine. He was very warmly dressed, which is given as the cause of his not being able to see the engine coming on the same track. His parents at Toronto, Can., have been notified and his body is being held at the Le Sage undertaking parlors.

WOMAN'S REALM.

Miss Lucile Bradley, who will play the leading role in "Cousin Kate" this evening at the Lyceum theater, has displayed unusual ability in her interpretation of the role, and Fred Waldron, playing the leading male part, has also shown the ease and finish of a professional in his work.

Miss Marie Erd as the mother, Mrs. Spencer, brings in a good piece of comedy work for which she has formerly displayed her ability in other home talent affairs, and Mrs. H. B. Detweiler plays the part of the young girl who does not know her own mind, easily and with simplicity.

Jay H. Hoag as the young minister, and Stanley Lamb as the younger brother, are both good in their parts, and Miss Grace Norman fills the part of the maid acceptably.

Besides the play, which is given in three acts, the dancing of fancy numbers in costumes by Gertrude Collins, Cordelia Collins, Elizabeth Magie and Harold Evered, under the direction of Prof. Leo, will prove attractive features.

The play is being put on under the supervision of women of Trinity pro-cathedral for the benefit of the Mission church of Park Point, under the direction of Mrs. T. M. Holland of Park Falls, Wis.

BIG SUCCESS.

Mme. Alda Wins Fresh Laurels in St. Paul Concert.

Crowned with new laurels, Mme. Frances Alda of the Metropolitan Opera company will come to Duluth to sing in a recital at the Lyceum theater on Monday evening of next week. This recital is the third in the series arranged by Duluth's musical committee, Horace W. Reyner, T. W. Hugo and Stephen H. Jones, and promises to be one of the best. The advance sale of seats has been large and since the opening of the box office sale telephone orders have been coming in briskly.

Mme. Alda sang in St. Paul Tuesday evening with the St. Paul Symphony orchestra and the following letter received by Mr. Reyner this morning from E. A. Stein, manager of the St. Paul orchestra, voices the praises with which she was received there:

"My Dear Mr. Reyner: I understand that Mme. Frances Alda is going to sing in your course in Duluth next Monday. You are to be congratulated in securing such a wonderful artist for your series. She sang with us last night and made one of our very biggest successes. A beautiful woman and a magnificent voice.

"Mme. Alda was down on the program for two arias and a group of songs, but was encored so repeatedly that she just about doubled the program. The audience gave her an immense ovation as she finally left the stage to allow the concert to close at a reasonable hour.

"I sincerely hope your Duluth concert will be as large a success. Cordially,

"E. A. STEIN."

OPERA SINGER WANTS DIVORCE

—Copyright by Mishkin Studio.

MME. RAPPOLD.

The troubles of Mme. Marie Rappold, the Metropolitan opera house singer, and her husband became known to the public recently. Mme. Rappold wants a divorce but says she has no evidence to obtain one. She lives in luxurious apartments on Riverside drive, while her husband, Dr. Rappold, lives in Brooklyn. Mme. Rappold denies that she wants to discard her husband because she is making money. She says she never loved him and that he does not love her. The doctor says that he will not let her have a divorce for her own good. He says she might marry someone whom she would be unhappy with.

THE EVENING STORY

THE LOST EYEBROW

By Norman McIntyre.

We were homeward bound and rolling about on the deep swells of the China sea. My stateroom companion seemed a mere youth, not more than 20, noticeable mainly for a peculiar white, red bordered scar just over his left eye. The eyebrow was gone entirely, and in its place was that singular cicatrix.

He informed me that he was a graduate of a large forestry school, had been in the Far East for two years as forestry expert, and was bringing home cuttings and seeds of the camphor laurel from Formosa.

"I should have sailed for home with my camphor seeds a month ago but for a little adventure I had in Formosa with the head hunters while I was tending a camphor 'stove'. That's where I got this," he added, tapping the scar over his eye.

"I had to find out, among other things, just how camphor is manufactured and marketed. Besides getting seeds of the tree, I had to learn how to make camphor. To do this I had to go and work at a camphor farm up in the interior.

"To extract the camphor from the camphor tree they cut the tree all up into littler chips, and then steam the chips. The steam from the chips goes to a condenser. It is a very pretty process and very simple.

"One charge of chips is steamed twenty-four hours. The retort is then opened, the steamed chips removed, and fresh chips put in. This goes on for ten days, steadily, night and day. The fire is then extinguished, the camphor chamber is opened and the camphor scraped out.

"Well, in the course of a week the Japanese government superintendent of the camphor farms under whom I was working had to go to another of his farms, and as I wanted to study the details of the process a while longer, he left me to tend the stove. There were two young Chinese laborers there. I looked after the retort myself. For a while I got on all right with the young Chinamen. But, of course, I wasn't their boss as they were well aware; and on the third afternoon they went off to their village down the mountain to see their friends, and were gone all night.

"There are tribes of dangerous savages living up in the mountains. The Japanese call them Ateyals. They are the Apaches of Formosa, and worse even than the Apaches. An Apache wanted your scalp, but these Ateyals want your entire head! They are head hunters.

"There was a shed over the stove and a bamboo palisade with a strong gate and bar, round it. The posts of the fence stood so far apart, however, that one could look out between them anywhere and thrust a hand or an arm out.

"On the ninth night of my host's absence the Chinese slipped away again, and I was there alone as before. By this time, however, I had grown used to the loneliness, and went on as usual, tending the stove, looking to the water, and noting all the little details of the process.

"Just inside the bamboo fence was a rattan bench, made fast to the posts, where I used to sit and watch the fire.

"It was a hazzy sort of evening, with dark clouds rising over the mountains. The camphor fumes, too, were stronger than usual. The fire-light shone out from the stove door to the bench where I sat. I began making a few more notes in my notebook. Presently, behind me in the jungle outside the fence, I heard a slight rustling of the grass blades—but, of course, that might have been made by a pig or any other small animal there. I didn't stir or look around, I merely listened, with a glance at my carbine, which lay on another bench nearer the stove.

"A little later I thought I heard whispering, but wasn't sure, and it might easily have been something else. Yet for a moment the idea was vivid in my mind that there were human beings, savages, probably, out there in the jungle, and that they were watching me.

"I didn't hear anything more, and after touching up the fire, I began writing again.

"The air was dead still; the camphor fumes settled down stronger than ever, and the only sound now was the low gurgling of the water in the bamboo pipes about the cooling chamber and the condenser.

"I dozed off, but suddenly something set me wide awake—some instinctive sense of danger.

"Not a sound did I hear, but the next moment my hair, which is rather thick, as you see, was grabbed from behind—grabbed by a hand through the fence. I felt the first touch of the fellow's fingers, and jumped. But he got his grip in my hair, and as I jumped I felt a sharp, stinging cut across my forehead. It was from a curved native knife. That miscreant had tried to seize me by the hair and cut my head off!

"In another second I had hold of my carbine. There was a slight rustling of the jungle grass, and I let two shots go in that direction through the fence. But from first to last I saw nothing whatever, not so much as a glimpse of my assailant. It was rather dark and immediately the blood from my cut filled my left eye completely.

"I expected nothing less than that savages would attack the place, and keeping in the shadow of the condenser, I waited for them to make their rush. But apparently they had stolen away as stealthily as they had crept up.

"There may have been no more than two or three of them; perhaps there was only one solitary prowling head hunter. If so, I suppose he had been watching me all the evening, maybe all the afternoon, as I moved about the stove. He must have had his eye on me, and when he saw me nodding there on the bench, he laid his plans for capturing my head. I watched and listened there all the rest of the night, and I finally stanched the bleeding from the cut. Daylight came at last, and by 10 o'clock the two truant Chinese returned. They had seen Atayals, but were terribly frightened when they learned what had happened.

"The superintendent returned the next day. He, too, was considerably alarmed and sent the Chinese off to the village for a detachment of district guards. Had I been his own brother, this Japanese gentleman could not have taken better care of me, or expressed more sympathy for the loss of my eyebrow."

SHOE MANUFACTURERS WANT PROTECTION.

New York, Jan. 11.—The advance in the price of shoes forecasted in recent dispatches from shoe-making centers and the federal suit for dissolution of the United Shoe Machinery company, were matters avoided in yesterday's convention of the National Association of Boot and Shoe Manufacturers. The association centered its action entirely on the tariff, adopting resolutions of protest against movements for "free shoes," and demanding even further protection of the American manufacturer.

COUNTY WILL DEPORT MAN

Expenses of Gligor Zareff Will Be Paid to His Native Land.

Will Never Be Able to Work and Government Cannot Deport Him.

Charles Shogran, superintendent of the poor, has figured that St. Louis county would save money by spending $80 or $90 to send a helpless and crippled alien, now at the poor farm, to his native land.

Gligor Zareff, a Bulgarian, was brought to the poor farm a few weeks ago suffering from a stroke of paralysis, which will leave him totally incapacitated for life.

Zareff is comparatively a young man—still under 50. He will never be able to do work and cannot speak English. Through an interpreter, he has expressed his willingness to return to his native country.

The immigration authorities could not deport him because his disability arose one year after the date of his landing. He came to this country fifteen months ago.

The county poor commission has taken the matter up and has decided that it would be cheaper to pay his expenses back to Bulgaria than to keep, feed and clothe him for the rest of his life.

Zareff will be deported within the next two weeks. The government will send an attendant with him from New York to Izvor, Bulgaria, where Zareff formerly lived.

NOTICE!

Owing to illness the address by Mr. David Forgan has been postponed for two weeks.

H. V. EVA, Secretary.

INJURY LEFT HIM INSANE

John Hoff Declared to Be a Kleptomaniac—Will Be Deported.

Injuries which John Hoff, aged 33, received five years ago while working in an underground mine in Germany, mentally unbalanced him and made him a kleptomanic.

This is the decision which the immigration authorities here have reached and Hoff must return from Duluth to the land of the kaiser.

About six weeks ago, Hoff broke into a Superior street store and carried away some valuables. He was caught and pleaded guilty to burglary. An examination proved him demented.

He was turned over by the police to the immigration authorities and was given a hearing and ordered deported. He came to this country in November, 1910.

Owing to his mental condition and his inclinations to steal, Hoff will have an attendant from New York to Hamburg while on the steamship. Henry M. Lurck of Ellis Island, N. Y., has been detailed by the immigration service to take Hoff in charge while on the trans-Atlantic trip.

BADLY FROZEN, CRAWLS ALONG

Richard Sweet, Overcome By Cold in Woods, May Lose Some Limbs.

Cloquet, Minn., Jan. 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—Richard Sweet was brought here from Poupore's Siding with both feet badly frozen and his hands frozen and was taken to the Barclay hospital.

Sweet was cutting timber and was several miles from a settler's home when he realized that his feet were freezing. He tired to reach his shack, but reached the home of a Finnish settler only after crawling a mile and a half on his hands and knees, freezing both hands in the effort. He is in a serious condition.

DULUTH MEN LIKE "MINNESOTA" SPAGHETTI

Wives and mothers find there is one thing of which Duluth men never tire. Morning, noon and night his "lordship" will eat "Minnesota" spaghetti or macaroni and be delighted with its rich, nut-like flavor.

If you have tried other macaroni or spaghetti and have disliked them, the "Minnesota" brand will be a revelation to you. For every day meals, for dainty lunches or for big feasts, there is nothing better than this healthful food served in one of the many appetizing ways.

But if you want that rich, nut-like flavor be sure and get the delicious "Minnesota" brand macaroni or spaghetti—made from the finest Northern Durum wheat, with all the nourishing Gluten left in. It is easily digested and never gets soggy. All good Duluth grocers sell it.

NEGOTIATING OVER MANCHURIAN RAILWAY.

Pekin, Jan. 11.—The negotiations between China and Russia on the subject of Mongolia henceforth will be conducted in St. Petersburg, as it is considered that the upheaval here militates against the progress of the discussions. China is prepared to discuss the project for the construction of trans-Mongolian railroad which will include the linking of Kiakhta on the Siberian side of the frontier, and Urga, the capital of Mongolia, with the Siberian railway system.

The Chenese government, however, disputes the justice of the other condition put forward by Russia and the Mongolians. The latter include the withdrawal of the Chinese garrison from Mongolia, the recall of Chinese functionaries and the cessation of Chinese attempts at the colonization of Mongolia.

JOBS FOR IDLE MEN

Employment Agents Claim They Have Work for All Wanting It.

If the employment agents of Duluth may be believed there are plenty of jobs for any idle men that may be in the city today. To prove the statement that work is not scarce, G. S. Richards of the National Employment agency today opened his order book to the inspection of a Herald reporter, showing a single order from one company for 100 men. The fare to the work camps of the company, North of Bemidji, will also be advanced.

There seems to be several different stories regarding labor conditions. According to reports that have been made to charitable societies, many men in search of work are having great difficulty in finding it. These statements are denied by the managers of employment offices.

"We could place 200 men today," said Mr. Richards. "We have that many orders on the books at the present time and orders are constantly coming in. We have orders for men offering steady laborers from $26 to $35 per month. That is work where the men are hired to work a month. North of Bemidji there is a large amount of work in cutting ties, posts and poles, and men are wanted very badly.

"The pulpwood season is on and a number of men are wanted. This is work that does not require experienced men, and yet several Duluth offices have orders for men and are unable to fill the orders because of lack of applicants."

According to the statement of Mr. Richards, there are men in the city without baggage who might like to go to work if they had the money to pay their fare. Many men come to Duluth and spend all their money and when in search of work find that they lack funds to pay their fare to some camp.

CLOQUET BIRTHS AHEAD OF DEATHS

Stork Beat Reaper Almost Three to One During Last Year.

Cloquet, Minn., Jan. 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—City health officer, Dr. James Fleming in his annual report shows 183 births for Cloquet in 1911, eighty girls and 103 boys. There were seventy-one deaths, sixteen being non-residents.

Mrs. Peter Rousseau is spending a few weeks at Hot Springs, Ark., for her health. She is accompanied by her daughter, Miss Lillian Rousseau.

Mrs. Frank Jestrab was called here from Havre, Mont., by the illness of her father, Jacob Larson.

Postal Bank Receipts.

The postal savings department in the postoffice, opened last June, shows that $6,478 was deposited up to the end of the year, of which $2,004 had been withdrawn.

Charles Gross, superintendent of the boys' department of the Cloquet Y. M. C. A., underwent an operation Saturday, necessitated by an injury received in shoveling snow. Mr. Gross is recovering satisfactorily.

August C. Johnson, of the firm of Alstad-Johnson, left Saturday for a visit to his old home in Sweden, expecting to sail from New York on the Lusitania.

The Sunday Afternoon club of the Y. M. C. A. has secured A. H. Clark for speaker Sunday, Jan. 14. Mr. Clark is assistant superintendent of the Anti-Saloon league and is from Minneapolis. President Bohannon of the Duluth Normal school will address the club Jan. 28.

Suicide Is Buried.

Matt Lund, the homesteader who blew out his brains with a rifle last week was buried Tuesday afternoon from the Kelly morgue at the expense of Carlton county. Lund was said to have a son living in Minneapolis and efforts were made to locate him, the body being held for several days, but no relatives were found.

MOYER TELLS OF COST OF MEAT

Expert Accountant From Armour Plant Is Witness at Trial.

Chicago, Jan. 11.—Henry Moyer, expert accountant in charge of figuring the test cost of slaughtered animals for Armour & Co., resumed the witness stand today as the sixth witness for the government in the trial of the ten Chicago packers before United States District Judge Carpenter.

District Attorney Wilkerson continued his direct examination of the witness.

Moyer explained in detail the methods employed in figuring the test cost, giving all the items entered against the carcass beginning with a killing charge of $2.75 per head. He then enumerated the credit allowances deducted for by-products.

He said that different credits for by-products were figured in the "memorandum" or "red" cost and the "last" or "test" cost.

Moyer said the allowances for by-products in the "memorandum" or "red" cost was considerably less than the credits for these items shown in the "test" cost.

The witness said that at times the allowance for hides made on the "memorandum" cost had been less than half the market price of that by-product. Moyer said he telegraphed "the memorandum" cost to the district superintendents each week.

Bemidji K. C. Installation.

Bemidji, Minn., Jan. 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—Officers were installed by the Bemidji Knights of Columbus as follows: Grand knight, Thomas McCann; deputy grand knight, P. J. O'Leary; chancellor, P. J. Russell; financial secretary, R. F. Murphy; recording secretary, J. P. Lahr; treasurer, J. Herman; warden, E. J. Gould; inside guard, Edward Gould; outside guard, J. M. COLD WEATHER STORIES FROM DULUTH HOTELS

Duluth hotels, or at least several of them, have signs respectfully asking their guests, or guests of the guests, to close the door as they enter or leave. Bellboys of all of the hotels shift the chairs three or four times a day. They shift them from in front of the steam radiators to their accustomed places—and after awhile they go and shift them again.

"There is not enough steam in my room" is a complaint that is becoming quite familiar to the men at the desks of the various Duluth hotels. The man behind the furnace was consulted with earnestly during the first two or three days of the cold spell—but now he is left alone. The coal bill at the end of the month will be a silent testimonial as to his labors.

One man unthinkingly left a pitcher of ice water near the open window of his room at the Lenox. The irony was excellent—but the pitcher was ruined. He, came from Southern Illinois and didn't know any better.

One man from Los Angeles is at the Spalding today. He kept walking back and forth in from of the palm room to keep from being homesick. He says that it is perfectly legitimate to collect salary and expense money from his house without working in the present kind of weather.

The hotels keep their guests as warm as possible. Clerks of various local hotels were questioned today and admitted that the percentage of guests who did not rise until after 10 o'clock was increasing. They can keep warm in bed.

CENSORS WATCH PUBLIC DANCES

Des Moines Puts Ban on "Grizzly Bear" and Other Forms.

Des Moines, Ia., Jan. 11.—All persons dancing the "Grizzly Bear" or the "Turkey Trot" or the "Moonlight Waltz" in public dance halls in Des Moines will be arrested.

An ordinance placing the public dance halls under police regulation passed the city council last night. Men and women censors, employed by the police department, will attend all dances, eliminating those that are regarded as immoral.

The censors, who reported for duty today, will be paid out of a trust fund which the dance hall owners must pay the city weekly besides their annual license tax of $100.

STUART HEAD OF PRINCETON

Professor of Logic Is Elected to Succeed Woodrow Wilson.

Princeton, N. J., Jan. 11.—Dr. John Grier Hibben Stuart, professor of logic, was today elected president of Princeton university by the board of trustees of the institution. He succeeds Woodrow Wilson, who resigned the presidency in the fall of 1909 to make the run for governor of New Jersey.

LEAVES HER HUSBAND TO WORK AT ART.

Chicago, Jan. 11.—Mrs. Eleanor Ruth Colburn, an artist, has announced she has chosen her art and "independence" in preference to her husband, Dr. Joseph E. Colburn, and domestic life, and that she has withdrawn from Chicago to New Rochelle, N. Y., where she will live with relatives. Her husband corroborated the statement. Mrs. Colburn has been an exhibitor at the art institute for several seasons. When she first left her home here several weeks ago, a separation was denied, but yesterday she and her husband confirmed it. A daughter by a former marriage is with her mother.

OCONOMOWOC MAN GETS $6,000 CALF

W. H. Hitchener Buys Offspring of Famous Dolly Dimple.

North Easton, Mass., Jan. 11.—W. H. Hitchener of Oconomowoc, Wis., is announced as the successful bidder for a calf born four weeks ago to Dolly Dimple, the most valuable cow in the world, which is the property of F. Lothrop Ames of this town. The calf fetched $6,000 after spirited bidding by stockmen from all parts of the country. It will be shipped West when it is 6 months old.

COMMERCE COURT CASE IS REVIVED

Supreme Court Will Pass on Dispute Over Jurisdiction.

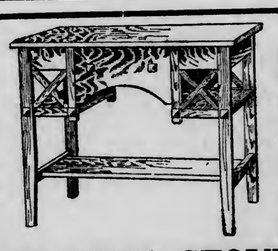

Washington, Jan. 11.—The supreme court of the United States today began the review of the first case to come to it from the new commerce court. It concerns the fixing of rates from Cincinnati to Chattanooga and is one of a series in which disputes have arisen as to the respective sphere of activity of the interstate commerce commission and the commerce court.

WIDE PREVALENCE OF LAND FEVER IS SHOWN BY THE HERALD CONTEST

Majority of Answers Advocate Purchase of Plot of Ground.

Some Want Chicken Farm, Others a Dairy—Embryo Loan Agents.

The land fever undoubtedly has the people of the Northwest in its grasp. In some it takes the aspect of the "Own Your Own Home" desire. In others it runs to chicken farms. But all seem to have it.

Replies are arriving in large numbers to the question propounded by The Herald: "How should a man of 35 invest his first $1,000." The communications received show a considerable diversity of opinions, but there is one idea that seems to be a general favorite and that is to own one's home on the outskirts of some large city, which furnishes a good market for country produce, and to spend part of one's time in producing some kind of food. Some say they would rather raise chickens, others would prefer a garden and still others advocate dairying. Almost invariably, the man with the $1,000 is advised not to give up his regular job. Another idea, that appears to be fairly popular, is to go into a loan business in a small way on the side, without giving up one's accustomed occupation.

Participants in this contest should take care not to write on both sides of their paper, or their replies will be thrown out. The following letters were received today:

Emil Anderson, Clyde Iron Works, City.—In reply to the contest, "I've got the first $1,000; what shall I do with it?" I give the following suggestion:

I would advise you, Mr. $1,000 man, to get together a number of other men who would have about $500 or $1,000 and form a corporation. When your corporation is completed, and you have your capital stock as large as you want it, I would advise you to become the leader of a loan shark corporation, and loan out money at 7 per cent to start with and finally decrease it to 4 per cent; whereby you will be helping the many poor people, also making your own interest.

I would also advise you to consult the state and county in regards to the rules and regulations and know that you be perfectly safe.

If you would not want to invest all of the $1,000 in this way you could invest $500, thereby making a good start with a reliable corporation.

Then you can invest the remaining $500 in a little land. Try your best to be on the watch and see if there is any farmer who is so up against it that he has to sell his property very cheaply, and then buy a few acres, and in a few years you may be the man to get twice and three times for the same land what you paid for it. At any rate you are then your own boss, and superintendent, and also a leader of a very prosperous loan shark corporation.

I hope I have brought out my suggestions to you in a clear way and hope to see same effective.

Mrs. F. B. Luce, Northome, Minn.—My advise to the young man would be: First, if he does not already own his home to hunt up a good location near a good growing town, say near Duluth, get five acres or less, and raise chickens. I would not spend too much on fancy coops or buy too many chickens to start with. His wife and children should be able to do most of the work of taking care of them for the first year or so, and he could keep right on with his work. In a short time he will find they do so well and he will be so interested in the work he will want to put in all his time with them. Fresh eggs at all times bring a good price, but I should aim to have a good many winter buyers. I would also raise early chickens for the market. I should use as little of my $1,000 as possible, but make the chickens pay for themselves from the first. I would not get more than two breeds and I think one would be best to start with. I would have everything clean and sell nothing but strictly fresh eggs. I would also fatten my young chickens and have them in prime condition. No matter how many may be in the business there is always plenty of room for more. Eggs and chickens are always in demand and prices are better now than ever and the chances are will go even higher. Of course, to make a success of any thing one must have faith and also be willing to work. But for the time and money spent nothing I have ever heard of pays better than a small poultry farm and a man or woman can make money and can branch out as their business grows. To show my faith in the business, should I win I will invest it in chickens.

A. P. Hillyer, 317 East First street—I've got the first $1,000. What shall I do with it?

I hardly think $1,000 a sufficient amount to engage in a business. Most any business enterprise takes the entire amount to start, and in the event of the business not proving a success from the beginning, would cause a financial distress that would be hard to overcome.

One starting in a business, I think, needs enough capital to carry on his business for at least a year. Sometimes it takes that long before the business would be on a paying basis, besides requiring all your time. My advice is take your $1,000, put it in a good reliable bank, open a checking account, keep your position and open another savings account. Then begin to look for small investments that pay a good big interest, always being sure to get good security for money you loan. If you will be a careful reader of the advertisements that appear from day to day in our very valuable newspapers you will find people that are in temporary financial distress who are willing to pay good interest, sometimes as high as 10 per cent per month for short loans.

In the meantime advertise that you have money to loan, on good security. It pays to advertise. Always keep your eye open for real estate mortgages that you can pick up at a big bargain. As soon as you get controlling interest in such deals, sell them at a profit. You may find something good by occasionally looking over foreclosure sales, at the courthouse.

You will be surprised to see how soon your $1,000 will have grown to $2,000.

Your position will still keep you and your family, you will still be able to add to your savings account accasionally. In a very short time you will have sufficient capital to engage in a good business, be independent and your own boss, by the time you're forty.

Albert Stal, 4915 Oneida street, Lakeside.—"How Shall I Invest My First $1,000?" In answer to this question I would say:

Buy two acres of land near a good market place for instance, like Duluth; plant one and a half acres with potatoes, which yield from 400 to 500 bushels an acre. At the price of 50 cents a bushel, and considering the yield to be 400 bushel per acre, this would bring you $300. The cost of seed, planting, etc., will not exceed $75. Put the other half acre into cabbage, cauliflower and other vegetables which also bring a good price, besides having enough for your own use, would reduce the cost of living considerably.

Considering you paid $500 for the two acres, you still have $500 left in the bank. Adding to this amount every year the money received from the products sold, at the end of five years you will have a bank account which would do J. Pierpont Morgan's eyes good to look at. Well ,you will have a nice little farm and $2,000 in cash.

Then, of course, if you are ambitious and have a taste for business, you will undoubtedly find an opportunity to invest in some business which will pay a profitable dividend.

Don't give up your position. The first investment in business may turn out a failure, but never give up—never say die. Try, try again. Remember that "God helps those who help themselves."

S. M. Sannker, 729½ East Fifth street.—My suggestion as to what to do with $1,000 for a sure and good investment and to make an independent living is: Take $500, buy a good piece of land, say ten or twenty acres close to the city of Duluth. If you are not interested here, do it any how. Then take the other $500, put it in improvements on the land; plant ten acres of potatoes the first year—500 bushels an acre, 5,000 bushels, $1 a bushel, $5,000. That ought to be a good business. But I haven't got the $1,000.

George Coleman, 214 Second Avenue East.—Referring to the man of 35 years with his first $1,000 will say, if I were he I would carefully select a new town that had natural diversified resources in and around it. I then would select a business that I was best adapted and qualified for, and my $1,000 would start me in without going in debt. In this selection I would be my own dictator, believing that a man of 35 years (or even much less) should know best what line of business would be most suitable for him. This done, I would start said business in said town. I would go slow at first and not try to get rich the first year. And I would be especially careful not to overtax my physical capacity with too long hours or overwork, but employ just help enough. I would place a motto conspicuously in my place of business, reading thus:

"He who by the plow would thrive
He himself must hold or drive."

From my first profits I would enlarge my business and as soon as possible own my place of business. This done I would then consider a home of my own.

Albert Benedett, Jr., Northland, Minn.—I am 16 years old and I am sure if I had $1,000 and had a wife and family to support I would go first thing and buy a farm near Duluth where farming is good and the market is good. With a team of horses and a little stock the first year I would live in fair shape, but after then would live like a king, and all my life would enjoy the glorious climate of the Head of the Lakes and dear old Duluth.

Fred Pontius, Eagle Bend, Minn.—I see by the paper that you have a contest. If I had $1,000 I would go into the chicken business. I would have about twelve incubators set. I would start early in the spring and have about 100 eggs in each incubator. Then I would keep the pullets for laying eggs and sell the roosters.

Alice Little, 18 Fourth Avenue East.—If you want to increase your $1,000 start yourself in the dairy business in the suburb of Duluth, not too far from the city, so you can come in every morning and peddle your milk.

Mrs. James Bennison, 707 Ninth avenue east.—I would suggest the young man with his first $1,000 to go to a Duluth real estate dealer and purchase a new home on the small cash payment of $300 to $500 down and balance the same as rent, and save the balance of the $1,000 for a "rainy day" or sickness.

Charles Berg, 602 Cascade avenue.—To the Mr. Man who has saved $1,000 in the last ten years: We all know that $1,000 saved up in ten years amounts to $100 a year. We also know that a man of the ordinary working class will not be able to save much money in foolishness. My advice. Mr. Man, would be this: to take out $2,000 insurance on a twenty year endowment policy, which would cost you at your age, 35 years, $87.82 a year. This policy which will bring in twenty years $2,000, if you should live that long, and if not your family will receive the $2,000 any time during the twenty years if something should happen that you should be called away on your last journey.

Also if you do pay your premium for one year you will have the balance of $913.18 which I would advise you to put in a home. As you are a saving man you would be able to pay your insurance and on your home the same time during the continued years. Any insurance company will give you a cash loan value after the two years on your policy if you should need the money. This is my advice to the man who saved the $1,000 in ten years.

D. T. Salon, 2020 Minnesota avenue—Knowing not the nature of this $1,000 capitalized man's work it would be hard to name the business he is best suited for, so will speak only of investments.

I am a man of modest means, my investments consist of small amounts of money placed where the returns, although not large are sure.

My system for getting in touch with these small deals are through the medium of the evening paper's classified columns.

I started by making a small loan to a man who offered good security. Again I bought a so-called "snap" consisting of a house and lot in the suburbs, from a party who had advertised. After painting and slightly remodeling the house I advertised it and sold at a fair profit. Perhaps you will say that I am a shrewd business man, on the contrary I am an ordinary man like thousands who with the same capital could have been just as successful.

I would advise the careful reading of The Herald classified ads, which by the way seem to be a regular clearing house for all who have anything to sell.

Investigate the proposition offered thoroughly. It isn't as a rule wise to take hold of deals requiring the larger part of your capital, as that leaves you only a small amount to carry out your venture should it be necessary to invest more to make a success out of the first investment.

Usually the possibilities of large returns look good on paper.

"I'VE GOT THE FIRST $1,000; WHAT SHALL I DO WITH IT?"

For the second of its series of contests The Herald has an interesting problem which comes to it in the form of a letter that explains itself:

To the Editor of The Herald:

We have often been told—at least we used to be—by rich men that the hardest work on the road to wealth is to get the first $1,000.

I've got that sum now—saved it out of my salary during ten years. Who will tell me how to go the rest of the way? How shall I invest it? Shall I go into business, and what kind, and how?

I am 35 years old, with a wife and two small children, and have a fair position with a living salary, but that's about all. Probably I could, if nothing happened, save another $1,000 in another ten years, but with the cost of living going up faster than salaries—and I can't expect mine to go much higher than it is—it is going to be harder. If I am ever going to start out for myself and gain independence or wealth, now is the time for me to begin, while I am strong and healthy and young.

What shall I do with myself and my $1,000—and my family?

Here's a real problem, a vital one that will interest everybody; and The Herald hopes to see a large and interesting variety of answers. It hopes, too, that men who have traveled the road that lies before this young inquirer will take part in the discussion. The prizes will, of course, be no temptation to them; but this is a subject of wide interest, and they should be glad to contribute their wisdom and experience to its solution.

Write out your answer, limit it to 300 words, put your name and address at the top of the sheet, write on one side of the paper only, and send it to the Contest Editor of The Herald before Feb. 1.

For the best answer to this young man's problem The Herald will give a prize of $10.

For the next best answer The Herald will give a prize of $5.

For the third best answer The Herald will give a prize of $3.

PERMANENTLY CURED!

Records of Progressive Medical Association Show That If Once Cured the Disease Will Never Return.

Twenty-five years ago, when these scientific specialists settled down in Duluth, they had scores of patients come to them who had been fooled by men who could not cure them. People had parted with their money, but had not parted with their diseases. The principle of the Progressive Medical doctors always has been to do what is right, and if a man could not be cured they have not kept him guessing about it, but told him the truth; they never charged a patient for any disease which they could not thoroughly cure him of. This principle could not fail to lead them to success, fame and reputation.

MISTAKES. People have read of late many glaring ads of so-called specialists in Superior and Duluth papers, they promise everything in the way of cures. Some of them stayed for a few months, and quietly disappeared. Others have a hard fight to keep up expenses, because it is hard for them to find enough people at the Head of the Lakes who can be fooled all the time. All of these glaring advertisers have fooled people in other cities and states, till they could fool them no more, and then came to the Twin Ports. The doctors of the Progressive Medical Association had such tremendous success for more than twenty years in Duluth that they did not need to go somewhere else. They have always been successful in their cures, they avoided operations, charged a moderate fee for their work, and never charged if a cure could not be affected. People they cure stay cured for life.

EQUIPMENT. For the last five years the doctors of the Medical Association have equipped their offices with every latest machine and instrument which medical science has invented so that people who were in their office fifteen years ago would not recognize it to be the same office. They have invested thousands of dollars in their office, and have by far the best of medicines, of which probably not an ounce could be obtained from any drug store in Duluth or Superior. These specialists go even so far as to give a legal guarantee where they know they can cure a case. They cure all diseases of men, rheumatism as well as lung troubles, catarrh and stomach diseases, bladder trouble, blood poison and all men's diseases. Their offices are on Lake avenue and Superior street, Duluth, which are open from 9 a. m. to 8 p. m.; Sunday from 10 to 1. Consultation is always free of charge.

CLOSES ITS ENGAGEMENT

Lambardi Opera Company Presents "Madame Butterfly" on Last Night.

As presented by the Lambardi Grand Opera company, "Madam Butterfly" deserved fewer empty seats at the Lyceum theater last night.

It was the concluding opera to be offered by the company during the Duluth engagement and while the audience was the largest of the short grand opera season, it was small to what it should have been. What the audience lacked in numbers, it made up in hearty appreciation, however.

With Miss Ida Fasslo as Cho-Cho-San, Madame Butterfly, and Manuel Salaval as Pinkerton, the United States navy officer, the opera was made thoroughly enjoyable.

The music of "Madam Butterfly" is more or less familiar to Duluthians.

Since its first appearance a few years ago it has been as popular in Duluth as it has been at other music centers. It is the work of Puccini, a member of the younger school of Italian musicians, and contains many rarely beautiful passages, the best known of which is the aria, "Some Fine Day."

Miss Fasslo is more than a singer of rare ability; she is an actress. For her superb work last night and her singing in the difficult poses of the little Japanese maid, she received many hearty encores. She works out the story easily and naturally and sings with apparently no effort. Her voice is rich and full, the tones are sweet and the expression excellent. She displays her feelings and emotions quite as much through her acting as she does through her songs and she won for herself the entire sympathy of her audience.

Manuel Salaval is the possessor of a fine high tenor voice, well trained and agreeable to the ear. Last night's audience was loath to accept him as the United States navy officer for his figure is not that of a navy man, but he compelled the whole hearted approval of the audience with his voice. By the end of the first act he was not only accepted, but welcomed heartily.

As Sharpless, United States consul at Nagasaki, Angelo Antola, possessing a fine rich and deep bartone, made a distinct impression on his hearers.

Goro, a marriage broker, interpreted by Aristide Neri, furnished the only comedy of the opera in a manner very satisfactory to the audience.

Suzuki, maid to Cho-Cho-San, Adalgisa Giana, made the most of her opportunities. She possesses a sweet, if light voice. The other parts, the uncle, the commissioner and Prince Yamadoro, sung by B. Marco and Pietro Bugamelli were well handled.

"Madame Butterfly" is in two acts and three scenes. The scene is laid at Nagasaki, Japan, where a fleet of United States gun-boats is lying at anchor. Pinkerton meets and falls in love with Cho-Cho-San. They are married amid the chanting of Japanese songs and the tinkling of bells. Pinkerton evidently considers the marriage a joke or lark until he returns with his American wife two years later, to enter Cho-Cho-San's house just after she has taken her life.

The life of the little Japanese girl, who lives with her maid and her young son during the absence of Pinkerton, is pictured splendidly. She remains true to her American sweetheart, and prefers to live and wait and spend the time looking out over the harbor for the return of the American fleet.

With the coming of Pinkerton the life tragedy of Cho-Cho-San ends. He bursts into the room to find Cho-Cho-San dead, and the little son blindfolded, waving two American flags.

Fortune Gallo, manager of the company, announced yesterday that the company will include Duluth in its tour again.

Amusement Notes.

In response to many requests, the Gus A. Forbes company will continue its engagement at the Lyceum, and beginning Sunday afternoon that popular society melodrama, "Raffles," will be presented. "Raffles" will be the bill again Sunday night, Tuesday afternoon and night, Wednesday night and Thursday matinee and night, of next week. Mr. Forbes will appear in the role of "Raffles," in which he has appeared at the Lyceum before. The role is one made famous by the late Kyrle Bellew, and it is perhaps the most popular and interesting of the detective plays.

The feminine members of the company will have opportunity to wear some attractive gowns in this bill.

* * * *

Diogenes might have ended his search if he had been in Duluth. He would have found his honest man, a small man about 12 years old, but still a man.

Billy is his name, and he sells papers wherever there's a likely looking crowd. He handles pennies most of the time, so when his shoe covered a $5 gold piece on the sidewalk yesterday morning he was surprised and shocked. He knew where it came from, all right, for a minute before he saw it drop as a very attractive young woman passed along Superior street.

Billy saw the coin rolling his way, and he saw the young woman turn about for an instant, wondering if the jingle had been caused by her money. And Billy felt mightily relieved for a second when the young woman started away, confident she was mistaken.

This is where Diogenes comes in. When Billy moved his foot to one side and recognized the real money on the sidewalk as a $5 gold piece, he pondered deeply and rapidly as he shifted his gaze from the money to the woman, already fifty yards away. Then Billy picked up the money, and before he could change his mind he was tugging at the young woman's sleeve.

"Say," he said, "I guess you dropped somethin', didn't you? I found it back there. I saw it fall out of your purse." And Billy showed the gold piece.

The young woman, who was Miss Mabelle Adams, who is appearing at the Orpheum this week in the dramatic playlet, "Zila," was more surprised than Billy had been when he found the money. As she took the money she took the hand of Billy and led him back to her hotel with her. There she gave Billy half of the gold piece and a ticket for the Orpheum tonight.

Mike Gibbons, the St. Paul fighter, is one of the greatest men that ever stepped into a prize ring, according to Walter Stanton, who is appearing at the Empress this week. Stanton, who is some boxer himself, fought down east for several years under the name of George Erne, and while in the fight game trained many good fighters. One of the latest men to be handled by Stanton was Walter Coffey, who was recently put to sleep by Gibbons on his conquest of the East. "Any man that could beat Coffey the way Gibbons did is a wonder," says Stanton. "I received a letter from Coffey a short time ago, asking me to look up Gibbons and give him his records. Coffey said in his letter to me that he looked upon Gibbons as one of the most wonderful fighters that had ever fought in the East. Despite the fact that Gibbons whipped Coffey, there isn't any hard feeling between the two boys."

When Coffey fought Al Deming, Stanton was in charge of Coffey's corner as he was in the Britton-McFarland fight at New Orleans, when he trained Britton for his fight with Packey. Stanton is lavish in his praise of Gibbons, having met him during his engagement at the Empress in St. Paul, and speaks of him as a clean-cut, well mannered fellow. Boxing comes natural to the Stanton boys for their father before them was a fighter of some prominence. Walter Burch, as their father was known, was for a long time amateur champion of England and fought Jack Slavin, who was then champion of the world, staying with him for six rounds.

ASHLAND WOMAN HELD.

Bound Over on Charge of Performing Fatal Operation.

Ashland, Wis., Jan. 11.—After a preliminary hearing before Attorney Tomkins, who sat for Judge Garvin, Mrs. Kate Hess, head of a local maternity hospital, has been bound over for trial in circuit court on the charge of causing the death of Mrs. John Dormady of this city through an illegal operation. The accused's counsel sought to keep out of the evidence the dying statement of Mrs. Dormady to the effect that her condition was the direct result of the operation alleged to have been performed by Mrs. Hess, who is not a legal practitioner, but it was admitted. Three doctors who treated the deceased after she left the Hess place gave damaging testimony against the accused.

NEWS AND VIEWS OF MINNESOTA POLITICS

Alvah Eastman of St. Cloud is an avowed candidate for the Republican nomination for congressman-at-large, as announced in The Herad yesterday. This morning's mail brought a copy of his announcement, which is in the form of a letter to the Brainerd Dispatch.

The Eastman boom started without the knowledge of the St. Cloud editor and was a surprise to him. The newspapers of the state, strong in their admiration of Mr. Eastman, took it up and showered him with complimentary notices. Mr. Eastman was disposed for a time to regard the boom as a complimentary mention that would subside, but when the support grew and many prominent politicians wrote and requested that he be a candidate, he took the matter more seriously.

Mr. Eastman commands admiration from all who know him and most of the support given him is sincere. It has been so spontaneous that it has smothered opposition. If the slate-makers had anybody else in mind for the nomination, they have bowed to the Eastman candidacy. The Progressives were figuring on bringing out a candidate, but they have evidently thought better of it. Just now Mr. Eeastman has the field to himself and his friends would be pleased if he should be given the nomination without oppostition.

The office of congressman-at-large is good only until there is a congressional reapportionment, which probably he at the next session of the legislature. Mr. Eastman lives in the Sixth district and Congressman Lindbergh is a favored man of the Progressives. They tried to dratt him as a candidate for the governorship this year and it is not unlikely they will repeat two years from now. If Mr. Eastman should be drafted by the Progressives two years from now, Mr Eastman would be in line for the Sixth district nomination.

Mr. Eastman's letter to the Brainerd Dispatch follows:

St. Cloud, Minn., Jan. 10, 1912. Editors Dispatch, Brainerd, Minn. Gentlemen: In a recent issue of your paper you say:

"It is expected that Alvah Eastman will make his announcement for congressman-at-large within a short time and it will be received with approval in this section of the state. Eastman's record and his political views are an open book, and his assurances of support have come unsolicited by him or his friends, in fact so numerous have they become that the announcement that he will or will not stand for the nomination is a duty he owes his friends who believe he can be nominated and elected and that once in congress he will render good and faithful service to the entire state."

It is absolutely true as you state, that the assurances of support from many newspapers and individual Republicans have come entirely unsolicited, and for this season are the more sincerely appreciated.

I agree with you that a man should be entirely open and frank with his friends, and your presentation of the matter has appealed to me so strongly that I have decided to comply with your suggestion.

I should consider it a high honor to be the nominee of the Republican party of Minnesota, and have decided to be a candidate for congressman-at-large, actuated by the hope of being of service to the people of the state. Very respectfully,

ALVAH EASTMAN.

The Brainerd Dispatch says that W. R. Mackenzie, secretary of the Northern Minnesota Development association, is being talked of as a candidate for secretary of state. Little stock will be taken in the story. Mr. Mackenzie's heart is in the Development association and it is doubtful if he would consider a candidacy for an elective office. The northern part of the state has one avowed candidate for secretary of state in G. H. Mattson of Roseau and Mackenzie isn't likely to oppose him.

The Dispatch says:

There is talk in political circles that W. R. Mackenzie will become a candidate for the nomination as secretary of state before the next Republican convention against Julius Schmahl. It is argued that the geographical location of Mackenzie's home is correct, that his nationality, considering candidates for other positions on the ticket, is correct and that the present incumbent has held the position for three terms. In any event the Bemidji man is well posted on Minnesota and her needs and has done a whole lot of boosting for the state during the past few years.

The Bemidji Pioneer is a strong advocate of the nomination of Judge C. W. Stanton of Bemidji as the Democratic candidate for governor. After summing up the situation in the Democratic ranks, the Pioneer says:

So when all is said and done the fact remains that the one best bet of the Democrats is a man who lives in the city of Bemidji—Judge C. W. Stanton by name. As a campaign orator Judge Stanton has a line of eloquence that would stir up the state. He looks like a governor, talks like a governor, and if elected would sure enough be a governor. He was elected to the district bench hy an overwhelming vote on a nonpartizan ticket and is free from any factional differences in the ranks of the Democrats and would command many Republican votes.

If the Republicans are wise they will see to it that Judge Stanton is not the Democratic nominee.

Since George T. Simpson's retirement from the office of attorney general, friction between the offices in the state capitol has vanished, according to dispatches from St. Paul, and harmony now reigns. All officials, elective and appointive, are united by a common cause—the desire to extend their connection with the state payroll.

The elective officials make no secret of the fact that they will seek re-election. Governor Eberhart's candidacy is known and he frankly says he will be a candidate for re-election. Secretary of State Julius Schmahl, State Treasurer Walter J. Smith, Chief Justice Start, Associate Justices Holt and Bunn and Charles Elmquist and Ira B. Mills, members of the state railroad and warehouse commission, are all candidates for re-election. Attorney General Lyndon A. Smith, who succeeded Mr. Simpson, will seek election to the office to which he was appointed.

The appointive officers are naturally interested in the re-election of Governor Eberhart and they are strong for their chief. The administration, from basement to dome of the capitol, has formed a defensive and offensive alliance for the attachment of votes.

Claude M. Atkinson, "the old man hereof" of the Mesaba Ore, has turned that paper over to his son, Marc Atkinson. The "young man hereof" has inherited some of the literary style of the head of the family, as the following from his editorial column will indicate:

Governor Osborn of Michigan recently stated that he did not think that Senator La Follette of Wisconsin was a suitable presidential candidate for the Republican party. He was not overly much in favor of William Howard, but did think ex-Senator Albert Beveridge, or our dear old Ex. Teddy, the Turrible, were suitable ships to launch upon the political sea.

Perhaps Governor Osborn never heard of our own dear Adolph the Lucky, for if he had he would surely have picked him first as the most suitable figure-head for the Republican party. Adolph makes a first-class figure-head, and he never does a thing in opposition to the interests. In fact, he's the smallest little governor in the United States today.

Beveridge is known nationally. Taft is acknowledged a weak sister, and has the "rep" pinned to his coat-tail. Turrible Teddy is a fore-flusher, and in nice words, a colosal prevaricator, a proven fact, and it seems that about exahusts the presidential timber of the Republicans, unless The Ore's suggestion in regard to Dolphie the Lucky is followed.

There is one thing certain, and that is that no one would ever hear of Adolph's past achievements, and if the Republican party could only devise some way of keeping him from making speeches he would stand as much show as any other Republican candidate of the Taft-Roosevelt class would. Then, too, think how fine it would be to have Boss Smith running the national government—he does so splendidly with Minnesota's.

The following from Sam Gordon's Brown's Valley Tribune indicates that Samuel doesn't regard Ed Smith as a dictator for him:

According to the "opinion" of the ex-attorney general you can't try for office in this state without getting the O. K. of Ed Smith of Minneapolis —the people, the common herd of voters have nothing to say as to who shall be candidates. But the ex-attorney general was real obedient—abided by the decision of the boss?

The Bemidji Pioneer has dug up an old one. It says:

Over in the Eighth congressional district Congressman Miller is apt to have a Boyle on his hands soon. Oh, you James!

Every newspaper paragrahper hereabouts used that in 1910 when Bovle was a candidate for the senate against Paddy Vail. Let's supress it this year.

MARINE

WILL EXTEND THE SOO DOCK

Contractors Asked to Bid on Additional 600 Feet.

Contractors have been asked to bid on the extension of the Soo Line merchandise dock on Connor's Point, an improvement which has been planned by the railroad in the interests of its lake and rail business.

The present dock is 600 feet long by 85 feet wide. The extension will be 600 feet, making the structure 1,200 feet in length and doubling the capacity.

During the season of navigation just closed, the dock on Connor's Point was in use all of the time and the need for more room was felt.

Contractor W. F. Hill has started the rebuilding of Dock No. 2 of the Great Northern at Allouez. A crew of seventy-five men is now engaged in rigging up the machinery and scaffolding. When the construction work proper is under way between 300 and 400 men will be afforded employment.

Several cars of timber and iron for the preliminary work are arriving daily.

ORE MOVES FREELY.

Shipments to Interior Furnaces From Lake Erie Docks Large.

Ore on Lake Erie docks moved quite freely during the month of December, according to advices received here from Cleveland. The total shipments for the month from the docks to the interior furnaces were 773,503 tons. Of this amount 525,000 tons were shipped from Ashtabula and Conneaut docks. Cleveland docks shipped 87,000 tons.

December Lake Levels.

The United States lake survey reports the stages of the Great Lakes for the month of December, 1911, as follows:

Lakes.	Feet above tide-water, New York.
Superior	601.88
Michigan-Huron	579.46
Erie	571.46
Ontario	244.63

Lake Superior is 0.18 foot lower than last month, 0.47 foot higher than a year ago, 0.56 foot below the average stage of December of the last ten years, 1.25 feet below the high stage of December, 1900, and 0.65 foot above the low stage of December, 1879. It will probably fall 0.3 foot during January.

Lakes Michigan-Huron are 0.10 foot higher than last month, 0.04 foot lower than a year ago, 0.77 foot below the average stage of December of the last ten years, 3.14 feet below the high stage of December, 1885, and 0.46 foot above the low stage of December, 1895. They will probably fall 0.1 foot during January.

Lake Erie is 0.33 foot higher than last month, 0.12 foot higher than a year ago, 0.24 foot lower than the average stage of December of the last ten years, 2.07 feet below the high stage of December, 1885, and 0.60 foot above the low stage of December, 1895. It will probably remain about stationary during January.

Lake Ontario is 0.13 foot higher than last month, 0.26 foot lower than a year ago, 0.74 foot lower than the average stage of December of the last ten years, 2.98 feet below the high stage of December, 1861, and 1.20 feet above the low stage of December, 1895. It will probably remain about stationary during January.

ICE-CHOKED CHANNEL ENDS ALL NAVIGATION.

Grand Haven, Mich., Jan. 11.—Four steamers and two car ferries are in and out of the harbor here, but unable to navigate the ice-choked channel. Four of the boats have been tied up all day while two arrived at the ice barrier last night.

The steamers Alabama of the Goodrich, Nyack and Tonestoga of the Crosby line, and the car ferry Grand Haven are in the harbor unable to get out, while the steamer Crosby of the Crosby line, and the car ferry Milwaukee of the Grand Trunk fleet are outside the harbor, unable to get in. Those in the harbor were scheduled to leave yesterday morning.

Harbor men say that nothing but a change of the wind can weaken the ice barrier sufficiently to permit the vessels to pass it.

Chief Engineer Dies.

Andrew Jackson, chief engineer on the steamer J. P. Morgan, Jr., is dead at his home in Detroit. His death came as a surprise, although he had been ill for the past two years. He attended the recent convention of the Pittsburg Steamship company's engineers at Cleveland. Mr. Jackson was aged 41 and is survived by a widow and children.

MUNICIPAL LOAN BUREAU

Is Among Recommendations of Crookston's Socialist Mayor.

Crookston, Minn., Jan. 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mayor H. L. Larson, Socialist, is now in control of city affairs. The council at the first session under the new regime Tuesday evening elected P. Snyder president and confirmed the appointments of W. E. Rowe, city attorney; David Sanders, street commissioner, and Aaron Eck, chief of police. The confirmation of E. J. Boyer, as city engineer, now with the state drainage department at St. Paul, was laid over one week for investigation.

The mayor recommended a municipal loan bureau instead of a poor department, and the lowering of telephone rates. He opposed the $10,000 armory bonds voted at the last election, and favored park improvements.

EXAMINATIONS FOR GOVERNMENT JOBS.

A number of civil service examinations will be held early next month at the federal building. Feb. 3 there will be two examinations, one for editorial assistant in the bureau of education and the other for tobacco expert in the Phillipine service.

Feb. 7, 8 and 9 examinations will be held for some of the following positions: Land law clerk, topograhic aid, engraver, assistant geologist, mechanical draftsman, cadet officer in lighthouse service, cadet engineer in lighthouse service, junior topographer and laboratory aid.

Montana Hero Rewarded.

Libby, Mont., Jan. 11.—William E. Dawson has received from the Carnegie hero fund a bronze medal in recognition of his bravery in rescue work at the time of the Libby ferry boat disaster, on June 15, 1910.

TAWNEY CHOSEN HEAD OF BOARD

Elected Chairman of American Section of Waterway Commission.

Washington, Jan. 11.—James A. Tawney of Minnesota was elected chairman of the American section of the international joint commission created by the United States and Great Britain, to adjust boundary water disputes between Canada and this country. Mr. Tawney succeeded to the vacancy created by the death of Thomas H. Carter of Montana and was the unanimous choice of the American commissioners.

In a statement made public yesterday Chairman Tawney enumerates the water questions of important concern in Minnesota that will come up for consideration. These are:

The application of the Minnesota Canal & Power company to divert the flow of the waters from the Lake basin, now tributary to the Rainy river, into the St. Louis river, which has its outlet in Lake Superior.

The application of the Rainy River Improvement company for permission to build a dam at the outlet of Lake Namakan, raise the level of the lake, improve navigation in the Rainy river and develop water power.

A petition for deepening the channel of Warroad harbor, Lake of the Woods, and also a protest against dams at the outlet of that lake on the Canadian side.

The commission also will supervise the apportionment of water for irrigation in the Milk and St. Mary's rivers, which flow across the boundary between Montana and Alberta.

A. F. OF L. CONDEMNS THE EFFICIENCY SYSTEM.

Washington, Jan. 11.—The executive council of the American Federation of Labor has condemned the so-called scientific management system recently installed in various industrial plants and talked of for governmental plants.

"Considering the rapid rate at which American workmen now are asked to labor," said the council, "the subject of so-called 'efficiency' schemes has been considered by the council at length. The title is a misnomer and the schemes are simply calculated to induce 'speeding up' to a still higher rate, undermining the health and increasing the accident and death rate of the workers."

The action by the council was brought about by hostility on the part of workmen toward the Taylor and other scientific management systems.

MANY SEEK CLEMENCY

Thirty-four, Including Six Murderers, Before Board of Pardons.

Derosier and Herbert of St. Louis County Are on the List.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—Thirty-four applications for pardon or commutation of sentence will be considered by the state board of pardons Jan. 29. Six murderers, five of them life prisoners, are among those which will come before the board. Eleven of the thirty-four prisoners in question were sent to state's prison or the reformatory from Hennepin county, two from Ramsey county and two from St. Louis county.

Joseph Derosier, sentenced from St. Louis county Dec. 5, 1911, for one year for not supporting his family, will be among those whose case will be considered. George A. Herbert, sentenced to the state reformatory Oct. 17, 1910, for forgery in the second degree, will also be under consideration. Other cases are:

Bishop Dorsey, sentenced from Polk county, Jan. 9, 1900, to the state prison for twenty-one years. Murder.

Fred Paulson, sentenced from Pine county, April 24, 1906, to the state reformatory on the reformatory plan. Carnal knowledge.

James C. Nugent, sentenced from Wright county, June 6, 1894, to the state prison for life. Murder in the second degree. Prosecuting attorney recommends clemency.

William E. Anderson, sentenced from Ottertail county, July 27, 1908, to the state prison—indeterminate sentence. Judge recommends pardon.

Robert N. Chord, sentenced from Wright county, Dec. 24, 1908, to the state prison for five years. Arson in the third degree.

James Wesley, sentenced from Beltrami county, April 4, 1907, to the state prison for life. Murder in the first degree.

Sylvester F. Brenic, sentenced from St. Louis county, Dec. 12, 1910, to the state prison for two years. Grand larceny in the second degree.

Barey Sullivan, sentenced from Aitkin county, May 24, 1910, to the state prison for life. Carnal knowledge. Prosecuting attorney opposed clemency.

IN THE DAY'S WORK AT WASHINGTON

Hearing on Match Bill.

Washington, Jan. 11.—The abolition of white phosphorus matches from the American market and the substitution of matches made from a substance harmless to the workers in the manufacturing plants was urged before the house committee on ways and means. The committee held a hearing on the Esch bill, which imposes a heavy tax and penalties upon manufacturers who continue to use the ordinary white phosphorus. Deadly diseases, such as necrosis of the jawbone, are directly traceable to the phosphorus work rooms.

Ohio Rate Case Brief Filed.

The legal battle of the states for exclusive power over freight and passenger rates within their respective borders, opened in the supreme court yesterday when Attorney General Logan of Ohio filed a brief. It supported the right of the state to fix the rate on coal from certain mines in the state to Lake Erie ports within the state. The railroads contend that the coal is not destined to lake ports, but is a part of interstate shipments. The Ohio case is set for oral argument on Feb. 19, along with rates cases from half a dozen other states.

Curtis Defends Judge Hook.

Senator Curtis of Kansas has laid before President Taft what he considers an answer to charges recently made against United States Circuit Judge Hook of Kansas, one of the most prominent candidates before the president for appointment to the existing supreme court vacancy. Although the president will not decide upon a successor to the late Justice Harlan until Attorney General Wickersham returns, it is still believed that he will name Judge Hook.

Prouty Heads I. C. C.

Under the arrangement made last year for rotation in the office of chairman of the interstate commerce commission, Charles A. Prouty has been named to succeed Judson C. Clements. Mr. Prouty was next in point of seniority of service on the commission. Mr. Prouty, a native of Vermont, has been on the commission since 1896.

Opposes Army Bill.

The Bay bill providing for reorganization of the army, now before the house, is attacked in a statement by Maj. Gen. Wood, chief of staff, sent to the house committee on military affairs, of which Mr. Hay is chairman. Following the lines of President Taft's expressed opposition to the bill, Gen. Wood delivered the measure contained changes which would seriously impair army efficiency and demoralize the service without resulting in any real economies.

Hurry Pulp Paper Decision.

Complying with President Taft's injunction to expedite the judicial determination of the international tariff controversy over the question of the free entry of wood pulp and paper from all countries having "most favored nation" treaties with the United States, the board of general appraisers in New York will begin hearing the protests of importers early next week. Secretary of the Treasury MacVeagh has instructed collectors of customs throughout the country to rush all protests to the board of general appraisers.

Census Work Crippled.

The discharge of 1,100 clerks from the census office because of the lack of funds has so crippled the thirteenth decennial census work, according to a report from Director Durand to Secretary of Commerce and Labor Nagel, that it will be impossible to complete a number of important subjects by June 30, the date set by law for the publication of all the results. The director says the following topics cannot be finished:

Occupation statistics, characteristics of the foreign-born population, classified according to country of birth; mother tongue of the foreign born, tenure of homes, defective, dependent and delinquent classes; animal products of farms, including dairy and poultry products, and animals sold and slaughtered.

The cause of the reductions in force was the recent action of congress in appropriating a deficiency of $500,000 instead of $1,000,000, as requested by the census office. The question of continuing work on the uncompleted special topics, Mr. Durand declares, will depend upon future action of congress.

Will Favor American Ships.

Although the foreign press has condemned the view of President Taft and Secretary Stimson that American shipping using the Panama canal should be relieved of tolls, no protest has reached the state department from any European government. The legislation necessary to fix the tolls on the canal traffic and to affirm the free use of the waterways by American shipping is to be vigorously pressed in view of the urgent declaration of Col. Goethals that immediate action on the subject is demanded by the merchant marine of the world. The view taken by the administration is that through the subsidies paid by foreign governments to their own shipping, American shipping would be placed at an actual disadvantage were it not relieved entirely of these charges. No foreign protest is likely to change the position of the government in this effect.

May Solve Treaty Puzzle.

Supporters of the general arbitration treaties with Great Britain and France were encouraged in their hope for early ratification of the pacts when a plan for amending the resolution of ratification rather than the treaties themselves was advanced before the senate committee on foreign relations. The committee did not act, but the plan met with favorable comment and administration officials expressed entire satisfaction over the outlook. The proposed amendment would preserve to the senate all of its prerogatives and would be binding on this country. The senate would be given an opportunity to pass on all matters to be submitted to arbitration, but the treaties themselves would be left intact and no further negotiations would be required.

Lloyd Again Heads Democrats.

The Democratic congressional committee reorganized last night, unanimously re-electing Representative Lloyd of Missouri as chairman. Other officers elected were vice chairmen, Representatives Finley of South Carolina; Palmer of Pennsylvania, and Rainey of Illinois; secretary, Representative Page of North Carolina, who succeeds Representative Dixon of Indiana; assistant secretary, Representative Bell of Georgia; sergeant-at-arms, J. J. Sinnott of Virginia, doorkeeper of the house.

TOO COLD FOR VOTERS TO LEAVE FIRESIDES

Dr. McCuen and Dr. Cullum, candidates for mayor, are waiting upon the weather man before starting active campaigns, which each trusts will result in his election as the chief executive of the city.

They state that with the mercury down in the bottom of the tube the voters simply will not leave their firesides to attend political meetings. Under ordinary conditions the campaign would have been under full swing by this time, but as it is, both sides are holding off until Old Sol succeeds in making the ice king from the north beat a retreat.

DISTRICT SCHOOL BOARDS OF COUNTY WILL MEET.

The annual meeting of all the district school boards of the county will be held at the Commercial club on Jan. 20. Supt. Young has issued a circular letter, urging all the members of the various boards to be present.

E. M. Phillips, rural school inspector, will be present at the meeting and give a talk on topics important to those interested in the schools.

Each member who attends will receive $3 for the day and 5 cents a mile as traveling expenses, both going and coming.

LAST OF FLOTILLA OF DESTROYERS IS SAFE.

Washington, Jan. 11.—With the torpedo boat destroyer McCall reported to the navy department tonight as safe and approaching Bermuda under her own steam, the last of the government craft whose whereabouts had occasioned anxiety during the last few days, is accounted for. The finding of the McCall was reported by the commander-in-chief of the Atlantic fleet.

BROWN IS RE-ELECTED GOVERNOR OF GEORGIA.

Atlanta, Ga., Jan. 11.—The gubernatorial election in Georgia yesterday aroused but little interest. Former Governor Joseph M. Brown, who was nominated as governor, and H. M. Stanley, nominated as commissioner of labor at the recent primary, which was equivalent to election, received a comparatively light vote throughout. They were opposed by A. E. Castleberry of Columbus and C. E. Daniel of Augusta, respectively. The last two named were Socialist candidates and each received a scattering vote. The legislature will be convened Jan. 24 and Governor-elect Brown will be sworn into office Jan. 25.

SIGHT OF CANNON SUBDUES MAD NEGRO.

Rochester, N. Y., Jan. 11.—William Twiman, a negro, considered insane, murdered his father, Turner Twiman, at their home in Scottsville, a little village near Rochester, yesterday, shot dead a deputy sheriff, seriously wounded three other deputies and slightly injured Sheriff Harley Hamill, the leaders in a posse of more than 100 persons who endeavored to enter the Twiman house in which he had barricaded himself.

Twiman held the besiegers at bay for six hours until a one-pounder, hurried to the scene from the local armory with a squad of naval militia and national guardsmen arrived on the scene. Twiman walked out of the house holding his hands above his head. Officers placed him in an automobile and hurried him to the county jail here.

CRANE ESTATE MAY BE OVER $20,000,000.

Chicago, Jan. 11.—A partly completed autobiography of Richard T. Crane, iron master and foe of higher education, who died suddenly here Monday, has been brought to light by friends of Mr. Crane. Whether it ever will be published has not been decided by his family. Mr. Crane's will, which will dispose of an estate estimated at between $20,000,000 and $30,000,000, will not be opened for several weeks, it was said by his family.

BONE FROM WIFE'S LEG GRAFTED INTO HUSBAND'S.

St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 11.—With a piece of bone taken from his wife's left leg and grafted upon his own left leg, Alfred Bottonhoff is recovering from an unusual operation at a local hospital. Bottonhoff's leg was broken in an automobile accident, and his wife, fearing he would be lame, insisted on undergoing an operation, that physicians might replace bone that had been splintered. The transferred piece of bone was riveted in place by small silver tacks. Doctors declared neither patient will be lame.

DIAZ IS LISTED AMONG RETIRED ARMY OFFICERS.

City of Mexico, Jan. 11.—Gen. Porfirio Diaz has been placed on the list of retired army officers. His retirement is the result of a general order just effective, which provides that no officer shall be retained on the active list after reaching the age of 66. Gen. Ignacio A. Bravo is another officer forced into retirement by the new order.

Bury Dickens in New York.

New York, Jan. 11.—It has been decided by relatives of the late Alfred Tennyson Dickens, son of the English novelist, that the body of Mr. Dickens shall be buried in New York. It is now in a receiving vault in Trinity cemetery, and as soon as weather conditions permit, it will be buried.

MRS. ROOS MARRIES HER BROTHER-IN-LAW.

San Francisco, Cal., Jan. 11.—Mrs. Ernestine Roos, widow of the late Adolph Roos, surprised her friends here by marrying Achille Roos, her brother-in-law. The ceremony took place in the home where Roos, a wealthy merchant, entertained President Taft during his recent visit in San Francisco. The couple left on a honeymoon trip to Florida.

Demurrers for Franklin.

Los Angeles, Jan. 11.—Demurrers attacking the validity of the proceedings against Bert H. Franklin, the McNamara detective, have been filed by Attorney Le Compte Davis for the defendant. Arguments were set for Saturday.

Potts Succeeds Potter.

Washington, Jan. 11.—Capt. Templin M. Potts, director of naval intelligence, succeeds Rear Admiral William P. Potter as aide for personnel for the secretary of the navy, the change taking effect at once. Admiral Potter was injured by a fall while on his way to the president's reception on New Year's day. He has been granted a leave of absence of four months, which will carry him up to the date of his retirement, on May 10.

Greene's Widow Gets Property.

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 11.—The will of the late William C. Greene, known as the "Mining King" of Cananea, Sonora, Mex., who died in Cananea last August, was filed for probate yesterday. Col. Greene directed that all his property, personal and real, be given to his wife, Mary Proctor Greene.

A Hold-Up

An Oppressive Trust.

Before the Coffee Roasters' Association, in session at Chicago on Thursday, Thomas J. Webb, of Chicago, charged that there is in existence a coffee combine which is "the most monstrous imposition in the history of human commerce."

There is very slight exaggeration about this statement. It comes very close to being literally true. There is a coffee combine in Brazil, from which country comes the bulk of the coffee used in the United States, which is backed by the government of Brazil and financed by it, which compels American consumers, as Mr. Webb said, "to pay famine prices for coffee when no famine exists."

The worst thing about this is that the consumers of the United States have been compelled to put up the money through which this combine, to further cinch them, has been made effective. There were formerly revenue duties imposed upon all coffee entering the United States. Those taxes were denounced as an imposition upon the people; as taxing the poor man's breakfast table, and the like. The taxes were removed. Immediately thereafter Brazil imposed an export duty upon coffee up to the full amount of the former customs taxes in this country. The revenue which formerly went into the treasury of the United States was diverted to the treasury of Brazil. The poor man's breakfast coffee continued to cost him the same old price.

But this was only the commencement. The "valorization" plan was evolved in Brazil. Through this plan the government, using the revenues derived from the export duties for the purposes, takes all of the surplus crop in a season of large yields and holds it off the market, thus keeping the supply down to the demands of the market and permitting the planters to receive a much higher price than they would otherwise have done.

The United States consumes more Brazilian coffee than does the rest of the world. We are the best customers of Brazil, and Brazil buys little from us. Now Brazil is promoting, financing and maintaining a trust designed, and working effectively for the purpose, to compel American consumers to pay an exorbitant price for the coffee they use. What is the remedy?—Seattle Post-Intelligencer—Nov. 19, 1911.

Standard statistics of the coffee trade show a falling off in sales during the last two years of over two hundred million pounds. Authenticated reports from the Postum factories in this city show a tremendous increase in the sale of Postum in a like period of time.

While the sales of Postum invariably show marked increase year over year, the extraordinary demand for that well-known breakfast beverage during 1911 is very likely due to a public awakening to the oppression of the coffee trust.

Such an awakening naturally disposes the multitude who suffer from the ill effects of coffee drinking to be more receptive to knowledge of harm which so often comes as a result of the use of the drug-beverage, coffee.—Battle Creek Evening News—Dec. 19, 1911.

POSTUM

is a pure food-drink made of the field grains, with a pleasing flavour not unlike high grade Java.

Economy to one's purse is not the main reason for using Postum.

It is absolutely free from any harmful substance, such as "caffeine" (the drug in coffee) to which so much of the nervousness, biliousness and indigestion of today are due. Thousands of former coffee drinkers now use Postum because they know from experience the harm that coffee drinking causes.

Bad Case of Grip.

Mrs. Gentry Gates, East Lake, Ala., writes: "I had a bad case of la grippe. I tried several kinds of medicine, but could get no relief.

"I tried Peruna and it cured me. I can safely say that it is a fine medicine. I have used it in our family often and find it to be good."

Systemic Catarrh Follows Grip.

Mrs. Jennie W. Cecil, Big Cabin, Oklahoma, formerly housekeeper for Indiana Reform School for Boys, writes:

"Six years ago I had la grippe, which was followed by systemic catarrh. The only thing I used was Peruna and Manalin, and I have been in better health the last three years than for years before.

"I give Peruna all the credit for my good health."

After Effects of Grip.

Mr. K. Esveld, Company "B," 21st Michigan V. I., 39 Hermitage St., Grand Rapids, Mich., writes:

"I felt with advancing years that my vigor failed me and fear of poisoning my system with noxious medicines prevented my taking anything for it until noting the effect Peruna had on several of my comrades I made up my mind it would be good for me.

"I suffered for years from effects of the la grippe, which seemed to settle in my stomach and kidneys.

"Five bottles of Peruna made a new man of me. I wish that I had known of Peruna years ago, and then it would have saved me much suffering."

99% OF ALL FAILURES ARE CAUSED BY DRINK

The man addicted to the liquor habit has proven himself a speculation—an unsafe business venture. For statistics show that 99 per cent of all failures have been due to drink.

You may think that a drink "now and then" will hurt no man, but it will—it has. To prove that it has injured you, make this test:

Try your best to abstain for 30 days. You can't—you'll feel a hankering that cannot be denied—you'll be peevish—weak—unnerved. And that's the truest indication possible that you are a victim of drink.

A PERFECT CURE.

The Neal internal treatment cures the periodical, occasional or moderate drinker, the habitual and excessive drinker, and the nervous man who has to drink to keep from becoming more nervous. It takes away all inclination to drink, all desire and craving to drink, by neutralizing the poison of alcohol in the system and ridding the blood of the poison by a rapid system of elimination, leaving the drinker in the condition that he was before tasting liquor, so far as the effect of alcohol may be concerned—all appetite for drink gone—and he a new man.

NO HYPODERMIC INJECTIONS.

Refuse to take any treatment for the drink habit where hypodermic injections are given, for they are so liable to result in blood poison from the use of an infected needle, through the carelessness of others.

PLAIN CONTRACT GIVEN.

Each patient is given a plain contract, agreeing to effect a perfect cure in three days, or return the full fee paid.

Call, write, phone or wire for copy of contract and free booklet concerning the treatment. Everything strictly confidential.

CROOKSTON IS TAKEN BY ELKS

Descend Upon City in Droves to Participate in Dedication Events.

Crookston, Minn., Jan. 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—Despite thermometers registering 39 deg. below zero this morning the Elks of the Northwest moved upon the city and captured the stronghold, the Elks' new home.

Last night 550 guests danced till 4 o'clock this morning.

A special train from Grand Forks today brought 300 more Elks and the regular train brought a detachment which captured all the outworks before noon.

About 700 have been arrested and haled before Judge Charles Holt's "kangaroo" court on charges ranging from corespondence in a divorce suit to not being an Elk, and the police patrol is hauling them in by the sleigh load.

The ladies will participate in the social session this afternoon and the formal dedication with the dedicatory address by Dr. Henry Bryant will take place tonight, with a wild game banquet with covers for 600.

Dedicated Without Mortgage.

The $60,000 Elks building will be dedicated without a mortgage, Congressman Steenerson starting a flood of currency by a wire from Washington increasing his subscription from $200 to $1,000.

H. L. Larson, the new Socialist mayor, paid a fine of $10 for stealing ex-Mayor McKinnon's shoes.

MERCURY HAS NOT GONE ABOVE ZERO POINT THIS YEAR

on nineteen successive days, but six days was the longest period during which the temperature remained continuously below zero.

As far as a search of the weather bureau records could disclose, Duluth has never previously had a period of below-zero weather as prolonged as that with which it is now suffering.

This morning, the mercury dropped to 34 deg. below zero. It showed no signs of a pronounced rally and the temperature is expected to remain well below zero throughout the day and night. The forecast is continued cold weather all through the Northwest and there is no break in sight for the next thirty-six to forty-eight hours.

More intense cold was reported this morning from points northwest of Duluth. Grand Forks reported 44 deg. below zero, Devils Lake 40 deg. below zero and Medicine Hat 42 deg below zero.

Oconto Man Frozen.

Green Bay, Wis., Jan. 11.—Axel Palm, a resident of Oconto, was frozen to death last night near Lake Woods, where he was employed in a lumber camp. It is thought he lost his way while returning home last evening. He was 50 years old. The thermometer still hovers around 20 below.

Blast Ice in Fox River.

Appleton, Wis., Jan. 11.—The situation at the ice jam on the Fox river this afternoon is greatly improved. The light company managed to generate enough power to furnish light last night, and today street car service has been resumed. The cars are running nearly on schedule time.

The channel which had been cut froze up again during the night and the crews are at work again blasting it. They did not finish blasting the channel up to the railroad bridges last night because the men were nearly exhausted, but they are carrying on the work with renewed energy again today.

The situation on the down river side shows no change. Employes of the factory district are building retaining walls and cofferdams to keep the water out when it backs up.

La Crosse Still Suffering.

La Crosse, Wis., Jan. 11.—For the eleventh successive day, the temperature today was below dero, the thermometers at 7 o'clock registering a minimum of 23 deg. below. Only twice since the beginning of the new year has the temperature temporarily got above the zero point. Practically all out of door work is impossible.

POWDER MILL BLOWS UP AT WILPIN, MINN.

the other victim, except that he lived in Columbus, Kan., and was barely 20 years old.

The deputy coroner has gone out to investigate the explosion.

Official Statement.

The following statement of the affair was issued by the local officers of the company.

"The glaze mill at the new Dupont powder plant at Wilpin, Minn., blew up at 10:17 this morning. The cause will never be known. Two men, James Healy of Hibbing, Minn., and Charles Winter of Columbus, Kan., were instantly killed. No other employes were injured. The mill was of the newest type and was working in perfect order. Supt. William Feenie of the operating department and Supt. W. A. Smith of the engineering department had been in the mill for half an hour on their daily inspection trip and had left five minutes before the accident occurred. The property damage was slight."

by rail, and who are not in the habit of keeping large supplies of such things on hand, owing to the lack of storage facilities.

The Duluth, Missabe & Northern, which runs to Hibbing, Virginia, Chisholm and Eveleth, is one of the exceptional railroads, which is receiving consignments of all kinds of merchandise. But the refrigerator car service on this line is limited and not sufficient to keep the range supplied. The other roads have been refusing all kinds of fruits and vegetables, which are liable to be ruined by freezing. Among these articles are potatoes, apples, oranges, lettuce, cauliflour and many other fruits and vegetables, which cannot be handled by these roads in any form in such weather as this.

Potatoes Scarce.

Fortunately, Duluth wholesale houses are well stocked with most of these goods. There is danger of running short on just one important article of food, namely, Irish potatoes. The quantity of these stored in Duluth is not large, and there is no way of bringing any more of them into the city until the weather moderates. Farmers do not dare to haul potatoes into the city from the surrounding farms, for fear the tubers will freeze on the way. The wholesale price has already risen from 90 cents to $1 a bushel within the past few days, and it is very likely to go higher. The supplies of canned goods and of cabbages, turnips, apples, oranges, in short, most of the fruits and vegetables that are staple articles of food, are ample as far as the city trade is concerned, to stand almost any possible siege of cold weather.

Duluth is about out of the fresh vegetables that are luxuries at this time of the year. Green and wax beans, cauliflower, lettuce, tomatoes and other table delicacies of the kind, which are shipped from warmer latitudes during the winter under ordinary conditions, are not to be had now, unless they can be obtained by express. Some of the express companies will handle them and rush them through, but others will not touch them. The price of such articles, if any are received by express at Duluth, will undoubtedly be such as to prohibit their use by any except the very wealthy.

Frozen Delicacies.

A local wholesale house yesterday received a large express consignment of lettuce, tomatoes, cauliflowers and sweet potatoes, but the whole lot was thoroughly frozen when delivered. This will mean a good sized claim against the express company.

It is not likely that the inhabitants of any of the small towns of the range or any other locality where shipments of fruits and vegetables may be cut off, will suffer for want of staple articles, such as potatoes, cabbages, onions and the like, because these people as a rule buy their whole winter's supplies of such vegetables in the late fall or early winter, and store them in their cellars.

Among the towns to which Duluth cannot at present make shipments of fruits or vegetables on account of the weather are: Two Harbors, Gilbert, Ely, Aurora, Tower, Keewatin, Nashwauk, Grand Rapids and Kelly Lake.

In any event, there is no danger of the cold spell causing any serious shortage of food, either in the large or the small cities, for flour, meats and many other foods that cold weather does not affect, can be shipped in whatever quantities may be needed.

The cold weather will not affect the price of eggs, except by stopping the hens from laying. Eggs are not difficult to ship, even in the coldest weather. In being transported from one town to another they are almost always sent by express for the sake of speedy handling.

The mercury must rise to some point in the neighborhood of zero before the produce traffic can be restored to its normal condition.

DOMINATION OF THE STEEL TRADE BY THE TRUST IS ADMITTED

sembled and practically dominated by one great corporation?"

"Admirably stated," said Mr. Carnegie.

"Has there been the same progress in the steel business since the United States Steel corporation got hold of the industry?"

"I don't believe that any corporation can manage a business like a partnership. When we were partners I felt that we could run around corporations. You take thirty-five young men interested in watching over a leak in a spigot and no corporation can compete with such an organization in any business.

Man Who Owns Land.

"It is the same thing with the man who owns the land and tills it. Take Iowa for instance. When a young man I went to Iowa on a holiday. There I saw those beautiful farms, those homes of a triumphant democracy. Those young men owned their lands, their homes. Great Caesar! What can a big farming corporation do against such a condition as that?"

"The man who owns the land is the man, the equal of any other man in a triumphant democracy. Why, I have loved Iowa ever since I saw that picture."

Mr. Carnegie gave the committee several illustrations of his power to get business when he was in the steel market.

"Why, take rails for instance," he continued. "I had many close friends in the railroad business. I remember once the Union Pacific had asked for bids for 70,000 tons of rails and the bids were to be opened at Omaha. All my competitors were out there. I walked over to Sidney Dillon of the Union Pacific in New York. I had done the Union Pacific a favor once; got them a loan of something like $600,000 in Philadelphia, and they elected me and George M. Pullman directors.

Influence and Orders.

"I told Dillon about the bids and asked him if the Carnegie rails were satisfactory. He said they were. I said: 'I want the Union Pacific to do business with me and I'll give you the lowest price.' He said: 'All right, Carnegie,' and I got the 70,000 tons contract.

"Now, what's the use of a corporation fighting against such an influence as that?"

Mr. Carnegie also related how he had given a credit to Collis P. Huntington, president of the Union Pacific at a time when Huntington was "hard up."

"He was my friend," said Carnegie. "What chance has a paid agent to compete under those conditions?"

Mr. Carnegie was questioned at length about the price of steel rails, the committee seeking to establish if possible, whether $28 a ton for rails was a fair or unfair price, or the price for which they sold since organization of the Steel trust.

Tilt With Gardner.

Representative Gardner of Massachusetts and Mr. Carnegie had a tilt, Mr. Gardner becoming agitated, and Mr. Carnegie refusing to be flustered.

"Do you believe $28 a ton a reasonable charge for steel rail at present?" demanded Mr. Gardner.

"I think it would be a liberal price."

"Would $26 be a fair price?"

"I don't want to sit here as a critic on my successors."

"Was $28 a reasonable or unreasonable price for rails when you left the business?"

"I would like to ask my counsel a question,' Mr. Carnegie replied. "I think your questions are a bit unreasonable."

Mr. Carnegie, in view of the examination of the last two days," said Mr. Gardner emphatically, "I do not think I am unreasonable. It seems to me that you are reluctant to answer questions which are of interest. You were unable to tell us about the steel plate pools; you could tell us nothing about the book value of your property; and now when we ask you about what you thought a fair price of rails, you turn to your counsel for advice."

"I turn to my counsel because at that time there might have been a boom in rails and the price had been up," said Mr. Carnegie. "I do not think $28 an unreasonable price. If there was a boom the price would have been higher.

"I was in the business of making money and wanted the highest prices I could get. If I wanted to sell for $50 and the consumer was satisfied to buy at that price, that wouldn't be unfair, would it?"

Got Ahead of Rockefeller.

"It does my heart good to think that I got ahead of John D. Rockefeller, my fellow millionaire, in that Lake Superior ore deal."

Mr. Carnegie gloated thus in testifying yesterday after he had told the committee about his deal with Mr. Rockefeller whereby he obtained control of Mr. Rockefeller's Iorn ore holdings in the Lake Superior region at the rate of 15 cents a ton, holdings which, when turned into the Steel corporation later, formed a large part of the assets valued at $700,000,000.

Mr. Carnegie laughed like a school boy as he referred to the business triumph he had achieved over his "fellow millionaire." As he spoke of Mr. Rockefeller he took the committee into his confidence and told of a New Year's call he and Mrs. Carnegie had made on the oil kind and Mrs. Rockefeller.

"We had an enjoyable chat, but in our conversation I never referred to that ore purchase," and Mr. Carnegie chuckled while his auditors enjoyed the laugh with him.

Throughout the inquiry Mr. Carnegie declared he had come to tell all he knew, but he was unable to supply many facts which the committee desired, stating that he had never paid any attention to the books of the Carnegie company before its absorption by the Steel corporation.

That Option Affair.

He was particularly emphatic in his testimony relating to the sale of his property to the United States Steel corporation at the behest of J. Pierpont Morgan, and told the committee that he wanted to end gossip that he had held out for an unreasonable price. He also declared that when his partner, H. C. Frick, asked him for an option for unknown persons on the Carnegie Steel company, that he demanded $2,000,000 as an earnest of intentions of the prospective owners, and that when the deal fell through and he learned that the Moores of New York were behind it, he was surprised.

"Had I known that the Moores were behind that option which I made on a valuation of $320,000,000," said Mr. Carnegie, "I never would have given it."

Mr. Carnegie was asked about the Steel Plate association and other pools which the Carnegie company was a party to in the late 90's and which continued until 1904. He said he had known of the existence of pools, but did not know that they were unlawful until many years afterward.

Pools and the Sherman Law.

"I never knew anything about the details of those pools," he said. "I knew that such pools existed, but I left the business to my young men. I was abroad much of the time. If I couldn't trust my young men, what could I have done myself? As I remember it, the pools were not declared unlawful under the Sherman law until very recently. Senator Hoar, who had much to do with the framing of the Sherman law, wrote a statement after the passage of that law that pools were not prohibited by it.

"As a matter of fact, it was a surprising thing to me when I learned a few years ago that the Sherman law was passed so long ago as 1890. It certainly was not much heard of until long afterward."

When asked by Mr. Gardner about the statement made by Senator Oliver that the Carnegie company received railroad rebates, Mr. Carnegie declared:

"It's astonishing how suspected an honest corporation can be. I never received a rebate that I know of in all my life."

Mr. Carnegie then related how he had fought the Pennsylvania railroad because of discrimination in rates against him, how he had interested the Vanderbilts in a project to erect a competing road to the East, and how the Vanderbilts had "gone over to the enemy," ending the project.

Mr. Carnegie declared that instead of the Carnegie company having received rebates, as a matter of fact, he had forced the Pennsylvania by threats to built competing roads to agree to give him rates as low as those given competitors.

Subpoenas Duces Tecum.

Intimate books and papers of the United States Steel corporation are to be examined by the government. Chairman Stanley last night issued subpoenas duces tecum for all the documents, which thus far the Steel corporation had not produced, although the committee expressed its desire to examine them.

The subpoenas are served directly on J. A. Farrell as president of the United States Steel corporation, but there is no disposition on the part of the committee to force him to take the stand. The subpoenas are made returnable Jan. 22, and the corporation is commanded to turn over the documentary evidence to Expert Accountant McRae of the committee.

Chairman Stanley, who prosecuted a successful campaign for an additional appropriation of $9,000 to carry on the investigation into the steel situation, announced then that he proposed to cease temporizing. He declared he would subpoena hereafter such witness as he wished to come, and would seize by the authority of congress such documentary evidence as he deemed important. Additional subpoenas, it is understood, will be issued within a few days.

Purchase of Oliver Stock.

Mr. Carnegie explained how the Carnegie Steel company had purchased five-sixths of the Oliver Iron Mining company's stocks in the '90s. Mr. Stanley asked him why the final sixth was purchased on a valuation basis of $17,000,000 for the whole tract, though ordinarily the company was capitalized at only $1,200,000.

Mr. Carnegie expressed surprise at this question.

"At that rate," he exclaimed, "we would have paid $85,000,000 for the whole tract. I'm not surprised at anything nowadays. If that is true, what fools we were to sell our properties to the United States Steel corporation."

It was then explained that the $17,000,000 valuation basis was that of the whole tract and not the sixth. Even then, Mr. Carnegie said that if such a sum as indicated by these figures was paid, he was surprised that he "was such a fool as to sell our property to the Steel corporation on the basis of $430,000,000."

Then, after a moment, Mr. Carnegie turned to the chairman.

"My friend," he said, "you will have to ask somebody who knows about those figures. I never heard of them before."

When Your Hair Is Faded or Brittle

"A beautiful growth of long, glossy and fluffy hair can be had by every woman—hair of a rich, even color," writes Mrs. Mae Martyn in the Washington Leader. "The only condition to this is that shampooing be indulged in at least once a month. And a word about what to use: Never—no, never employ soaps or mixtures containing 'free' alkali, because of the disastrous effects following.

"A dependable and really delightful shampoo mixture can be made by dissolving a teaspoonful of canthrox in a cup of hot water. This is enough for a thorough cleansing of both scalp and hair. After a canthrox shampoo the hair dries evenly and quickly and regains its former shade, soft fluffiness and rich gloss. Nothing is so effective for removing dandruff and keeping the scalp healthy and pliant."

Paint Without Oil

Remarkable Discovery That Cuts Down the Cost of Paint Seventy-Five Per Cent.

A Free Trial Package is Mailed to Everyone Who Writes.

A. L. Rice, a prominent manufacturer of Adams, N. Y., has discovered a process of making a new kind of paint without the use of oil. He calls it Powdrpaint. It comes in the form of a dry powder and all that is required is cold water to make a paint weather proof, fireproof and as durable as oil paint. It adheres to any surface, wood, stone or brick, spreads and looks like oil paint and costs about one-fourth as much.

Write to Mr. A. L. Rice, Manuf'r., 673 North St., Adams, N. Y., and he will send you a free trial package, also color card and full information showing you how you can save a good many dollars. Write today.

WAKE UP, MINNESOTA!

Howard Elliott, president of the Northern Pacific railroad, made a speech Tuesday before the Minnesota Agricultural society which showed the proper spirit. The railroads ought to work actively toward the agricultural development of every section along their lines, and though in doing so they will be performing a great social service, they will also be working to increase their own earnings. This is a sort of enlightened selfishness that is not only sound patriotism but good business.

Mr. Elliott gave some figures that ought to make Minnesota sit up and think. He showed that while Minnesota each year plants about 1,500,000 acres of corn and 10,000,000 acres of small grain, Iowa yearly plants 9,000,000 acres of corn and about 5,000,000 acres of small grain. Iowa's total acreage in corn and grain is 14,000,000, and Minnesota's is but 11,500,000.

Yet while Minnesota is a state 400 miles long and 350 miles wide, Iowa is but 300 miles long and 210 miles wide. Minnesota contains 53,353,600 acres and Iowa but 35,856,000; yet Iowa's grain acreage is more than 20 per cent greater than Minnesota's.

Of course not all the tilled acres in either state are in grain. But the statistical showing of the 1900 census—figures for the 1910 census are not yet available—does not improve the comparison so far as Minnesota is concerned. In that year Iowa had 228,662 farms while Minnesota had but 154,659, and Iowa had 29,897,552 improved acres while Minnesota had but 18,442,585. Undoubtedly the disparity is less now than it was then; but it is still great.

What this means, of course, is that Minnesota must be up and doing. It must get its idle acres settled, and to that end it should reorganize its state departments having to do with the proper care and development of its land and other resources. It should make a careful survey of its possessions, including a soil survey, so that it will know the character of each tract, its advantages and disadvantages and the purpose for which it is best fitted. It should extend its immigration work, after it has done these things, and it should advertise to the homeseekers of the country the splendid advantages it offers to tillers of the soil. In order that land speculators shall not absorb an unfairly large part of the benefits of its work, it should re-enact the wise restrictions upon the sale of state lands, repealed by the legislature at its last session, which were intended to make it certain that when the state sold land it sold to home-builders and not to buyers for speculative purposes.

Minnesota can easily double its improved acreage. It can double the production from the acres already tilled by the adoption of up-to-date farming methods.

Every idle acre, in these times when the country is land hungry and when hordes of homeseekers are passing through this state bound for Canada and the Far West, is a standing reproach to the sloth and neglect of Minnesota and its government.

THE COLD.

Yes, it's cold—bitterly, unnecessarily, persistently and penetratingly cold. But about all there is to do is to grin and bear it—or bear it anyway, whether you can grin or not. Probably there are a lot of people who, living in drafty houses with cold floors and cold-leaking walls, forced to keep shoveling coal when it is all they can do to buy enough coal to keep warm in moderately cold weather, can't grin and can hardly bear it. And then there are others who haven't any coal at all. These charity is doing its best to care for; and people who have spare change can make good use of it by equipping organized charity with means to meet the situation.

THE TWO-THIRDS RULE.

Willis J. Abbot, who is furnishing The Herald with interesting letters on the political situation, says the Democrats are thinking of abolishing the rule requiring a two-thirds' vote to nominate a presidential candidate. We should think they would abolish it. It isn't Democratic, whether you spell the word with a big "D" or a little "d." It offers interested parties a chance to prevent the ratification of the popular choice. It ought to go.

THE INCOME TAX.

Wisconsin is trying the experiment of a wise and ingeniously contrived income tax, and it is good to note that the progressive Wisconsin supreme court has refused to declare it unconstitutional.

Here and there the sanctuary of "unconstitutionality," which courts long have held out for the benefit of those threatened by measures of justice, is failing to prove any sanctuary at all.

The Wisconsin decision is of particular interest because it upholds the giving of exemptions to all whose incomes are below a certain figure, and the provision of a progressive rate of taxation proportional to income—so that the more you have the more you pay, not only actually but relatively.

Possibly there is going to be a conflict between the nation and the states on the income tax, but not necessarily. The income tax amendment to the Federal Constitution is going to be ratified by the states, which will make it a part of the Constitution. It is not an income tax law, however, but merely an authorization to enact an income tax law. Congress should enact such a law as soon as the Constitution authorizes it, in order that some part of the burden of taxes which now falls on the many of moderate means or none at all, because it is a tax on consumption levied through tariff duties, may be shifted to the shoulders of those of large means.

There is no particular reason why there should not be both Federal and state income tax laws, but if there is a conflict between the two, sooner or later it will be the Federal income tax that will win.

It is not easy to impose successfully a state income tax, because it is too easy for those whom it is designed chiefly to reach, the rich, to move out of the state which seeks to impose it. Though such individuals are fond of prating of state's rights in order to escape effective Federal action, that's all their loyalty to the state amounts to. When state income tax laws are pending they will theaten, if the laws are passed, to remove themselves out of the reach of these laws; and when the laws are passed doubtless many of them will carry out their threats.

It is another case where state action would be successful if it were uniform and simultaneously enacted, but these are things that never have happened yet. Probably if all the states but one adopted proper income tax laws, there would still be one that would refuse to do it, and that would advertise for millionaire immigrants, using as an inducement the fact that it imposes no income tax. New Jersey, you know, up to Woodrow Wilson's time advertised itself as a state that would create any kind of a corporation formed to prey upon the people of other states.

The chief advantage of the Federal income tax is that it would provide a direct tax for government purposes that would do away in part with the need of the indirect tariff tax. Indirect taxes always are vicious because their victims do not suspect what is being done to them, and the tariff tax is peculiarly vicious because it provides not only for government taxation of the people but for taxation of the people by private interests for private profit.

Wisconsin's experiment with the income tax will be watched with interest; but in the meantime the states that have not yet ratified the Federal income tax amendment, and Minnesota is one of them, should be urged to do so.

FORTUNE SMILES ON DEMOCRATS.

Tuesday the Kansas district long represented by the late Congressman Madison, effective insurgent, elected a Democrat to congress, the first in a dozen years. The winning candidate is a brother-in-law of the popular Governor Stubbs, who stumped against him in vain.

The incident will be heartening to Democrats, who have had of late plenty of such heartening. It shows again a strong disposition on the part of the people to turn to the Democratic party for relief which the party long dominant in national affairs has denied them.

The Democrats mustn't mistake the situation, however. The public is turning to them not because of their party label, but because it hopes for better things from them. They have the greatest chance in many years, but it isn't a chance that can't be thrown away. Though the people have been electing Democrats wherever they could for several years, except in hidebound districts, they will not accept whatever is offered them under the Democratic label.

From the president down, the Democrats should offer to the people none but candidates whose professions and practices square with this new mood of the public, which demands results, rather than party prosperity, and which insists upon a return to government by and for the people.

REAL HARD LUCK.

Probably you think often that you are a victim of bad luck. You are prone to exaggerate your misfortunes and to minimize your good fortune. That's just human nature.

But some time when you think fate isn't dealing justly with you, contemplate such an example as that described in the local columns of The Herald last evening.

J. A. Jeffreys is a man of 48. For some time he has been making his living selling papers from a little box stand at the corner of Fifth avenue west and Superior street. During the bitter cold he sat there with his little stock displayed, and he seemed about as cheerful about the cold and things in general as anybody.

The reason he had to do this is that several years ago, when he was fighting a fire at a Northern Pacific dock, a large plank fell across his hips, crushing them and so injuring the spine that he is partially paralyzed. Before that he was a grocer, but hard luck attended him there, too.

Day before yesterday this unfortunate man slipped on the icy sidewalk when he was trying to get into his little newstand, and broke a leg. Now he isn't selling papers any more, and he can't till his leg knits. But of course if he hadn't had to sell papers to get his bread and butter he wouldn't have been out in this cold weather. So other things besides pain and inconvenience are doubtless bothering him now.

You think you are in hard luck? What would you think if the fiend of bad luck had dogged your footsteps as it has dogged Jeffreys?

NOT QUITE HONEST.

Congressman Miller of this district comes back from the Canal Zone in favor of imposing a reasonable canal toll and rebating the tolls to American ships.

We can't agree with him, because this plan, though suggested by President Taft, is not honest.

The Hay-Pauncefote treaty prevents this country from exempting its own vessels from the payment of canal tolls. To impose a toll and then to give it back again is nothing but a plain evasion of the treaty provisions, and Great Britain and Germany would be warranted in making vigorous protest against such a policy.

The pretense under which this system of rebating would be caried on is that the rebate of the canal tolls is a subsidy to American ships.

The Herald questions very seriously whether it would not be, in fact, rather a case of smuggling in the ship subsidy plan under pretence of relieving American vesels from the necessity of paying tolls.

This country cannot afford to be otherwise than honest with its neighbors and with itself. To evade the treaty by rebating the canal tolls would be dishonest toward other countries. To introduce the ship subsidy scheme in this guise would be dishonest toward the country itself, which is not in favor of ship subsidies.

Congressman Miller, The Herald believes, is wrong in the view which he brings back from his trip to the Canal Zone.

THE COMMISSION PLAN IN OPERATION—20.

Bartlesville, Okla., went under the commission plan in 1910. The general indebtedness of the community was greatly reduced under the new plan. City warrants are now worth par and city deposits bear interest, something unknown under the old regime. A recent letter from the mayor states that more street paving has been done and under course of construction in the last ten months than during the entire history of the city before the commission plan was adopted. Party politics is entirely eliminated, and appointments for the various department heads are made on merit only.

Possibly a scheme of city government that can work these changes in other cities might help Duluth.

THE OPEN COURT

(Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their ideas about the topics of general interest, but discussions of sectarian religious differences are barred. Letters should not exceed 300 words—the shorter the better. They must be written on one side of the paper only, and they must be accompanied in every case by the name and address of the writer, though these need not be published. A signed letter is always more effective, however.)

FIRE INSURANCE ON THE PUBLIC SCHOOLS.

To the Editor of The Herald:

The matter of placing the fire insurance on the school buildings is of considerable public interest, and since not all the facts are known, I take pleasure in adding the few that have come to my personal knowledge.

In the first place, any agency in the city could write the insurance at the same rate that those five agencies wrote the insurance. This office has been interested in the matter of a rate for the school buildings for several months, and we learned that in the city of Minneapolis, where they carry $1,500,000 of insurance, their rate is 40 cents, or $1.20 for five years. While the city of Minneapolis has a larger fire department and the physical conditions are not as hard to contend with in the matter of hills and the water mains, yet on the other hand, their buildings do not in any way compare with the magnificent buildings of the city of Duluth. Yet their rate for five years is 45 cents per hundred lower than the rate here.

To those who have been reading the newspaper comments, it would appear that the five agencies obtained this reduction in rate. As a matter of fact, these rates were reduced because of the improvements made in the city schools as follows: The manual training department has been moved from the old high school to the fireproof manual training building. The chemical laboratory, which was formerly in the main part of the high school building, was removed to the separate brick engine-room building, and the old high school building was entirely rewired in conduits. In addition to the above, the Ely school, the Merritt school, the Salter school, the Fairmont school and the Madison school are practically fireproof buildings, part of which were not in existence five years ago and part of which were formerly frame buildings having been burned, and one, I think, has been sold. These are the conditions which necessitated the lowering of the rate, which rate, I think, should have been made 50 cents instead of 55 cents. However, the inspector, J. B. McLeran, makes these rates, and all of the fire insurance companies in the city write under them.

Heretofore the only argument against dividing the insurance has been the fact that more clerical work would devolve upon the secretary; that the writing of forty-five or fifty checks and the settlement of as many losses would work hardship. In view of that fact, the Phoenix Insurance company, which I represent, offered to take over all of the insurance on all of the buildings in the city of Duluth and on all their contents in one policy for a term of five years at as low a rate as could be obtained from any other insurance company.

There is in this state an anti-discriminatory law, and if the facts concerning the rating of Duluth and Minneapolis can be obtained, there is a possibility that the rate can be forced still lower.

We should like to know if the companies which carried the insurance last year have paid a return premium for the improvements in the Central high school from some time in August until Dec. 28. If not, we would advise the board to make claim for such return premium, because the improvements were finished at the time the schools began in the fall, or sooner.

Only desiring that the public should know the facts, and that other insurance agents have just as good companies and can write the insurance just as cheaply, we can see no reason why the insurance should be given one-third to Manley-McLennan and one-sixth to the other four, and when they have had their turn, it would seem wise to give it to someone else for the next five years. The commission on these policies which comes to the agent is 25 per cent, consequently Manley-McLennan received $1,666.67 and the others $833.33 each net profit. The commission which Manley-McLennan received would not pay the taxes of the Wheeler estate for one year.

Do you think that the school board acted perfectly fair in this matter, since it did not ask for bids nor give the other agencies a hearing? Yours truly,

BERT N. WHEELER.

Duluth, Jan. 9.

WANTS TO HEAR SCHOOL BOARD'S SIDE.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Permit me to ask a question or two, in regard to the school insurance controversy, as a citizen and tax payer. Perhaps we will be enlightened by the school board a little later, but I believe others are interested too, and wish to know some of the things I am inquiring about.

Do I correctly understand that only five agencies offered the school board the reduced rate, at which the school property is now insured? Was this rate obtained at the request or through the combined efforts of these five agencies, or through the efforts and strength of their companies? Are the rates now as low as should be obtained, considering the fact that the schools are practically all fireproof now, even though the rate has been reduced? Were other agencies asked to bid on this insurance, as a business house or corporation would require?

The school board should not be criticized if they are acting solely in behalf of the taxpayers. But I believe, if it were convenient and possible, bids for all supplies or materials should be advertised for, to secure the best results and terms. This, I think, is the way railroads and all corporations are governed, and has proven the most economical way, and provided the best services.

It is not, of course, expected that the members of the board, all of whom are giving their time and services free, should spend a considerable amount of their time on small matters. But the spending of vast sums, such as for insurance, fuel and other supplies must necessarily occupy a little time, and needs careful consideration.

If this was rushed through, which appears to have been the case, the board is a little to blame for the criticism of their hasty action.

I have, as a general rule, found our insurance agents here to be a fine collection of men; eager, of course, for business, but a majority of them are among our most public spirited and representative business men, and are therefore also entitled to be heard on this question.

I would like to hear the school board's side of this question.

Yours very truly,

FAIR PLAY.

Duluth, Jan. 11.

PUT FRESH AIR FIENDS OUT ON THE PLATFORM.

To the Editor of The Herald:

I cannot say that I object to fresh air although I cannot claim membership in the fresh air fiend club, but it seems to me that there might be some judgment used in that line once in a while. I refer to the street cars on the West Third street line, and I suppose that what is true of them is true of cars on other lines as well. It seems to me that it is rather stepping over the line for the conductors to open the ventilators when the car already has a temperature to which the owner of a well-regulated barn would object. Under ordinary winter conditions that would probably be all right, but with the thermometers registering about 35 or 40 below zero it appears to me to be rather far fetched when the car is already cold. I can hardly think that the health department could find the slightest objections to keeping these ventilators closed, at least until the car had been warmed to a reasonably comfortable temperature. I do not believe that Dr. Webster or Dr. Murphy would assert that it would be unhealthful or that disease germs would be liable to be active. If the conductor finds it uncomfortably warm inside, although the thermometer in his car does not register more than 40 or 45 above zero, there is plenty of room on the platform. The same applies to the fresh air fiends. I have not noticed that the rear platform has been popular these days, so it may be reasonable to suppose that even the fiends are not overly crazy about a supply of real, unadulterated fresh air. If they must have it, they can get it on the platform. It does not seem to me that eight or nine people should be forced to chattering teeth and shivers in order that the other one or two can ride a hobby to death. Fresh air is fine. It's a good and healthful thing. But how many want to get it in wads while sitting in a chilly street car with the mercury 35 or 40 below zero? The thermometer in the car in which I came downtown this morning registered 36 above, which is only 4 deg. above the freezing point.

DULUTH AND THE HERALD.

Right Principles Cannot Be Beaten.

Cass Lake Times: Anything to beat The Duluth Herald, hence the questionable proceedings at St. Cloud. It's a long lane that does not lead back to the principles advocated by The Herald.

Press Can Show the Light.

Buhl Advertiser: The Duluth Herald, during the holiday season, has been left alone in its laudable fight to bring about an extra session for the just apportionment of taxes, the entire country press being too busy attending to the demands of merchants for advertising to continue. The rush is over and it is a safe bet that Governor Eberhart and the special interests he represents will be shown the light of reason and the beginning of the end of the former.

Polk Knows the Way.

Holt Northern Light: The Duluth Herald has made the discovery that the state of Minnesota is completely under the control of the Republican machine, and says: "It is getting to be time that somebody made a test of the strength of this organization, and that somebody made the experiment of trying to win a fight in Minnesota with the special interests against him."

Polk county made the experiment last year and elected an anti-organization senator in spite of the special interests and their boodle. If The Herald wants to enlighten the public on how to fight the organization it can find lots to tell if it will get posted up on the Polk county campaign.

Practical Charity.

Princeton Union: Christmas eve, as is his annual custom, a Duluth philanthropist paid for all the copies of The Herald taken from the office by the regular newsboys and carriers. Hence, every cent taken in by the boys was clear profit. Whosoever this kind-hearted man is, he certainly knows how to exercise the Christmas spirit in a truly practical manner.

Worse for the People.

Virginia Virginian: The Herald didn't get the extra session, but neither did the people of Minnesota.

Their Jobs Are Changed.

Chisholm Tribune-Herald: The Duluth newspapers have fired the space writers who contributed daily articles of truth and wisdom under the dismal caption, "It is cool in Duluth!"

It Surely Is.

Stillwater Gazette: Duluth is to have a new jail and the papers up there admit is is needed.

Justifiable Pride.

Eveleth News: The Duluth Herald points with a justifiable pride to its present circulation of 27,000 copies daily. It sure is a fine showing, and a success well earned.

The Land of Perpetual Daylight.

From "The Grinnell Expedition," by Elisha Kent Kane: The perpetual daylight had continued up to this moment (Aug. 18) with unabated glare. The sun had reached his north meridian altitude some days before, but the eye was hardly aware of the change. Midnight had a softened character, like the low summer's sun at home, but there was no twilight. At first the novelty of the unvarying day made it pleasing. It was curious to see the "midnight Arctic sun set in sunrise," and pleasant to find that, whether you ate or slept, or idled or toiled, the same daylight was always there. No irksome night forced upon you its system of compulsory alternations. I could dine at midnight and sup at breakfast time, and go to bed at noonday; and but for an apparatus of coils and cogs called a watch, would have been no wiser and no worse.

My feelings was at first an extravagant sense of undefined relief—of some vague restraint removed. I seemed to have thrown off the slavery of hours. In fact, I could hardly realize its entirety. The astral lamps, standing dust-covered on our lockers, puzzled me as things obsolete and hateful. But by and by came other feelings. The perpetual light, garish and unfluctuating, disturbed me. I became gradually aware of an unknown excitement, a stimulus acting constantly, like the diminutive of a strong cup of coffee. My sleep was curtailed irregular; my meal hours trod upon each other's heels, and but for stringent regulations of my own imposing, my routine would have been completely broken up. I began to feel how admirable, as a systematic law, is the alternation of day and night—words that type the two great conditions of living nature—action and repose. To those who with daily labor earn the daily bread, how kindly the season of sleep! To the drone, who, urged by the waning daylight, hastens the deferred task, how fortunate that his procrastination has not a six months' tomorrow! To the brain workers among men, the enthusiasts who bear irksomely the dark screen which falls upon their day dreams, how benignant the dear night blessing which enforces reluctant rest.

Rocked in the Cradle of the Deep.

Rocked in the cradle of the deep,
I lay me down in peace to sleep;
Secure I rest upon the wave,
For Thou, O Lord, art born to save,
I know Thou wilt not slight my call,
For Thou dost mark the sparrow's fall;
And calm and peaceful shall I sleep,
Rocked in the cradle of the deep.

When in the dead of night I lie
And gaze upon the trackless sky,
The star-bespangled heavenly scroll
The boundless waters as they roll,
I feel Thy wondrous power to save
From perils of the stormy wave;
Rocked in the cradle of the deep,
I calmly rest and soundly sleep.

And such the trust that still were mine,
Though stormy winds swept over the brine,
Or through the tempest's fiery breath
Roused me from sleep to wreck and death.

In ocean cave still safe with Thee,
The germ of immortality!
And calm and peaceful shall I sleep,
Rocked in the cradle of the deep.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

Taken From the Columns of The Herald of This Date, 1892.

•••The annual report of M. F. Chalk and John Monaghan, government inspectors of hulls and boilers, shows there are in this district thirty-five passenger steamers, fifteen ferry, sixteen freight, forty-two towing, twenty-two pleasure and thirty-three miscellaneous, making a total of 123. The number of passengers carried, 246,612, shows a very large increase over that of the previous year.

•••The Alliance city committee has changed its organization and is now a part of the People's party, organized under authority from the state central committee of that party. Its members are: A. T. Scarlett, chairman; Knute Bryan, A. F. Rudolph, John Krogstad, A. J. Tallockson and J. W. Schweiger.

A FAILURE OF DEMOCRACY.

Charles T. Hallinen in Chicago Morning Post: Hegel, in one of his works on the much-abused philosophy of history, suggests that one of the reasons that great countries and empires have just the sort of troubles which they do is because their social consciousness is of a peculiar kind. Their social consciousness, he says, has "become estranged from itself."

This is putting obscurely, and perhaps none too attractively, what is, after all, a very familiar and certainly a very interesting political phenomenon. What Hegel meant was that the great countries and empires are more or less at the mercy of a popular consciousness which is confused in purpose and easily daunted. The man who is a very alert member of the village library board is usually a little vague upon county affairs, still more vague about state legislation, and in a fine state of bovine incapacity for effort on national politics. Not that he doesn't do his duty when it is pointed out to him. Of course he does. This is no indictment-of-democracy-on-trial. But he does it poorly, and almost any glib speaker can fill him full of horrible misgivings as to the propriety of his conduct. Which is one reason the ordinary man takes such pains to attend only the meetings of his own political party.

What is true of the single individual is true of all of them taken collectively. As another philosopher than Hegel has put it, "the government in such vast social orders represents the law, a dictation which the individual finds strange to himself. The power of the state, even when it is attractive to him, still seems to him like a great natural force rather than his own self, writ large."

This is as good a description as one could find, probably, of the political soil, of the social consciousness, in which the protective tariff has flourished in the United States. Fifty years ago the American people had a provincial self-possession regarding the protective tariff. They intended to get certain benefits out of it, and when they had done that they intended to shear it of its strength. They did it, too, for about a decade. When they found, in 1857, that they were taking in more revenue than they needed for the expenses of the Federal government, thy rode rough-shod over the protests of the Pennsylvanians and a few New Englanders and reduced duties down to an average of 20 per cent, which was the lowest they had been since 1816. Their strong provincial consciousness that it was a decent and a Christian thing to have reciprocity with one's neighbors led them to establish it with Canada. It was all easily done.

But that provincial capacity for action has departed from us as our frontiers have widened, our population grown, our half continent become a whole. The perfectly definite views of 1857 have somehow not served to check, even momentarily, the encroachments of that class in the community which has had perfectly definite views to the contrary. James Bryce has taught the editorial writers of the country to say that the "one conspicuous failure" of the United States is the government of her cities. Well, like a great many other things which editorial writers are taught to say, there is, perhaps, questionable doctrine. Certainly the failure of the popular "will" for the last fifty years to get a national revenue system remotely approximating its desires is quite as conspicuous, if not as picturesque, a failure as that indicated by Tammany Hall.

What the Chimney Sang.

Over the chimney the night-wind sang
And chanted a melody no one knew;
And the woman stopped, as her babe she tossed,
And thought of the one she had long since lost,
And said, as her tear-drops back she forced,
"I hate the wind in the chimney."

Over the chimney the night wind sang
And chanted a melody no one knew;
And the children said, as they closer drew,
"'Tis some witch that is cleaving the black night through!
'Tis a fairy trumpet that just then blew
And we fear the wind in the chimney."

Over the chimney the night wind sang
And chanted a melody no one knew;
And the Man, as he sat on his hearth below,
Said to himself, "It will surely snow,
And fuel is dear, and wages low,
And I'll stop the leak in the chimney."

Over the chimney the night wind sang
And chanted a melody no one knew,
But the Poet listed and smiled, for he
Was man, and woman, and child, all three,
And said: "It is God's own harmony,
This wind we hear in the chimney."

—Bret Harte.

Logical Enough.

Lippincott's: The teacher in the primary department of a Philadelphia schoool had been holding forth at some length with reference to the three grand divisions of nature—the animal, the evgetable, and the mineral. When she had finished, she put this question:

"Who can tell me what the highest form of animal life is?"

Whereupon the pupil nearest her hastened to supply the answer as follows:

"The giraffe."

Small Choice.

Everybody's: A certain island in the West Indies is liable to the periodical advent of earthquakes. One year before the season of these terrestrial disturbances, Mr. X., who lived in the danger zone, sent his two sons to the home of a brother in England, to secure them from the impending havoc.

Evidently the quiet of the staid English household was disturbed by the irruption of the two West Indians, for the returning mail steamer carried a message, to Mr. X., brief but emphatic—

"Take back your boys; send me the earthquake."

The Conservative Factor.

Kansas City Times: Job Harriman, Socialist, received a majority of 5,061 of all the men's votes cast in Los Angeles, but 75 per cent of the 78,000 women voted for Alexander and elected the latter. Which proves that the women are more conservative—or something—than the men.

A Truthful Girl.

Lippincott's: "I am very sorry, Capt. Snobb, that circumstances over which I have no control compel me to say no."

"May I ask what the circumstances are?"

"Yours."

DULUTH GETS GREAT DOCTOR

Electro Medical Doctors Have Doctor of Great Reputation. Diagnoses Diseases Without Asking Single Question.

His Great Knowledge of Chronic Diseases of Men and Women Makes Him the Greatest Diagnostician in the Northwest.

There are very few doctors who have acquired as great skill and knowledge of human ills, and of the remedies to cure them as has the doctor who is in charge of the Electro Medical Institute. Like most scientific men, he has spent half of his life in scientific and research work, in clinics and hospitals.

The corporation of the Electro Medical doctors at No. 26 West Superior street, has secured the services of this great doctor, because they are sure that the services of a great doctor will be of as great a benefit to the patients as it will be for the establishment of a reputation for the office and future sanitarium of the Electro Medical doctors. This doctor will not stay just for a few months but has taken up permanent residence in this city. He has acquired the greatest of all medical knowledge, that of correctly diagnosing any patient's disease without tormenting him with all kinds of embarrasing questions. He usually at a glance tells the patient his troubles, or if the disease is deep seated he finds it with the X-Ray or the microscope.

The doctor resents any claim of remarkable power like that of a genius, but he claims that he has acquired this great knowledge and skill to heal diseases, by persistent study and observation in clinics and hospitals and by hard work in experimental research. In Petersburg, Russia, and in Berlin, Germany, he has been credited with being a "great daignostician." One would travel hundreds of miles before he would meet a doctor who could locate a patient's troubles without asking a single question. Such knowledge is not acquired in a four years' course in a medical school. It is left to the scientist who diligently works at his problems of disease half a life time, till he solves them. There is no greater problem in the world than the human body with all its woes and miseries, its pains and aches physically and mentally. Nothing will be of greater interest to those who bore the burdens of disease, which scores of doctors failed to cure, and no other news would be as welcome to them as that of the famous scientist settling in Duluth.

To correctly diagnose a patient's case would be of little benefit to the sick if he did not know how to heal them. The corporation secured the doctor under the condition that they would buy for this office all scientific instruments and machinery necessary for the cure of patients. His cures are most remarkable and most of them have been performed on cases which always have been thought to be incurable; curiously enough, they usually took but little time to be cured. The corporation of the Electro Medical doctors have spent thousands of dollars for their machinery. They are fixing up their offices with waiting rooms for men and women separate. They hope to open the offices within a few days and will announce the opening in the daily papers.

MARTIN MAKING STRONG CAMPAIGN

Friends of Candidate for Alderman Aiding Him in Race for Office.

The cold weather has put a damper on the municipal campaign in West Duluth, for it is hard for anybody to get up enthusiasm over anything when the mercury is around the 30 deg. below zero mark. There is considerable quiet work for the different candidates, however, and when the cold snap breaks the campaign will assume a more heated character.

The candidates for alderman in the Eighth ward are conducting a thorough campaign. Each candidate and his friends are canvassing the ward thoroughly and a guess at this time on the successful candidate would be futile.

P. H. Martin, the Democratic candidate, is gaining strength daily. Mr. Martin has lived in the same precinct in the Eighth ward for twenty years and he knows almost every voter personally. He has scores of friends working for him and they are hopeful of his success.

Mr. Martin is one of the pioneers of West Duluth. He is a dealer in forest products with an office uptown, and he has many friends throughout the city as well as in West Duluth. Great pressure was brought to bear on him to become the Democratic candidate for alderman and he consented reluctantly, but now that he is in the race he is making a campaign that should tell when the votes are counted.

Mr. Martin has never held office, but he has always been active in civic affairs and he is now vice president of the West Duluth Commercial club. He has been an enthusiastic member of the club for years and was recently elected to the vice presidency.

Emil Zauft, the Republican candidate, and P. G. Phillips, who is running on the Socialist ticket, are also working hard for votes.

WORK ON TRESTLE AT FIFTY-SEVENTH AVENUE.

Work on the steel trestle across Fifty-eighth avenue west was finished this morning and the men have been placed on special crew work to get the steel down to Fifty-seventh avenue west for the trestle to be built across the Canadian Northern tracks at that point. The tracks have been laid up to Fifty-eighth avenue west and the trains will run with the steel up to the point of building the other trestle.

About fifty men are divided in crews to work with the two engines. The present cold weather has delayed the train traffic so that the men are compelled to do a great deal of extra work. The bridge crossings of the Canadian Northern tracks are now all laid up to Fifty-seventh avenue west. Every street must be crossed up to Central avenue and then the special trestle across the Northern Pacific tracks at Fifty-third avenue west must be built.

BELDEN FUNERAL HELD AT PROCTOR.

The funeral of Ira Belden of Proctor, who was killed in a railroad accident at Kenora, Can., on Jan. 3, was held from the family residence at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon. Rev. C. W. Ramshaw of the Proctor M. E. church officiated and interment was in the Oneota cemetery.

The accident in which Belden was killed occurred while he was riding in the caboose of a freight train on the Canadian Pacific line, where he was working as a brakeman. Another freight train ran into the rear end of his train telescoping the caboose, and before Belden could get out, he was scalded to death.

Belden formerly worked as a freight conductor for the Duluth, Missabe & Northern at Proctor and when the dull season came on he went to work in Canada. He leaves besides a widow, two daughters and a son. The body was brought to West Duluth yesterday and arrangements for the funeral were made by the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen of which he was a member.

ELIM CHURCH HOLDS ELECTION OF OFFICERS.

The annual election of officers for the Elim Swedish Lutheran church, Fifty-sixth avenue west and Ellinor street, was held in the church parlors last evening. A. F. Lundholm was elected secretary for the year and the remaining officers are as follows: Charles Anderson, deacon; John Olson and M. T. Carlson, trustees; Rev. J. A. Krantz, superintendent of the Sunday school; Charles Anderson, assistant; A. F. Lundholm, organist and choir leader and delegate to the Minnesota conference of the Lutheran churches.

TWO FIRES CAUSED BY COLD WEATHER.

Two fires in West Duluth yesterday were caused by the cold weather, according to the statement of the fire department. The first fire at 3614 West Third street was caused by an overheated chimney and was put out without great loss. The second took place at the home of L. C. Smith, 118 South Sixty-third avenue west, resulting in a damage of $200. The fire was caused by the blowpipe of a plumber who was thawing out the frozen pipes in the basement of the building.

Sunday School Methods.

Rev. W. L. Sutherland, superintendent of the Sunday school department of the Congregational churches in Northern Minnesota, will speak on "Sunday School Methods" at the Riverside Congregational church of New Duluth at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon. He will assist Rev. Allen Clark, pastor of the church, at the evening services and during the week will assist in a series of gospel meetings to be held in Fond du Lac.

THREE GAMES PLAYED IN ESTERLY EVENT.

Three games were played last evening in the Esterly event at the Western Curling rink. Mallory defeated Holland, 15 to 7, Brown won from Judson, 11 to 8, and Olson defeated Ittis, 11 to 8. A set of three games will be played in the same event this evening, Zauft against Barnes, Method and Evered, and Wade against Buckley.

A picked rink of the Western Curling club will play a practice game this evening with the rink of the New Duluth Curling club, skipped by A. C. Anderson, which will represent the club at the Northwestern bonspiel to be held in Duluth next week.

Funeral of Mrs. Anderson.

The funeral of Mrs. Hannah Anderson, 85 years old, who died late Monday afternoon at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Nils Hanson, 4508 West Third street, was held at 2:30 this afternoon from the Filiatrault undertaking rooms. Rev. Edwin Stromberg of the First Swedish M. E. church officiated and interment was in the Oneota cemetery.

DULUTH INDUSTRIAL HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

Today was regular bank day at the Irving school in West Duluth and the students deposited $56.83 for the week. This brings the grand total thus far up to $200. Mrs. Jensen of the First National bank, which has charge of the school banks, is conducting the work at the Irving school and Ely school every Thursday. She will visit the Ely school this afternoon. Mrs. Jensen is well pleased with the interest of the pupils and the co-operation of the parents, as is also Prof. S. A. Foster, principal of the school, who started the student bank system.

The German club of the Duluth Industrial high school met at the school last evening and discussed the plans for the coming semester. Several novelties are planned by the members, and a special German playlet will be one of the features.

* * *

The high school hockey team is now ready to meet the other high school teams of this section of the state, and Manager Williams is daily corresponding with teams on the range. Word was received from the Chisholm high school yesterday that its team has disbanded for the year, and that a game with the Duluth team would not be possible.

* * *

The members of the high school annual staff will meet in the school this evening and make the final plans for the first book. The material has nearly all come in, and the editorial management is now arranging the book and the various features. The choice of a name will also come up at the meeting this evening, and it is probable that a final vote will be taken.

* * *

The Musical society will hold its regular meeting at the school this evening and Miss Bernice Foster, who has charge of the musical work of the school, will direct the meeting.

RAILROADS

NO SHORTAGE IN COAL SUPPLY

Interior Towns Able to Get Enough Fuel to Supply Demand.

Despite the long spell of below zero weather, and the difficuty of moving coal and perishable freight, there have been no shortages of coal reported from interior points.

The Omaha passenger train from Chicago was two hous and thirty minutes late this morning and the South Shore train was also two hours and thirty minutes late. The Winnipeg Flyer came in five hours overdue. Trains on the other lines were also running behind schedule, on account of the severe weather.

DEADLY FLAT WHEEL

Breaks Lots of Rails on Milwaukee Railroad.

Aberdeen, S. D., Jan. 11.—More than 500 rails were broken Wednesday between Milbank and Aberdeen, ninety miles, by a flat wheel on the Olympian, the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul's westbound flyer. Seventy-seven were broken between Webster and Waubay, a distance of eleven miles. Traffic is practically abandoned. Trains are held while the rails are being replaced.

CANADIAN NORTHERN PUSHING NEW LINES.

H. T. Hazen, district engineer for the Canadian Northern railway with headquarters at Port Arthur, was in the city yesterday, a guest at the Spalding.

"Three thousand men are now employed on new construction work east of Port Arthur and an engineering crew has started for the foot of Long Lake on the Hudson Bay slope," said Mr. Hazen.

"On the latter expedition, they will drive 80 miles east of Nipegon and pack with dogs the rest of the way, 50 miles. A crew of laborers will be started in on this road soon. It is a fairly level country, 400 feet above Lake Superior. There is said to be iron ore in that region."

AMONG RAILROAD MEN

W. W. Walker, general manager, and S. R. Lewis, general freight agent, Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic railway, returned this morning from Chicago, where yesterday they attended a meeting of the Chicago Transportation club.

W. L. Brown, traveling passenger agent for the Burlington road, is in Duluth today.

SAYS ZERO WEATHER "WOULD BE SULTRY."

W. C. Hartnett, general agent of the Northern Pacific at Winnipeg, who is in the city today, reports traffic conditions at Winnipeg to be suffering from the continued cold weather.

"We are having much the same trouble as is being experienced in Duluth," said Mr. Hartnett. "Switching crews in the Winnipeg yards work only a few hours a day and locomotives freeze up in a short time. Freight trains on the Canadian lines are operating under great difficulties."

Mr. Hartnett said that he had come down to Duluth to spend a day or so in the "banana belt." He said that in Winnipeg for several days the thermometer had not registered higher than 25 deg. below zero.

"If we would get zero weather up there now, the people would complain about it being sultry."

So Tired of Tired Feet! Use TIZ

Gets the "Tired" Out in a Few Minutes, Makes Your Feet Sore-Proof.

"O fudge! It's awful how tired feet make you feel tired all over—so dead tired. Then when you've got a corn besides, and a bunion and a few blisters, and your feet are terribly swollen, you don't care if you've got a million dollars—you're tired, that's all. A million dollars can't help you, any more than 25 cents will."

"Pull, Johnny, Pull!"

A quarter buys a box of TIZ—a wonder for tired, sore, tender, chafed, blistered, swollen, sweaty, smelly feet, corns, callouses and bunions, chilblains and frostbite. The moment you use it, you give a sigh of relief, and then you smile. There's nothing as good as TIZ, so don't accept any attempted imitation. TIZ draws out all the poisonous exudations that make foot troubles.

TIZ, 25 cents a box, sold everywhere, or sent direct, on receipt of price, by Walter Luther Dodge & Co., Chicago, Ill. Recommended by all Drug Stores, department and general stores.

J. H. COOK FILES FOR ALDERMAN

Grain Merchant Independent Candidate for Office in Fourth Ward.

J. H. Cook of Gregory, Cook & Co., grain merchants on the board of trade, has filed his petition as an independent candidate for alderman in the Fourth ward. Mr. Cook's petition bears over 200 names. He has addressed a circular letter to the voters of his ward, stateing the principals for which he stands, and he will make a canvas for votes as an advocate of a business administration for the city.

There are four candidates for alderman in the Fourth ward, H. P. Curran, Democrat, the present alderman; Max Oreckovsky, Republican; Richard Jones, Socialist, and Mr. Cook. All candidates are making a hard campaign and the contest in the Fourth will be an interesting one.

TROOPS WILL SAIL FOR CHINA FRIDAY

Enlisted Men Welcome Prospect of Service in the Field.

Manila, Jan. 11.—Delay has arisen in connection with the departure of the transport Logan, which is to convoy the First battalion of the Fifteenth Infantry regiment to China. She probably will not leave until Friday morning. The delay was due to the alterations which it was necessary to make on the transport so as to provide proper accommodation for the field and machine guns and the draft horses.

The troops will disembark at Chin Wang Tao, and Rear Admiral Joseph B. Murdock, commander of the United States Asiatic squadron, probably will assist at the landing.

Maj. James M. Arrasmith will be in command and will report to William J. Calhoun, American minister at Pekin.

The men are jubilant at the chance of field service.

DULUTHIANS AS READERS

Library Loaned 2.4 Books to Every Resident During 1911.

Non-Fiction Circulation Increases From 29 to 33 Per Cent.

Every man, woman and child in Duluth drew 2.4 books from the public library during 1911.

This means that the total circulation of the library was 189,588, and this divided by the population of the city, shows that the average for each person was 2.4.

The record is considered very good It ranks well with the averages of other cities. The average in Chicago is 1.3; St. Paul, 1.8; Grand Rapids, 2.4; St. Joseph, 2.8; and Los Angelos, 2.6.

The statistics given are from the report of the librarian in charge, Miss Francis Earheart. In 1910 the total circulation was 177,044. If the gain is as much in 1912, the circulation will be over the 200,000 mark.

At the beginning of 1911 there were 55,287 volumes in the library. There are at the present time 57,896, a gain of 2,609. During the year 2,739 books were lost and withdrawn, while 5,348 books were purchased.

In 1911 there were 2,218 new borrowers.

The adult fiction circulation was 87,-293 and the adult non-fiction was 31,-866, a total circulation of 118,869 among grown people.

In the juvenile department 41,364 fiction books were distributed and 29,-326 non-fiction. The total circulation in the juvenile department was 70,689. The number of books added was 1,583.

The percentage of non-fiction, the department which the librarians are constantly trying to encourage, was 33. This is an increase over last year's percentage which was 29.

The average daily circulation was 622 volumes. The average weekly circulation was 3,645.

Forty newspapers were kept on file daily and 186 weekly and monthly magazines were in use on the reading tables. The library was open 357 days for circulation and 365 days for reading purposes. Circulation was allowed between the hours of 3 to 6 on Sunday afternoons during the year.

The West end library distributed 39,-293 books during the year and the West Duluth branch distributed 10,775.

Sub-stations are maintained at the Salter, Fairmont and Lowell schools. During 1912 a number of other branches will be installed in the grade schools of the city.

In addition some of the fire halls are supplied with reading matter.

COUNTY SUPERINTENDENTS WILL RECEIVE NOTICES.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 11.—Letters advising county superintendents of schools of the action taken by the state board of health prohibiting the use of roller towels and general drinking cups in schools will be sent out within the next few days, according to Dr. H. M. Bracken, secretary. Bubble fountains are recommended, and where these are unavailable tanks with faucets may be used.

Humperdinck Seriously Ill.

Berlin, Jan. 11.—The condition of Engelbert Humperdinck, the noted composer, who has been seriously ill for some days, has undergone practically no change. The statements of the physicians in attendance are cautiously worded, but they express hopes of his recovery.

Wife Helps Him Stop Drink

She Makes Her Home Happy Again After Many Years.

COSTS NOTHING TO TRY.

The Reunion Golden Remedy Did It.

It is impossible for the average drunkard to cure himself. Some woman must help him, whether it be his mother, wife, sister, sweetheart, or some noble friend. It is a woman's work.

This is the only treatment that we can recommend, and this is recommended most heartily because of the brilliant results of which we have positive knowledge.

This treatment contains no dangerous drugs whatever. It is colorless and tasteless, and can be given secretly in any food or drink. It is prepared to aid in building up tissue, appetite and digestion. Its purpose is to counteract the effects of alcohol, and destroy the craving for liquor in a lasting way. The victim need never know how he was cured, or who saved him. He may think he quit of his own accord. This treatment is called Golden Remedy, for "Golden" it really is.

If you have a husband, son, brother, father or friend who is a victim of liquor, all you have to do is to send the Free Trial Coupon below, together with your name and address on a slip of paper, and the sample will be sent you in a plain wrapper so that no one will know what it contains. Send this with your name and address to Dr. J. W. Haines Co., 2505 Glenn Bldg., Cincinnati, Ohio.

Free Trial Coupon

This coupon will entitle the sender to an absolutely free trial of GOLDEN REMEDY, together with complete instructions and directions, if sent with name and address as instructed above. The package to be mailed in a plain wrapper and the sender of this coupon to be under no obligations whatever.

NEWS OF THE WEST END

MODERN WOODMEN TO DEDICATE THEIR NEW HALL IN WEST END ABOUT MAY 20

NEW HALL OF DULUTH CAMP, M. W. A., TWENTY-FIRST AVENUE WEST AND FIRST STREET.

At Columbia hall last evening the members of the Duluth camp, No. 2341, Modern Woodmen of America, installed their new officers, following which a business session was held by the building committee of the order.

The new officers are: Edward Lowe, consul; C. Hanson, advisor; Charles Shogren, clerk; A. Anderson, assistant clerk; N. C. Bergren, escort; P. Marsh, watchman; J. C. Coning, sentry; J. P. Miller, trustee, and Drs. O. A. Oredson, L. Q. Greeley and L. C. Pare, physicians.

The building committee let the contract for the furnishing of the new hall at Twenty-first avenue west and First street to H. C. Lillie & Co. of Columbus, Ohio. The furniture will be all of quarter-sawed oak and upholstered with leather. The furniture will arrive in the city shortly after March 1, when the building will be finished, according to the contract.

It is planned by the building committee to have the building finished and furnished by May 20 when a dedication to be participated in by all the camps at the Head of the Lakes is planned.

WANT BRANCH POSTOFFICE

West End Business Men Meet at Request of Inspector.

Officer of Present Postal Station Says He Has Lost Money.

About forty representative business men of the West end met at Sloan's hall yesterday afternoon and discussed the proposed branch postoffice for this end of the city with Postmaster A. P. Cook, Thomas E. Considine, superintendent of mails, and Postoffice Inspector H. R. Smith of Washington. The meeting was called by Mr. Smith for the purpose of getting the sentiment of the West end business men for his report to the postal authorities at Washington. Nearly every member of the West End Business club was present and J. J. Moe acted as chairman of the meeting.

Several merchants gave short talks on the subject, advancing their reasons why a branch should be built at this end of the city, and one of the suggestions made by the merchants, that of providing boxes for the business men on First, Second and Third streets, will probably be followed. These merchants are not included in the first early morning delivery and usually receive their mail two or three hours later than those on Superior street.

Although Mr. Smith would not say whether the West end would receive a branch he admitted last evening that the arguments advanced by the business men were all favorable and no doubt will influence the authorities at Washington. Mr. Cook gave a short talk on the subject, stating that in his opinion the mail could be as easily handled and delivered from the central office as from one located in the West end.

Has Lost Money.

A. Lofgren, proprietor of the Lion Drug store, who has been handling the postal station in the West end for the past six years, said yesterday that he was well pleased with the action of the business men. He said that he had been losing money annually on the sub-station, on account of the fact that he was compelled to keep an extra clerk and the added expenses exceeded the salary he received from the government.

"I am compelled to handle the entire station myself and must also stand all the losses," said Lofgren yesterday. "The business men on Superior street never realized that I was losing money on the proposition as I have never said a word about the station to anyone. I am certainly glad that the Business Men's club members are working together and I sincerely hope the branch will be a reality. My contract expires June 30 of this year and I do not want a renewal with the government. I have handled about $1,000,600 during the past six years and in that time have lost $2,000, including my salary. The average sales a month are $12,000 and one can readily realize how I lose money when I am compelled to stand all the shortages, losses, and expenses of the upkeep of a station, when I receive such a small salary for my work."

The business men are anxious to have the new branch on the corner of Twenty-first avenue west and Superior street and will recommend the site to the government. Mr. Smith said yesterday that the business men would receive the final answer by April 1.

Those men who spoke yesterday for the West End Business club are: S. W. Hill, president of the club; J. J. Moe, chairman of the meeting; Victor Jutin, August Widt, L. A. Simonson, P. Morterud, George M. Jensen, A. F. Lundholm, M. W. Koneczny and John Moir.

STRONG SUPPORT FOR W. L. BERNARD

Friends of Seventh Ward Alderman Are Working for His Re-election.

The municipal campaign in the West end is about as lively as in any part of the city. Republicans and Democrats are working hard for their candidates and the Sixth and Seventh wards will be battle grounds. The West End Republican club has held several meetings and Dr. J. A. McCuen, the candidate for mayor, delivered one address.

On the Democratic side the work has all been of the personal variety. Strong support has rallied to William L. Bernard, the candidate for re-election as alderman from the Seventh ward. His friends are confidently predicting his re-election, as he has an excellent record in the council and they say he is deserving of another term.

Mr. Bernard has lived in Duluth more than twenty years and has many friends throughout the city, as well as in his own ward. He was elected two years ago against strong opposition and his work in the council sustained the judgment of those who elected him in this campaign and the assurances of support he has received give him and his friends confidence that he will be returned to the council.

Bergholm Funeral.

The funeral of John Bergholm, 50 years old, who died Tuesday morning at his residence, 104 Exeter street, will be held at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon from the Swedish Mission church, Twenty-first avenue west and Second street. Rev. J. J. Daniels, pastor of the church, will officiate and interment will be in the Park Hill cemetery. The Christian Sick Benefit society, of which Mr. Bergholm was a member, will have charge of the funeral.

VASA ORDER TO HAVE CAMPAIGN

West Duluth Lodge Wants 500 Members By First of Next Year.

Members of the Vasa Order, No. 170, met at the lodge rooms in Sloan's hall last evening and the new officers were in charge for the first time. A special program was given by the members, following which refreshments were served. Several new members were initiated at the meeting and plans for the year were discussed. A membership campaign is to be waged during the next twelve months and the members are determined to have 500 members in the order by January, 1913.

The Ladies' auxiliary of the order formed several weeks ago will meet this evening and close the charter. Mrs. Peter Olson, who was elected president at the organization meeting, will have charge of the meeting this evening.

FUNERAL OF VICTIM OF BOXING MATCH.

The funeral of Andrew Anderson, 27 years old, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Anderson, 2015 West Sixth street, who died Jan. 2 as the result of a boxing match at Bandette, will be held at 1 o'clock Saturday afternoon from the Bethany Swedish Lutheran church, Twenty-third avenue west and Third street. Rev. C. Olson, pastor of the church, will officiate and interment will be in the Lutheran cemetery.

DULUTH STATE BANK RE-ELECTS OFFICERS.

The annual election of officers for the Duluth State bank was held at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The old officers were all re-elected and are: J. J. Eklund, president; P. George Hanson, vice president, and Carl E. Lonegren, cashier. The directors are all the same with the exception of Otto Johnson, who was elected yesterday. Following are the directors for the year: F. W. Sullivan, J. J. Eklund, P. G. Hanson, J. J. Moe and Otto Johnson.

Buy Furniture Store.

Erick Hagstrom and Charles J. Lundquist have purchased the West end furniture house, at 2012 West Superior street, formerly owned by Joseph Popkin, who is now planning to retire from business. They will run the store under the same name and have already taken charge of the stock.

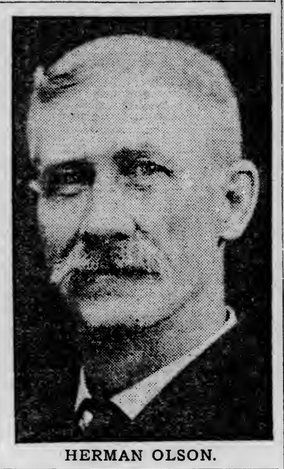

Samaritans Install.

Beta council, No. 2, Modern Samaritans, installed the following officers at the lodge rooms in the Columbia hall last evening: John M. Erickson, good samaritan; Mrs. Mae Wahn, lady good samaritan; Mrs. Olson, past good samaritan; Paul M. Thompson, vice good samaritan; Mrs. Georgina Martineau, lady vice good samaritan; Edward Miller, high priest; William L. Anderson, financial scribe; Charles E. Dice, treasurer; Joseph Miller, scribe; Gerda Erickson, organist; Alvin Anderson, watchman and Mrs. Rogna Anderson, centurian.

SOLD 437,200 HERALDS IN 1911

Herman Olson, 49 years old, who runs a book and stationery store at 1823 West Superior street, holds the record of selling 437,200 Heralds during the year of 1911. Mr. Olson sells 1,400 papers every evening. This record is taken from the annual report of the subscription department and shows just how many papers Mr. Olson paid for during the year.

Mr. Olson began as West end agent of The Herald about twelve years ago and each year has seen steady increase in the number of Heralds handled at his store; over 150 boys, who have their routes of various sizes, are now getting their Heralds at Olson's, which every afternoon is the busiest place in the West end.

The Herald also has its regular carriers in the West end, covering the different sections outside of the routes established by Mr. Olson.

Funeral of Mrs. Lundgren.

The funeral of Mrs. Anna Levisa Lundgren, 68 years old, wife of Charles V. Lundgren of Hermantown, who died yesterday morning of apoplexy, will be held at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon from the family residence. Interment will be in the Lutheran cemetery.

Entertains Friends.

Mrs. O. Lundquist, 1912½ West Second street, entertained yesterday afternoon. Several musical selections were rendered, following which a luncheon was served to the following guests: Mesdames Frank Wenblade, H. Popkin, Nubson, C. Abrahamson, Hugo, Swenson, Hangsrud, Peterson, and the Misses Genia Nubson, Audrey Swenson, Adelaide Lindquist, Grenada Abrahamson and Evelyn Abrahamson.

West End Briefs.

The S. H. & E. F. society held its first meeting of the year last evening at Sloan's hall, Twentieth avenue west and Superior street.

A son was born yesterday to Mr. and Mrs. W. Ridgewell, 2821 West Second street.

A daughter was born yesterday morning to Mr. and Mrs. T. V. Bard, 524 Fourth avenue west.

The Svea Glee club will give a masquerade ball next Tuesday evening at the Columbia hall, Twentieth avenue west and Superior street.

Rev. Milton Fish of the Central Baptist church will speak on "Conspicious Movements of the Kingdom of 1911," at the regular weekly prayer meeting at 7:45 o'clock this evening.

The St. Luke's guild of St. Peter's Episcopal church was entertained this afternoon at the home of Mrs. Wallace Leonard, 2710 West Fourth street.

Miss Blanche Kimball of Iron Mountain, Mich., will return to her home tomorrow after spending the week at the home of Mrs. Erick Engstrom, 1917 West Third street.

Allan Broken of Twenty-fourth avenue west left yesterday for a two weeks' visit with relatives in the Twin Cities.

THE BUSY, PROSPEROUS, WEST END

THE CENTER of Duluth's population lies between 16th and 40th avenues West; in that part of the city known as the WEST END.

¶ Here, in their thousands, are found the homes of the well-to-do workers; and the greatest of Duluth's fine factories and mighty mills.

¶ Herefrom, the manufactured product of forest, harvest field, and mine is shipped to the uttermost corners of the earth.

¶ Here also, are found many of Duluth's ablest and most prosperous business men; from whose untiring efforts in the past, the WEST END has drawn much of her present prosperity; and to whom she looks even more for the future prosperity that is to be hers.

¶ In this column, from time to time, we shall present portraits of the-men-who-have-made-the-WEST-END; portraits that will be of vital interest to all West Enders. Look for them!

¶ They will be directed particularly at the fostering of that "get together" spirit which has done so much in the past to help forward this section of the city.

¶ That you may know the men who are helping the WEST END, will be the purpose of these portraits; so that, knowing them, you may help them to help the WEST END and yourself.

M. H. RUD.

The tailoring establishment of M. H. Rud at 18 Twenty-first avenue west, developed to its present size on a small margin of profits system rather than a small business with a big profit on each transaction. Mr. Rud gives expert tailoring from the time he puts the tape measure on you until the last button is sewed on, and your garment is in the hands of a practical tailor of wide experience and training combined with the most modern ideas. Mr. Rud is an artist who gives each garment a style suited to the individual. His prices are modest and each customer is treated alike. He is entitled to the trade of this part of the city as the growth of his business means the employment of more tailors and that means more homes and more money to spend among the retailers of the West End. Mr. Rud is a constant West End booster.

WARRANT ISSUED FOR CANADIAN GRAIN MAN.

Winnipeg, Man., Jan. 11.—A warrant has been issued here for the arrest of A. Bruce Campbell, general manager of the Pacific Grain company, with headquarters in Calgary, on the charge of embezzling $60,000 of the company's funds. Campbell disappeared last summer and is believed to be in the states. The Pacific Grain company has a branch office in Winnipeg.

ILLINOIS PROGRESSIVE REPUBLICANS TO MEET.

Chicago, Jan. 11.—A call has been issued for a conference of Progressive Republicans to meet in the Leland hotel, Springfield, Ill., Jan. 27, "for the purpose of considering ways and means for advancing the cause of Progressive Republicanism." The call was signed by F. A. Brewer of Carterville, Erastus D. Telford of Salem, E. C. Ellwood of Peoria, F. S. Wilbur of East St. Louis, Elijah H. Lovejoy of Princeton and Charles E. Merriam and Medill McCormick of Chicago.

Danderine

Makes your hair grow long, heavy and luxuriant and we can prove it

Get a 25 Cent Bottle Now and Forever Stop Falling Hair, Itching Scalp and Dandruff

Hair Becomes Soft, Fluffy, Lustrous and Abundant After a Danderine Hair Cleanse

Danderine is to the hair what fresh showers of rain and sunshine are to vegetation. It goes right to the roots, invigorates and strengthens them. Its exhilarating, stimulating and life-producing properties cause the hair to grow abundantly long, strong and beautiful. It at once imparts a sparkling brilliancy and velvety softness to the hair, and a few weeks' use will cause new hair to sprout all over the scalp. Use it every day for a short time, after which two or three times a week will be sufficient to complete whatever growth you desire.

Immediately after applying a little Danderine all dandruff will disappear, all itching of the scalp will cease and there will be no more loose or falling hair.

If you wish to double the beauty of your hair in ten minutes surely try this—moisten a cloth with a little Danderine and draw it carefully through your hair, taking one small strand at a time, this will cleanse the hair of dust, dirt or any excessive oil—In a few moments your hair will be wavy, fluffy and abundant and possess an incomparable softness, lustre and luxuriance, the beauty and shimmer of true hair health.

If you care for beautiful, soft hair and lots of it surely get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter—A real surprise awaits you.

This Week's Sunday School Lesson

WRITTEN FOR THE HERALD BY REV. J. S. KIRTLEY, D. D.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON: JAN. 14. Luke i, 57-80: Birth of John the Baptist.

CONNECTION.

The last lesson told of the announcement of the birth of John. Then we have an account of the annunciation to Mary of the coming Messiah and the visit of Mary to her kinswoman, Elizabeth, mother of John. This is a vivid picture of an Oriental birth, with the added elements of divine arrangement.

THE LESSON.

I.

Naming the Child. 57-63.

"Now Elizabeth's time was fulfilled that she be delivered; and she brought forth a son. And her neighbors and her kinsfolk heard that the Lord had magnified His mercy toward her; and they rejoiced with her. And it came to pass that on the eight day they came to circumcise the child; and they would have called his name Zacharias after the name of his father. And his mother answered and said not so; but he shall be called John. And they said unto her, 'There is none of thy kindred that is called by this name.' And they made signs to his father what he would have him called. And he asked for a writing tablet and wrote, saying, 'His name is John.' And they marvelled all."

1. REJOICING.—It was a social day. The neighbors always came in at the birth of a child. Sometimes musicians came ready to express the joy in their best strains, if it was a boy; ready to march off without a note, except possibly a wail of sympathetic sorrow, if it was a girl, though the Jews knew how to welcome the girl baby as no other Oriental race did. In this birth there was a complex joy, for it was a boy; it took away the humiliation of the mother at being childless; it was a distinct act of divine mercy in the gift of this boy, for I've no doubt the neighbors all had heard that Zacharias had seen the vision that foretold a son; it was a prophecy of a new service to God, for the parents must have let out the secret that was giving them joy through all the months of waiting.

We cannot fail to see the surprise that the child was to bear any other name than that of his father. The neighbors seem to be busy-bodies, but they were merely good and kind, as most neighbors mean to be. A half humorous turn is given to their interest in naming him. When the mother said "John" they turned to the father with a sign asking him. What business was it of theirs?

2. MIRACLE.—It was a miracle —the dumbness and then the sudden relief after long months. A good man has to be penalized, for his own good as well as that of others. Unbelief is inexcusable in believer as in unbeliever. He had long ago believed, but the ban had not been lifted. Now with the consummation of God's plans he is relieved for the next stage. The purpose of the embargo on his lips was accomplished. A table covered with wax was brought and he traced the letters on the wax with a pointed instrument.

II.

Profound Impression on the Neighbors. 64-66.

"And his mouth was opened immediately and his tongue loosed and he spake, blessing God. And fear came on all that dwelt round about them; and all these sayings were noised abroad throughout all the country of Judea. And all that heard them laid them up in their hearts, saying: What shall this child be? For the hand of the Lord was with him."

What was it that excited them so? It was the whole occasion and its combination of very unusual elements—the previous prophecy; the deafness that had lasted through the months and had but one explanation; the divinely given name, so exceptional and so significant, John, "the gracious gift of God;" the song of the father that followed, for this statement about the effect on the people might as well have been made at the close of the story as it really tells of what happened for some time afterwards. The extent of the impression was over that whole area south of Jerusalem where most of the priests lived in the nine villages and the surrounding country that had been set apart for them. It was the talk of the community for a long time.

III.

Zacharias's Song. 67-75.

"And his father Zacharias was filled with the Holy spirit and prophecied, saying:

Blessed be the Lord, the God of Israel;
For He hath visited and wrought redemption for His People,
And hath raised a horn of salvation for us
In the house of his servant, David
As He spake by the mouth of His holy prophets that have been from Salvation from our enemies and from the hand of all that hate us;
To show mercy toward our fathers,
And to remember holy covenant
The oath which He sware unto Abraham our father,
To grant unto us that we, being delivered out of the hand of our enemy
Should serve Him without fear;
In holiness and righteousness before Him all our days."

As is to be expected, when one is filled by the spirit of God, Zacharias lost sight of himself and his son, in the thought of his beloved nation and the great mercy of God in sending the Redeemer. His mind was on the other child that was soon to be born who was to give John his calling and his greatness. Under the vision which the Spirit gave him he rose into his superb unselfishness, although, after expressing the rapture of that vision, he turns to the babe in his mother's arms and foreshadows his part in the setting up of the reign of God through His redeemer. He knew of Mary's honor and of the incarnation and spoke of it as an event already effective. Concerning that redemption he says several things.

1. FREEDOM.—The words redemption and salvation, in his mind, refer first to freedom from their hated enemies. That was essential to their mission as the Israel of God. The attributes of the Messiah which enable Him to accomplish that are strength and goodness. The horn of the animal is His weapon, and the word is a symbol of power to subdue the enemies of His people.

2. MERCY.—That was the kind of visitation he was looking for. Visitations of judgment were not unheard of, but this was for the sake of mercy. The former create forebodings; the latter hope. Whatever we may say about God's fidelity to His covenants and promises we must not forget that all He does is through mercy. That most wonderful instance of mercy known in time and in eternity was the incarnation of Christ.

3. PROMISES.—It is well to know that God is under as much obligation to keep His promises as we are to keep ours. The coming of the Messiah is the fulfillment of a long series of oft-repeated promises. We can count on Him when we pray.

4. SERVICE.—The service Zacharias speaks of is the priestly service. Whether the old priest thought of it or not his words have reference to the position of all believers as priests unto God. We are a "kingdom of priests." He served his two weeks in the year; ours is a perpetual priesthood. The coming kingdom of the Redeemer rises in the old man's vision as something more than an exalted earthly reign. To him the baby, John, is more than his son; he is God's chosen forerunner for His Messiah.

WHAT THE MASTERS SAY.

There never was historical parallel more singularly exact than in the likeness between the fiery Elijah, who leaps into the history without warning, a full armed warrior for God, and John. The same concentrated energy and sternness; the same work—to arrest the decay of faith and restore nobler life; the same undaunted courage, so that of each might be said what was said of one not unlike them in his strong character "here lies one who never feared the face of man;" the same relations to rulers, so that Elijah, Ahab and Jezebel have doubles in John, Herod the Younger and Herodias; the same asceticism; the same solitary life—these are the salient features of likeness. But John had the higher office in that he was to "go before His face." Elijah ran before Ahab's chariot from Carmel to Jezreel; John is the herald of a mightier king in whom dwelt all the fullness of the Godhead.—Maclaran.

The Savior whose advent the inspired priest proclaims is no mere national deliverer, driving back those eagles of Rome and rebuilding the throne of his father, David. He was a redeemer as well as deliverer. The salvation of which Zacharias speaks is not simply a deliverance from our political enemies and from the hand of that hate us. Sin was the enemy to be vanquished and destroyed and the shadow of death was but the shadow of sin.—Burton.

PERTINENT QUESTIONS.

1.—Are there any circumstances of natural sorrow or of joy when gratitude to God may not be the most distinctive note?

2.—Are there any circumstances of personal joy or sorrow when we may not lose thought of self in thought of the common good?

3.—Are there not special providences in our lives when all our friends should be filled with awe?

4.—What sort of visitation from God are you looking for—mercy or judgment?

5.—How is deliverance from earthly evil a preparation for service?

6.—How is intercession for others the highest service?

EXHIBIT FOR CHILDREN

Annual Poultry Show Will Be Held on Jan. 25.

Results of Contest Begun Last Spring Will Be Shown.

The annual poultry show for boys and girls will be held Thursday, Jan. 25.

Judge Ellison of Minneapolis and Prof. N. E. Chapman of the American Poultry association will be the judges.

Last spring the poultry raising club was organized by the Duluth Poultry association, the Commercial club, and the Boys' department, Y. M. C. A. The Duluth Poultry association provided the eggs from thoroughbred hens, and the boys and girls were given instruction by Prof. Chapman on how to care for them. Agreat deal of interest has been manifest amongst the contestants and some splendid practical experience has been secured in the care of chicks.

The prizes offered in the poultry contest are as follows: $7 for the pair of birds that score the highest; $5 for the second best; $3 for the third best; $2 for the fourth; $1 for the fifth. A prize of $5 will be given for the boy whose individual bird scores highest, and $5 for the girl whose bird scores the highest.

The place of the exhibit will be determined in a few days. This junior poultry exhibit will attract wide attention, as it will be the first of its kind in this city. The boys and girls who entered the contest in the spring and who are going to exhibit their birds must send word to Secretary McLeod of the boys' department, Y. M. C. A., not later than Jan. 20, so that exhibition coups may be prepared. The following is the list of those who entered the contest last spring: Ernest Whelan, Marion Velle, Walter Dahlin, Sigurd Nelson, Harry Lindor, Frances Osbourne, Blanch Gerard, Inez Lindgren, Frank Purcell, Esther Alberson, Roy McConnell, Theresa Romano, Jennie Norland, Edna Brigham, John Carlson, Fred Mason, Leonard McKenna, Raulin Clark, Henry Paape, Howard Boyd, Edgar Swensen, Arthur Yangen, Lewis Stickney, Ray Olson, Leonard McCarthy, Mabel Melin, Jennie Johnson, Mabel Stevens, Gordon Drensfeld, William Johnson, Egan Lindstrom, Walter Masseau, B. McNulty, Grace Anderson, Chester Hunt, Henry Carlson and George Nelsen.

A MOTHER'S DUTY

It is the duty of every expectant mother to prepare her system for the coming of her little one; to avoid as far as possible the suffering of such occasions, and endeavor to pass through the crisis with her health and strength unimpaired. This she may do through the use of Mother's Friend, a remedy that has been so long in use, and accomplished so much good, that it is in no sense an experiment, but a preparation which always produces the best results. It is for exernal application and so penetrating in its nature as to thoroughly lubricate every muscle, nerve and tendon involved during the period before baby comes. It aids nature by expanding the skin and tissues, relieves tenderness and soreness, and perfectly prepares the system for natural and safe motherhood. Mother's Friend has been used and endorsed by thousands of mothers, and its use will prove a comfort and a benefit to any woman in need of such a remedy. Mother's Friend is sold at drug stores. Write for free book for expectant mothers, which contains much valuable information.

PROGRAM FOR FREE CONCERT

Gounod's Compositions Will Be Featured at Masonic Entertainment.

The program for the free public concert at the auditorium of the Masonic temple, Sunday at 3:30 p. m., will be as follows:

Processional—"Fete de Jupiter" .. .. Gounod
Organ, selections—"Sapho" ..Gounod
Vocal—"Jewel Song," "Faust"..Gounod
Lillian Shannon.
Selections—"Faust" .....Gounod
Organ—Seranade, "Sing, Smile and Slumber" ..... Gounod
Valse — "Faust" (transcription by Liszt) .....
Vocal—"O, Divine Redeemer"..Gounod
Lillian Shannon.
Organ—March cortege, "Queen of Sheba" .....Gounod

It will be noted that the program is made up entirely of compositions by Charles Francois Gounod, the eminent French musician who died in 1893. He stands out with the best composers and some of his works are among the most widely known and best appreciated. The first organ number is a processional march, dignified and stately. Then follows some selections from his first opera, "Sapho," first heard in 1851, receiving praise and recognition from musicians and critics, but it was not until 1859 that his great success, "Faust," was produced; successfully from a musical standpoint, but not financially, as he only received about $400 for himself for it. It still holds its place in the estimation of the musical people and will live because of its rare combination of romance, imagery, scenery and score. The last organ piece is the "Marche Cortege" from "The Queen of Sheba," first given in 1862; those numbers, with the vocal selections give a very good idea of the style and musical excellence of Gounod's work.

Lillian Shannon's first selection, "The Jewel Song," from Faust, is a noted portion of this noted opera. It is sung by all first-class singers in concert programs and never fails to delight while the devotional character of the second vocal piece gives an idea of the versatility of this great composer.

BOYS OUTLINE THEIR RELIGIOUS CAMPAIGN.

The boys' committee of the Men and Religion Forward Movement met at the boys' building last evening and outlined its program for the big campaign. The committee is arranging to visit every Sunday school in the city and meet with the teachers to present the Men and Religion Forward Movement in its relation to the boy. In the cities where this movement has gone, the reports come back that the work for boys has received a great stimulus, and the Duluth committee is very anxious that every Sunday school teacher of boys shall have an opportunity of hearing just what this movement means for the individual Sunday school. The committee members will place themselves at the disposal of any Sunday school in the city. Superintendents are asked to confer with the chairman of the committee, N. D. McLeod, Y. M. C. A.

WADE BOOM FOR VICE PRESIDENT

Iowa Man Regarded With Favor By Friends of Wilson.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 11.—A Washington special to the Pioneer Press says: The vice presidential boom launched here by Fred B. Lynch, national committeeman from Minnesota, in behalf of Judge M. J. Wade of Iowa, has excited a good deal of interest among Democratic leaders. There is reason to believe that a movement soon will be started to give Judge Wade the second place on the Democratic national ticket in event an Eastern man is named as the presidential candidate. While there is at present no conection between the candidacy of Governor Woodrow Wilson and the movement in the interests of Judge Wade, the growth of the Wilson boom is bound to be accompanied by a corresponding growth in the Wade boom.

"It's a fine compliment even to be mentioned for the office," was the only comment that Judge Wade would make on the reports that his friends intended to groom him for the vice presidency.

Bryan Shows Wilson Colors.

At the Jackson day banquet Bryan made a studied effort to show his friendship for Wilson. The two held hands while 400 Democrats cheered and when Bryan spoke he twice referred to the "distinguished educator" and he turned and spoke directly to Wilson, when he indorsed the initiative and referendum. At the close of that speech they again shook hands. It was the most ostentatious exhibition of harmony at the Jackson dinner. It went beyond what even the friends of the governor expected.

Mr. Bryan avoided political persecution and was careful not to break the harmony of the feast. He made no reference to Harmon or Underwood, but he singled out Wilson as an object for praise in a conspicuous manner. There was wild cheering when he announced that he intended to support the ticket.

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST

FIRES HOME, KILLS SELF

Man Living North of Baudette Sensationally Ends Row With Wife.

Drives Woman From Home, Then Applies Torch and Shoots Self.

Baudette, Minn., Jan. 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—This section is agitated over a domestic tragedy enacted just across the Canadian line yesterday which ended in suicide and the destruction of the home of the suicide by fire. A Frenchman by the name of Minneaux, living just north of the international bridge here, is generally believed to have followed up a row with his wife by driving her from their home, then applying the torch to the house and shooting himself, his burning home proving his funeral pyre.

Fatal Row Wednesday.

It is said they had a row yesterday morning and that about 9 o'clock the woman was seen suddenly leaving the place accompanied by their two children. About noon the house burst out in flames and was entirely consumed. A few bones found among the ashes being all that was found of Minneaux. Minneaux is said to have threatened several times to kill himself because of family troubles and it is generally believed he made good the threat after setting fire to the house. Minneaux was about 35. The Canadian authorities are investigating and will hold an inquest.

CORONER'S JURY BLAMES FERRIER

Held to Grand Jury Charged With Causing Anderson's Death.

Spooner, Minn., Jan. 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—Leslie Ferrier, the principal in the boxing match here Jan. 1, which resulted in the death of Andrew L. Anderson of Duluth, the other principal, has been held to the Beltrami county grand jury with Bert Caldwell, Anderson's second, and they were taken to Bemidji last night to the county jail. Their counsel will seek to obtain their release on writs of habeas corpus.

Deputy Coroner F. E. Johnson of Baudette held an inquest here Tuesday and yesterday. The coroner's jury found that Anderson's death resulted from injuries sustained during the sparring match, the langnuage of the verdict being:

What Jury Found.

"We believe that Andrew L. Anderson came to his death by hemorrhage of the brain caused by a blow or blows delivered by his opponent, Leslie Ferrier of Spooner, Minn., in a sparring match arranged and held at the village hall at Spooner, Minn., on the evening of Jan. 1, 1912, or the hemorrhage of the brain may have been caused by a fall, or falls during said sparring match by which said Anderson may have struck his head against the floor, or some other hard substance, in either case, whether the hemorrhage of the brain of said Anderson was caused either by a blow or blows delivered by said Leslie Ferrier or by a fall or falls, it is our opinion that the sparring match, as above mentioned, and held contrary to law, at said hall and on said dates, is responsible for the death of said Andrew L. Anderson.

"We further believe it a gross neglect on the part of Bert Caldwell, his second in the sparring match, in not calling medical aid and rendering every aid possible in caring for said Anderson, when he could see the condition of said Anderson after the sparring match was over."

The jury consisted of A. J. Hilden, Emanuel Wallin, John Stone, John R. Pederson, I. T. Walker and A. Netland.

COLD WEATHER HITS LOGGERS

Railroads Unable to Move Logs Because of Intense Cold.

Couderay, Wis., Jan. 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—The extreme cold weather has been a serious handicap for the logging companies all through this section. Spur tracks are full of cars loaded with logs awaiting shipment. Under favorable weather conditions 100 cars of logs would be shipped out per day, but the cold weather has crippled the railroad company so they have been unable to move any logs at all in the last ten days. Before New Year's loggers could not haul logs on account of the mild weather, and after New Year's the railroad company has been unable to move the logs on account of cold weather. With milder weather, conditions will be ideal for logging operations and work will be rushed.

WILLIAM ROGERS' FUNERAL IS HELD

Last Rites at Aitkin for Logger Killed in Duluth Building.

Aitkin, Minn., Jan. 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—The funeral of William Rogers, the well known logger of Walker, who died in Duluth last Friday from injuries received in falling down an elevator shart in a building in that city, was held here yesterday afternoon in the Methodist church, and was largely attended by old settlers and other friends of the family.

Mr. Rogers was a resident of Aitkin for a number of years and at one time owned and operated a sawmill on the bank of the Mississippi river.

CREAMERY FOR BEMIDJI.

Plans to Be Discussed at Big Meeting on Jan. 30.

Bemidji, Minn., Jan. 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—At a meeting of the Bemidji Co-operative association, attended by representative farmers, it was decided to hold a mass meeting here Jan. 30 to discuss plans for building a new creamery, warehouse and ice house.

The following officers were elected: President, A. E. Rako, Bemidji; vice president, Ora Whiting, Northern; secretary and temporary treasurer, N. H. Willet, Frohm; directors, N. H. Willet, D. A. Whiting, H. A. Fladhammer, I. O. Ungstad and S. A. Smith.

J. A. Cronholm of Minneapolis, who was present, declared Bemidji to be one of the best located towns in the state for a creamery and predicted a rapid development of the dairying business in this section.

T. J. Court of Minneapolis is expected to be present Jan. 30 and address the farmers.

$347 PER INHABITANT.

Is Showing Made By the Marquette, Mich., Banks.

Marquette, Mich., Jan. 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—Savings and commercial deposits in the three banks of Marquette aggregate approximately $4,000,000, or an average of $347 per inhabitant. The deposits in the banks of this city are larger in proportion to its population than in any city of this size in the United States, according to a Marquette bank official. That Marquette residents are in better financial condition than they were a year ago is demonstrated by the fact that the deposits in the three Marquette banks are at least $150,000 larger than they were last January.

BANKER IS IN PRISON.

Former Cashier of Manistique Concern Enters Marquette Institution.

Marquette, Mich., Jan. 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—Melvin W. Orr, formerly cashier of the Manistique State bank, was brought to the Marquette prison Tuesday by Sheriff A. J. Smith and a deputy. Mr. Orr is under sentence of from two to twenty years, with the court recommending five years, his offense having been making false entries on the bank's books. Mr. Orr had been in the employ of the bakk twelve years, the last eight of which he had been cashier. His peculations, which consisted of small amounts abstracted over a period of years, aggregated about $12,000. He pleaded guilty as soon as the shortage was detected.

Get this straight, Men—Prince Albert makes its own class

There's nothing else like it and won't be for a whole lot of years.

It's produced by an exclusive process that Uncle Samuel has tied up with patent rights—the process that takes out the tongue-stinger and leaves pure smokin' joy. We control this process.

Remember this if somebody tries to slip something over on you.

Claims are just claims, names are nix. And nobody can make a tobacco with the perfect flavor and fragrance, close-fire, long-burning qualities and no-bite, without the patented process that we only can use.

Yes, sir; there's only one Prince Albert, one "national joy smoke," one tobacco that can't bite your tongue.

Crimp cut, always ready, no messy grinding in the palm.

All live smoke shops sell P. A. in the tidy red 10 cent tin, and 5 cent cloth bag handy for cigarette makin's. Also in half-pound and pound tins with moistener top and pound glass humidors.

OLD LADY ALMOST CRAZY WITH ECZEMA

A Remarkable and Convincing Statement of the Success of Cuticura Soap and Ointment in the Treatment of the Pain, Itching and Burning of Eczema.

2234 Hebert St., St. Louis, Mo. — "I, the undersigned, cannot give enough praise to the Cuticura Remedies. I had been doctoring for at least a year for eczema on my foot. When a young girl I sprained my ankle three different times, paying little or no attention to it, when five years ago a small spot showed upon my left ankle. A doctor said it was eczema. He drew a small bone from the ankle about the size of a match and about an inch long. The small hole grew to about the size of an apple, and the eczema spread to the knee. The whole foot ran water all the time.

"My husband and my sons were up night and day wheeling me from one room to another in the hope of giving me some relief. I would sit for hours at a time in front of the fireplace hoping for daybreak. The pain was so intense I was almost crazy, in fact, I would lose my reason for hours at a time. One day a friend of mine dropped in to see me. No more had she glanced at my foot than she exclaimed, 'Mrs. Finnegan, why in the world don't you try the Cuticura Remedies!' Not being able to sleep at all, I decided to give the Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment a trial. After using them three days that night I slept as sound as a silver dollar for eight long hours. I awoke in the morning with but very little pain, in fact, I thought I was in heaven. After using the Cuticura Remedies for three months I was perfectly restored to health, thanks to the Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I will be sixty-four years of age my next birthday, hale and hearty at present." (Signed) Mrs. Julia Finnegan, Mar. 7, 1911.

Cuticura Soap and Ointment are sold everywhere. Sample of each mailed free, with 32-p. book. Address, "Cuticura," Dept. T, Boston. Tender-faced men should shave with Cuticura Soap Shaving Stick

Just How Long Ty Cobb Will Continue to Shine Is an Interesting Question---Johnson-Corbett Spat---Our Baseball Misfortune.

(BY BRUCE.)

ONE of the questions they ask at the close of each baseball season is whether Ty Cobb can continue to be the great player he is when the question is asked. They have been asking that question since 1907—when most of the baseball critics were unanimously of the opinion that the Georgia Peach had reached the zenith of his effectiveness as a baseball player. Cobb's greatest year was the last one. Never did he play such great ball. He led in about every department—and now they are wondering what he will do the coming season. Hugh Jennings is authority for the statement that Cobb will continue as the greatest player in the game for years to come. Those who have given the closest study to the playing of the wonderful Detroit outfielder admit that his brain work is the greatest element in his wonderful playing. If his baseball sense and judgment continue to improve, Jennings believes that the Georgia Peach has many years ahead of him.

In thinking of Cobb—and then of Detroit—one wonders what will become of baseball in the city by the St. Claire straits after the fleet-footed Southerner leaves the game. Stars have come and gone. Many times the question has been asked as to what a team would do after the departure of a certain great star. The teams have got along somehow—but the case of Detroit is somewhat different.

Cobb was the man who really won three pennants for the city beautiful. Never before in the history of baseball, unless it was the great and only King Kelly, has there been a baseball player who has done so much for the team he played with. They are talking about Kelly to this day. The baseball season is not complete unless there are several new King Kelly stories.

Detroit will go along somehow, but it will be years before it will be quite the same. There will be the boys who sit around in easy chairs and borrow your newspaper and gossip. They will tell of the time that Ty Cobb scored from first on a bunt or stole several bases while the catcher held the ball. The man who plays centerfield after the departure of Cobb is going to be about as popular as an undertaker who is optimistic in regard to his business.

Players like Ty Cobb, or maybe it would be better to say a player like Ty Cobb, makes the great game of baseball the great game that it is is. Let us hope that for years to come he will retain his present ability. More power to him, as they often say.

AT THE present time the readers of the sporting page are being bored by the verbal battle being waged between a champion and an ex-champion. The champion is Li'l Artha Johnson and the ex-champion is no other than James J. Corbett. The man who beat Sullivan accuses the dusky one of being a staller and one of the poorest champions that we have. John Artha retaliates with the ancient odor regarding the famous fake between Corbett and McCoy. One hot afternoon at Reno Johnson kidded Corbett in the presence of several thousand sports. It was the boast of Jeems, before the Jeffries-Johnson fight, that he was going to get the goat of the negro. Instead Johnson made the former champ look like a boob.

Just why Corbett should continue to roast the present champion in regard to his fighting ability is something of a puzzle. That is just where he should not be touched up. The whole world has awakened to the realization that the dusky champion can fight. It took some of us a few weeks to discover this.

Johnson trimmed Jeffries and Jeffries allowed the public to be trimmed. Corbett was one of the original wise guys. He should have let the public in on the condition of Jeffries—but he didn't. One would think, after figuring the question on all sides, that Corbett would let the matter drop.

REGARDING the story published in The Herald yesterday, the one about the outlaw plan of invading the Twin Cities, some of us would like to see it tried—just because they have been so stingy about their old territory. We are a big town and we want baseball—and we don't know just how to get it. Some of the fans at the Head of the Lakes would be delighted with independent baseball, should it include the Twin Cities. Down in Chicago in independent leagues they play faster baseball than has ever been played in the Minny league. Perhaps with some good towns in the lineup an independent league with some of the good towns in would give us better baseball than we have had in the past.

We would like to see Bill Sommers get all-fired mad and go after the proposition. We also hope that H. P. Conrad is sincere in regard to some of the things he is quoted as saying. With business men behind the league—the proposed league, excuse us—it might be made a success despite the stingy stand of the A. A. magnates—which means George Tebeau.

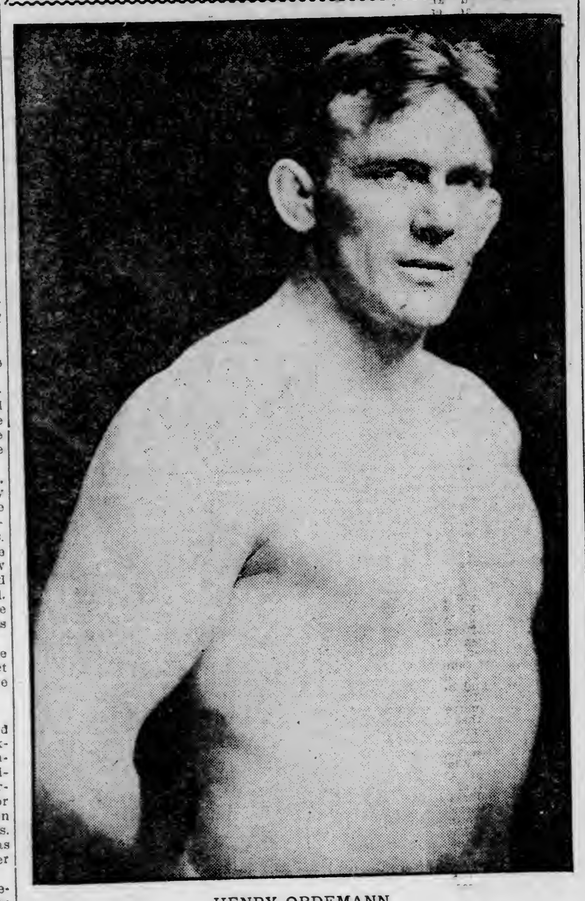

The baseball future of Duluth is one that is perplexing. It seems that we are too small for the larger leagues and too large for the company we have been associating with for the past three years. There seems nothing definite in sight for us. To return to the Minny means a financial loss to the man behind the team. We have ambition but no step ladder handy.

CLARK GRIFFITH, new manager of the Washington baseball team—, though some deny it—has issued a formal challenge to pitch a battle against James J. Callahan, also a manager. Griffith proposes that the two veterans go out on the slab some summer's day and settle the question of durability. The battle might be interesting if not instructive. In their day there were few greater pitchers than the two men at the present time at the head of American league teams. They were both star heavers on the Chicago Nationals and they both left the older league to cast their fortunes with the infant American. Both have prospered at the hands of Old Mother Baseball.

While Callahan showed some great playing last season with the White Sox, there are some of the wise ones who would wager a few smuckles on the chances of the old fox, Clark Griffith, if such a contest were put on.

AMERICAN CHAMPION WINS FROM GIANT FINN

HENRY ORDEMANN.

PILAKOFF "QUITS COLD" IN BOUT WITH ORDEMANN

Finnish Lion Deliberately Lies Down for Third Fall After Winning First Flop.

(BY BRUCE.)

Fred Pilakoff did three very conspicuous things last evening: he caught Henry Ordemann clear out of condition and also napping and won a clean fall on the American champion in a little over two mintues; he quit cold at the start of the third fall, after Ordemann had secured the second fall—and he wrestled his last match in Duluth.

Before a large audience Pilakoff apparently tried to kill the wrestling game in Duluth. Whether he has succeeded the future alone will demonstrate. The promoters are through with Pilakoff forever. He will never wrestle another match in this city under their auspices. The promoters stated after the match that every effort was made to bring the Finn back for the last fall, that he refused to come, and that he will not receive a cent for the disgraceful exhibition he gave of utter disregard of fair play to the public.

For the past two or three years wrestling has been kept clean in Duluth. The occurrence of last night was therefore the more to be regretted. Wrestling when kept clean is a fine game; it is such actions as those of Pilakoff that kill the game.

Ordemann was not a well man when he stepped on the mat. The big Minneapolitan has had business worries that have caused him many a sleepless night the past two weeks. But for all that, credit must be given to the Finnish Lion that was, for taking a fall. He caught Ordemann napping and like a cat was on the Norseman, pinning his shoulders in the incredibly short time 2:40.

There is fame for any wrestler that can take a fall from Ordemann. But Pilakoff and fame are evidently at outs. After losing the second with a crotch and half nelson, Pilakoff for some reason unknown to the crowd, took offense at Referee Jimmy Barry. When he came back for the third fall he objected to Barry as the third man in the ring. Finally the Finn seemed to consent—apparently—for he quit deliberately and disgracefully as Ordemann walked toward him.

In as bad shape as he was, Ordemann in the second bout showed why he is one of the greatest wrestlers in America. He used his head and outgeneraled the Finn. Wrestling carefully and watching Pilakoff like a hawk every second of the time, Ordemann bided his time and finally got his man—not until Pilakoff had gone down behind the Norse and had brought his admirers wildly yelling to their feet.

Soon Henry slipped out from under Pilakoff and then he began the work that quickly accomplished the downfall of "Pilly." He tried his famous toe hold, which Pilakoff managed to evade. Then came a half hammerlock. Shifting quickly from this Ordemann clamped on a half Nelson and crotch and the Finn was turned slowly on his back. The first fall resulted from a scissors and further arm hold.

Preliminary Bout.

One of the best matches ev - wrestled in Duluth—while it lasted—was the finish contest between doughty little Sailor Jack and John Gustafson or Emil Hakala. The great question in the minds of the followers of local wrestling was whether Jack could come back. Well he did. He wrestled so much differently from the form he showed in the last match that it would be hard to believe that he was the same athlete.

Jack threw Gustafson all over the mat. In no department of the game was the West Duluth man the equal of the sturdy marine. In strength Jack battled his opponent from rope to rope; in quickness and stamina he outclassed and outgamed the larger man. At the end of sixteen minutes, during a greater part of which Jack toyed with Gustafson, the Sailor slapped on an unbreakable hammerlock and was pinning the shoulders of his opponent to the canvas when Gustafson decided that he had enough of the rough going.

Mauritz Harris of Superior, the clever little lightweight, and Young Theiry of Buffalo, a wrestler who is passing through to the West, gave on excellent exhibition bout. The two boys worked hard from the call of time and their match was one of the hits of the evening.

Sailor Jack has made good—there is that much satisfaction. The little marine will train for the next month as he never trained before, for the Miller match. He is desirous of taking on Dick Shepperd before the event with Miller and negotiations will be opened at once to bring the Pipestone, Minn., wonder to Duluth.

Fans here will never forget the great battle put up by the Sailor and Shepperd in this city three years ago.

Barton Makes Statement.

The following statement was given out this morning by George A. Barton, the well known Minneapolis newspaper man. It is quite sufficient to give the sport followers an idea of the way both Barton and big Henry Ordemann regard the action of Pilakoff:

"Nobody is sorrier than Ordemann and I for what happened Wednesday night. Ordemann didn't want to win the match the way he did and was willing to continue for another fall.

"Pilakoff was the luckiest fellow in the world to win that first fall on Ordemann. Henry slipped and fell into a bad position and try as he would, he could not get away from the Finn, who, whatever else he is, is surely a powerful man. If he had an Irish heart he would be a great wrestler, but there is nothing in the world that will put courage into a man who is yellow.

"It was no fault of Oremann's nor mine that the third fall was a fizzle. We were willing to continue with the match, but I guess the whole state militia could not have gotten Pilakoff back into the ring.

"I am willing to let Ordemann wrestle Jess Pedersen, or any other good wrestler in America that the Duluth fans name, the match to take place in Duluth, where Ordemann has always been treated kindly by the wrestling fans.

"Ordemann wrestled a poor match and did not do himself justice. He lacked snap and pepper. He is wonderfully fast when at his best, but his work against Pilakoff was really disappointing to me and we were both deeply disgusted when Pilakoff secured that first fall.

"GEORGE BARTON,
"Manager of Henry Ordemann."

SOME VETERANS PASS ON; OTHERS SHINE AS STARS

(By Billy Evans.)

Charley Hemphill will manage the Atlanta Southern league team next year.

Topsy Hartsel will manage the Toledo American association team in 1912.

Such was the news a few days ago relative to the two American league veterans who have been with the organization since its birth.

The passing of these two players, who have been among the big stars in the organization, brings to mind the truth that "youth must be served." No doubt before the opening of the season a number of others will be relegated to the minors.

While the stars come and go, there are a few veterans who apparently go on forever. There are Nap Lajoie, Bobby Wallace, Bill Donovan and a few others in the American league who follow the pace set by the youngsters in fine style.

In the National league Christy Mathewson, Fred Clarke, Tommy Leach, Cy Young and a few others continue to shine as brilliantly as the most sensational recruits.

All these players are in the 30's, and Cy Young has passed the 40th milestone, yet none of them seem ready for the discard.

When Cleveland released Young it seemed the days of Cy were over. To the surprise of every one he joined Boston and with the tail enders back of him made a fine record. Cy refuses to be a has-been.

Since being relieved of managerial duties, Lajoie has played a brilliant game. Injuries kept him out of the running a greater part of last season, yet he showed his old-time form at the bat despite the long rest. Larry is in grand shape this winter and is bound to continue as one of the big noises in the American league for some time.

Despite the handicap of managing a tail-end club like St. Louis, Bobby Wallace played in his usual brilliant style. Hans Wagner is the same old king in battling, fielding and base running. His work was proven last year, when, with him out of the lineup because of an injury, the Pirates slumped, just as crites were picking them to win the pennant. Fred Clarke's wonderful showing with the Pittsburg team stamps him as one of the greatest players and managers of all times.

MINNESOTA MAY MEET HARVARD ON THE TRACK

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 11.—Agitations for the establishment of relations with Harvard for the University of Minnesota athletes will result in the accomplishment of something definite within the next few weeks, according to Dr. Dick Grant, coach of the track team and graduate of the Eastern school. Dr. Grant has been in communication with influential friends at the Crimson institution for sometime in the hope of arranging a track meet for his men.

Letters received yesterday from seven prominent alumni of Harvard by the Gopher coach, state that relations with Minnesota would be favorably received by the authorities of the Eastern school, so that not only track meets, but contests on the gridiron, could be arranged as well. These men who are using their influence to forward the interests of the Maroon and Gold school, assisted the Minnesota club at Harvard, an organization of sixty men attending the college.

President Vincent has given his approval of the action being taken by Coach Grant and will use his influence for the furthering of the project, so that all the pressure possible will be brought to bear upon the eastern authorities for a favorable consideration of the proposition. Coach Grant is so sure of the success of the meet that he will go before the athletic board of control with a petition for their assistance in the matter, and a delegation from the two schools may be brought together in an endeavor to complete arrangements.

The favorable time for the track meet according to Dr. Grant, would be the second week of June, commencement week at the university. He believes that the Crimson athletes will favor a meet here on that date and in case the competition can be staged, relations in the other branches of sport will also be established.

Members of the athletic board of control, when approached last night refused to make any comment on their attitude toward the project and the probable action that would be taken in regard to it at the regular meeting this afternoon.

SECOND GAME FOR MANLEY-McLENNAN

This evening at the Duluth Curling club comes the second match between the Duluth and Superior Curling clubs for possession of the Manley-McLennan trophy. The first game was won by the curlers from across the bay, so that should the contest this evening be won by the suburbanites the cup will go into the hands of the enemy for another year.

Duluth will make a great effort to win the game and tie Superior. In the event of Duluth winning, a third game will be necessary.

Following are the Duluth representatives:

Stephen H. Jones,	R. C. Schiller,
Tom Gibson,	C. E. Warren,
Harry Hurdon,	D. W. Stocking,
R. J. McLeod, skip	E. R. Jacobi, skip.
J. E. Macgregor,	E. W. Deetz,
Bob Chrudensky,	Walter Harris,
E. M. Whyte,	Sam Cleveland,
Will Dinham, skip	R. D. Bradley, skip.

The following games were played in The Herald event last evening.

Olden, 13; Cleveland, 11.
Ed Beach, 8; F. B. Holleck, 11.
M. F. Jamar, 18; Stocker, 0.
R. J. McLeod, 12; Elmer Whyte, 5.

Players Released.

Columbus, Ohio, Jan. 11.—The Columbus club of the American association released six players to the Akron club of the new Central league. They are "Tex" Larrimore, Infielder George Keefe, Outfielder Henry Berger, Pitcher George O'Brien and Catchers Jackley and Lee Fohl.

Zbyszko the Winner.

Salt Lake City, Utah, Jan. 11.—Zbyszko won two straight falls from Jesse Westegaard of Des Moines, the first in one hour and two minutes, and the second in seven minutes and twelve seconds.

Tigers Lose to Harvard.

New York, Jan. 11.—Harvard defeated Princeton in their annual hockey game here, three goals to two. Baker's clever work as rover for the Princeton team scored the first two goals, but before the end of the first half, Harvard tied the score. In the second period Huntington brought the puck the full length of the rink for the best goal of the play, winning for Harvard.

Demarest Is Leading.

Chicago, Jan. 11.—Calvin Demarest, the former 18.2 billiard champion, passed Fred Conklin, international amateur champion, in the third block of their handicap match here last night. As a result of the night's play Demarest leads Conklin by 137 points. Conklin, who started with a lead of 75, made a total for the night of 130. Demarest had an average of 35 with runs of 90, 133 and 141. He is playing Conklin 2,000 to 1,335.

Young Perce Outpointed.

Boston, Mass., Jan. 11.—Al Demont of Boston outpointed Young Perce of Philadelphia, in an eight-round bout, having the better of the engagement all the way.

ST. PAUL MAGNATE PLANS LONG TRIP

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 11.—Either baseball or the clothing business must be profitable, for George E. Lennon, owner of the St. Paul club, has decided to take a trip around the world. He intends to be gone about two years. Mr. Lennon has announced that he will tour the world with his family and take in the sights of all the countries at his leisure.

"This hustle is all right," said George, while talking baseball, "but there comes a time when a man wants to see what the rest of the world looks like. That time has arrived for me. Of course it is necessary to have the long green, but I have been successful the past ten years and intend to have some real pleasure now. I will not make a hurry-up trip of it the same as many others have done, but will take my time and stop wherever it strikes my fancy as long as I want to. I have seen this country, but would like to get a glimpse of other parts and will probably start from San Francisco and go to the Orient first, then to Australia and around that way."

"And this reminds me," said the St. Paul owner, "that it will be up to Mike Kelley to take care of the club while I am away. You know Mike is the whole works now. Why, he did not even let me know that he had been dickering for Danny Hoffman, and I don't know yet what he has done in the matter. All I know is that Kelley has been a money maker for me, and what he says goes."

Havenor Going South.

Charles Havenor, owner of the Milwaukee club, has also decided to travel. He will go South for the balance of the winter and leave the baseball matters entirely in the hands of his new manager, Hugh Duffy. Havenor has made up his mind that he will emulate the policy of George Lennon, and let his manager attend to all matters pertaining to the team. Havenor expects to leave in a short time, although he would like to have a conference first with Manager Duffy. Duffy, however, is busy in the East at present trying to sign up players for next season, and Havenor does not want to interfere with his plans by having him come West just now, although if Duffy can finish his business and come West before the Brewer owner goes South, he will do so.

JEFFERSONS AND FITWELLS.

Strong Teams Will Meet at Indoor Baseball Game at Auditorium.

The Fitwells and the Jeffersons will meet this evening at the Auditorium for a regularly scheduled game in the new Auditorium Indoor Baseball league. Both teams are strong, comprising some of the star players of the city. The two teams are tied for first place and a lusty battle should result. "Josie" Krick, the old White Sox player, has been made captain of the Jeffersons. He has some fine material from which to select a team. There will be skating before and after the game.

Following is the lineup:

Fitwells—		Jeffersons—
Bennett	c	J. Jones
Jacobson	p	"Bill" Jones
Menece	1b	Blaski or Michalek.
Schaeffer	2b	Krick
Summers	3b	Burke or Manke

Billy Queal Loses Out.

New York, Jan. 11.—Billy Queal of Alexandria Bay, N. Y., failed in his attempt to defeat a team composed of Al Raines of New York and Henry St. Yves, the French Marathon runner, in a ten-mile relay race here last night. Raines ran the first five miles in 26:02 and was leading Queal when relieved by St. Yves. During the sixth mile the Frenchman extended Raines' lead to a full lap and gained another lap in the ninth mile, winning the run by about 250 yards.

McBride Moves Up.

Milwaukee, Wis., Jan. 11.—Shortstop George McBride of Milwaukee signed a 1912 contract to play with the Washington American league baseball club.

STAR TEAMS TO MEET.

Big Duluths and Cathedral High School Will Come Together.

The Big Duluths and Cathedral High School indoor ball teams will meet tonight at Cathedral high school hall. Both teams are in good trim and a close game is looked for. The Big Duluths are leading the Duluth-Superior league at the present time, with Central High School a close second. Patt will do the pitching for C. H. S. and Harris will throw for the Big Duluths.

The lineup:

Big Duluths.		C. H. S.
Quinn	c	Hock
Harris	p	Patt

Will Meet Badgers.

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 11.—The athletic board of control of the University of Minnesota at a meeting held late yesterday afternoon went on record as favoring a game next fall with the University of Wisconsin. Since the protest made against Capt. Earl Pickering last fall by Wisconsin just before the Wisconsin-Minnesota game, there has been much talk here that there would be no game with Wisconsin and the members of the team have voted not to play in such a game.

SCHEDULE IS APPROVED.

Duluth and Superior Hockey League Decides Playing Dates.

The schedule of the Duluth-Superior Hockey league, finally accepted and approved by the schedule committee, is given out today. While several games of the schedule have already been played, they were played while the schedule was in tentative shape. Following is the schedule as finally approved:

Jan. 12—Curling club vs. Adams at Curling club.
Jan. 17—Curling club vs. Broadways at Lincoln park.
Jan. 19—Adams vs. Big Duluths at Lincoln park.
Jan. 24.—Big Duluths vs. Curling club at Lincoln park.
Jan. 31—Adams vs. Broadways at Lincoln park.
Feb. 2—Curling club vs. Big Duluths at Curling club.
Feb. 7—Curling club vs. Adams at Lincoln park.
Feb. 9—Broadways vs. Big Duluths at Curling club.
Feb. 14—Broadways vs. Curling club at Lincoln park.
Feb. 16—Big Duluths vs. Adams at Curling club.
Feb. 21—Broadways vs. Big Duluths at Lincoln park.
Feb. 23—Curling club vs. Adams at Curling club.
March 1—Broadways vs. Adams at Curling club.

Princeton Wins.

Princeton, N. J., Jan. 11.—Princeton defeated Dartmouth at basketball last night, 43 to 38.

De Oro in the Lead.

Denver, Colo., Jan. 11.—Alfredo de Oro, national three-cushion billiard champion, secured a lead of 25 points over Joseph Carney, Pacific coast champion, in the first block of their 150-point match for the title, scoring 50 to Carney's 25.

OUTLAWS MAY BREAK INTO SOUTHERN CITY.

Louisville, Ky., Jan. 11.—If Louisville obtains a franchise in the proposed "outlaw" baseball league in the Central West, of which William Niesen of Chicago is said to be the principal promoter, the club probably will play at the old National league grounds. This park is about twelve blocks farther from the business center of the city than Eclipse park, used by the American association team. The grounds are now in the hands of real estate men who will be glad to lease them for baseball purposes.

For several seasons after the National league abandoned Louisville for Washington, Cleveland and Baltimore thirteen years ago, the league continued to pay the rent and hold its lease here, but at the expiration the lease was allowed to lapse.

BASEBALL MEN PLAN BRAND NEW LEAGUE.

Owatonna, Minn., Jan. 11.—Organization of the proposed Southern Minnesota-Northern Iowa baseball league seems more than a merc fleeting prospect. Candidates for the presidency are already being discussed and it is said that the man the league promoters hope to land for head of the organization is Manager Brooks of the Albert Lea semi-professional team. O. L. McCleary and Alfred Schmidt of this city have also been named as likely candidates.

It is known that officials of the Rochester Minny league team have conferred with men interested in baseball in this end of the state and it is believed that Rochester and Winona would come into the new league. As now proposed, the league would consist of Winona, Rochester, Owatonna, Albert Lea, Mason City, Humboldt, Mankato, Faribault, Waseca and Austin.

CAPRON IS LEADING HATLEY AT BILLIARDS.

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 11.—Joe Capron defeated W. F. Hatley of Duluth in the second 300-point game of their billiard match of 1,200 points, and the games in Duluth will be begun with the Minneapolis man fifty points in the lead—600 to 550 for Hatley. Capron last night ran 372 points while Hatley was making 260. Capron required 372 points to make his 600 points of the first half of the match, as he made 228 last night while Hatley was making 300 points.

OWEN MORAN MATCHED TO FIGHT JOE MANDOT.

New Orleans, Jan. 11.—The West Side Athletic club management has announced that an agreement has been signed by Owen Moran to meet Joe Mandot here on Feb. 18, Carnival week, in a twenty-round bout. The men posted $250 forfeits to make 133 pounds ringside.

Boxing Revived.

Windsor, Ont., Jan. 11.—Boxing, stopped by the authorities several weeks ago, was revived last night. In the eight-round wind-up "Rube" Blowney shaded Joe Wallis. Both are Detroit featherweights. More bouts are expected to be staged soon.

Villanova Hall Burned.

Philadelphia, Jan. 11—St. Rita's hall, the oldest of the group of buildings at Villanova college, was destroyed by fire yesterday. Only three walls of the historic structure remain standing. College authorities estimate the loss at $100,000.

STRAIN TOO GREAT

Hundreds of Duluth Readers Find Daily Toil a Burden.

The hustle and worry of business men,
The hard work and stooping of workmen,
The woman's household cares,
Are too great a strain on the kidneys.
Backache, headache, dizziness,
Kidney troubles, urinary troubles follow.

A Duluth citizen tells you how to cure them.

J. H. Tomlin, 112 W. Palmetto St., Duluth Heights, Duluth, Minn., says: "When I worked on the street railway in 1908, I publicly recommended Doan's Kidney Pills. At that time I said that I had suffered for two years from kidney complaint. I finally became so bad that I had to quit work for days. My back was painful and at night I was nervous. When I got up in the morning I felt tired and worn out and I was made miserable by a kidney weakness. I have no doubt that the constant jar received while riding caused my trouble. Nothing helped me until I used Doan's Kidney Pills. They cured me and I have not had much trouble from my back or kidneys since. I always have a box of Doan's Kidney Pills in the house."

ON THE IRON RANGES

DULUTH FIRM WILL DESIGN NEW SCHOOL

Biwabik School Board to Adopt Best Ideas of Other Schools.

Biwabik, Minn., Jan. 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—The school board engaged Bray & Nystrom of Duluth, as architects for the new high school building. This firm designed and superintended the construction of the present high school built here in 1908.

The board now composed of J. E. Riley, president; F. S. Dane, clerk, and O. E. Everett, treasurer, in company with Supt. J. E. Lunn and Mr. Bray plan to go over the range in the very near future for a thorough inspection of the various schools erected in other towns, to procure ideas and to see them actually worked out. Their idea is to profit by others' examples and thus have Mr. Bray see just what equipment and arrangements appeal to them most. Mr. Lunn will study the practical side of the buildings, for Biwabik's particular needs.

The board have taken the stand and plan to work to the end of putting all efforts into effect that will give Biwabik the best possible building and equipment for the money expended, figuring to keep away from elaborate fixtures or expensive outside decorations.

The board may call for a consulting committee of the business men when the rough plans are received, to assist them in their decisions.

FALLING TIMBER KILLS CARPENTER

Leander Rokala, Old Resident of Nashawauk, Instantly Killed.

Nashwauk, Minn., aJn. 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—Leander Rokala, a carpenter on the work at the concentrating plant, met with instant death Wednesday noon by a heavy piece of timber crushing out his life.

Mr. Rokala had been employed at the plant for the past two weeks and was building a coal dock trestle, up on which coal will be conveyed to the boilers at the power house at O'Brien lake.

He was at work beneath the trestle when a heavy timber fell from the structure. Warning was shouted at him and he ran about fifteen feet, but was caught by one end of the falling timber. Mr. Rokala leaves a large family, all grown up, and has been a resident here for the past nine years. He was of Finnish descent, about 55 years of age, and was also well known socially with his fellow countrymen. He owned a large residence building on First street.

HIBBING MEN ARE PULLING TOGETHER

Banner Annual Meeting of Commercial Club With Address By Judge Hughes.

Hibbing, Minn., Jan. 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—The annual meeting of the Commercial club last evening at the city hall was the best attended meeting in the club's history.

Despite the mercury being more than 30 deg. below zero, 125 members of the club turned out.

A smoker was held, an address being made by Judge Hughes, brimming over with stimulating suggestions as to the possibilities for agricultural development in the territory about Hibbing. Officers were elected for the ensuing year, steps taken toward securing a permanent club home, six new members received and in connection with the smoker the club was greatly entertained by J. C. Short in a musical and talking stunt.

Officers Elected.

Dr. P. R. Thomas was unanimously elected president of the club. Dr. Thomas thanked the club in a short speech and said that he would give his very best efforts to the success of the club's activities during 1912. A. P. Silliman and J. L. Lewis were nominated for the presidency but refused to stand as candidates.

P. J. Ryan was chosen as first vice president, E. S. Woolfan as second vice president, H. F. Reed as secretary and W. J. Ryder secretary.

S. C. Scott as chairman of a committee appointed a week ago upon a club home, reported that a large room in the basement of the city hall could be secured from the water, light, power and building commission and the club instructed the committee to complete the arrangement for the room.

The following new members were elected: Herbert Blair, Thomas Sachs, Nathan Sachs, Louis Sachs, Frank A. Day and John Dyson.

A short report of the year's work was presented by the secretary, and a committee consisting of F. S. Woolfan, Frank Wildes and W. J. Ryder was appointed to audit the books of the secretary and treasurer.

Want Telegraph Service.

A resolution was adopted directing that a letter be sent to President McGonagle of the Missabe road asking on behalf of the club that there be a speedy performance of the various promises made to Hibbing that a Western Union Telegraph service be provided for Hibbing.

Votes of thanks were extended to the water, light, power and building commission and to the village council for the use of the city hall as a meeting place the past year, to the retiring officers for the faithful attendance to the duties of their offices and to Judge Hughes for his stirring address.

HIBBING FANS ARE WROUGHT UP

Claim Proposed Railroad Extension Will Spoil Ball Grounds.

Hibbing, Minn., Jan. 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—The action of the village council in opening Fourth avenue across the Missabe and Great Northern railroad tracks to public traffic is not liked by baseball fans of Hibbing. The opening of the street means that the baseball park will have to be abandoned, and it is understood there will be a movement started in the near future to petition the council to recensider its action. Hibbing has one of the finest baseball parks on the Mesaba range. Fourth avenue runs directly through it. The grounds are enclosed and there is a big grand stand and bleachers. If the council allows the order for the opening of Fourth avenue to stand it will mean that another location for a baseball park will have to be secured and may mean that Hibbing will not be on the baseball map for several years to come as sites for ball grounds near the city are difficult to secure, owing to the mining operations. The incident has aroused considerable feeling and there is a prospect that the matter will be re-opened.

WATSON MOORE CHIEF SPEAKER

Duluthian Makes Hit With Address at Coleraine Banquet for Men.

Coleraine, Minn., Jan. 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—The banquet for men took place at the Methodist church last evening. There was an attendance of about sixty. Walter S. Moore of Duluth was the chief speaker and made a great hit in his remarks on "What Are We Here For." The dinner was served by the Ladies' Aid society. The program follows: Toastmaster, Rev. Thomas Grice; invocation, Rev. A. M. Folk, "Welcome Home;" song, Glee club; monologue, "The Rambles of Polinsky," Rudolph Schoengarth; song, Glee club; toast, "The Salt of the Earth," J. A. Vandyke; toast, "A Young Man's Church," Mr. Harlachull; song, Glee club; address, "What Are We Here For," Walter S. Moore.

SUICIDE CAME FROM WISCONSIN

Otto Gustofason Was Man Who Killed Himself on Hibbing Church Steps.

Hibbing, Minn., Jan. 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—The deputy coroner today received a letter from Cable, Wis., that sets at rest doubts as to the identity of the lumberjack who killed himself on the steps of a church here a few days ago.

John R. Scott of Cable, Wis., from whom there was a letter in the suicide's pocket, wrote that the deceased was probably Otto Gustofason, as first given out; that he was a Swede and once owned a claim in Ashland county, which he had sold, but the informant knew nothing of the man's family. The body which has been held here, will be buried today. About $90 was found on the body. The deceased bought a new pistol, then killed himself. It is not believed he was drunk and the reason for his action may never be known.

BIWABIK BANK ELECTS.

First National Chooses Its Officers for 1912.

Biwabik, Minn., Jan. 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—The First National Bank of Biwabik held its annual meeting of directors and stockholders Tuesday evening. The following officers will control the bank's business the coming year: President, F. B. Meyers; vice presidents, N. B. Shank and C. W. Bray; cashier, J. C. McGivern; assistant cashier, Anton Kovarik; directors, F. B. Myers, N. B. Shank, C. W. Bray, J. C. McGivern, J. S. Lutes and L. E. Spurbeck.

Virginia, Minn., Jan. 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—Two candidates for mayor at the election to be held Feb. 6 have filed, M. A. Murphy and Alderman H. O. Johnson. The latter is looked upon as the administration candidate and his filing is interpreted as meaning that Mayor Hawkinson will not run. The Socialists have a candidate in the field in H. J. Durenberger, Socialist; M. A. Murphy, municipal ownership, and H. O. Johnson, administration.

For Municipal Ownership.

R. J. McGhee, Conrad Mattson and Fred L. Johnson also filed for aldermen-at-large, and J. H. Fleming for municipal judge. These candidates expect to run upon the same ticket, the main plank of their platform being municipal ownership of the water and light plant.

Mr. Murphy is head of the Virginia Fuel & Transfer company and was for some years superintendent of the Virginia division of the Duluth, Rainy Lake & Winnipeg Railroad company. He stands high as a business man and is generally well thought of.

The candidates for aldermen are all well known business men and Mr. Fleming has served four years as special municipal judge. He is a local undertaker. The candidates have all been conspicuous in the movement for immediate municipal ownership of the local water and light plant, being active members of the Progressive league, of which Mr. Murphy is president.

FULLERTON IS INVESTIGATING

Deputy State Fire Marshal Looking Into Recent Gilbert Fires.

Gilbert, Minn., Jan. 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—Deputy Fire Marshal Sam Fullerton of St. Paul was here yesterday investigating the recent fires in this village and also inspecting structures relative to fire prevention. He has also made suggestions to the village council and residents for improvements which will assist in helping the volunteer firemen.

The meeting of the Missabe Mountain township board, which was to have been held at the home of Capt. J. Henly of the Lincoln location at which the request of the Gilbert village council for the storing of 1,000 feet of hose in the second addition to Gilbert, was postponed until next week because of the absence of Chairman David A. Mouser, who transacted business matters at Duluth.

County Mine Inspector Walter H. Harvey of Eveleth inspected the local mines yesterday afternoon.

MANY OBJECTING TO GREWSOME EXHIBIT

State May Be Asked to Stop Displaying Two-Headed Child's Body.

Chisholm, Minn., Jan. 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—There is considerable objection here over the public exhibition of the body of the famous two-headed child of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Hajducovich of this place, which created a furore last August at the time it was born and died.

It is said the parents had the body disinterred, taken to Chicago and embalmed for exhibition purposes and have placed it on exhibition here, acting in the matter with Jack Grims, the policeman recently let out.

The child has two necks and two perfect heads, two spines, two hearts, two sets of lungs, but only one stomach. Otherwise it was correctly formed. Many here who assisted the parents in their apparent grief at the time are indignant over the new turn of affairs and will seek to have the state interfere.

CHISHOLM BOY BURNED.

Mitten and His Clothes Take Fire While Warming Up.

Chisholm, Minn., Jan. 11.—(Special to The Herald.) — Frank, the 7-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Roberts, was severely burned yesterday about the left arm and over the shoulder. The little fellow was preparing to go to school and in order to warm his woolen mittens he placed them on the heater. He put them on and went out, not knowing one was on fire and the high wind fanned the flames. He succeeded in getting the mitten off but the sleeve of his coat had caught fire by this time and by the time he reached his home his arm was burned and his shoulder scorched.

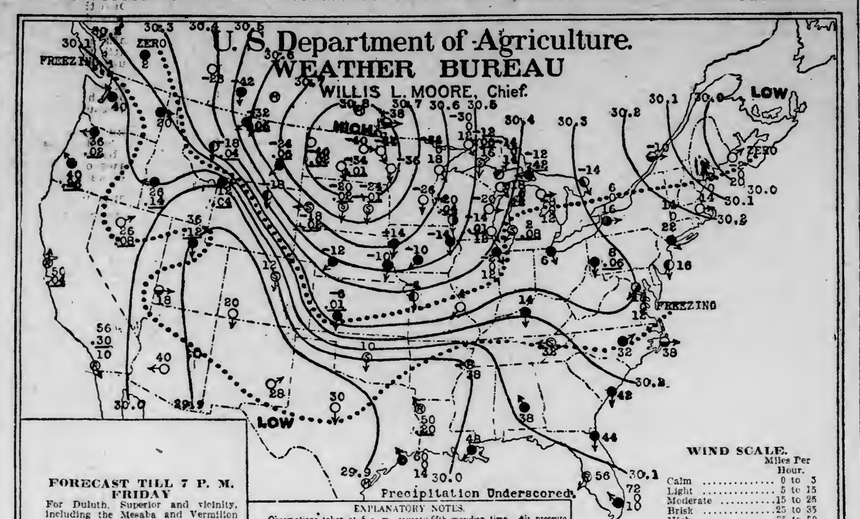

Dandruff Germs Are Responsible

Baldness and Most Hair Troubles Due to this Parasite Which Destroys Hair Roots.

Nobody wants to be bald! But a neglected scalp means, first, falling hair, then—BALDNESS. If you are troubled with itching scalp or falling hair, be on guard against Dandruff. Get rid of it without delay; check its advance, for dandruff is a germ which feeds upon itself and "feeding grows," destroying the hair roots, so that no new hair growth is possible.

Begin now, using HAY'S HAIR HEALTH, the surest, swiftest Dandruff Cure. It destroys the dandruff germs, eradicates them (cleans out the pores of the scalp) and encourages a quick growth of youthful-looking hair. No unsightly dandruff scales on your coat collar. No bald spots on your scalp if you use HAY'S HAIR HEALTH. W. W. White, pastor Vienna (Md.) M. E. Church, writes us: "I have used half a dozen different hair tonics, but I find HAY'S HAIR HEALTH the very best preparation I have ever used for dandruff." You can get it at any druggist's for 50c or $1.00 per bottle or from the Philo Hay Spec. Co., Newark, N. J. For sale and recommended by W. A. Abbett.

OFFICIAL MAP OF THE WEATHER

For eleven days Duluth has suffered the torments of excessive cold. For eleven days the mercury has not once ascended to the zero mark in the official thermometer on the hill. For eleven days the furnaces have been devouring coal, water and gas pipes have been freezing, noses and ears innumerable have felt the sting of the frost-bite, and the poor needing fuel and clothing have been in despair. Yet the weather man calmly sends out the prediction, "Fair and continued cold weather." Oh, woe!!!

Duluth had a touch of frost a year ago today. The temperature dropped to 16 deg. below zero.

The sun rose this morning at 7:52 and it will set at 4:40 this evening, giving eight hours and forty-eight minutes of sunlight.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"Temperatures ranging from 20 deg. to 40 deg. below zero prevail in Wisconsin, Minnesota, the Dakotas, Montana and Western Canada, the lowest last night being 44 deg. below zero at Grand Forks, N. D. No material moderation. He was also elected as one of the directors of the First National bank. He is also kept busy as president of the board of education.

The Temperatures.

Following were the highest temperatures for twenty-four hours and the lowest for twelve, ending at 7 a. m. today:

OLIVER CLUB ELECTS.

Hibbing Organization Again Makes Tappan President.

Hibbing, Minn., Jan. 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—W. M. Tappan, who has served two terms as president, was re-elected to the position by the Oliver club at its regular meeting last night. W. A. Rose was elected vice president; W. L. Henry, secretary; J. E. Smith, treasurer; and D. McKay, E. L. Clymer, H. H. Angst, W. M. Mathieson and H. E. Farnum were chosen directors.

SETTLERS WANT ROAD.

Those Living Between Keewatin and Goodland to Petition Court.

Hibbing, Minn., Jan. 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—Settlers in Itasca and St. Louis county in the district between Goodland and Keewatin will in the near future petition the district judges of their respective counties for the construction of a judicial road connecting those points.

The proposed road will be about sixteen miles in length. Two miles of it will be in the town of Stuntz and it will open up a rapidly developing farming section which at present has practically no highway facilities to convenient markets. It will be especially of benefit to the settlers in the vicinity of Bengal, Stewart, Silica, Acropolis and Beauty Lake. If it is constructed as a judicial road each of the counties will bear one-fourth of the expense of its construction and the state the other half.

ODD FELLOWS TO MEET.

District Gathering of Mesaba Range at Hibbing Monday.

Hibbing, Minn., Jan. 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—A district meeting of the Odd Fellows of the Mesaba range will be held at Hibbing Monday of next week when the past grands from all the towns on the range are expected to be guests of the local lodge. The grand master and grand secretary are also expected to visit the lodge at this time. There will be afternoon and evening sessions and a large class of candidates will be initiated. In the evening there will be a joint installation of the officers of the Odd Fellows and Rebekahs and a social program is being prepared.

TRAPS SILVER FOX.

Chisholm Young Man Gets $750 for His Enterprise.

Chisholm, Minn., Jan. 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—John Bartol of this village trapped a black silver fox at Winton, a lumber camp near Ely, last week. Young Bartol is employed in the lumber camps and when going to and from work in the woods the men often saw the fox, but little thought of the value of the animal. They secured a trap on their next visit to town and caught it the first night by placing meat for bait near the trap.

The young man had never heard of a black silver fox and came near disposing of it to a local buyer when a representative of a St. Paul furrier, happened along and offered him a big price for it. Others then became interested and advised him against selling before consulting other furriers, with the result that young Bartol returned from St. Paul the first of the week stating he had received $750 for the animal.

EVELETH PHYSICIAN ON STATE HEALTH BOARD.

Eveleth, Minn., Jan. 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—Dr. Charles W. More returned last evening from St. Paul, where he was reappointed a member of the state board of health for three years. While in St. Paul he assisted the board in preparing resolutions which will aid in school health inspection. He was also elected as one of the directors of the First National bank. He is also kept busy as president of the board of education.

LODGE INSTALLATIONS.

Three Orders Install New Officers in Chisholm.

Chisholm, Minn., Jan. 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—Three local lodges have installed as follows:

Odd Fellows—Installed by M. L. Harris, past grand, D. D. G. M.: N. G., George Trask; V. G., A. B. Dugan; secretary, John MacDonald; treasurer, J. E. Goldenberg; warden, Matt Roberts; conductor, James W. Parks; R. S. S., Albert Johnson; L. S. S., J. E. Farrington; I. G., O. D. Thompson; R. S. N. G., S. W. Goldenberg; L. S. N. G., Julius Grosso; R. S. V. G., C. R. Woods; L. S. V. G., Gust Anderson.

Masonic Lodge—Installed by Past Grand Master O. H. Higbee; W. M., A. B. Kirk; S. W., C. E. French; J. W., J. H. McNiven; secretary, H. E. Townsend; treasurer, Edward Freeman; S. D., C. T. Knapp; J. D., C. M. Beck; I. S. S., William Bates; J. S. S., Charles Kimball; tyler, J. S. Creilin.

K. of P. Lodge—Installed by Deputy Grand Chancellor Shellman, assisted by Past Chancellor Harry Austin and Edward Rupp; C. C., Edward Lockhart; V. C., S. H. Schenck; prelate, Steve Musolf; M. W., L. A. Taylor; M. A., Nels Nelson; K. R. S., Jake Osbolt; M. E., Dr. Schmidt; I. G., Edward Rupp; O. G., D. C. Hackett.

BOUND OVER, CHARGED WITH HOLDING UP MAN.

Deer River, Minn., Jan. 11.—Charles Steika, accused of having held up and robbed U. C. Chuik near this village, had a hearing in Judge Ruby's court, and was bound over to the grand jury of Itasca county.

Ghuik says that he was walking along the Great Northern track about two miles out of the village when Steika held him up and demanded his money, taking $39 away from him.

CALL SPECIAL ELECTION

In Virginia to Vote on Issuing School Bonds.

Virginia, Minn., Jan. 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—At a lengthy meeting of the school board last night, after going over the tentative plans at length with Architect F. G. German of Duluth, the board voted to take steps to call a special election to vote upon a proposition to issue not to exceed $65,000 in bonds to provide funds with which to construct a new school building on the north side.

Architect German was instructed to prepare specifications at once and agreed to have them ready within ten days. The election may be held the latter part of the month, depending upon the time necessary to perfect the preparations for the election for which ten days notice must be given.

EVELETH CURLERS KEEN AFTER PRIZES OFFERED.

Eveleth, Minn., Jan. 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—In an exciting game at the curling rink last evening, the rink headed by Capt. Thomas J. Davey defeated Supt. Burton O. Greening's rink, 9 to 8, for the Miners' National bank trophy. Play in the Albert Rohrer and Twoly-Elmon trophies will be finished this week while play in the Hayes & Casey trophy event will start next week.

President Thomas A. Pratt, skip; Dr. Edwin K. Medlar, Vice President James A. Robb and Postmaster Edward H. Hatch have been selected to represent at the Duluth bonspiel while rinks will also be sent to the Winnipeg and Twin City bonspiels.

GILBERT WATER PIPE BURSTS, ENDANGERING TOWN

Gilbert, Minn., Jan. 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—Gilbert's water supply was endangered early yesterday morning when the water mains in the Gilbert location broke, emptying the contents of the water tank at the foot of Wisconsin avenue, until but one foot of water remained in the tank. Master Mechanic Ralph Knight of the Fayal district was notified and made the necessary repairs before the water tank was completely emptied.

A strong wind was blowing at the time and the residents feared much damage would be done in case of fire.

Gilbert Woman Dies.

Gilbert, Minn., Jan. 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mrs. Mary A. Skul, who was the owner of a local saloon, died last evening at her home here after a three months' illness with heart trouble. She formerly owned a saloon at Aurora and was very well known on the range. She was about 60 years of age and had resided at Gilbert for several years. She is survived here by her son-in-law, Alderman John Francel.

Eveleth Bank Election.

Eveleth, Minn., Jan. 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—At a meeting of the stockholders of the Miners National bank yesterday afternoon the following directors were elected: J. V. Johnson, Charles B. Hoel, James C. Poole, James A. Robb, Judge J. C. McGilvray, Albert Rohrer, and W. J. Smith. State Treasurer Walter J. Smith was elected president, James A. Robb, vice president; Charles B. Hoel, cashier; Rudolph Klinkenberg, assistant cashier.

swers and insists on explaining contributing incidents. Frequently when a question is asked he says:

"I think I had better tell you the story that goes with that."

Then he recites the events which have political significance to the point in question.

Found Much to Laugh At.

Senator Lorimer's second day as a witness was a comedy of laughter and politics. The inquiry delved into the dark windings of party government and touched lighter phases that swept the audience with laughter.

Mr. Lorimer's relations with Edward Hines, the lumbernian who has been said to be the man who secured the former's election to the United States senate, were talked over at length, and Senator Lorimer said he had never asked Mr. Hines to work for him, and, in fact, did not think Hines knew enough about politics to be trusted in such a capacity.

The now famous message which Hines is said to have carried from Washington to Governor Deneen, to the effect that President Taft, Senator Penrose and Former Senator Aldrich were anxious to see Lorimer elected, was discussed again, and Senator Lorimer said the first he knew of such a message was when Hines delivered it.

His Opinion of Hines.

"Is Hines the sort of a man who would be selected to carry out a deli- but I never felt I could ask him to Jones.

"Certainly not by me" returned Mr. Lorimer. "Hines and I were friends, but I never felt I could as kihm to use his time for me."

"Did Mr. Hines ever contribute anything to your campaign funds?"

"Not that I know of. Once when I was running for congress somebody had some circulars printed. I don't know who it was. If Mr. Hines did it, it was the only time he ever did anything for me."

Mr. Lorimer said that, so far as he knew, Hines' activity in his behalf began after Hines had talked with Penrose and Aldrich in Washington.

"Did you suppose the president favored you?" asked Senator Jones.

Nothing From White House.

"I only knew that such an impression had been carried to Springfield, I do know that a Republican was wanted from Illinois, and in the closing days of the legislature the idea got around that I was the one man who could be elected. I never received anything direct from the White House. The president had no interest in me personally and I only knew Penrose and Aldrich casually, but they seemed to think I was the man who could be elected."

When Senator Lorimer was relating his early relations with Governor Deneen and told of the break with him, he showed some emotion; otherwise he was a calm and imperturbed witness.

Lawson Demands Death.

District Attorney Pelletier has received a letter from Thomas W. Lawson, in which the financier demands that the prosecution insist that Richeson be executed for his crime. Among other things, he says:

"For God's sake and for humanity's sake, and for the sake of the countless dependents upon you and those situated like you—otherwise helpless mothers, wives and daughters—adhere to your stand.

"Better a million times that we of the chill blood north take example by our virtue-worshiping, unbridled license-hating brother of the South, and lynch, hack and burn, than that we stand idly by and let the ulcered brain sentimentalist police our highways and byways and schools and churches—a million times better.

"Is it possible that the sentimentalists' visions of the sorrows and miseries of the vilely criminal are going to drive the fathers, husbands and brothers of our land to make the rope, the gun and the torch the companions of their plows and Bibles?

"It's up to you, Mr. District Attorney, and to your brothers of the law to answer, and heaven help you and them if your answer wins the applause of the yellow brained propagators of unspeakable crime."

BUILD DOCK THIS YEAR

Island Creek Coal Company Will Let Contract Next Week.

Will Improve Site Recently Purchased at West Duluth.

The contract for the construction of another big coal dock, to be built on the Lesure street property at West Duluth this spring, will probably be let next week.

Officials of the Island Creek Coal company, including President Holden, Vice President T. B. Davis, and General Manager E. B. Merrill, will be in the city Monday for that purpose.

The Island Creek Coal company purchased the Lesure street dock site from the West Duluth Land company last fall and signified its intention at that time of building the new dock in the spring.

The new dock will mark the entrance of the Island Creek Coal company to the coal handling business at the Head of the Lakes, and it is understood that the new dock will be among the largest and most modern here.

The Island Creek coal has been handled both locally and at Superior, the concern being one of the big companies of the East. The company has offices in several of the larger cities. President Holden makes his home at Boston and Vice President Davis resides in New York city. Mr. Merrill is a Minneapolis man.

The officials were on their way to Duluth and were expected here today. At Chicago they were called back to the East on more important business. They will not reach here before next week.

SAYS HE WILL PREVENT BOUT

O'Neill Declares Johnson Will Not Box in New York.

New York, Jan. 11.—If Frank O'Neill of the recently created state athletic commission has anything to say about it Jack Johnson will not don a glove for a contest within the limits of New York state. There had been some talk of staging a short bout here for Johnson as a preliminary to the proposed match with Jim Flynn in Nevada.

"But," said Commissioner O'Neill today, "this athletic committee was created to control boxing, and we're going to control it. I have come to the conclusion it is against public policy and expedience to have Johnson box here. This is final."

O'Neill added that in the event any promoters should insist in putting on a Johnson bout here he would resign. "And that," he concluded, "would stop all contests."

MAHMOUT-PEDERSON MATCH NOT WANTED IN DES MOINES.

Des Moines, Ia., Jan. 11.—"Des Moines does not want wrestling matches which the Chicago authorities have branded with suspicion," said Mayor Hanna today in reference to the announcement that the Mahmut-Pederson match might be brought here.

"Furthermore," he said, "this city will not tolerate matches which are not on the square in every detail. I am not saying that this match is a fixed one, but so long as Mayor Harrison has indicated that it is not wanted in Chicago, Des Moines can get along well enough without it."

NORRIS AND MANN CLASH IN HOUSE

Republican Party Split Bobs Up Again on the Floor.

Washington, Jan. 11.—Republican insurgency broke out in the house today for the first time at this session of congress, when Insurgent Leader Norris of Nebraska bolted Republican Leader Mann's selection of Philip Campbell of Kansas, a regular, to succeed the late E. H. Madison of Kansas, Insurgent, on the house committee on rules.

Mr. Norris nominated Victor Murdock of Kansas, Insurgent.

The house sustained Mann by 107 to 167. Twenty-six Republicans voted in favor of Murdock, the remainder of his votes being Democratic.

BUSY DAYS FOR FIREMEN

Cold Weather Indirect Cause of Many Small Fires in City.

Plumbers' Torches and Overheated Stoves Keep Department on Move.

The fire department was kept on the jump answering alarms in the different parts of the city from noon yesterday until early this morning.

At 12:02 yesterday a blaze at 102 East Second street caused a loss of about $50. A quantity of clothes placed on a chair back of a stove caught fire. The clothes and the chair were destroyed, while the walls were slightly damaged.

At 12:28 a fire of unknown origin caused a loss of about $75 in the house at 3614 West Third street. It is owned by S. C. Confer and occupied by Oliver Schosie.

At 12:31 the department was called to extinguish a chimney fire at 1110 West Second street.

At 2:22 a fire at 118 South Sixty-third avenue west caused a loss of about $500. The house is occupied by F. S. Smith.

At 3 o'clock there was a chimney fire at 131 West Ninth street, and at 6:04 a false alarm came in from the box near the ore docks on Third street.

At 1:30 this morning a frame store at Eleventh avenue west and Michigan street sustained a loss of several hundred dollars from fire believed to have started from an overheated stove. The upper floor was occupied by some colored people, but they escaped without mishap into the adjoining house. They were allowed in ample time to find their clothing.

Up to 2 o'clock this afternoon no further alarms had been received.

ANTI- SALOON MEETING.

Cloquet Will Observe Field Day Sunday, Jan. 14.

Cloquet, Minn., Jan. 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—Anti-Saloon League field day will be observed here Sunday, Jan. 14. W. I. Norton, league attorney, will speak at the M. E. church in the morning at 10:30 and at the same hour A. H. Clark, superintendent of the northeastern section of the state, will speak at the Presbyterian church, and M. Mortensen, the league's business manager, will speak at the Swedish Lutheran church. In the evening there will be a mass meeting in the Nelson opera house at 8 o'clock.

May Free Mrs. Sparling.

Bad Axe, Mich., Jan. 11.—Rumors are current that the adjournment yesterday of the hearing of Mrs. John Wesley Sparling was a prelude to the possible dismissal of the case here in which she is charged with poisoning her son, Cyril, who died last spring near Ubly, Huron county.

CITY NOTICES.

NOTICE OF PROPOSED CONDEMNATION.

Notice is hereby given that there is now pending before the Common Council of the City of Duluth a resolution declaring the necessity of taking, and directing the condemnation of the north 33-feet of the northeast quarter of the northeast quarter of Section 14, Township 50, north, of Range 14 west, for the purpose of opening and widening St. Marie street.

Said resolution will be considered by the Common Council of the City of Duluth at a regular meeting thereof to be held on Monday, Jan. 29, 1912, at 8 o'clock p. m. in the council chamber in the city hall in the City of Duluth, at which time and place any person so desiring will be heard by said Common Council concerning the taking of such property. Office of the Board of Public Works.

City of Duluth, Minn., Jan. 11, 1912.

Notice is hereby given that a contract has been let for the construction of plank sidewalks in the City of Duluth, and that under said contract sidewalks have been built on Second street, Fifth street, Eighth street, Morse street, Gladstone street, Devonshire street, Albion street, Vineland street, Thirteenth avenue east, Seventeenth avenue east, Forty-second avenue east, First avenue west, Fourth avenue west, Eighteenth avenue west, Nineteen and one-half avenue west, Twenty-fifth avenue west, Forty-third avenue west, Atlantic avenue, and Arlington avenue, and that the Board of Public Works of said city will meet at their office in the City of Duluth, on Friday, the Twenty-sixth day of January, A. D. 1912, at 10 o'clock A. M., to make an assessment of the sum of Twenty-four Hundred Seven (2407) dollars and Eighteen (18) cents upon the real estate to be benefited by such sidewalks, for the purpose of raising money to defray so much of the cost of such improvement as is assessable.

All lands situated in said city and to which benefits result from said improvement will be assessed in proportion, as near as may be, to the benefits resulting thereto from said improvement. All persons interested in said proceedings shall have the right to be present and be heard at said time and place in relation to the making of said assessment.

OLOF G. OLSON, President.

Official: R. MURCHISON, Clerk, Board of Public Works.

LEGAL NOTICES.

IT IS HEREBY CERTIFIED, That at a meeting of the stockholders of BARTHE MARTIN COMPANY, held at Duluth, Minnesota, on January 9th, 1912, at which meeting all of the stockholders of said corporation were present in person or represented by proxy, the following resolution was adopted by the unanimous vote of the issued shares of said corporation:

RESOLVED, That the Articles of Incorporation of BARTHE MARTIN COMPANY be and are hereby amended as follows:

Article Four is amended to read as follows:

ARTICLE IV.

The amount of the capital stock of said corporation shall be One Hundred Thousand ($100,000) Dollars, and shall be paid in from time to time as called for by the Board of Directors of said corporation, and may be paid for in money or other property, at such time and such amounts and in such manner as the Board of Directors may determine. The said capital stock shall consist of ten thousand (10,000) shares of the par value of Ten ($10.00) Dollars each, of which six thousand five hundred (6,500) shares shall be common stock and three thousand five hundred (3,500) shares shall be preferred stock. The preferred stock shall be entitled to cumulative dividends at the rate of six per cent per annum, payable semi-annually on or before the fifteenth days of January and July in each year for the six months next preceding the first days of said months. Such dividends to be paid out of the net earnings of the corporation in preference to any dividends in the common stock thereof, but said preferred stock shall not be entitled to any further dividends or share in the earnings of said corporation.

In the event of the liquidation or winding up of the affairs of said corporation, whether voluntary or involuntary, the preferred stock then outstanding shall be paid off at par with all accrued dividends or apportionate fraction thereof, earned by the partial lapse of a dividend period, from the assets of the corporation before any payment therefrom be made upon the common stock of said corporation, and after such payment at par and accrued dividends, said preferred stock shall not be entitled to any further share in or payment from such assets.

The holder or holders of such preferred stock shall not be entitled to vote said stock at any stockholders' meeting unless the payment of dividends on such stock at the times and at the rate herein provided shall have been suspended or be in default, and such default or suspension shall have continued for sixty days after the same became due and payable as herein provided; but in case of such suspension or default, the holders of such stock shall have the same voting right and power as the holders of the common stock until such suspension has been terminated and such default cured, but no longer.

The corporation, by a vote of a majority of its Board of Directors, may pay off, redeem or cancel all or any part of said preferred stock and return the same to the treasury of said company for further issuance, which payment and redemption may be made upon any dividend date by giving thirty days' written notice thereof to the record owner of said stock, by the payment of the par value thereof, together with all dividends accrued and due thereon at the time of such payment; provided, however, that in case less than the whole amount of the outstanding preferred stock is so paid and returned to the treasury at any one time, the preferred stock so paid and recalled shall be ratably apportioned among the several holders of such preferred stock, unless all of the holders thereof agree among themselves as to the stock so to be returned, and produce as evidence of such agreement a written memorandum thereof. Said preferred stock that has so been returned to the treasury may be issued, returned and reissued as herein provided, or may become common stock and issued as such upon the determination of the Board of Directors; provided, however, that no returned preferred stock shall be reissued as such until after all the outstanding preferred stock shall have been liquidated and returned to the treasury.

The preferred stock in this corporation shall not be increased at any time without the written consent of all the stockholders of the then existing and outstanding preferred stock.

Article Five is amended to read as follows:

ARTICLE V.

The highest amount of indebtedness or liability to which this corporation shall at any time be subject shall be the sum of One Hundred Thousand ($100,000) Dollars.

IN TESTIMONY WHEREOF, This corporation has caused this certificate to be executed by its President and Secretary, and its corporate seal hereto affixed, this 9th day of January, 1912.

The resolution declaring the necessity of taking and directing the condemnation of property in Hunter and Markell's Grassy Point addition, etc., for park purposes was read, and on request of the Committee on Harbors, Parks and Roads action on same was postponed to the order of "Miscellaneous Business."

MOTIONS AND RESOLUTIONS.

Alderman Scott submitted a resolution declaring the necessity of taking and directing the condemnation of the north 33 feet of the northeast quarter of section 14, township 50 north, range 14 west, for the purpose of opening and widening St. Marie street, action on which was postponed under the provisions of the charter.

By Alderman Hogan:

Resolved, That the publishers of the Duluth Skandinav are hereby authorized to publish the proposed charter amendments in the Norwegian language for two issues preceding the municipal election, at a price of 75 cents per folio for the first insertion and 35 cents per folio for the second insertion, the cost of said work to be paid out of the printing and supply fund.

Alderman Hogan moved the adoption of the resolution.

Alderman Gibson moved to amend the resolution by inserting after the words "Norwegian language" the words "and in the Duluth Weekly Record in the English language." The amendment was accepted by the mover of the resolution.

Alderman MacDonell requested a division of the resolution.

The question being upon the adoption of that part of the resolution authorizing the publication in the Weekly Record, the resolution was declared lost upon the following vote:

Yeas — Aldermen Barnes, Bernard, Curren, Gibson, Hogan, Krueger, Scott—7.

Nays—Aldermen Bergstrom, Hector, Hoar, Jordan, MacDonell, Makowski, Miller—7.

Your Committee on Streets, Alleys and Sidewalks, to which was referred recommendation of the Board of Public Works, having considered the same, recommend the adoption of the following resolution:

Z. D. SCOTT,
WILLIAM L. BERNARD,
JNO. HOGAN,
Committee.

Resolved, That the Board of Public Works is hereby advised that this council consents to the issuance of a permit to the Duluth Telephone company to set poles as recommended by said board in communication dated Jan. 8, 1912, provided said permit shall be considered as only temporary and subject to revocation by this council at any time.

Alderman Hogan moved the adoption of the resolution, and it was declared adopted by a unanimous yea vote of all present, on roll call.

Passed Jan. 8, 1912.

Approved Jan. 10, 1912.

To the Common Council:

Your Committee on Streets, Alleys and Sidewalks, who were appointed and designated to hear and consider the petition for the vacation of the alley lying between Blocks 14 and 15, West Park Division of Duluth and between the easterly line of Third street and the westerly line of Michigan avenue, did, pursuant to notice published by the city clerk, meet in the city clerk's office in the city hall on Monday, Jan. 8, 1912, at 3:30 o'clock p. m., at which time no one appeared in opposition to the proposed vacation.

This portion of said alley is approximately 65 feet long and is of no particular use to the city excepting for the constructing of a sewer therein. As the block to the easterly thereof is occupied by the Bryant school, and the alley does not extend through said block, we are of the opinion that the petition should be granted, and recommend the adoption of the following resolution:

Z. D. SCOTT,
WILLIAM L. BERNARD,
JNO. HOGAN,
Committee.

Resolved, That all that portion of the alley lying between Blocks 14 and 15, West Park Division of Duluth and between the easterly line of Third street and the westerly line of Michigan avenue is hereby vacated, reserving to the city the right to construct a sewer in such vacated portion.

Alderman Scott moved the adoption of the resolution, and it was declared adopted by a unanimous yea vote of all present, on roll call.

Passed Jan. 8, 1912.

Approved Jan. 10, 1912.

To the Common Council:

Your Committee on Streets, Alleys and Sidewalks, to which was referred petition of West Duluth Land company asking for the right to construct and operate a railroad track over a portion of Lesure street, having considered the same and having consulted with the petitioners and the city attorney relative thereto have caused to be prepared, submit and recommend the passage of an ordinance granting such right.

Z. D. SCOTT,
WILLIAM L. BERNARD,
JNO. HOGAN,
Committee.

The ordinance entitled "An ordinance granting to West Duluth Land company, its successors and assigns, the right, privilege and authority to construct, lay down and maintain a railroad track in, over and on Lesure street in the City of Duluth," took its first reading and action on same was postponed under the provisions of the charter.

To the Common Council:

Your Committee on Streets, Alleys and Sidewalks, who were appointed and designated to hear and consider the petition for the vacation of that part of Thirty-first avenue west lying southerly of the southerly line of Michigan street and northerly of the northerly line of Heim street, and that portion of Huron street lying between the easterly and westerly lines of Thirty-first avenue west, did, pursuant to notice published by the city clerk, meet in the city clerk's office in the city hall on Monday, Jan. 8, 1912, at 3:30 o'clock P. M. at which time no one appeared in opposition to the proposed vacation.

Your committee is of the opinion that the city should reserve the right to construct and maintain sewers, conduits, etc. therein. We therefore recommend the adoption of the following resolution:

Z. D. SCOTT,
WILLIAM L. BERNARD,
JNO. HOGAN,
Committee.

Resolved, That all that portion of Thirty-first avenue west lying between the southerly line of Michigan street and the northerly line of Heim street, and that portion of Huron street lying between the easterly and westerly lines of Thirty-first avenue west be and hereby are vacated, reserving to the city and to persons or corporations holding franchises from the city the right to construct and maintain conduits, sewers, water mains and pole lines for electric wires therein.

Alderman Scott moved the adoption of the resolution, and it was declared adopted upon the following vote:

Yeas — Aldermen Barnes, Bergstrom, Bernard, Curren, Gibson, Hector, Hogan, Jordan, Krueger, MacDonell, Makowski, Scott, Vice President Hoar —13.

Nays—Alderman Miller—1.

Passed Jan. 8, 1912.

Approved Jan. 10, 1912.

MISCELLANEOUS BUSINESS.

The report from the Committee on Harbors, Parks and Roads was read as follows:

To the Common Council:

Your Committee on Harbors, Parks and Roads, to which was referred request of the Board of Park Commissioners, having considered the same, recommend the adoption of the following resolution:

J. D. BERGSTROM,
CHAS. J. HECTOR,
Z. D. SCOTT,
Committee.

Resolved That it is necessary for the city of Duluth to take the following described property for public parks, viz:

The whole of Blocks 27 and 33 in Hunter's Grassy Point addition to Duluth, according to the recorded plat thereof;

The whole of Blocks 15, 16, 17, 18, 19, 20, 21, 22 and 23 in Hunter's Grassy Point addition to Duluth, Second division, according to the recorded plat thereof.

The whole of Blocks 20, 21, 22, 23, 26, 27, 28, 29, 38 and 42 in Hunter's Grassy Point addition to Duluth, according to the recorded plat thereof, together with the riparian rights pertaining to any and all of said property.

And it is hereby ordered that said property be condemned.

Resolved further, That the city clerk is hereby directed to certify a copy of this resolution to the city engineer as notice of the aforesaid determination of this council.

Alderman Scott moved the adoption of the resolution.

A majority of the Committee on Harbors, Parks and Roads submitted a supplemental report as follows:

To the Common Council:

Your Committee on Harbors, Parks and Roads, to which was referred question of the condemnation of property for park purposes at West Duluth, held a conference with the Board of Park Commissioners and interested citizens on Tuesday, Jan. 2.

Citizens of West Duluth advocated the condemnation of the entire proposed tract. Members of the park board also favored the condemnation of the entire tract. Interested property owners objected that the city should condemn more property than they were in a position to pay for. The demands upon the park fund are numerous and the city has been expending considerable amounts during the past few years in enlarging and improving the system.

Your Committee is of the opinion that the city should proceed with the condemnation of that portion of the proposed tract which lies westerly of the east line of Sixty-sixth avenue west and north of the south line of Pulaski street and boundary line between Lots 5 and 6, Block 21, Hunter and Markell's Grassy Point addition. This gives a continous tract from the railroad to the bay and a short line of considerable more than a quarter of a mile, but would not take the valuable property which carries the riparian rights to the dock line. We think that this property can be obtained with the money which will be at the disposal of the park board during the present year.

We therefore recommend that the resolution now pending before the council declaring the necessity of taking and directing the condemnation of property for park purposes be amended by striking out of said resolution all the property described excepting that herein specified.

CHAS. J. HECTOR,
Committee.

WHEAT AND FLAX DOWN

Break in Wheat Caused By Profit-Taking Near the Close.

Warm, Dry Weather in Argentina Causes Flax to Cheapen.

Duluth Board of Trade, Jan. 11.—What promised to be a bullish day in wheat had a bearish close on account of a sudden epidemic of profit-taking, which seized brokers on most of the leading North American markets not long before the end of the session. Duluth May closed an ⅛c to ¼c off, anad July unchanged to ⅛c off. Duluth durum closed ⅜c off. Cash wheat closed at the May price. Duluth January flax closed 1c off and May unchanged.

Although reports received today of weather in Argentina stated that conditions were very favorable for harvesting operations in that country, there was quite a bulge in wheat this morning on many of the world's principal markets. Broomhall's Argentine correspondent gave a lower estimate of the surplus available for export than has ever been given before for this crop year, namely 88,000,000 bu. The yield in the northern part of that country was reported to be showing up far better than was anticipated, but in the southern portion the prospects were not good. This morning both the January and February options opened at advances, the former being 1⅜ cents up and the latter ½ a cent.

These cables had the effect of causing an advance at Liverpool, and that market was still further bulled by a better milling demand and a forecast of lighter world's shipments. Liverpool wheat closed today ½ to ⅝ d higher. The primary wheat receipts at the American terminals were somewhat larger than those of a week ago, but away behind those of a year ago. The domestic demand was improved. Minneapolis reported enormous sales of cash wheat.

One factor that without doubt had quite a bullish effect at Duluth and Minneapolis was the refusal of the interstate commerce commission to allow the Northwestern railroads to put into immediate effect the new rates on wheat from points of the Canadian West to Duluth and Minneapolis. The petition for lower rates must wait the full thirty days that is required of such petitions after filing before the commission acts upon them. Action will probably be taken on this matter on Feb. 10.

Duluth May wheat, which closed yesterday at $1.05⅝@1.05⅞ asked, opened today at $1.06 bid and at noon was selling at $1.06¼@1.06⅜. Quotations from Chicago, Minneapolis and Winnipeg were also bullish.

Flax Trade Dull.

There was little doing in flaxseed trading on the Duluth market this morning. There was no aggressive demand and offers were light. Neither buyers nor sellers appeared to be in any hurry to close deals. The apathy of purchasers was due, to some extent, to bearish reports from Argentina. Since favorable weather set in in that country, the Buenos Ayres flaxseed market has been on the decline from its extraordinarily high quotations, though the seed is still high-priced on that exchange, as elsewhere. Last night Buenos Ayres January flax closed at $2.10⅜ a bushel, having declined 4½ cents under the close of the day before. At the opening this morning there was a further decline of 1 cent. This movement has renewed the hopes of crushers, especially those of the East, that Argentina will yet cause a very considerable decline in the cost of flax on the American, as well as other markets. Hence their waiting policy. Moreover, the demand for linseed oil is very dull and there has been no immediate occasion for heavy purchases of flaxseed. At the same time there has been so little pressure to sell that fluctuations of the price have amounted to little. At noon today Duluth January flaxseed was unchanged from yesterday's close and May was ⅜c up.

The Price Current, Cincinnati, says: "The wheat crop situation is generally about the same as a week ago. The drop in temperatures was attended by beneficial snows over most of the central region. Some sections of Ohio and Indiana are still bare but it is impossible to make a intelligent estimate of any damage. In Southwestern sections, conditions are excellent."

Broomhall wired from Liverpool—"Our Argentine agent estimates the wheat shipments this week at 120,000 bu: last week, 248,000 bu; last year, 560,000 bu; corn, this week, nil; last week, nil; last year, 1,930,000 bu.

"The wheat market here at the immediate opening was influenced by a private cable from Argentina, estimating the exportable surplus at 88,000,000 bu, and shorts covered, which resulted in an advance of ⅛ to ¼d. Following the opening there was further prominent support and prices further gained ⅛ to ⅝d with the buying in March. This late strength was due to the firmer American cables and a better demand from millers with the continent bidding for cargoes about to arrive, and a forecast of lighter world's shipments again this week. Just before mid-day, there was some reaction from the extreme high on a cable from our agent in Argentina, reporting fine weather there, which caused moderate realizing. At 1:30 p. m., the market, although off about ¼d from the high, was very firm and ⅛ to ⅜d higher than yesterday.

"Corn opened about unchanged but gained ⅛ to ⅜d with the undertone firm. Shorts covered on fewer American and Plata offers and the strength in wheat.

"The Buenos Ayres wheat market closed irregular with January under pressure and ⅝c lower on the continued favorable weather for the movement and better grading of the new corn, but the latter, while the distant month was firmly supported and ½c higher, on a less favorable outlook in the south and delayed harvesting with thrashing returns unsatisfactory.

"Our agent, 30 cabled direct last night that the weather was generally fine.

"In the north of Argentina wheat is yielding better than was earlier expected. A cable from our agent this morning says the weather is fine and dry."

MINNEAPOLIS MARKET.

Local Pressure Causes Declines in the Wheat Pit.

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 11.—Pressure in the local pit caused moderate declines in wheat late today. Early market was firmer on bullish Argentine cables. Minneapolis was relatively weaker than outside markets. May closed ¼c lower than yesterday and July ¼@⅜c lower. Local elevator stocks of wheat decreased 325,000 bu for five days.

Car lot wheat receipts: Minneapolis, today, 164, week ago, 124, year ago, 191; Duluth, today, 16, week ago, 29, year ago, 26; Winnipeg, today, 89, week ago, 188, year ago, 6.

Cash wheat was in fair demand today and market was quoted steady, mills recently bought large amounts in store and consequently demand in open market not so good. No. 1 northern sold mostly for the even May price with few cars going at ½c above.

Millstuffs—Shipments, 2,034 tons. Demand good for all millstuffs on account of cold weather. Mills sold ahead and prices unchanged.

Wheat: May opened, $1.07; high, $1.07⅛@1.07⅜; low, $1.06¾@1.06⅞; closed, $1.06½. July opened, $1.08; high, $1.08⅛; low, $1.07⅞@1.07¼; closed, $1.07¼@1.07⅜.

Closing cash: No. 1 hard, $1.07⅛; No. 1 northern, $1.06½@1.07; to arrive, $1.06⅛@1.07; No. 2 northern, $1.04½@1.05; to arrive, $1.04½@1.05; No. 3 wheat, $1.02½@1.03; No. 3 yellow corn, 62@63c; No. 3 white oats, 47@47½c; No. 2 rye, 51c. Bran in 100-pound sacks, $23.50@23.75.

Flour—The market was steady. An encouraging feature was the general improvement in shipping directions on old orders. Sales small and scattered. Prices firm at yesterday's decline. Shipments, 55,763 bbls. First patents, $5.20@5.50; second patents, $4.80@5.10; first clears, $3.60@3.95; second clears, $2.50@2.90.

Flax — Receipts, 13 cars; year ago, 3; shipments, 4. Demand strong for choice flax today. Spot quoted 1c above Duluth January and to arrive the even near contract. Closing price, $2.14; to arrive, $2.13½.

Barley — Receipts, 24 cars; year ago, 26; shipments 39. Barley about steady. Offerings light and mostly of inferior quality. Demand good for choice malting grades. Prices closed unchanged from yesterday to 2c lower. Closing range, 85c@$1.28.

DECLINES IN STOCKS

Some Temporary Strength Due to Bidding Up of Lehigh Valley.

Prices Recede to Lowest Prices of Day Near the Close.

New York, Jan. 11.—Irregular changes were recorded in the first transactions in stocks today. The drift was downward among the more active issues, although several of the specialties made good gains. American Can preferred advanced 1⅝ and National Biscuit a point. The Harriman stocks, United States Steel, the copper shares and Interborough Metropolitan issues were heavy.

Accumulation of Lehigh Valley, which advanced it 1¼ strengthened the market for a time, but the whole list subsequently receded sharply when active selling of Union Pacific was resumed. That stock broke 2 points to 166¼ and Reading, Canadian Pacific and United States Steel a point. Lehigh Valley reacted to last night's close.

Speculative opinion of a more bearish cast today and traders on the long side of the market failed to follow up the advantage they gained yesterday. Although the market relieved of some temporary strength from the bidding up of Lehigh Valley and a few of the specialties, the effect was soon offset by aggressive bear selling and the list was heavy most of the morning. The attack was again centered on Union Pacific and the lack of staunch support for this stock contributed toward the unsettlement of the general list. London again sold stocks here, chiefly United States Steel and Union Pacific.

The market rallied feebly, became very dull and again dipped sharply at midday. Many stocks ruled between 1 and 2 points below yesterday's final prices.

Canadian Pacific lost 2¾, Reading 2 and Northern Pacific, Southern Pacific, Chesapeake & Ohio, Amalgamated Copper, Utah Copper, Interborough Metropolitan and others a point or more. Western Union showed pronounced strength. Bonds were easy.

The market closed irregular. The tonic effect of the announcement that the Lehigh Valley directors would meet after 3 o'clock soon wore off, and the list became weak, with Lehigh valley leading the decline. The price broke 2 points from the best to 183½. Other stocks also receded to the lowest figures of the day, with business considerably more active on the down grade. Hasty covering strengthened some stocks in the final dealings.

BOSTON COPPER STOCKS

The Boston stock quotations furnished by Gay & Sturgis, 326 West Superior street.

Boston, Mass., Jan. 11.—The markets today were again dull and for the most part heavy and signally failed to respond to bullish news. Just why they do not is a little hard to see. Except for prospective tariff revision and poor Western railroad earnings all the current news is good. Money continues to ease and the bond market to improve. Busines sconditions in the East are surely good. It would seem as though the late depression had finally reached the extreme West, while in the East a better era is dawning. Calumet & Hecla put its price for copper at 15 cents in Europe and most companies are well sold up to June 1st. Prices of stocks have not yet discounted this, but they must eventually. There is nothing to get discouraged about or to make one doubt an ultimate higher level.

Paintings Burns.

Vienna, Austria, Jan. 11.—Fire destroyed a considerable portion of the palace of the Archduke Frederick in this city last night. Besides the structure, which was badly wrecked, a great many valuables and paintings were destroyed. The fire started in the apartments of Archduchess Isabella, wife of Archduke Frederick.

COPPER STOCKS CLOSE LOWER

Although the news in regard to the value of copper metal was almost invariably bullish during the day, copper stocks closed at a loss, being pulled down by the weakness of the general stock list of New York. There were few large losses, however, and most of the declines were very slight. Among the most noticeable movements that were made by stocks held largely in Duluth was the heavy loss of Red Warrior. That stock was very weak indeed today, being quoted at 70 to 80 cents, whereas a week ago it sold as high as $1.

The strength of copper itself seems to give promise of a good bulge in copper stocks, as soon as conditions of the general stock market will permit. Calumet & Hecla today advanced its price in Europe to 15 cents, while the domestic price was raised to 14¾ cents. Electrolytic today was strong at 14½ cents. Lake copper went almost as high as 14⅝ cents. London copper today closed at an advance of 8s 9d in both spot and futures, thus making up over a third of yesterday's loss.

A REAL BARGAIN

Paying big interest and sure to advance in value—75 feet on lower side of Superior street, between Twentieth and Twenty-first avenues west—running through to Michigan street. This is the very heart of the business center of the West End.

There is a good substantial brick building on the lot—two stories and basement 75x90 feet in size—two stores on Superior street and six flats on second floor. Building just right for the location. Rental $256 per month or $3,072 per year. Price $28,500. Can be bought on cash payment of $5,000—easy payments on balance.

Will show large interest on the investment and the ground will double in value at least.

A rare chance for a safe and profitable investment.

LEGAL NOTICES.

WE, THE UNDERSIGNED, HEREBY associate ourselves together and subscribe and acknowledge the following certificate of incorporation, pursuant to the provisions of chapter 58 of the Revised Laws of Minnesota for the year 1905, and acts amendatory thereof and supplementary thereto.

1. The name of this corporation shall be "The Ironton Iron Mining Company." The general nature of its business shall be mining, smelting, reducing, refining and working iron ores and other minerals, and manufacturing iron, steel and other metals. The principal place of transacting said business shall be Duluth, Minnesota, or such other place or places as the directors may by resolution establish. The period of duration of this corporation shall be thirty years. The date of the commencement thereof shall be January 16th, 1912.

2. The names and places of residence of the incorporators are as follows: John Helmer, Aquila G. Osman, Richard Jones and J. W. Hunt of Duluth, Minnesota, and Edwin A. Lamb of Deerwood, Minnesota.

3. The management of this corporation shall be vested in a board of directors, consisting of five members, and such other officers as may be by the by-laws established. Said board of directors shall be elected at the annual meeting of the stockholders in each year, which annual meeting shall be held on the first Tuesday after the second Monday in January in each year, beginning in the year 1912. The above named incorporators shall compose the board of directors until the first election, which shall be held upon said January 16th, 1912, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, at 904 Torrey Building, Duluth, Minnesota.

4. The amount of the capital stock of this corporation shall be five hundred thousand dollars, divided into fifty thousand shares of the par value of ten dollars each, to be paid in as the board of directors may determine.

5. The highest amount of indebtedness or liability to which this corporation shall at any time be subject is two hundred thousand dollars.

6. The stock in this corporation may be paid for either in cash or in property.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, We have hereunto set our hands and seals this 6th day of January, 1912.

NOTICE OF MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE SALE—

Default has been made in the conditions of a certain mortgage executed by Ursula Russ and John Russ, her husband, mortgagors, to Sattler Liquor Company, mortgagee, bearing date October 1st, 1909, and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds of St. Louis County, Minnesota, on October 15, 1909, in Book 267 of Mortgages, on page 402.

Said default consists in the nonpayment of the sum of $966.75 and interest, according to the conditions of a certain promissory note for $1,345.75, executed by said mortgagors under date of October 1st, 1909, payable on demand; no part of which has ever been paid except the sum of $380.00, though payment has been demanded.

The name of said SATTLER LIQUOR COMPANY has been changed to and now is SATTLER BROTHERS COMPANY.

By reason of such default, the power of sale contained in said mortgage has become operative, and no action or proceeding at law or otherwise has been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage.

There is claimed to be due and is due upon said mortgage at the date of this notice the sum of $1,168.07.

The property described in said mortgage and thereby mortgaged is the northwest quarter of the northeast quarter (NW¼ of NE¼) of Section thirty-three (33) in Township fifty-nine (59) north of Range twenty (20) west, in St. Louis County, Minnesota, containing forty (40) acres more or less, according to the United States government survey thereof.

By written instrument, dated August 28th, 1911, and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds of St. Louis County, Minnesota, on December 23rd, 1911, in Book 215 of Mortgages, on page 555, said Sattler Brothers Company (formerly Sattler Liquor Company), mortgagee, released from the lien of the above described mortgage (recorded in Book 267 of Mortgages, page 402) to Independent School District No. 40 of St. Louis County, Minnesota, all that portion of said mortgaged premises described as follows, to-wit:

Commencing at a point where the sixteenth (16th) line of the northeast quarter (NE¼) of Section thirty-three (33) in Township fifty-nine (59) north of Range twenty (20) west (4th Principal Meridian, St. Louis County, Minn.) intersects the westerly line of the County Road as now established; thence west along said 16th line three hundred (300) feet; thence north at right angles two hundred seventy-four (274) feet; thence at right angles, and parallel with the said 16th line, three hundred forty-five (345) feet, more or less, to the westerly line of said County Road; thence southwesterly along the said westerly line of said County Road to the place of beginning containing two (2) acres, more or less.

Said property had previously been conveyed by the mortgagors to said releasee.

NOW, THEREFORE, NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, That, by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises first above and in said mortgage described, reserving and excepting therefrom all that portion of said mortgaged premises last above and in said release to Independent School District No. 40 of St. Louis County, Minnesota, described, which sale will be made at public auction to the highest bidder for cash by the Sheriff of St. Louis County, Minnesota, at the Front Door of the St. Louis County Court House, in the City of Duluth, St. Louis County, Minnesota, upon Saturday, the 2nd day of March, 1912, at ten o'clock in the forenoon of that day, to satisfy the amount due on said mortgage and twenty-five dollars ($25.00) attorneys' fees, as provided in said mortgage, together with the costs and disbursements allowed by law.

Dated at Duluth, Minn., this 11th day of January, 1912.

ANDREW CARNEGIE SAYS ROOSEVELT IS RIGHT ABOUT TRUSTS

Believes Sherman Law Not Drastic Enough to Meet the Needs.

Favors Government Regulation of Prices From Month to Month.

Ironmaster Says He Recommended Knox as Attorney General.

Washington, Jan. 12.—"I am familiar with the views of ex-President Roosevelt on the trust question, and I am inclined to agree with him," said Andrew Carnegie before the Steel trust investigating committee today.

Representative Gardner of Massachusetts had contrasted those views with ideas expressed by President Taft in his recent message on the trust question

"In the solution of the industrial problem," said Representative Gardner, "there are two leading thoughts before us. President Taft in his recent message expressed the view that dissolution of large units should go on.

"The other line of thought, as expressed by former President Roosevelt, is that under the existing Sherman law we should look to recognition of large units controlled by the government. In which class are you, Mr. Carnegie?"

Agrees With Roosevelt.

"I have agreed with Mr. Roosevelt's views. I think for the present you should allow large organizations to continue, and to see how we get along and that you should pass laws regulating these organizations. Then you should be patient and see what further legislation may be necessary.

"I do not think the Sherman law is drastic enough. Give us a clear, unmistakeable law and I believe we will steer clearly."

"Do you believe dissolution of the United States Steel corporation would lessen the price of steel?"

"I do not believe it would. It depends, of course, upon what the court might do."

"Suppose congress does not take the step that you advise?"

"My opinion is that congress will see the necessity for more government control."

Periodical Relation.

Mr. Carnegie said a government commission should have power to regulate prices from month to month, allowing capital a reasonable profit, thus affecting "an ideal condition between capital and labor, producer and consumer."

I think," he added, "that dissolution and disintegration would force

ITALIAN NOBLE KILLS HIMSELF

Writer and Lecturer, Former Royal Page, Takes His Own Life.

San Francisco, Cal., Jan. 12.—Luigi Donato Ventura, an Italian of noble birth and of ability as a writer and lecturer, committed suicide here last night by shooting himself through the heart in a fit of despondency due to family troubles. His complete surname Ventura De Lecce Bari, and his family line traced back as far as 1299.

Prof. Ventura began his career as a page in the court of King Humbert. While a young man he came to this country and gained some notice through "Peppino," a story of an Italian newsboy in New York. He was a close friend of the young Salvina, for whom he wrote several plays. In San Francisco he gave readings from French dramatists. He also lectured for a time at Stanford university.

In the room in which he took his life lay a letter from Interstate Commerce Commissioner Franklin K. Lane, who wrote:

"I hope that with the dawn of a new year you will appreciate life as not a dreary blank for you."

But in a note left for his daughter, Lillian, Ventura said:

"Life is too hard now; I have no brains, no ideas, and you will be happier after this ordeal."

QUARTER MILLION LOST IN FLAMES

Halifax, N. S., Herald and U. S. Consular Office Burned.

Halifax, N. S., Jan. 12. — Damage amounting to nearly a quarter of a million dollars was caused early today by a fire which destroyed the Halifax Herald building, several stores and offices and threatened to wipe out a considerable portion of the business section of the city. Among the places burned was the office of the United States consul in the Herald building.

Starting shortly after midnight in the brick block occupied by W. S. Munnis, dry goods dealer, the fire soon jumped to the Herald building. Other structures on Granville street also caught fire. The Herald building was a five-story granite block of modern construction and contained one of the best newspaper plants in the province.

CONFIRMS STORY OF DYNAMITING PLOTS

MRS. ORTIE McMANIGAL, Who Testified Before the Federal Grand Jury at Indianapolis.

IS CHANGE IN POLICY

Selection of Baltimore as Convention City Discussed By Abbot.

Says Leading Democrats Depend Upon East to Elect President.

(By Willis J. Abbot.)

Washington, Jan. 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—The selection of Baltimore as the meeting place for the Democratic national convention marks a sharp divergence from the policy of that party in late years. It really indicates the way in which the party managers have turned away from the policy which Mr. Bryan so long imposed upon them.

Not that Bryan had anything to do with the choice of the convention city one way or another. He kept hands off wholly. Probably he was for St. Louis. That would only be natural, for his following in Missouri and adjacent states is still strong. But he did nothing to influence the choice of the committee of a place of meeting. Nevertheless the selection of Baltimore means an abandonment of Bryanism, for it has always been the hope of

Court Indicates Evidence Against the Widow Is Strong.

Chicago, Jan. 12.—Mrs. Rene B. Morrow, accused by the police of the murder of her husband, Charles B. Morrow, is expected to know today whether she must face trial in the criminal court. The preliminary hearing will be finished before Municipal Judge Fake.

The court indicated before the close of yesterday's proceedings that strong evidence would have to be produced to prevent the woman being held to the grand jury. It is not believed that Mrs. Morrow will testify in her own behalf. The hearing was set for this afternoon.

BRYAN STARTS LECTURE TOUR

Has Talked With Mack But Declines to Discuss Candidates.

New York, Jan. 12.—Col. William J. Bryan prepared this morning to start south for a series of lectures and will stop off in Philadelphia and Washington. The colonel did not commit himself to anyone's presidential candidacy.

National Chairman Mack said that Mr. Bryan and other Democratic leaders, including Roger Sullivan of Illinois, Urey Woodson of Kentucky, and Thomas Taggart of Indiana had talked informally with him over the general political situation.

"I wouldn't care to make a guess as to which candidate had the best chance of selection," said Mr. Mack.

McMANIGAL'S WIFE TALKS

Confirms His Confession as Told to Federal Grand Jury.

Burns Is Praised By Judge for His Work on the Cases.

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 12.—Ortie E. McManigal's confessions, particularly with reference to others who helped him in the dynamite conspiracy, were confirmed in important details by the dynamiter's wife, who was examined today by government officials in charge of the federal grand jury investigation.

From conversations she had with her husband in Chicago, Mrs. McManigal, it is said, was able to tell much about the man who approached McManigal when he was working on a building in Detroit in June, 1907, and induced him to begin the many explosions on "open shops."

Instructions From McNamara.

This man went to Detroit from Indianapolis and professed to have instructions and money from John J. McNamara.

After McManigal regularly took up dynamiting, he frequently met in Chicago men who, it is asserted, talked about places to be blown up.

Mrs. McManigal was questioned about her husband's carrying explosives through Chicago to points in Wisconsin, Missouri and Iowa and about people who accompanied him when he blew up a place in South Chicago, Feb. 24, 1911.

Praise for Burns.

Complimented by the federal court

ONE CALIFORNIAN DIES ON GALLOWS

Three Others Reprieved in Move to End Capital Punishment.

San Francisco, Cal., Jan. 12.—Of four men who, at the beginning of the week, faced death on the gallows at San Quentin, today only one, Mark A. Wilkins met that fate when the sun rose this morning.

John Byrne of San Francisco, who killed a man, had been made a life prisoner, and George Figuroa of Los Angeles, and William Burke of San Diego, who murdered their wives, had been granted reprieves by Governor Johnson.

Want to End Death Law.

Throughout the week the governor was deluged with telegrams urging him to reprieve all the men until a movement now on foot for the initiation of a law prohibiting capital punishment could be brought to a vote of the people.

Wilkins was convicted in Oakland, Cal., of having murdered Mrs. Vernie Carmen, with whom he eloped from Kansas City early in 1907. He was a university man and an engineer, and had been friendly for years with the woman's husband. In November, 1907, the woman's body was exhumed from a grave beneath the stable of the house where Wilkins was still living. It had been buried in quicklime.

The weather is moderating somewhat throughout the Northwest. The mercury may get up to zero or a little above before tomorrow night. There is a very, very slight chance that the long-wished-for break in the cold snap will come within the next two days.

That's the message Forecaster Richardson sends out to suffering humanity today.

For the present the cold snap is doing business at the same old stand—and a rushing business at that. The mercury dropped to 34 deg. this morning and will flirt with the bottom

TROOPS SAIL FROM MANILA

American Soldiers Go to See Service in China.

New Atrocities By the Imperialists Are Reported.

Manila, Jan. 12.—The United States transport Logan left this afternoon at 2:30 with a battalion of the Fifteenth infantry and other details on board on the way to Chin Wang Tao, in Northern China. The American troops, after they have disembarked, are to be employed in guarding a section of the Pekin railroad from Tang Shan to Lanchow against the possible attack of either imperialist or republican troops. No women were allowed to accompany the expedition.

Maj. Gen. J. Franklin Bell, commander-in-chief of the army in the Philippines, made a short parting speech to the officers and men of the expedition just before the transport sailed. As the vessel left the quayside the band of the Fifteenth infantry played a selection of patriotic airs and there was much waving of

EIGHT TURKISH VESSELS SUNK

Seven Gunboats and an Armed Yacht Destroyed By Italians.

Rome, Jan. 12.—A severe naval action occurred today in the Red sea, when seven Turkish gunboats and an armed yacht were destroyed by Italian warships.

The division of Italian cruisers, which has been scouring the coasts of the Red sea in search of Turkish war vessels, and ships conveying contraband destined for the Turkish garrisons in the Yemen province in Arabia encountered the flotilla of Turkish gunboats and at once opened fire. The Turks replied, but their feeble armament succumbed to the superior weapons of the Italian war vessels.

The Italian warships cruising in the Red sea since the beginning of the war include the cruisers Piemonte, Calabria and Puglia and a flotilla of destroyers. Massowa is the base from which they operate. Several weeks ago they bombarded the towns of Sheik Said, Mocha and Akabah.

FRANKLIN WILL PLEAD GUILTY

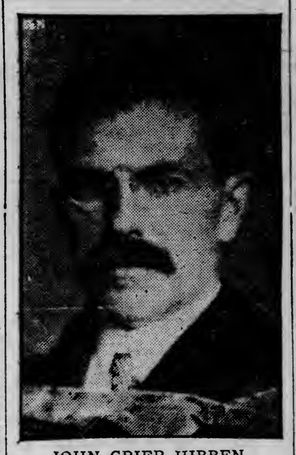

Will Also Tell All He Knows of McNamara Jury Bribery.

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 12.—A morning paper says Bert H. Franklin, a detective arrested on a charge of bribery in the murder trial of James B. McNamara, has agreed to enter a plea of guilty.

The agreement, it is asserted, is that the state will be content to impose a fine of $5,000 upon Franklin should he consent to tell the county jury all he knows about the alleged jury bribing.

RECRUITS FOR LIFE OF SHAME SECURED IN THE DANCE HALLS

NEW PRESIDENT OF PRINCETON UNIVERSITY

JOHN GRIER HIBBEN.

Princeton, N. J., Jan. 12.—Dr. John Grier Hibben, the new president of Princeton, was graduated from that institution in 1882, and since 1891 has been a member of the faculty. He is popular with both the alumni and undergraduates, and his election was received with joy by Princeton men here. He has for years been a prominent educator and writer of philosophy and is at present president of the American Philosophical society and editor-in-chief of the international series of philosophical monographs. He has taken a prominent part in the affairs of Princeton.

One of the verses in the famous faculty song of Princeton university, sung by the seniors on the step of Nassau hall, expresses the sentiment of Princeton men toward Dr. Hibben. Sixteen years the verse has been sung at Princeton. It runs:

"Here's to Hibben, we call him Jack,
The whitest man in all the pack.
The Princeton spirit he does not lack,
Here's to Hibben—we call him Jack!"

Dr. Hibben was born in Peoria, Ill., in 1861.

Saloon Keepers Who Countenance "Rolling" of Woodsmen Also Flayed.

WHAT THE GRAND JURY FOUND.

Young Duluth girls are being ruined through attendance at public dance halls.

Men are being robbed in saloons on the Bowery and St. Croix avenue with the full knowledge of proprietors.

A workhouse is badly needed as crowded conditions at the county jail are rapidly growing worse instead of better.

GRAND JURY RECOMMENDS

Closer supervision of dance halls.

A workhouse for short term prisoners.

Revocation liquor licenses in "low dives" on the Bowery and St. Croix avenue.

The installation of Bell telephones in the courthouse.

That the forces of vice are securing recruits through the dance halls of Duluth, and that woodsmen are being robbed in the dives and saloons of the Bowery and St. Croix avenue, are some of the findings made by the grand jury in its final report to Judge Dancer today.

The grand jury recommends a most rigid supervision of dance halls, and a sweeping revocation of liquor licenses granted to the lower class of saloons.

The portion of their report which follows shows the result of the investigation:

"A great many cases of depravity came before this grand jury, viz: young girls going wrong, and from testimony it developed that the down-

COMPLAINS OF RUSSELL

American Left in Shuster's Place Cables to Congressman.

Says United States Minister Acts Against His Countrymen.

Washington, Jan. 12.—F. E. Cairnes, the young American who was left in charge of the Persian treasury by W. Morgan Shuster, the deposed treasurer-general, when he left Teheran for the United States, cabled Chairman Sulzer of the house committee on foreign affairs today an urgent appeal for help.

He charges the Persian government is refusing to release the other Americans from their contracts, and said the state department at Washington was "influenced by American Minister Charles W. Russell" against their claims.

Shuster Has Left.

Teheran, Jan. 12.—W. Morgan Shuster, the American recently removed as treasurer-general of Persia, left yesterday for Europe, accompanied by his family and Edward Bell, secretary of the American legation at Teheran. They will proceed by way of Batum, on the Black sea, and Constantinople.

WEBSTER SAYS HE IS GUILTY

Admits Murdering Wife, When Arraigned at Oregon, Ill.

Oregon, Ill., Jan. 12.—Dr. Harry E. Webster pleaded guilty to murder in the Ogle county circuit court here today on the first anniversary of his marriage to Bessie Kent Webster, whom, by his own confession, he killed near here last September. Webster withdrew a plea of not guilty previously made by him.

DISTURBANCES IN THE WOOLEN MILLS.

Lawrence, Mass., Jan. 12.—The general unrest among the 25,000 textile operatives of this city developed into disturbances at the Washington and Wood mills of the American Woolen company today. Striking operatives became demonstrative in the spinning rooms and a riot call for the police was issued. Several of the overseers were injured in hand-to-hand fights.

TEST COST PLAN AIRED AT TRIAL

Packers' Methods of Figuring Are Gone Into in Chicago Court.

Chicago, Jan. 12. — Evidence on the details of the methods used in figuring the test cost of cattle was given by Henry A. Timins, chief accountant for Morris & Co., when the trial of the ten Chicago packers charged with conspiracy in restraint of trade was resumed in the United States court today.

Timins and other accountants employed by the packers were expected to produce in court all the books they could find likely to throw light on the exact allowances in the test cost of various by-products.

A dozen or more accountants will be called as witnesses by the government in an effort to prove that the by-product allowances were inadequate and an important part of the general system used by the alleged combination.

HOOK DEFENDS HIMSELF TO TAFT

Sends Letter Through Senator Curtis of Kansas.

Washington, Jan. 12.—United States Circuit Judge William C. Hook of Kansas, one of the most prominent candidates for the existing supreme court vacancy, today made a personal reply to President Taft to charges recently made against him with the idea of preventing his nomination.

Through Senator Curtis of Kansas, Judge Hook laid before the president a letter denying the charge that his son had been an attorney for the railroads in the Oklahoma 2-cent fare case, in which Judge Hook issued an injunction in favor of the railroad. The chief attorney for the railroad also denied, in a letter which reached President Taft today, that Judge Hook's son had been employed as a lawyer in the case, and asserted that he was merely a law student at the time.

HIKES HALF ACROSS COUNTRY FOR JOB.

Chicago, Jan. 12—Alexander Olsnewski is believed by the police of Chicago to hold the long distance walking record for a man in search of a job. He started west from his home in Reading, Pa., several weeks ago to look for work, and today he arrived here still jobless.

"I've walked every step of the way," he told a policeman, meanwhile executing a jigstep to keep his feet warm. They are almost bare.

Efforts are being made to find him a job.

HE WON'T LAY DOWN.

Port Arthur Vesselman Says Grain Rush Has Been Phenomenal.

John M. Wolvin, a Port Arthur vessel owner, who is in the city today a guest at the St. Louis, says that the grain rush at the Canadian Head of the Lakes the past season has been nothing short of phenonemal.

"Even since the ice has formed, the tug James Whalen has been employed in shifting around a great number of boats" he said. "The Canadian Northern last Friday had 2,000 cars of grain in its yards or on the line between Port Arthur and Winnipeg. On the same day, the Canadian Pacific had 900 cars billed east by rail.

"The steamers Renvoyle and Pellett are now in the dry dock at Port Arthur for repairs, but they will probably be out next week. The whaleback, Trevor, which was wrecked on Isle Royale and the canal size steamer A. E. Ames will replace them on the dry dock.

"The Trevor belonged to the Pittsburg Steamship company at the time she was wrecked, but now F. S. Wiley of Port Arthur owns the hull."

ONTONAGON A SUBPORT.

Collector Byrns of Marquette Names James Corgan as Deputy There.

Collector of Customs Byrns of Marquette has designated Ontonagon a subport of entry, and has appointed James Corgan, a deputy collector there. This action was taken for the greater convenience of the captains of vessels in the lumber trade that visit Ontonagon. During the season of navigation many vessels, both of Canadian and American register, call there for lumber. Heretofore these vessels have either had to stop at Houghton, a subport, for their clearance papers, or the captains have had to make special trips to get them. Considerable extra expense has therefore, been caused in the course of a season. There have been many requests that Ontonagon should be made a subport, and Collector Byrns decided that conditions justified the step.

DESPONDENT WISCONSIN FARMER KILLS HIMSELF.

Bayfield, Wis., Jan. 12.—Despondent over ill health, Ingla Holt, a farmer living ten miles from here, at Russell's Crossing, killed himself yesterday afternoon, by firing a shot from a combination rifle and shot gun through his head. He was 64 and leaves several grown children.

INDORSE LA FOLLETTE.

South Dakota Progressives Declare for Badger Statesman.

Sioux Falls, S. D., Jan. 12.—Robert M. La Follette last night was indorsed for the presidential nomination at a meeting of Progressive Republicans from all parts of South Dakota.

Resolutions were adopted declaring the hearty support of those present for the election of ten delegates to the national Republican convention pledged to vote for the nomination of Mr. La Follette. Candidates for delegates will be placed in the field for the primary election in June.

KILLS HIMSELF WHEN AUDIT OF BOOKS STARTS.

Beloit, Wis., Jan. 12.—Just before a committee started to audit his books as clerk of Beloit Camp No. 2, Woodman of the World, Solon R. Hayes, who had held the position several years, shot and killed himself. He was suspected of being $200 short in his accounts.

FARMHAND FREEZES TO DEATH NEAR RAY.

International Falls, Minn, Jan 12. Nels Ferno, a farm hand employed by Pete Erickson of Ray, was found to death while on his way home. Mr. Ferno was found Sunday morning within a short distance of Erickson's home frozen stiff. It is said the unfortunate man started from Ray late in the evenig with a pack sack filled with groceries and a quart bottle of whisky.

NEWS AND VIEWS OF MINNESOTA POLITICS

The Northwestern Democratic Get-Together banquet and conference to be held at Fargo Jan. 17 and 18 will be a notable event. Among the speakers are William Jennings Bryan, Governor Judson Harmon of Ohio, Governor E. L. Norris of Montana, Senator R. F. Pettigrew of South Dakota, Judge Martin J. Wade of Iowa, T. J. Walsh of Helena, Mont., Fred B. Lynch of St. Paul, J. B. Sullivan of Des Moines, Fred Whiteside of Kalispel, Mont., J. E. Kelly of Coleman, S. D., J. Bruce Kremer of Butte, T. M. Simmons of Huron, S. D., and Thomas J. Walker. Governor John Burke of North Dakota and other prominent Democrats of that state will be present.

The conference is not intended to boost the candidacy of any man for any office, but to bring the Democrats of the Northwest into closer touch with one another and to lay plans for furthering the Democratic cause in the Northwest.

Now that Alvah Eastman has announced his candidacy for congressman-at-large, there will be another round of press comment on that office. If both wings of the Republican party stick to their apparent determination to not oppose Mr. Eastman, the talk will probably subside until convention time, and political attention will be turned to greater things.

The office of congressman-at-large has been given prominence in discussion out of all proportion to its importance. Candidacy for it entails a state-wide campaign. The office will exist for no more than two years. After he has served that time the congressman-at-large will necessarily retire to private life, unless he live in a district in which he has a chance for election as a district congressman. The district congressman has far the better of it. There is a suspicion that the office of congressman-at-large has been held forward as a shield for the governorship, and the discussion has been continued that more embarrassing topics might not command so much attention.

The Red Wing Free Press finds that the path of Julius Schmahl through 1912 is not strewn with roses. At the same time the Free Press sees no great menace to Mr. Schmahl in the opposition that has appeared thus far. Discussing candidates, the Free Press says:

Conditions have conspired to eliminate the opposition that had shown its force against Mr. Schmahl. Among the candidates who have been mentioned are James Larson of Walnut Grove, E. A. Nelson of Hallock, J. T. Johnson of Otter Tail county and G. H. Mattson of Roseau. All of the men mentioned are Scandinavians. Nationality is not supposed to count in making a ticket. This is a purely theoretical viewpoint. It does count and counts powerfully. Governor Eberhart will be a candidate to succeed himself. Senator Nelson will be a candidate, probably, for re-election. Railroad Commissioner Limquist will hope to have another term. State Auditor Iverson holds over, but is a part of the state administration. Under the circumstances, it is difficult to see how a Scandinavian could hope to secure the nomination for secretary of state without overbalancing the ticket. At least he would be handicapped.

But this does not mean that Secretary Schmahl will not have opposition. He is almost certain to have it, and plenty of it. The secretary has awakened keen opposition in certain quarters. The ultra radicals are not for him. The men back of the drainage investigation of last winter are still out on the war path. the pathway of Secretary of State Julius Schmahl is not strewn with roses.

The word has gone out to the Taft forces to get busy, it is said. That means that the La Follette men, who have had the field all to themselves in Minnesota so far, will lose their monopoly. Taft clubs have already been formed in Minneapolis. In other sections of the state the federal office holders and the Old Guard will get busy in lining up their forces. A short sharp campaign will be conducted and the political managers of the president are counting on a solid Taft delegation from Minnesota.

Taft is none too strong among the people in this state, but the organization has a way of delivering delegates and nobody would be surprised if La Follette doesn't get a vote in Minnesota's representation at the Chicago convention.

The Northfield News sees signs of Bob Dunn's submission to the exigencies of politics in the character of the editorial comment in the Princeton Union. The News says:

In its last issue the Princeton Union sarcastically belittles Olai Lende, takes a fling at Sam Gordon, raps Simpson once or twice, and then attempts, with as good grace as the real sentiments of the publisher would permit, to say a good word for Ed Smith's "man of destiny"—all of which is very significant in this year of political unrest.

In a fraternal spirit, Editor C. F. Macdonald of the St. Cloud Times wishes Alvah Eastman well in his campaign for the Republican nomination for congressman-at-large. Being a Democrat, Mr. Macdonald will go no farther. In commending Mr. Eastman's announcement of his candidacy, the Times says:

Elsewhere in this issue will be found the formal announcement of Hon. Alvah Eastman as a candidate for the Republican nomination for congressman-at-large. As he states therein, he is moved to this step by the many requests which have come to him, and by the cordial and friendly unanimity with which his Republican brother editors have endorsed and approved the suggestion of his candidacy.

Although differing from Mr. Eastman politically, and sometimes saying hard things of each other in a political discussion, the Times welcomed the first suggestion of his name for the high honor involved, and has lent its approval because, he is a resident of St. Cloud, a neighbor and a member of the great profession of journalism. We expect to see Mr. Eastman receive the Republican nomination, but, as to the election—well that's different! This is to be an "off year" politically, and, with Woodrow Wilson as leader, democracy will sweep the country; yea, even standpat Minnesota!

We cannot support Mr. Eastman's election, but we do hope to see him nominated.

* * *

Alvah Eastman of the St. Cloud Journal-Press predicts a great display of oratory in the Eight district this year if Congressman Miller and James P. Boyle are the opposing candidates for the Republican nomination for congress. Both are masters of the forensic art and the Journal-Press is right when it predicts a contest that will be a joy to follow:

The Journal-Press says:

Senator James P. Boyle of Eveleth is being urged to make the fight against Congressman Miller for the Republican nomination for congress. Senator Boyle was born in St. Cloud, and that is a pretty good guarantee that he is all right. He made one of the real eloquent speeches at the meeting of the Northern Development association in St. Cloud. But Congressman Miller is a brilliant talker, and if there is a contest between the two, it will be equal in oratorical stunts to the famous fight between Page Morris and Charles A. Towne, which for brilliancy and ability outclassed any congressional contest in the state.

FORESTRY CLASS BACK FROM WOODS

University Students Get Practical Work in Northern Minnesota Camps.

William R. Pearce, a former Duluth boy and son of Capt. John Pearce, is one of a party of seven students from the senior forestry class of the Minnesota university who have returned from the woods, where they have been instructed in some of the practical things about lumbering.

The party was in charge of Prof. Austin Cary, a well-known authority on forestry. Prof. Cary and party stopped in Duluth yesterday on their way back to Minneapolis from the McGrath camps at White Pine, which is one of the spurs of the Soo Line running out of Selone, Minn. They enjoyed an Orpheum theater party in the evening as the guests of Manager Billings, and took the night train for Minneapolis.

Prof. Cary is connected with the United States forestry service, but is on a few months' furlough and is giving the boys four months of training. For five years he was in charge of the forestry department at Harvard.

The young men in the party, besides Mr. Pearce, were S. Grant Harris, Jr.; Arthur W. Hodgeman, Walter F. Byer, William R. Clymer, Henry P. Blodgett and Robert Wilson.

ANNUAL MEETING OF FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH.

The members of the First Baptist church held their annual business meeting at the church, Ninth avenue east and First street last night.

A dinner was served in the lecture room of the church and the business meeting followed.

All the deacons who served during 1911 were re-elected with the exception of A. L. Miles, who has removed to Portland, Or. O. S. Townsend was elected to fill the position left vacant.

The salary of Rev. R. Edward Sayles, the pastor of the chruch, was increased.

SAYS SCALPERS GET BEST THEATER SEATS.

Chicago, Jan. 12.—Ticket scalpers in Chicago have access to the choicest seats at every performance, and divide the scalpers' premiums with the playhouses, H. N. Waterfall, president of a ticket brokerage firm, testified here before a referee in bankruptcy in the federal district court. Some of the theaters, Waterfall said, allowed him to return unsold tickets, holding him only for half the net proceeds.

CHICAGO ROBBERS BEAT AND STRIP MAN IN STREET.

Chicago, Jan. 12.—Masked robbers found less than $1 in Henry Zuidman's pockets when they held him up in Bellwood, a suburb, last night, so they made him take off his cap, overcoat and his suit of clothes, beat him till he was nearly unconscious, and left him to make his way home in his undergarments. He is ill from exposure as a result. Zuidman's home is in Morrison, Ill. He was visiting a sister in Bellwood.

ICE CREAM MEN WILL MEET IN CHICAGO JAN. 18.

New York, Jan. 12.—The outbreak of spinal meningitis in Texas has decided the National Association of Ice Cream Manufacturers to change their annual convention from Dallas to Chicago. The convention was scheduled to be held in the Texas city, Jan. 17-20. It will now take place at Chicago, beginning Jan. 18 and last through three days.

ROSE AND CARNATION SOCIETIES ELECT.

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 12.—At the annual election of the American Rose society, in convention here, Adolph Farnwald of Roslyn, Pa., was re-elected president and New York was chosen for the 1913 meeting, which will be held some time in March. The American Carnation society nominated Philip Breitmeyer of Detroit for president, and it is expected this nomination will be confirmed.

the followers of the Nebraskan that the Democratic party might yet win without the aid of the Eastern states, given over to plutocracy and the worship of Mammon. The convention has been taken to St. Louis, Kansas City and Denver in successive periods, all in the hope of influencing the votes of the great agricultural states of the Middle West. As a political expedient this proved futile. The Middle West remained for the most part Republican still. Even Missouri, with two conventions held within its borders, went Republican once and is today a decidedly doubtful state.

Expedient That Failed.

The expedient of making political capital in the Middle West by holding conventions there failed miserably. Leading Democrats today believe that the next election must be won by the votes of states east of the Mississippi river. They hold that Indiana, Ohio and New York are the three vital states, but they recognize the fact that New Jersey, Delaware, Maryland and West Virginia are states that must be won. While the Bryan forces were in control of the party organization these states were ignored. Now they are to be fought for. Naturally their influence was thrown to altimore as the convention city.

So far as the influence of candidates is concerned the choice of the city indicates little or nothing. The Harmon forces were quietly for Baltimore, because the Harmon fight must be fought in the East. Moreover, the two Maryland senators are believed to be for Harmon. But the Wilson people are not averse to Baltimore. There is a strong Wilson sentiment there, which has been carefully nurtured and organized. Beside the large group of Princeton graduates in Maryland, the alumni of Johns Hopkins university, at which New Jersey's governor took his post graduate course, are all powerful in Baltimore. So far as the two leaders in the contest for the Democratic nomination are concerned the selection of the convention city is a drawn game. Nor is the presidential stock of Oscar Underwood depreciated in the least degree by the outcome of the fight.

No Candidate Profited.

No candidate profited by the work of the national committee. That is a plain bald statement of fact. I have attended four of these quadrennial gatherings on the eve of conventions, and never saw one in which there was so little discussion of the merits of various aspirants for the nomination, and in which the questions determined bore less upon the candidacy of any individual. I have already said that the convention city was not made a personal issue. So, too, the determination of contested seats on the committee. It was said that in the Tennessee case, Mountcastle, who was seated, was favorable to Wilson. But a survey of the roll of committeemen who voted shows that more Harmon men voted for his seating than against it. As a matter of fact in both of the contests the committee did the merely obvious thing, seating the contestant who was shown by prima facie evidence to be entitled to his place and not going behind the returns in any instance.

No doubt, under the surface there was sufficient clash between the champions of the rival candidates. But publicly there was not the slightest suggestion of war. At the banquet Mr. Bryan declared that in support of the nominee, whomsoever he might be, he could "give more valiant service" than in his own behalf. Mr. Hearst, upon whose action in the pending campaign Democrats feel much of the chance of success hangs, was no less positive in his promise of adhesion to the party's ticket.

Hearst Still in the Field.

It would be idle to deny that the two figures who attracted the most attention during the Democratic occupation of Washington were Bryan and Hearst. Both have been silent or noncommittal as to their policy in the coming contest. The common phrase used about each is that he is all powerful to destroy any candidate but not capable of securing a nomination for anyone. Mr. Bryan has put himself out of the running by his very frank declaration in his speech that he would not accept a nomination if offered. Mr. Hearst, however, is still in the field. His agents are out in several states of the Union urging him as the best second choice now before the people. He has antagonized no candidate, though perhaps a single editorial recently printed in his papers concerning the famous Wilson pension application might be regarded as evidence of hostility to that candidate. In the main, however, Mr. Hearst's agents are able to say to the friends of every candidate that Hearst has not been unfriendly to him, and that the moment might arise when a certain return of that friendly interest would be valued.

With Harmon, Wilson and Clark closely tied in the convention this new Hearst, this Hearst who speaks in dulcet and convincing words of the "Duty of the Democracy," may yet be a factor.

Returned to Reformatory.

Grand Forks, N. D.—Jan. 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—John Dewey, aged 19 years, paroled from the state reformatory two years ago, was taken back to that institution to remain until he is 21 years of age.

Several years ago young Dewey was sentenced to the reformatory from Towner county, but about two years ago, on a petition liberally signed by Towner county citizens and others who were interested, he was granted a conditional pardon. The state reform school officials, since he became involved in police trouble here, have intervened and will return him to the institution.

Mankato Branch Laboratory.

Mankato, Minn., Jan. 12.—The state board of health has decided to establish a branch laboratory in Mankato, this being the second in the state. Dr. C. Pratt, who for six years has been connected with the state board of health laboratory at St. Paul, is to be in charge, and local physicians have pledged one-half of his $2,500 salary. Dr. Pratt will arrive in a few days to open the laboratory.

FARMING "ON THE SIDE" IS GIVEN HARD RAP BY ONE ENTRANT IN HERALD CONTEST

Says Plan of Working in Town and Running a Farm Is "Rot."

Advice to Man With $1,000 to Invest Still Pouring in.

Many and various are the answers that are pouring into The Herald office to the question: "How should a man of 35 years invest his first $1,000?" While there is a wide diversity of opinions on the subject, the replies of every day include advice to buy land and raise food products near some good-sized city that will furnish a ready market. Another very popular idea is that a man's first financial ambition should be to own his home. Some advise going into retail business and now and then there is one who advocates the stock market.

The idea of farming "on the side," while one's regular business is kept as the "main issue" is very popular, but it is given a hard "knock" in the communication that appears in these columns under the name, "O. A. Farmer." This writer did not care to tell his real name. He is an old-time agriculturalist, however, and is in a position to know what he is talking about. He declares that a successful agriculturalist cannot attend to other business. He must devote his time to his land.

Among the replies received today are the following:

O. A. Farmer, Duluth—There has been so much said on this subject that I thought I would give a little of my experience. When I started out for myself I came to Minnesota, went to work in the woods, on the river and in the lumber mills, and in three years I had my $1,000 in the bank.

I then took a partner and we got a contract to manufacture shingles, and in three years more we had made $10,000. We then branched out, built a larger mill and in two and one-half years from that time we had made an assignment.

Then I came to Duluth with a wife and one kid and $10 in money. I have since kept sober, saved what I made, having no trade, and at the present time I am in fairly comfortable circumstances. The secret of my success, the same as it will be with any man's, is to work, keep sober, and save your money.

This talk about working in town and running a farm is the worst kind of rot. If you expect to make a success of farming, either large or small, you have got to tend to it yourself. Before you start you must make up your mind to work, to endure many privations that would not be required if you remain in town and work on a salary, and to eke out an existence on what you get; but you cannot run a poultry farm, a truck farm, or any other kind of a farm at long range and make it a success.

There is no young or middle-aged man who cannot take $1,000 and go onto a piece of land where there is a market reasonably close and not make a good living, but he will have to be economical and work hard. He will be healthier and live longer and enjoy old age better by so doing than he will if he stays in town, lives on what he makes, grows old and loses his job and has to depend on charity or his children to provide for him during his old age. Get back to the soil.

James A. Myers, Jr., 306 Locust street, Virginia, Minn.—Here is what I did with $1,000. I bought eighty acres of land, paid $400 down and the rest $400 more in three years' time, that was four months ago. The land is worth $2,500 now. I am going to clear twenty acres in the spring and plant five acres of strawberries, one acre of apple trees and one acre of plum trees and next year buy 500 chickens and put up a good poultry house, the other thirteen acres I will put into potatoes.

R. W. Bales, Cedar Lake, Minn.— I would suggest to your young man with $1,000, that you invest it in town lots on the Cuyuna iron range. There are four new towns growing very rapidly. Some one of them is likely to be a Hibbing or a Virginia in less than five years. A few lots well chosen in those towns at the present prices are a first-class investment that is going to double in value and no chance to lose. It is not very long ago that the Mesaba range was a wilderness and when towns were platted and lots put on the market the people who did so were laughed at but I notice that a lot in any of those towns is quite good property. If your $1,000 man buys from the townsite holders direct and is careful in selecting, he surely will double his money in a short time.

Helmer A. Nelson, 1722 London road—I beg to submit the following answer as to "How a man should invest his first $1,000:" A man with a wife and family holding a steady position at a fair salary and with $1,000 cash could not make any better or safer investment than to buy a home.

By making a cash payment of $1,000 I dare say that a comfortable home could be bought on monthly payments equalling the rent which he now pays. The price he ought to pay will, of course, depend on his salary. One thousand dollars saved in ten years is hard earned money and this man cannot afford to invest it in anything with uncertain results.

A home will be of immediate benefit and when it is paid for it will then be time enough to engage in any business with which he might be familiar, and he will be more certain of success if he has a paid-up home of his own.

Patrick McDonald, Ishpeming, Mich.—In answer to how I would invest $1,000, I would buy $900 worth of slightly damaged goods after a fire, mostly men's wearing apparel, and then rent a small store in a good business part of a mining town. Mark the prices on each article and set them up in piles on a counter, and get two or three smart young ladies living there as clerks and then put up a sign reading fire sale and put a man outside with a bell and you would draw the custom of the town and accordingly as you sell your goods get more and in that way you would double your money in one month and then buy a small truck or fruit farm near Houston, Tex.

Mrs. Simonson, 14 West Sixth street—If I was the man with $1,000 and had a fair salary and steady work I would try to help some of the widows that work very hard and have many small children to support, as there are so many of them that need help.

Albert Anderson, Clearbrook, Minn.—"I've got the first $1,000. What shall I do with it?" Honestly and conscientiously, we could not upon our own word of honor, give our own son, brother or father a better advice, providing they had $1,000, than to come to Clearbrook, Clearwater county, Minn., and invest in a 40-acre tract of land which lies within three-quarters of a mile from town, and start a truck farm, raising potatoes, poultry and bees for honey, with two or three cows for milk and butter. Your money invested thus is absolutely safe, with better returns than United States bonds, and no risks involved, for you know just what you have with big increases in sight, located as you will be in the bread and butter basket of Clearwater county, the biggest little dairy county in the state.

Thomas Lang, 609 Pine street, Calumet, Mich.—If I had $1,000 I would invest $600 in Calumet & Arizona stock. The remainder I would deposit in a national bank. The interest added on to my principal semi-annually would net me a small profit. I think it is always wise to have a few hundred dollars in a reliable bank where one can draw from in case of necessity.

With the $600 invested in Calumet & Arizona stock, I could buy ten shares at $60. While copper remains at 14 cents a pound, I could be sure of a $1 dividend every three months. At that rate, my dividends, which would be clear profit, would amount to $40 a year. Then I would be safe to make the assertion that copper will not remain at 14 cents, but will advance higher. Under that circumstance, Calumet & Arizona (which has already reached the $200 mark) would pertainly increase in value. The dividends would also increase. If I still had good faith in my investment, I would hold on to my stock and deposit the dividends in the bank. If not, I would sell when I saw a good opportunity.

James F. Crisp, Blackduck, Minn.—To the man with $1,000 saved: By your account in The Herald of your savings, it appears to me that you have saved the above amount by hard knocks and labor, and now wishing to know the best place to invest to bring back rapid returns of profits, thereby increasing your bank account. It costs money for knowledge and I have the knowledge of a man that tried to get rich quick on small capital. It can't be done.

My advice is this: Open a bank account with your $1,000 and embark in the confectionery business, starting in very conservatively and continuing on that basis and you are sure to succeed providing you get a good location where there are numerous passersby. Be kind and courteous to your customers and do a little credit business with those you are acquainted with and know are responsible persons.

Wholesale houses will furnish you the goods on thirty or sixty days time if you have a bank account. I know a person who started in that business six years ago with $250 and now has a bank account of $12,000.

Profits are small, but pennies make dollars. Take my advice.

"I'VE GOT THE FIRST $1,000; WHAT SHALL I DO WITH IT?"

For the second of its series of contests The Herald has an interesting problem which comes to it in the form of a letter that explains itself:

To the Editor of The Herald:

We have often been told—at least we used to be—by rich men that the hardest work on the road to wealth is to get the first $1,000.

I've got that sum now—saved it out of my salary during ten years. Who will tell me how to go the rest of the way? How shall I invest it? Shall I go into business, and what kind, and how?

I am 35 years old, with a wife and two small children, and have a fair position with a living salary, but that's about all. Probably I could, if nothing happened, save another $1,000 in another ten years, but with the cost of living going up faster than salaries—and I can't expect mine to go much higher than it is—it is going to be harder. If I am ever going to start out for myself and gain independence or wealth, now is the time for me to begin, while I am strong and healthy and young.

What shall I do with myself and my $1,000—and my family?

Here's a real problem, a vital one that will interest everybody; and The Herald hopes to see a large and interesting variety of answers. It hopes, too, that men who have traveled the road that lies before this young inquirer will take part in the discussion. The prizes will, of course, be no temptation to them; but this is a subject of wide interest, and they should be glad to contribute their wisdom and experience to its solution.

Write out your answer, limit it to 300 words, put your name and address at the top of the sheet, write on one side of the paper only, and send it to the Contest Editor of The Herald before Feb. 1.

For the best answer to this young man's problem The Herald will give a prize of $10.

For the next best answer The Herald will give a prize of $5.

For the third best answer The Herald will give a prize of $3.

HEIRS ARE SUING FRATERNAL ORDER

Modern Brotherhood Defendant in Action for $2,000 in North Dakota.

Bismarck, N. D., Jan. 12.—(Special to The Herald.) — The Modern Brotherhood of America having refused to pay a $2,000 life insurance policy carried by Mrs. Frances Gamble of Manango, who died a short time ago, an action against the lodge has been brought by Insurance Commissioner W. C. Taylor and heirs, two minor children, through their father. The lodge refuses to pay on the ground of fraud and the case will be tried in Cass county this month.

Mrs. Gamble took out her policy while a member of the Manango lodge which later disbanded and since that time has been paying her assessments to the head lodge. In May, 1909, she was delinquent, but the head lodge lator accepted her payment and asked for a health sertificate which was accepted. Mrs. Gamble died of an obscure disease of which she was not aware when she signed the certificate.

The attorney general maintains that in a case where a local lodge disbands the insured is entitled to pay into the head lodge and be entitled to all rights and privileges enjoyed by membership in a local order but in this case the organization seems to take stand only on the health certificate. When decided by the courts it may have important application on all fraternal insurance.

AMUSEMENTS

TONIGHT'S ATTRACTIONS.

ORPHEUM—Vaudeville.
EMPRESS—Vaudeville.

Amusement Notes.

The Forbes Stock company will open its farewell engagement in Duluth, Sunday, Jan. 14.— "Raffles" is the play chosen, and it will be presented Sunday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, with matinees Sunday Tuesday and Thursday.

* * *

A clever example of the methods adopted by Mr. Dillingham for the promotion of the deserving in his many companies is best illustrated in the case of Miss Flossie Hope. Miss Hope was engaged by Mr. Dillingham a couple of seasons ago today to play only minor characters, and to understudy, but last season was promoted to full honors as the leading soubrette of "The Old Town" company, and has played the part unusually well ever since.

She will be seen here as the Swedish maid, Gustina Jimpson, in "The Old Town," during the coming engagement. Miss Hope is an encouraging example to young women ambitious of a stage career, of what can be accomplished when one starts out very humbly in the chorus, if one have pluck and ambition added to the natural advantages of voice and good looks.

Miss Hope had some early experience on the Pacific coast but soon recognized that a year or so of study would permit of greater progress. She then entered the New England Conservatory of Music in Boston, where she remained a year and then secured a position at the Castle Square Opera house, and where her success was so rapid that in a short time she was with one of Mr. Charles Frohman's companies and special understudy for Miss Christine McDonald in the English musical comedy "Miss Hook of Holland," where after the first season she succeeded Miss McDonald in the title role.

Harry Fiddler and Byron Shelton playing the Orpheum this week, are two of the cleverest colored performers in the profession.

Like every one else they had to get a start and during the summer were sometimes forced to seek positions as waiters.

During one of these periods a guest of the hotel where they were working, was regularly seated at Shelton's table and just as regularly handed him a dollar tip every Sunday morning.

Appearing in the usual place one bright Sunday morning instead of Shelton he found Fiddler on the job. After breakfast he called Fiddler over and asked:

"Where's my regular waiter? Has he gone?"

"No, sir, he ain't gone. He's standing over there by the window," said Fiddler, pointing to Shelton discontentedly looking out.

"Well, then, why hasn't he waited on me?"

"Well, you see, sir, last night us waiters all got in a crap game and he went broke."

"Well, what has that to do with it?"

"You see, sir, he finally shot you for a dollar and I won you."

Needless to say, they both got a dollar.

Such strong bills of vaudeville have been presented at the Empress during the past season that the patrons of that popular theater have come to look upon them as a matter of course. Nevertheless, the show which comes to the Empress commencing Sunday matinee, is one which bids fair to excel any that have yet been seen at the Empress. Heading the bill is "La Petite Revue." This attraction is a old idea, modernized and is said to be a most enjoyable specialty. During the course of the act selections from several famous grand operas are introduced by the company, which consists of seven soloists of note. The extra added feature for the week will be "Books," a clever comedy sketch on campus life. The theme is a unique one and the playlet is said to be given an excellent presentation by an especially strong cast, which includes such noted players as William F. Powell and Will Howard. The European feature for the week will be Mozetto, the famous English juggler, who comes to this country highly recommended by the foreign public as one of the greatest jugglers in the business. Carl Randall, a clever juvenile monologist and Sheridan & Sloane, who present the laughable skit, "A Tag Episode," complete the bill.

DR. VINCENT TO SPEAK.

University Head to Address Teachers at Bemidji.

Bemidji, Minn., Jan. 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—President Vincent of the University of Minnesota will be among the speakers at the annual meeting of the North Central Teachers' association, here Feb. 8, 9 and 10. Dr. Vincent will speak on Feb. 8.

The balance of the program follows: Feb. 9.—Address by State Supt. Schulz, "By What Standard Should the Efficiency of the School Be Measured?" address by Inspector Alton, "What Industrial Work Should Be Attempted by the Smaller Schools?" will be discussed by Dr. L. V. Harvey of Stout Institute of Menominee, Wis. President W. A. Shumaker of the St. Cloud normal will speak on "Preparation of the Teacher to Meet Present Needs." Dr. Hill of the state board of health will speak on hygiene in the school.

Feb. 10.—Addresses by Judge C. W. Stanton and Prof. Reed of the Moorhead normal.

In the evening there will be an entertainment in the auditorium of the high school.

ATTACK NORTH DAKOTA LARD CONTAINER LAW.

Fargo, N. D., Jan. 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—On the ground that the North Dakota law is an arbitrary classification of food products and that it violates the fourteenth amendment to the United States Constitution, the attorneys for Armour & Co., in the standard lard container case have made a motion to dismiss the action.

Should this motion be denied it will be equivalent to a victory in the case for the state.

GRAND FORKS PLANS ON EXTENSIVE PAVING.

Grand Forks, N. D., Jan. 12.—(Special to The Herald.) — The laying of 25,000 square yards of new paving in this city in the spring is comtemplated by the city council and the city engineer is now engaged in drawing up the plans and specifications. About $50,000 is to be expended for the work and when completed it will add several more blocks to the sixteen miles of street paving which has been laid in the past three years.

BEFORE INVENTORY SALE

—This Before-Inventory Sale is one of the most important of the year. Every department enters into it with a common purpose—reduction of stock to a minimum before inventory time. It's the occasion for a general housecleaning, a complete rounding up of lagging winter stocks.
—All odd lots are now gathered for quick outgoing. Stocks that are heavier than normal have been gone through and prices are blue-penciled to a point that is calculated to quickly move the goods.
—Many lots are too small to make advertising them practicable, so the appended list covers only partially the many money-saving opportunities that prevail on merchandise of the highest character.
—Saturday morning savings are most attractive because all lots will afford best selection.

The Before-Inventory Sale Groups Tailored Suits in Two Lots

PROSPERITY EXHIBITED

Good Circumstances of the Masses of the People Shown.

Dividends of New York Banks of Deposit Exceed $4,000,000.

New York, Jan. 12.—During the holiday weeks, say from Dec. 15 to Jan. 1, the daily average of passengers carried upon the railways, surface, subways and elevated, of New York City was the largest ever known, and, taken in connection with the surpassing trade of the various stores and shops, gave ample proof of the good circumstances of the masses of the people.

The annual report of State Bank Superintendent Van Tuyl confirms this view of prosperity throughout the city and the state, as the saving banks, according to that report, show an increase in deposits for the year 1911 of about $8 for each inhabitant of the state.

The dividends declared for the year by state banks of deposit amounted to $4,137,125, which was equal to 5 per cent upon the combined capital and surplus of the institutions.

The aggregate resources of the institutions under the control of the state bank superintendent increased $178,979,579 over 1909, when the highest previous record was obtained.

The preparation by leading steamship interests throughout the world for the utilization of the Panama canal when opened continues unabated.

Chilean Line Planned.

The latest addition to the great merchant fleets which will pass through it is reported from Valparaiso, Chile, and it is said the company there proposing to enter the trade will build six steamships of latest modern design and of large tonnage to enter into the trade between the Atlantic ports of this country and the ports of the west coast of South America.

Bids are to be requested from shipbuilders of the United States, it is said, for the construction of this squadron of up-to-date merchant vessels.

One of the finest vessels of the Royal Mail Line will enter the service for the winter from this port to Bermuda, sailing on her first trip on Saturday, Feb. 3, and on succeeding Saturdays until the middle of April, when it will return to Southampton.

This vessel is called the Arcadian, and is of 14,000 tons displacement, and she will be by far the largest vessel plying between New York city and Bermuda.

All of the steamship companies here which are running vessels to the gulf, the Caribbean Sea or the outer islands and the West Indies are anticipating very heavy winter business in freight and passengers.

Rail and Canal Trip.

In the discussion of the Panama exhibition to be held at San Francisco upon the opening of the canal I was informed today that arrangements are to be effected by which visitors from the East can proceed by water through the canal to San Francisco, returning by rail across the continent or they can reverse the itinerary.

The San Francisco authorities are expecting to obtain a low rate upon such a schedule and make it so attractive in every way that immense numbers of persons will make the tour.

If they can obtain a popular rate it will be found that the round trip will aid the cities of the Atlantic coast to a large degree, for many in the Western climes will take the opportunity of touring the East.

California has not a monopoly of attracting visitors. New York, Boston, Philadelphia, Baltimore and Washington are magnets of some power upon those who delight in sightseeing or in a pleasureable and educational tour of the United States.

Thousands of Europeans will also take part in these excursions during the time the exposition will be opened and there cannot fail to be important commercial and financial results to this country from the visit of so many foreigners to our republic.

Engines to Tow Vessels.

As no ships will be allowed to navigate the canal under their own motive power more than forty electric locomotives will be operated on the parallel railway to tow the vessels.

In the case of large steamships two of the big electric locomotives will tow the vessel and two will be fastened to the stern to act as breaks and to aid in holding it on its proper course.

The canal commission has just awarded a contract for one locomotive to the General Electric company, and if it proves satisfactory the other thirty-nine will be ordered.

The forty will cost in the aggregate close to $500,000 and are expected to be very powerful and easily controlled.

The increase of the number of persons employed in the coke regions and in the steel and iron districts, as well as in the textile mills of New England, is bound to tell largely in greater pay rolls and more active demand for provisions, clothing and for other personal and household supplies, and will result in greater shipments out of and into the districts that are now showing such great activity.

Copper producers, as well as copper metal wholesalers, are very much encouraged by the situation as regards that metal. It is believed that 15-cent copper will be marketed within the next thirty days, and conservative producers are averse to seeing the price go beyond those figures to any important extent.

Fair Profits Assured.

At 15 and 16 cents per pound the copper producers can make fair profits, and they realize that beyond the highest prices named lies the danger of stimulating production and shutting off consumption, and then will follow loss to every one in the business.

I am of the opinion that 16 cents per pound will be a maximum price for copper during the year 1912, and it is an essentially safe price if enduring trade is to be sustained.

A boom above that price may be engineered to help dispose of copper stocks, but that method is all right for the stock speculators, but entails heavy losses eventually to the men who produce copper.

At this writing it seems very probable that reserve stocks of the metal, the surplus reserves, will be diminished every month from now until June or July, but even so, production can be so easily increased if copper is needed that a corner in the metal or a big boom in the price is not to be thought of by the level-headed managers in the trade.

The excessive cold of the past two days has caused much suffering to those insufficiently supplied with fuel and clothing.

In some branches of labor it has caused a cessation of work, and the municipal lodging houses and places where food is supplied to the hungry have been taxed to their utmost by the hundreds and thousands driven thereto for shelter and sustenance.

TELLS YOU HOW TO CURE A COLD

Most Severe Cold and Grippe Misery Relieved In a Few Hours.

The most effective and harmless way to cure the Grippe or break a severe cold, either in the head, chest, back, stomach or limbs, is a dose of Pape's Cold Compound every two hours until three consecutive doses are taken.

You will distinctly feel the cold breaking and all grippe symptoms going after the very first dose. It promptly relieves the most miserable headache, dullness, head and nose stuffed up, feverishness, sneezing, sore throat, running of the nose, soreness, stiffness and rheumatic aching.

Take this harmless Compound as directed, with the knowledge that there is no other medicine made anywhere else in the world, which will cure your cold or end Grippe misery as promptly and without any other assistance or bad after-effects as a 25-cent package of Pape's Cold Compound, which any druggist in the world can supply.

After three years' research we have conclusively demonstrated that quinine is not effective in the treatment of colds or grippe.

ATHLETE'S SAD ROMANCE ENDS

For Eight Years Heiress Fiancee Nursed Crippled Youth.

Philadelphia, Pa., Jan. 12.—A tragic climax came to a pathetic romance when an announcement was published of the death of Robert Henry Brunker, aged 27, at Atlantic City, last week. Eight years ago he was one of the most brilliant students at the University of Pennsylvania. Then a fall from a horizontal bar made him a hopeless cripple. He tried to break his engagement to the girl he loved, but until the time of his death she took personal charge and only his steadfast refusal prevented their marriage.

Brunker, in 1903, was among the foremost at the university as an athlete, and was a high man in his classes. When practicing in the gymnasium he lost his grip on the horizontal bar and fell, injuring his spine. He had since been unable to move from a reclining chair.

He was to marry Miss Bertha Stillwell, beautiful, prominent socially, and reputed to be heiress to a large fortune. After lying six months in the university hospital he was told that he would never recover.

In hopes that the bright life at Atlantic City would dispel his melancholy, the family sent him there in a reclining chair. Miss Stillwell followed and daily was at his side.

Brunker repeatedly told her their engagement must be considered ended. He would not mar her life by having her tied to a hopeless cripple, he said. She refused to be freed and devoted her time to him.

In the merrymaking crowds on the Boardwalk the couple made a pathetic picture. Her youthful beauty contrasted vividly with his helplessness. Every morning Miss Stillwell wheeled Brunker to the Boardwalk. In the evening they were seen together at theatrical performances or at concerts on the pier. Their afternoons were spent on the porch of their hotel with members of both families.

IT GROWS HAIR

Here Are Facts We Want You to Prove at Our Risk.

Marvelous as it may seem, Rexall "93" Hair Tonic has grown hair on heads that were once bald. Of course, in none of these cases were the hair roots dead, nor had the scalp taken on a glazed, shiny appearance.

Rexall "93" Hair Tonic acts scientifically destroying the germs which are usually responsible for baldness. It penetrates to the roots of the hair, stimulating and nourishing them. It is a most pleasant toilet requisite, is delicately perfumed, and will not gum or permanently stain the hair.

We want you to get a bottle of Rexall "93" Hair Tonic and use it as directed. If it does not relieve scalp irritation, remove dandruff, prevent the hair from falling out and promote an increased growth of hair, and in every way give entire satisfaction, simply come back and tell us, and without question or formality we will hand back to you every penny you paid us for it. Two sizes, 50c. and $1.00. Sold only at our store—The Rexall Store. E. M. Tredway, 108 West Superior street.

DRY AREA IS INCREASED

Ontario Temperance Element Holds All It Had and Makes Gains.

Fourteen Additional Municipalities Decide to Clsoe the Bars.

Toronto, Ont., Jan. 12.—The dry area in Ontario grew bigger on New Year's day. The temperance and liquor interests locked horns on local option by-laws in the municipal elections in eighty-four municipalities in Toronto, the net result being a further gain for the cold water advocates. The joy of the latter, however, is not unmixed. Local option by-laws were beaten in nearly forty municipalities, although in a dozen of these there was a straight majority for the water wagon, but something less than the necessary three-fifths. In every city in which a vote was taken the by-law was defeated. Fifteen municipalities voted on proposals to repeal local option by-laws after an experience without the bars, and in every case the bars will stay closed. Fourteen municipalities gave the necessary three-fifths majority for local option and carried the by-laws. That is where the temperance advance comes in. The liquor interests made no gains, though they managed to hold their own in a great many cases. The temperance people held their own and made gains, so that there are now some 466 dry municipalities in the province and 366 still wet.

In two cities, Kingston and Stratford, the electors voted to apply the ax to the list of licenses, fifteen bars being closed in the two cities. A curious feature of the vote was shown in the vote in municipalities which three years ago saved the saloons by the three-fifths requirement. In these places the voting of three years ago was practically repeated. The net result is regarded by the temperance leaders in Ontario as fairly encouraging, though a more pronounced sweep would have pleased them better. The liquor people are reluctant losers, but glad it is no worse, and both sides are getting ready for the next conflict. The temperance people are still hopeful of having the three-fifths clause abollshed by the legislature so that a local option by-law can be carried in any municipality on a straight majority vote. The legislature has always refused up to now.

Y. M. C. A. Headquarters.

Following a meeting of the Y. M. C. A. leaders in Toronto, it has been decided that the local organization shall no longer owe allegiance to the United States body which has been, up until now, the parent organization. So far the headquarters of the local Y. M. C. A. have been in New York. New headquarters will be established in Canada, probably in Toronto, and from these new headquarters the Canadian Y. M. C. A. will hereafter be governed. The Y. M. C. A. has been built up and has grown strong under the international arrangement which has existed up to the present, and association leaders here freely and fully acknowledge the debt owed to the parent organization. The object of the new move is to give the Y. M. C. A. here an individaul status without completely breaking away from the international affiliation. A sort of family tie will remain, the associations on either side of the boundary continuing to work in harmony, helping each other whereever possible, while maintaining complete local anomony.

The step has been decided upon after consultations with Y. M. C. A. leaders from the United States, the ground for action being a belief that under separate jurisdiction the Y. M. C. A. here will be able better to adapt itself to the national conditions and to work in concurrence with the various church and other movements belonging particularly to the life of Canada. A new center of Y. M. C. A. activity will thus be created and the work of the various branches on this side will be more closely related under the guidance of headquarters officials in Toronto. Y. M. C. A. leaders regard the change as the most important ever made in the life of the association in North America. They are convinced that its results will be beneficial.

Will Have No Tubes.

Toronto is not to have the tubes after all. The ratepayers being in an economical frame of mind, or perhaps for some other reason turned the project down on New Year's day, and the Toronto Railway company sees one more cloud roll away from the sky. Controller H. C. Hocken, the ancient enemy of the railway company and the friend of the tube scheme, is back on the civic board of control by a large majority, but the tubes themselves are off the slate. Thereby were many supposedly intelligent expectations upset. The old council had thought so highly of the underground railway project that plans are being prepared for tenders asked for and obtained. The line was to run due north from Front street, affording a quick means of access to the business district, and was to cost $5,000,000 or thereabouts.

The people of Toronto by a 3,000 majority decided that the city wasn't quite big enough for so ambitious a project. They decided to build a viaduct across the Rosedale ravine, thus allowing for the extension of the city to the east and north. That will cost $1,700,000, and the careful taxpayers thought it would be about all for now.

BROTHERS ARE AT WAR.

Campaign Against George Gould Is Started By Frank.

New York, Jan. 12.—Differences have arisen between the eldest and the younest of the Gould brothers which threaten to disturb the harmony of family relations that has prevailed for long in the Gould railroad properties.

Frank J. Gould has assumed an attitude of open hostility against George J. Gould, and now not only is engaged in an active campaign against him in the financial district, but is seeking to wrest from his brother the latter's supremacy in managing the family estate.

After having had himself made chairman of the International & Great Northern Railway, and deposing his brother George as president, Frank J. Gould announces that it is no longer to be classed as a "Gould property," since it is owned and controlled by himself, and not by his brothers.

Frank J. Gould's latest move has been to open a publicity campaign in the Wall Street district, having engaged the services of W. E. Steele of Richmond, Va., a publicity agent at 141 Broadway, in the furtherance of his plans, and is now opposing his brother George in the Wabash railroad and other oorporations.

YOUNGEST TELEGRAPHER.

New York, Dec. 12.—Max Schwartz, 14 years old, has been appointed night telegraph operator at Tarrytown, and is the youngest operator in the employ of the Western Union Telegraph company.

He was for two years a messenger boy and achieved fame a few months ago when he abandoned his bicycle in delivering messages because it was too slow.

Schwartz is unusually bright and very studious, spending his evenings reading the best books in the libraries. He knows John D. Rockefeller and Miss Helen M. Gould and has often carried messages for them.

Bowels Are Basis of Child Health

The careful mother, who watches closely the physical peculiarities of her children, will soon discover that the most important thing in connection with a child's constant good health is to keep the bowels regularly open. Sluggish bowels will be followed by loss of appetite, restlessness during sleep, irritability and a dozen and one similar evidences of physical disorder.

At the first sign of such disorder give the child a teaspoonful of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin at night on retiring and repeat the dose the following night if necessary—more than that will scarcely be needed. You will find that the child will recover its accustomed good spirits at once and will eat and sleep normally.

This remedy is a vast improvement over salts, cathartics, laxative waters and similar things, which are altogether too powerful for a child. The homes of Mrs. Evelyn Matson, 516 Milwaukee St., Milwaukee, Wis., and Mrs. Kate Hawley, Waukesha, Wis., are always supplied with Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, and with them, as with thousands of others, there is no substitute for this grand laxative. It is really more than a laxative, for it contains superior tonic properties which help to tone and strengthen the stomach, liver and bowels so that after a brief use of it all laxatives can be dispensed with and nature will do its own work.

Anyone wishing to make a trial of this remedy before buying it in the regular way of a druggist at fifty cents or one dollar a large bottle (family size) can have a sample bottle sent to the home free of charge by simply addressing Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 405 Washington St., Monticello, Ill. Your name and address on a postal card will do.

GRAND JURY DISCHARGED

Returned Thirteen True Bills to Judge of Federal Court.

One Prisoner Charged With Impersonating an Army Officer.

Six more indictments were returned by the United States grand jury in federal court this afternoon. Judge Page Morris excused the jurymen, their work having been finished for the January term of court.

Noah Lewis Waelchli, who was arrested in Duluth a few months ago and charged with having impersonated an officer of the United States army, was indicted. He represented himself to be Lieut. W. L. Nathan and at the time of his arrest was giving an Army and Navy show at a local moving picture house.

True bills were also returned against Charley Quan and Lowe You, two Chinamen, charged with having opium in their possession. The police arrested them in a raid several months ago.

Three other secret indictments were returned. In all, the grand jury returned thirteen true bills.

RAILROADS

WILL LOWER COAL RATES

Canadian Roads Want Return Loads for Empty Grain Cars.

The rate on coal from Duluth and Superior to points in the Canadian Northwest may be lowered some time this month, making it possible for shippers to transport coal from the Head of the Lakes as cheaply as from Fort William and Port Arthur to Western Canada.

Canadian railroads have agreed to put into effect on Feb. 1 rates on grain between the Canadian Northwest and Duluth and Superior, which will be on the same basis as the rates now prevalent between the Western points and the Canadian Head of the Lakes.

This will be done because the elevators at Fort William and Port Arthur will be filled to capacity by that time. In order to avoid the return haul of empty cars from Duluth and Superior the railroads, it is understood, will lower the rate on coal as a concession.

The rates on coal would not necessarily have to be as low as from the Canadian Head of the Lakes in order to put the American docks on an equal footing with the Canadian shippers. All coal loaded here would be screened first and the slack upon which the Canadians pay duty would not enter Canada unless sold before being loaded.

It is estimated that 10,000,000 bushels of Canadian grain will be stored at Duluth and Superior elevators this winter.

AMONG RAILROAD MEN

W. F. Fitch, former president and general manager of the Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic railroad, is in the city today.

H. V. Peterson, traveling passenger agent for the Minneapolis & St. Louis railroad out of Minneapolis, is in Duluth.

A. R. Brown, traveling freight agent for the Burlington lines out of St. Paul, is in the city.

ADDITIONAL SPORTS

MANY GAMES SCHEDULED

There will be a large number of curling games played at the curling club this evening and tomorrow evening. Saturday night will be a sort of miniature bonspiel. There will be special music and skating and every curling rink will be filled, according to the statement of the officials of the club. It is expected that about ten curling games will be played tomorrow evening.

It is the wish of the curling club officials to have as many games played in The Herald event a possible the present week. The Northwestern bonspiel will take up all of next week, and with the Bagley event just starting and several other events to come the present season, there will be a lot of hustling on the part of the games committee to get all of the events out of the way.

McGregor and McDonald will meet this evening in The Herald event, Harris and McLennan also competing in the same event. Farmer and Jones, Oldam and Catterson and McBride and Dunlop will play in the Bagley this evening.

SUPERIOR

FORMER COUNCILMAN SUES FOR SLANDER.

It is expected that the case of Stewart McCutcheon against Fred Hertlein, which was begun yesterday in the superior court, will be completed today. McCutcheon asks $5,000 from Hertlein because of false imprisonment. McCutcheon was a former councilman and the defense claims that he accepted a check from Hertlein as a bribe but the plaintiff alleges that the check was given him in exchange for its face value in cash.

COUNTY BOARD PETITIONS FOR WATER ROUTE TO GULF

The presentation of a petition to congress for a thorough survey and examination of the proposed canal to originate at Allouez bay and terminate at the Mississippi river, which would afford water transportation between the lakes and the gulf via the Panama canal to the Pacific; the discussion of the erection of a sanitary workhouse and the establishment of a county farm, were main issues taken up at the meeting of the county board yesterday afternoon. The proposed canal would be about 180 miles long and run via the Moose and St. Croix rivers to the Mississippi.

Discuss Commission Plan.
Despite the fact that the temperature was down to 20 deg below zero, about 200 men were present at the mass meeting last evening at the Sons of Norway hall to discuss the commission form of government. Several prominent men spoke on the subject and showed how the other commission governed cities have prospered under the new system of city government.

OBITUARY

Seelig A. Vincent, one of the oldest of American actors, is dead in New York. He was stricken with heart disease several months ago and failed rapidly during the last few weeks. Mr. Vincent was born in England in 1834 and came to this country when young. The body will be taken to Saginaw, Mich., his wife's home.

Samuel Lewis, the oldest rural mail carrier in the United States, is dead at his home in Auburn, Sagamon county, Ill. This county was the first to get the rural service in the country, and Lewis, who was 73 years old at his death, was the first carrier, being selected because his bid of $300 was lowest.

TEMPLE FOR THE MASSES

Downtown New York Works Out Novel Experiment Under Stelzle.

Moving Picture Show on Sunday Run By Prominent Presbytery.

New York, Jan. 12.—If five years ago a man had arisen in the Presbyterian general assembly to say that the most prominent presbytery in the church would be running a moving picture show on Sunday and conducting open forums, whereon Protestant, Catholic, Jew, Mohammedan, Christian Scientist and Theosophist would expound "Why I Believe in My Religion," he would have been laughed at as a jester. Yet this has come to pass, and today the presbytery of New York conducts the Labor Temple at Fourteenth street and Second avenue, where all these things and more, may be found along with a very few of the conventional accessories of a church.

It is true the moving pictures are of a harmless sort and designed to be instructive and, so far as possible, religious. The open forum, upon current social questions, is erected on a Christian platform. The great chorus is a church choir brought down to date. The congregation—and this is the nub of the whole matter—is made almost wholly of non-church goers. No services at all are held on Sunday morning, because the East side crowd simply will not go to church at that time.

A $200,000 Investment.

That this unique venture is no longer considered as an experiment is shown by the fact that a few days ago the church extension committee of the New York presbytery paid $200,000 for the old building which was formerly the Fourteenth Street Presbyterian church. This church, like so many others, succumbed to downtown conditions and merged with another more favorably situated.

Amid the theoretical discussions of the downtown church the Rev. Charles Stelzle, the church labor expert, lifted up a clear and assured voice upon the actual possibilities for a downtown church. Some, who would have been glad to see him fail, for they did not like this business of stressing the church's obligations to the laboring man, were quite willing to have him undertake an enterprise where everybody expected failure. So, in addition to his work as superintendent of the social service department of the Presbyterian denomination, Stelzle took on this sizable job. Now it has succeeded so soundly that on April 1 he will withdraw from it, having demonstrated his proposition, and a modern socialized preacher with a Fifth avenue salary, will be called to take charge of the Labor Temple permanently. In establishing this work as an integral part of the Presbyterian denomination in New York, Stelzle has effected a revolution in methods of church work.

Man Behind the Job.

The Labor Temple is first and last an expression of Stelzle's personality. He himself got most of his training in the Hoe printing press shops rather than in a theological seminary. He grew to manhood in overalls. After he had broken into the ministry, he still counted himself a workingman and maintained his membership in the labor union.

A practical man, he thought a theory no good unless it would work, so he tried working things until the Presbyterian denomination called him to establish its department of church and labor. An insatiable toiler himself, he increased his sphere so constantly that he soon had departments of immigration, of country life and city surveys under his direction. The two former of these have grown to be independent features of the Presbyterian board of home missions.

Knowing the East side of New York as a country boy knows his own barnyard, Stelzle had ever been planning for direct service for these people whom he counts as friends and fellows. The successful establishment of the Labor temple, for which he had to contend against great odds, has given him more gratification than many of the national enterprises that he has put through.

Down Where the People Live.

Anything more unlike a quiet Sabbath evening than East Fourteenth street, New York, it would be hard for the imagination of man to devise. This is the downtown show section, and the huge electric sign of the Labor temple looks quite modest alongside of some other displays of the places of amusement with which it competes. The neighborhood once was aristocratic; now the plain people have moved in, with foreigners predominating, and it has become a region of apartments houses. The great stream of people who pour along Fourteenth street of a Sunday evening are themselves a study in sociology more illuminating than most of the addresses within the temple walls.

These people will not go to church to hear sermons. They have not been brought up to do so. They don't care for sermons. The inherited claims of religion upon them are few and light, yet they have to be Americanized, and they have to be educated in the best ideals of our time. Also, they need recreation and entertainment that is not debasing; so without being a mission in the conventional sense, the Labor temple has gone for these people, taking as its norm the average self-respecting workingman living in apartments.

Moving Pictures and Roosevelt.

A few Sundays ago, Theodore Roosevelt appeared at the Labor temple and made a speech in which he said: "We have a right to expect the church to be the leader in the light for the betterment of the conditions, physical, spiritual and intellectual, of the masses of the people. This work in the Labor temple shows religion as a living force, and religion will continue to be, as in the past, the vital elment in the uplifting of all our people." Mr. Roosevelt found himself in quite congenial surroundings and he was vigorously applauded—for one may hear applause and Sunday at the Labor temple, but seldom an amen.

The building opens at 3 o'clock on Sunday afternoons for a children's hour, which usually includes moving pictures. For to the later congregations children are not admitted, else there would be no room for the adults. The afternoon address is upon some popular social topic here or abroad, and it is followed by motion pictures. The choir, and many of the members of the large staff of workers, come from a distance, so at 6 o'clock there is a luncheon and social hour in the basement. At 7:30 o'clock, the Temple chorus conducts an illustrated song service, followed by an address of an hour. This address is the nearest approach to a sermoon that may be heard in the Labor temple. It is given by a variety of men; university professors, settlement workers, travelers, journalists and public men. Moving pictures follow the address.

PLANNING TO CAPTURE THE VOTES OF THE WOMEN.

Washington, Jan. 12.—The political outlook for 1912 holds many and greatly diversified possibilities. With the greatest campaign since the organization of the two great political parties, staged for the new year, leaders of various political organizations have a new and powerful force to reckon with—the vote of the women.

Since the enfranchisement of women in California, it is estimated more than 1,000,000 of the fair sex will have the right to go to the polls and express their choice of candidates in the coming presidential and congressional elections.

When the influence these women will bring to bear, not only on members of their own sex, but on the male voters of their families, is taken into consideration, it is realized that the woman voter will play no small part in the coming campaigns. And of this fact, leaders in the big political parties are cognizant. They already have begun to devise plans to capture the vote and influence of milady for her candidates.

HE LEFT $60,000 FOR HIS STATUE

Said Town He Benefited Should Have Reminder of Him.

Waterbury, Conn., Jan. 12.—Col. Watson J. Miller thought so well of himself during life that before he died he proposed that the people of Shelton, where he made his residence and owned a manufactury, should continue to think of him.

By manufacturing and saving money Col. Miller got together something like $300,000 in cash and real estate, and $60,000 of this sum must go as a perpetual reminder to the people of Shelton that Col. Miller was once one of them.

The colonel got his title, not in the face of bullets and shells, but as a member of the staff of two governors. He was very proud of the title.

In leaving $60,000 to perpetuate his memory Col. Miller, whose will has just been filed here, showed that Col. Miller held Col. Miller in high esteem.

It has been suggested that the statue be placed in front of the town hall. Another has suggested the idea that the statue would add to the attractiveness of the cemetery, especially as the statue is to cost $30,000.

The balance of the estate is to go to relatives. They don't seem to be really fond of the statue that is to be built and the $30,000 that is to be used to keep the monument in repair.

"Nobody ever did any more for Shelton than Miller," observed the colonel before his death, "and Shelton ought to have something to remind it of Miller after he has gone. A counterfeit Miller is about the best thing I can think of, provided it looks like him. That's why I am going to leave Shelton my statue. It will do Shelton good to look at it.

"And since Miller always looked after him while alive, I'm going to see that he is looked after when dead. That's why I'm going to put down some more money to keep his memory green."

Shelton doesn't know quite where to place a statue to the commissary general on a governor's staff, but will do its best.

AGAINST EUTHANASIA.

Practice Is Condemned By Noted Medical Authority.

New York, Jan. 12.—The noted medical litterateur, Dr. Woods Hutchinson, has declared himself emphatically against what is known in medical parlance as euthanasia.

This is the causing of death in order to prevent a prolonging of suffering from some disease or accident. The question has been brought to prominence at this time because it has been told by the New York Medical Record, in its current issue, that the Belgian poet Maeterlinck advocates it in his work entitled "Death."

"Euthanasia is a subject," said Dr. Hutchinson, "that shows the status of medical science. The prognosis of death can never surely be made. We may think we can predict the time of demise in such chronic troubles as cancer, kidney diseases and brain tumors, but we are not positive.

"On the other hand, in acute diseases, such as typhoid fever, pneumonia and the like, it is well known how recoveries take place when death seemed inevitable.

"To tell the truth, the cases when a physician could conscientiously advocate euthanasia are an infinitesimal minimum. This is the present position of medical science."

EDISON FORGETS

And Keeps Taxi Standing Six Hours at a Bank.

Chicago, Jan. 12.—Geniuses are credited with being absent-minded and oblivious to money matters, and Thomas A. Edison lived up to this reputation when he hired a taxi to take him from the Blackstone hotel to the Continental and Commercial National bank.

Upon reaching the bank the inventor disappeared within the president's office and the driver of the taxicab never saw him more.

Finally when 6 o'clock arrived he returned to the Blackstone and told the sad story of having lost his distinguished passenger. Mr. Edison could not remember just how he had gone from the bank to the next appointment, but gave orders that the chauffeur's bill be settled in full.

GOOD ROADS TO RESULT

From Big Ditching Operations in Northwestern Minnesota.

Thief River Falls, Minn., Jan. 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—The contractors who have the job of leveling the excavated dirt from the great main ditches in Western Beltrami county into highways and placing the galvanized culverts in the roads at every section corner are hauling their material from this city.

As soon as the dredges complete the digging of the ditches, these culverts will be laid at regular intervals one mile apart in a large measure replacing wooden culverts or bridges, as they are more durable and more easily placed in position. On the very largest ditches, those which have a width of sixty feet, the bridges are made of Western fir and along these great grades the red-painted wooden bridges can be seen away into the distance for several miles. This section of country, measuring at least 100 miles east and west and half that north and south, in Marshall, Pennington and Beltrami counties, will soon have hundreds of the very best highways in the Northwest. The roads are broad, graded to the proper level, are high, dry and level and reach every section of the territory indicated.

CROP EXPERT COMING

To Grand Forks Corn and Clover Exhibition.

Grand Forks, N. D., Jan. 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—Bert Hall, representing the crop improvement commission of Chicago, with which the Minneapolis chamber of commerce is affiliated, will be at the annual Red river valley corn and clover convention here Feb. 6 and 7 for the purpose of furthering the objects of the commission. He will accompany P. G. Holden, the Iowa corn expert, and both have been placed on the convention program, which is being arranged at the present time.

WILSON TOWERED ABOVE ALL OTHERS

New Jersey Governor Showed He Is a Leader of Men.

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 12. — A Washington special to the News says: Woodrow Wilson towered above everybody else at the Jackson day banquet of Democrats. In remembering the man and what he said the other speakers and their utterances were almost forgotten today by the Democrats from every part of the country who attended the banquet. The notable thing about it all is that the atmosphere of the banquet hall was unfriendly until after the New Jersey governor had made his speech. The arrangements for the affair were in the hands of Democratic reactionaries.

Comparatively few Progressive Democrats were invited. Of the twenty-five representatives of the party present from New Jersey practically every one was an anti-Wilson man. The James Smith, Jr.-James Nugent crowd in that state was permitted to select the persons from the state who would be invited to the banquet. The program was to give Wilson "a frost," if possible.

"Frost" Did Not Happen.

But the thing the anti-Wilson Democrats had hoped would happen did not happen. They were obliged to admit at the close of the banquet that Governor Wilson had been the hero of the night. It was a little after midnight when the governor finished his speech. The banqueters stood and cheered for several minutes. William J. Bryan walked over to the governor, took his hand, and said: "That was fine, fine." The other speakers followed the example set by the Nebraskan. All the banqueters would have personally congratulated the New Jersey governor if they could have reached him.

The New Jersey crowd of anti-Wilson Democrats went home from the affair thoroughly disheartened.

Democrats, in commenting on the Wilson speech and the reception the governor received, said today it was not so much the speech as the man, although the speech was notable. Probably three-fourths of the men at the banquet had never seen Governor Wilson until he entered the banquet hall. He had not been speaking three minutes until the banqueters realized that a leader of men was before them.

IN THE DAY'S WORK AT WASHINGTON

Newlands' Bill Referred.

Washington, Jan. 12.—Senator Newlands' bill providing a co-operative program of river improvement for the federal government and the states was taken up by the senate committee on commerce and referred to a sub-committee composed of Senators Burton, Newlands, Martin, Crawford and Oliver. The bill provides for a board of government officials to plan the work and carries a continuing appropriation. Mr. Newlands favored an additional graded tax upon corporations as one means of raising money.

Clapp Nearly Presides in Senate.

Senator Gallinger gave notice that on Tuesday he would ask the senate to vote for a president pro tempore to succeed Senator Frye. Since Senator Frye's resignation in April, 1911, there has been a deadlock over the selection of his successor. Whenever Vice President Sherman has had to be away from the senate chamber the senate has designated some senator to preside. Today the senate designated Senator Bacon of Georgia, a Democrat, to preside during a contemplated three-days' absence of Mr. Sherman next week. In the unsuccessful effort to choose a permanent president pro tempore, in the recent extra session, Senator Gallinger was the regular Republican nominee and Senator Bacon the Democratic nominee. Some of the Insurgent Republican senators refused to support Gallinger and nominated Senator Clapp of Minnesota, a Progressive Republican.

Norris Attacks Postoffice.

Representative Norris of Nebraska, insurgent Republican, in urging before the house committee on civil service reform his bill to bring under civil service all assistant postmasters general and first, second and third class postmasters, renewed his charge that the present postal service is a huge political machine. He said that under his bill men would make the postal system a life study and profession, with a saving to the service of $800,000 a year in administration.

Government Wins Customs Case.

The federal treasury clinched its hold on protested customs duties estimated at more than $1,000,000, by a decision of the United States court of customs appeals regarding importations of almonds. Henry Heide, an importer, filed 142 protests with the court, holding that shelled almonds intermixed with dirt, dust and pieces of shells should be assessed duty at 1 cent a pound as nuts not specially provided for by the tariff act. The government, which was sustained, claimed they were dutiable at 6 cents per pound as "clear almonds shelled."

Time of Customs Appeals.

The United States court of customs appeals defining the meaning of the 60-day time limit for an appeal to that tribunal from a decision of the board of general appraisers in cases where an application for a rehearing by the board has been denied. It was held that the time limit for appeal should begin with the date of the denial by the board for a rehearing, irrespective of the date of the board's decision in the case.

Oppose Lodge Plan.

The Lodge amendment to the resolution for ratification of the arbitration treaties with Great Britain and France has stirred unexpected opposition from Democratic senators. It is favored by three-fourths of the Republican orators, who accept it as a happy compromise of all differences. The amendment was introduced by Mr. Lodge in executive session in the senate yesterday. The Democrats took the position that the Lodgo amendment conflicted with the treaties themselves. Consequently, these senators object to it as a practicall nullification of the treaty's vital parts.

That Insurgent Effort.

When Republican insurgents met defeat in the house in the attempt to upset Republican Leader Mann's power to name all Republican candidates for places on the house committee they were opposed by both Democratic and Republican leaders. The insurgent attempt was beaten by a vote of 167 to 107. Of the 107 votes cast in favor of Murdock, 26 were Republicans and 81 Democratic, while 107 votes were cast against the proposed substitution. The Republicans who favored substituting an insurgent's name for that of Mr. Campbell were: Akin, New York; Cooper, Davidson, Carey, Esch, Lenroot, Moore and Nelson, Wisconsin; Anderson, Davis and Lindbergh, Minnesota; French, Idaho; Haugen, Hubbard, Woods, Green and Prouty, Iowa; Helgesen, North Dakota; Lafferty, Oregon; Lafollette and Warburton, Washington; Norris, Nebraska; Rees, Young and Jackson, Kansas; Stephens, California.

The nomination of Murdock by Norris came after the nomination of Campbell by Democratic Leader Underwood, who informed the house that Mr. Campbell's name had been presented by Mr. Mann. Mr. Underwood exhorted the Democrats to uphold the Republican leader, whom the Republican caucus had authorized to select committee members for the Republican side.

Following the defeat of Representative Murdock for the committee place, the house elected Mr. Campbell. The insurgent representation on the rules committee was thus reduced to one, Representative Lenroot of Wisconsin.

Second Effort Failed.

Representative Norris followed his first defeat with a resolution for the reappointment of Representative Warburton of Washington, insurgent, as a member of the special sugar committee of which the late Representative Madison also was a member. This resolution was tabled on the motion of Democratic Leader Underwood, 167 to 21. The insurgents could not muster enough votes to force a roll call on the question.

Protest From Colorado.

The resentment of Colorado citizens' organizations and beet sugar growers at the testimony of three Colorado witnesses before the house sugar investigating committee, was shown when five representative citizens of that state appeared to refute the former testimony. The stories of labor conditions which have been described as bordering on peonage and the recruiting of beet field labor in the slums of great cities, offered by James Bodkin, E. U. Combs and Albert Dacan a few weeks ago, were denied, and what were claimed to be the real conditions were described by the witnesses. The men heard were Bruce G. Eaton of Eaton, Colorado; R. A. Chase of Fort Morgan; W. A. Hoel of Sterling, and A. L. Gilson of Longmont, Colo. The committee was selected by real estate organizations and civic bodies in Colorado.

Gompers Talks of Sherman Law.

Backing up his demand that the Sherman anti-trust law should be so amended as to exempt labor organizations from its provisions, Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, who appeared before the Interstate commerce commission, quoted an interview he had with Former President Roosevelt in 1908.

"President Roosevelt said that the law should be so construed that it would affirmatively state that which is unlawful and omit reference to labor organizations," Mr. Gompers said: "He said he would take it up with his cabinet during the summer, but that was all that came of it, except that he frequently made references on his swing around the Western states to the fact that the law should be amended."

Mr. Gompers said he had been given assurances that the Sherman law would not affect labor organizations, but never took them seriously.

"We do not want such assurances," he emphasized, "either we exist of right, or we should be dissolved. We do not want to be hoodwinked or lulled into a fancied security that we do not possess. The men of labor want to know their status."

Wickersham Is Back.

Attorney General Wickersham returned to Washington yesterday from Panama and Cuba. After brief conferences with Oscar Lawler, his special assistant in the dynamite investigations, and assistant to the attorney general, Fowler, in charge of the department's anti-trust campaign, Mr. Wickersham went to the White House to pay his respects to the president.

Direct Election Vote Coming.

The resolution looking to the election of United States senators by direct popular vote, is not yet dead, as Senator Borah of Idaho views the situation. He made a brief declaration to this effect in the senate.

"The resolution," he said, "is not dead, nor is it about to die. We will pass it in some form that will give the people an opportunity to vote on the subject of popular elections."

Delay Stephenson Action.

Consideration by the senate elections committee of the report of the subcommittee which investigated charges of corruption in connection with Senator Isaac Stephenson's election, has been postponed until Jan. 16.

8-YEAR OLD BOY RESCUES CHUM FROM DROWNING IN LAKE

Norman Conner, the little 8-year-old son of William Conner of 3728 Minnesota avenue, proved himself a quick thinking, fearless hero yesterday afternoon when he saved his chum, Glen Hand, the 9-year-old son of Robert Hand, of 3724 Minnesota avenue, from drowning in Lake Superior.

The two youngsters were walking along the ice on the lake about a block from the shore and a quarter of a mile from their homes, each carrying a ski. They were returning home from the Radisson school. Without the slightest warning Glen dropped through an air hole which they had failed to notice. Both boys screamed to attract the attention of a crew of men working some distance away. They heard the cries but did not realize that anything had happened.

Refusing to pursue the easier course of running for help, the Conner boy turned life saver himself. Risking his own life, he pulled Glen out unaided, although his companion was larger than he. When he thought he had him safe, the thin ice on the edge of the air hole gave way and the unfortunate youngster was again dashed into the icy waters of the lake. Once more his little chum succeeded in getting hold of him, and on the second attempt managed to drag him to safety.

By that time the men had learned that a fight for life was going on almost under their eyes and came running to the scene. Too late to help save the boy from the lake, they lent willing hands to carry him to a warm cottage on the shore. His clothes were frozen solid in about three minutes, and had they not been on hand it is very probable that the youngster would have been saved from a watery grave only to freeze to death on the ice.

The lad was a veritable human icicle when he was hurried inside. But willing hands had soon torn the mantle of ice from his body and forced a hot drink down his throat. Dry clothes were provided for him and later he was hauled to his home on a hand sled.

Thanks to the prompt attention which he received, Glen will suffer no ill effects from his thrilling but trying experience.

NORMAN CONNER.

MERCURY MAY CLIMB ABOVE THE ZERO MARK DURING SATURDAY

of the tube until tomorrow at least.

The temperature has moderated in the extreme Northwest and the territory farther south is getting the worst of the deal just now. From Southern Minnesota and South Dakota southward to Texas and Louisiana, the weather is colder. Huron, S. D., was the coldest spot on the map this morning, reporting 42 deg. below zero

New Record at the Soo.

Sault Ste Marie, Mich., Jan. 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—Another cold weather record was established here last night when the mercury went to 30 deg. below zero, the coldest ever recorded at the Soo during the month of January and within 7 deg. of the lowest temperature ever recorded at the local weather bureau The coldest day of which there is any record was Feb. 10, 1899, with a temperature of 37 deg. below.

Already the snowfall has been greater for the month than during any previous year, the storms usually being accompanied by violent gales piling the snow in the country districts seven and eight feet high on the highways and completely isolating a number of the interior towns. The county commissioner has a large gang of men and two steam rollers at work on the road, but the huge drifts make the work very slow and it will be several days before the situation is materially relieved and traffic on the country roads can be re-established.

Worst Since 1886.

Kansas City, Mo., Jan. 12.—Not in twenty-five years has the Southwest experienced such severe winter conditions as those of last night and early today. Although the blizzard which swept Western Kansas, Northern Oklahoma and Southern Missouri yesterday at forty miles an hour has abated, the mercury today dropped to the lowest point of the season. Twenty deg. below zero was registered here at 8 o'clock today.

Conditions in Western Kansas are the worst since 1886, when the most disastrous blizzard the state ever knew destroyed thousands of cattle and literally drove settlers from the state. The train service on western lines is in a chaotic state and on some roads temporarily abandoned. Unless conditions improve the situation will soon be desperate.

Record-breaking temperatures extended throughout the Missouri valley. Sioux City felt a temperature of 35 below zero. At Omaha and Lincoln it was 26 below.

Many Towns Need Help.

The Kansas state public utilities commission and the railroads today joined in an effort to relieve conditions in western towns and communities isolated on blockaded branch lines. Merchants of Hutchinson, Kan., banded together to send supplies to the needy in Scott county. Where railroads are blocked the old-fashioned freighting wagons will be used.

Governor Stubbs and the commission are deluged with appeals for help from towns without railroad service. Meade and Englewood are out of coal and running short of provisions. Scott City also is suffering. A message from there asks donations of food for starving livestock.

A telegram from Beaver, Okla., said the county offices there had been closed and the coal on hand distributed among citizens. Forty dollars a ton is being offered for coal.

In Kansas City, where 5,000 persons are in need of help, the charitable institutions were busy all day.

Use Emergency Fund.

The commissioners of Kansas City, Kan., have decided to draw on the city's $25,000 emergency fund for money to provide relief for the destitute.

La Crosse Coldest Since 1888.

La Crosse, Wis., Jan. 12.—With the government thermometers at the United States weather bureau registering 36 below zero at 7 o'clock this morning this section is experiencing the coldest day in 24 years. Not since 1888, when 42 below was recorded, has such temperature been seen here, and except for last Sunday it has not been even approached. At the bridge the thermometer reached 38 deg. and stopped—the instrument had reached its limit and was unable to go further. It is probably 40 below at the riverside. Indications are that the weather will grow still colder during the day.

Winona Coal Giving Out.

Winona, Minn., Jan. 12.—With street thermometers registering from 35 to 38 below at 7 o'clock this morning, Winona experienced the coldest night in many years. Hundreds of water and sewer pipes in residences throughout the city are frozen solid and plumbers are unable to supply the demand for men. A local coal dealer says that owing to the inability of the railroad companies to move their trains Winona is threatened with a coal famine if the cold spell continues a few days longer.

Hope in Wisconsin.

Milwaukee, Wis., Jan. 12.—Wisconsin still is i nthe grasp of the cold wave which started with the new year. The weather man predicts continued cold tonight, but some relief is promised for tomorrow with slightly rising temperature. Milwaukee's official temperature is 14 below zero. Green Bay and Madison report minus 24.

Chicago's Ninth Day.

Chicago, Jan. 12.—Chicago is today suffering from its ninth consecutive day of zero weather. Although there have been interims of a few hours when the mercury climbed above this mark, each day at some time zero has been reached and passed, breaking a record of more than twenty years. At midnight last night the government themometers stood at zero, but an hour later 1 deg. below was registered and at 6 o'clock this morning this mark still stood. Throughout the night a fine snow fell, driven by a northwest wind. No hope was held out for today, the prediction being that the temperature might reach 10 to 15 deg. below.

Charity Funds Giving Out.

Each day brings stories of suffering in every part of the city. Funds of charitable organizations have been practically exhausted and the county is finding it difficult to supply the needs of the poor.

Mayor Harrison said today that he would issue an appeal for funds for the aid of the city's poor.

Minimum readings for the nine days of frigid weather are: Jan. 4, —6; Jan. 5, —10; Jan. 6, —11; Jan. 7, —16; Jan. 8, —1; Jan. 9, —3; Jan. 10, —6; Jan. 11, —3 and Jan. 12, —1.

Ice Jam Breaks Dam.

Manitowoc, Wis., Jan. 11.—The St. Natzianz dam has been broken by an ice jam, causing about $3,000 damage. Stores were flooded and livestock narrowly escaped drowning. The dam was owned by the St. Matzianz colony, supplying power for the convent factory.

Rail Traffic Affected.

Railroad and street car traffic was affected seriously by the storm. On the elevated lines especially was the delay marked. Surface lines kept sweepers working throughout the night. Practically every railroad train entering Chicago was from one to ten hours late. Engines also experienced much trouble in getting started, so that many passenger trains did not leave on schedule time.

The snow came as a blessing to several hundred unemployed men. When a call was sent to various lodging houses for workmen, there was a stampede for the jobs.

Seek Clothing For the Poor.

St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 12.—Temperatures of zero weather or below prevailed in Eastern Missouri and Southern Illinois last night and today. The poor of the city are suffering severely. Citizens of all religious denominations have arranged for wagons to cover the entire city tomorrow and gather clothing for the poor. Policemen will accompany the wagons and act as collectors.

New Richmond 40 Below.

New Richmond, Wis., Jan. 12.—Thermometers here registered 40 below zero today, the coldest in twenty years.

Heavy Snow In Kentucky.

Louisville, Ky., Jan. 12.—Nine inches of snow with a temperature of 10 deg. above zero, that visited Louisville on the wings of a bitter wind last night, has almost completely tied up the city's transportation facilities. Street cars are running at unreliable intervals, sidewalks and pavements are blocked and railways are experiencing delays in the movement of trains. County roads and suburban electric lines are almost completely tied up.

Forty-Seven Below Zero.

Brainerd, Minn., Jan. 12.—(Special to The Herald.) — Today is the coldest day of the winter. It is 47 deg. below zero on the government thermometer at Gull Lake dam, near Brainerd. A heavy fog was over this city this morning.

handkerchiefs and flags until she was lost to view.

New Atrocities Reported.

London, Jan. 12.—The gravest reports are coming to hand regarding the situation at Lanchow. According to a news agency dispatch from Tien Tsin, the report reached that city yesterday that the imperial troops were acting with the most fiendish brutality.

The allegation is made that they captured an officer of the republican troops, whom they first tortured and subsequently skinned alive. They also shot a Red Cross assistant. It is further reported that they are shooting without mercy every Chinese whom they encounter without a queue.

The imperial troops, it is said, are entirely without discipline and have got completely out of hand.

for having "rendered a great service to his country," William Burns was released from the charge of having kidnaped John J. McNamara, the confessed dynamiter. All the charges in the indictments against Burns for having arrested the labor leader in Indianapolis last April and taking him to California for trial, were held to be null and void.

"If I or this court had anything to do with the arrest of Burns in this instance, I should certainly now tender him an apology," said Federal Judge A. B. Anderson in dismissing the indictments brought by the county grand jury under which the detective had been held in $10,000 bail. "The order which the court shall enter will make it impossible for any prosecutions to be brought under the indictments."

The court held that when Burns and James Hosick, a detective of Los Angeles, arrested McNamara on a requisition from the governor of California and honored by the governor of Indiana, they acted legally under the federal statutes, and any conflict in the state law with the federal law, which made it possible to bring an indictment, was not constitutional.

Under Federal Law.

The federal Constitution and congress, the court said, had delegated to the governors of the states the power of honoring requisitions for fugitives from justice, and the Indiana legislature had no right to take this power from the governor and add it to the duties of a county judge.

Judge Anderson indicated that if Hosick, also indicted, petitioned for release, the release would be granted.

Detective Burns in a statement said: "Ever since my arrest I have contended there was no justification in prosecuting me. Then I repeatedly asked for a prompt trial, but this was denied by the county authorities. At the time I regarded it as an attempt to hamper my activities at Los Angeles. I am still working on this dynamite conspiracy, and constantly turning up more evidence. I am asserting everywhere that organized labor will not be injured by the present proceedings, for it will be a benefit to labor to have it purged of corrupt political leaders."

It is understood if any prosecutions result from the federal grand jury investigation of the dynamite conspiracy, they are to be heard before Judge Anderson.

competition and a return to the abusive system of price agreements. Given freedom of competition all corporations or firms would endeavor to regulate prices.

Lake Superior Ores the Best.

"You cannot organize new steel companies in this country now. New men couldn't find ore. Don't run away with the idea that the ores of Tennessee are of a value equal to the Superior ores. The elements in that ore are not there."

He said Mr. Schwab was correct in saying that while they could make pig iron cheaper in Birmingham, there were no available ores in that district not already controlled by present manufacturers.

Representative Gardner said the Steel corporation's cancellation of the Hill lease of the Great Northern would be the basis for one new company.

"It is my opinion," said Mr. Carnegie, "that the United States Steel corporation is giving up those ores for no other reason than they have come to the conclusion it is an unprofitable investment."

Subpena for Reed.

The committee today served a subpoena on J. M. Reed of Pittsburg, Mr. Carnegie's counsel, and president of the Steel corporation's Union and Pittsburg, Bessemer & Lake Erie railroads. Mr. Reed was present Secretary of State Knox's partner as counsil for the Carnegie company in 1890-1900 when the company is declared to have been a party to illegal pools.

Having interrogated Mr. Carnegie for two days in their inquiry into the affairs of the United States Steel corporation, the committee today continued its examination of the ironmaster, having last night declined to excuse him.

Though the quizzing of Mr. Carnegie thus far has developed nothing new so far as the subject under investigation is concerned, Chairman Stanley and his colleagues were determined to keep Mr. Carnegie before them in the hope that they may find something of value to them upon which the distinguished witness may find his memory refreshed.

Not in Mill Since 1901.

"I know nothing about the affairs of the Steel corporation," Mr. Carnegie repeatedly has told the committee. "I have not been inside of a steel mill since I retired from business in 1901, and for years before that my partners ran the business of the Carnegie company. I knew nothing of its details. I am anxious to tell you all that I can to help you in your great work."

When he asked to be excused at the close of the hearing yesterday and was informed that there was so much which the committee desired to ask him that his presence would be necessary today, Mr. Carnegie appeared somewhat impatient.

"All right," he said, "I will be here. I am a patriotic citizen and wish to do my share in aiding this great work. I will do all I can to help you."

Room Crowded Again.

The committee room was crowded again today when Mr. Carnegie arrived for the third day of his attendance. Members of the committee planned to question him further about his relations with the attorneys for the Carnegie company, among them Secretary Knox, who, Mr. Carnegie said yesterday, never had acquainted him with any facts concerning the Sherman anti-trust law.

"How are you enjoying this?" Mr Carnegie was asked by a spectator.

"Oh, very much, indeed. This sort of a thing is new to me."

Mr. Carnegie and his attorneys conferred with Senator Root of New York last night. Mr. Carnegie had telephoned Mr. Root making the appointment. The participants declined to discuss the nature of the conference.

Knox Story Called "Absurd."

Secretary of State Knox declined to comment on Mr. Carnegie's testimony. The inference that Mr. Knox was appointed attorney general by President McKinley in 1901 at Mr. Carnegie's recommendation was, however, characterized as "absurd" by an intimate friend of the secretary of state who spoke in his behalf. He said a recital of the facts surrounding Mr. Knox's entry into the McKinley cabinet easily disproved Mr. Carnegie's inference, and pointed out that Mr. McKinley first offered him the portfolio on Feb. 11, 1897, when the newspapers devoted so much space to the offer and Mr. Knox's declination.

Mr. Knox was in Santa Barbara when the post next was offered to him March 1, 1901. He was requested by telegraph to come to Washington, and after a conference, accepted at the insistence of President McKinley on March 20. Mr. McKinley's desire to have Mr. Knox in the caabinet was said to have been based on a personal friendship of twenty-five years.

J. Howard Bridge Called.

J. Howard Bridge of New York, who several years ago wrote a book on the inside history of the Carnegie Steel company, was called to the witness stand before Mr. Carnegie was recalled. He testified that he had been given by the company officials access to the original documents, copies of which he had printed, but had not had access to the books of the company.

Representative Young began the examination of Mr Carnegie. He referred to the questions relating to the reason for the great strides made in the profits of the Carnegie Steel company after 1897, following the passage of the Dingley tariff. Mr. Young read statistics showing that the production of steel as well as the profits greatly increased.

"Did not the tremendous increase in business after 1896 account for the great increase in profits?"

"Why, of course; one goes with the other. The production is the basis of the whole increase."

"Do you know whether the Dingley law had any influence on the steel imports?"

The Dingley Tariff.

"I said before that the Dingley tariff could have had no influence on the steel business," Mr. Carnegie answered.

"Then you attribute the steel prosperity to the same conditions that brought about general prosperity throughout the country?"

"Certainly."

"Do you think the Dingley tariff had anything to do with any prosperity in the country?" asked Chairman Stanley.

"I don't think so; but of course I do not recall the details of the Dingley tariff."

Recommended Knox.

Pressed hard by members of the committee Mr. Carnegie yesterday admitted that he recommended the appointment of Philander C. Knox, the present secretary of state, as attorney general of President McKinley's cabinet in 1901, Mr. Knox having been one of the chief counsellors for the Carnegie Steel company since 1899, when the Sherman anti-trust law was passed.

Mr. Carnegie repeatedly had declared before the committee that he never knew the participation of his company in the steel plate pool and other like pools was unlawful, and Representative McGillicuddy of Maine sought to show that he had recommended to President McKinley the appointment of Mr. Knox after the latter, as counsel for his company, had left him in ignorance of the government statutes so many years.

Mr. Carnegie also told the committee that he believed no protective tariff was necessary on steel rails or steel products, with the exception of needles, that are not manufactured in this country. He asserted that congress need have no fear that foreign rails would flood the United States if the tariff were removed.

Grilled by McGillicuddy.

The iron master was given an uncomfortable half hour late in the day by Representative McGillicuddy.

"You said that you did not know for many years the scope of the Sherman anti-trust law," Mr. McGillicuddy said. "Between the years 1890 and 1900 you were the head of the Carnegie Steel company, were you not?"

"I never was at its head, not even a director," Mr. Carnegie replied. "I was the majority stockholder, owning 54 per cent of the stock."

"From 1890 until 1900 you had attorneys?" Mr. McGillicuddy asked.

"The company had attorneys."

"Was Philander C. Knox, the present secretary of state, one of them?"

"Yes, Mr. Knox was one of our attorneys. He was of the firm of Knox & Reed—J. H. Reed."

Mr. Reed was sitting at Mr. Carnegie's side, appearing as his counsel at the inquiry.

"Was Philander C. Knox counsel for the company between the years 1890 and 1900?"

Whispered to Counsel.

Mr. Carnegie whispered to Mr. Reed, and then answered that he was.

"During all that period did Mr. Knox or any of your counsellors ever advise you of the existence of the Sherman anti-trust law passed in 1890, and that pools such as your company participated in, were unlawful?"

"I never heard a word from any of them," Mr. Carnegie said, "and I don't think they understood that the Sherman law had anything to do with our business. I heard something of the Sherman law, but thought it applied only to railways."

"Wasn't it the duty of your legal advisers to keep your company advised as to the laws passed by congress and the states?" Mr. McGillicuddy asked.

"I suppose that they would consult with the officials of the company," was the reply. "I never was an official."

"What did you have attorneys for?"

"To appeal to in case of suits."

"Now, Mr. Carnegie, as principal owner of the Carnegie Steel company, for which Philander C. Knox was the principal attorney, wouldn't you have expected him to inform you about legislation as important as the Sherman anti-trust law?"

"Bothered By Lawyers."

"No, sir; I have had no relations with the gentleman. I was simply a holder of stock. Was I, as such, to be bothered by these lawyers when I had men to run the business for me?"

"Then you were left in ignorance as to the effect of the Sherman law?"

"Yes, sir."

"Mr. Carnegie," Representative McGillicuddy continued, "did you recommend to President McKinley, after his election in 1900, that this same attorney, Philander C. Knox, who left you in blissful ignorance all those years about the effect of the Sherman law, be appointed attorney general of the United States?"

Mr. Carnegie looked at his questioner for a moment in amazement. He started to speak and then, turning suddenly to Attorney Reed, he exclaimed: "Did I, judge?"

Mr. Reed, almost in a whisper, with a smile on his face, replied:

"Yes, you wrote a letter to the president about Knox's appointment."

No Relations With Knox.

"Now, Mr. Carnegie," Mr. McGillicuddy went on, "after ten years' experience with that attorney, who didn't let you know about the laws you ought to have known, you recommended him as a proper and fit man for attorney general of the United States?"

"Yes, I did," he replied, "but I object to the form of your question. You ask 'after I had experience.' I had no experience with Mr. Knox, so far as the corporation was concerned. Mr. Knox had no official relations with me."

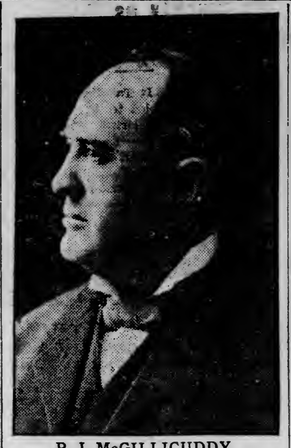

"About the same time that Mr. Knox went into the president's cabinet, did his partner, Mr. Reed, go into the directorate of the United States Steel corporation?" Mr. McGillicuddy asked.

Mr. Reed, appealed to by his client, replied that he did.

When asked if he did not think government regulation, which he recommended, was bordering dangerously on Socialism, Mr. Carnegie declared that Socialism had not terrors for him.

"My motto is," he said, "that all is well since all goes better. The world is growing better every day. I have faith in human nature. That's what makes me optimistic."

Mr. Carnegie also insisted that the distribution of wealth from the hands of the few to the hands of the many was increasing yearly.

P. J. McGILLICUDDY, Maine Representative, Who Gave Andrew Carnegie a Few Unpleasant Minutes.

RECRUITS FOR LIFE OF SHAME SECURED IN THE DANCE HALLS

fall originated from attending public dance halls. This grand jury, therefore, urgently recommends that said dance halls be absolutely stopped or permitted to run only under police regulations."

The investigation showed, it is claimed, that women, representatives of evil resorts, visit the dance halls and make the acquaintance of girls purely for the purpose of inducing them to enter their resorts.

It is thought that there are several indictments against these women contained in the secret report.

One Woman Indicted.

One woman, May Harris, was indicted for inducing girls to lead immoral lives. She is now under arrest and will be tried during the coming term. It will be the first case to be tried in the local court under the new law, which provides a punishment of not more than ten years in prison for inducing a woman to enter a house of ill fame.

Some of the stories said to have been told before the grand jury, are shocking. Girls told of their dance hall experiences and how they were induced to leavo home for a life of shame. It has been noticed that during the last few days of the session many young girls have been awaiting their turn to testify before the grand jury.

"It develops," says John H. Norton, county attorney, "that young men and boys visit dance halls with whisky, wines and other intoxicating drinks.

"The girls, according to their stories, go in parties. They seek innocent amusement, little knowing the traps that have been set for them.

"There they dance the 'turkey trot,' the 'grizzly bear,' the 'moonlight waltz,' the 'hug me' and numerous other dances which should be prohibited by law.

"They are approached by a woman, who appears nicely dressed, and she cultivates their acquaintance. It is usually just a matter of time until they have been induced to leave home and enter a house of ill repute.

"We will have this term the first case under the new law."

When the county attorney was asked if he had more than the one known case he said that he was not at liberty to say. It is thought, however, that there are several secret indictments which will be made public when the arrests have been made.

Woodsmen "Rolled."

The grand jury also found that men who come to Duluth from the woods or the harvest fields with money are held up and robbed after they become drunk in the cheap drinking resorts of the city. This is done with the "deliberate knowledge of the proprietor," states the report.

The victim wakes to find himself without money. He is penniless and alone. He is then thrown upon the public for support.

The grand jury urges that the licenses of these places be revoked. "It would save a large amount of county and city expense," says the report.

Workhouse Needed.

A committee of the grand jurymen found that while the county jail is in as good condition as possible under the circumstances, a workhouse is needed.

"Conditions are growing worse, instead of better," states the report.

Haste is urged in the construction of a workhouse. The grand jurymen agree that a plot of ground on which could be raised garden truck for the use of the two institutions, would be in line with the proper idea.

The men point to the county poor farm as an example of what can be done in the gardening line. It is stated that the health of short term prisoners would be better and the over-crowded condition of the jail, relieved.

A resolution was adopted requesting the county commissioners to install the Duluth Telephone company's instruments in the courthouse that the range people and others not subscribers to the Zenith company's service will have the same chance of communicating with the county building as those who are.

But two indictments of the six returned are made public. Peter Christoff is charged with keepng an unlicensed drnkng place. Charles Olson and Charles Nelson are charged with swindling Carl Bolen out of $16.

Acquits Lakota Druggists.

Lakota, N. D., Jan. 12.—(Special to The Herald.) — The dismissal of the case of the state against the C. W. Green drug store of Devils Lake in district court here marks the ending of a series of cases against Devils Lake druggists started in 1910. There were five cases in all and not one conviction was secured. All cases were tried here on appeals for change of venue.

EBERHART ADDRESSES SOUTH DAKOTA MEETING.

Sioux Falls S. D. Jan. 12.—Addresses by Governors Eberhart of Minnesota, and Vessey of South Dakota, Superintendent of Public Instruction C. G. Lawrence, were the features of the conservation congress here Thursday. Secretary Herrick of the Deadwood Commercial club advocated an appropriation of $1,000,000 a year for five years to construct a state road across the state to the Black Hills. Prizes were awarded for the best samples of corn exhibited. Officers were elected as follows: President, Elwood C. Perisho, Vermillion; vice president, March Rich, Hot Springs; secretary Dave Robinson, Pierre.

Eberhart Again Leaves State.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 12.—Governor Eberhart left Wednesday night for Sioux Falls, S. D., where he spoke yesterday. He also will go to Obert, Neb., to visit his parents and expects to be back in St. Paul Jan. 17.

The Doctor's Answers on Health and Beauty Questions

By DR. LEWIS BAKER.

The questions answered below are general in character; the symptoms or diseases are given and the answers will apply to any case of similar nature.

Those wishing further advice, free, may address Dr. Lewis Baker, College Bldg., College-Ellwood Sts., Dayton, Ohio, enclosing self-addressed, stamped envelope for reply. Full name and address must be given but only initials or fictitious name will be used in my answers. The prescriptions can be filled at any well-stocked drug store. Any druggist can order of wholesaler.

"Mason" writes: "For years I have been taking medicine to cure constipation, liver trouble and the usual diseases that come from that source. Headaches, sallow skin, kidney trouble, dark spots before my eyes, dizzy spells and twinges of rheumatism are getting worse."

Answer: Take three grain sulpherb tablets (not sulphur). They are packed in sealed tubes with directions and are convenient, effective and highly curative for such ailments as arise from chronic constipation. If you are dyspeptic, also take tablets triopeptine.

"MRS. A. D."—Incontinence of urine can be cured by using the following: Tincture cubebs 1 dram; tincture rhus aromatic 2 drams and comp. fluid balmwort 1 oz. Give from 10 to 15 drops in water one hour before meals.

• • •

"OMA W." writes: "I have suffered with catarrh of the head for many years. This has become so bad that it has affected my blood, also my stomach and bowels to a very great extent. I shall appreciate an immediate answer as I suffer greatly."

Answer: I would advise you to purchase a 2 oz. package of Vilane powder; take one-half teaspoonful of the powder and add to this a pint of warm water, snuff the water from the palm of the hand through the nostrils several times a day. Make a catarrh balm by mixing one teaspoonful of powder with one ounce of vaseline, or lard will do, and apply as far up the nostrils as possible. For the stomach, bowels and blood I would recommend the following tonic: Syrup sarsaparilla comp., 4 ozs., comp. fluid balmwort, 1 oz, and 1 oz of fluid ext. buchu. Mix by shaking well in a bottle and take one teaspoonful after each meal and at bed time.

"Gloria" writes: "I would like you to prescribe a good hair and scalp treatment. I am bothered with itching scalp and dandruff. My hair is faded and falling and none of the remedies I have tried have done any permanent good."

Answer: Go to your druggist and obtain a 4 oz. jar of plain yellow Minyol. Apply as per directions. This treatment differs from all and I have actually seen the astonishing transformations which result from its use. The dandruff and itching are cured with two or three applications, while it makes the hair glossy, wavy and full of intense natural color.

"Myrtle" writes: "Owing to my extreme thinness I am frequently embarrassed by slighting remarks of young people. Can you prescribe a safe remedy to increase my weight?"

Answer: I have so many gratifying reports from the users of three grain Hypo-Nuclane tablets, that I have become to regard these valuable little tablets as a specific and prescribe them to all who are acnemic, thin, wasting, nervous and debilitated. I recommend that you begin their use at once and continue regularly until your system is able to assimilate the fatty elements of your food; then you will grow plump and have plenty of red blood, with color in your complexion and bright sparkling eyes of health.

"Sick M. G." writes. "I have been affected for some months with rheumatism and have taken much medicine in vain. Please give prescription that will cure."

Answer: The most efficient prescription I have ever given for rheumatism is: Iodide of potassium 2 drams, sodium salicylate 4 drams; wine of colchicum, one-half ounce; comp. essence cardiol, 1 oz.; comp. fluid balmwood, 1 oz.; and syrup sarsaparilla comp. 5 ozs. Mix and take a teaspoonful at meal time and at bedtime.

"Farmwife" writes: "You once recommended a home-made cough syrup. I tried it and found it the best cough and cold syrup that I ever heard of. It was so prompt in relieving the severest coughs and colds and a pint bottle made at home lasted so long that I have forgotten the ingredients. Kindly publish again."

Answer: The splendid laxative, home made cough syrup is made by mixing a 2½ oz. bottle of concentrated essence menthe-laxene with a home-made sugar syrup. Directions on the bottle tells how to make and use. It is a fine, cheap remedy.

"Johnson" writes: "I am bothered greatly with indigestion. Things I like to eat nearly always cause a heavy ill-at-ease feeling in my stomach, and my breath is bad, while I am nervous, irritable and frequently cannot sleep."

Answer: A very excellent treatment which is widely prescribed for its gradual curative action, as well as the instant relief it affords, is tablets triopeptine, packed in sealed cartons. Take a pink tablet after breakfast white tablet after dinner and blue tablet after supper. Continue and the curative agencies will soon restore natural digestion.

"Mrs. M. C." writes: "I am recovering from a long illness, but am very weak, nervous, sleepless and have little appetite. Can you give me a good tonic restorative treatment?"

Answer: Have the following prescription filled and take a teaspoonful before meals: Syrup of hypophosphites comp. 5 ozs., tincture cadomene comp. 1 oz., (not cardamon). Mix and shake well before using. This is a fine nerve tonic and system tonic for old and young.

"M. D. C." writes. "I have always been afraid to try to reduce my weight, but if you will publish a safe, harmless but effective medicine, I will begin at once as I am getting too stout for comfort."

Answer: Obtain separately to avoid substitutes 1 oz. of glycol arbolene and 5 ozs of aromatic elixir Mix, shake well and for three days take a teaspoonful after each meal; thereafter take two teaspoonfuls. Continue a sufficient time to properly reduce the weight.

WEST END

DRAMA WILL BE GIVEN BY WOMEN

"Women of Yesterday" to Be Presented at Second Presbyterian Church.

Missionary societies of the West end churches have planned a series of joint meetings during the winter. The first in the series will be held Jan. 26 at the Second Presbyterian church, 1515 West Superior street. A drama by Mrs. Milton Fish, entitled, "Women of Yesterday," founded on the first chapter of the book, "Western Women in Eastern Lands," will be presented. The Ladies' Aid society of the Second Presbyterian church will have charge of the performance and will also give a program of special instrumental and vocal music.

The play shows the condition of women during the nineteenth century and the forces at work that made for her emancipation. It also shows what influence missions have had in America. The music for the drama will be furnished by the women of the Grace M. E. church and the devotional part of the program will be under the direction of the young women of the Swedish Baptist church, Twenty-second avenue west and Third street.

The cast of characters in the play is as follows:

Mrs. Doremus, a woman of wealth.....Mrs. J. H. Griffin
Miss Constance Lovejoy, a waitress.....Mrs. Wallace Leonard
Miss Ann Wilkins, home on a furlough.....Mrs. Irma Hutchinson
Aldelia Sisske, student at Mount Holyoke.....Miss Enid Shaw
Miss Grimke.....Mrs. Mary Bailey
Her sister.....Miss Goodhand
Mary, a protege of Mrs. Doremus.....Miss Mamie Lowe
Prudence Lovejoy, a society girl.....Miss Ruth Glover

LECTURES AND CONCERTS AT GRACE M. E. CHURCH.

Under the auspices of the Sunday school of the Grace M. E. church, Twenty-second avenue west and Third street, a series of interesting lectures and concerts will be given in the next few months. Arrangements are in the hands of R. R. Forward, superintendent of the Sunday school.

The first in the series will be given Friday evening, Jan. 26, when Rev. M. S. Rice, pastor of the First Methodist church, will talk on his recent trip to the Holy Land. He will illustrate his lecture with stereopticon slides. The second in the series is a concert to be given by the Scottish Rite quartet on Feb. 24. Prof. A. E. Custance will have charge of the musical program and the following are the members of the quartet: Don Gearhart, Charles Applehagen, Don Cole and A. B. Bjorkquist.

For the month of March a grand fete will be given the evening of March 29. A drama will be given by the various members of the school, followed by a special musical program, April 26 a festival of songs will be given to close the series.

REV. FISH REVIEWS EVENTS OF PAST YEAR.

The weekly prayer meeting last evening at the Central Baptist church, Twentieth avenue west and First street, drew a large attendance in spite of the severe cold weather. Rev. Milton Fish, pastor of the church, spoke on "The Conspicuous Movements of the Kingdom of 1911" and he gave a general review of the happenings of the past twelve months.

Taking the political movements of the year he cited the abrogation of the treaty with Russia, the prosecution of the trusts, the revolution in China and the war between Turkey and Italy. Among the social changes of the year are: the advancement of the vice improvements for large cities; the growth of the temperance movement and the belief in Socialism.

Among the religious problems of the year Rev. Mr. Fish cited the large Men and Religion Forward movement, the world's Baptist alliance at Philadelphia, and the union of the Baptists and Free-Baptists of the country.

CATHOLIC FORESTERS INSTALL OFFICERS.

Two Catholic Order of Foresters lodges in the West end installed their officers last evening. Court No. 205, W. C. O. F., installed the following: Mrs. E. Beaurivage, chief ranger; Mrs. A. Beaulieu, vice chief ranger; Mrs. Grandmaison, recording secretary; Mrs. Edward Broux, financial secretary; Mrs. J. Lamontaine, treasurer; Dr. L. T. Pare, medical examiner.

The new officers of the St. Louis Court, No. 177, are: J. Poirier, chief ranger; A. Gonthier, vice chief ranger; A. J. Vilet, recording secretary; L. Belanger, financial secretary; A. J. Burdash, treasurer; William Poirier, speaker; William La Brosse, William Kanglois and J. Cartier, trustees.

EVEN CALIFORNIA FEELS THE COLD.

Friends of Mrs. Levi Jacobson, formerly Miss Olga Wegberg of 1827 West First street, who are corresponding with her at Calexico, Cal., where Mr. Jacobson is in the commission business, received a letter yesterday telling of the extreme cold in that part of the country. Mrs. Jacobson writes that they are all compelled to use stoves during the day and that the residents are suffering severely on account of the unusual weather.

Mrs. Jacobson's marriage took place last year.

Has Contract in Florida.

John Nord, 2215 West Second street, will leave tomorrow with his family for Florida, where he has undertaken a number of building contracts for the winter. Mr. Nord returned several weeks ago after arranging his plans. He took a crew of men from Duluth. His family will spend the winter with him a few miles from Jacksonville, where Mr. Nord has contracted for twelve houses, two hotels and four store buildings. They expect to return in the early part of April.

Missions in Range Towns.

Rev. C. G. Olson of the Bethany Swedish Lutheran church, Twenty-third avenue west and Third street, returned this morning from a week's trip on the range. He conducted mission meetings every evening. He preached at Alborn Monday evening, Bovey on Tuesday, Warbo on Wednesday and Grand Rapids last evening.

Revival Meetings.

A series of revival meetings is being held this week at the First Swedish Baptist church, Twenty-second avenue west and Third street. Rev. Swaney Nelson, pastor of the church, is directing the meetings and is assisted by George Carlson, a divinity student from Morgan Park college, Chicago, who spent the holidays at the Head of the Lakes.

Bergholm Funeral.

The funeral of John Bergholm, 50 years old, who died Tuesday morning at his residence, 104 Exeter street, was held at 2 o'clock this afternoon from the Swedish Mission church, Twenty-first avenue west and Second street. Rev. J. J. Daniels, pastor of the church, officiated and interment was in the Park Hill cemetery. The funeral was in charge of the Swedish Christian Sick Benefit society, of which Mr. Bergholm was a member.

As Quickly as Water Dissolves Sugar

About the Time It Takes for a Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablet to Work on the Food and Bring Relief.

TRIAL PACKAGE SENT FREE.

There is no long wait between the time you take a Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablet and the feeling of relief it will bring to an overloaded stomach. It gets busy in a jiffy and quickly sets things to rights in that tired and disordered stomach. It goes right at the work of digesting the food it finds lodged there and in no time at all has things on the move—the gases cease forming, the breath is sweetened, the coating on the tongue disappears and you are no longer conscious that you even have a stomach.

That is one of the chief recommendations for Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets—that they don't take forever to accomplish the purpose for which you need them. It is just as if you put an extra stomach or two to work when yours needed help. You can't continually overload your stomach and expect it to always smile. It is going to get rebellious and sulky after awhile and refuse to go on being driven to do double work. You must rest it occasionally—not by starving and thereby weakening yourself physically—but by using a Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablet to do the work of digesting your food.

These tablets contain all the active elements of the natural stomach juices and will alone and unaided digest food just the same as the gastric juices. And nothing could be more harmless than these tablets. They do not effect the system in any way—do not cure any ailment except as they digest food. Use them freely.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are sold by all druggists everywhere. Price, 50 cents per box. A trial package will be sent if you will write F. A. Stuart Co., 150 Stuart Bdg., Marshall, Mich.

Sells Hotel Site.

John Wahl, president of the John Wahl Candy company, 1701 West Michigan street, and interested in the Cuyuna Land company has sold a tract of land at Cuyuna to the Fitger Brewing company of Duluth. Mr. Wahl represented the company in the transaction. The brewing company is planning to build a hotel on the new townsite.

West End Briefs.

Miss Evodia Olson, 2305 West Third street, entertained the choir of the Bethany Swedish Lutheran church at her home last evening. The evening was spent in music and games and a luncheon was served.

Rev. Milton Fish of the Central Baptist church, Twentieth avenue west and First street, will speak on "What We May Do for Our Deceased Friends" at the regular services Sunday evening.

Mrs. E. B. Richmond of Cadillac, Mich., who has been visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Stout, 2307 West Fifth street, left for Chicago last evening.

Miss Josephine Vella of Milwaukee is the guest this week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Bangs, 2320 West Superior street.

The Immanuel Young People's society held its regular meeting last evening at the home of Miss Matilda Clementson, 2609 West Second street.

The Sunday school teachers of the Bethany Swedish Lutheran church, Twenty-third avenue west and Third street, will hold their annual election of officers in the church parlors this evening.

Mr. Anderson of St. Peter, Minn., spent the past week visiting his friends in the West end.

Mr. and Mrs. George McCrickett of Ironwood, Mich., returned to their home this morning after spending the past week in the West end as guests of W. W. Santry, 2010 West Fourth street.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Granger, 2324 West Third street, left for South Bend, Ind., last evening, where they will make their future home.

LAST LECTURE OF SOCIALIST SERIES

Ralph Korngold of Chicago Speaks on "Socialists at Work."

"Socialists At Work" was the title of an interesting lecture given last night at 416 East Superior street by Ralph Korngold, a prominent Socialist speaker of Chicago.

Mr. Korngold told of the work of the Socialists in the different parts of the United States. He is one of the speakers sent out by the Socialist Lyceum bureau and the lecture was the last of the Duluth series. He said in part:

"An idle man is no better than a dead one, but takes up more room," declared Mr. Korngold. "Socialists have but one price-Socialism. A member of this party elected to office is bound by inculcated principles to be true to his trust. At Milwaukee the new administration fired all useless employes. If we carry Duluth you will see a surprising exodus of dead timber from the city hall.

"Business means get all you can and give as little as you have to. A business man's administration is no good; what we want is a workingman's administration. Business men are dishonest by training, lawyers do no useful work and capitalists do no work at all.

"The only difference between Republicans and Democrats is that one party is in and the other wants to be in. It is a question of who can can skin the workingman.

"In Milwaukee 300 tenement houses were torn down. The Socialists would do away with slums and the breeding place of poor citizens. Public ownership is the salvation of the masses. It means model homes for the workingman and all public utilities at approximate cost.

"No man can represent both capital and labor in congress, nor can any party. Their demands are exactly opposite. The Socialist movement is international, hence it stands first among all endeavors for universal peace."

The speaker closed his address with an appeal for more solidity in voting and laboring for the advancement of the cause.

ENGINEERS' REPORT MUCH IN DEMAND.

Printed copies of the report of Engineers Chanssen and Pillsbury on the proposed municipal lighting plant are much in demand. City Clerk Cheadle has received 10,000 printed copies of the report and many citizens have called for copies in order to make a detailed study of the city's plans. It is believed that the entire edition will be used.

WANTS COUNTY FAIR PRIZES FOR CHILDREN.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—A silver watch to the girl in each county of the state who bakes the best loaf of bread; a gold watch to the one who makes and exhibits at the state fair the best loaf; a silver watch to the 10-year-old girl in each county who shows the best needlework, and a silver watch to the boy in each county who produces the best bushel of potatoes—these are suggested by Mrs. Perry Starkweather, head of the women's and children's department of the state labor bureau, in connection with county fairs.

Mrs. Starkweather believes more should be done to interest boys and girls of the state in industrial training, and as a member of the state fair standing committee from the Women's federation she will call a meeting soon to arrange ways and means, if possible, of having county fairs offer such premiums and of inducing the state fair board to take it up.

S.S.S. REMOVES THE CAUSE OF CATARRH

No remedy that does not entirely remove the cause of Catarrh from the blood will ever make a permanent cure of the trouble. Just as long as the circulation remains contaminated with the impurities and catarrhal matters which produce the trouble, the mucous membranes or inner linings of the body will be kept in a state of irritation and disease. Sprays, lotions and other local applications will sometimes temporarily relieve the tight, full feeling in the head, buzzing noises in the ears, uncomfortable, stuffy feeling of the nostrils, and help to loosen the mucus in the throat; but Catarrh is a constitutional blood disorder and until it has been entirely driven from the system there can be no permanent cure. S. S. S. cures Catarrh by removing the cause from the blood. It attacks the disease at its head and by thoroughly purifying and cleansing the circulation, and ridding it of every particle of impurity, and at the same time enriching the blood, allows the inflamed and irritated membranes to heal, improves the general health, and stops every disagreeable symptom. S. S. S. reaches down to the very bottom and leaves no trace of the disease in the system. Book on Catarrh and any medical advice free to all who write.

LAND HUNGER.

The number and variety and good sense and practicality of the letters that are being entered in The Herald's contest are highly gratifying and interesting. It is especially pleasing to note the evidence these letters give of the widespread impulse of the "back to the land" idea.

It means that a lot of people want to get their feet planted firmly on land of their own, which they can till and make fruitful and build a home upon. They are willing to work hard, and want to work hard, and they want to see themselves getting ahead through their work. They covet the freedom and security and independence of farm life. They are weary of the insecurity and slavery and dependence of life in the city as employes of others.

It is a tendency that should be encouraged. Every worker transplanted from the city to the country is changed from a consumer of the products of others to a producer—a maker of wealth instead of a consumer of wealth.

Many have the idea that the city worker who dreams of a home in the country is under illusions about the character of the change; that he thinks the soil will do his work for him while he sits in the shade and smokes his pipe. If any have such illusions they are fated to a sharp disillusionment if they ever get farm homes. Farming means work—hard work, persistent and intelligent work—but it means work that gets you ahead, instead of merely getting somebody else ahead while letting the worker hang on to existence by the skin of his teeth. The Herald does not believe that a majority of these dreamers are victims of any such illusions. They realize that farming means work, and they are willing to work. What they want is work that counts for themselves, and that yields something more than a bare living.

THE STATE FAIR DATES.

Northern Minnesota's appeal to have the state fair dates set a little later in September has resulted in an agreement by the state agricultural society, which runs the fair, to consider the matter. This year's arrangements, it is asserted, have gone so far that it is impossible to grant the concession before next year any way. So it won't come this year. Maybe it will next.

It ought to. When the state fair is held now Northern Minnesota's products are not, as a rule, enough matured to provide representative exhibits. If the fair were held a week or two later it would not prejudice Southern Minnesota in the slightest degree, and it would enable Northern Minnesota to make a showing that would amaze the country.

It is in Northern Minnesota that the state has land to sell. It is Northern Minnesota that needs settlement and development. And it is Northern Minnesota's exhibit, therefore, that will do the whole state the most good.

In demanding the change of date the Northern Minnesota Development association is doing another good work for the whole state.

THE COMMISSION PLAN IN OPERATION—21.

Coffeyville, Kan., went under the commission plan last April. In the first five months of operations the tax rate was reduced from 87 cents to 83 cents, though the new levy included a number of items of expense not contained in the old ones. The mayor writes: "I served as mayor under the old system. There is no one in the city that would go back to it. In my opinion the new system is far ahead of the old."

There is little doubt that if Duluth tried this plan of city government its verdict would be the same.

PUDD'NHEAD WILSON SUSTAINED.

Remember Mark Twain's story—also a play—of Pudd'nhead Wilson, who gained the reputation of being a crank because he collected impressions of finger prints and because he held the theory that this is a certain method of identification because the skin ridges are not the same on the fingers of any two people?

Remember how, both in the story and the play, those finger prints turned up in court at a dramatic moment to prove the identity of the man who really committed the crime for which an innocent person was on trial?

The story was written eighteen years ago, and at that time not many people knew about this eccentric finger print notion. Mark Twain didn't invent it. Scientists—or crack brained theorists, as some called them then—had invented it long before. But Mark Twain's story made the idea generally known, and now the theory is being pretty generally practiced. It is part of the Bertillon system in many police departments, and the other day it received the indorsement of a decision by a state supreme court. The indorsement could hardly be more conclusive, since it condemned to death for murder a man whose identification depended upon the evidence of his finger prints.

When the case came before the Illinois supreme court that body was entirely without a precedent to guide it, so it made one in the following language: "When photography was first introduced it was seriously questioned whether pictures thus created could properly be introduced as evidence. But this method of proof, as well as by means of X-rays and the microscope, is now admitted without question. We are disposed to hold from the evidence of four witnesses who testified and from the writings we have referred to on this subject that there is a scientific basis for the system of finger print identification and that the courts are justified in admitting this class of evidence; that this method of identification is in such a general and common use that the courts cannot refuse to take judicial cognizance of it. Such evidence may or may not be of independent strength, but it is admissible, with other proof, as tending to make out a case. If inferences as to the identity of persons based on the voice, the appearance or age are admissible, why does not this record justify the admission of this finger print testimony under common law rules of evidence?"

The defendant in this case was convicted entirely on finger print evidence—at least his identification rested upon that point—and the court's decision means that he will be hanged.

It is a curious thing that nature goes to all the trouble of designing for every individual a different arrangement of the tiny ridges and hollows you will find on the ball of each of your fingers, but it seems to be beyond question that nature does this very thing. So a murderer who has with scrupulous care guarded against every possibility of detection that he can imagine or anticipate, may be caught, convicted and punished because he left the bloody print of his finger tips on a door jamb in making his escape. Whatever nature's purpose in furnishing this means of identification may have been, it is very complete and convincing, and it turns out, now that it has been discovered after man has had an individual design of finger marking for untold thousands of years, to be of great use to justice.

CANDOR THAT DISARMS TRICKERY.

Those opposed to Woodrow Wilson because of what he stands for first tried to discredit him because he had sought a Carnegie pension in order that he might be free to enter public life. When it developed that the only persons who knew about this, the directors of the Carnegie fund, were mostly Wall Street folks who would be expected to do anything they could do to harm him, the incident worked in his favor instead of against him.

Then, hoping to alienate the Bryan support, the Wilson opposition dug up a private letter, written six years ago, in which Governor Wilson expressed to a friend what was in the minds of many members of his party at that time.

And to this Governor Wilson says: "I believe in perfect frankness. Even if a man has written letters, it ought not to embarrass him to have them published. Such publication is a matter of taste. If a man has changed his mind he should not be embarrassed because he has changed. The people who do not change their minds are very impossible persons. They ought to have their parts disassociated and reassembled in a more reasonable combination."

It's pretty hard to make the old cheap political tricks work against a man like that, who says what he thinks and is frank and candid and open.

THE ALDRICH BILL.

Congress reserves the right to alter or amend the provisions of this act, to take effect at the end of any decennial period from and after the organization of the National Reserve association.—Section 58 of the Aldrich bill.

This appears to mean that congress, if it passes the Aldrich bill with this section included, binds itself not to amend it in any way for ten years.

Of course one purpose of this is to give the plan ample time to justify itself. But if in practice it did not justify itself, it would be awkward if it could not be changed for ten years. It is a question if this does not tie the country up too long to a plan which is largely experimental. Probably the new currency and banking law should not be subject to change at every session of congress. Certainly it would be unfair to start amending it before it had had a chance to prove itself. But if, in practice, the plan developed any of the dangers its opponents fear from it, it would be unpleasant to find that these perils must continue their evil work for ten years. Much could happen in that time.

It seems to The Herald that this is a point that should be considered very carefully before the measure is adopted.

THE ANTIQUITY OF TABLE MANNERS.

Because of what we know about the conditions in which the world's ancestors of say 600 years ago lived, we are likely, if we think of it at all, to fancy that their table manners must have been something scandalous. Their dining room floors were covered with rushes, and the table debris was thrown to the waiting pack of dogs. When the floor got unsightly, it was a simple matter to cover it over with more rushes. Once in a decade or so, you may suppose, these successive strata of table litter and straw grew to such a height that a housecleaning became in order, and then they started all over again.

Though this and other practices of our ancestors naturally create the idea that the best of them would be rather embarrassing guests at a modern fastidious table, somebody has lately dug up out of an old book a bit of verse which indicates that much that is bad form now was bad form hundreds of years before the Pilgrims sought freedom to worship as they saw fit without interference from others and freedom to persecute those who did not worship as they did.

In the "Babees' Book," one of the oldest manuals of English manners extant, appears these verses:

Thou shalt not laugh nor speak no thing
While thy mouth be full of meat or drink;
Nor sup thou not with great sounding
Neither pottage nor other thing.
At meat cleanse not thy teeth, nor pick
With knife or straw or wand or stick.
While thou holdest meat in mouth, beware
To drink; that is an unhonest chare;
And also physic forbids it quite.
Also eschew, without strife,
To foul the table cloth with thy knife.
Nor blow upon thy drink or meat,
Neither for cold, neither for heat.
Nor bear with meat thy knife to mouth,
Whether thou be set by strong or couth.
Lean not on elbow at thy meat,
Dip not thy thumb thy drink into;
Thou art uncourteous if thou it do.
In salt cellar if thou put
Or flesh or fish that men see it
That is a vice, as men me tells;
And great wonder it would be else.

Great wonder, indeed! This book, in its present known form, dates from the fourteenth century, and seems to have been a compilation of still older rules. The poetry isn't fine. The expressions are strange and uncouth to modern ears. But the manners laid down in that ancient verse are good manners, and haven't been much improved upon.

In point of fact, the essence of good manners is self-respect and consideration for others, whether they are table manners or parlor manners or office manners. It is not "good form" to do things at table that would make you think less of yourself if you realized their enormity, or that will affront or give discomfort to others. Therefore, to assume that there were no table manners in the Middle Ages would be to assume that there was no courtesy then.

It goes to show how little new there is under the sun.

"It's Cool in Duluth," but also it's "cool" almost every other place, too, which is very different from summer time, when it is cool in Duluth and oppressively hot elsewhere.

THE OPEN COURT

(Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their ideas about the topics of general interest, but discussions of sectarian religious differences are barred. Letters should not exceed 300 words—the shorter the better. They must be written on one side of the paper only, and they must be accompanied in every case by the name and address of the writer, though these need not be published. A signed letter is always more effective, however.)

WORKING FOR A CAUSE.

To the Editor of The Herald:

In reading The Herald of Jan. 10, I noticed the letter by the observer which interested me, and the question, "Why is the Socialist willing to work so hard for no personal gain?" is again brought to the front.

Now, in the history of the world's events, there have been similar instances of people and bodies of people, suffering hardships, in some cases ostracism, even death for a cause when they really believed in the justice of that cause, so that spectacle is not a new one by any means.

Now what are we to infer from this, that is by studying past history, take the early Christian movement as taught by Christ, take the abolitionist movement in our own country where its founders were persecuted and hindred in every way by the political and social powers of their time, they eventually triumphed, did they not?

Now, as far as I understand the Socialist movement, they do not set themselves up as a sort of Moses, to lead the workers out of the wilderness. They do claim though, that they can teach the workers to help themselves. Nothing very unreasonable in that is there, for God knows our workers can stand a lot of teaching, and if our workers will get out and attend a few of the ward meetings of the party, I think they will probably hear things that will interest and benefit them.

By the workers I do not mean only the man in the overalls, but the intellectual workers, the men in the offices, the teachers, writers, etc., who have the good jobs, where they can dress well and clean, for which privilege they get from ten to fifty dollars per month less than their organized brother, "the man in the overalls."

A NEAR CONVERT.

Duluth, Jan. 11.

HYPOCRISY AND CHRISTIANITY.

To the Editor of The Herald:

I have for many months, admired the fight you have made for purity in political and civic affairs. I have noted from time to time the bravery with which you have attacked hypocrisy and partiality in the work of the church, and while I am well aware that such matters must be handled "with gloves on," yet I feel that there are times and cases, when both press and pulpit should deal with existing evils, in plain blunt and straight-forward language even though it causes some Ladies' Aid society or Woman's home Ladies' Aid society or Woman's home Club to hold up their hands in holy horror at the terms we use. There is no better known nor more tragic truth than that the church is not doing what it should for the reclamation and restoration of the outcast. That the church of Christ was established mainly for this class, any reader of the New Testament will certainly agree. Ninety per cent of the acts of mercy performed by Jesus, were for these outcasts—for said He, "The well need no physician—but the sick." There are serious difficulties and dangers in the path of him who shall try to reclaim these unfortunates—but what of it? It is also dangerous to try to save a 4-year-old child from drowning. You remember the story of the man who was criticized for not jumping into a river and rescuing a drowning child. He answered, "Why, I have on my Sunday clothes." Yes, and when it is put up to the church or clergy to rescue the outcast, we too often reply, "We have on our Sunday clothes." Now, my dear editor, the object of this letter is to request, that while you are running a question box, as to "what I should do with my first $1,000," open another question box and let us who are interested, ask and answer such questions as these: Is the church able or not able to solve the social question? Is the church (churchmen and clergy) willing or not willing to attempt its solution after the manner and methods employed by Jesus Christ, i. e., on the score of friendship and brotherhood? Does the present day church obey the Spirit of Christ or the spirit of this commercial age, an age damned by selfishness and silly conventionalities? There are three well described instances, in which Jesus braved the wrath and criticism of Pharisees, to befriend fallen women—and in neither instance did He treat them as "vile sinners and lost souls" as we do, but He treated them as "unfortunates," as sheep who had gone astray, and at the same time declaring it His duty, as the "Good Shepherd" to find the "lost ones and bring them back to the fold." All the world knows what Jesus was and did—and the same world knows that the present day church is different, and doing different. To me it seems, that there are just three things to be done. Confess that the church is unable to deal with the matter, or confess that it is unwilling to deal with the matter, or let the criticism and hypocrisy of the Pharisees and the "delicately refined" go to hell, where it belongs, and then go as brave men and women, down into the vale of sorrows, where dwell the weak, the ignorant and unfortunate, and there labor as Christ would have us labor, as brother for brother—sister for sister—friend for friend. I am,

Very sincerely yours,
REV. W. T. HUGHES.

Ely, Jan. 11.

The Awakening.

Margaret Lynn in the Atlantic: To begin with, it broke upon me for the first time that Ellen was pretty. Even to the unprepossessed eye of a younger sister, that was now apparent. It had never occurred to me before, for a very simple and logical reason. There had been nothing in my reading to suggest that beauty was anything less than an absolute quality. A young lady was absolutely beautiful and fit to figure in a novel, like Rowena and Rebecca, or she was not beautiful and no heroine at all. Now it dawned on me that there were degrees of beauty and that Ellen had one of them, if not more. This afternoon she wore a pretty pink dress, one that had come from the East with her, and had an airiness and ruffliness unknown to my useful frocks. She sat with her knees crossed—I was not allowed to do that—and the attitude brought the tip of a shiny slipper into view, especially when she gave a little push to set the hammock in motion. Her chin was tilted a bit sidewise. Anon she looked up at the young man and then dropped her eyelashes and looked at the rosette on her slipper, and gave a little kick—at least if I had done it, it would have been a kick, if ever so little—that set her ruffles fluttering. When the wind blew her fluffy hair about her face she let it stay for a moment and then put it back, not too securely, with an airy motion that brought her bare elbow into view for a slow minute. No wonder I looked at her. When she combed my hair in the morning, a process entered upon with reluctance on both sides, she didn't tip her chin or flutter her eyelashes or look up with a sudden half smile. A truth abruptly took my breath away: Ellen was coquetting.

Not Bad for a Corner Look.

Cleveland Plain Dealer: Said the attorney to the chief witness in a recent breach of promise case:

"You say you saw this plaintiff riding by? How did you know it was this plaintiff? What sort of a rig was it?"

"I don't remember at all, because I only saw her out of the corner of my eye," answered the witness, "so I merely remember that she had on a black Leghorn hat, a mink boa, a gray suit trimmed with jet and cut broad in the revers and gored in the skirt, patent leather shoes with gray tops nd a blue suede shopping bag with fringe on it. I didn't get to look at her, your honor, so I only had this impression, and of course couldn't remember the details of her costume."

OUR NEXT GOVERNOR.

Are All Sam's Politicians?

Cambridge North Star: Sam Lord of Kasson would make a good run for governor, as would Sam Gordon of Browns Valley and Sam Iverson of Fillemore. We'll bet any one of these Sams would win.

And Fallen In.

Lake Crystal Union: "Governor Eberhart will not call a special session of the legislature for the purpose of making political capital for the Democrats," says the Virginian.—Duluth News Tribune.

But—he has dug his own grave.

Tried and Found Wanting.

Austin Transcript: It looks at this stage of the game as if Governor Eberhart would not be renominated for governor. He has had a splendid chance to make good but in the minds of many he has not come up to standard.

Gordon Idol of Press.

Walker Pilot: Sam Gordon continues to be the idol of the weekly press, notwithstanding the digs he receives at the hands of the dailies.

Will Not Be Belittled.

Walker Enterprise: Governor Eberhart's press bureau is working overtime in an effort to belittle Sam Gordon. But it won't succeed.

Gracious!

Cass Lake Times: Tom Noswal says Ed Smith's "enthusiasm" for Eberhart is oozing. If this is true you might as well check your baggage through to—or any other old place, Adolph.

Brewers Have the Say.

Chisholm Tribune-Herald: The Willow River Farmer insists that Senator Nelson will not be a candidate for reelection and that the "man of destiny" has this place in mind for himself. The Farmer evidently overlooks the fact that the brewers have decided on another term in the governor's office for him.

Iverson's Position.

Ely Miner: And now comes a Southern Minnesota paper and advocates Sam Iverson for governor and says Sam should not refuse the nomination, if tendered him. If there is anyone in the state that ever had an inkling of Iverson's refusing anything whatever, we have failed to hear of it. You can rest assured that Sam will be a candidate for something or other.

The Sulphide Lady.

Berton Braley in Philadelphia Times: "Don't you hate bromides?" the caller was asked. "I think it's too funny the way people will use such obvious expressions and say such obvious things. I think it was awfully clever of Gelett Burgess to coin the phrase. Don't you simply live his 'Purple Cow?' They say he himself gets very angry when anybody speaks about that verse. But it's good nonsense, you know, and a little nonsense now and then is relished by the best of men.

"Such a queer thing happened to me the other day. I met a lady whom I had never seen before, and came to find out we knew a lot of people in common. The world certainly is a small place, after all. One can travel so fast and so far nowadays that its no further from London to New York than it used to be from New York to Philadelphia.

"Have you ever been in New York? It's a wonderful place. You can wonder where all the people come from and what they all live on. Of course, many of them are very poor. The East side slums are so sad! Yet they are better off mostly than where they came from. They say these people are well grounded in art—even the poorest of them.

"Now that's something I don't know anything about—art. I know what I like, though. And I don't like this cold weather. Of course, it's all right for us people who have warm clothes and furs and houses, but it's awful for the very poor, and I often think how they must suffer. And on a night like this think how the sailors must fight for life.

"Yet the sailors are not so badly off as they used to be. These big boats now hardly mind the storms at all. I think the Mauretania and those big boats are floating palaces. No, I never rode in one, but I've read about them. Some day I hope to go to Europe, but I think one should wait until one has plenty of money because the tipping system is perfectly dreadful there. And I believe in seeing my own country first.

"What, must you go? Well, well, it is later than I thought. You see, time flies so fast when the company is pleasant. You are going to call on Mrs. Monroe? She's a nice woman—very bromidic, but nice. Now that you've found the way, come often! Good night."

Lord Fat Purse.

My lord Fat Purse was a very good man;
He had houses and lands galore;
And with each new day he had some new plan
For aiding the needy and poor.
He gave to the churches; he gave to the homes;
He gave to the tramp by the way;
Yet the terrible curse in the land grew worse,
And the poor grew poorer each day.

My lord Fat Purse was troubled and sad,
That his thought and toil seemed vain.
"But I do what I can," said this very good man,
"To ease the want and the pain.
'Tis the will of heaven that some shall be rich
And many be poor, I see—
I can do no more than give from the store
That a just God gives to me."

Yet acres and acres of fertile soil
Lie idle under the skies,
While the shrewd lord waits and holds his estates
Till prices in lands shall rise.
Deep in the breast of those acres broad
Which are selfishly grasped by one,
Lies wealth for many—free gifts of God,
Like the wind and the rain and the sun.

Food in the ocean and food in the soil—
Free gifts from a hand divine,
And who dare hinder the fisher's toil
Or say, "Lo, the sea is mine."
Ah, my Lord Fat Purse, no wonder the curse
Of poverty hangs like a pall,
When you hold by fraud the lands which God
Has meant for the use of all.

—Ella Wheeler Wilcox.

Wilson's Courage.

Kansas City Star: If you overlooked the article on "Why Princeton Rejected Wilson," on page 9 of the Star yesterday afternoon, abridged from the current issue of the World's Work, it will pay you to look it up and read it.

The point is this: As president of Princeton, Woodrow Wilson took his life in his hand and made a great fight for democracy.

He felt that it was essential to break down an aristocratic system which was developing rich men's clubs within the university. His belief in a democratic university in touch with the real world led him to reject a $500,000 gift that he believed would tend to make the graduate school an exclusive club.

Did you ever hear of a college rejecting a rich man's gift before on any such grounds?

Then came a $3,000,000 bequest along the same lines. The millions swamped the trustees and put Wilson out of Princeton.

The easy way was open to him. It would have been the most natural thing in the world for him to accept the money. Not a breath of criticism would have reached him had he done so. Instead, he made a great fight for a great principle—and lost.

It was a big thing and a fine thing that he did. Men with that sort of ideals and that sort of nerve aren't so plentiful.

GIVE US MONETARY REFORM.

Chicago Tribune: The report of the monetary commission is not easy reading for the general public, and the names signed to it do not add to the confidence with which the average man will make his troubled way through its verbiage—Nelson W. Aldrich, chairman and protagonist; Julius C. Burrows, Eugene Hale, Hernando D. Money, James P. Taliaferro, Boies Penrose! These are not names to make the plain citizen turn comfortably on his couch and seek the slumber of security. Senator La Follette was not wrong when he intimated that any plan which came from such counsel would best be "examined with a miscroscope."

But one can be fair at the same time let the glass in the miscroscope be clean and pure.

The reserve association plan, in its general outline, is unquestionably admirable, and the main reform is sorely needed. For generations we have waited for relief from our outrageous monetary system, but always there has been some reason for delay. Political or business conditions or the inability of bankers and business men to agree have put reform off again and again.

Now we have a plan which has won remarkable support from bankers and business men. On the other hand, its source is suspected. But what we want at this time is definite criticism, not generalities. On the generalities we are all agreed.

The chief fear seems to be that the complicated system of representation and control devised by the commission is not all that it seems to be, that somehow it will develop into a mechanism for the further centralization of financial power.

The fear is legitimate, and it is to be noted that the business men's organization formed to support the reserve association plan does not insist upon this special scheme of representation, but, while approving it prima facie, invites criticism and amendment.

What is most desirable is that the proposed system be thoroughly scrutinized with alertness, honesty, public spirit, and foresight, but without distorting prejudice. And when this process is openly and freely carried out, then let us have the perfected result enacted into law at this session in spite of politics and partisanship. Congress is divided as to parties and a great election impends. Yet is it not possible for the men we have chosen to represent us at Washington to forget the game of party or personal advantage respecting this great problem of economic statesmanship and in a spirit of patriotism make an end of the heavy burden of our archaic monetary system which has cost us so many terrible disasters?

The country, save for politics, is ripe for this reform. Finance and business are ready for the change. If we delay longer we may not have another such favorable period for years. Unforseen dangers or complications may arise.

Now is the appointed time. If there is statesmanship in control in congress this will be done.

Slow Going Phineas Fogg.

The Bookman: The fact that last summer a French journalist circled the globe in forty days, just half the time consumed by Phineas Fogg, although the traveler of fiction expended nearly $20,000 to accomplish the journey, lends the itinerary of Jules Verne's book a certain timeliness. With the exception that the Frenchman traveled by the Trans-Siberian railway, whereas the phlegmatic Englishman went from London to Suez via the Mont Cenis tunnel and Bridisi, thence to Bombay, across India to Calcutta, and then on to Hongkong by steamer—a very material difference—the routes were very much the same. Just thirty-nine years separated the two journeys for in the book Phineas Fogg was supposed to start from the Reform club on the evening of Oct. 2, 1872, and return there on the evening of Dec. 21. Following is the calculation which led to the making of the wager:

From London to Suez via Mont Cenis and Brindisi, by rail and steamers	7 days
From Suez to Bombay, steamer	13 days
From Bombay to Calcutta, rail	3 days
From Calcutta to Hongkong (China), steamer	13 days
From Hongkong to Yokohama (Japan), steamer	6 days
From Yokohama to San Francisco, steamer	22 days
From San Francisco to New York, rail	7 days
From New York to London, steamer and rail	9 days
	80 days

Can Mr. Taft Be Saved?

A. Maurice Low in Harper's Weekly: Mr. Taft will be nominated, but after that, what? Can he do anything between now and next June to strengthen a position that even his warmest friends are forced to admit is deplorably weak? How is he between June and November to inspire his followers with confidence? Casting aimlessly about in their desperation to find something that will work a miracle, Mr. Taft's political managers have decided that the time has come for him "to play politics." It is the counsel of despair. To the credit of Mr. Taft be it said he cannot play politics; he can no more play politics than Grover Cleveland could or would. The politician's idea of playing politics is for the president to make a few appointments or to do something so palpably dishonest that it deceives not even the credulous. There have been presidents and presidential candidates circumstanced as Mr. Taft is who found in foreign complications the means to divert attention from domestic problems, who played with fire purposely for the sake of scattering the sparks. That game can no longer be played. Any attempt to create a war scare would turn doubt into certainty. There is, of course, no probability of this. Mr. Taft is too conscientious and values too highly his self-respect to purchase election by methods he knows to be unworthy. We are spared that danger and shame.

Temperamentally Mr. Taft cannot play politics, and it would do him no good if he could. The trouble is too deeply seated for that. Mr. Taft owes his present unfortunate predicament not to the fact that he has not played politics in the ordinary sense of that term, but to three things, of which any one alone would probably have swamped him, while combined they left no escape from destruction. These things were the Roosevelt legacy, bad advice, and plain, simple, ordinary ill luck.

Girls That Smoke.

Washington Star: Apropos of New York's fashionable hotel that permits ladies to smoke, Mme. Simone, the Parisian actress, said the other day:

"Well, why shouldn't ladies smoke? There's nothing ungraceful in the habit. On the contrary, to see a pretty woman with a cigarette is a very charming picture.

"Those who object to smoking among women have never, perhaps, seen smoking done decorously. Their idea of smoking is that of the old Provencial woman.

"A society girl, calling on this old woman in her cottage, took a cigarette from her gold case, fitted it in a tube of amber, and said:

"'You don't mind if I smoke, do you?'

"'Why, of course not, dearie! Of course not!' said the old woman. 'Jeanne,' she added to her servant, 'go fetch a spittoon!'"

Not Polite as the Neighbors.

Catholic Standard: Mrs. Nexdore—Prof. Adagio called at our house yesterday and my daughter played the piano for him. He just raved over her playing.

Mrs. Peprey—How rude! Why couldn't he conceal his feelings the way the rest of us do?

NEGRO SHOWS PART OF A HUMAN SKULL.

St. Joseph, Mo., Jan. 12.—William Thomas, a negro, was arrested yesterday when he exhibited pieces of a bloody human skull on the downtown streets. Investigation by police resulted in the finding of the mutilated body of Lee Foster of Lincoln, Neb., a brakeman, lying near the railroad tracks on the edge of town. Foster left St. Joseph on top of his train for Omaha last night and was not reported missing from it for two hours. Although the police believe Foster's death was accidental, Thomas is held for investigation.

CHICAGO POLICEMAN IS SHOT BY ITALIANS.

Chicago, Jan. 12.—Policeman Eric Miller was shot in the abdomen and through the lungs late last night when he stopped to question four Italians he met in the North Side ghetto district. He emptied his revolver at the fleeing assailants, but they escaped. Miller may die. The assault occurred within a block of "death corner," where a score of shootings have occurred within a year.

Broken Rail Causes Wreck.

Buffalo, Pa., Jan. 12.—A broken rail, said to have been due to the cold weather, caused the derailment of three cars of the Washington-Buffalo express on the Pennsylvania road near Lime Lake, thirty-eight miles southeast of here last night. Twelve passengers were bruised or cut by flying glass, but none was seriously hurt.

COLD TIES UP TRAFFIC

Price of Eggs Likely to Go Skyward—Lemons Are Nearly Gone.

Sweet Potatoes Have Vanished—Meats Are Going Higher.

The long-continued spell of intensely cold weather has been playing havoc with the produce trade. Freight shipments of any kind of food that can be damaged by freezing, either into or out of Duluth, are almost impossible. Only one of the railroads, running to and from Duluth, has continued to accept all kinds of shipments and that is the Duluth, Missabe & Northern. Other railroads absolutely refuse freight shipments of fruits, vegetables, canned goods, eggs and any other food that is liable to freeze on their hands. Farmers dare not haul potatoes into the city for fear they will freeze. Wholesale produce dealers are delaying even the delivery of orders of potatoes and other perishable goods to grocers on the outskirts of Duluth. Duluth egg dealers have large numbers of carload orders for eggs but they cannot fill them at present, because eggs cannot now be sent by freight.

Even the express companies do not like to handle foods that are liable to freeze, but they will do so if it is insisted upon. Fresh country eggs are still coming into the city by express from the country and are being sent out by the same means to places that are nearby. But points that are too far for shipments by express, on account of the large cost, and which have ordered eggs at Duluth by the carload, cannot have their orders filled. Such, for example, are certain points in North Dakota.

Even to send eggs and certain vegetables and fruits by express is no guarantee against their being frozen. Sometimes six or seven dozen eggs will be found frozen in one case. Express consignments of lettuce and other vegetables have frequently come to Duluth and been delivered frozen. Some of the express companies stipulate in advance that they will not be responsible for the freezing of the goods. They merely guarantee their best care to prevent it.

The price of eggs has been boosted by the cold weather. Fresh country eggs are now bringing 35 cents a dozen at wholesale and stored eggs 25 cents a dozen. The advance, thus far, has been very slight, but it is only a beginning. The supply of store eggs at Duluth is running very low. The fresh country eggs that are coming in are those that the farmers saved when the weather was milder and the hens were laying. There is no doubt at all that if this extremely cold weather continues much longer, the price of both fresh and stored eggs will take a skyward flight. Moreover, there is likely to be a scarcity of the Southern eggs that usually come into this market by rail late in January and early in February. These eggs come from as far as Omaha. But the cold weather is general, and without doubt the production of eggs farther south has been seriously curtailed. The situation is one that may reasonably be viewed with grave apprehension.

Various meats have gone up half a cent to a cent a pound in the wholesale price since a week ago. The cold weather is responsible for this. Most farmers will not drive their animals to the market when the weather is so intensely cold. The killing and packing plants have of late been handicapped by an extreme scarcity of animals through the whole vast region embraced by this cold spell. Railroads are refusing to haul live stock on account of the frightful weather. It need cause no surprise, if meats go still higher.

• • •

The poultry prices are strong, but there have not been many advances. Although scarcely any fresh supplies are coming in at the present time, ample quantities of frozen fowls have been placed in storage for the winter's consumption, and no one need fear that there will be any scarcity of that kind of food.

• • •

Butter is high and is likely to remain so during the remainder of the winter and far into the spring. Butter dealers declare there is an actual scarcity of butter in the country and that the quantities placed in storage last fall were considerably below the average. They declare that it is all a result of the scarcity of pasturage a year ago last summer.

It is almost, if not absolutely, impossible at present to buy fresh tomatoes, egg plants, green or wax beans, green onions, cauliflowers or peppers in Duluth. These Southern products cannot be brought here by freight, as the cold weather would ruin them, and to bring them by express would be so expensive that the prices which would have to be charged for them would be well-nigh, if not absolutely, prohibitive.

Fresh lettuce, radishes and cucumbers are coming in by express. These are just as perishable as the Southern vegetables above named, but they are brought from hot houses within this state, and therefore have to be hauled but a short distance. They are likely to go up a little in price, and expressing is always more expensive than shipping by freight.

There is some danger of Duluth running short of Irish potatoes. Some of the local produce dealers say they are nearly out of them, and others say they have considerable supplies of them on hand. There is little doubt that they will go still higher in price, if the cold weather continues.

Sweet potatoes are scarcely to be had at all in Duluth. No shipments have been received during the last two weeks and none can be brought to the city until the weather moderates.

There are very few lemons on hand. After a few days the supply will be entirely gone and unless the weather moderates sufficiently to allow the shipment of more of them into the city, Duluth will be confronted with a lemon famine. As lemons are an important ingredient in many of the popular winter dishes, many a Duluth housewife will find herself more or less handicaped in preparing the meals to which her family is accustomed.

• • •

Cranberries are higher. Fancy Jerseys, which were bringing $10 a week ago at wholesale, are now selling for $11, and Jumbos have advanced from $11 to $11.50. There are plenty of cranberries in storage at Duluth, but there is a scarcity over the country at large, and the Duluth dealers, in putting them up, simply followed the general market.

• • •

Red and yellow onions have advanced from $2.25 to $2.50 per sack. There is a plentiful supply of them in the city. Duluth is well supplied also with cabbages, roots and other staple vegetables.

• • •

Grape fruit has gone a little higher. There are about enough in Duluth to last a week. Any further supplies must be obtained from Florida after the weather moderates.

There has been no change in the prices of oranges, apples, Malaga grapes or bananas. Bananas can be shipped into the city by freight in any kind of weather. They come in cars made especially for the shipment of bananas. Of the other fruits mentioned, Duluth has ample supplies.

Celery can be obtained in all kinds of weather. That which is at present used comes from California. It can be rushed through the cold latitudes by express.

SEVENTH DAY ADVENTISTS

Joint Biennial Sessions of Central and North Union Conferences.

Will Have a Number of Unique Meetings in Connection.

College View, Neb., Jan. 12.—The biggest convention of Seventh-day Adventists that has ever taken place in this city will convene January 16 and continue until January 31, when the joint biennial sessions of the Central and Northern Union conferences of that denomination will be held.

Nine of the northern and central states—Nebraska, Kansas, Wyoming, Colorado, Missouri, Iowa, Minnesota, North Dakota and South Dakota will be represented. The first five states are included in the Central Union conference, and the last four in the Northern Union. These union conferences are made up of several local conferences, which are scattered throughout the different states. Comprising the Central Union conference are the Colorado, East Kansas, Nebraska, North Missouri, South Missouri, West Colorado, West Kansas and Wyoming conferences and the St. Louis Mission field. The officers of the Central Union conference are: President, E. T. Russell, College View; vice president, A. T. Robinson, Boulder, Colo.; secretary, Miss Mettie E. Cornell, College View.

In the Northern Union conference are the Iowa, Minnesota, North Dakota and South Dakota conferences. The officers of the Northern Union are: President, R. A. Underwood, Minneapolis; vice president, M. N. Campbell, Nevada, Iowa; secretary and treasurer, T. D. Gibson, Minneapolis.

About 300 Delegates.

There are about 9,000 Seventh-day Adventists in the Central Union conference, and between 6,000 and 7,000 in the Northern Union conference. There will be about 300 delegates present from the two conferences.

The coming convention will have a number of unique meetings in connection with it. Besides the business sessions there will be a Bible or ministerial institute, a bookmen's convention, several addresses on health reform and education, and public discourses in the college tabernacle each evening. These public discourses will be given by some of the most prominent leaders in the Seventh-day Adventist denomination, and they will come from different parts of the United States. Among them will be Elder A. G. Daniells, president of the general conference of Seventh-day Adventists, which controls all the other conferences in the denomination in the world. He will come from Washington, and will give a series of studies on the work of the gospel ministry. Others who will be present are: Prof. W. W. Prescott of Washington, who will talk on the progress of the work of the denomination; Elder G. B. Thompson of Washington, who will conduct a series of studies on the office and work of the Holy Spirit; and Prof. H. R. Salisbury of Washington, who will talk on education.

One of the strongholds of the Seventh-day Adventist believers is in the territory covered by these two conferences. A number of educational and medical institutions are conducted by them in different places in the Union. At College View is located Union college, the largest educational institution in the denomination; at Clinton, Missouri, is the German seminary for the education and training of German workers for the United States; at Boulder, Colo., is the Boulder-Colorado sanitarium, one of the largest sanitariums in the denomination. These are Central Union conference institutions.

Conference Institutions.

The larger of the local conference institutions in the Central union are the Kansas sanitarium, Wichita, Kan.; Nebraska sanitarium, at College View and Hastings, Neb.; Campion academy, at Loveland, Colo.; Hastings Intermediate school, at Hastings, Neb.; Strode academy, at Oswego, Kan.; Hill Agricultural academy, at Downs, Kan.

Three peculiar points in the Seventh-day Adventist doctrine are the keeping of Saturday for the Sabbath, in obedience to the commands of the Bible; the tithing system, which obligates every member to pay one-tenth of his income into the treasury of the church; and the belief that Christ is to come the second time, in this generation. Stirring lectures on these three principles will be given by able speakers during the sessions.

In connection with the paying of tithes it is worthy of mention to say that the Central Union conference alone, during the year 1910, had a tithe of $135,431.86 paid in to it, while $99,967.80 was paid in to the Northern Union for the same time, the total for the two unions being $235,399.66.

Another notable feature in connection with the aims and purposes of this denomination is the effort that is being put forth to spread the teachings of the church in foreign fields. There are nearly 4,500 missionaries operating in forty-five different countries of the globe. The Adventists believe they have a message for the entire world, and are working with that end in view.

Home Missions.

While the Adventists pay particular attention to foreign fields, they are also quite active in the home land. The total offerings for home missionary work in the Central union, during 1910, were $24,751.85, and in the Northern union, $27,773.25, a total for the two unions of $52,525.10. The total amount paid in the two unions in tithes and offerings to missions in 1910, was $381,300.76. The amount paid per member was $25.78. The amount of book sales in the Central union was $61,573.30, and in the Northern union, $41,166.66, a total for the two unions of $102,749.96.

The denomination also operates 188 institutions of different kinds, which includes 74 sanitariums and 28 publishing houses, the latter publishing books and periodicals in 67 languages. The total sales of these books for 1910 were $1,560,510.58.

NAT MORTGAGES HOUSE TO PAY EDNA ALIMONY.

San Francisco, Cal., Jan. 12. — A mortgage of $28,000 was placed on an apartment house owned by Nat Goodwin here yesterday, as part of the settlement of $55,000 which the actor agreed to make on his divorced wife, Edna Goodrich.

The first payment was made last month when Mr. Goodwin sent $15,000 to Miss Goodrich's New York attorneys. He must pay $30,000 this week. The final payment will be due April 16, with $5,000 additional fees for the attorneys and $8,000 for the trustee, T. H. Dudley of Los Angeles, appointed by the court.

In the mortgage records Mr. Goodwin appears as Nathaniel Carl Goodwin, Jr.

WILL SEPARATE THE LEHIGH COMPANIES.

Philadelphia, Jan. 12. — The directors of the Lehigh Valley Railroad company and of the Lehigh Valley Coal company have decided on a plan of separating the two corporations as a result of the suit against the concerns. The directors of the railroad company is carrying out the plan authorized an appropriation of $6,060,800 to be distributed pro rata among the common and preferred stockholders of each company.

DIES WHILE LAUGHING AT MOVING PICTURES.

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 12.—While laughing at a comedy in moving pictures last night, Patrick Johnson, 24 years old, was stricken with heart disease, and died before he could be taken from a 5-cent theater. Johnson weighed more than 300 pounds.

GAINED STEADILY FROM THE START

"When baby was three weeks old we were compelled to take him from the breast. We vainly tried several infant foods, but he kept losing steadily until he was nothing but skin and bones and cried continually. The doctor put him on Mellin's Food, and he gained steadily from the start. He is now eleven months old, weighs twenty-two pounds, is a plump, gleeful child. He is now just beginning to walk, has ten teeth, sleeps well, and has gone through this dreadful hot weather without the slightest ailment."

Lost His Hair, Beard and Mustache

Terrible Plight of a Pennsylvania Man Reported By a Prominent Citizen:

"About two years ago my hair, beard and mustache started to come out in spots. These spots were entirely bare of hair.

"Seeing PARISIAN SAGE advertised, I purchased four bottles and after using two of the bottles, the hair came in until now I have as good a head of hair as I had before this trouble started.

"I can truthfully recommend this preparation to any one for what it is recommended for. Sam Galder, Jamison City, Col. Co., Pa. Oct. 11, 1911."

Please bear in mind that PARISIAN SAGE is not guaranteed to grow hair on bald heads.

In Mr. Galder's case the hair root was not dead and there is no good reason why PARISIAN SAGE should not do just what he writes it did.

"The next time Mr. Galder came into my store after purchasing the PARISIAN SAGE," writes the druggist who sold him, "his appearance was so changed I did not know him."

PARISIAN SAGE is without doubt the most efficient hair grower, beautifier and dandruff cure in the world, and people who are wasting time with ordinary commercial tonics should wake up.

PARISIAN SAGE will banish dandruff, stop falling hair and itching scalp; will put life, lustre and beauty into faded hair, or money back. It is a most delightful and refreshing tonic for men, women and children. Large bottle 50 cents at Boyce Drug Store and druggists the country over.

WOMAN'S REALM.

A good sized audience was well entertained last evening with the presentation of "Cousin Kate" at the Lyceum theater by home talent. The delightful little play in which Ethel Barrymore starred was charmingly interpreted in every role and the stage settings were also noticeably good.

It was staged under the direction of Mrs. T. M. Holland of Park Falls, Wis., for the benefit of the Park Point Mission.

Miss Lucille Bradley and Fred Waldron, who appeared in the leading roles, carried off the honors. Miss Bradley made a very good looking "Cousin Kate" and was natural and easy in her role. Mr. Waldron balanced her acting with an equally good interpretation of the role of "Heath Hammond."

Stanley Lamb, who played the part of "Bobby," a younger brother, displayed marked ability, and his work was a distinct feature of the play.

Miss Marie Erd infused a good deal of comedy into the lines of "Mrs. Spencer" and delighted the audience with her character work.

Mrs. H. B. Detweller as "Amy Spencer," played her part prettily and with an air of ease which made it very pleasing to the audience.

Miss Grace Norman, who was the house maid, dressed and carried her part well, and Jay H. Hoag made a good minister.

The play is a whimsical little comedy without much action, demanding subtle playing, and the young people chosen to fill the cast rose to the occasion admirably.

A half hour of fancy dances before the play delighted the audience. A snappy little Highland fling was danced in perfect time and with much unconscious charm by little Elizabeth Magie, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. W. H. Magie. Little Gertrude Collins was the essence of grace in a serpentine dance with its intricate measures. Both of these children are daughters of Dr. and Mrs. Homer Collins. Master Harold Evered of Superior was also surprisingly good in a Russian reel. In costume he danced this difficult dance perfectly and was loudly applauded. All of these dances were put on under the direction of Prof. Lee.

On the whole the eevning afforded a pleasant form of entertainment and netted a good sum for the church fund.

WILL READ "DON."

Miss Patton to Talk Here Next Week.

Cora Mell Patton, who has read in Duluth on several former occasions, will come to Duluth next week and will give a reading of "Don," a play by Bsier, a young English playwright, on Friday evening, Jan. 19, at the assembly hall of the Central high school under the auspices of the Duluth Teachers' association.

Miss Patton is one of the best dramatic readers in the country. Her work is finished and artistic and much interest is felt in this entertainment.

The play of "Don" has created considerable interest and the members of Mrs. Seymour's class in dramatic structure have been studying the play as a type of comedy.

SATURDAY CLUB.

Literature Program, With Mrs. Laybourn as Leader.

The regular meeting of the Saturday club will be held tomorrow afternoon at the club room of the library at 2 o'clock. Mrs. George Laybourn is leader for the afternoon and the subect will be literature of America from 1771 to 1809. The program follows:

CHURCH NURSERY.

Mothers May Check Babies During Service.

The new plan of the women of the First Presbyterian church in establishing a nursery in the church where mothers may leave their babies and little children in the care of careful attendants during the Sunday service, has not yet had a chance to be tested, as the continued cold weather has kept the little tots indoors, but with the opening of such a room in the church parlors, mothers who have had to stay at home with their little ones may attend the service and leave the children in good hands during the hour.

Those in charge will see that they are kept warm and amused and hope for a large number of little charges next Sunday.

Rev. Robert Yost will deliver the sermon and in the evening will speak on "Monte Carlo." Miss Valborg Gunderson, violinist, has also been engaged by this church to furnish special music.

New Woman Deputy Sheriff Will Work Among Dance Halls

MISS CORNELIAS SWINNERTON.

The third woman deputy sheriff appointed by Sheriff Harburger of New York was Miss Cornelias Swinnerton of the Woman's Suffrage party. She has been a nurse, and for six months has been an active worker in the suffrage cause. She thinks she can use her authority in the dance halls of the East side, New York, and her chief wish in desiring the appointment was to demonstrate the equality of the sexes.

OLIVER-HULST.

Former Duluth Boy to Wed in Milwaukee.

Invitations have been received here for the wedding of Alfred Nelson Hulst and Miss Clare Oliver, both of Milwaukee, the event to take place on Wednesday, Jan. 24, at 4 o'clock. Mr. Hulst is the youngest son of Dr. and Mrs. Nelson P. Hulst of Milwaukee, formerly of this city and he is very well known among the younger society set.

PUPILS' RECITAL.

Students Will Play at School of Music.

Pupils at the Flaaten Conservatory of Music will give an open recital this evening at the school, Fourth avenue east and Superior street. These recitals are free to the public and all interested are invited to attend. They are given every month.

RECEPTION.

Mrs. McGonagle Receives for Daughter-in-Law.

Mrs. William A. McGonagle of Hunter's Park was hostess at a reception this afternoon at her home in compliment to her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Joseph Sargent McGonagle, a bride of the holiday week.

During the calling hours from 3 to 6 a large number of guests called. The house was prettily and effectively decorated in green and white with flowers and greens and assisting the hostess were: Mrs. R. E. Denfeld, Mrs. W. E. Richardson, Mrs. Fred White, Mrs. W. C. Hegardt, Mrs Edward Florada, Mrs H. B. Paull, Mrs. T. H. Hawkes and Mrs. Oscar Mitchell.

VARIED PROGRAM.

Noted Soloist Will Sing Twenty Songs.

Mme. Frances Alda, of the Metropolitan Opera company, who will sing in Duluth next week is one of the most noted lyric sopranos of the present day and her work in operas and in concerts has brought her fame both abroad and in America. She is hailed as the coming prima donna of the age and Duluth music lovers have a big treat in store for them in her recital which she will give at the Lyceum theater on Monday evening next.

The advance sale so far has been very gratifying to the committee in charge of the concert and she will probably be greeted by one of the largest audiences of the season. Her success in her St. Paul concert Tuesday evening has added fresh laurels to her already long list of triumphs and the musically interested in that city have accorded her the highest praises for her singing.

Her concert program which she will sing here consists of twenty songs, arranged in five groups.

A French, a German, an Italian and an English group. It is an artistically arranged program and one sufficiently varied to display her powers to good advantage.

TUBERCULOSIS SURVEY OF THE CITY IS PLANNED

Health Department Inaugurates Systematic Campaign Against "White Plague."

Sanitarium Treatment of Patients and Education of the Public.

The city health department is planning a most extensive campaign for combatting the dreaded white plague in Duluth, not only to benefit the afflicted but to protect the public as well.

While a lack of funds will limit the work of the department, it will go ahead with the task upon a systematic basis, following well established lines which will mean results when summed up at the end of the year.

Among other plans, it is proposed to complete a tuberculosis survey of the city and to promote a tuberculosis investigation of all industrial plants. This in itself is a big undertaking, but the officials hope that they will be able to have it finished before the year is out. If that cannot be done they feel certain that such progress will have been made that it can be concluded within a comparatively short time.

In this connection the department will conduct a campaign of publicity and education, instructing the patients along lines that will enable them to take intelligent treatment as well as to avoid any and all fakirs who approach them with the claim that they can cure consumption with medicines. The department is most emphatic in its statement that no medicine can kill the bacilli.

Wherever possible patients will be cared for at institutions, which would be for the good of the patient and also protect the public against infection. It is announced that the department will remove, by force, if necessary, cases of tuberculosis constituting a menace to others.

Set of Rules Completed.

The monthly bulletin for December goes into considerable detail relative to the work which the department expects to do during the present year. A set of twelve rules has been compiled and will be followed as closely as may be. They are as follows:

First—Collect and register data regarding all cases of tuberculosis within the city limits, in compliance with state regulations.

Second—Maintain regular periodical inspections of every case discovered within the city by competent trained inspection.

Third—Endeavor to have complete record of movements of each case from incipiency until terminated by cure or death.

Fourth—Secure systematic education of the patients and the public.

Fifth—Secure a definite diagnosis in every possible or suspected case, and observe all suspicious or exposed individuals.

Sixth—Protect the public and favor the patient by securing institutional care whenever and however possible.

Seventh—When institutional care is impossible, protect the public and favor the patient by maintaining home conditions and equipment which are recognized as essentials.

Eighth—Promote tuberculosis investigation of the industrial plants.

Ninth—Complete a tuberculosis survey of the city.

Tenth—Remove, by force if necessary, cases of tuberculosis constituting a menace to others.

Eleventh — Occasion disenfection, cleansing and renovation upon removal of patient.

Twelfth—Secure relief when necessary for families under supervision.

THE EVENING STORY

The House of Furniture

By James Herliker.

The young man wore an unusually bright look as he walked quickly up the gravel path leading to his sweetheart's home. She was looking through the windows expecting him, and when he caught sight of her, he took a newspaper from his pocket and waved it in the air.

"The very thing, darling," he said, when he had kissed her. "Come and look."

The newspaper was spread out on the drawing room table at the advertisement page. The girl was all excitement. They were going to be married, and she knew that this something in the paper had something to do with the approaching event.

"Let me see," he asked, moving his finger rapidly across the column. "I think it was under sales——No, it was under bargains. Yes, that was it. Now—where on earth—did I see it?"

"You ought to put a pencil mark around it, dear," said the girl. "What is it about?"

"Why, furniture, of course. Bargain Chance in a life time. Here it is. There you are; read that." He pointed proudly to his discovery and his future wife gripped the paper and began to read:

"A sacrifice. Must be sold. House of furniture complete in every detail. Practically new. Family leaving for the Colonies."

Following was the address of a house in a smart suburb, and the time when the furniture could be inspected by prospective buyers. George," the girl whispered, as she lay down the newspaper, "it seems just grand—too good to be true. You're a perfect genius at picking things out. Oh, I do want ot see it. Can't we go now?"

George saw no reason why they should not go, and as the hour was convenient according to the advertisement, the young couple decided to start off at once. In a few minutes the maid was whistling for a taxi. They jumped in:

"Fifty, Acacia avenue. Quick," cried George.

The house proved to be all that the couple had expected. It was semi-detached and well built, and the road was quiet and select with trees on both sides. George ran up the stairs, the girl following eagerly behind. They were ushered by a smart servant girl into a well appointed drawing room. When they had been seated there a little while and had admired the furniture, a grave face, middle-aged man appeared.

He spoke very quietly. Evidently he felt his position. He bore the stamp of a business man who has had reverses. The young couple not help noticing that he was not over eager to effect a quick sale. They had also noticed that the furniture was good and nothing wanting.

"We will go over the house," he said alomst in a whisper.

"Is there anybody ill?" the girl inquired, catching the man's rather strained gaze.

"My wife," he answered. "I suppose it is to be expected. The crash came like a bomb. I thought everything was sailing smoothly. I supose you heard about the failure of the Bubble Rubber company. That did it. I had invested practically every penny. Now I must realize. We are going abroad to try and start afresh. It's a big wrench parting with my goods, but it can't be helped."

The young couple followed him silently. They were really sorry for the moment that they come. They felt just a little bit wicked in taking advantage of the man's downfall. But somebody would get the bargain, and they supposed that they had as good a right to it as anybody else.

They inspected the dining room, the hall, the kitchen and sink room, and went into raptures over everything; then the man led the young couple upstairs to show them the bedrooms, all except one where his wife lay. Another room he used as a study. George fell in love with it at once. There was a magnificent desk, and easy chairs, and a typewriter, and a novel sort of pipe rack.

"Perfectly sweet," the girl muttered "Just the very things dear, for your little den." And George agreed. Then the three tip-toed downstairs again to the little drawing room, where the maid had set a little refreshment. The tenant invited his visitors to partake of it whilst he ran upstairs to see his wife. No sooner was he out of the room than the couple were in each other's arms.

"It's lovely," said the girl, her face beaming.

"It's grand. The very thing," said George, returning the kiss. "I wonder what he wants."

"Well, we can't beat him down, dear. The things are practically new. Not a mark or stain on them, and the poor man is in such a predicament."

"Business is business, you know, darling," put in George, with a little show of superior knowledge and experience. "I must do the best for ourselves."

"Certainly, dear, but you know the prices of things and I am sure we couldn't do anything near as well at a furniture dealer's."

George shrugged his shoulders. "I don't suppose we could. But it isn't our fault that he's had bad luck."

"I know, dear, but do be fair with the man. Don't try to take advantage of him, will you? He is suffering a great deal; anybody can see. And his wife, poor thing." There was a tap at the door, and the owner returned, looking flushed and excited. His wife was a little worse, he said.

"Perhaps you would rather we did not discuss terms now?" said George, sympathetically.

"Oh, that's all right, thanks. I suppose we might as well get it over if you are thinking of buying."

And so the three got to business. In half an hour the deal was done. The furniture was bought. George proudly took out his check book and paid something on account, his sweetheart looking on with a radiant face and feeling tempted for the moment to bless the bad luck which had brought them the goods.

The man bade them good night, and went upstairs. His wife met him on the landing. She looked the picture of health, and she was laughing heartily.

"I heard you," she said. "You're a marvel at telling the tale! Come and give me a kiss."

"I suppose if a furniture dealer can't sell the things quickly in his store he's justified in selling them at home. I've got more for this lot than ever I'd have got at my warehouse."

"It's your face, Jack. You look as sad as a wet Saturday night." He poured something out of a decanter and raised the glass.

"Here's luck to the next houseful," he said.

SOME SLEEP OUT OF DOORS

Anti-Tuberculosis Squad in Duluth Is Small But Determined.

Entire Body Covered Except the Nose, and That Is Greased.

How would you like to sleep outdoors these cold nights?

Impossible? Not at all. At least a half dozen people in Duluth have not slept indoors a night this winter.

They are some of the tuberculosis patients under the care of Mrs. Florence Lee, visiting nurse of the anti-tuberculosis society, and she stands sponsor for the statement that they have been out every single night all winter, cold weather and all.

Of course they have been well covered with heaps of clothes. Their faces and heads have been protected with specially made hoods. Everything but their noses have been covered, and the noses have been well-greased.

But nevertheless it has taken an unusual degree of courage to contemplate a nap outdoors with the weather such as it has been the last two weeks. It speaks for a determination to get well that knows no bounds and no discouragements. Any one who would brave a night outdoors with the mercury down at the bottom of the tube, even with piles of comforters and blankets, is entitled to the greatest credit which can be bestowed.

Speaking of the matter today Mrs. Lee stated that they had told her that they were more comfortable than the members of their families who slept indoors. She stated that this was not unlikely, as they were in constantly circulating fresh air, while that in the houses was likely to become "dead," as in a vault, with no windows or ventilators open.

These people battling for health naturally did not sleep in the snow. But they were outdoors, protected only by thin canvass and wood structures. Some are built in the yards of their homes, while others are attached to the porches of the residences.

GERMANY VOTING ON REICHSTAG MEMBERS.

Berlin, Jan. 12.—Voting throughout the empire for the election of members of the reichstag began at 10 o'clock this morning. The weather is clear but extremely cold. The conditions generally, however, are conducive to an active participation in the polling, and up to noon a heavy vote was generally reported.

In Berlin detachments of troops belonging to the garrison are held in readiness in all the barracks and special arrangements have been made for guarding the royal palaces. The precautions are mainly designed to cope with possible Socialist demonstrations in the streets tonight, after the announcement of first returns.

OFFER TO WED 250 WIDOWS

Yearning Bachelors' Letters Are Stacked and Burned By the City.

Santa Monica, Cal., Jan. 12.—A small room full of letters, each one containing some bachelor's yearning plea for a mate, were burned today by order of the mayor's advisory council of women. Thus ended the municipal matrimonial flurry which was started accidentally some weeks ago when it became known that there were 250 widows in this city who held the balance of power politically.

The story of the ascendancy of the widows here reached the ears of the Oatman Bachelors' club of Oatman, Ariz., which at once forwarded proposals to marry the entire 250. Lonely bachelors elsewhere hastened to enter their offers and finally letters began arriving by hundreds.

All the letters were stacked in a room and all destroyed without even having been brought to the notice of any mateless woman.

SERIOUS OUTBREAKS IN BRAZILIAN STATE.

Rio Janeiro, Brazil, Jan. 12.—The situation in the state of Bahia has become very serious. The federal government yesterday dispatched a warship to the city of Bahia, where fighting was reported to have taken place. Business is at a standstill and the people fear further disorders. The governor of the state today resigned.

The minister of marine, Admiral Marquess Leao, has resigned and will be succeeded by Admiral Belfort Viera.

SOCIALIST MILWAUKEE OFFICIALS ARE INDORSED.

Milwaukee, Wis., Jan. 12.—All elective officials of the city and county government were indorsed for re-election by the Social Democratic party at the referendum just closed. Mayor Emil Seidel, Comptroller Carl P. Dietz, and City Treasurer Charles B. Whitnall were indorsed unanimously.

BLOODHOUND LANDS ROBBER IN PRISON

Tracks Suspect Bringing About His Arrest and He Pleads Guilty.

Marquette, Mich., Jan. 12.—Because a dog hunted him down, James O'Brien of Mackinac island is a convict in Marquette prison, condemned by Circuit Judge Shepherd to spend five to fifteen years there, with a sentence of ten years recommended. A series of robberies having taken place, a bloodhound was procured and when put on the trail led the officers to the home of O'Brien. The man confessed and on arraignment in court entered a plea of guilty.

FARGO CONTRACTOR WILL BUILD HOTEL

V. P. McCoy Secures Contract for Erecting Thief River Hostelry.

Thief River Falls, Minn., Jan. 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—Julien Provencher, who will build a new hotel here opened bids for the work yesterday and awarded the contract to V. P. McCoy of Fargo for $35,000. The furnishings will bring the cost of the establishment up to $50,000.

Architect Gillispie of Fargo and many contractors were on hand to see the bids opened. The site for the hotel is on the best business corner in this city, convenient to the railway depots and to the business section of the town. This location cost a large sum of money and with the cost of the building and equipment will far exceed $50,000.

The hotel must be completed by Aug. 1. It will be constructed of cream colored brick, three stories high with full basement, having fifty-six rooms and be generously furnished with tile, marble and slate.

HAS 118 MEMBERS.

Brainerd Commercial Club Shown in Prosperous Condition.

Brainerd, Minn., Jan. 12.—(Special to The Herald.) — The Commercial club elected Carl Zapffe president; W. H. Gemmell, vice president; Ezra Smith, secretary, and F. A. Farrar, treasurer.

President Zapffe in his annual report stated that the progress made by the club had been very satisfactory from practically every standpoint. The membership is 118. It was decided to invite the new immigration commissioner, H. J. Maxfield, to attend the meeting Jan. 19, when Prof. Brown will address the farmers and others, the object being to create a sentiment and effect ways and means to establish a potato market here and erect a warehouse. An agricultural exhibit will be sent to the Northern Minnesota Development association at Minneapolis.

MOTHER AND HER CHILD FOUND DEAD

Gas Poisoning Presumed to Have Caused Double Tragedy in Minneapolis.

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 12.—Autopsies failed to clear the mystery surrounding the deaths of Mrs. Edith Phillips and her 4-months daughter, Grace whose bodies were found yesterday by J. R. Phillips, the husband and father, when he returned from his duties as a member of the Minneapolis fire force. When discovered, the child's body was on the bed, and that of the mother was kneeling beside the bed.

"Mrs. Phillips did not commit suicide, neither had she heart disease," said Coroner Gilbert Seashore, following the autopsy. Gas poisoning from a water heater may have caused death, but I am not sure."

Gas lights were burning when Phillips returned home and there was no trace of gas in the room, neither were there any marks on the bodies to indicate that death was due to external injuries.

Planned Duluth Vacation.

According to Phillips his wife seemed well when he left Thursday night and they had discussed plans for a party last evening. On the table was found a partly written letter to friends in Duluth in which she told of plans to visit that place shortly, when Phillips was to have a short vacation.

SUPERIOR MAY HEAR WILSON

Plans Afoot to Have New Jersey Governor Speak Across the Bay.

Milwaukee, Wis., Jan. 12.—Governor Judson Harmon of Ohio, will address a Democratic mass meeting in Plankinton hall at the Auditorium Monday night. A. A. Allen, his Wisconsin manager has completed the arrangements for the meeting and the reception to precede it. Governor Harmon will arrive Monday afternoon and hold an informal conference with local Democratic leaders.

From Milwaukee Governor Harmon will go to Fargo, N. D., where there will be a big Democratic rally on Jan. 17. William Jennings Bryan will be one of the speakers.

Governor Woodrow Wilson of New Jersey will be the guest of the Jefferson club on Feb. 16. There has been some talk of the club having a $1 dinner at the Auditorium, but this plan, it was said yesterday, might be changed and a meeting with Governor Wilson as the chief speaker be held instead. It is planned to have Governor Wilson speak in Oshkosh and Superior after he leaves Milwaukee.

WISCONSIN BOY BURNED.

Another Is Badly Frozen When Thrown From Burning Home.

Merrill, Wis., Jan. 12.—Glenn, the 18-month-old son of John Frawley, a Lincoln county farmer, was burned to death Thursday night. The father was in Tomahawk and the mother left the house to assist an older son attend to the evening chores about the farm. Returning to the house, they found it in flames and were unable to save the child.

Discovering their home in flames, Mrs. John Mondick, also of Lincoln county, attempted to rescue her 4-year-old son by throwing him out of the window into the snow. When the child was taken from the snow it was discovered that he was barefooted and before he could be taken to a place of safety, both feet were frozen.

MAY BE "KID" HORN.

Alleged Minneapolis Diamond Thief May Be Famous Crook.

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan 12.—That "W. W. Wells," arrested in connection with the theft of $8,000 worth of diamonds from the firm of White & McNaughton, Dec. 22, is believed to be "Kid" Horn, a professional jewelry thief, is the statement made by County Attorney James Robertson. Wells recently was bound over under $15,000 bonds, which was not furnished.

It is said that in 1907, Horn with two accomplices, committed a diamond robbery in San Francisco, and that the three men also have operated in Denver, Salt Lake City, Seattle, Portland and Galveston. The arrest of Wells' confederate, who escaped following the local robbery, according to the police, will be made within a short time.

What Winter Does to Woman's Beauty

("Parisienne" in Woman's Journal.)

"Wind and cold weather roughen, redden and chap the skin. The best protection is a home preparation made by dissolving a small original package of mayatone in half a pint of witch hazel. Apply to face, neck and arms. It will not rub off or show, like powder, and it makes the skin soft, smooth and satiny.

"If you now have chaps or cold sores, apply Mother's Salve before retiring. It is antiseptic and healing and is a splendid remedy for pimples, eczema, sores and all skin afflictions.

"Dry shampooing is preferred to washing the head, because all wet shampoos make the hair dry, brittle and colorless. To make a dry shampoo put a cupful of corn meal in a fruit jar, add the contents of an original package of therox and shake together well. Sprinkle a spoonful on the head and brush through the hair, and the scalp and hair will be clean and sweet. It leaves the hair light, fluffy and beautifully lustrous."

A Resolution for Thin-Blooded People

Thin-blooded people do not remain so from choice but from indifference, in some cases from despair. People who are pale, languid, with slight palpitation of the heart, some difficulty in breathing and a tendency to fatigue are suffering from thin blood. They need only the resolution to take the right treatment and stick to it until cured. The remedy that can be relied upon is Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. With every dose they make new blood and new blood means health and strength. They stop further progress of the disease and their success as a blood-builder can be plainly seen after a short trial. The red cheeks, good appetite, increased weight and strength, cheerful disposition, and relief from the symptoms, all declare the general improvement in the health. It is pure blood now that is traveling everywhere through the body and the benefit goes on until health is restored.

Mr. William A. Newman, of Sagrada, Camden county, Mo., suffered from thin and disordered blood as a result of an attack of the grip. He says: "My head ached-continually and was filled with hissing and roaring sounds that were fearfully annoying. My heart fluttered and had regular running-away spells. My stomach was so sore that I could hardly bear a touch on that part of my body. I had a great deal of pain in the region of my liver and the doctor said that organ was enlarged. My head and my back ached dreadfully, but hard as it was to stand it I wouldn't give up entirely. I dragged myself about, kept growing worse and finally ran down to almost nothing. First I tried a doctor, but he did me no good. Then I took all kinds of advertised preparations but nothing proved helpful until I began to use Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. As soon as I got them I knew that I had at last hit upon the right remedy for my case. The very first box did more for me than anything else I had ever taken. I wish I had heard of them long before for they would have saved me money and suffering. They gave me relief right away and in three months they positively cured me."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People are the blood's greatest aid in overcoming rheumatism, anaemia, chlorosis, headaches and after-effects of the grip and fevers.

A valuable booklet, "Diseases of the Blood," containing helpful information will be sent upon request.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists, or will be sent, postpaid, on receipt of price, 50 cents per box; six boxes $2.50, by the Dr. Williams Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y.

ON THE IRON RANGES

HEALY TORN TO PIECES

Only Fragments of Victim of Wilpin Powder Explosion Recovered.

Winter, Other Victim, Was Hurled Ninety Rods By Force of Explosion.

Hibbing, Minn., Jan. 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—Deputy Coroner Pengilly has decided an inquest unnecessary in the case of James Healy, the well-known Hibbing man, and Charles Winter of Columbus, Kan., who were killed by the explosion of the glaze mill of the Dupont powder plant at Wilpin, about five or six miles from here, yesterday morning.

Fragments of Healy's body, which was badly torn by the explosion, were brought here. The body of Winter, which was not so badly torn, only one arm being torn off, was also brought here awaiting advices from relatives. It is supposed Healy was inside the mill and Winter outside when the explosion occurred. Winter's body was hurled about ninety rods from the mill.

Planned Buying Sister Present.

It is said that Winter planned to come to town yesterday afternoon to buy a wedding present for a sister who was recently married. He was 24 years old and had charge of the mill, having worked in powder plants all his life. His father was killed in a powder mill explosion at Wheelsville, Kan., several years ago.

Mrs. Healy, who only a few months ago was married to one of the victims, came to Hibbing yesterday afternoon and is heartbroken over the tragic affair. As the glaze mill was one of the important units of the powder plant, being used in the finishing process, the plant will probably have to close down for a couple of months until a new mill can be built. The plant employs about thirty-five men, and had been in operation since last November.

SEEK RECOGNITION FOR BARNEY RILEY

National Ski Officers to Be Asked to Explain Matters at Virginia.

Virginia, Minn., Jan. 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—Dr. G. H. Mason of Superior, president of the National Ski association; Nick A. Nelson of Stillwater, vice president, and H. H. Bergen of Duluth, treasurer, are expected this afternoon to confer with officers of the Virginia ski club regarding the inter-state tournament to be held here Sunday. One of the matters to be taken up with the national officials is why Barney Riley, who for three years in succession won the national amateur championship and was acknowledged to be champion by the national association, winning the Nor trophy, valued at $300 three years in succession, never saw it, in fact never received any recognition of his championship. Riley has entered the professional class and is a member of the local ski club, but he would like to have the trophy business cleared up.

The present indications are that there will be participants in the tournament here Sunday from all over the Middle West.

SENDS FALSE ALARM FROM BOX NO. 23

Hibbing Fire Chief Seeking Fiend Who Fools Department.

Hibbing, Minn., Jan. 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—Fire Chief McIlhargey hopes to establish the identity of the fiend who is turning in false fire alarms. At 2 o'clock yesterday morning, with the thermometer 40 deg. below zero, the department was called out to answer a false alarm, turned in from box 23 at Second and Railroad street.

On another occasion recently the department was called a distance of a mile from the center of the city on a false alarm and for over an hour the business portion of the town was without fire protection. McIlhargey has offered a reward of $25 for evidence that will lead to the arrest and conviction of the guilty parties.

CASCARETS FOR A SICK, SOUR STOMACH

Gently but thoroughly cleanse and regulate your Stomach, Liver and Bowels while you sleep.

That awful sourness, belching of acid and foul gases; that pain in the pit of the stomach, the heartburn, nervousness, nausea, bloating after eating, feeling of fullness, dizziness and sick headache, means indigestion; a disordered stomach, which cannot be regulated until you remove the cause. It isn't your stomach's fault. Your stomach is as good as any.

Try Cascarets; they cure indigestion, because they immediately cleanse and regulate the stomach, remove the sour, undigested and fermenting food and foul gases; take the excess bile from the liver and carry off the decomposed waste matter and poison from the intestines and bowels. Then your stomach trouble is ended forever. A Cascaret tonight will straighten you out by morning—a 10-cent box from any drug store will keep your entire family feeling good for months. Don't forget the children—their little insides need a good, gentle cleansing, too.

DRAWS WEAPON UPON POLICE

Chisholm Man, Accused of Ill-Treating Horses, Fights Arrest Unsuccessfully.

Chisholm, Minn., Jan. 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—Dan Kanazerich was haled before Judge Masters yesterday for overdriving a horse and exposing it to the cold weather. He was fined $90 or ninety days in the county jail at Duluth. The arrest was made by the Meyers location police and Kanazerich sought to defend himself against the interference of the police by displaying a revolver and threatened to shoot if they approached him. He failed to raise the money to pay the fine and was taken to Duluth, together with two drunks who have been before the court at intervals of twice each week since the holidays.

FATALLY HURT NEAR MIZPAH

Phil Baker Killed By Cross Beams of Logging Sleigh.

Mizpah, Minn., Jan. 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—Phil Baker, 22 years of age, was fatally injured while in the employ of the T. M. Partridge Lumber company at camp 2, ten miles east of here.

The heavy cross beams of the logging sleigh of which he had charge swung out for end and it was between these that he became caught, sustaining internal injuries. He was hurried to Mizpah where a physician found he could not survive. He died several hours later. It is said his parents and brothers live in Austria, and a sister in San Francisco, Cal.

TO PLAT TOWN IN FAR NORTH

Minnesota Men Interested in Booming Scheme in Canadian Northwest.

Eveleth, Minn., Jan. 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—Otto Haenke, a former Evelethian, left last evening for Edmonton, Alba., whence he will continue 520 miles into the wilds of Canada to plat a townsite to be known as Fort McMurray, in the center of a good agricultural district and oil fields. B. Hayes, also of Duluth, is interested in the new district and will make a trip to the land which is yet to be tapped by the railroads. J. J. Breen of Hibbing, and Montreal capitalists are also interested.

VISIT EXPERIMENT FARM.

Carlton County Farmers Inspect Grand Rapids Institution.

Grand Rapids, Minn., Jan. 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—In order to get pointers on creameries a delegation of Carlton county farmers living near Cloquet, accompanied by Supt. Peter Oleson of the Cloquet schools and Editor Vibert of the Cloquet Pine Knot were here this week inspecting the Northwest experiment farm and consulting Director McGuire.

The party was taken to the Itasca Co-operative creamery where Buttermaker Mokler showed them through the building, which is considered one of the most modernly equipped in the state. They were showed all the steps necessary in the making of butter.

In the evening they were guests of the Grand Rapids Commercial club and in honor of their visit a banquet was served in the large dining room of the Pokegama hotel. Speeches were made by Supt. McGuire, E. C. Kiley, Judge Stanton of Bemidji; O. J. Niles, Prof Olson, Cloquet; A. L. La Frenlere, L. M. Bolter, F. B. Vibert, and Former Senator McCarthy.

The party left for Floodwood, where they inspected G. G. Hartley's Island farm this afternoon.

CHURCH'S BUSY YEAR.

Annual Report Made of Virginia Norwegian Lutheran Church.

Virginia, Minn., Jan. 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—At the business meeting of the Norwegian Lutheran congregation, of which Rev. J. I. Fadum is pastor, his annual report showed that he conducted 194 services during 1911, baptized 65, confirmed, 30, gave communion to 60, married 19 couples, buried 12 people, added 19 members to the church.

Andrew Nelson was elected secretary; P. A. Gimsey, treasurer; A. Larsen, A. Nyland, L. Abrahamson, deacons; P. A. Gimse, S. Dahl, J. Sattrum trustees; Agnes Hovland, organist; Otto Brandsag, janitor, and twelve teachers were named.

At the annual meeting of the Ladies' aid of the church Mrs. Andrew Grande was elected president; Mrs. P. A. Gimse, vice president; Mrs. Carrie Gimse, secretary; Mrs. S. Dahl, treasurer. The income for the year was $460.60, the balance from the previous year was $233.03, making the total receipts $693.63, the expenses being $569.99, leaving a balance on hand of $124.89. Nine new members were added to the organization. Mrs. Fred Braa and Mrs. P. Berg entertained the society at this meeting.

MOUNTAIN IRON NIGHT SCHOOL OPEN.

Mountain Iron, Minn., Jan. 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—The night school for foreigners opened here Wednesday night with an enrollment of fifty-eight. It is expected that many more will enter during the next few days. The sessions are held on Monday, Wednesday and Friday evenings from 7:30 to 9:30. Reading, writing, spelling and arithmetic are the principal subjects that will be taught. In order to create interest in the work and to keep up the percentage of attendance a charge of $1 is made for the entire course which will cover a period of three months.

CITY MEMBERSHIP IS NOT DESIRED

Northwestern Coal Dealers' Association Declines Two Harbors Offer.

Two Harbors, Minn., Jan. 12.—Special to The Herald.)—At the last regular meeting of the city council a communication was received from H. L. Laird, secretary of the Northwestern Coal Dealers' association, returning the city order and check for $5, as he claimed the legal department of the Coal Dealers' association had advised against the accepting of the membership of the city.

The city, however, has awarded a contract for suitable coal sheds which have been constructed along the Duluth & Iron Range tracks east of the depot and general office building, and arrangements have been made for handling the coal and making delivery to the consumer. A number of orders have been received at the office of city clerk, but as yet no coal has been delivered, owing to the fact that no coal has been received by the city.

Mayor Uses Veto.

The mayor vetoed two resolutions authorizing that repairs be made on the south boiler at the water and light plant. The contract had been awarded to the Gogebic Boiler Works of Duluth. The Gogebic works had agreed to make the repairs for $260. This did not include the cost of taking down the boiler, loading and freight charges to and from Duluth, which would make the sum considerably greater. No attempt was made to pass the resolutions over the mayor's veto. The question arose as to the advisability of purchasing a new boiler and the matter was referred to the water and light committee to report at the adjourned meeting held Wednesday evening. The committee on water and light presented report recommending that the city purchase one cylindrical Scotch marine boiler, according to specifications prepared by the chief engineer of the water and light plant, capable of developing 210-horse power, to carry 200 pounds pressure, bids to be received at 8 o'clock p. m. Thursday, Jan. 25, and each bidder to have the privilege of submitting one bid on some other kind of boiler, if he so desires.

The following is the program: Setting up exercises, indoor baseball game, medicine ball relays, man to man, overhead and rolling; tug of war, mat work, rollover, double rollover and elephant walk; recreation varied, three deep, medicine ball, pommelling, volley ball game, pyramids, Y. M. C. A. state relay race.

Thirty-three boys will take part. The officers of the evening will be: Fire marshal, Edgar Conliff; public safety, Walter F. Peterson; ticket sellers, Al Hunter; ticket collectors, Elwin Strand and Roy Buushley. Now that the holidays are over, preliminary hand ball tournament will be played off more rapidly.

The men's meeting next Sunday at 4 o'clock will be addressed by Q. A. Scott. Last Sunday Judge Tracy gave a good clear review of the trial of Jesus from a lawyer's standpoint.

CLIMBS 125 FEET TO TOP OF TANK

Gilbert Electrician Braves Death to Fix Defect in Water Tank.

Gilbert, Minn., Jan. 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—The water pipes leading from the tank to the Gilbert location broke Wednesday but it was speedily repaired. During the low water the float in the tank became disarranged. Milton Hasking electrician at the Genoa mine climbed 125 feet to the top of the tank, a rather perilous feat in this wintry weather and released the float so that it again works the indicator on the outside of the tank.

CHISHOLM WOMAN HOSTESS AT BRIDGE.

Chisholm, Minn., Jan. 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mrs. G. L. Train entertained the 500 club at the home of her sister, Mrs. Chase, Thursday afternoon, at which seven tables participated. The rooms were tastily decorated with poinsettias and a four-course luncheon was served.

Mrs. Clarence Taylor won head prize, a set of sterling silver scissors in a case; Mrs. Thomas Howeson won second honors, a pearl handle manicure set; Mrs. Tetzlaff captured the consolation prize, a jewel box.

To Develop the Bust

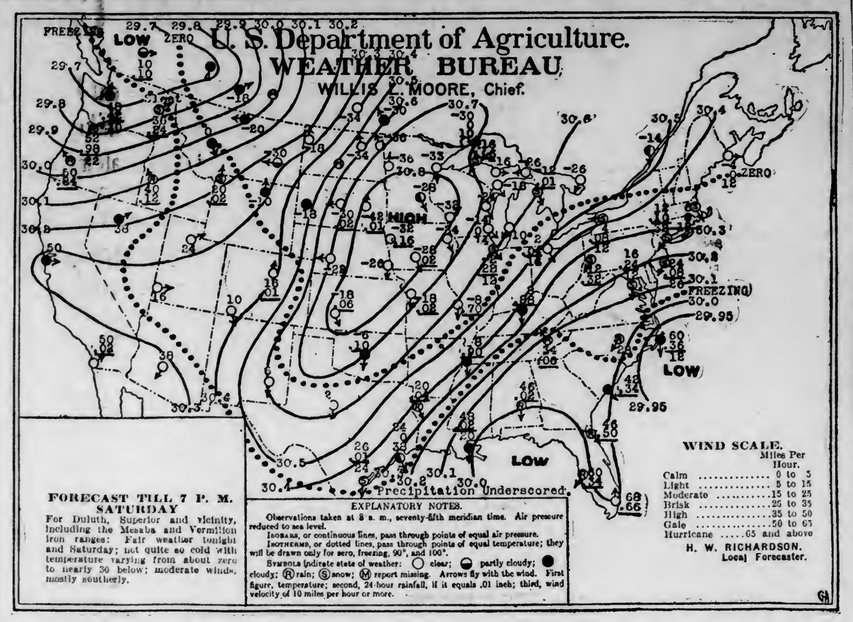

To Beauty Editor: I am so ashamed of my thin bust that I want to ask you if there is any harmless way to develop it. My hips and the rest of my body are right for the present styles and I do not want them any larger, but my bust is so flat that I would try anything that gave hope of even three or four more inches development.

MARY S.

The only thing I know of that will develop the bust without increasing the size of the hips or without putting on flesh where not needed, is a prescription put up by The Dr. Kelly Co., especially for small and undeveloped breasts. It is the discovery of a woman physician whose practice was largely among her own sex and in most cases increases the bust measure four to six inches in a month. Send 10c to the Dr. Kelly Co., Dept. 445 A. C., Buffalo, N. Y., and they will send you a trial package of the treatment without charge. This is said to be of great value in cases of arrested development of the bust and will give a full, beautiful form without anyone knowing that the treatment was used.

Many mothers have told me that after the baby had been weaned, the breasts became flabby and shrunken, but the use of Dr. Kelly's prescription made them full and firm. Do not use pads or bust forms as they never look natural and have a bad effect upon the general health. Neither would I recommend ordinary flesh builders or tonics, as they increase the hips and limbs and with the present styles the form should be slender everywhere except a generously developed bust.

H. W. RICHARDSON, Local Forecaster.

CONTINUED COLD

Cheer up! The worst is over. The weather man says that the mercury will not go below zero tonight. For small favors, let us be thankful. Seriously, there are some slight signs of a break in the Northwest and if another cold wave does not sweep down, the mercury may go above zero tomorrow.

Raw, cold weather prevailed a year ago today.

The sun rose this morning at 7:52 and it will set at 4:12 this evening, giving eight hours and fifty minutes of sunlight.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"Very low temperatures continued Thursday and last night throughout Canada and the Northwestern states. The southern limit of zero weather included Northern Texas this morning. The low pressure condition over British Columbia is causing moderating temperature over the extreme Northwest and upper Rocky Mountain region, the influence of which will probably extend over the Head of the Lakes by Saturday. During Saturday the temperature here may rise to zero or slightly above. During the last twenty-four hours snow or rain fell over Central, Southern and Eastern states and the extreme Northwest in connection with disturbances centered off the Virginia coast and over British Columbia."

General Forecasts.

Chicago, Jan. 12.—Forecasts for twenty-four hours ending at 7. p. m. Saturday:

Upper Michigan—Fair tonight and Saturday; continued low temperature tonight; rising temperature Saturday.

Wisconsin—Fair tonight and Saturday; slowly rising temperature Saturday and in extreme west portion tonight.

WILL CELEBRATE SCHOOL OPENING

Eveleth to Observe Opening of New $60,000 Fayal School Building.

Eveleth, Minn., Jan. 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—The opening of the new $60,000 Fayal school, constructed by Contractor John Donlin of Superior, Wis., will be celebrated the latter part of this month.

The pupils of the Fayal district, who have been hampered to some extent in their studies by the burning of the old Fayal school, will enter the new school next month.

Building Contains Ten Rooms.

The new building contains ten rooms for primary grades, is of yellow brick, two stories high and the large basement provides for a large gymnasium and domestic science and manual training departments, which were not to be found in the old Fayal school.

It is very likely voters of School District No. 39 will be called on to vote on the bonding of the district for $60,000 for the erection of the new Adams school, next month, the date to be set by the school board. Plans for the building have been drawn by Duluth architects.

TWO EVELETH FUNERALS.

Last Rites Conducted Thursday for Two Children.

Eveleth, Minn., Jan. 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—The funeral of Hilma, the 4-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. Heonen of Iron Junction, who died from diphtheria, was held yesterday afternoon from the Finnish Lutheran Concordia church. Rev. Peter Keranen officiating. Interment was made at Virginia.

Hubert, the 4-months-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Hines, of the Adams location, who died recently after a two months' illness with penumonia, was buried yesterday afternoon from the Finnish Lutheran church, Rev. P Keranen officiating, interment following at Virginia.

GAIN IN PUPILS

Virginia, Minn., Jan. 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—The enrollment of the public schools, according to Supt. Lafayette Bliss, is about 25 per cent larger than two years ago, the figures for 1909 being 1917, compared with 2,466 now. There are 125 pupils in the manual training department and 268 enrolled in the night school.

Acting upon the recommendation of Supt. Bliss, the school board decided to purchase a dozen pictures from the Beard selection at a cost of $285, for various departments of the schools. The teachers and pupils of the schools have thus far expended about $600 in supplying the schools with attractive pictures. The board also decided to have an American flag in every school room in the district.

CHISHOLM BANK MEETS.

First National and Miners Both Make Healthy Showings.

Chisholm, Minn., Jan. 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—Both the First National and the Miners' bank of this village, which have just held their annual meetings, made good showings for the past year. The First National declared a dividend of 20 per cent. In addition to that $6,500 was added to the bank's surplus, bringing it up to $25,000, and capital and surplus $50,000. The newly-elected officers are: Gustav Carlson, president; C. A. Monroe, vice president; G. L. Train, cashier; directors, Gustav Carlson, C. A. Monroe, Thomas York, G. L. Train, J. H. McNiven, J. J. Hayes and Edward Freeman.

The Miners' State bank also reported an encouraging year. The new officers are: President, S. R. Kirby; vice president, J. A. Redfern; cashier, W. M Pratt, assistant cashier, Frank Gouze; directors, J. A. Redfern, S. R. Kirby and W. M. Pratt.

PETIT STEEL SHAFT HOUSE IS FINISHED

Gilbert People Expect Much Work There in Mining Way.

Gilbert, Minn., Jan. 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—The new steel shaft house at the Petit mine has been completed, the shaft deepened and the pocket at the station cut.

There is a probability that a force of men will be started to work opening up the new level As the old boiler and engine house has been removed will make it possible to cover a large amount of virgin ground heretofore unavailable This, together with the probability that the Gilbert mine will also resume work has caused the business people of Gilbert to take a more optimistic view of things in general.

COLD DELAYS CAMPAIGN

Candidates Rallying Forces for Work When Weather Modorates.

Frank Makowski's Friends Not Worrying Over Result in Second Ward.

Candidates for city offices will welcome a break in the cold snap. It is almost impossible to do effective campaign work while the mercury is around the 30-below mark. Voters are more interested in the consumption of coal than in political issues.

The candidates are gathering their forces for aggressive work as soon as the weather moderates. No office is going by default in Duluth this year. Every man who is out for office intends to try to land the place. There are Democratic and Republican candidates for all officers except that of alderman in the First ward, where no Democrat is running. The Socialists have candidates for mayor and for alderman in all wards, so there is a contest for every office.

The contests in some of the wards promise to be interesting, while in others favored candidates appear to be certain of election. The Socialists are predicting success in one or two wards. They will poll a heavy vote all through the city, but the election of any of their candidates is regarded as improbable.

A determined assault is being made on Alderman Frank Makowski, who is a candidate on the Democratic ticket for re-election in the Second ward. Mr. Makowski and his friends are not worrying, for he has an excellent record in the council and is personally popular among the voters.

Although Mr. Makowski was born in Germany, he has lived in Duluth practically all his life, for his family came here when he was less than 2 years old. He has a wide circle of friends among the young voters of the ward and commands the admiration of the older men who have known him since he was a boy.

The fact that a site for a fire hall was purchased on the hillside in the Second ward was largely due to Mr. Makowski's efforts. The building will be erected this year and adequate protection will be given a fast-growing residence district. Mr. Makowski was also an enthusiastic and constant worker for the street railway extension north on Seventh avenue east and east on Ninth street to Chester park. Plans have been made for the extension and it is expected that the rails will be laid this year.

With a record of achievements behind him during his one term, Mr. Makowski is a candidate for another term. His friends believe he is entitled to it and they are calling on the voters to support him. The opposition does not seem to be making great headway and Mr. Makowski's friends are confident of his return to the council.

SOO SECTION HAND KILLED BY TRAIN

Was Walking Along Track With His Son, Who Escaped.

Loma, N. D., Jan. 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—While inspecting the Soo track near here, George Brown, section foreman for twenty years, and his son Warren, were run down by a freight train, the elder man being killed, while the other escaped.

They failed to notice the approach of the train until it was within a few yards, and when the boy called to his father the latter turned to see what was wrong, and before he could get clear had been caught on the pilot and given internal injuries from which he died.

Minot to Entertain Builders.

Minot, N. D., Jan. 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—The annual convention of the North Dakota Builders and Traders Exchange will be held here Jan. 22. About 100 delegates are expected. Many topics relative to the building trade will be discussed and much important business transacted.

MORE DEATHS THAN CASES

Health Department Report on Tuberculosis Makes Paradoxical Statement.

Many Cases of the Disease Never Reported By Attending Physicians.

Vital statistics of the health department for 1911 contain the seemingly impossible statement that, although only 138 cases of tuberculosis were reported to the health department during the year, there were 140 deaths.

This is explained by the statement of Dr. Murphy that instead of 138 cases being reported there should have been probably 500, indicating that but a small part of the number afflicted with the disease are reported to the authorities.

The number of deaths from the white plague shows the ravages of the dreaded disease in Duluth. On a basis of 80,000 population, Duluth had 1.75 die of consumption for every 1,000. The figures stand like a death's head in the mortality statement.

The complete statement all deaths in the city for the last year have not been completed, but those relative to the diseases which should be reported to the health department have been furnished. They pertain to contagious diseases. Out of 104 cases of chicken pox reported, there was but one death. Out of 232 cases of scarlet fever, there were five deaths. Lobar pneumonia was fatal in fifty-six cases out of seventy-one reported. The city had ninety-seven cases of small pox, but none of them resulted in death. There were fourteen deaths out of 140 cases of diphtheria. But one death resulted from 350 cases of measles while whooping cough was responsible for one death out of twenty-one reported. There were no cases of rabies, leprosy, tetanus or human glanders.

The list as prepared by the health department, is as follows:

	Cases Reported.	Died.
Anterior poliomyolitis	9	2
Cerebo spinal meningitis	2	1
Chicken pox	104	1
Diphtheria	140	14
Erysipelas	32	1
Glanders (human)	0	0
Measles	350	1

INSURANCE BY FARMERS

Great Growth of Township Mutual Companies in Minnesota.

Average Rate Paid in Premiums Is 18 Cents Per $100.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—J. A. O. Preus, state insurance commissioner, at the meeting of farmers' mutual insurance companies here, said:

"I believe farmers' mutual insurance companies were first organized in Minnesota in 1874. In that year there was in force $923,678 of insurance. On Dec. 31, 1910, there was in force in this state $274,093,046. Insurance in force in township mutual companies had, in thirty-two years, increased from less than $1,000,000 to the enormous figure of over $274,000,000.

"In 1909 the insurance in force among your companies, in this state, was $254,018,393. The amount in force in 1910 shows an increase of, approximately $20,000,000. I only regret that I cannot, as yet, give you the figures for 1911.

"All other fire insurance companies, including stock, mutuals and Lloyds, had in force on Dec. 31, 1910, $970,354,810.87. The township mutuals, then, carry over 22 per cent of the fire insurance in force in the state of Minnesota as of today. There are 149 township mutuals now doing business in Minnesota, and they had combined assests on Dec. 31, 1910 of $383,350.86.

"There are two essentials in which one carrying insurance is interested. First, the rate which he has to pay, and, secondly, the probability of a claim being paid in case of loss.

Much Lower Rates.

"In 1910 the joint stock companies charged an average rate of $1.32 per $100, basing such rate upon the total business written in the state of Minnesota. The average rate of the farmers' township mutuals for 1910, was, however, approximately, 18 cents. Of course no stock company writes only farm risks, and it is not fair to compare their rates with your rates, for the reason that the bulk of their business is written in cities and villages, and upon various lines not covered by your policies, where the hazard is far greater than in rural districts. I dare say, however, that if any one of you would insure your property in a stock company you would pay several times 18 cents per $100 in premiums.

"This tremendous differential, however, is not due entirely to the fact that you insure farm risks only. It is also because you eliminate an element which other companies cannot so successfully expell, towit: moral hazard. In your companies you scrutinize with care into a man's character and standing before you admit him as a member of your company, and it is pretty hard for any one engaged in the arson business to get insurance with your companies.

"It is frequently estimated that 50 per cent of our fires are due either to incendiarism or criminal carelessness. If you can reduce this hazard to an infinitesimal figure, naturally it has a tremendous bearing on your rates.

Expenses Kept Down.

"The second reason why your rates are low is the fact that you are able to keep your expenses down to an exceedingly low figure. Your expenses, I understand, average approximately, 5 per cent of the cost of insurance. On the other hand, the expense ratio of stock companies compared with the premiums earned is in the neighborhood of 44 per cent.

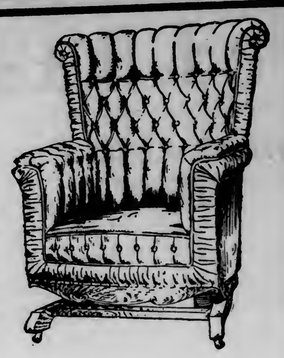

"The second proposition in which the insured is interested is, as I stated before, that the loss shall be paid when it occurs. During the past year I cannot recall that a solitary complaint has been made to the insurance department that one of your companies refused to pay a loss.

"There are very few complaints, indeed, in regard to the failure of any class of fire insurance companies to pay their losses in the state of Minnesota, but in regard to farmers' mutual companies it seems impossible to find even an example of where quibble or delay has caused a policyholder to make a complaint. In addition, I have not been able to discover that a township mutual company has ever failed."

HUDDLING AROUND THE STOVE FOR WINTER SPORT

The Future of Wrestling in Duluth---The Bonspiel Promises to Be Best Ever Held Here--- The Annual Outlaw Baseball Talk Starts.

(BY BRUCE.)

SAVE aftermath of the wrestling match may be pertinent for three long years the game has been kept clean and clear of incidents or accidents that would hurt it. Give the public a run for its money and it will generally appreciate an athletic offering. This is what has been the aim of the promoters here. Wednesday a man who has been getting his bread and butter from the public, quit with deliberate intention, so it would seem, and for the time being the game has its eye colored in black.

The Pilakoff case is one where the promoters, as well as the public, get the worst of it. They are blamed for the occurrence. Pilakoff was begged by the promoters to come back in the ring and wrestle but he refused. Ordemann, for the sake of the game at which he makes his living, agreed to wrestle the third fall out, even though under the rules of the game he was clearly entitled to the fall. The Finnish wrestler refused and, well, there you are.

It is a case where the promoters have to suffer for the acts of a wrestler who scorns without any degree of appreciation. Ordemann is a striking contrast to some professional athletes. The big Minneapolis boy did his best to smooth over the action of his opponent, remaining in the ring for five minutes after he had been given the decision. It was of no use, however, for Pilakoff would not come back.

Wrestling is a good game when it is properly conducted. In this city there has been no suspicion of any crookedness. The game may survive Wednesday night's fiasco, depending upon whether the public is willing to believe that the promoters are in no wise to blame.

Ordemann has showed the fans here that he is a man and a fine, square chap all the way through. The big Finnish may be brought here later on to go against some of the great stars of the wrestling game. Henry is personally liked in Duluth. He increased his admirers by his actions the other night. If there is any wrestler who can make up for the shortcomings of the last match, the big Norseman is the man.

DO you realize that the North Western league will start next Monday? What promises to be the biggest 'spiel held in the Northwest in years is about to open. Duluth annually opens the arena to the curlers. These devotees of the ancient Scotch game are genial, jolly and whole souled. They make the week of the bonspiel one that is remembered long after its departure down the lake. They come from the north, east and west of us, these curlers, and they bring with them a spirit that has made each year a sort of holiday week of the bonspiel.

This season the 'spiel promises to far eclipse other 'spiels of the past. There promise to be more and better rinks than last year, and the 'spiel of last season was one of the most successful ever held here. The officials of the Northwestern Curling association have worked unflingly for the success of the bonspiel that is to open Monday and their efforts promise to be rewarded. It is here that the good people of Duluth unite with the officials of the curling association and by their interest assist in making the week one that will be remarked upon by the visiting curlers.

The bonspiel that opens next week will probably be the last one ever held in the present quarters of the Duluth Curling club. Some great old games have been curled down in the old house. What will probably be the last 'spiel will also probably be the greatest 'spiel ever held in the present quarters of the club. To hold a great bonspiel reflects credit upon not only the home club but also upon the city entertaining the curlers. Winnipeg has made a reputation extending the length of North America through the medium of its great annual bonspiels. The reputation of Duluth as the home of the annual Northwestern bonspiel has also traveled far abroad. Duluth is preparing to add to its reputation the coming week. We are all but ready for our big mid winter holiday week.

KID REYNOLDS of St. Paul, a fighter who has met some of the best boys in the lightweight division, is in the city. The Apostle youth came down from Winnipeg for the purpose of getting on a battle with Pal Brown. The youngster looks the goods. In addition to his looks he has had some battles that mark him as a boy possessing class. He has had two fights with Jack Redmond of St. Paul, and Jack is one of the real tartars of the lightweight class. Reynolds has also a victory over Billy Lauder of Winnipeg, at one time the champion lightweight of Canada.

Reynolds is going to try to get on with Pal Brown before one of the Wisconsin fight clubs. As Brown is fighting better at the present time than ever before in his career, a meeting between the pride of Hibbing and the St. Paul fighter would give further line on the ability of the little Hibbing scrapper. Pal is progressing and it will not be long before he will be fighting the best boys of the 122 pound class. Reynolds' record shows him to be a tough and hardy customer.

A good boy to send against the chap that some are sanguine enough to believe will one day land near the goal of the championship.

WHILE the air is filled with the talk of baseball outlaws and leagues are springing up over the country at an alarming rate—on pale paper—there seems nothing as yet so definite as to alarm the guardians of the sacred interests of organized baseball. If the last few years can be taken as an example, the annual outlaw bugaboo is something like the recurring presidential boom of William Jennings Bryan.

If enough men and enough capital became entangled it might be possible to organize an outlaw league. But, gentle reader, you can see at a glance that it would require oodles of the filthy stuff to get the movement started nicely. Any player with a future in the big pastures whispering to him, will hesitate for some time before he will cast his lot with an outlaw league.

If the men behind the proposition could take said promising player into a quiet room and spread upon a table a pile of the green stuff, he might become an impressionist, a man of temperament and imagination, a visionary who could see success and glory in the new league.

While organized baseball is a grand institution and the game of baseball is the greatest sport in the world, there are some students of political economy and bolting scavengers who would like to see the experiment of a new league tried just to see for all time whether it could be made a success. If the thing failed its failure would probably put an end for some time to come, to this twaddle of the annual outlaw movement.

The baseball map of the United States has been divided upon practical lines. Every spot that shows promise has been grabbed. In the general run of misfortune of several conspiring circumstances, Duluth has been left out of the list of good baseball leagues. As far as baseball is concerned we are out in the cold. For that reason some of us here at the Head of the Lakes have a slight curiosity to see how a serious and well directed attempt to start an outlaw league upon firm foundation would work out.

BASEBALL NOTES

Manager O'Day has decided to drop Pitchers Raymond Boyd and Jack Compton. The last leader does not know how he could use them this season. Boyd will be returned to the Ottumwa club, while Compton, in all probability, will go to Montreal in the International league.

Harry Steinfeldt, former third baseman for the Reds, Cubs, and Boston Nationals, has written a letter to President Reis of the Houston club stating the amount of salary he would like for the management of that team, which has been offered him for the coming year. He says he will go to Houston if he gets a contract for the amount he asks. The position offered is that of manager, captain, and third baseman.

The ticket scalping industry looks better than ever now with its new coat of whitewash just administered by the national commission. Evidently the national commission did not read over its own report on the scalping scandal, for it contained several conflicting statements that look as if the report had been patched up in several places and the patches had not been well fitted.

The announcement from Philadelphia that Doolin will again lead the Phillies is no surprise. No one ever suspected there was any danger of the pennant being carried any further than words between President Fogel and his read-headed leader.

PENNANT HOPEFULS ARE AGAIN ON DECK

National League.

McGRAW—The Giants were the best team in 1911. We proved it after one of the hottest fights on record, and we will repeat it for good measure in 1912.

CHANCE—The Giants were mighty lucky. Our pitching will be better in 1912 and we will beat out the Giants. With good pitchers we would have won easily.

CLARKE—The injury to Hans Wagner beat us out of the pennants. With anything like an even break next season we will win another pennant beyond doubt.

CRAY—There is a lot in the Reds that will come out with the right kind of handling. I believe the team has a first rate chance to land first.

BRENNAHAN—The Cardinals proved to be the National league surprise last year and they will be a sensation in 1912. The winner must beat us, believe me.

DAHLEN—Brooklyn has just about reached a point in its development where it will demonstrate its real ability. Supporters will be content.

DOOIN—The Phillies will be the National league's representatives in the world series next year. We will play the championship off in Philadelphia.

WARD—As president of the Boston team, I believe we have a better club than most people believe. I am not claiming a pennant, but watch for a surprise.

American League.

MACK—The Athletics won in 1910 and 1911. Next year's team will be stronger than those of the last two seasons. Infer what you like.

JENNINGS—Detroit was second in 1911 despite poor pitching. I believe I have picked up the necessary pitching strength to land the team first.

DAVIS—The Naps finished third with a bunch of youngsters. Next year they will be better. I believe the improvement makes Cleveland a big factor.

CALLAHAN—Chicago just hit its gait when the season closed. The city series showed our possibilities. At this gait next year there's nothing to it.

WOLVERTON—New York is a strong team, and if the pitchers show their real form the highlanders will be the most troublesome team in the league.

GRIFFITH—I will give supporters of Washington a surprise. They'll forget the cry: "First in war, first in peace and last in the American league."

MALEER—Boston is too good a baseball town not to have the very best. The fans here want to be shown, and we intend to deliver the real goods.

WALLACE—The St. Louis Browns will not win the basement championship in 1912. Fans who expect them to occupy that place will be disappointed.

CAPT. PICKERING GETS TWO OFFERS

His Services as Coach Seem to Be in Much Demand.

Minneapolis, Jan. 12.—Captain Earl Pickering of the University of Minnesota's 1911 football team has been offered a position as football coach of the University of Vermont. It is said that Pickering also has been offered a coaching position at the University of Nebraska, but has not as yet accepted either position.

MURPHY IS NOT AT ALL DISTURBED

Says He Will Send Mordecai Brown Contract at Proper Time.

Chicago, Jan. 12.—President Charles W. Murphy of the Chicago Nationals arrived home yesterday from Panama and was surprised, but not perturbed, over the statement of Mordecai Brown that he was through with baseball. Brown made this assertion more than a week ago, but Murphy said he had heard nothing of it.

"It's a long time until the baseball season opens," said Murphy, "and we shall see whether Brown is on the job at the time. Ask him for a conference? Oh, no. Some time before Feb. 1, I'll send him a contract. If he signs it, all right."

Brown's old contract with the Chicago club has expired. He says he will go into business here.

Pal Moore Outpointed.

New York, Jan. 12.—Matty Baldwin of Boston, outpointed Pal Moore of Philadelphia in one of the cleverest and cleanest fights held since the inauguration of the new boxing law at the Athens club. The men fought at the lightweight limit.

Baldwin used a right chopping blow to good effect and had the better of the rounds except the ninth. Then Moore smothered Baldwin with a succession of jabs and uppercuts but the latter came back strong in the tenth and by popular verdict easily had the fight on points.

Fight Declared Off.

Toronto, Jan. 12.—The fight scheduled for last night between Packy McFarland and Kid Alberts, was declared off yesterday afternoon when Alberts developed symptoms of ptomaine poisoning.

DULUTH WINS SECOND MANLEY-McLENNAN GAME

The Duluth Curling club took the second series of Manley-McLennan curling games from the Superior Curling club last night by the score of 51 to 22, thereby tying the men from across the bay for the possession of the trophy. The third and deciding series of games will be played on the rinks of the Superior club Saturday evening.

An unusual procedure was adopted by the games committee of the Duluth club. The committee recommended that the skips be allowed to choose their own rinks. This plan was followed and it worked like a charm. The showing of the Duluth curlers was by far the best the club has made in any of the Manley-McLennan games. The followers of the local club are confident, after the showing made last evening, that the trophy is to become the property of the Duluth club for the present season.

To D. C. Gates of Superior goes the honor of winning the only game captured by the curlers from across the bay. Gates won from Jacobi by the score of 14 to 8. Ralph Bradley's rink scored a sweeping victory over A. K. Smith, while Ron McLeod and Billy Dinham had but little trouble in winning from H. I. Russell and J. A. Gates.

Duluth's showing was especially gratifying and if the local curlers play the same kind of a game next Saturday evening it is believed that the home of the Manley-McLennan trophy will be in Duluth.

Following is the score by heads and the personnel of the rinks:

MICHIGAN WILL RENEW RELATIONS WITH PENNSY

Ann Arbor, Mich., Jan. 12.—That Michigan and Pennsylvania will surely face each other on the gridiron in 1912 was further assured by Director of Athletics P. G. Bartelme today in a statement regarding the coming game between the two schools. Mr. Bartelme further remarked that the report leaking from Pennsylvania regarding the date of the contest coming on Nov. 9 or 24, was also correct. Mr. Bartelme said: "On my last trip East I had a conference with the members of the Pennsylvania board having charge of the schedule, and a game between Pennsylvania and Michigan was agreed upon. I may add that there was little doubt at any time but what the two schools would continue the present pleasant relations. For my part, I extended the two dates mentioned on which Michigan can play, but as yet the contract for either day cannot be closed because Pennsylvania's schedule is still uncertain."

Make It Last Game.

The feeling here is that Michigan will probably make the Eastern game the final clash of the season. There was a great deal of dissatisfaction because Nebraska was scheduled for the final tussle, and the authorities will in all possibility never make the mistake of scheduling such a game as that the season with again. There is not enough interest between the two schools and would not be even if Michigan were to entertain the Cornhuskers next season. Pennsy or Minnesota is the logical candidate to close the season with, and as the Gophers have seemingly out of the question, Pennsy will be most acceptable to the student body.

Five Games Certain.

There is also a great deal of prospecting on whether Michigan will have a seven or eight-game schedule next season. It is hoped that the Wolverines will have eight, but the argument is made that the eight-game schedule of this fall was very unsuccessful. That's true, but, on the other hand, it must be remembered that was the fault of arrangement and not due to the eight games. The following games are certainties: Case, M. A. C., Ohio State, Syracuse and Pennsylvania, with the possible addition of Cornell. Vanderbilt and Nebraska are holes which will probably be filled up by other teams.

Hockey practice will be started Monday, if present plans materialize. During the holidays a portion of Ferry field was flooded, but for some reason the ice streaked and the water wouldn't stay on the field within boundaries. It has been arranged to change the direction of the ice rink, however, and Interdepartmental Manager Shaw says it won't be longer than Monday before the teams will be practicing. The schedule for the departments will also be ready by that time, and games will be started within the week. It is planned to play four games each week.

FORTUNE FOR MAN WHO BEATS JOHNSON

New York, Jan. 12.—"There's a fortune waiting for the man who discovers the white conqueror of Jack Johnson. The moving pictures of the fight in which Johnson is defeated by a white heavyweight will alone be worth half a million dollars.

Tex Rickard sat in a big chair at the Waldorf-Astoria, blew a cloud of smoke from his "Imperfecto" and meditated. The man who hung up the $101,000 purse for Johnson and Jeffries at Reno spoke snappily, and his small brown eyes seemed fired with the idea of promoting a championship battle that would bring about the triumph of a white fighter.

"Right now Johnson and his title are safe," went on Rickard, "but another year or year and a half the big negro may find himself in the ring with his white master. For instance, he may find himself battering this fighter, Al Palzer, on the chin until the bones in his hands give way.

Looks Over the Crop.

"I have looked over the crop of white hopes here and in Europe and have seen but one who seems to possess the makings of a champion. He is the big fellow Palzer. He has the strength, the physique, the foundation of which champions are made. A year or so of careful nursing and instruction, and Johnson will have his hands full beating him."

"Is Wells a better man than Palzer?"

"As a fighting proposition and a champion contender I prefer Palzer. The big fighter has the fighting instinct that's admirable in a fighter. He's fast and always tearing in. A hard punch doesn't check him much. All he needs is development."

FLYNN MAYBE FEARS FIGHTING AL PALZER.

New York, Jan. 12.—Unless Jim Flynn, the heavyweight of Pueblo, posts his forfeit today for his ten-round bout with Al Palzer, the promising "white hope," which is scheduled to take place here on Feb. 16, the match will be called off.

Tom O'Rourke, manager of Palzer, has wired to Flynn several times asking him to send his forfeit, but the latter's manager, Jack Curley, has made no effort to do so. It is thought that Jack Johnson has advised Curley not to take the match for fear Flynn might lose it. The fact that it took him ten rounds to stop Kaufman while Palzer did the trick in five, is probably another reason why Flynn is holding back.

SPRING SERIES IS ARRANGED

Two Philadelphia Teams Will Alternate Between the Two Parks.

Philadelphia, Jan. 12.—Connie Mack, manager of the local American league team, and Horace Fogel of the local National team, made final arrangements for a spring series of eight games. The first game will be played on the National league grounds on March 30 and the teams will then alternate between the two league parks until April 9. It was further agreed that if neither team wins the pennant in its league, a fall series shall be played under the rules of the national commission.

The Philadelphia National league baseball club received a signed contract from W. H. Brinker, the Vancouver outfielder of the Northwest league. He is one of the five candidates for the position of right fielder on the Philadelphia team.

HATLEY BEATEN BY JOE CAPRON

Father Bill Hatley lost the first of the Duluths series of billiard games with Joe Capron of Minneapolis at the St. Louis parlors last evening. Hatley lost by the narrow margin of 17 points in the 300-point play for the evening.

The contest was sensational in the extreme. To all appearances Hatley had the match sewed up. His score was 283 to 227 for Capron. The Minneapolis man ran 70, the high mark of the series, and then after Hatley had missed, ran out his string.

Last night's result further increases the lead of the Minneapolis man. The score to date is 900 for Capron and 833 for Hatley. The game is 18.2 balk line. Two games were placed in Minneapolis, each of the contestants getting one. The fourth game of the series will be played this evening.

KENNEY & ANKERS DEFEAT Y. M. C. A. AT BASEBALL

GOPHERS TO OPPOSE RULE

Minnesota May Leave Conference If White Resolution Is Not Adopted.

Chicago, Jan. 12.—University of Chicago athletic officials yesterday replied to Minnesota's threat to leave the "Big Eight" if the White resolution is not amended at the coming meeting of the conference in terms that promise to add more spice to the contest over the summer baseball question. The Maroons asserted they were firmly opposed to the Gopher school's stand in favor of adopting conference rules by a majority vote instead of by a two-thirds vote, as required by the White section of the "Big Eight" code.

According to the Maroon point of view, the Gophers want to vote on a majority basis in order to put through the movement for summer baseball. With Purdue, Winconsin and Chicago holding against Minnesota, the Gophers will be unable to carry the coming meeting their way unless the White rule is modified, the Maroons assert, and Coach Stagg, the Chicago representative, will not agree to the change for obvious reasons.

Gophers May Withdraw.

Coach Stagg has been against the Minnesota proposal ever since it was advanced by Prof. Paige of Minnesota. The coach will attend the Jan. 26 meeting uninstructed and will undoubtedly cast his ballot against the measure. Dr. Dudley Reed said the coach was supported in his opinion by the members of the board of physical culture and athletics.

Coach Henry Williams' statement that the Gophers probably would withdraw from the "Big Eight" unless granted a change in the White rule was a surprise in the Maroon camp, since the statement is regarded as equivalent to a demand for the key to the whole situation. The Chicago professors said the minority party of the conference would not be likely to consent to such an arrangement.

MYSTERIOUS BILLY SMITH IMPROVES

Four Bullet Wounds Fail to Kill Former Prize Fighter.

Portland, Or., Jan. 12.—"Mysterious" Billy Smith, former welterweight champion of the world, has added one more victory to his already long list, winning this time the biggest and most important victory of his life.

It wasn't in a 24-foot ring this time, with ready seconds, a gong to save him and a referee to see the rules were obeyed.

It was with grim death, spelled with a capital D, if you please, and it took just three days to know whether the grim reaper or the mysterious one had conquered.

A few days ago, in "Billy's home here, Smith was shot down by the second husband of his former wife. His name was Albert B. Loomis, a steamboat captain. Smith and Mrs. Loomis were walking along the street when Loomis saw them. A revolver with four empty chambers, Billy in the hospital with four holes in him and the reaper standing near told the story of the meeting.

"Billy can't live," was the verdict.

"The h-e-double-l I can't," said Bill.

And Bill won.

For three days they watched the battle. Four bullet holes will put nearly anyone out of commission, but the former champion wasn't made of that kind of mettle.

At the end of three days Bill won.

"Marvelous, wonderful," was the comment.

"Look who I am," said Bill.

Billy is still in the hospital. He will be out in a short while, well and happy, while Loomis must stand trial for murderous assault.

The mysterious one doesn't care whether Loomis is punished or not. For there's a little pathos in the story, and Billy wants his former bride back again.

And from the present outlook, wedding bells will ring again for Bill.

JEFFERSONS ARE EASILY DEFEATED.

The Fitwells won from the Jeffersons at the Auditorium last evening at indoor baseball. The score was 10 to 2. Jones for the Jeffersons proved easy for the outfitters and Jackson kept the East Enders puzzled throughout. The fielding of the Jeffersons was loose. The score:

FAMOUS ATHLETE DRUNKARD

Arthur Brownlee, Old Princeton Star, Draws Jail Sentence.

New York, Jan. 12.—"Big Art" Brownlee, otherwise Arthur Brownlee, star fullback of the varsity eleven of Princeton twenty years ago, will spend the next four months in the Blackwell's island workhouse as an habitual drunkard.

According to affidavits made by his sister and by the manager of a sanatorium from which he was recently discharged, Brownlee has been a drunkard for seven years. He pleaded guilty to his sister's charge when arraigned in court and wept as sentence was imposed.

Brownlee became a mining engineer after his graduation and was successful. In college he was a good student, as well as a great athlete.

BIG DULUTHS WIN CLOSE GAME

Cathedral High School Defeated at Baseball By 8 to 6 Score.

In one of the best indoor baseball games that has been played in Duluth the present season the Big Duluths defeated the Cathedral high school last evening by the score of 8 to 6. The game was played at the C. H. S. gymnasium and was witnessed by a good-sized crowd.

In the sixth inning the score was tied with the count of 6 to 6. With two men on in the eighth inning, Gollinger slapped the large spheroid for three bases, driving in two runs.

McDermott and Summers got three hits each for the C. H. S. team, while Quinn, Murphy and Gollinger were the stick stars for the Big Duluths.

ATTELL AND DRISCOLL.

Two Little Men May Battle for International Title.

New York, Jan. 12.—There is a chance that a real international battle for the featherweight championship will be arranged some time this year between Abe Attell the present holder, and Jem Driscoll, the British champion. Some time ago Jem announced that he would retire from the game, especially after his match with Owen Moran was called off, but now he writes that he has changed his mind and expects to visit the United States again some time this winter or early in the spring. A battle between Driscoll and Attell would be worth going miles to see, for Jem had the best of it when they met in a ten-round affair at New York a year or more ago, according to newspaper reports at the time. The only hitch has been the weight question, Driscoll holding out for the English weight of 126 and Abe for the American of 122 pounds. As Attell meets Johnny Kilbane, the Cleveland featherweight, in February, there is a chance for a change in holder, but if Attell is anything like his real self he will not permit the title to fade away.

Billy Marchant, another British featherweight, is also after the championship and expects to be here shortly with Sid Smith, the 115-pound champion of Great Britain, and he will challenge Attell for the title. Marchant has made a remarkable record in England the past six months, winning over twelve straight battles.

Ball Player Dies.

New Britain, Conn., Jan. 12.—Charles (Lefty) Marr, a former National league ball player, was found dead in a local hotel here yesterday. The cause of death is unknown. Marr was best known through his connection with the Cincinnati Nationals in 1890 and 1891.

Jess Pederson Wins Match.

St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 12.—Jess Pederson, hailed by local promoters as the wrestling champion of Europe, won his match from Franz Elsler of Bohemia, here last night in two falls, the first after 20 minutes of grappling. They wrestled nine minutes for the second fall. Sampson and Cutler wrestled 30 minutes without a fall.

A Fast, Snappy Bout.

South Bend, Ind., Jan. 12. — Johnny Coulon of Chicago, after three rounds of fast and furious boxing here last night, all but knocked out George Kitson of New York. The contestants went into the ring at less than 118 pounds. Kitson's seconds threw up the sponge.

Former Champion Dies.

St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 12. — Johnny Regan, former featherweight champion of the world, died here yesterday after a short illness of pneumonia. Regan contracted a severe cold after fighting six rounds with Young Johnson at Granite City, Ill., New Year's day. Pneumonia set in a few days later. He was 35 years old and was born in Brooklyn.

Hoffman Returns Home.

Escanaba, Mich., Jan. 12.—Joseph Hoffman, one of the best men who ever played baseball in Escanaba, has returned to the city from Superior, where he played last year with great success and will likely be seen in Escanaba uniform next season.

1912 Sporting Annual.

T. S. Andrews of Milwaukee, Wis., sporting writer, has published his 1912 Sporting Annual Record Book, containing records of 112 noted fighters, and trotting, pacing, running, bowling, athletic, baseball, automobile, aeroplane records. The book contains many fine illustrations of the world's prominent fighters, and all the up-to-date records.

DULUTH MAN ON NATIONAL BOARD.

John E. Jensen, president of the local painters' union, has been elected a member of the national auditing committee of the international painters' organization.

This is considered quite an honor as the board is composed of but three members and it is the first time that a Duluth union has been represented on the board.

Mr. Jensen will leave tomorrow for Indianapolis, where he will report on Monday to President George F. Edwards of the international association.

The local union was notified some time ago that it had been decided to have a representative on the board from Duluth, as this city is considered one of the strongest union cities in the United States.

The choice was left to the local union and at a special election Mr. Jensen was chosen.

Mr. Jensen is a young man and has lived in Duluth five years. He is an enthusiastic union man and his work was so well performed as president of the local union that the members had no hesitency in selecting him for the important position at Indianapolis.

The painters have 1,000 branches in the United States.

NEW PHASE OF PARK PLAN

Commercial Club Committee Suggests Purchase of Additional Land By City.

Says Building of Dock Would Impair Value of Park Frontage.

At the regular weekly meeting of the West Duluth Commercial club this evening, the special park committee will make its report and suggestions on the proposed purchase of the bay front property between Sixty-third and Sixty-ninth avenues west for the Fairmont park extension.

The action of the council last Monday evening in ordering the property condemned for park purposes will be taken up at the meeting this evening and a new suggestion is to be made by one of the members before condemnation proceedings are started.

A committee member this morning said that the property owners and their agents are attempting to divert the attention of the council and the park board from buying the point of land directly opposite the tract of park land fronting the bay from Sixty-third to Sixty-ninth avenues west. Their plan, said the member this morning, is to acquire this property themselves and eventually build a dock on the bay front. This would spoil the entire park front, as the dock will extend about seventy-five feet out and almost touch the park property.

Should Buy Other Property.

The park board must buy the property opposite, said the member this morning, if it wishes to be secure. All that it will have to buy is a narrow strip around the shore line to secure the ownership of the bay front and the right to control the large bay between the two stretches of land.

"If this is done by the park board," he said, "the committee will have accomplished its end in securing the best piece of property for a park and river front. In this way the park board can establish a boathouse and rent boats out for the afternoons and also build a pavilion after a few years. They will not be able to do this unless the park board purchases the property directly opposite the land on Kingsbury creek. It will insure against any one building any docks on the point and thus spoiling the entire park land.

The committee will suggest that the Commercial club request the park board and the city council to buy the property on the other side, so that the park board will control the bay.

The new officers of the club will be in charge for the first time this year. They are: A. G. Macauley, president; P. H. Martin, vice president; Martin J. Murray, secretary, and Charles G. Futter, treasurer.

It is probable that the members of the club will enter a protest this evening against the exhibition of the two-headed child that is being shown at 321 Central avenue. The child was born at Chisholm and after it died was embalmed and placed on exhibition by a near relative of its parents. A license has been secured from the Duluth city officials to exhibit the body here. Chisholm people have entered a protest in the state department and it is expected that the state authorities will interfere within a few weeks and compel the promoters of the exhibitions to bury the child at Chisholm, the home of its parents.

A. O. U. W. AND D. OF H. JOINT INSTALLATION.

West Duluth lodge, No. 145, A. O. U. W., and the Degree of Honor lodge, No. 85, will hold a joint installation of officers next Friday evening at Gilley's hall. The meeting is to be an open one and is to be followed by a luncheon and dance. The officers of the West Duluth lodge are: J. W. Smith, master workman; John Crawford, foreman; Emil Conradson, overseer; Nathan Rall, recorder; J. J. Moran, financial secretary; M. J. Fillatrault, treasurer; H. Defoe, guide, and Mr. Peterson, watchman.

The officers of the Degree of Honor lodge are: Mrs. H. Defoe, chief of honor; Mrs. Hilda Pollock, past chief of honor; Mrs. Philomine Ganeau, chief of ceremonies; Mrs. Elsie West, lady of honor; Mrs. Hannah Melin, financier; Mrs. Anna Collins, receiver; Mrs. Nellie Brotherton, recorder; Mrs. J. J. Ganley, watch, and the Misses Lena Rivett and Lillian Nevella, ushers.

Grand Foreman J. A. Schumacher will have charge of the installation ceremony and will be the honor guest at the banquet following the ceremonies.

BUILDING WORK AT NEW DULUTH

Cold Weather Does Not Interfere With New Construction.

In spite of the cold weather during the past month, building operations in New Duluth have been going on steadily and the various structures started late last fall are now fast nearing completion. The new Becklinger building is almost finished. It was built at the cost of $10,000. The Frank Brandt building, which costs nearly $6,000, will be finished within the next few weeks.

The new Becklinger building has a frontage of fifty feet on Commonwealth avenue. The first floor will be used by the New Duluth bank and a general store. A pool hall will occupy the basement and the second floor will be arranged for offices. Work on the new hospital to be built for Dr. C. J. Wallace was started this week. It will cost $3,000 when finished.

Three residences have been completed by the Minnesota Steel company during the past two weeks and will be occupied by J. H. Schmidt, assistant constructing engineer; Charles Miller, constructing foreman, and H. Hutter, chief clerk of the company. The residences are of modern type and cost $3,000 each.

K. O. T. M. Installation.

Next Monday evening the West Duluth tent, No. 2, K. O. T. M., will install its new officers for the year at a grand ceremony to be held at the Great Eastern hall. The affair is to be open to the public and is to be followed by refreshments and a dance.

CALL EXTENDED TO DECATUR PASTOR.

Members of the congregation of the Westminster Presbyterian church, Fifty-eighth avenue west and Ramsey street, held a special meeting in the church last evening and extended a call to Rev. W. L. Staub of Decatur, Ill., to take charge of the local church. Should Rev. Mr. Staub accept the call, he will take charge of the church at West Duluth the latter part of February.

The church has been without a pastor since Nov. 1, when Rev. J. G. Leitch left for Nevada, Iowa.

ELY SCHOOL HAS SAVINGS DEPARTMENT.

Following the plan of the Irving school, the Ely school of West Duluth has also adopted a savings bank department. The students deposit their money every Thursday afternoon with Mrs. Jensen of the First National bank, who receives the deposits from the Irving pupils in the morning.

The plan has been in operation for the past three weeks and the grand total is $115, including the deposit of $55.12 made yesterday afternoon. About 500 pupils are on the depositors' lists and as soon as a student has an amount totaling $1, then a regular savings book is given by the bank.

Surprise Party.

John Nettleton, 5709 Cody street, was surprised at his home last evening by a number of his West Duluth friends. The evening was spent in music and games, following which a luncheon was served to the following: Misses Elvina Thibedeaux, Dorothy Staller, Agnes Winness, Cecil Stevens, Beatrice Schlesser, Hazel Schlesser, Florence Burrell, Hazel Raymonds, Margaret Welsh, Victoria Martin, Hazel Young, and the Messrs. Earl Mitchell, Alger Strand, Earl Brooks, Roy Dawson, Arthur Nelson, Louis Rynerson, Walter Andrews, Rody Dunne, Stanley Adams and Frank Zink.

NEW DULUTH RINK LOSES PRACTICE GAME.

In the Esterly event last evening Buckley defeated Wade 13 to 7, the other games scheduled for the evening being postponed. This evening Judson will play Ittis in the Union Match event for the right to enter the finals. Wieland and Olson will play for semi-finals honors in the Union Match event. In the Esterly event Holland will play Method and Brown will play against Clark.

West Duluth Briefs.

The Epworth league of the Asbury M. E. church will start a series of literary meetings the latter part of the month. They will be held at the homes of the various members of the league.

The series of lectures for the Asbury M. E. church, Sixtieth avenue west and Raleigh street, announced several weeks ago, will begin Wednesday evening, Jan. 24. Rev. W. H. Farrell, pastor of the church, will speak at the first meeting on "The Passion Play."

Rev. J. A. Krantz of the Elim Swedish Lutheran church, Fifty-sixth avenue west and Elinor street, returned yesterday afternoon from the northern part of the county where he conducted mission meetings.

Miss Anna Johnson, 230 Central avenue, left yesterday for Virginia, where she will spend the winter with relatives.

Miss Dorothy Patton of Milwaukee is the guest this week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Cronshield, 321 North Sixty-third avenue west.

John Gustafson and son, Emil of West Duluth, left yesterday for Cloquet where they will be employed in the woods.

The Girls' Sewing society of the Elim Swedish Lutheran church, Fifty-sixth avenue west and Elinor street, will be entertained tomorrow afternoon at the parsonage.

John and Hans Hendrickson, 322 North Fifty-second avenue west, returned yesterday from Two Harbors where they have been fishing for an independent company.

PLANS FOR BOYS' DEPARTMENT

Future Activities Outlined at Monthly Meeting of Cabinet.

The regular meting of the boys' department cabinet was held last evening at the home of Mrs. W. W. Walker. The following members were present: President Rex. St. Clair, Julius Nolte, Ledrue Bevis, Russell Duncan, Charles Little, Irving Moore, Palmer Bevis, Warren Moore, Douglas Walker, Edwin Scriven, J. R. Batchelor and N. D. McLeod.

The reports for December showed that it was a busy month in all departments of the work. The date of the annual minstrel show was changed to March 7 and 8. Rehearsals for the big annual affair will commence in two weeks.

The official cabinet pin was adopted last night and will be ordered at once.

Julius Nolte and Ledru Bevis were elected last evening to represent the Duluth boys' department at the annual state convention to be held at Winona, Feb. 7 and 10. All the boys' departments and high schools of Minnesota will be represented at this gathering.

W. C. Cartlich, Y. M. C. A. secretary for the schools of Minnesota, will be the guest of the Duluth boys' department Wednesday, Jan. 31. A committee was appointed to arrange for his visit.

The cabinet will present a play on Friday, Feb. 2, the object of which will be to raise funds to pay the expenses of the convention delegates.

The date for the annual camp reunion was set for Saturday Jan. 20. All the members of the 1911 Camp Miller party will be invited.

The annual sleigh ride will take place Friday, Jan. 26. On Jan. 19 the membership committee will entertain the members of the freshman class. A special program is being prepared. Ernest Fagenstrom, boys' department secretary of St. Paul, will be a visitor on Sunday, Jan. He will address the Sunday meetings.

The London hospitals during the last season adopted a new treatment of summer cholera among babies. It consists of hypodermic injections of sea water in the infant's back.

McPHERSON TO GO FREE

Will Not Be Forced to Serve His Life Sentence.

County Attorney Will Not Oppose Motion of Prisoner's Attorney.

Jackson D. McPherson, convicted of the murder of his shipmate, Otto Frey, will probably go free after a hearing to be held Saturday morning before Judge Dibell.

The supreme court recently ordered a new trial in the case. The county attorney has made a determined but fruitless attempt to get the witnesses in the case.

For this reason County Attorney John H. Norton stated this morning that he would not oppose the motion which will be made for McPherson's release by Attorney Whipple. Mr. Whipple was appointed by the court to defend McPherson.

The trial of the case took place about two years ago. It resulted in conviction of second degree murder. The district court overruled the motion for a new trial. McPherson was sentenced to life at Stillwater.

On grounds of misconduct on the part of the county attorney, the supreme court granted a new trial. McPherson was brought back from Stillwater, where he had begun serving his sentence, about six months ago.

Ever since that time the county attorney's office has been searching for the witnesses in the case, but without success.

The witnesses were all lake seamen and have drifted to all parts of the world. Guy Davis, the star witness for the state cannot be located.

McPherson has contended from the first that he would not serve his sentence. He claims that he shot Frey in self-defense.

The shooting took place on the steamer North Lake of the Mutual Transit company in September, 1909.

The men had been drinking. The trouble started in George Thatcher's saloon on Lake avenue.

McPherson playfully took a handkerchief from the pocket of a bystander and Frey resented the action, claiming that McPherson intended to steal it.

The trouble was continued after the men reached the boat and it was in the quarters occupied by the men that the shooting took place.

McPherson claimed that Frey was a much larger, stronger man than he. The defendant stated that Frey threw him back on a bunk and there was nothing for him to do but shoot.

Attorney W. E. Whipple will move to dismiss the indictment and allow the prisoner his freedom at the hearing to be held tomorrow morning.

WILL CAMPAIGN FOR BOND ISSUE

At a meeting at Kalamazoo hall last evening, plans were laid for an aggressive campaign for the bond issue. A committee of twenty-five was appointed to arrange the details. Among the speakers last night were City Attorney Bert Fesler, Alderman Hogan, Watson S. Moore and W. A. Hicken. Another meeting will be called as soon as the committe has arranged the plans. Those present last night included members of different parties and the movement is intended to be non-partisan.

HOMESTEADER SUED FOR TIMBER

Government Claims William Grakela Had No Title to Logs He Cut.

It is expected that the case of the United States vs. William Grakela, involving a timber trespass action in which the government seeks to recover for timber alleged to have been wrongfully taken from United States lands, will be submitted to the jury in federal court this afternoon.

The case was the first on call and has dragged along for two days. Several witnesses have been examined and much time was spent in arguing the law points involved.

William Grakela, the government alleges, filed for a homestead in the southeast quarter of the northeast quarter of 25, 30-20 in July, 1903. Failing to comply with the homestead laws in the matter of residence, Grekela lost the claim in a contest case brought by a settler named Madson. Final action in this matter was taken in 1910.

The government claims that during the years 1904 to 1909, Grekela cut and removed from the homestead land which is located about fifteen miles from Hibbing, white pine, Norway pine, ties and pulpwood valued in the aggregate at $1,576.69, delivered. Judgment for this amount is asked.

Grekela is a saloonkeeper at Hibbing. The defense claims that he entered for the claim in good faith, that he improved the property by erecting a cabin and other outbuildings, that the plow followed the ax and that the improvements made on the land were worth more than the timber cut.

UNCLE SAM WANTS TELEGRAPH OPERATORS.

There are openings in the United States navy for telegraph operators, wireless or otherwise.

Recruiting officers throughout the country have received notices that they are authorized to enlist competent telegraphers or wireless operators as landsmen-for-electrician service, even if they have no knowledge of general electricity.

Quartermaster J. A. Le Page, the local navy recruiting officer has received one of the circular letters authorizing such enlistments.

WILL ATTEND MEETING OF SCOTTISH CLANS.

A. G. McKnight will leave this evening for Chicago, where he will attend a meeting of the executive committee of the Royal Clan Order of Scottish Clans, which will be held in the Windy City, Monday evening.

Before returning to Duluth, Mr. McKnight will go to St. Paul, where he will be present at the annual meeting of the Minnesota grand lodge of Masons. Mr. McKnight, in his capacity as grand lodge orator, will deliver the annual oration this year. The grand lodge meeting will be held next week.

RESIDENT OF SUNNY SOUTH ENLIGHTENED ON WINTER SPORTS

The fame of Duluth as the home of Northern sport is going to be spread somewhat. There is a traveling man from New Orleans stopping at the Spalding who is going back home laden with picture postcards of the big ski tournament, prepared to tell his acquaintances about Duluth and the winter sports that have never been heard of by some of the people of New Orleans.

At the hotel today this man exhibited two pictures taken at the last ski tournament. He showed them to Clerk Roy Quigley and asked for information. One of the pictures was of a ski rider high in the air—at the highest point of a long jump.

"How can a trick or fake picture like that be taken?" asked the man from New Orleans. The clerk informed him that the postcard was a reproduction of a photograph taken at the last ski tournament. "Come, now," said the man from New Orleans, "you don't expect me to believe that. How could any picture be taken in that manner?"

After several men near the desk had confirmed the statement of young Mr. Quigley, the man from New Orleans began to be less skeptical. He asked innumerable questions. He has never seen a pair of skiis and hasn't the least idea of what a ski tournament is like. He says he is going to take a lot of pictures of the tournament back home with him and assure his friends that they are not fakes, not in the least; that such a sport really happens in the Northern country, where the thermometer hovers around the 36-below mark.

"We have fake pictures of alligators swallowing babies and incidents that suggest wonder to the minds of the tourists from the North," said the man from New Orleans; "I thought that this picture of the man flying through the air was something on the same nature. When I assure some of my friends back home that this picture is real, they will be very much surprised and interested.

"A man very well informed once told me that the proper way to pronounce the word ski was 'she.' I can't see where they get it. Tell me, is that right. Before I leave this country I hope that I may be able to see a ski tournament. I have read about sports in the North as you have probably read of our Mardi Gras. This is the nearest I have ever been to the country where they are held and this picture, which you say is not a trick of photography, gives me my first intelligent idea of the sport."

This man really thought that curling was played on skates. This is not a "pipe," it is true. He thought curling was a sort of modification of the game of hockey. The game was explained to him by a man standing at the desk. "A sort of combination of shuffle board and bowling," remarked the man from New Orleans at the conclusion of the explanation.

If the man from New Orleans remains here long enough to see a ski tournament—and he says he is going to Virginia to witness the one there—and takes in the bonspiel next week, as he said he was going to today, he will go back home to the sunny Southland and give some of his friends a more vivid idea of the Zenith City of the frozen north than the one that evidently exists in the minds of many of the inhabitants of New Orleans.

LEAVES FROM A REPORTERS NOTE BOOK BY X

The incident related in this column in yesterday's Herald, relative to the policeman who refused to arrest a thief after he caught him stealing coal and had been to the freezing hovel he called home, has scores of counterparts in Duluth, could all the facts be known.

Probably never in the history of the city has more coal been stolen in the same period than during the last two weeks of bitterly cold nights and days. Tons upon tons have been pilfered. The coal companies and the docks have lost some, but the heaviest losers have been the railroads.

Nothing could be more indicative of the poverty and suffering in Duluth today than that. The average man, particularly the man with a family, doesn't steal for the love of stealing or for the excitement of the chase. He steals because he feels that he has to steal, and when he reaches that stage his plight is desperate, indeed.

These men have been stealing—nearly all of them—because they had a wife and children who were freezing. Too proud to beg, they have helped themselves. In the letter of the law they have been "thieves."

In this connection it is significant that there hasn't been an arrest thus far this year for stealing coal or wood, despite the reports of the heavy losses. Perhaps this is because the special policemen hired to watch the yards have not liked to venture out into the cold. Perhaps it is because they have been unable to catch the men who have gathered coal from the cars and along the tracks. Or perhaps, like the policeman, they have caught some of these men, but for reasons of their own have not seen fit to throw them into jail.

Whatever the reason may be, the fact remains that there have been no arrests. Nor have the big losses been reported to the police. But if you should happen to desire information upon the quantities of coal that have been taken in this manner, ask some of the railroad officials whose business it is to know about this branch of affairs, and they will tell you that they never knew of so much coal being stolen before.

To get a faint idea of the number of men who have provided warmth for their families in this way, bear in mind that these men have not been hauling coal way in wagon loads; they have carried it away on small sleds and in baskets, and some of them have even carried away lumps of coal in their hands.

One man, however, must have met with a sad surprise when he got back with his booty. He threw off a couple of sacks of what is known as blacksmith coal. It is specially made up for forges, and try as he might, he couldn't make the stuff burn in his stove or any other stove.

Ingvald Jacobson, cook at the lunch counter of the "U & I" saloon on the Bowery, proved an efficient sleuth late yesterday afternoon.

While standing back of his counter he saw George Olson dash past, up through the office and into the street. A minute later he saw Ole Johnson giving chase. But Ole was too slow and the fugitive escaped.

Then he explained that Olson had grabbed a $5 bill from his hand. Ole claimed that he is not in the habit of carrying money in his hand, but explained that he had just changed a $10 bill and had not had time to put away the "V" before the other man grabbed it.

"I'll bet that I can get that fellow for you," said Ingvald. Suiting action to speech he donned his coat and hat and started on a still hunt. Success did not greet him in Duluth, so he went to Superior. From one place to another he went, until he located Olson in a saloon with a dozen new found friends. Olson was making a good fellow of himself. Strange as it may seem, he was buying beer at 15 cents a pitcher, purchased at the bar, and served in glasses furnished by the saloon. Ingvald says that he doesn't know of a saloon on this side of the bay where they'll stand for anything like that.

After he had located his quarry Ingvald called a policeman, and Olson spent the night back of the bars. This morning he was brought to Duluth. He admitted that he had stolen the money when arraigned in police court and got three months in the county jail. Incidentally, he just got out yesterday morning after serving a sentence of sixty days, being sent down from Virginia for drunkenness.

Arthur Jenkinson strenuously denied that he had struck his wife when he was arraigned in police court this morning on a charge of drunkenness. But her testimony and the marks on her face did not bear out his assertions. He was given a straight sentence of twenty days in the county jail.

The story, while not uncommon in the police court, is pathetic. The husband had not been working for several months. He is the second husband and the wife had three children, the oldest 15 years old. She inserted an advertisement for work as a nurse. Several days ago he secured a position and she was successful in getting an answer to her ad. She was attending a sick woman who keeps roomers in a respectable place on Superior street.

Last night Jenkinson went to the place and called her to the door. He claims that the place was not a proper one for his wife, and that he merely told her to get her clothes and leave. She stated that he met her with a blow in the face, followed by other blows.

In the meantime some one called the police. Patrolman Engiert responded and placed Jenkinson under arrest. He had been drinking and pleaded guilty to drunkenness in police court. This morning his wife appeared to tell her story to the court. The jail sentence followed.

The fire department is certainly keeping busy these days. At 2:20 yesterday afternoon it was called to the Zenith dye works to put out a fire starting from a gasoline explosion. At Fourteenth avenue east the big engine turned over, but fortunately no one was hurt.

At 11 o'clock last night an incipient blaze at the plant of the Baxter Sash & Door factory, Garfield avenue and Michigan street, was put out before any damage was done. Early this morning the fire department was called to 1820 West Michigan street, where a dwelling was partially destroyed, forcing the inhabitants to seek refuge with neighbors.

At 8 o'clock this morning the department was summoned to extinguish a fire from an overheated range at 20 East Second street. An hour later all the downtown departments responded to an alarm from the Peerless laundry. The steam pipes caused a small blaze which did no damage.

In responding to the last alarm No. 3 engine narrowly escaped a fate similar to that of No. 4 engine yesterday. In turning from First avenue east to First street it began to skid and described a complete circle before it was finally swung onto First street.

Lizzie Criteenden, colored, who broke up a Salvation Army gospel meeting last night when she staggered on to the floor with blood streaming from a dozen cuts, pleaded guilty to having been drunk when arraigned in police court this morning. It appeared that she had cut her hands in several places by breaking a big window on Lake avenue south. She also had two cuts on the face, which she claimed were the result of an attack by Henry Hopkins, a colored cook. Hopkins was arrested for assault. He pleaded not guilty.

J. E. Smith paid a fine of $5 in police court yesterday afternoon when he was adjudged guilty of having been drunk. It appeared that a woodsman had bought a ticket from an employment agent, but had not gone to his job. Smith secured the ticket and was trying to get the employment agent to refund the money when he was arrested.

The number of lodgers coming into the headquarters showed a considerable falling off last night. But forty-six applied for a place to sleep. For several nights the number of lodgers has averaged seventy. But the police expect that the total will assume greater proportions again before the week is out. Some of these who have been coming in have probably secured jobs, but their places are generally filled by others who drift in in an apparently ceaseless stream.

George Neloski was arrested yesterday on a charge of having stolen a khaki suit from George Olson. He pleaded not guilty and will be tried Jan. 15 at 2 o'clock. He claimed that Olson gave him the suit.

An unknown man fell unconscious to the sidewalk in front of the saloon at 609 West Superior street today. It was at first thought that he was dead, but an examination at the police station by Dr. Murphy disclosed the fact that he was only "dead drunk."

WOODBRIDGE WITH BUREAU OF MINES

Appointed Special Agent to Gather Statistics for Government.

Washington, Jan. 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—Director Holmes of the bureau of mines has appointed Dwight E. Woodbridge of Duluth a special agent of his bureau to travel over the country to gather information relative to methods of mining iron ore. The work cut out for Mr. Woodbridge, in brief, is to gather material for an exhaustive and up-to-date special bulletin as to the conditions existing as to iron mines, methods of, mining, transportation, etc. Mr. Woodbridge will be allowed $10 per diem while actually on the work and a per diem for subsistence and other expenses while traveling.

INDICTED MEN PLEAD NOT GUILTY

Four men, indicted by the January grand jury, were arraigned this afternoon in the district court. Each pleaded not guilty.

Peter Christoff of New Duluth was indicted on two counts, the first charging that he had conducted an unlicensed drinking place and the second accusing him of attempting to bribe an officer.

E. Zoria was indicted for first degree assault, it being claimed that he tried to kill Paul Basta with a revolver in a fight at New Duluth some time ago.

Charles Olson and Charles Nelson were indicted for a swindling game. They are claimed to have tricked Charles Boland out of $16.

SUBSCRIPTION LIST FOR NEWS VENDOR

The case of the unfortunate and crippled news vendor, J. A. Jeffrey, who was further incapacitated this week by a fall in which he broke his leg, has interested a number of Duluth business men to such an extent that a subscription list has been started for his relief.

N. P. Upham & Co. have headed the list with $10. The Herald will receive and acknowledge subscriptions and will turn the money over to Mr. Jeffrey.

LOGGER'S CLOSE CALL.

Eau Claire Man Nearly Killed in Conderay Woods.

Couderay, Wis., Jan. 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—J. W. McCann of Eau Claire, who is logging the Couderay Indian reservation, had a narrow escape from instant death yesterday.

He was riding on the rutter, a large machine for making logging roads, when part of the rutter broke, the broken part passing so near his body that his clothing was caught and he was pinioned down, catching his foot and crushing two of his toes. It took six men to lift the broken part of the machine off he could be released. The machine was pulled by ten horses.

The automobile plow has arrived. You sit on a cushion with a steering gear in your hands, and down underneath the machine the blades of a plow are fixed. By this device twelve acres of land can be plowed in a day, and life is made easy for the farmer.

$500,000,000 TRUST TO CONTROL SHIPPING ON LAKES PROPOSED

Plans Halted By Investigation of Steel Corporation, It Is Said.

Pittsburg Steamship Company Said to Have Originated the Scheme.

Cleveland, Ohio, Jan. 12.—A gigantic trust with holdings aggregating $500,000,000 and controlling 300 Great Lake vessels, was partly organized in the autumn of 1911, says today's News. That it was not completed, the story runs, was due to the government's investigation of the United States Steel corporation during which information regarding the alleged trust was gleaned by government agents.

"While on its face the scheme amounted to an alliance of independents," say the News, "it is said that it was backed by the Pittsburg Steamship company and the Steel corporation, which is credited with owning the stock of the steamship company.

"An over-supply of freight vessels existed. It was planned to lay up many of these, saving the expense of maintaining crews and insurance.

"The alleged Steel trust, owning its own boats, docks, railroad terminals and ore beds, then could have lowered the rates as desired."

TELLS ABOUT LEE BROWNE

Lorimer Says He Loaned Accused Man $10,000 Without Security.

Washington, Jan. 12.—Senator Lorimer's testimony before the senate investigating committee was continued today and it became evident that the senator's testimony will take much longer than was first estimated.

The two perjury trials of Lee O'Neil Browne, who was accused of bribing Illinois legislators to vote for Lorimer, were referred to. Lorimer said he himself was the real target, and that he lent Browne about $10,000 to defend himself, taking no notes nor any security.

Charges Subornation of Perjury.

"I was convinced that the Tribune had bought the testimony they used against Browne," he said, "with the purpose of using it as the basis of an attempt to put me out of the senate. I am convinced the whole machinery of the state's attorney's office was used to destroy me, and not to put Browne in the penitentiary. I believe the Chicago Tribune suborned the perjury of White, Beckemeyer and Holtslaw. And I am convinced neither Browne nor any one else ever paid any money for a vote for me."

AUDITOR IVERSON'S WIFE DIES AT ST. PAUL.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mrs. S. G. Iverson, wife of the state auditor, died at noon today of pleuro-pneumonia. Mrs. Iverson was 40 years old and had been married to Mr. Iverson nearly twelve years.

AUTHOR AS BUSINESS MAN.

"The man who waits for an inspiration usually waits for a publisher," said Frederick Orin Bartlett, the novelist, to Witter Bynner in an interview for the Book-News Monthly. "Most of the fake mysticism and claptrap with which authors are used to fool the public about their ways and means of work has gone to the ash heap; a man doesn't have to be eccentric any longer to be considered a genius.

"The average author considers himself more a professional man than an artist. For that matter so does many an artist. He goes at his work soberly, seriously, industriously. He dreams his dreams, to be sure, but he spends the better part of the day in doing his work. First he learns to write and then, after a while, he learns to rewrite. He studies men and women to find material worth writing about. He studies the newspapers. He studies magazines.

"He studies his market, unless he prefers to remain a mute, inglorious Milton. That doesn't mean that he bows slavishly to it and stifles anything of merit he may really have to say in acceptable form. And always he may have the comforting thought that if his ideas are big enough he may make his own market and voice his message in any form he chooses. In the meanwhile he need not starve to death in a garret. But the important thing is regular work.

"Personally, I prefer to do my work in the morning. I find myself fresher and the world fresher by beginning instead of ending the day at 4 a. m.

"I rise at this time, make a cup of coffee and do the best of my work between then and 7:30. I stop for breakfast and continue until 1. I rewrite, revise and correct proofs. Then I'm through for the day except for tennis or a walk in the afternoon and some reading in the evening. I go to bed oftener before 9 than after.

"I do all of my work on the typewriter. I do this because on the first draft I work more rapidly than I can push a pencil. It is an unsentimental method, but an extremely practicable one. However, I don't stop there.

"The first draft is scarcely more than a scenario, although it is very apt to contain more words than the final draft. I go over this with a pencil, making from three to five alterations a line, cutting out whole pages and sometimes whole chapters. Then I take what is left and rewrite it from beginning to end.

"This second draft will contain fewer faults of construction but about as many flaws of style. So I go over it again word by word, and finally typewrite it for the third time.

"This version I review once more, and even then the resulting copy would scarcely get me a job as a typist. The printed proof gives a final opportunity for revision.

"It requires something besides poetic inspiration to accomplish this. When you're through you don't look much as the artistic photographer presents you in his attempt to make you look like a literary man.

"When all is said and done the man who does his work grouchily isn't worth his salt. In fact a man who does it as work isn't worth his salt. For it isn't work; it's play—hard, joyful play.

"In the summer when I have left my winter home in Cambridge for Bridgton, Me., I very often load my machine upon a wheelbarrow and go out among the pines for the morning's work. Behind my bungalow there is a stretch of woods five miles wide by three miles deep, unbroken save by wood roads, and there I have my choice of a thousand cool, shady studies. The rent is cheap, and if I don't like the other tenants of the building—the black ants have a weakness for white paper—I have only to lift handles of my wheelbarrow and move on down the first pine scented aisle to another location.

"And then ideas! The public at large seems to feel that they come differently to an author. Perhaps they do to some. I don't know. But they come to me—to make a bull—by going after them.

"They come, such as they are, as a result of studying and thinking and digging. Often they come unexpectedly, uncalled for, but ordinarily it is not difficult to trace them back to their source. An incident, a face, an emotion, a bit of scenery unnoticed at the time, may later develop into a complete story.

"I know a brick house off a country lane in Maine that is going to give me a story some day. I don't know what, and it has nothing to do with the inhabitants of the house, but there is sure enough a story coming in connection with that setting.

"On the other hand, you may have a theme—something you believe to be true and worth emphasizing—and you will deliberately build up a story around it. That is a dangerous business, but sometimes it is effective. You have to keep clearly in mind that your story's the thing—and your sermon the thing."

After a decidedly non-studious boyhood and a protracted period of preparatory school days, Mr. Bartlett got into Harvard in 1896.

"I remained one year in college," he tells Mr. Bynner, "but then a turn in the family fortunes put an end to my halcyon days. I had to face the problem of earning a living.

"At first I thought I would study law, finding in some way to earn my way through the law school. To this end I tried to sell books one summer. It lasted two weeks. It made me feel too much like a holdup artist.

"In the next two years I probably filled about as big a variety of occupations as was possible within the period. Among other things, I drove an ambulance.

"Then in an idle hour I wrote a story. I don't understand now what prompted me. I had never had any literary ambition. However, I wrote a story. I sent it to Munsey's. It was accepted. For an hour I sat and stared at the check, which was larger than a whole month's salary.

"When I was able to collect my thoughts I figured out how long it had taken me to write this, what I had received, and what it would average a year. Then I sat down and wrote other stories. They came back. I wrote more. They also came back. I wrote still others—well, that went on for a long while, until some of the conceit was knocked out of me and I began to realize that if I was to make this my life work I must go at it more soberly, more seriously.

"With this in mind I read all the advice to young authors I could find and then began some original investigations of my own. I worked hard. I worked conscientiously. I wrote and re-wrote and wrote over again. I learned that after all fundamental defect was a lack of knowledge of men and women and the conditions under which they lived their little dramas."

At this stage Mr. Bartlett entered into newspaper work, beginning on nothing a week. Going through all phases of newspaper work in various parts of the country, he came through the magazine short story route to the position of a successful novelist which he occupies. In the course of the process he submitted two manuscripts, already much traveled, for a $900 Ladies' Home Journal prize and won the prize.

"On the strength of that," he says, "I went to Europe and for two months wandered about London in a beautiful hazy dream."

THE HAUGHTY WOMAN.

Chicago News: Excess baggage in the shape of a hat that is too large for one's head is a difficult thing to carry. But a woman gets pins a foot and a half long and by poking half a dozen of them into rats more or less surrounded by hair she can carry a hat of almost any size.

High heeled shoes, also, are a great handicap, but they can be managed.

Hauteur, however, is the heaviest weight in the world to carry. A woman who has to carry hauteur around with her has the hardest task available to her sex.

She is worse off than the preacher who had to read his sermon with one forefinger and deliver it with the other. She has to follow some imaginary model and live up to her pose. Her voice, her walk, the carriage of her head and her gestures must all be in keeping with the character she imagines herself to be.

With her whole mind centered upon a Mrs. Humphry Ward heroine she can accomplish much, but she must be continually on her guard lest her servants, her husband, her children and her friends send her ideals flying like Tennyson's wild echoes.

She must keep one eye on the last Mrs. Humphrey Ward book and the other on her imperious ego.

Her job is somewhat like that of the leader of the orchestra, who flourishes a baton with a great air, knowing all the time that the musicians are in reality paying very little attention to him.

She is like a front row chorus girl who is there for shape, but is expected to make a pretense of singing. She is conscious all the time that the real singing is done by the unpresentables in the back rows and behind the scenes.

She has to seem important, knowing all the time that she is not the real works, but only the gilding on the surface; the jeweled hands, the silvery chimes, dependent upon the unsightly springs within.

It is a hard job to be a grand dame. It should never be attempted except when one hos nothing else to do.

FORTY YEARS OF PIG IRON.

The changes occurring in what a writer in the Iron Age calls "forty years of pig iron" are shown in several ways. In 1871 iron rails commanded $70 a ton. In 1910 no iron rails made. In 1871 steel rails were $102 a ton and in 1910 they were $28 a ton.

The consumption of iron ore in the United States for the year 1870 was 3,831,891 and the production of pig iron was 1,665,179 gross tons. At that time Pennsylvania headed the list of states, with fully one-third of the iron ore won.

Later Michigan and subsequently Minnesota took the lead, the record for 1909 being: Minnesota, 28,975,149; Michigan, 11,900,384, and Pennsylvania, 666,889 gross tons, the estimated production of iron ore in the United States in 1910 being 53,500,000 tons.

For seventeen years before 1871 the Marquette range in Michigan had been shipping mineral, but the entire output of 1871 (813,379 gross tons) was less than the storage capacity in 1910 of the 6,918 pockets in the twenty-nine shipping docks on the Great Lakes, through which in that year 42,619,060 tons of iron ore were loaded into vessels. The total production of this range for seventeen years were less than the output in 1909.

Iron ores from the Marquette range of Michigan (the only producing section of the Lake Superior region) were then (1871) principally used to mix with other ores, and the various sources from which ores were assembled at blast furnaces are suggested by the record that in 1873 eleven furnaces in Pittsburg and vicinity produced 141,773 gross tons of pig iron and were supplied with ore from the following localities:

	Gross Tons.
By rail, Lake Superior ores	202,840
By rail, Lake Champlain ores	3,440
By rail, Iron Mountain, Mo., ores	24,580
By river, Iron Mountain, Mo., ores	88,489
Native local ores (mostly carbonates)	1,492
Total	320,841

In 1910 on the other hand, forty-seven blast furnaces in the Pittsburg district produced 5,330,898 gross tons of pig iron from 10,000,000 tons of ore brought from the Lake Superior region, practically a tenfold increase a furnace and a total district output augmented thirty times.

Much of the ore is now never touched by the miner, shipper, laborer or furnaceman from the time it leaves its natural bed until, with corresponding quantities of flux and fuel, it enters into the charge of the modern blast furnace, the product of which averages ten times that of the larger furnaces in 1871. Indeed, a considerable portion of the iron ores now smelted are not touched by the hand of man until after passing through the blast furnace, being handled by ladle cars in a molten state to casting machines, mixers and converting plants and mills, they become finished merchantable products.

IT OFTEN HAPPENS.

Los Angeles Times: "I am very glad our illegal trusts are being taken in hand," said Senator La Follette at a dinner in Madison. "A trust is so impersonal, you see. It breaks the law and you can't jail it.

"A trust, in fact, is like a slot machine. One day I saw a little boy weeping bitterly before a slot machine that was out of order. A policeman appeared, and the boy said to him:

"'Mister, arrest this machine! It's robbed me of a nickel!'"

Our trade with the Chinese empire decreased last year.

ARGENTINE SKIES CLEAR

Wheat Sags on the Leading Markets of North America.

Trade Is Dull in Flaxseed—Small Offers vs. Bearish Cables.

Duluth Board of Trade, Jan. 12.—Bright weather in Argentina, good European crop reports, continued large receipts of Canadian wheat and a poor demand on the part of domestic buyers in America had the effect of bearing the leading wheat markets of this continent today. Duluth May wheat closed at a decline of ⅜c. Cash wheat closed at the May price; durum, rye and barley unchanged, oats ⅜c off and corn ⅞c off. Owing to the extremely light flax offerings, in consequence of cold weather, farmers not doing much hauling just now, both January and May flax closed ½c up, although the foreign cables were very bearish and the home demand was exceedingly poor.

This morning wheat was bearish on the leading markets of North America. The principal factor was the report of continued fine weather in Argentina. There was a lower closing at Buenos Ayres last night and a still further decline this morning, January opening 1⅝c lower and February 1⅝c lower. Liverpool was strongly influenced by these cables. Other factors that had a bearish effect there were better crop advices, liberal Australian offers and larger shipments from Australia and India. A scarcity of La Platte offers and a forecast of lighter world's shipments tend to steady the market, but the closing Liverpool wheat quotation was ¼@½d lower.

In America receipts from the country, though larger than they were a week ago, did not by any means come up with those of a year ago. The Winnipeg receipts, however, were still large. The heavy marketing of Canadian wheat, notwithstanding a strong demand on the part of Great Britain and Europe, has had a very bearish effect on the North American markets, especially since the movement was started for lower freight rates from various Canadian points to Duluth and Minneapolis. The American visible supply will have to diminish greatly before there can be any such a bulge in wheat as wheat bulls have been prone to prophesy ever since the government reported a short wheat yield in America for the year 1911. Minneapolis today reported that the millers were still good wheat buyers, but the demand for flour was very light.

Duluth May wheat, which closed yesterday at $1.05⅝ asked, opened today at $1.05⅜ bid, and at noon was selling at $1.05⅜-½. Slight declines were reported likewise by Chicago, Minneapolis and Winnipeg.

Flax Is Weaker.

Although the intensely cold weather has been preventing farmers from hauling their flaxseed to the country elevators, and has thus been making offers very light on the stock exchange, the price of flax at Duluth this morning showed a loss. This was due, without doubt, to the very slack demand. There was, therefore, very little trading in flax. Ever since the fine weather in Argentina began to pull down the price of flaxseed on the Buenos Ayres market, from its extraordinarily high figure, Eastern American crushers began to take renewed hopes of seeing Argentine flax come to the American markets and prove a formidable competitor for the American product. They have therefore resumed their bearish attitude and Western crushers have to a considerable extent followed their example. At the same time, the Argentine product will have to become vastly cheaper than it is now, in order to make shipments to America profitable, in spite of the 20-cent net duty. Buenos Ayres January flax closed last night at $2.06⅜, having declined 1⅝c during the day. At the opening this morning there was a further decline of 1⅝c. Duluth January at noon today was selling at $2.13, or ½c below the closing figure of yesterday.

CHICAGO MARKET.

Wheat Tends Downward on News From Foreign Trade.

Chicago, Jan. 12.—Better crop advices from the Argentine and more favorable weather for the movement of grain there to market tended to bring about a decline today in the price of wheat. Larger forwardings from India and Australia counted also against the bulls. On the other hand, expected smallness of world shipments as a whole helped steady quotations and so did the continuance of extreme cold weather in the United States. The opening was ⅛c to ¼c lower. May started at 99⅞c to $1.00, the same change from last night as the market taken altogether. Afterwards there was a decline to 99¾@99¾c and a reaction to $1.00⅛.

Snow in the winter wheat territory eased the market somewhat. The close steady with May at 99¾c a loss of ¼c net.

Forecasts of more intense cold hardened the market for corn. Two of the largest houses, though, were conspicuous on the selling side. May opened unchanged to a shade higher at 65½c to 65⅛@65¼c, touched 65@65⅛c and rallied to 65¼c.

Subsequently profit-taking gave the market a setback. The close was steady at 64⅜@64⅞c for May, a decline of ⅛@⅜c net.

There seemed to be no energy in the oats crowd. As a result prices sagged, chiefly from lack of support. May started the same as last night to ⅛c off at 49⅜@49½c, recovered to 49½@49⅝c and fell back to 49⅜@49½c.

A big general commission trade developed in provisions, but was evenly distributed on both sides of the market. In consequence, the price level remained steady. Initial sales were varied from 5c off to a shade up with May delivery $16.45 for pork, $9.62½@9.65 for lard and $8.85@8.87½ for ribs.

Car lot receipts—Wheat, 6 cars, with 3 of contract grade; corn, 259 cars, with none of contract grade; oats, 49 cars. Total receipts of wheat at Chicago, Minneapolis and Duluth today were 208 cars, compared with 187 cars last week and 284 cars the corresponding day a year ago.

MINNEAPOLIS MARKET.

Wheat Is in Narrow Range and Trading of Small Volume.

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 12.—Wheat was in very narrow range and trading of small volume. May showed a difference of only ½c between day's high and low, and July only ⅜c. May closed ⅛@¼c lower than yesterday and July ⅜c to ¼c lower. Rearish Argentine cables and slight pressure in Minneapolis plt caused easier tone. Local elevator stocks decreased 350,000 bushels for the week.

Carlots: Minneapolis today, 171; week ago, 161; year ago, 245. Duluth today, 29; week ago, 13; year ago, 16. Winnipeg today, 130; week ago, 267; year ago, 15.

Cash wheat was in slightly better demand today but the market was quoted steady. Nearly all the local flour mills were good buyers of the moderate grades. No. 1 northern sold for the even May prices to ½c above. Millstuffs—Shipments, 1,859 tons. Demand good for all feed at steady prices. Mills well sold ahead.

Wheat: May opened $1.06¼, high $1.06½, low $1.06, closed $1.06¼ to $1.06¼@$1.06⅜. July opened $1.06⅞@1.07, high $1.07¼, low $1.06⅞, closed $1.07⅛.

Closing cash: No. 1 hard, $1.07⅜; No. 1 northern $1.06⅜@$1.06⅞, to arrive $1.06⅜@1.07⅛; No. 2 northern, $1.04⅜@1.04⅞, to arrive $1.04⅜@1.04⅞; No. 3 wheat, $1.02⅜@1.02⅞; No. 3 yellow corn, 62@63c; No. 3 white oats, 47@47½c; No. 2 rye, 91½c.

Bran in 100-pound sacks, $23.50@23.75.

The flour market was dull and steady. Sales generally small and scattered. Shipping directions improved. Prices unchanged. Shipments, 44,591 bbl. First patents, $5.20@5.50; second patents, $4.80@5.10; first clears, $3.60@3.95; second clears, $2.50@2.90.

Flax—Receipts, 12 cars, year ago, 7, shipments, 3. Demand good for spot at 1c above Duluth January and to arrive at the even contract. Closing prices, $2.15, to arrive, $2.14.

Barley—Receipts, 12 cars, year ago, 40, shipments, 67. Steady, demand good for choice grades and only fair for lower varieties. Prices quoted unchanged. Closing range, 85c@$1.28.

BOSTON COPPER STOCKS

The Boston stock quotations furnished by Gay & Sturgis, 326 West Superior Street.

Boston, Jan. 12.—The market was dull again today, but rallied somewhat the late week features advanced a little, but in the general list no pronounced strength was shown. News was rather lacking but two issues in local market, Hancock and Franklin, responding to favorable developments in the former. It is still a waiting situation, but it is noticeable that advance very easily on good news, further than they decline on bad.

New York Money.

New York, Jan. 12.—Money on call easy, 2@2¾ per cent; ruling rate, 2¾ per cent; closing bid, 2¾ per cent; offered at 2⅞ per cent. Time loans steady; 60 days, 2¾@3 per cent, and 90 days, 3¼@3½ per cent; six months, 3½@3¾ per cent.

Close: Prime mercantile paper, 4@4¼ per cent; sterling exchange firm with actual business in bankers' bills at $4.84 for sixty-day bills and at $4.87.10 for demand. Commercial bills, $4.83¼. Bar silver, 55⅝c. Mexican dollars, 47c. Government bonds, steady. Railroad bonds, steady.

THE PRODUCE MARKETS.

Sugar has taken another drop, though both cane and beet granulated are 60 to 70 cents per hundredweight higher than they were at this time last year. There has been a decline of 15 cents in both during the last two days. The decline is due to the large Cuban crop, which is now being marketed in the United States.

All kinds of hay have been advanced $1 a ton on account of the cold weather, which has been interfering with the receipts at country shipping points, farmers not liking to drive to market in such weather as this. The Western cattle country is expected to furnish quite a market for hay during the rest of the winter, unless there is quite a change in weather conditions. In a mild winter, when there is little snow, the Western cattle can pick up a great deal of good, nourishing, dried herbage, but this winter they have to be fed large quantities of hay. This may have the effect of making hay pretty high during the remainder of the season.

Quotations given below indicate what the retailers pay to the wholesalers, except the hay list, which gives what the farmers receive from the jobbers.

COPPERS ARE IRREGULAR

Fluctuations of the Day Are Mixed and Within Narrow Range.

Although stocks in general were strong today, coppers were not. The movements of the red metal shares were irregular, some closing at gains and others at losses, but there was nothing sensational about either the gains or the losses. One might suppose that the strength of the stock list at New York would have a tendency to boost coppers in sympathy, but this influence was offset by bearish news from the copper metal market at London. There both spot and futures closed at a loss of 16 shillings 3 pence. This decline, coming so soon after the loss of 22 shillings 9 pence on Wednesday, with only a gain of 7 shillings 9 pence on Thursday, without doubt had a depressing effect on copper investors. Still, general conditions are such that it is reasonable to expect an advance in copper metal and copper shares in the near future, for the supplies of copper metal are very low.

Gay & Sturgis today received the following wire from Boston: "Producers stated that a temporary lull in buying orders prevailed in the copper market today. Selling agencies were so well sold up fro the first quarter, however, that the dullness caused no uneasiness. Prices maintained strongly at 14½ cents for electrolytic. While some April copper has been booked, none of the sellers are anxious to force sales for that month

CITY NOTICES.

ASSESSMENT FOR PLANK SIDEWALKS—
Office of the Board of Public Works.
City of Duluth, Minn., Jan. 11, 1912.

Notice is hereby given that a contract has been let for the construction of plank sidewalks in the City of Duluth, and that under said contract sidewalks have been built on Second street, Fifth street, Eighth street, Morse street, Gladstone street, Devonshire street, Albion street, Vineland street, Thirteenth avenue east, Seventeenth avenue east, Forty-second avenue east, First avenue west, Fourth avenue west, Eighteenth avenue west, Nineteen and one-half avenue west, Twenty-fifth avenue west, Forty-third avenue west, Atlantic avenue, and Arlington avenue, and that the Board of Public Works of said city will meet at their office in the City of Duluth, on Friday, the Twenty-sixth day of January, A. D. 1912, at 10 o'clock A. M., to make an assessment of the sum of Twenty-four Hundred Seven (2407) dollars and Eighteen (18) cents upon the real estate to be benefited by such sidewalks, for the purpose of raising money to defray so much of the cost of such improvement as is assessable.

All lands situated in said city and to which benefits result from said improvement will be assessed in proportion, as near as may be, to the benefits resulting thereto from said improvement. All persons interested in said proceedings shall have the right to be present and be heard at said time and place in relation to the making of said assessment.

LEGAL NOTICES.

CERTIFICATE OF INCORPORATION —OF— DRUMMOND LAND COMPANY.

For the purpose of forming and being a body corporate under and by virtue of the provisions of Chapter 58 of the Revised Laws of Minnesota for the year of 1905, and all Laws amendatory thereof, the undersigned have adopted, signed, sealed and acknowledged the following certificate of incorporation:

ARTICLE I.

The name of this corporation shall be DRUMMOND LAND COMPANY, and the principal place of business shall be Virginia, Minnesota.

The general nature of the business shall be the acquiring, buying, owning, selling, leasing and generally dealing in lands and real estate of every nature and description, including the buying, owning, and selling of timber lands and timber; the improving of such real estate by the construction of buildings or otherwise, and the dealing generally in mixed and personal estate of every nature; and in the general doing of all such acts and things as are usual, necessary, convenient or expedient in conducting and managing the business of the said corporation in any of its branches, and such other enterprises or things as are incident thereto.

ARTICLE II.

The time of the commencement of this corporation shall be the 12th day of January, A. D. 1912, and the period of continuance thereof shall be thirty years.

ARTICLE III.

The names and places of residence of the incorporators are:

Gust Carlson, C. C. Butler and Andrew Nelson, all residing at Virginia, Minnesota.

ARTICLE IV.

The government of this corporation and management of its affairs shall be vested in a board of five directors, each of whom shall be stockholders, and said corporation shall have the following officers, to be chosen by the said Board of Directors from among the stockholders thereof: President, Vice President, Secretary and Treasurer. Any two of said offices may be held by the same person with the exception of the offices of the President and Vice President.

The directors shall be elected by the stockholders by ballot, each stockholder being entitled to cast as many ballots as he has shares of stock annually on the first Monday in June, in each and every year, commencing with the month of June, 1912.

The said officers and directors shall each hold office for one year from the first Monday in June until their successors are elected and qualified. Until said officers are elected, the following named persons shall be officers of the said corporation:

H. O. Johnson, President; Andrew Nelson, Vice President; C. C. Butler, Secretary, and Nels Anderson, Treasurer.

The annual meeting of both the stockholders and directors shall be held on the first Monday in June of each year, and besides such annual meeting, any other special meetings may be held at such time and place as may be prescribed by the By-Laws.

ARTICLE V.

The number of shares of the capital stock of said corporation shall be five hundred, and the amount thereof shall be One Hundred Dollars ($100.00) each, and may be paid for in either property, money or services, as the Board of Directors shall elect, and said stock shall be subscribed for at such times and in such amounts as may be prescribed by the Board of Directors. This corporation may commence doing business when ten per cent of its stock shall be subscribed for.

ARTICLE VI.

The highest amount of indebtedness or liability to which this corporation shall at any time be subject shall be Twenty-five Thousand Dollars ($25,000.00).

ARTICLE VII.

Until the first annual meeting of the corporation the following named persons, all residing at Virginia, Minnesota, shall constitute the Board of Directors of the corporation, viz.:

H. O. Johnson, Andrew Nelson, C. C. Butler, Nels Anderson and Gust Carlson.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, We have hereunto set our hands and seals this 4th day of January, A. D. 1912.

GUST CARLSON. (Seal)

D. H., Jan. 12 and 13, 1912.

IT IS HEREBY CERTIFIED, That at a meeting of the stockholders of BARTHE MARTIN COMPANY, held at Duluth, Minnesota, on January 9th, 1912, at which meeting all of the stockholders of said corporation were present in person or represented by proxy, the following resolution was adopted by the unanimous vote of the issued shares of said corporation:

RESOLVED, That the Articles of Incorporation of BARTHE MARTIN COMPANY be and are hereby amended as follows:

Article Four is amended to read as follows:

ARTICLE IV.

The amount of the capital stock of said corporation shall be One Hundred Thousand ($100,000) Dollars, and shall be paid in from time to time as called for by the Board of Directors of said corporation, and may be paid for in money or other property, at such time and such amounts and in such manner as the Board of Directors may determine. The said capital stock shall consist of ten thousand (10,000) shares of the par value of Ten ($10.00) Dollars each, of which six thousand five hundred (6,500) shares shall be common stock and three thousand five hundred (3,500) shares shall be preferred stock. The preferred stock shall be entitled to cumulative dividends at the rate of six per cent per annum, payable semi-annually on or before the fifteenth days of January and July in each year for the six months next preceding the first days of said months. Such dividends to be paid out of the net earnings of the corporation in preference to any dividends in the common stock thereof, but said preferred stock shall not be entitled to any further dividends or share in the earnings of said corporation.

In the event of the liquidation or winding up of the affairs of said corporation, whether voluntary or involuntary, the preferred stock then outstanding shall be paid off at par with all accrued dividends or apportionate fraction thereof, earned by the partial lapse of a dividend period, from the assets of the corporation before any payment therefrom be made upon the common stock of said corporation, and after such payment at par and accrued dividends, said preferred stock shall not be entitled to any further share in or payment from such assets.

The holder or holders of such preferred stock shall not be entitled to vote said stock at any stockholders' meeting unless the payment of dividends on such stock at the times and at the rate herein provided shall have been suspended or be in default, and such default or suspension shall have continued for sixty days after the same became due and payable as herein provided; but in case of such suspension or default, the holders of such stock shall have the same voting right and power as the holders of the common stock until such suspension has been terminated and such default cured, but no longer.

The corporation, by a vote of a majority of its Board of Directors, may pay off, redeem or cancel all or any part of said preferred stock and return the same to the treasury of said company for further issuance, which payment and redemption may be made upon any dividend date by giving thirty days' written notice thereof to the record owner of said stock, by the payment of the par value thereof, together with all dividends accrued and due thereon at the time of such payment; provided, however, that in case less than the whole amount of the outstanding preferred stock is so paid and returned to the treasury at any one time, the preferred stock so paid and recalled shall be ratably apportioned among the several holders of such preferred stock, unless all of the holders thereof agree among themselves as to the stock so to be returned, and produce as evidence of such agreement a written memorandum thereof. Said preferred stock that has so been returned to the treasury may be issued, returned and reissued as herein provided, or may become common stock and issued as such upon the determination of the Board of Directors; provided, however, that no returned preferred stock shall be reissued as such until after all the outstanding preferred stock shall have been liquidated and returned to the treasury.

The preferred stock in this corporation shall not be increased at any time without the written consent of all the stockholders of the then existing and outstanding preferred stock.

Article Five is amended to read as follows:

ARTICLE V.

The highest amount of indebtedness or liability to which this corporation shall at any time be subject shall be the sum of One Hundred Thousand ($100,000) Dollars.

IN TESTIMONY WHEREOF, This corporation has caused this certificate to be executed by its President and Secretary, and its corporate seal hereto affixed, this 9th day of January, 1912.

MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE SALE—

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of Six Hundred Dollars, which is claimed to be due and is due at the date of this notice, upon a certain Mortgage, duly executed and delivered by Henry Kirchhan and his wife, Mary Kirchhan, Mortagors, to James Rawson, Mortgagee, bearing date the Second day of January, 1894, and with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the County of Saint Louis, and State of Minnesota, on the Eleventh day of January, 1894, in Book 30 of Mortgages, on page 378.

Which said Mortgage, together with the debt secured thereby, was duly assigned by Alice E. Williams, as administratrix of the estate of said James Rawson, Deceased, an authenticated copy of letters appointing her such administratrix being recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds of St. Louis County, Minnesota, on January 25, 1901, in Book "M" of Miscellaneous, on page 613, and by Ann M. Rawson and Alice E. Williams, to Duluth, Winnipeg & Pacific Railroad company by written assignment dated the tenth day of February, 1911, and recorded on the second day of January, 1912, at 8 o'clock A. M., in the office of said Register of Deeds in Book 303 of Mortgages, page 292; and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said Mortgage or any part thereof.

NOW, THEREFORE, NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, That by virtue of the power of sale contained in said Mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said Mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said Mortgage, viz:

Lot number Six (6), in Block number One Hundred Forty-eight (148), in West Duluth, Fifth Division, according to the recorded plat thereof, on record in the office of the Register of Deeds of Saint Louis County, Minnesota, said premises being situated in Saint Louis County and State of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the Sheriff of said Saint Louis County at the Sheriff's office in the County Court House, in the City of Duluth in said County and State, on the nineteenth day of February 1912 at ten o'clock A. M., of that day, at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt of Five Hundred Dollars, and interest, and the taxes, if any, on said premises, and twenty-five dollars, attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

Dated January 2nd, A. D. 1912.
DULUTH, WINNIPEG & PACIFIC RAILROAD COMPANY,
Assignee of Mortgagee.

W. D. BAILEY, Attorney.

Don't think the drain on the coal bin has ended and a January thaw is approaching. The mercury has only come to the surface for breath. It will take another dive tomorrow afternoon or tomorrow night.

Another cold wave is forming in British Columbia and the Far West and the weather, which has greatly moderated today, will take a turn to colder in Duluth Sunday. The coming snap will not be as severe as that which has just closed, but it will be no banana belt frost by any means.

About midnight last night, the mercury stood at 21 deg. below zero. Towards morning there was a pronounced moderation and at 7 o'clock, the official thermometer at the weather bureau registered 8 deg. below zero. Mr. Richardson said the mercury will get above zero during the day and will hover around zero tonight, with temperatures of from 5 deg. to 10 deg. below zero on the range.

The new cold turn should arrive on schedule tomorrow afternoon.

The moderation noticeable at Duluth is general throughout the Northwest, the cold wave having moved southward and eastward. Some points

LEPER COLONY BUILDINGS AFIRE

Wireless Call for Help Sent From Station on Penikese Island.

Point Judith, R. I., Jan. 13.—A message from the wireless station on Penikese Island, which is used as a Massachusetts leper colony, stating that the buildings on the island were being destroyed by fire and asking for aid, was picked up by the wireless operator here at 1 o'clock this afternoon. The wireless operator on the island was trying to communicate with one of the revenue cutters. The island lies inside the entrance of Buzzards bay.

UNCLE SAM HAS 900 MEN IN CHINA

Marines Have Been Sent There Gradually Since Last October.

Washington, Jan. 13.—Nine hundred men of the United States marine corps, it was learned today, at present are in China, despatched there from the Philippines in small numbers since last October. The United States, as early as that date, was moving quietly in preparation for any eventuality in China. With this marine force and the battalion of 500 infantrymen now on its way, the United States will be well equipped for its share of the international work in China.

RISKS LIFE IN FUTILE JOURNEY

Thinly-Clad Man Wades Waist-Deep in Snow to Call Help.

Spokane, Wash., Jan. 13.—Clad only in a thin suit of underclothing and a pair of socks, Leander Lindsten, a miner, walked four miles through waist deep snow early today to Wallace, Idaho, to summon help for his brother and a companion, who, with him, had been caught in a snowslide west of Wallace yesterday. The rescuing party found John Pearson and Arthur Lindsten buried under the wreck of their cabin, both dead.

DROPS DEAD WHILE REPLENISHING FIRE.

East Grand Forks, Minn., Jan. 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—Just as he was about to replenish a coal fire in his home with more fuel, Louis Olson, aged 48, dropped over onto the stove, dead. He had raised the bucket of coal to a level with the top of the stove when he was stricken with heart failure. Mr. Olson was a prominent market gardener on Minnesota Point, and had lived here since 1890. He has a brother at Bemidji, Minn.

KAISER'S SON TAKES UP STUDY OF CIVICS

PRINCE AUGUST WILLIAM.

Berlin, Jan. 13.—Prince August Wilhelm, fourth son of the kaiser, has decided to adopt a civil career and will devoting himself to mastering the mysteries of Prussian local government. He is the first of the Hohenzollerns to adopt a civil career. The prince married the Princess Augusta Victoria of Schleswig-Holstein.

MISSED HIS VOCATION

Carnegie, Before Stanley Committee, Like a Bit of Vaudeville.

Story Had Comic Features and Convulsed All With Laughter.

Washington, Jan. 13.—Andrew Carnegie, before the Stanley committee, was as rare a bit of vaudeville as one sees on any of the better circuits. Carnegie has been spoiled, though; he does not answer the bell as you imagine he should. He has got into the bad habit of answering questions in his own peculiar way. For instance, when Mr. Carnegie would object and say: "Just wait a minute till I finish my story." Turning then to the official stenographer he would say: "Where was I at?" on finding himself he would proceed.

To begin with, he is as crafty as a crawfish. He never backs into a corner that does not have many exits that he can hike to on short notice. These exits are mainly lack of mem-

SOCIALISTS GAIN IN REICHSTAG

Reballots Must Be Awaited to Determine Actual Seating.

Berlin, Jan. 13.—At daybreak today, with returns from yesterday's elections practically complete, it was apparent that the reballots must be awaited before the character of the new reichstag would be definitely known. The results, with only forty-seven districts missing, are as follows:

Socialists—Seats won, 62, a net gain of 24; reballots 113.

Conservatives—Seats won, 32, a net loss of 18; reballots 65.

Centrists—Seats won, 82, a net loss of 6; reballots 35.

National Liberals—Seats won, 4; a net loss of 13; reballots 59.

Radicals—Seats won, none, a net loss of 12; reballots 51.

The Socialist gains, it appears, are mainly at the expense of the Radicals, who are greatly disappointed at their showing. They will return to the reichstag with hardly more than three-fifths of their former strength. The Socialist vote amounted to nearly 4,000,000.

SAYS TEACHERS MUST GET MORE

Briton Declares Underpaying Them Strikes at Life of America.

Stanford University, Cal., Jan. 13.—Pompous boards of education which underpay school teachers are striking at the life of the nation, according to the Hon. Alfred Mosley, head of the British Educational commission, who spoke his mind on the subject here today.

"America owes her position among the nations to her system of free education," Mr. Mosley declared. "American teachers, however, are grossly underpaid, and unless salaries are raised your system will fall short. If America fails, the world will go back to autocracy and the sword."

Americans, Mr. Mosley said, can teach progressiveness to Englishmen and can well learn from them honesty in business and a desire for equity among lawyers.

"You never hear of graft and corruption among English noblemen. Their family names cannot countenance graft," he said.

GEORGIANS QUIT WORK TO GO OUT AND SEE THE SNOW.

Atlanta, Ga., Jan. 13.—Snow covers the greater part of Georgia and the southern and western portion of the Carolinas. Business practically is suspended so the people may witness the unusual spectacle.

ACCOUNTS EXPLAINED

Accountant for Morris & Co. Testifies in Trial of Packers.

Government Wins Important Point on Examination of Books.

Chicago, Jan. 13.—H. A. Timmins, chief accountant for Morris & Co., resumed the witness stand at the opening of court today in the trial of the packers charged with maintaining a combination in restraint of trade.

Timmins continued his testimony regarding the details of the accounting system used. The witness described each book and enumerated the accounts kept in it.

Special Counsel James M. Shecan questioned Timmins at length in an effort to trace the items covering the sale of by-products through the different books.

Counsel for the government and an expert accountant worked until nearly midnight Friday going through the books of Morris & Co., and Timmins was asked to explain many of the items selected by the prosecution.

By Product Credits.

Voluminous vouchers were read, showing the transfer of by-products credits from one department to an-

RIOTS AT TEXTILE MILLS ARE ENDED

No Signs of Trouble Recur at Massachusetts Plants.

Lawrence, Mass., Jan. 13. — All the textile mills were reopened today without signs of disorder from the striking operatives. At the Washington, Wood, Aver and Lawrence mills the workmen were confronted by guards. The men showed no signs of creating trouble, and marched into the buildings in an orderly manner. Soon afterwards the paymasters began the work of distributing the weekly pay envelopes, which was the cause of the strike being started, the pay of the workers having been reduced incidentally to the decrease in hours of labor to fifty-four a week.

Whether a general strike will be called is to be decided upon at a meeting of the labor officials today. The mill officials plan to reopen for work next Monday morning and say that all the strikers who desire to return to employment will be allowed to do so.

HEADS REBELLION IN ECUADOR ARMY

GEN. ELOY ALFARO.

Guayaquil, Jan. 13.—Gen. EloyAlfaro is leader of the revolt in Ecuador. He was president at the time of the trouble with Peru in 1910. The United States intervened and succeeded in having the difficulties arbitrated. A year ago Estrada was elected to succeed Alfaro. Trouble arose again on the Peruvian frontier before Estrada was inaugurated. A revolution was started in the name of Estrada, and Alfaro was driven out. He went to Panama where he remained in exile until the death of Estrada. He is now in Ecuador fighting for the presidency.

ABDICATION OF THRONE AGREED UPON AT PEKIN

Pekin, Jan. 13.—The abdication of the throne has practically been decided on and the retirement to Jehol will take place almost immediately. A prolonged meeting of the principal members of the government this afternoon partly arranged the details for the abdication. Owing to the growing disorders in the provinces, the Manchu princes of the imperial clan, the Manchu officials and the soldiery agree that this is the only course open to the throne.

GO TO WASHINGTON FOR WISCONSIN'S MILITIA.

Madison, Wis., Jan. 13. — Lieut.-Commander Theodore W. Werder of the Wisconsin Naval militia, Ashland, and Col. John G. Salsman, assistant adjutant-general, Wisconsin National Guard, left Madison today for Washington, where they will visit the war department in the interests of the naval militia. Adjt.-Gen. C. R. Boardman, Col. R. B. McCoy and Maj. C. R. Williams of the Wisconsin National Guard are already in Washington to confer with the war department. The exact nature of their mission is not known.

ROBBERS WRECK TWO SAFES IN ONE NIGHT IN NEWPORT BEACH, CAL.

Newport Beach, Cal., Jan. 13.—Burglars blew open a safe of the State Bank of Newport Beach early today and are said to have obtained several thousand dollars. They also blew open the post-office safe. Both buildings were badly wrecked. The robbers escaped after a running revolver fight with a few residents and are said to be heading towards Los Angeles.

SICKNESS AND DEATH

Remarkable Series in History of Political Families of Minnesota.

Seven Deaths, and Dozen Operations to Save Others' Lives.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—The death of Mrs. S. G. Iverson, wife of the state auditor, yesterday added another incident to one of the most remarkable series of fatalities and injuries and illnesses recorded in the history of political families of Minnesota. Since the death of Governor John A. Johnson, Sept. 21, 1909, there have been seven deaths of state officials or persons in the families of state officers, and probably a dozen surgical operations to save the lives of others.

Clarence C. Dinehart, state treasurer, was the first to follow the late Governor Johnson. His death occurred June 1, 1910. Thomas J. Downs, custodian of the state capitol, died Nov.

NEGRO IS SOUGHT BY DENVER POSSE

Lures Girl Onto Prairie and Attacks and Leaves Her.

Denver, Colo., Jan. 13.—A posse is searching north of Denver for a negro who attacked Miss Effa Hazlett, a school teacher, 26 years old, on the prairie last night.

The negro called an employment agency by telephone and represented himself to be a Mr. Allen, who wanted a governess. Miss Hazlett was sent to the supposed position.

A negro who met her when she alighted said he was the servant sent to escort her to the Allen home. He led the way across the open prairie, where, she said, he attacked her and choked her to insensibility. Regaining consciousness, she made her way to a nearby ranch and told her story.

Miss Hazlett came here from Pennsylvania.

WINS PROMOTION BY HIS WORK IN MEXICO

FRED M. DEARING.

Washington, Jan. 13.—In line for promotion in the diplomatic service through the excellence of his record at the City of Mexico, Fred M. Dearing has been made assistant chief of the Latin-American bureau of the state department. Mr. Dearing has been at Mexico for some years and was in charge of the embassy during the troublous times last summer when Ambassador Wilson was on leave.

MILLIONAIRE FOR ONE DAY

Wilkesbarre Man Goes Broke After Night on Broadway.

Price of Breakfast and Ticket Home All He Has Left.

New York, Jan. 13. — Word came down from the room of John Jay McDevitt of Wilkesbarre, who was consumed with an ambition to live like a "millionaire for a day," and tried it yesterday when he came to town on a special train, that he was sleeping late this morning in keeping with the belief that it was a millionaire's privilege to stay under the covers as long as he wanted, especially when the thermometer was 3 deg. below zero.

McDevitt figured, after his night on Broadway, that he would at least have money for ham and eggs for breakfast today and the price of a return trip in an ordinary day coach to Wilkesbarre. He had hoped to remain here until Sunday.

Thinks Idea All Right.

"There is nothing the matter with this millionaire idea," remarked McDevitt, "if you could only keep it up. The last time I was in New York I slept in a 25-cent lodging house."

Bulletins on the progress of McDevitt reported him at midnight at a

COLLISION IN PUGET SOUND

British and American Steamers Meet—One Man Is Killed.

Tacoma, Wash., Jan. 13.—One man was killed and two seriously hurt on the British steamer Strathalbyn, which collided early today in Puget sound with the American Hawaiian liner Virginian. The whole forecastle and one bunk of the firemen's cabin were torn away, leaving a hole thirty feet long in the bow. Hold No. 1 filled with water and the Strathalbyn, with a list of 75 deg., limped into Tacoma. The Virginian, with several holes in her bow and side above the water line, also was dock here.

Collision in Boston Harbor.

Boston, Mass., Jan. 13.—The steamer Belfast, Boston to Bangor, Me., of the Eastern Steamship company, was in collision with a coal barge in Boston harbor early today. One man of the barge crew was drowned.

FIVE OF AUTO PARTY DROWN

Big Car Plunges Through Ice in Canal Near Trenton, N. J.

Wraps That Kept Off Cold Cause Death in the Water.

Trenton, N. J., Jan. 13.—Three young women and two young men were drowned early today when a big automobile in which they were returning from a visit to a roadhouse ran off the highway in the darkness and plunged into the water power canal at Brookville, three miles from here. The dead:

DONALD REED, son of Former Supreme Court Justice Alfred Reed of Reed's Manor, near here.

CHESTER A. VANCLEES, Trenton.

MISS MARGARET TINDALL.

MISS ANNIE HAZEL.

HELEN MULVEY, 17 years old.

The women are well known in this city.

A sixth member of the party, Fred M. Foster, owner and driver of the car and a member of a well-known Trenton family, escaped death in an almost miraculous manner.

SERIOUS BLAZE IN PHILADELPHIA

Fire Threatens to Burn Whole Business Center of the City.

Philadelphia, Jan. 13.—Fire which for a time seriously threatened the business center of the city damaged property early today to the extent of about $200,000.

The fire originated in the building occupied by the General Film company, manufacturers of moving picture films, and by a moving picture theater, at 926 and 928 Market street. The fire spread to the department store of Berg & Berg and the furniture store of Stern & Co., adjoining.

SAY OFFICIAL REPORTS LIE

Italian Soldiers Write That Turks and Arabs Are Victorious.

Rome, Jan. 13.—Letters from Italian officers and men serving with the invading army in Tripoli and Cyrenaica, received by their friends in Italy, describe in detail the extremely unpleasant position of the Italian troops at the front.

Fights which have been claimed as Italian victories in official dispatches from the commander-in-chief of the Italian expedition, are said by these correspondents to have been reverses.

The Italians appear to be suffering more severely in the vicinity of Derna than at other points. The troops who are engaged in protecting the engineers employed on the construction of aqueducts to bring water into the town have frequent furious engagements with the Turks and their Arab allies.

Arabs Attack Outposts.

Detachments of the latter make harrassing attacks on the Italian outposts day after day.

One Italian officer, writing to his father, says the Italian army has lost a large number of men in these engagements.

Another letter from a private says that in one battle regiments of grenadiers and Bersaglieri were nearly wiped out of existence.

Still another letter says that the Italians on one occasion ran out of ammunition, while the Turks and Arabs, well supplied, succeeded in killing and wounding 100 of the Italian soldiers, many of whom were mere boys who in their panic cried for their mothers.

BRITISH MINERS VOTE TO STRIKE

Coal Prices Go Up in Spite of Prospect of Settlement.

London, Jan. 13.—Coal dealers here are reaping a rich harvest as a consequence of the ballot of the coal miners, which unofficial reports state to be largely in favor of a nation-wide strike for a fixed minimum wage. The dispute affects about 900,000 men.

There is no doubt that the requisite two-thirds majority in favor of a strike has been secured, but that fact does not necessarily mean that the strike will occur, for the employers and workers have until the end of February to reach a settlement, and the prospects of an agreement being arrived at are favorable.

In spite of this orders are pouring in to the coal dealers, and the price of coal at the mine head has been raised 50 cents a ton for the best household coal, while retail dealers have increased the price to consumers from 75 to 84 cents a ton.

The admiralty is storing reserves of coal and orders have been issued to commanders of war vessels to economize and to utilize oil fuel as much as possible.

Then stand around in his shirt sleeves for hours at the curling rink?

ROCK PILE IS SHUNNED

Break in Cold Snap Causes Idlers to Shy From Work.

Morning Passes Without an Application for Job Breaking Stones.

For the first time in six weeks there was not one application for work at the rock pile this morning.

The sudden break in weather conditions is thought to be responsible.

Courtenay Dinwiddie, secretary of the Associated Charities, to whom application is made for jobs has been in the habit of hearing the stories of from twelve to thirty men each morning. Each day he would send as many men as possible to the quarry and when there was room for no more, he gave those remaining slips which entitled them to the first chances on the morning following.

This morning he was down to the office early as has been his custom so as to get the men to work as early as possible. He was surprised to find that there was not a long line of men awaiting at the door of the office. He was more surprised when the morning dragged along and not one man applied for work. At 12 o'clock he had not had a single application.

It is thought that the mild weather is responsible. There are a great many who will work only when they have to and during the warmer weather many places of shelter are available.

SOUP KITCHEN IN OPERATION

Salvation Army Helping Those in Need—Schedule of Meetings.

The soup kitchen which is being run by the Salvation Army during this cold weather is being conducted at as low a figure as possible, but help from friends would materially aid in gving men who work on small wages, and the men out of work, a bowl of hot soup to sustain them during their work in this cold weather.

Donations of any kind would also be used to good advantage among the poor and needy of the city, as the men of the staff constantly come in contact with cases where help is needed.

The shcedule of meetings for Corps No. 1 of the Salvation Army for the next few days is as follows:

Service tonight at 8 o'clock.

Sunday—Band practice, 9:30 a. m.; jail meeting 10 a. m.; Sunday school, 1:30 p. m.; open air, 2:30 p. m.; inside meeting, 3 p. m.; open air, 7 p. m.; inside meeting, 8 p. m.

Monday night — Financial board meeting.

Tuesday night—Col. Marshall of Minneapolis will visit Duluth for the public meeting, and Wednesday there will be an inspection of the army work in the city. At night a soldiers' council and the local board meeting will be held. The colonel will also commission the local officers and bandsmen for the coming year.

Weather—Snow tonight or Sunday; warmer tonight; colder Sunday afternoon and night.

ISLE OF PINES

The thermometer in the Isle of Pines is always on its good behavior. It is now about 75. The roses are blooming and swimming parties are in vogue.

What's the use; why don't you make a start toward being able to go away from here during such weather as we are having? A very little money invested now will put you in position where you can do it. A 10-acre grove in the Isle of Pines will make you independent very soon. Others right in Duluth are doing it. Why not you?

Talk to me. Call me up and I will come and see you.

BRIBERY LAID TO RAILWAY LAWYER

Three Southern Pacific Men Arrested Following Trial in California.

Redding, Cal., Jan. 13.—George W. Bush, attorney for the Southern Pacific company, J. J. Harrand and George W. Munderf, secret agents of the road, were arrested here today on indictments returned by the grand jury following an investigation of alleged attempted bribery in the recent trial of Daniel Fleming, convicted of manslaughter. Fleming was a railroad policeman.

The charge against them is offering a bribe to Frank Hooper, a negro convict, on parole, to get him to change the testimony he had given in the Fleming trial.

BIG CANAL ON MARS IS GROWING

Astronomers Claim This Is Proof of Work of Inhabitants.

Flagstaff, Ariz., Jan. 13.—Observations at the Lowell observatory show that the Martian canal Titan has doubled since the last presentation of this region six weeks ago. The canal runs nearly straight north from the gulf of the Titans across the equator and far into the northern hemisphere of the planet.

A perfectly parallel line has now appeared to the east of it, the distance separating the twins being somewhat more than a hundred miles.

This doubling of certain Martian canals at certain seasons is one of the proofs held to support the theory that the canals are of artificial construction.

SAYS ZEAL MADE McNAMARA CRAZY

Ryan of Iron Workers Gives First Statement Since Confession.

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 13.—"Zeal in working for the interest of organized labor," drove John J. McNamara, confessed dynamiter, insane and caused him to carry out a program of destruction, according to the statement of Frank M. Ryan of Chicago, president of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers.

Ryan's first extensive statement since McNamara's confession appears in the Bridgemen's Magazine, issued today. In this statement he recites the belief that the large number of lives lost by the workmen while engaged in their calling gave cause for McNamara's work against capitalistic interests.

POINCARE WILL FORM NEW FRENCH CABINET.

WILSON PLANS SHORT TRIP FOR NEXT WEEK.

Trenton, N. J., Jan. 13.—Governor Woodrow Wilson will leave next Wednesday for a short trip West. He is expected to return to New Jersey the following Monday. The governor also expects to visit Illinois and Wisconsin at a later date, but the itinerary has not yet been arranged.

GRAND JURY NEGLECTED ITS DUTY, SAYS MAYOR

More Indictments Should Have Been Returned If Report Is True.

Says Police Department Furnished Jurors With Most of Their Information.

Mayor Cullum did not mince his language this morning when asked for a statement on the report of the grand jury which was made public yesterday.

He declared that if the grand jury had evidence to warrant the sensational report, the grand jury was at fault for returning no indictments.

In the name of decency and good order he asked why the grand jury did not return indictments if there was any evidence that bowery saloonkeepers were robbing people, so that the council could be given an opportunity to act.

He asserted emphatically that the worst features of the public dance halls have been eliminated, adding that it seems to be the popular thing, because of the sensation there may be in it, to jump on imaginary dance halls, or the bowery saloons. He said that the grand jury was furnished practically all the information which it had by the police department and the county attorney, and that if the department is to be rewarded by a slurring report it is discouraging. He stated that the very fact that the grand jury could not find cause for more indictments ought to be evidence of a fairly good condition of affairs as far as crime in Duluth is concerned.

He said that as far as he could see such a magnified report only serves the purpose of discrediting the city on the outside and keeping people from coming here for fear of being robbed.

Grand Jury's Duty.

"It is the business of the grand jury to throw out a drag-net over the community, to gather in every witness and oblige them to testify under oath as to the conditions that exist," said Mayor Cullum.

"If the grand jury had such evidence as would justify a sensational report as to conditions surrounding dance halls, and no indictment was made in that respect, they were at fault. The same thing in regard to Bowery saloons.

"If there was any evidence that the Bowery saloon keepers were robbing people, why in the name of decency and good order did they not return an indictment, so that the council could act.

"The truth is that this city is almost alone in being without at the present time a nightly regularly organized nickel dance. Many of them in most cities are connected with some sort of drinking place. There has never been a scrap of evidence upon which we could act that any such condition has existed here.

"Public dances are no doubt given by interested people, by the clubs or societies, but the bad features, at least the worst features, have been entirely eliminatd. This has been done in co-operation with the committee of the Women's Council, the humane officer and the police department.

"If the grand jury cared to temper its report with a little fairness it would have been given credit for this.

"In regard to the robbing in saloons, the same thing holds good. Perhaps in no other city, with the woodsmen, sailors and miners coming in with pockets full of money, is the temptation so great for the light-fingered gentry. That we do not have five or six times the amount of it here is to the credit of the police force.

"It seems to be a popular thing, because of the sensation there may be in it to jump on imaginary dance halls, or the bowery saloons. Yet, there has not been a single case of hold-up in the bowery saloons brought before the grand jury. In spite of the opportunity that may exist for this sort of thing there is very little of it done in this city.

"The very fact that the grand jury, with all its power, could not find cause for indictment more than they did ought to be evidence of a pretty good condition of affairs as far as crime is concerned. Why a lot of business men and good citizens should attempt to magnify the situation by a sensational report is more than I can understand. This serves only one purpose that I can see: that it discredits the city on the outside, and discourages people coming here for fear of being robbed.

"The police department has independently, and in co-operation with the county attorney (Mr. Norton), furnished the grand jury with practically all the evidence they had. If the police department is to be rewarded for their energy by a slurring report it is also discouraging in that direction.

"If the grand jury with all its power, and all the evidence furnished by this department, does not care to find indictments, who are we to appeal to in the matter of law enforcement?"

MINNESOTA UNIVERSITY

Second Annual Pan-Hellenic Party to Be Given Next Friday.

Push Ball to Succeed Annual Freshman-Sophomore Cane Rush.

The second annual Pan-Hellenic party will be given next Friday, Jan. 19, in the Masonic temple. The senior fraternity men are arranging for the party and the attendance is expected to be even greater than last year when fully 150 couples were present. Each academic fraternity has pledged itself to pay $10 to defray expenses, and each is allowed to have as many members present as wish to attend.

Miss Elizabeth Ware has accepted an invitation to succeed Miss Bruchholz as general secretary of the W. W. C. A. Miss Bruchholz's resignation takes place in June at which time Miss Ware will assume her new duties.

Miss Ware has a large number of friends in school who are very much delighted that she will again be so closely connected with university life. Miss Ware was very active in the Y. W. C. A. affas during her college career and the organization feels elated in securing the services of one who so thoroughly understands university problems, and who is so well fitted for leadership.

A series of lectures will be given by members of the faculty beginning Jan. 17, and continuing until the close of the school year. Each lecture in the series will be given by a different member of the faculty who will consider some definite aspect of history and literature and will aim to point out the significance of the material discussed, both in the life of the times which produced it, and to the present students of the history of thought.

The chief purpose of these lectures is to aid in the co-ordination of the departments of English classics, English rhetoric, German and the Roman languages.

SENTENCE WEBSTER JAN. 22.

Death Penalty Not Asked for Illinois Uxoricide.

Elgin, Ill., Jan. 13.—Pronouncement of sentence on Dr. Harry Elgin Webster, who pleaded guilty to wife murder in the Ogle county circuit court here yesterday, will be made Jan. 22. State's Attorney Emerson did not ask for the death penalty in his concluding argument and Attorney John E. Erwin for the defense declared that infliction of extreme punishment would be barbaric in view of the defendant's plea of guilty.

"Harry Elgin Webster was broken down mentally when he killed his wife, Bessie Kent Webster," said Attorney Erwin. "He had got himself into a position by his two marriages, out of which he could not reason himself, and this condition resulted in driving him into a frenzy. In this frenzy he killed the girl.

"But the defense wishes to say it is our belief that Bessie Kent was a good girl and things said against her in Webster's application for a divorce were not true. She was good, but also she was misguided and loved Webster with an unreasoning passion that brought about her death."

MILWAUKEEAN SUES FOR $150 FOR FROGS.

Chicago, Jan. 13.—Judge Newcomer in the municipal court heard testimony yesterday in a suit brought by William Keiser of Milwaukee, Wis., against B. F. McCurdy of Chicago for $150 he says is due him from McCurdy for frogs shipped to this city. Keiser gave a long discourse on the life, habits and market value of the frog. Judge Newcomer interrupted Keiser to himself deliver a dissertation on frogs, their life history and methods for their capture. Among his thoughts on the subject, he said that Milwaukee frogs were less valuable than Indiana frogs and that the batrachians need no water while being shipped. Judgment was withheld.

RETURN FROM BIG MEETING

Duluth Was Represented at Agricultural Gathering at St. Paul.

George P. Grout Vice President of Livestock Breeders' Association.

George P. Grout, superintendent of the Jean du Luth stock farm, A. B. Hostetter of the Commercial club and Charles P. Craig, returned this morning from St. Cloud where they attended the meetings of the Minnesota Agricultural society and the Minnesota Livestock Breeders' association.

Mr. Grout was elected first vice president of the Livestock Breeders' association. Charles P. Craig, last year's president is succeeded by J. B. Irwin of Minneapolis.

There are 200 members of the Livestock Breeders' association and the membership is increasing rapidly. Much interest is being displayed in breeding the best of stock by the farmers of Minnesota and it will only be a matter of a few years, it is claimed, before practically all the farmers of the state will be enthusiastic members.

Many interesting papers were read on problems of raising and caring for livestock. Among the most interesting of the papers read was one on "Essential Factors in Profitable Dairying," by Mr. Grout.

In his address Mr. Grout showed how and why dairying in Minnesota is a good business proposition. He said, however, that without a good herd of cattle, economy in production and a suitable market there can be no profit.

He told of the essentials of a good herd of cattle. He stated that the tuberculosis test should be applied to every animal considered as an addition to the herd.

Mr. Grout took us the matter of economy in production, care of the herd, disease, breeds, the growing of feeds, markets and many other phases of the dairy farm business.

WILL INCREASE ELEVATOR SPACE AT FORT WILLIAM.

Advices from Fort William are that the Grand Trunk Pacific which now has a steel tank grain elevator capacity of 4,000,000 bushels at Fort William has started the construction of other tanks with the view of doubling the capacity. A storage capacity of about 8,000,000 bushels controlled by the Grand Trunk Pacific is expected by next season. The total elevator capacity at Fort William and Port Arthur at the present time is about 22,000,000 bushels, while at the American Head of the Lakes it is 35,000,000 bushels.

TUGS FAIL TO ASSIST ICE-LOCKED STEAMERS.

Chicago, Jan. 13.—Two lake passenger steamers, locked in ice floes five miles out of the Chicago harbor since early today, found themselves unable to disengage themselves and sent wireless calls for assistance to Chicago last night. Half a score of tugs went out to release them, but were unable to get close enough to pass a tow line because of the packed ice.

The two boats are the Indiana of the Goodrich Transportation company and the Kansas of the Northern Michigan Transportation company. They left Milwaukee early Wednesday night and the usual five to seven-hour trip was not finished tonight.

The Indiana became fast first and the Kansas was caught trying to aid her. Wireless messages say neither is in danger and both have ample supplies of coal and food. There are several passengers aboard.

ELECTRO MEDICAL DOCTORS OPEN THEIR OFFICES TUESDAY

The Doors of the New Offices Will Be Opened to the Sick and Afflicted Jan. 16. Men and Women Provided With Separate Waiting and Treating Rooms, No. 26 West Superior St.

Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock is the time that is now definitely set for the opening of the office of the Electro Medical Doctors at No. 26 West Superior street (next to Gidding's Store), on the second floor.

The opening of the new medical institute marks an era of progress for Duluth and Minnesota. For several months past some of the prominent business men of Duluth have been striving to secure the location of this institute. Now their ambition is accomplished, and the sick and afflicted of the great Northwest can reap the benefit by coming to Duluth and being cured by these modern medical specialists who have performed such wonders in their great institutions in the Eastern and Southern states.

Duluth has had a good many advertising doctors in the last few years, Dr. Larson, the Electro Radio people, the Adams Co., and lastly the hot air Baking Oven, have gone out of existence. They did not quit because there were not enough of suffering people at the Head of the Lakes, but because their system of treatment was as wrong and antique as their method of business and for that reason people failed to support and patronize them. You can fool all the people some of the time, but you cannot fool all of the people all the time. Not one of them had founded on a solid business basis like the Electro Medical Doctors who are incorporated in the State of Minnesota with $10,000 capitalization; they are backed by local and Eastern business men. They came to Duluth to stay and make this city their permanent home, and have in view to establish a big sanitarium after the office is in good running order; for that reason they formed a corporation. Patients who come to them now for treatment will find them here as well in the next decade.

The Electro Medical Doctors have made a grand offer to all sick and afflicted men and women to cure their cases for half the fee. They do not make any false statement, they do not offer "free cures" nor free treatments, they have nothing to give away free, that what you get free is worth nothing, and at the end you will have paid for a great deal more than things are worth. Like every doctor, they will have some charity cases rather than have dead-beats in their books, and poor people are as welcome to them as are the wealthy. The people they want at once are those whose cases are old and have refused to get well under the old method of treatments, those who have gone from doctor to doctor without having received a cure. They want them to demonstrate to the people of Duluth what this new method of medical science can do.

Consultation and examination are free to all, but only curable cases will be accepted for treatment. If your case is incurable you will be told so and not one penny of your money will be accepted. However, many cases that are incurable by old methods can be quickly cured by this wonderful new Electro-Medical system. One treatment with their tremendous Electro-Medical power will do a patient more good than ten gallons of ordinary medicines or ten pounds of pills. Their system of treatments is entirely new to Duluthians and there are thousands at the Head of the Lakes who will welcome it, especially those who have been advised that an operation is necessary to bring back their health. The human body is not made to be cut with steel and tortured and bled. The elements of nature as known to the Electro Medical Doctors will bring back health and good blood quicker than any surgeon's knife ever could. That does not say that they object to operations entirely, but they assert that most of the operations and the death which follows them could have been avoided if treated with means nature has supplied us with in the form of Electro-Medical treatment.

Nothing in the medical world has been of a greater success than the work of the Electro Medical Doctors and they expect to reap the same laurels here as they have elsewhere. They will keep their offices open between 9 in the morning and 8 at night with a recess for the hours at noon and for supper.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS.

Twin Ports Lodge No. 12, Shipmasters' Association, Holds Meeting.

Twin Ports lodge, No. 12, Ship Masters' association, elected officers last evening at its annual meeting held at Foresters' hall, Fourth avenue west and First street.

Capt. Wilson McGregor was selected president. Other officers elected were: Capt. Albert M. Jones, first vice president; Capt. J. E. Doherty, second vice president; Capt. J. C. La Vaque, treasurer; and Capt. Albert Swenson, recording and financial secretary.

Capt. McGregor was also elected delegate to the annual convention of the grand lodge, which will be held in Detroit Jan. 16. At the next meeting of the local lodge, Jan. 22. steps will be taken to organize an auxiliary among the masters' wives.

RACE TRACK ON THE LAKE

Horse Owners Will Have Chance to Exercise Their Speeders.

Road Will Be Built Across Rough Ice Near Shore.

Preparations are being made to provide a fine half mile ice track on the lake for Duluth and Superior horsemen. The H. Miscampbell company has men at work at the present time clearing a road out from the lake shore to the smooth ice. When the road is cleared to where the ice is smooth a half mile track will be laid out.

Several hundred feet from the shore line the ice has been piled up in layers by the action of the waves. It is so rough that it is quite impossible for horses to be driven over it. With a wide road extending from the shore to the place where the ice is perfect, as far as the eye can see, there will be a fine place for holding ice races. Terry Burns, who will lay out the track, says that the ice on the lake is safe for horses and in some places is a foot thick. It is an ideal place for ice boating, skating and horse racing. Some of the ice boats here have not been taken out the present season. Some of the horsemen have not been able to give their nags any work-outs for the reason that the ice on the bay has not been in good shape. The completion of the road through the rough shore ice will provide a fine track.

Pupils' Recital.

Pupils of the Flaaten Conservatory of Music of which Gustav Flaaten is director, gave a delightful recital last evening at the school on East Superior street. A large audience of parents and friends was delighted with the work of the students, and every performer was generously applauded.

Those who took part were: Agatha Norton, Bonnie Carroll, Henrietta Murphy, Mabel Cleout, Elvera Ross, Julia Rosin, Ethel Hardy James Vlener, Edna May Drier, Harry Haines, Zella Herbert, Henriette Erbelding, Gertrude Fahrnan, Lacarda Eliason, Hedric Fredin, Ethel Molitor, Ethel Gordon, Ethel, Molitor, Tess Booth, Lecarda Ellason and Lucille Albachten.

FRENCHMAN FLIES 88 MILES IN AN HOUR.

NEWS OF THE WEST END

GRAND MASTER OF SVITHIOD ORDER IS GUEST OF HONOR AT BANQUET GIVEN BY WEST END LODGE

OFFICERS OF FRIDHEN LODGE INSTALLED LAST EVENING.

Fridhen lodge, No. 43, of the Independent Order of Svithiod, held a grand installation of officers last evening at Sloan' hall. Twentieth avenue west and Superior street, following which refreshments were served and a smoker held by the members.

The local lodge is one of the strongest in the city and the grand lodge has the largest Swedish membership of any lodge in the country. Grand Master Edward T. Carlson of Chicago was the installing officer last evening and the guest of honor at the banquet following the ceremonies. Mr. Carlson was at Two Harbors Thursday and will install the officers at Hibbing this evening. The officers installed are the following, all of whom were re-elected for the year: Gust Hjerpe, grand master; Gust Landin, vice grand master; Carl Carlson, secretary; Oscar Berglund, chief; Joel Sjodin, treasurer; Fred Swanson, captain; J. Norberg, M. L. Carl Erlcson, A. R., and Axel Bjorklum, M.

GRAND MASTER FRANK T. CARLSON.

STAKY HEAD OF HILLSIDE CLUB

West End Organization Elects Officers for the Coming Year.

The West Duluth Hillside Improvement club held its annual election of officers last evening and the following members were chosen for the year: C. E. Staky, president; Frank Nordquist, vice president and treasurer, and G. P. Ellingsen, secretary. A committee was also appointed to take up the matter of the Coffee creek improvement with the city council and to inquire whether the general fund could be devoted for this purpose.

A resolution was passed at the regular business session, following the election, that the city council and the mayor should appoint only men with practical experience on the water and light board, board of public works and other city departments. The members of the club contend that there are too many professional men appointed to these positions, who have little practical experience, and who are compelled to take for granted anything that the employes of the departments report.

SERIES OF SERMONS ON EVERYDAY SINNERS.

Rev. J. A. McGaughey of the Second Presbyterian church, 1515 West Superior street, will start a series of sermons next Sunday evening on "Everyday-Sinners That Everybody Meets." The series includes five sermons to be given on five successive Sunday evenings. They are: "The Thief," "The Liar," "The Hypocrite," "The Blasphemer," and "The Slanderer."

Tomorrow morning at the regular services Rev. J. A. McGaughey will preach on "Christ-Likeness Through Suffering" and in the evening, "The Curse of An Answered Prayer."

OFFICERS OF SUNDAY SCHOOLS ARE ELECTED.

George W. Olson was last evening chosen first assistant superintendent and treasurer to succeed C. A. Lindahl, at the annual election and meeting of the Sunday school teachers of the Bethany Swedish Lutheran church, Twenty-third avenue west and Third street. Mr. Lindahl retires from the position after serving the church for ten years. O. Olson was chosen second assistant and Melchor Peterson, third assistant. The other officers are: Miss Hildegarde Miller, recording secretary; Miss Lydia Johnson, organist, and Gust Olson, Arvid Paulson, Carl Olson and Ames Bergquist, assistant secretaries.

The English branch of the Sunday school also held its annual meeting and J. G. Anderson was elected first assistant superintendent; Miss Alfhild Benson, organist, and Edward Anderson, assistant secretary. Rev. C. G. Olson, pastor of the church, is superintendent of both schools.

FIFTH WARD CLUB TO HEAR CANDIDATES.

The Fifth Ward Improvement club has called a special mid-month meeting for Tuesday evening, Jan. 23, to be held at the Emerson school. Candidates for office will speak on political issues.

Invitations have been sent out to the various candidates to be present at the meeting and a request has been sent to the Duluth-Edison company to have one of its representatives speak at the meeting on the municipal light question. D. C. Moore, president of the club, is arranging the program and has invited all the residents of the Fifth ward to the meeting.

Terrible Suffering

Eczema All Over Baby's Body.

"When my baby was four months old his face broke out with eczema, and at sixteen months of age his face, hands and arms were in a dreadful state. The eczema spread all over his body. We had to put a mask or cloth over his face and tie up his hands. Finally we gave him Hood's Sarsaparilla, and in a few months he was entirely cured. Today he is a healthy boy." Mrs. Inez Lewis, Baring, Maine.

Hood's Sarsaparilla relieves blood diseases and builds up the system.

OFFERS TO BUILD BRANCH POSTOFFICE.

Following the meeting held by the West End Business Men's club Tuesday afternoon, when Postoffice Inspector H. R. Smith of Washington heard the request for a branch postoffice for this end of the city, E. I. Salter of the Salter Realty company has offered his property for a building to house a branch station. He is willing to build and furnish the light, heat and fixtures according to the government contract.

The members of the West End Business club have taken the matter up among themselves and will send the plans to the postal authorities at Washington. Mr. Salter owns the lot directly off the corner of Twenty-first avenue west and Superior street, which is in the shape of an L opening up in the alley that runs parallel with Superior street. This would be of great benefit for the delivery wagons as they could back up in the alley and drop off the mail at the rear entrance. The lot covers a fifty-foot frontage on Twenty-first avenue west and forty feet in the alley, covering about 2,400 square feet of floor space.

It is believed that if the plans are sent along with the report of Mr. Smith, the authorities at Washington will more likely favor the request of the West end residents and establish the proposed branch sometime this summer. Residents of this end of the city are all behind the plan of the club members, and helping them in their campaign for a branch.

DULUTH CASUALTY COMPANY ORGANIZED.

Four West end men have organized the Duluth Casualty company and this afternoon finished all the details necessary to having it recognized by the insurance department of the state. The charter has been secured from the state secretary and was duly signed by Secretary Julius A. Schmal.

The company was organized by Dr. O. A. Oredson, Nils Nisson, Jacob Jacobson and James Wharton to carry on an insurance business on the co-operative or assessment plan. The company will insure lives of persons, insurance against loss from sickness, bodily injuries or death by accident. The members have already deposited the necessary $5,000 for the securing of the state license and have formed a company with the following officers: Dr. O. A. Oredson, president; Jacob Jacobson, treasurer; Nils Nisson, general manager, and James Wharton, secretary and attorney.

Now Has 100 Members.

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the Vasa order, No. 170, closed its charter last evening at a special meeting of the members of the newly organized order. There are at present about 100 members in the auxiliary and with the present rate of increase, the members expect about 200 more by July 1. An active campaign for new members will be started within a few weeks and an attempt made to secure the required number. Mrs. Peter Olson is president of the order.

Anderson Funeral.

The funeral of Andrew Anderson, 27 years old, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Anderson, 2015 West Sixth street, who died Jan. 2 as the result of a boxing match at Baudette, was held at 1 o'clock this afternoon from the Bethany Swedish Lutheran church, Twenty-third avenue west and Third street. Rev. C. G. Olson, pastor of the church, officiated and interment was in the Lutheran cemetery.

Alex Cohen Dies.

Alex Cohen, 70 years old, 1932 West Michigan street, died yesterday noon after a brief illness. He had been a resident of the West end for the past ten years. He leaves besides a widow, two sons and a daughter, all living in Duluth. The funeral will probably be held Monday afternoon from the residence.

Funeral of Mrs. Lundgren.

The funeral of Mrs. Anna L. Lundgren, 68 years old, wife of Charles V. Lundgren of Hermantown, who died Wednesday afternoon after an illness of several weeks, was held at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon from the family residence. Rev. C. G. Olson, pastor of the Bethany Swedish Lutheran church, officiated and interment was in the Lutheran cemetery.

Child's Funeral.

The funeral of Alletta Johnson, the 3-months-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. K. A. Johnson, 2713½ Helm street, who died yesterday morning after a short illness, was held at 10 o'clock this morning from the family residence. Rev. C. G. Olson of the Bethany Swedish Lutheran church officiated and interment was in the Park Hill cemetery.

West End Briefs.

North Star lodge, No. 11, I. O. G. T., held a social evening at Sloan's hall yesterday and a special musical program was rendered, followed by refreshments which were served by the ladies of the order. A similar social will be given next Thursday evening.

The Scandinavian Sick Benefit society held its annual installation of officers at the Columbia hall last evening, which was followed by a supper and dance.

Bert Enger is in the East on a three weeks' combined pleasure and business trip. He will visit in New York, Chicago and Milwaukee before returning home.

Rev. C. G. Olson of the Bethany Swedish Lutheran church returned yesterday afternoon from the range where he conducted a series of mission meetings.

Mr. and Mrs. John Nord and family, 2215 West Second street, left this morning for Florida, where Mr. Nord is building a number of houses and stores. They will return in the spring.

Mrs. E. B. Richmond of Chicago left for her home yesterday after spending the past week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Stout, 2207 West Fifth street.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Nordquist of Deer River, Minn., will leave for their home this evening after spending the past week as guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. Thoran, 226 North Twenty-sixth avenue west.

SICKNESS AND DEATH

8, 1910. The death of Justice Jaggard of the supreme court followed on Feb. 13, 1911. Then came the death of S. H. Swann, chief clerk in the office of the state game and fish commission, in August, 1911. The father of C. M. Staples, railroad and warehouse commissioner, died Sept. 29, 1911. The death of George Welch, commissioner of immigration, was recorded last month, and that of Mrs. Iverson yesterday.

Injuries and Illness.

Mrs. Walter J. Smith, wife of the present state treasurer, fell at her home last summer, broke her hip and remained in the hospital until fall. She still is using crutches. Mrs. Julius Schmahl, wife of the secretary of state, was operated upon in October last, for an internal trouble, and is still ill, although her condition is much improved. Mrs. A. O. Eberhart, wife of the governor, was operated on in Bethesda hospital, Minneapolis, about two weeks ago, for acute appendicitis. She is rapidly recovering.

Mrs. Charles Elmquist, wife of the member of the railroad and warehouse commission, is in the hospital now, recovering from an operation for acute appendicitis. It was thought last week that an operation on Kelsey S. Chase, state superintendent of banks, would be necessary, because of internal trouble. He was in bed for a week, but an operation was avoided. It was likewise thought by surgeons that Guy A. Eaton, commander of the naval militia, and state oil inspector, would have to undergo an operation for a growth in his nose, and Mr. Eaton prepared for it, but it was avoided.

Mrs. Andrew Fritz, wife of the public examiner, has been ill much of the winter, but her condition is improved now.

Rukard Hurd, secretary of the tax commission, underwent an operation at one of the local hospitals a short time ago. W. F. Houk, state labor commissioner, successfully combatted with an attack of grippe, but it had him in bed for some days.

So much sickness and death has come into the state official family that it has become a source of much comment in the gray stone building where the working hours are spent.

FIVE OF AUTO PARTY DROWN

house, several miles north of here. After remaining at the roadhouse several hours, they started home. The weather being bitterly cold, the top of the automobile was up and the side and front curtains buttoned.

The members of the party, bundled up in furs and covered with cold-repelling rugs, had no chance of escape when the machine, bowling homeward at a fast pace, suddenly left a short turn in the road and plunged onto the ice covering the mill race at Brookville.

Foster owes his escape from death to the fact that he was driving the car. He went down under the water's surface with the others, but managed to disentangle himself from the car and struggle ashore.

Got Help at Roadhouse.

How long it took Foster to make his way to the shore is not known, but he managed to get to a roadhouse, a mile away, despite the cold, and summoned help. He was in too serious a condition to give assistance himself.

Young Foster, apparently recovered from his shock, was brought from the roadhouse to his father's home shortly before noon. He declined to make any statement.

Up to noon only two bodies had been recovered, those of the Tindall and Mulvey girls. The coroner and his men still are at the scene trying to recover the bodies. The car is imbedded in the ice.

Former Justice Reed, father of one of the victims of the tragedy, is a heartbroken member of the party that is hunting in the ice covered waters of the canal for the three bodies not yet recovered. Despite his years he is aiding and directing the efforts of the searchers.

Young Foster was in another automobile accident at Brunswick a few months ago.

MISSED HIS VOCATION

ory, due, he said, to a sunstroke that he suffered as a boy the first day he really made any money.

Objected to "Ifs."

Another loophole that he used frequently was that just on the heels, or a few days thereafter, of a certain transaction involving a few hundred thousand dollars, another one took place within another twenty-four hours involving several millions. So that, quite naturally, a man having a sandwich for breakfast and the best dinner Chamberlain of the old days used to shove out in the evening, must be excused for forgetting the sandwich. It did not take more than ten minutes for Mr. Carnegie to halter-break the committee. He said, for instance, "Oh you must not ask me questions with an 'if' in them. If the dog hadn't stopped he would have caught the rabbit.

When Mr. Carnegie looked up there was not a rabbit in sight.

There was not anything even of the committee in sight but the ovals of well-filled waistcoats and a few bouncing watch fobs. Everybody was leaning back yelling with laughter.

Mr. Carnegie's nose was not made for glasses. At intervals when large sums of money were mentioned that had not certain circumstances have happened would have been large sums of money for Mr. Carnegie, his glasses would slide off the end of his nose. Each time Mr. Carnegie would catch them with some movement of his hands, suggesting a capable center fielder.

All Sorts of Fun.

He was leading the committee a merry chase in the early part of the hearing, having all sorts of fun. He had worked himself into a perspiration and the glasses would not stay on his nose at all.

When Mr. Stanley referred to $16,000,000 for some slight fraction of the Oliver holdings in a certain mine, this sum having been paid to Oliver by the Steel trust, instantly the perspiring face turned to a deathly pallor; a most serious, tearful look came on Mr. Carnegie's face. It was plaintive, almost pathetic. His chin quivered like a child about to cry.

"Oh," he said, with a voice full of emotion, "that must be a mistake. I have never heard of it before. I only got four hundred and some odd millions for my share from the Steel trust, and if that was the case, why then—" and amid an uproar of laughter that drowned everything Mr. Carnegie gave the impression that he had been stung.

Against Stock Jobres.

Before Mr. Carnegie concluded his testimony yesterday he admitted that in 1900 he had contributed $15,000 to oppose the policy of imperialism and the annexation of the Philippines; assailed Wall Street, and branded "stock jobbers" as parasites, urged the Roosevelt trust policy in preference to that of President Taft for dealing with the trusts, and asked congress to consider carefully that problem.

"I dislike the word philanthrophist," he said in the course of his testimony. "It is harder to distribute wealth wisely than to make it. To me the word philanthrophist suggests a man with more money than brains. Some philanthrophy has done more to pauperize people than to aid them."

What Are Lawyers Worth?

Again he asked:

"What are lawyers worth if they have not been able to improve laws handed down from Mount Sinai?"

After a day of examination on many subjects Mr. Carnegie was subjected to a fire of questions which put him on his mettle. Chairman Stanley elicited from him an attack on stock jobbing that probably will influence legislation to be proposed by the committee, and Representative McGillicuddy of Maine took the iron master over some political jumps that were altogether unexpected.

"Mr. Carnegie," asked Mr. Stanley, "in the organization of the Carnegie Steel company of New Jersey, why did you divide your stock into $1,000 shares?"

"To keep them off the stock exchange," was Mr. Carnegie's quick reply.

Opposed to Stock Jobbers.

"Why did you want to keep them off the stock exchange?"

"Because I did not believe in stock jobbing. Because I did not wish to have my partners in business tempted to speculate. I never in my life bought or sold a share of stock on the speculative market. I was reared differently. I had a grandfather ruined in Scotland by stock speculation. I resolved that it was ruinous when a young man, and throughout my business career I never bought long nor sold short."

Chairman Stanley, producing an old document, read from a statement made by Mr. Carnegie many years ago, in which the iron master said: "Stock gamblers are parasites feeding on values and creating none."

"Are you still of that opinion?" he asked.

"Mr. Stanley, the other day you referred to something I had said about competition and you said you would like to have it engraved on a memorial tablet," Mr. Carnegie answered. "I wish you would take the quotation you have just read, engrave it on a tablet and put it in the stock exchange."

After McKinley's Election.

Representative McGillicuddy's questions somewhat confused Mr. Carnegie by seeking to know how the plan was formulated to organize the United States Steel corporation before Mr. McKinley was elected in 1900 and that the deal was consummated soon after the election. He brought out the fact that Mr. Carnegie had told McKinley to have nothing to do with imperialism or the acquisition of the Philippines.

"Didn't some of the Morgan people come to you and tell you that it was necessary to elect McKinley in order to form this United States Steel corporation?" the congressman asked.

"No such thing ever occurred," Mr. Carnegie aswered sharply.

"After McKinley was inaugurated in March, 1901, and Philander C. Knox, who had been attorney for your company, was made attorney general in his cabinet, is not true that within thirty days your steel corporation actually was formed?" Mr. McGillicuddy persisted.

"Why do you say 'your steel corporation?'" asked Mr. Carnegie, impatiently. "I had nothing to do with the Steel corporation. Never invested a cent in it. I merely sold it my property."

Mr. McGillicuddy then asked that if after the Steel corporation was formed, throughout the entire administration and Mr. Knox's term as attorney general, there had been any prosecution of the Steel trust. Mr. Carnegie said he heard of none.

Chairman Stanley told Mr. Carnegie of intimations that he was about to be enmeshed by Morgan, Gary, Gates and a gigantic competitive combine against the Carnegie Steel company just before the Steel corporation proper was made, and suggested that there were reports current that he was a sick man who could be easily induced.

Had Enough Money.

"Well, I was still able to take sustenance," said Mr. Carnegie. "But they approached me at a good time. I had already formed a determination of my career. I had determined that I would not spend my old age in making more dollars. I had all the money I wanted, and I demonstrated that some time before, when the Moores sought an option on the works and I had left it to my partners to decide."

At the conclusion of the testimony Mr. Carnegie made a little speech. Rising from the witness chair, he said:

"Gentlemen, I came down here with an averson to publicity, but I want to tell you truthfully, I have enjoyed it. Let me say to you, get the court organized and proceed one step at a time. Gentlemen, I shall miss your happy faces. When shall we meet again?"

"That latchstring is always hanging out, Mr. Carnegie," said Chairman Stanley.

"Well, if I ever get another of those signatures of yours to an official summons," said the iron master, "I will be at your disposal—unless, of course, my counsel objects."

MILLIONAIRE FOR ONE DAY

Broadway lobster palace, with cold bottles being served frequently to relieve his spending fever.

McDevitt proved himself more of a real millionaire than expected, for after his arrival by a special train which had cost him $300, he put on the brakes and at a fashionable Fifth avenue hotel was independent enough to insist that scrambled eggs would do for dinner and took the cheapest room in the house. The shipping clerk, secretary, bootblack, porter and private physician he brought with him insisted on more sumptuous meals, however, and the check came to $10, to which McDevitt was riotous enough to add a $4 tip.

Just Like the Real Thing.

The party adjourned to a theater, where the millionaire's presence was announced. One of the spectators asked him if he had any money to give away.

"You never heard of a millionaire giving away money," was his tart rejoinder.

New found friends took him to a Broadway restaurant, and later to a theatrical club.

MILD SPELL TO BE BRIEF

unaccustomed to severe winter weather are shivering in icy blasts today.

Atlantic Seaboard Chilled.

Washington, Jan. 13.—Frigid weather, the coldest in many years, swept along the Atlantic seaboard today, extreme temperatures being reported to the government weather bureau from Northern New England points to the Carolinas. Relief is promised for tomorrow east of the Mississippi river, though it will be accompanied by a fall of snow.

Canton, N. Y., reported the lowest temperature, 26 deg. below zero, while Binghampton, with 20 below, Northfield, Vt., 22 below; Albany, 14 below; New York city, 4 below; Chicago 2 below; Philadelphia, zero, gave some indication of the continued intensity of the cold wave. Fairly warm weather prevails through the Eastern Gulf states, 70 deg. being registered at Key West, Fla., though New Orleans, La., is freezing with 22 degrees above, and indications are that the West Gulf states will continue cold.

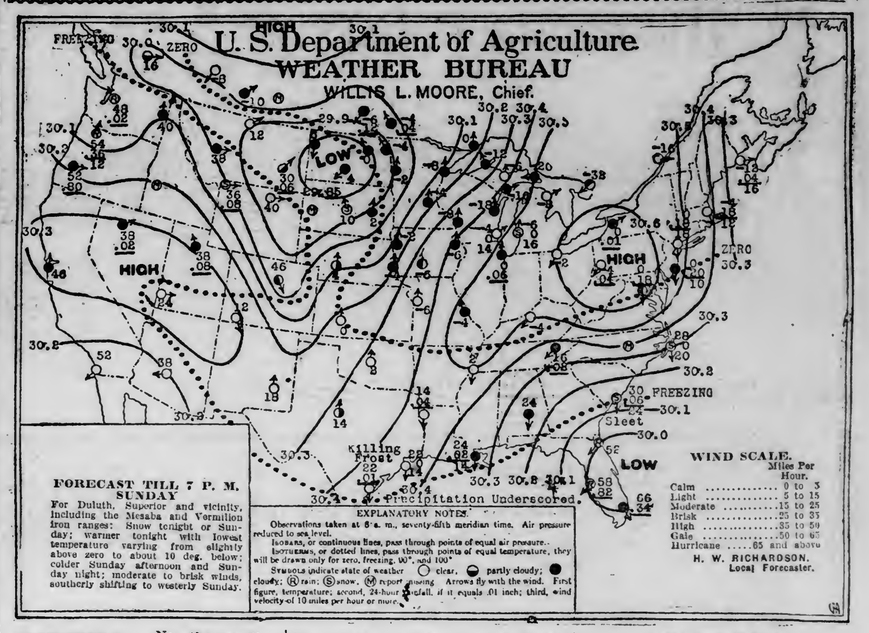

Northwestern states with temperatures of 30 above at Niles City, and 38 above at Helena, soon will experience a cold wave from the Canadian Northwest. The Rocky Mountain region and Coast states are enjoying moderate weather.

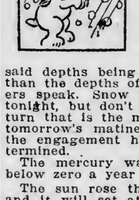

Food Prices Are Raised.

Chicago, Jan. 13.—Though the weather today moderated, the forecast is for another cold wave and fear of a potato famine in Chicago has moved dealers to conserve the supply by adding materially to the price asked. The dollar a bushel level for quotations, wholesale, was forgotten to a great extent and there was a disposition to collect a nickel more as an adequate toll, considering the difficulties in the way of accumulating a stock. It was alleged that the expedient of having coal stoves in the freight cars had not prevented the potatoes from freezing, as owing to the record-breaking cold, the movements of trains had been rendered so slow and uncertain that the fires went out between stations. Hardly a third of the usual receipts was brought into the city yesterday and the shortage has been growing now for nearly a week.

Eggs and butter as well as potatoes have been moved up into the luxury class, the responsibility being charged likewise to the cold wave. As compared with a week previous, such products have risen 2 to 4 cents.

OFFICIAL MAP OF THE WEATHER

No, the weather man hasn't come out of it. He has only rolled over. The near-normal spel that began this morning will continue only until tomorrow afternoon or night, when the mercury will take another plunge into the depths below—said depths being somewhat chillier than the depths of which the preachers speak. Snow is on the bills for tonight, but don't forget the big cold turn that is the main attraction for tomorrow's matinee. The length of the engagement has not been determined.

The mercury was down to 8 deg. below zero a year ago today.

The sun rose this morning at 7:51 and it will set at 4:43 this evening, giving eight hours and fifty-two minutes of sunlight.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"The zero weather now includes the Ohio valley and North Atlantic states. In Saskatchewan, Manitoba, Montana, Wyoming, Colorado, Nebraska, the Dakotas, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Iowa and Kansas the temperature has risen anywhere from 10 deg. to 50 deg. compared with Friday morning, but the respite will likely be but temporary as there is another turn to colder developing in the extreme Northwest. This latter change will reach the Head of the Lakes during Sunday afternoon and Sunday night. During the last twenty-four hours rain or snow fell over Atlantic and Gulf states, the Southern Lake region, Manitoba, South Dakota, Southern Montana, Western Wyoming, Northern Utah, Idaho, Nevada, Oregon and Washington."

General Forecasts.

Chicago, Jan. 13.—Forecasts for twenty-four hours ending at 7 p. m. Sunday:

Upper Michigan—Snow tonight and Sunday; warmer tonight.

Wisconsin—Snow tonight or Sunday; warmer tonight; colder Sunday night and in west portion Sunday afternoon.

Minnesota—Snow tonight or Sunday; warmer in east and colder in west portion tonight; colder Sunday.

Iowa—Unsettled weather with probably snow flurries tonight or Sunday; warmer tonight; colder Sunday night and in west and central portions Sunday afternoon.

North Dakota—Snow and colder tonight; cold wave in west portion; Sunday generally fair with colder in east portion.

South Dakota—Unsettled and colder tonight; cold wave in west portion; Sunday generally fair and colder.

Montana—Unsettled weather with snow in extreme west portion tonight or Sunday; much colder tonight with cold wave in east portion.

Shippers' forecast—Protect thirty-six-hour shipments of perishables against temperatures ranging between zero and 20 deg. below in the Dakotas, Minnesota and Wisconsin.

Philadelphia is Cold.

Philadelphia, Jan. 13.—Zero weather was experienced in Philadelphia today for the first time in eight years. Throughout the state and in New Jersey and Delaware the temperature was the lowest in years, the mercury going to 12 and 15 deg. below zero in the mountains of Pennsylvania.

Virginia Coldest in Years.

Winchester, Va., Jan. 13.—Northern Virginia is buried under a foot of snow. With the thermometer 2 deg. below zero early today this section is experiencing the coldest weather in fifteen years.

Boston Reports 7 Below.

Boston, Jan. 13.—Although the official temperature at the lowest touched 7 below zero, the weather authorities declared today that the crest of the western cold wave was still to come, and that tomorrow morning probably would see lower readings.

Milder In St. Louis.

St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 13.—Thirteen deg. below zero was the lowest temperature recorded in St. Louis today. Soon after the minimum reading, the weather began moderating, and at 9 o'clock the government thermometer registered 4 deg. below.

Southwest Gets Relief.

Kansas City, Mo., Jan. 13.—Although a rise of from 10 to 20 deg. in temperature today greatly alleviated suffering here and in the Southwest, normal conditions probably will not prevail inside of a week. Seven deg. below zero was recorded here today. Temperatures up the Missouri valley today also came up to a normal winter figure.

The railroads still are fighting for a passage through Western Kansas. The Santa Fe has been opened to Dodge City, but west of that point the line is blocked by drifts in some places thirty feet high.

Ranchman Frozen In Saddle.

Many details of privations suffered by ranchers came to light today. Frozen to death in his saddle, his horse dead under him and scores of dead cattle about him, the body of T. C. Bidwell, a ranchman, was found half buried in the snow near Scott City, Kan. Bidwell lost his life attempting to drive his herds to shelter.

New York Coldest in Eight Years.

New York, Jan. 13.—This was the coldest day New York has experienced in eight years. From 5 deg. above zero at midnight, the mercury slid steadily down until at 6:30 a. m. it was 3 below. Then a rise set in, and at 8 a. m. the temperature was 1 below, with indications of a gradual rise throughout the day.

Dry, crackling cold and the absence of wind minimized the suffering of those forced outdoors, but the municipal lodging houses and charity organizations were jammed with the homeless and destitute.

Over in the New Jersey suburbs unofficial thermometers reported 7 below. Both the North and East rivers are jammed with ice, which delayed ferry traffic.

Many persons suffering from exposure have been taken to the hospitals, among them three firemen who were almost frozen to death in their ice-caked rubber coats while fighting a lumber yard fire in Brooklyn.

In the Adirrondacks the temperature ranged from 15 to 16 deg. below zero, and at points along the Hudson river the mercury was as low as 31 deg. below zero.

Steel Chiefs Confer.

New York, Jan. 13.—The regular monthly meeting of the presidents of the United States Steel subsidiaries yesterday was without public interest, so far as could be learned. The various presidents were in session the greater part of the day and it was unofficially declared that the conference dealt chiefly with existing trade conditions. No credence attached to rumors of possible price advances, and aside from the announcement that the corporation mills are working at 70 to 80 per cent of capacity, no details were vouchsafed.

News and Views of Minnesota Politics

Admirers seem determined to drag officers of the Northern Minnesota Development association into politics, which is all right if the association is not dragged in with them. Up to the St. Cloud meeting the association had fought shy of politics, especially as it affected individuals. It could not, of course, get away from political issues, as almost every question with which the association is concerned is of political nature.

Governor Eberhart's friends succeeded in a political move at St. Cloud. Of late politics has been discussed generally in connection with officers of the association.

First, H. J. Maxfield of Wadena, former president of the association, was appointed immigration commissioner. It is a political office and comes by appointment of the governor.

Now a boom has been started for Secretary W. R. Mackenzie for the Republican nomination for secretary of state. Mr. Mackenzie's friends will bank on the proposition that he is not a self-seeker. He has given freely of his time, energy and means to the work of the association. He organized it and fostered it through its work to date and he has steered it clear of many rocks. If Mr. Mackenzie becomes a candidate for secretary of state, he will first be certain that the association will not be adversely affected by it.

Friends of C. M. King, president of the association and chairman of the good roads committee, are talking of urging him to become a candidate for the house of representatives from the Fifty-second district this year. Other good roads leaders, such as R. C. Dunn of Princeton and Senator George T. Elwell of Minneapolis, are in the legislature and they believe Mr. King could do effective work for Northern Minnesota in the state capital.

Mr. King is a whole-hearted advocate of good roads. He has been untiring in his work as chairman of the good roads committee since he was appointed last June and the effects of his work will be seen in future years. He is in Mr. Mackenzie's class as a man whose first interest is in the association and if he should become a candidate for the house, it would be because he believed that he could further the development of Northern Minnesota in which he is so deeply interested.

Mr. King would be at a disadvantage in the Fifty-second district, as he is a Democrat and the district is normally Republican. It has a full Republican representation in the legislature now, but Mr. King's friends believe his personal popularity would offset the normal Republican majority.

Mr. Mackenzie and Mr. King are well fitted for the office for which their friends would have them be candidates. The only danger is that the people outside of Northern Minnesota might lay a charge of politics against the association and so impair its usefulness. The action—or inaction—of the association at St. Cloud would form the first basis of such a charge, and hard work by members of the association will be necessary to down it.

Under the caption, "A Perfectly Good Campaign Issue," the Cambridge North Star this week discusses the subject of state taxes. The North Star follows the lead of other papers throughout the state, and the attitude of the press indicates that one of the most serious problems with which candidates for state offices will have to contend in the coming campaign is that of state expenditures. The present administration will be under a handicap in that respect, for it has cheerfully gone on increasing instead of curbing expenditures. The state tax rate this year is the highest in forty years and the organization will be called upon to explain—if any explanation can be offered for such a glaring fact.

The candidate who pledges himself to cut expenses, and gives evidence of his sincerity, will be given an attentive ear by the tax-payers of the state this year.

The editorial in the North Star follows:

The report of State Treasurer Smith shows that the tax collections in 1901 amounted to $1,774,532, and in 1911 to $3,439,700—almist doubling in the past ten years. There is food for thought in this, for, as we understand it, the total tax receipts each year are swallowed up by state expenses.

As we look back upon the history of legislation during this decade we recall that there has been an increase in the salaries of the governor, the lieutenant governor, the judges of the supreme and of the district courts, the auditor, the board of control, the railroad and warehouse commissioners, the members of the legislature and of many minor officers. Besides this, many new boards and offices have been created with fat salaries attached. The state oil inspector, the insurance commissioner, the bank examiner, the tax commission, the immigration commission, the forestry board, the department of weights and measures and the highway commission support a horde of office holders more or less useful, and most of them drawing salaries far in excess of their earning capacity.

Why don't some of the candidates for state office who pose as friends of the people investigate state extravagance and give us the benefit of their researches, and make some proposals concerning an alleviation of the taxpayer's burden?

If some of the Republican candidates don't seize the opportunity, the Democrats will; and the result to our party may be embarrassing. If the people all come to understand that the cost of running the state doubles while the population increases only 18½ per cent in the same period, they will insist upon fixing the responsibility somewhere.

Through criticism of the last legislature for parsimony in state fair appropriations, W. W. Sivright of Hutchinson has alienated one friend of the fair. Bob Dunn of Princeton objects to being classed with "jackasses," and delivers himself of the following in this week's issue of the Princton Union:

While presiding temporarily at the meeting of the state agricultural society meeting in St. Paul on Tuesday, Hon. W. W. Sivright of Hutchinson sneeringly asserted that the last legislature was composed mostly of jackasses—"one would almost think so from the way they treated our appropriation bill," he said. Perhaps some of the "jackasses" may be back in the next legislature and they may remember Mr. Sivright's asinine witticisms. We plead guilty to being one of the "jackasses" who favored liberal appropriations for the state fair—we hope to be forgiven.

The opening of the Taft campaign in Minesota will come on Feb. 12, according to the plans of the Young Men's Republican club of Minneapolis, which last fall entertained President Taft during his visit there. An invitation has been extended to Henry L. Stimson, secretary of war, to make the principal speech at the banquet, which is to be held on that date, and it is expected it will be attended by Taft supporters from all parts of the state.

S. A. Langum's Preston Times, standpat to the limit, is pessimistic. It sees success to the Democratic party in the factional strife within the Republican ranks and the heart of the editor doubtless bleeds as he contemplates in retrospection the good old days when the Old Guard ruled the roost, when insurgency was unknown and Democracy was superciliously regarded as the hopeless minority.

The Times says this week:

It is evident that no man has yet been mentioned for governor who can command anything like united support from the press of the state. In reading our exchanges there seems to be as many opinions as there are papers. Few have as yet selected their candidates while in all directions can be seen evidences of hostility toward those so far mentioned or suggested. With this sort of harmony prevalent among supposedly Republican thought moulders, we can scarcely blame the Democrats for laying claims to everything in sight, including the presidency and the governorship. Not much chance of success with one-half of the party fighting the other half and all fighting each other.

MEN'S HEALTH RESTORED!

We offer afflicted men a cure. We are in a position to do this, because we have made it our business to study diseases of men alone. Men's diseases differ as widely from those of women as winter differs from summer. NO doctor can skillfully treat both men and women, because of the difficulty to know all diseases of both sexes. We cure men alone. Our specialists have spent years of study, both in universities of Germany and America, in this one field alone, and there is no human ill which they are not able to detect. We are offering every weak and afflicted man a cure, not only treatments, but a complete cure. This is the reason why we guarantee our cures; no other doctor in Duluth will risk this. It is no risk with us, because we absolutely know that we can cure cases which scores of doctors have given up as hopeless.

WE CURE EVERY AND ANY AILMENT MEN ARE AFFLICTED WITH—THE STOMACH, THE KIDNEYS, BOWELS, PILES, ANY RUPTURE, BLADDER AND PROSTATE TROUBLE. ALL DISEASES WHICH RESULT FROM POISON, LIKE RHEUMATISM, SKIN TROUBLES, BLOOD POISON AND PARALYSIS.

One treatment with our powerful X-Ray machine will do you more good than a gallon of medicine. The one who puts too much faith in medicine will be sadly disappointed. Our cures are reasonable and within the reach of everybody. You won't gain anything by staying sickly, but you will gain immensely in health and vigor, vitality and nerve-power. It costs you little to get it; you will lose much if you don't get well. You may consult us free of charge at any time between 9 a. m. and 8 p. m., Sundays from 10 a. m to 1 p. m. Patients out of town who seriously desire to find out their troubles may write for a symptom blank and instructive book at our office. Duluth Masons Will Be Represented at St. Paul Meeting

The annual meeting of the Minnesota Grand Lodge of Free and Accepted Masons will be held next week in St. Paul, beginning Monday and extending through four days.

Blue lodge Masons from all over the state will attend the sessions, which will be held in the blue lodge room of the St. Paul Masonic temple.

Ten or twelve delegates will attend from Duluth. Each of the three blue lodges, Palestine, No. 79, Ionic, 186 and Euclid, 198, of West Duluth will send representatives.

Elmer A. Kling of Little Falls, Minn., present grand master, will call the grand lodge to order and will preside over its sessions.

Owen Morris of St. Paul is deputy grand master; W. H. Laird of Winona, grand senior warden, and R. E. Denfeld of this city, grand junior warden. A. G. McKnight of Duluth is the grand lodge orator and will deliver the oration.

PROMOTER GIVEN $607,159 VERDICT

Gould, Ramsey and Guy Must Pay for Freezing Out Jones.

New York, Jan. 13.—A verdict of $607,159 was returned by a jury last night in favor of John S. Jones, a railroad promoter, in the third trial of his suit to recover from George Gould, Joseph Ramsey, Jr., and William I. Guy damages for being "frozen out," as he alleged, from the Little Kanawaha syndicate organized by the defendants to develop coal fields in Ohio. Jones at the two previous trials had recovered verdicts for more than $500,000, which were reversed by the appellate division.

Mr. Gould, the last witness to testify, said he had contributed $3,000,000 to a total of $8,000,000 raised by the syndicate to take over options, but when questioned by Jones' attorney concerning the books and minutes of the syndicate made the admission that the matter was of such little interest to him that he had allowed the details to pass from his memory.

NOTES OF BOYS' DEPARTMENT

The Knights of Sir Galahad had their regular monthly dinner and initiation last evening at the boys' department, Y. M. C. A.

The new members initiated were Frederick Campbell, Albert Meyers, Arthur Bush, Munroe Whitmore, Nell Upham, Alfred Shiedeker and John Drenen. The club meets every Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. When a boy attends four times he is eligible to become a member, and is presented with the club button. The motto of the club is "Clean Sport, Clean Speech, Clean Habits." Once a month the members meet for dinner. Outings and a summer camp are other activities of the club. The speaker at the meeting tomorrow afternoon will be Harry Soper of the Central Y. M. C. A.

The Sunday club meeting for boys over 15 years of age, which is held at 4 o'clock Sunday, will be addressed by Dr. M. S. Rice. A cordial invitation is extended to all the boys of the city to attend one of these meetings.

LETTERS INTRODUCED IN THURSTON WILL CASE.

San Diego, Cal., Jan. 13.—Letters intended to show that Mrs. Harriet P. Thurston was easily influenced along religious lines were admitted in evidence today in the suit brought by Mrs. Thurston's son, George L. Patterson, to break the will by which she left $240,000 to Mme. Katherine Tingley, head of the University Brotherhood and Theosophical society. Letters were written to Theodore H. Leake, an architect.

PRAYER IN ALL TIMES

Men Take Naturally to Supplication to God, Says Rabbi

Deeds Are Best Evidence of Sincerity of Words Uttered.

At the regular services last evening of the Temple Emanuel church, Rabbi Maurice Lefkovits preached on "The True Value of Prayer."

"We can trace back to earliest histories," said Rabbi Lefkovits, "and we will find that man's earliest instinct was that of prayer. Some men love books, art and the opera, but all men take to prayer in emergency. In history the greatest warriors found peace in prayer and later the joy of praying and being at rest grew into the hymns and anthems that are a part of our prayers today. The prayer created the church and gave us the real knowledge of God.

"The prayer is as a fountain from the soul. It gushes forth from the most inner recesses and is the instinct that is indestructible. Moses, the founder of law, prayed to God and Caesar, the invincible Roman, bade all his men pray before God. Washington and Lincoln found a burst of sunshine on a wintry sea when they prayed before the great events of their time. We can trace back to Judahism and read the history and learn the growth of the knowledge of prayer. At one time God was worshipped by daily sacrifices of the people, but the spiritual evolution changed the sacrifice of the lamb to that of the lips.

Deeds Are Best Prayers.

"The prayer is the heart's offering to God, the soul's recognition, the human attempt to concentrate one's self to the glory of God, the worshipping of the soul and the uttering of words of thanksgiving and supplication to Him, who is the judge of the earth. The four features of prayer are aspiration, communion, thanksgiving and supplication. The attempt to aspire to holy thoughts, to commune with God, for we are only human beings and subject to all failures and successes, to thank Him for his kindness and what he has even made us today, and to turn to the Divine Deity for aid and to light our way, are the four features of prayer. But these alone do not constitute prayer. Take the first letters of each and you will have acts, for they alone are the best prayer you can give to God above. The deeds of our lives must prove and show what we are worth. It is not the selfish prayer that is ever answered, and, to take the Hebrew meaning of prayer, it is defined as self-judgment, the appeal of man's better self to the Divine Maker.

"A prayer may be short and concise and need not be a long tale. Moses asked God to help him in five words and grace is said in a very few words also. God is no Santa Claus, and can never give you your foolish desires. He cannot give favors, nor is he a detective, to help you find work and means by which you can defeat your enemies. You pray for light to see the truth. It is an entreaty to see the will of God and get strength to obey."

Following the regular services tentative plans were made by the young married people of the church for the organization of a social club. After the charter members have been admitted, the other young people of the congregation will join the organization. The features of the club will be social entertainments to be given every two weeks at the homes of the various members and a grand ball every year. Another meeting will be held after the services next Friday evening, when the final plans will be decided on and the election of officers will take place.

IN THE DAY'S WORK AT WASHINGTON

For Gettysburg Celebration.

Washington, Jan. 13.—The movement for a fitting celebration in 1913 of the fiftieth anniversary of the Battle of Gettysburg took definite form when the Pennsylvania commission having the matter in charge, appeared before the joint congressional commission and made public its plans. It is proposed to have the celebration extended over the first four days of July, and the most important feature will be the laying of the cornerstone of a great peace memorial to be erected by the nation at the entrance to the battlefield. A bill will be introduced in congress appropriating $500,000 for this purpose. The plan contemplates the construction on the Emmettsburg turnpike of an impressive memorial arch to be surmounted by a heroic statue of Abraham Lincoln. Veterans from the Civil war are expected to attend from all over the country, South as well as North. In addition to the Pennsylvania delegation there was Judge Ell Torrance of Minneapolis, chairman of the Grand Army of the Republic committee on the Gettysburg celebration.

President Taft has promised his cooperation in the celebration and the erection of the peace memorial.

Hear About Sugar Beet Profits.

The magnitude of the beet sugar industry and the development of agricultural lands through its activities had not been fully realized by the house investigating committee until the criticism of three Colorado farmers of their treatment by the Great Western Sugar company permitted the introduction yesterday of testimony in rebuttal. The committee heard from Michigan, Colorado and Nebraska sugar beet growers. Invariably they told of profitable beet farming.

Ira Carley of Ingalls, Mich., banker, agriculturist, lumberman and merchant, said his beet sugar profits were about $63 an acre. He said there was much land in the Upper Peninsula of Michigan which could be bought for $8 an acre.

"Why on earth do people live in the cities when they can earn money on farms?" asked Representative Baker of California.

"That's what I would like to know," answered Mr. Carley.

Want Labor Department.

Samuel Gompers and the executive council of the American Federation of Labor urged the house committee on labor to report a bill creating a department of labor with cabinet rank. Mr. Gompers said labor interests would be satisfied to have Commissioner of Labor Neill as chief of the department.

Gets Job in Uruguay.

John Nelson Wisner, formerly superintendent of hatcheries of the United States bureau of fisheries, has been employed to go to Uruguay to organize a fish bureau for that country. Mr. Wisner, who, since leaving the federal service, has been fish and game warden for the state of Oregon, will leave shortly to take charge of his new work.

Smith Attacks Taft.

Representative Smith of Texas, a Democrat, attacked President Taft in the house for alleged failure to protect Americans on the border during the Mexican revolution last year. Mr. Smith arraigned the Republican administration for pursuing a policy of "spineless diplomacy" and for alleged refusal of all practical aid to Americans in the prosecution of their claims against the Mexican government though Germany, China and other nations were pressing their citizens' claims.

Mr. Smith declared President Taft should have protected Americans during the battles of Juarez and Agua Prieta by taking necessary steps even if the president of Mexico wanted to consider any such step an offense to his nation.

Seek Bodies in the Maine.

The navy department virtually has decided that the remains of the Maine victims which are now being gathered together in Havana harbor shall not be brought to this country until next April. It is desired to continue the search for bodies until the wreck has been completely removed.

Substitute Pension Bills.

When the senate committee on pensions meets Monday to consider the Sherwood general pension bill, Chairman McCumber will ask the committee to substitute a bill which he has prepared and introduced which undertakes to grant increased pensions by amending the present law so as to make additons both on account of age and service. Estimates place the increased cost under the McCumber bill at $22,000 annually or an average of $62 per man. Senator Curtis of Kansas, a member of the committee, will also offer a substitute to the Sherwood bill, materially reducing its figures.

Want to Build the Ships.

Five or six shipbuilding companies already have expressed their desire to enter competitive bids for the construction of one or more of the six big steamships which, it was announced a few days ago, will be built by the South American Steamship company for use between New York and Valparaiso immediately on the opening of the Panama canal. The names of these companies will not be made public at present, but it was learned that they have applied to the Pan-American union for any information it may furnish them and also have cabled to Chile for details as to the bids and requirements.

CHILD WELFARE WORK WILL EMBRACE NATION.

Philadelphia, Jan. 13.—Arrangements for a child welfare campaign to be conducted throughout the United States under the direction of the National Mothers' congress were made by the executive committee of the congress at a two days' meeting here. The campaign will be carried into every state. The committee also arranged the program for the sixteenth annual meeting of the congress to be held in Dallas March 21 to 31.

Liquor Men Fined $17,500.

Mays Landing, N. J., Jan. 13.—Fines aggregating $17,500 were imposed in the county court here on hotel and cafe proprietors of Atlantic City who were accused of violating the Sunday liquor laws. Each defendant was fined $200. Several of the defendants, when paying their fines, remarked with a smile, "We are paying our share for the reform wave."

MAY BE FIGHT OVER SUFFRAGE IN ARIZONA.

Phoenix, Ariz., Jan. 13.—Woman suffrage will probably occasion the hardest struggle in the legislature of the new state. Indications are not lacking that a determined effort will be made to defeat suffrage, although some Republican leaders, until recently classed as reactionaries, have publicly announced their intention to support the measure to enfranchise women. Radical Democratic legislators favor the proposed bill while the conservative Democrats oppose it.

WOMAN 80 YEARS OLD DIES IN FARM FIRE.

McGregor, Ia., Jan. 13.—Martha Benyon, aged 80, was burned to death and her sister, two years younger, received injuries from which it is said she cannot recover when the farm house, twelve miles west of here, was destroyed by fire yesterday. The two women were living alone and were unable to escape the flames, which were of unknown origin.

Morrow Testimony Ended.

Chicago, Jan. 13.—Testimony in the hearing of Mrs. Rene Boyce Morrow, the club woman and writer who is charged with murdering her husband, Charles B. Morrow, has been concluded. On Monday attorneys will complete arguments and Mrs. Morrow will know whether she will be held to the grand jury for the crime.

The Seven Points of Beauty. How Many Have You?

The really beautiful woman must possess the following seven points of beauty:—

A Good Complexion, A Perfect Figure, A NICE HEAD OF HAIR, Beautiful Eyes, Pretty Eyebrows, A Well Shaped Mouth, Good Teeth.

Very few can lay claim to all of these seven attributes of beauty. Some slip into the beauty class by possessing four or five and very many ladies succeed in being exceedingly attractive with only two or three points to their credit. The one attribute which prevents any woman from being plain may be possessed by all, and that is a nice head of hair.

Geraldine M. Forbes, writing in a recent issue of a woman's magazine and touching upon the hair in its relation to feminine good looks says: "And what a difference it makes in their appearance! One cannot look ugly if their hair grows thick and has a satin sheen. The fashion of the moment demands glossy hair and hair that lies close to the head in clinging tendrils."

To Make Your Hair Beautiful Use

Newbro's Herpicide

Reasonable care and effort is all that is required to enable almost any woman to have good hair. When the hair falls out and is stringy, uneven, dry, brittle and generally unsightly, the condition is nearly always due to dandruff and the germ that causes it.

Before the hair will grow naturally and luxuriantly, the scale-like accumulation must be removed and the dandruff germ destroyed. That is what NEWBRO'S HERPICIDE does. It is an aid to nature. HERPICIDE keeps the scalp clean, adds a softness and luster to the hair which indicates health. It not only prevents the hair from falling out but causes it to become one of woman's greatest charms.

Beautiful hair and lots of it may be the reward of every woman willing to devote a little personal effort to the use of the first and Original Dandruff Germ Destroyer. Herpicide stops itching.

Applications Obtained at the better Barber Shops and Hair-Dressing Parlors. Large size bottles sold and guaranteed everywhere.

The Best Shampoo Soap and Most Perfect Comb for Ladies Use.

Don't use a cheap soap for shampooing. Herpicide Aseptic Tar makes a soft, creamy lather and does not harm the hair or scalp. There is nothing better. No lady can appreciate the real comfort of hair-dressing without a Herpicide Comb.

ASK YOUR DRUGGIST ABOUT THESE THINGS.

Get Our Booklet and Try a Ten Cent Bottle.

Everyone should read the booklet published by the Herpicide Company, on the Care of the Hair. It is worth while. The booklet and a trial size bottle of Newbro's Herpicide will be mailed to any address for Ten Cents in postage or silver to cover cost of packing and mailing.

MAN WHO NEVER ADMITTED HE WAS DOWN TELLS THE STORY OF HIS LIFE

Had Reverses at Farming and Speculation But Succeeded in End.

Young Man With $1,000 Advised to Buy a Home or Farm.

"Buy a farm" and "buy a home," with variations, are the two suggestions most frequently offered to the man with his first $1,000.

People have faith in the land. Many of the replies received are from people who firmly believe in Northern Minnesota land and its possibilities for dairying and poultry-raising. Others would not advise a man trained in business to attempt farming on small capital, and many suggest that the man with $1,000 buy a home and thus stop the payment of rent.

The letters published today include two that are especially interesting. One gives the actual experience of a man who has made a modest success of farming and dairying on a Wisconsin farm. He has evidently had few reverses and has gone along increasing his capital and living in contentment and industry.

The other is the life history of a man who has overcome many obstacles and has obtained a competence at the age of 60. He was overturned by farming, failed at speculation after an apparent success and now has turned to selling acre tracts. His story is especially interesting as showing the spirit of the man who never admits that he is down.

Some of the letters follow:

Fred Wesenberg, Spooner, Wis.—I have read with interest the letters in The Herald giving advice in regard to how a person should invest the first $1,000. If a case of actual experience would be of interest to your readers I can give the history of my own case and a few neighbors. First, I will say that if I was in that young man's position at present I would invest my money in a small farm. There is a good living for any man if he will stick to the farm. If he can get forty acres of land within four or five miles of a railroad station it will pay him to devote his time exclusively to potatoes. The land in this locality would cost him from $8 to $10 per acre. The average yield of potatoes is from 100 to 200 bushels per acre and prices, while they vary greatly, will, I believe, average at least 50 cents per bushel. With perfect economy I think $1,000 would give him a living with good prospects for the future. In case he buys land ten or twelve miles from the railroad the distance to market would be too great to haul any great quantity, but in such a case I should advise this man to devote his time to dairy cows and chickens, to which he could add other things later on. The one thing which he must be careful in, is not to keep more stock than he can properly feed. The really good dairy cow will pay a profit on all the proper feed which she gets. The great advantage of a dairy farm located some distance from the railroad lies in the fact that land can be bought so much cheaper, and in order to make the cows produce butter fat they must have plenty of pasture in the summer and likewise plenty of nourishing food in the winter, nearly all of which can be had from the farm, which must be big enough to provide for all the stock on the place. One thousand dollars is not a very large capital to start with, but I have seen men start with less and by being very careful they have succeeded in not only making a living but also providing for the future.

I started in on the farm which I now live on about ten years ago and I did not have $1.000 either. I thought at first of raising beef cattle but I could not raise enough to ship and the local market could not handle the few head of cattle offered, so I gave up raising beef and tried sheep. I found the same trouble in marketing sheep, so I finally decided to try dairying and while I am not a millionaire, still I am comfortable and feel satisfied with the progress I have made. I have no trouble selling all the butter fat the cows produce and as a side line the chickens do very well. The farm which I have is no better land than the average, some of it being jackpine land which som eauthorities condemn, but I manage to take two tons of clover timothy hay from each acre, twenty bushels of rye per acre and corn yields from fifty to seventy bushels shelled corn per acre. So if that young man wants to try the farm I don't think he needs to fear getting pine or cutover land if he will constantly rotate his crops with clover as the main fertilizer for the soil.

Now some of my neighbors have done very well with potatoes; some with hay. One or two have had the courage to try fruit and are doing well. Some started in on homesteads, some bought their farms and by persistently sticking to it have become independent of money panics or strikes. Therefore, I would say that while there are many good ways of investing that $1,000, still I believe for the average man the soil will give the surest return.

John Doe, Aitkin, Minn.—The many letters written you relative to the first $1,000 are interesting on account of the varied opinions expressed, but so much chaff is mixed with the "wheat" that our $1,000 friend is apt to get lost in the rubbish with his little stake. The actual experience of a man past 60 years of age may be of some value to the young man. My first move after becoming of age was to clerk in a county treasurer's office for one winter at $50 a month. In the spring after paying a few debts I had incurred while going to school, I had $80 left, "as a capital to start business on," with it I bought forty acres of land at $2 an acre. In a short time I sold it for $5 an acres cash. I then bought 80 acres extra choice land one-half a mile from the county seat and a mile from depot for $500; paid $100 cash; balance to be paid $100 a year with 10 per cent interest. I paid the other $100 to get forty acres broke up. Next spring I sowed the forty to wheat and in the fall after harvesting and selling the crop had an even $1,000 cash as profit from the farming venture. I then sold the eighty acres for $12.50 an acre and got another $1,000. Next move I bought five quarter sections of the best land I could find at from $5 to $6.25 an acre and in each case paid about one-quarter cash, balance on time at 8 and 10 per cent interest. Upon each tract of land I broke up from forty to 100 acres and sowed the whole thing to wheat, oats, barley and flax, intending to sell the different fields to new settlers which were then coming into Northern Iowa from Illinois and other older states. But this was "grasshopper year," crops did not pay expenses, payments on land became due and I was "up against it." By close figuring and getting extensions, I managed to "weather the storm." Next spring I put in 500 or 600 acres into small grains as I had the year previous. Grasshoppers tackled me again and to cap the climax an extremely hot spell hit the crops the second week in July and cooked the wheat in the milk, scorched the flax and ruined the oats and barley. My net losses that season were over $3,000. Debts on land, machinery, etc., were coming due and nothing to meet them. Mortgage foreclosures and judgments piled up. Next season with the same sort of luck, finished me and after selling everything for whatever I could get I paid it all on debts except $50, which I put in my pocket and went to Minneapolis, to start over again, in debt over $5,000 I worked from December to May selling property for other people on commission and getting thoroughly posted on values and prospects of the city.

In June I contracted to buy ten acres in the city limits for $20,000 and paid $100, all the money I had, as an option for sixty days when I had to pay $900 more and in six months had to pay $2,000 additional, balance on similar terms, with specific liens on each lot so I could sell and deliver deeds at any time. This was speculation. In six months' time I had sold the whole bunch of lots, paid off the debt and had made over $3,000. I then contracted to buy fifty-three acres for $2,000 an acre, paid $1,000 cash, $10,000 in six months and $20,000 a year afterwards with 6 per cent interest. More speculation. But with favorable specific liens, hard work and a lot of advertising I not only met all payments before they became due but also paid up all the old debts, with interest and costs added and was ahead fully $76,000 above all debts. Not bad for four years' work. I ought to have quit and settled down on a good farm near the city and stocked it up with fine cattle and set out a nice assortment of fruits as I always calculated on doing, but my faith in Minnesota was great and I wanted to get $100,000 to settle down on, hence bought more property, built a $20,000 residence, erected a $15,000 block and backed up a co-operative store enterprise. Hard times from 1887 to 1893 and inability to collect money due me "busted me wide open" and I came to Aitkin county with $3 in my pocket and $10,000 in debt. So much for speculation. It is an alluring game, but I advise young men to steer clear of it. It is hard to teach "an old dog new tricks." After coming to Aitkin county I immediately began looking for bargins in choice hardwood lands on lake shores and soon selected 260 acres at $10 an acre and paid $1,000 as first payment which I had to borrow at 10 per cent interest. I sold part of it in five-acre tracts at $15 an acre very soon. In a year's time I was getting $30 an acre, in two years $40, in five years $100, and for the last two years $150 an acre in acre tracts and $50 to $100 each for quarter acre lots. We have a good school house, hotel and fair roads, but things move slow in the woods and it is a constant strife between rival communities and jealous persons who "buck public improvements" as they think the "other fellow" stands a show of making something by the increase of land values. But I am going to "stick to it" and advise the young man to buy a good 40-acre tract near a nice lake which he can do for $15 or $20 an acre, pay one-quarter down, balance in one, two and three years at 6 per cent interest, then move on it at once, put up a comfortable little house and start into small fruit raising for markets of Duluth, Superior and the Twin Cities. In ten years' time he will be well fixed and independent.

Martin Lindblom, Soudan, Minn.—A good advice to the man with a thousand dollars would be to build a few cottages on some island on Lake Vermilion, and start a sort of a summer resort. Then I would buy a motor boat on the installment plan, to transport all the people who come here each summer to spend a vacation. I would keep a good lodging place for the hunters who come from all parts of the world to shoot big game. In the winter I would move to Soudan and find some employment around the mines, and in the spring I would build a few more cottages. I am sure if I did not want to work in the winter I would not have to, because I am sure I could get my $1,000 back the first two summers and have my boat paid for.

Arthur H. Haskins, 2619 Helm street.—In reply to a man investing his first $1,000, I would say: I am a man of 37 years, have a family of five children, have invested my first $1,000, and have almost completed my second thousand by one of these investments.

Each man must invest his first $1,000 according to his ability, in order to make a success.

If he is a man who has had some training or knowledge of any kind of farming, I certainly think he would be wise to invest in a piece of land most adaptable to his purposes, such as chicken farming, stock farming, or grain raising or general farming.

But if he be a man who has learned some trade, or as clerk or as office man, and feels compelled to live in a city, I think his safest investment would be in a home, if possible, a small home, so as to avoid mortgages, for the stopping of rent alone, would give him a fair start on his second thousand.

If he be a man of business ability and sees a fair opening, not undertaking too large an enterprise, being contented with small returns, he would be safe to invest his first thousand.

The great danger of today with men is that they expect too large returns from their investments. (The get rich quick idea).

A. Plotten, 111 North Cascade Street, Duluth, Minn.—To the man with $1,000 I will give my advice. Write to State Auditor S. G. Iverson, St. Paul, and get a list of state lands that will soon be for sale in St. Louis county. If you are not familiar with the land hire a man to go with you and examine some of this state land. Select eighty acres as close as possible to a railroad or town. Pay 15 per cent down. The balance you have forty years to pay for. You can then start farming any time, the sooner the better as you have money enough to do so. The return will not be large in the start, but you will be working for yourself and don't have to depend on others for work. At the same time you and your family are enjoying the pure fresh air that brings health and happiness in this world.

H. J. Magnusson, Duluth, Minn.—In replying to your inquiry, I quote the following:

The safest and most profitable investment for the man with $1,000 is to my opinion improved real estate in a growing city.

A city that is so advantageously situated so as to be considered at the head of navigation on the Great Lakes, and possessing a harbor that has been greatly improved by the United States government, which has expended large sums in dredging, and in possession of extensive holdings of a corporation, like the United States Steel trust, is evidently destined to become the Pittsburg of the West.

Invest your $1,000 in a brick flat costing approximately $5,000, mortgage the property as security for the debt created, and from the income of the property, coupled with a part of your salary, deposited in the bank monthly, drawing interest at the rate of 3 per cent, this money counteracting on your mortgage, reduces the mortgage from a 6 per cent paper to a 3 per cent bearing instrument.

It is now a simple process of calculation to ascertain that in the course of ten years the property has met its obligations and deducting expense of maintenance improved real estate will yeld 10 per cent on the investment which is equivalent to the interest in this case of a trifle more than $15,000 on deposit in a savings bank drawing 3 per cent, and it is just as secure and more profitable than a government bond.

The state banks and small private bankers consider their loans safe when secured by improved real estate. The policy of W. B. Astor, recognized as "the landlord of New York," was to invest as heavily as possible in real estate and never to sell any of it. By this process he succeeded in amassing a fortune of over $150,000,000.

"I'VE GOT THE FIRST $1,000; WHAT SHALL I DO WITH IT?"

For the second of its series of contests The Herald has an interesting problem which comes to it in the form of a letter that explains itself:

To the Editor of The Herald:

We have often been told—at least we used to be—by rich men that the hardest work on the road to wealth is to get the first $1,000.

I've got that sum now—saved it out of my salary during ten years. Who will tell me how to go the rest of the way? How shall I invest it? Shall I go into business, and what kind, and how?

I am 35 years old, with a wife and two small children, and have a fair position with a living salary, but that's about all. Probably I could, if nothing happened, save another $1,000 in another ten years, but with the cost of living going up faster than salaries—and I can't expect mine to go much higher than it is—it is going to be harder. If I am ever going to start out for myself and gain independence or wealth, now is the time for me to begin, while I am strong and healthy and young.

What shall I do with myself and my $1,000—and my family?

Here's a real problem, a vital one that will interest everybody; and The Herald hopes to see a large and interesting variety of answers. It hopes, too, that men who have traveled the road that lies before this young inquirer will take part in the discussion. The prizes will, of course, be no temptation to them; but this is a subject of wide interest, and they should be glad to contribute their wisdom and experience to its solution.

Write out your answer, limit it to 300 words, put your name and address at the top of the sheet, write on one side of the paper only, and send it to the Contest Editor of The Herald before Feb. 1.

For the best answer to this young man's problem The Herald will give a prize of $10.

For the next best answer The Herald will give a prize of $5.

For the third best answer The Herald will give a prize of $3.

FIRE DUE TO GAS EXPLOSION

Ashtabula Terrace Scorched —Loss Covered By Insurance.

Fire believed to have been started by a gas explosion badly scorched the first floor and one room of the second in the residence of T. L. Stauffacher, 222 Fifth avenue east, Ashtabula terrace, about 6:30 o'clock last evening.

R. N. Chaffee, who has charge of the Ashtabula flats, stated this morning that he has not obtained an estimate of the loss. The woodwork was practically burned out and much of the furniture damaged or destroyed, which will bring the loss to several hundred dollars, covered by insurance.

The explosion was plainly heard by other tenants of the terrace. The prompt arrival of the fire department kept the loss down as well as prevented the flames from spreading. No one was home when the fire started, the members of the family visiting in Superior while the roomers had not returned from their work.

$1,000 FUND HAS BEEN RAISED

The $1,000 needed for emergency relief has been raised by the board of directors of the Associated Charities.

Owing to the extremely cold weather and the lack of work, the money was necessary to care for poor people. It is stated that more money could be used and no one who offers it will be discouraged.

A committee is now at work raising funds to complete the necessary amount to cover the year's administrative expenses. The sum of $5,000 has already been subscribed, but $3,000 more is needed. The committee is making satisfactory progress, it is reported.

The secretary of the Associated Charities wishes to thank people who have donated clothing. He states that the society has been so busy that the officers have had as yet no time to thank people individually by letter. He states that the clothing is appreciated and he will later acknowledge the gifts.

ON THE IRON RANGES

HEALY THEATER IS GUTTED BY EARLY MORNING FIRE

Fine Hibbing Playhouse in Ruins as Probable Work of Firebugs.

Hibbing Hotel Adjoining Only Saved By Firemen After Desperate Time.

Hibbing, Minn., Jan. 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—Fire believed to have been of incendiary origin, early today practically destroyed the Healy theater, a brick structure owned by Representative John Healy, the largest playhouse on the range. The loss is estimated at about $50,000, probably one-half covered by insurance. Only the ice-coated walls are standing.

The theater is about in the middle of the block on Center street, only a few feet from the Hibbing hotel, a frame structure, also owned by Representative Healy, and it was only by the hardest work on the part of the firemen that the hotel was saved. The guests, about thirty-five in all, were aroused and got out all of their belongings. Nearly all of the movables in the hotel were also removed as it did not seem possible the hotel could be saved. A strong south wind was blowing and the firemen had a desperate time, with the mercury about 15 deg. below zero, saving the hotel.

Fire Chief's Discovery.

It was a few minutes after 1 this morning when smoke was seen issuing from the rear of the hotel downstairs, and smoke spread all through the hotel, at first leading to the belief the hotel was on fire. Fire Chief McIlhargey, formerly of Duluth, was the first fireman on hand, and finding no fire in the hotel, he hurried into the theater through a rear door. He was accompanied by one of the attaches of the theater, and they found the interior of the playhouse in flames, the fire having apparently started in the dressing rooms under the stage, and had burned through the stage floor and up into the flies.

The department, finding it impossible to save the theater, although a large amount of water was turned into it, devoted their energies to the hotel, against which they hurled gallons of water. The roof of the theater fell in and the building was soon completely gutted. It was nearly 4 o'clock before the theater fire had been extinguished and all danger of the hotel catching was over. Meanwhile there had been a great scurrying around in the hotel, the guests being aroused, and they made hasty exits, taking all their belongings. Employes of the hotel and others helped remove the furniture.

OWNER OF DESTROYED THEATER AT HIBBING

Suspicious Tracks in Snow.

While the fire chief was not able to find any direct evidences of incendiarism, a most suspicious circumstance was fresh tracks in the snow leading to and from a rear entrance that no one connected with the theater could explain, as the theater had not been used for some time.

Mr. Healy was not able at noon to reliably estimate the amount of insurance on the property, although he thought it was about $20,000. He carried a joint policy on both the hotel and the theater in a blanket policy for $92,000 covering all his Hibbing property, but as some of this has lapsed he could not tell just how much was on the hotel until he had time to look over the papers.

The theater was built in 1909 and had a seating capacity of about 900.

The owner feels that his troubles have come thick in the past few days, as his brother, James Healy, was one of the two victims in the powder explosion at the Wilpin plant this week, and his funeral will be held this afternoon.

HIBBING MAN IS PROBABLY HELD UP

Mike Bizai Found Lying in Snow Nearly Dead, Money and Watch Gone.

Hibbing, Minn., Jan. 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—Patrolman Cory of Brooklyn, late last night found Mike Bizal, an Austrian who runs a saloon on Third avenue, lying unconscious in the snow about midway between Hibbing and Brooklyn. The officer got him on his feet and walked him around, reviving him and keeping him moving until the police wagon arrived and he was taken to the Rood hospital. His ears, hands and feet were badly frozen but it is expected he will recover.

His wife claims he left the saloon for home, having about $200 in cash in his pockets and a gold watch. Both are missing and it is believed he was knocked in the head and robbed, then left to freeze to death. He is not able to furnish a very clear story of his movements as he is in bad shape.

COURTHOUSE NOW ABOUT REPAIRED

Itasca County Seat Headquarters Has Been Greatly Improved.

Grand Rapids, Minn., Jan. 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—The repairs which are being made at the courthouse, and which have been going on for some time are fast nearing completion. The offices of County Auditor Spang, County Treasurer Strader and Probate Judge C. B. Webster are the last to be repaired, and it is anticipated that they will all be moving back to their respective offices before another week.

In the meantime County Auditor Spang is located in the basement vault of his office, while County Treasurer Strader's office is located temporarily in the basement vault of Register of Deeds McGowan's office. Clerk of Court Rasmussen is also getting settled, while Sheriff Riley has been back in his office for some time.

Duluth Samaritan Talks.

The local lodge of Modern Samaritans installed officers at the I. O. O. F. hall Thursday night as follows: P. G. S., H. E. Neveux; G. S., Carl Eller; V. G. S., Mrs. J. G. Allen; Levite, Mrs. John Billodeau; high priestess, Mrs. Peter Pillodeau; scribe and financial scribe, T. H. Shoaf; treasurer, S. Starpair; C. M., Mrs. T. Riley; I. M., Miss Mabel Kling. Five new members were also initiated. After the installation a bountiful Dutch lunch was served. John Christie of Duluth, head of the organization, and Mrs. Josephine Purdy of Duluth, also high in the councils of the order, were present and addressed the meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Sandretzkey have just completed a fine new dwelling on Sixth street in the east end, and on Thursday evening they held a "housewarming" which proved to be a most enjoyable time. There were over 100 people present.

Marriage licenses were issued as follows by Clerk of Court Rassmussen the past week: Hans Peterson to Hilma Erickson, Deer River; Lee Guptill, Bemidji to Doris Ada Blackburn, Ardenhurst.

The Grand Rapids high school basket ball team will meet the Deer River high school quint on the floor of the local high school gymnasium on Saturday evening at 8 o'clock.

WINSTON-DEAR CO. HAS STOPPED WORK

Stripping Concern Closed Down for Two Months for Repairs.

Hibbing, Jan. 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Winston-Dear company, which has worked this year considerably later than last year, has closed down for six weeks or two months to allow repairing to be done. The company has been working very steadily for the past ten months at its contract at the Buffalo & Susquehanna pit and has removed an immense amount of overburden during that time.

Work will be resumed by the company just as soon as the repair work, a large amount of which has accumulated, can be finished. This work will probably take about two months. A force of about twenty-five men will be kept in the repair shops.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Dear will leave Sunday for a trip of several weeks through the East.

GRAND RAPIDS COURT.

Verdict of Guilty of Assault Is Returned.

Grand Rapids, Minn., Jan. 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—District court has been in session here this week.

The first case taken up was the State vs. Peter Voynovich for assault in the first degree. The case occupied the attention of the court and jury until Thursday night when the jury returned a verdict of guilty of assault in the second degree. Voynovich is the young man who shot a fellow named Mike Lusich on the main street of Bovey, Sept. 3 last. Judge Stanton sentenced the young man to an indeterminate sentence in the state reformatory at St. Cloud.

This was the last criminal case and also the last jury case on the calendar for this term, and the jury has been discharged, the court is to be occupied here for some time yet on court cases. The case of George Dewey vs. A. B. Clair is now before the court.

Stripping Brakeman Hurt.

Hibbing, Minn., June 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—Robert Krapy, employed as a brakeman on one of the stripping trains operated at the Winston-Dear spur near Wilpin, was injured yesterday when he was caught beneath an ore car which was overturned. He was badly crushed about the hips and was removed to the Rood hospital in this city, where it was said last night his condition was not serious.

Notice to Fat Women

Presumably you know, ladies, that the proper caper nowadays is lines. Curves are passe. You have got to take off your fat. This must be done in one of three ways. By dieting, by exercise, or by means of Marmola Prescription Tablets. The two former will keep you busy for months and punish you pretty severely, the latter will cost you 75 cents at the druggist's. The tablets will not make any alteration in your diet necessary, and yet in all probability, before you have used up one case, you will be losing from 12 to 16 ounces of fat a day. Which method do you like the best?

If you fancy this pleasant method of getting off the fat, see your druggist instantly, or else write the Marmola Co., 491 Farmer Bldg., Detroit, Mich., to send you a case by mail. These cases contain so generous a quantity of tablets that the treatment is very economical. It is, also, quite harmless, for the tablets are made exactly in accordance with the famous Marmola Prescription.

RANGE POULTRYMEN HAVE ASSOCIATION

Preliminary Steps Taken at Virginia; Officers Being Chosen.

Virginia, Minn., Jan. 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—Preliminary steps were taken last night to organize the Range Poultry association. A dozen local poultry fanciers weer present.

E. F. Kendall, superintendent of the New York State Steel company, was elected president and J. R. Krogdahl, secretary.

At a meeting to be held Jan. 27 it is expected that three directors will be chosen, who, together with the president and secretary, will act as the board of directors.

Secretary Krogdahl and E. L. Zimmerman were instructed to confer with feed men with the view of ascertaining what can be done in the way of securing poultry feed of all varieties and in sufficient quantity at any time.

Feed Problem Difficult.

The feed problem has been a difficult one for the poultry fancier on the range to solve and the association will seek to find a satisfactory solution. It is expected that several members of the association will attend the poultry show to be held at Duluth the latter part of this month and early in February. All persons interested in poultry raising on the range, whether residents of Virginia or vicinity, or in other range cities and towns, will be invited to become members of the organization and to co-operate in the interest of all engaged in the business.

FIRE PREVENTION WILL BE DISCUSSED

Lumbermen Interested on Mesaba Range to Have Meeting at Virginia.

Virginia, Minn., Jan. 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—A meeting of lumbermen and timber owners of Northeastern Minnesota will be held here about March 10 to discuss forest fire prevention. A meeting of lumbermen and timber owners of Northwestern and Central Northern Minnesota will be held at Bemidji early in March with a similar end in view. It is expected that the timber men and lumber men will organize a forest fire protection association when here in March.

In February there will be a meeting of the railroad men of Northern Minnesota, probably in Minneapolis or St. Paul, to discuss forest fire prevention. These meetings were discussed and planned at the recent convention of state forest rangers held at Bemidji.

Fred W. Besette is the new district ranger in the state forestry service for District No. 16 in which Virginia is located. There are about forty-six townships in the district. Mr. Besette has his headquarters at Orr for the present.

CARS JUMP TRACK IN FLYING SWITCH

Brakeman R. F. Kratz of Missouri Is Seriously Injured Near Wilpin.

Chisholm, Minn., Jan. 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—R. F. Kratz, a brakeman on the Missabe road, was dangerously injured Friday afternoon while switching near Wilpen Junction. The switching crew took a string of cars down the line and in making a flying switch of three cars to the Wilpen spur the cars jumped the track, one car turning over to the left and one to the right, while the third car toppled over and piled up over the first car that left the track.

Kratz was clinging to the first car and was caught between the two cars, causing a contusion of the pelvis. He was hurried to the Rood hospital here and later removed to the company hospital at Hibbing. His condition is regarded as serious. He is a single man and his home is at Marceline, Mo.

CHISHOLM NEWS NOTES.

Body of Woodsman Killed in Woods Still Held.

Chisholm, Minn., Jan. 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—The body of Abe Hendrickson, the woodsman killed the first of the week near the headquarter's location of the Swan river logging camp, remains at a local undertaking establishment pending information from Ashland, Wis., from where he came.

The body of Erick Erickson, who was run over and killed last week by the Great Northern passenger, was taken to Virginia for burial yesterday. Mrs. Stordal, a sister, came over here and took charge of the remains.

Nick Powers arrived the first of the week from Hammond, Wis., and will be connected with the Taylor Bros. grocery. In the spring he will leave for the Bitter Root valley in Montana and take charge of the firm's fruit farm.

Miss Mary Sapero returned Friday from St. Paul, where she has been the guest of relatives the past fortnight.

Mrs. Conley left Friday for a week's visit with relatives at Duluth and Superior.

Flip Harrington returned Friday from a visit during the holidays with his folks at Algona, Iowa.

Invitations have been issued by the Shenango club, consisting of clerks and members of the official staff of the Shenango mine, to be given at the opera house the evening of Jan. 26.

CHISHOLM LIBRARY PLANS GOING AHEAD

Bids Will Be Opened Jan. 26 to Build Structure Given By Carnegie.

Chisholm, Minn., Jan. 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—Members of the Carnegie library board Thursday were in consultation with Architect Kinney of Minneapolis. Bids have been advertised for the 26th. The cost will be $15,000, exclusive of the grounds, which had been secured during the latter part of the summer. Two residences now on the grounds will be removed as soon as the contractors begin breaking ground. L. W. Winn, the superintendent of construction, now representing the school board in the construction of the new Lincoln school, will likely be engaged by the library board in a like capacity.

The city council set aside a handsome amount for maintenance and furnishing the library when completed, and Dr. Kirk, president of the board, states that he will have one of the most complete libraries on the range, if it is not the costliest and largest. The building will be sufficiently large for all time to come, in his opinion, and he desires that the library be properly stocked with good and wholesome reading matter and kept in the best of shape.

INDICATIONS ARE FOR BUSY SEASON

Mines Around Keewatin and Nashwauk Expected to Produce Heavily.

Keewatin, Minn., Jan. 13.—(Special to The Herald.) — From present indications 1912 will be one of the best years in the history of the this section.

The Mississippi mine, an underground proposition, is now running night and day shifts, about 350 men being employed. Since the close of the shipping season, a large amount of ore has been mined and the company will be prepared to begin shipping again as soon as navigation opens.

The St. Paul mine has begun underground work for the winter, miners having been engaged Tuesday morning to carry on the work. Within a short time a crew will be engaged in repair work which will continue for several weeks and when the work is finished it is likely that stripping operations will be resumed. This will mean the employment of between 300 and 400 men.

Hawkins to Resume.

As soon as spring opens the Hawkins mine at Nashwauk, which has continued stripping operations this winter in spite of the cold weather, will put on two more shovels and the company will employ in their various operations at least 300 men.

Supt. Barber of the Crosby mine at Nashwauk stated that the Cleveland-Cliffs company, owners of the property, would probably reopen the mine some time in April. The Crosby, which was shut down last July for the first time in ten years, has a stock pile on hand of about 80,000 tons, which was not shipped last year because prices were not satisfactory. The price of ore having advanced, it is quite likely that the company will begin shipping as soon as navigation opens. About 250 men are employed when the mine is in operation.

The Pearson mine at Nashwauk will also be quite a heavy producer this season. The owners of the property will employ a little more than 100 men and the mine will be opened in April. The Platt mine, although opened but a short time, has proved a paying proposition and work will be resumed on the property in the spring.

Butler Bros., stripping contractors, will resume stripping operations as soon as work can be begun in the spring and this will mean the employment of 150 men on the night and day shifts.

CARRIES GOSPEL TO LUMBERJACKS

J. W. Sornberger Furnishes Literature and Religion to Woodsmen.

Eveleth, Minn., Jan. 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—J. W. Sornberger of Duluth, lumberjack evangelist, who has been preaching in the lumber camps in this vicinity for the past four years, was here yesterday securing literature and clothing, which he will distribute among the settlers and woodsmen in the vicinity of Cussons, Ray and Kinmont, camps of the Virginia-Rainy Lake company. He secured three tons of literature, 600 pounds of clothing and many toys. He is working under the direction of the Presbyterian board of home missions, and, together with Jack McCall of the Tamarack district and Matt Daly of the Alger-Smith camps, is covering the northern part of the state.

Last month he preached to about 1,800 men and traveled about 400 miles to reach the settlers and woodsmen.

SKI JUMPERS READY

For Interstate Tournament at Virginia Sunday.

Virginia, Minn., Jan. 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—Preparations are completed for the interstate ski tournament here Sunday afternoon, beginning at 2 o'clock. It is expected that there will be upwards of forty entries of jumpers from Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota.

The steel slide is in first class condition and everything is ready for a successful tournament. With good weather it will be a great ski day.

Eveleth Good Roads Meet.

Eveleth, Minn., Jan. 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Commercial club plans a good roads gathering here Feb. 14. George Cooley, engineer of the state highway commission; J. W. Taylor, secretary of the Ohio Federation of Goods Roads; C. P. Craig, G. G. Hartley and E. L. Filiatrault of Duluth will be among those invited to speak at the gathering.

FRIGHTFUL COLD IS DELAYING WORK

Developments Under Difficulties on the Vermilion —Latest News.

Tower, Minn., Jan. 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—The frightful cold of the past two weeks has interfered greatly with development work on the Vermilion range. Before this it was expected that the Lucky Boy mine near Ely would be in ore. Two weeks ago the drift was going through soft soap rock. Water was coming in freely and the miners expected next to encounter the ore body. The frigid temperature froze the steam pipes and has delayed work. News of a strike in the Lucky Boy may be expected any time after the cold moderates.

The arctic cold put a stop to surface operations at the Almar mine, near Eagle's Nest, on the main Soudan formation. Test pitting was being done on the south greenstone wall. At the finish Superintendent McGuire put in a blast on the ledge and showed up some ore. The new hoist and skips, constructed by the Imperial Iron Works of Duluth for the Almar, have arrived and are being installed. They were built especially for the company, from plans of H. G. Wessinger, head of the works and formerly chief engineer of the Oliver Iron Mining company. The usual force of seventeen men is working in the Almar shaft. In the drift from the 128-foot level the formation is mixed. Hardly any two cuts (blasts) are alike. L. L. Culbertson, president, and George Waters, treasurer of the Almar company, both of Duluth, are expected at the property tomorrow, notwithstanding the bitter cold. The officers of this company may be said to be always on the job. They do not do their mining in Duluth.

The same is true of T. J. Walsh, head of the North American, Vermilion Consolidated and Minnesota Steel & Iron. As was told in The Herald he crossed Vermilion lake recently with the temperature 47 deg. below zero, in a thirty-mile wind.

Work is going on day and night in the North American shaft, which is running through gold ore to reach the iron body. The Vermilion Consolidated is making good progress through a drift which is expected to penetrate the ore body. Captain Walter Harvey Weed, the eminent mining enginer of New York, who is the consulting engineer of the Almar company, is expected at the Almar mine this week. All drifting is being done under his direction. After his inspection some change may be made in the company's plans, as it had been expected to again encounter the ore body before this time. The conditions in the Almar are almost indentical with the Soudan. No one here doubts that the Almar will be a paying property, but much work may yet have to be done. This company is not selling any stock. It took its shares off the market several months ago.

The White Iron Lake Iron company has resumed work in its shaft No. 2 near Ely after drilling to determine the slant of the formation. This company will install a Jones step furnace to smelt low-grade ores should the forthcoming tests of the furnace at Republic, Mich., prove a success.

A county road has been cut in from Eagle's Nest station on the Duluth & Iron Range railroad to the Almar mine, a distance of a little more than a mile and in the spring it will be graded. The road is usable now and saves a long haul for the Almar people. Formerly machinery, coal and supplies had to be hauled from Robinson Lake station, a distance of almost four miles.

JAMES HEALY'S FUNERAL.

Last Rites for Explosion Victim at Hibbing.

Hibbing, Minn., Jan. 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—The funeral of James Healy, one of the victims of the explosion at the Wilpin plant, was held at 3 o'clock this afternoon from the church of the Immaculate Conception. There was a large attendance as the deceased was very popular here. The body of Charles Winter, the other victim of the explosion, was shipped last evening to his home at Columbus, Kan.

EVELETH WATER SYSTEM IS NOW DIRECT PRESSURE.

Eveleth, Minn., Jan. 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—Owing to the freezing of the pipe leading to the water tank at the rear of the city ball park, the tank has been emptied, and to meet the needs of the water consumers, the water works department is supplying the water mains with direct pressure, which assures the city safety in case of fire.

Members of the water works department are busily at work repairing the broken pipe and expect to have it ready for use in a day or two.

JOHN CRAIG, VETERAN LOGGER, IS SUMMONED.

Grand Rapids, Minn., Jan. 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—Much surprise resulted here last evening from telegraphic advices telling of the sudden death in a hospital of John Craig a

For Chilblains, Frost Bites and All Sore Feet.

Many persons dread the approach of winter on account of chilblains and frost-bites which cause a soreness and itching at times almost unbearable, frequently bringing on a nervous condition. To those thus afflicted the following treatment will be welcome information as it gives immediate relief and soon cures. "Dissolve two tablespoonfuls of Calocide compound in a basin of warm water (not hot). Soak the feet in this for fifteen minutes. Repeat this for several nights until the trouble disappears."

The action of Calocide compound for all foot ailments is really remarkable. By its use corns and callouses can be peeled right off. Sweaty, smelly feet and tender, aching feet need but a few applications. Bunions get relief instantly. Any druggist has it in stock or will get it from his wholesale house. A twenty-five cent package is usually sufficient to put the worst feet in fine condition.

SHOWING INTEREST IN CITY ELECTION

Candidates Mentioned in Hibbing But None Make Straight Announcement.

Hibbing, Minn., Jan. 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—Indications are the coming village election will be one of the most interesting in the history of the town. There is a good deal of discussion regarding municipal affairs, a condition unusual here, as little interest in village politics is usually displayed until a week or two before election day. The election will be held on the second Tuesday of March.

The announcement that the Socialists are preparing a platform which will probably be made public within a few days and which will advocate a city hospital and a municipal coal yard among other things, has had the effect of precipitating a lot of discussion. A Socialist leader stated that the platform would also include a clause asking that the licenses of saloons be raised and the number limited, and that shorter hours and higher wages for municipal employes would be included. The Socialist strength in Hibbing is an unknown quantity.

Mayor Welrick Non-Committal.

Dr. E. L. Welrick, who for the past three years has been elected president of the village, has not yet definitely announced whether or not he will be a candidate for re-election. He is the only man who was ever re-elected mayor of Hibbing. Should he decide to become a candidate there is little question he will be returned.

Dr. P. R. Thomas is being discussed as a possible candidate in the event Mr. Welrick should decide not to make the race. Dr. Thomas was elected president of the Commercial club at a meeting last Wednesday evening.

Another mayoralty possibility is Peter McHardy, one of the pioneers of Hibbing, having resided here since the early days. He has served on the board of trustees and as mayor one term. He was formerly a successful business man here, but retired about a year ago.

Trustees Not Talking.

The present board of trustees is made up of W. C. Barrett, William Wearne and J. J. Cox, none have announced their candidacy for re-election. There is little talk of candidates for these positions or for that of village recorder or treasurer positions filled by A. H. Kleffman and Dennis Healy, respectively.

At the last village election over 1,000 votes were polled. This year the voting will be at polling precincts, the city having recently been divided up into five voting districts. It is expected the vote this year will be about the same as last.

BEER FREEZES EN ROUTE.

Hibbing Drinkers Are Facing Liquid Famine.

Hibbing, Minn., Jan. 13.—There is danger of a drink famine in Hibbing. There is little liquor in the city at the present time and a carload of beer shipped to one of the local brewing companies yesterday arrived here in a frozen condition. Unless the weather breaks the city will be dry.

Local liquor dealers purchasing supplies from Duluth, Twin City and Chicago wholesalers have been notified that the railroads are not accepting beer and some grades of liquor for shipment to this section. Some dealers are now supplying one another with bar stocks in which a shortage has been developed.

Virginia Redmen Initiate.

Virginia, Minn., Jan. 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—The annual installation of the newly-elected officers of the Redmen was held at North Pole hall last evening, the following being installed: J. P. Chalmers, sachem; Joseph Backus, prophet; Leroy Edwin, senior sagamore; A. T. Thorp, junior sagamore; P. Kearny, guard of forest; A. Staff, guard of wigwam. A big class will be installed soon.

Cold Hampers Phone Service.

Chisholm, Minn., Jan. 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—Continued cold weather wrought havoc with local telephone lines. The greater part of the week the line between Hibbing and this city was put out of order, likewise the Buhl line, and about the city many complaints were received.

Eveleth Woodmen Install.

Eveleth, Minn., Jan. 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Modern Woodmen of America have installed the following officers: William Weir, consul; Alderman Joseph J. Brince, past consul; J. O. Anderson, worthy advisor; Alex M. Turnquist, banker; Attorney John W. Peterson, clerk; A. Gunderson, escort; A. M. Turnquist, Abram Hiltonen and Israel Oman, trustees; John Sherck, watchman; Nick Thomas, sentry. Following the installation a banquet was held.

Cold Halts Eveleth Work.

Eveleth, Minn., Jan. 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—Work on the new $20,000 fire hall on Jackson street, for which Contractor Theodore Naaffts has the contract and which was to have been completed next week, has been delayed by the cold.

Judge's Daughter Entertains.

Eveleth, Minn., Jan. 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—The home of Judge William E. Moylan of the Adams location was the scene of a pretty surprise party tendered in honor of his daughter, Esther.

Eveleth Militia Election.

Eveleth, Minn., Jan. 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—In an exciting election by the militia to elect a second lieutenant, Acting First Sergeant James Murray won the honor after four ballots had been taken with Sergeant R. James Trezona, Alderman George A. Perham and Leroy Edwin of Virginia as the other leading contestants. First Lieut. Cass U. Jenkins was re-elected without opposition.

TAKES FALL THAT KILLED BROTHER

Nels Anderson May Follow His Brother to Grave.

Three months ago Will Anderson fell down the stairs leading to his room upstairs at 105 East Superior street. He was picked up unconscious and died a few days later at the hospital.

Yesterday afternoon at 8:30 o'clock, Nels Anderson, his brother, fell down the same stairs under the same circumstances. He was picked up unconscious and rushed to St. Luke's hospital by the police.

This morning he was still in a comatose state, lying in a stupor from which it is feared that he will not recover. His condition was worse today than last night.

Will Anderson fell down the stairs while drunk. Nels Anderson has been drinking considerably since his brother's death. He has not been working steadily and he spent a good deal of his time in saloons.

As far as known the two brothers had no relatives in this country. They were homesteaders in a small way and are said to have had a sum of money left to them from an estate.

ACCOUNTS EXPLAINED

other. One entry in the journal of Morris & Co., for September, 1907, showed that 27,037 cattle had been purchased at a cost of $1,299,195.03. The principal credits were $67,787.28 for hides and $47,586.24 for fertilizer.

It was an important gain for the government when Judge Carpenter granted District Attorney Wilkerson and an expert accountant permission to examine the books of Morris & Co. outside the sessions of court. The books in question are the general journals and ledgers for the period between 1905 and 1910, and were produced in court by the chief accountant of the company. The government wants to read into the records of the case numerous entries in support of its contention that the allowances made for by-products are inadequate and are part of the general operating plan of the alleged combination.

Over Protest by Defense.

Counsel for the defense protested against the ruling of the court and insisted that the object of the government was to search for evidence.

"These books contain confidential information and their examination by the government should be limited to the purpose of this inquiry," argued Attorney Buckingham, representing Swift & Co.

"The books are the property of the corporation and not of the individual defendants, and I believe the government should be permitted to examine them," said Judge Carpenter in ruling on the question. "The government will limit its investigation to the subject of fresh meat and the disposition of the by-products."

The government has subpoenaed a dozen bookkeepers and clerks of the packers to testify regarding the methods of the accounting used by the companies of which the defendants are officers. It will take a week or more to complete this part of the government's case.

CUYUNA RANGE ORE SHIPMENTS

Estimate of the Tonnage to Be Produced This Year.

Brainerd, Minn., Jan. 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—In an interview at Brainerd, H. J. Kruse, the superintendent of the Rogers-Brown Ore company, gave an estimate of the tonnage to be produced by the Cuyuna range this year and the mines he knew would be shippers. He said: "The Kennedy mine will ship 200,000 tons of iron ore this year. The Armour No. 2 mine will ship 75,000 tons, the Armour No. 1 mine will ship 40,000 tons. All this ore is contracted for. The latter part of this season the Meacham mine may commence shipping and will then probably produce a tonnage of 15,000 to 20,000 tons. The Thompson mine of the Inland Steel company may also ship, and if it does the mine will produce about 50,000 tons. The Armour No. 2 mine was in ore a week ago. They passed through a seam seven feet thick assaying 57 to 58 per cent, a rich red hematite. The pay roll of the Kennedy mine at Cuyuna is $15,000 a month and approximately 300 men are at work. Two levels have been opened at the Armour No. 1 mine, one at 200 fet and one at 300 feet. At the Armour No. 2 mine a 2,000 gallon compound Prescott pump has been installed at the 168 foot level. At the Armour No. 1 mine a 2,000-gallon Prescott pump has been installed at the 300-foot level. The Kennedy mine has shipped in 1911 147,600 tons. In its stock pile at the present time are 2,000 tons, an average much better than the corresponding period last year."

Chester D. Tripp is the general manager of the Rogers-Brown Ore company, with offices in Chicago. H. J. Kruse is the superintendent in charge of the operations of the Cuyuna range. The mining captains of the company are Capt. G. A. Anderson, Capt. G. Sylow, Capt. William Treloar and Capt. Nels Olson. Coupled with Supt. Kruse's announcement of the tonnage of producers on the north range is the statement from authoritative sources that the Adams mine in section 30, south of Deerwood, and the Barrows mine, operated by M. A. Hanna & Co., four miles south of Brainerd, are also confidently expected to enter the shipping lists of 1912.

QUARTER MILLION LOSS IN WEST VIRGINIA FIRE.

Huntington, W. Va., Jan. 13. — Fire which started at Logan, the county seat of Logan county, sixty miles south of here, early today swept an entire business block and spread to the courthouse, which was entirely destroyed. The loss is estimated at $250,000.

A GREAT RECORD

Hard to Duplicate It in Duluth.

Scores of representative citizens of Duluth are testifying for Doan's Kidney Pills. Such a record of local endorsement is unequalled in modern times. This public statement made by a citizen is but one of the many that have preceded it and the hundreds that will follow. Read it:

Mrs. O. B. Olsen, 2019 West Fourth street, Duluth, Minn., says: "My little girl, 6 years of age, was troubled from infancy by a kidney weakness. At night she could not retain the kidney secretions and during the day this trouble was almost as bad. If the secretions were left standing, they deposited a sediment. Two years ago we were successful in finding the right treatment for her. A relative recommended Doan's Kidney Pills and we tried them. The child soon received great improvement. Doan's Kidney Pills not only acted as represented in this case, but were used with success by a young man who was staying with us at that time. In November, 1908, I publicly endorsed Doan's Kidney Pills and I am giving this statement to confirm my first one."

Our Future in Baseball Is Most Uncertain---Sailor Jack Busy---Oldfield Trying to Come Back---The Flight of the Wild Pigeons.

(BY BRUCE.)

WHILE the baseball situation at the Head of the Lakes is very indefinite at the present time, it is very hard to take the outlaw move very seriously. Mr. Conrad of St. Paul may be very sincere in his attempt to place an outlaw league into the Twin City territory, but he is going against tremendous odds.

Baseball today is organized on lines specially constructed to combat the outlaw element. The majors have been able to hold their own in all baseball strife that has come up since the final organization of the American league. With two majors in the field and the whole system of baseball dominated by a system that is prepared to expend a vast sum of money to put down any movement against it, it can be readily seen that it will require a vast amount of money to make any successful invasion.

Those who are most interested in baseball here are trying to figure out just what we are going to do. There doesn't seem to be any interest in the Minny and there doesn't seem to be any financial inducement for any man to back a Minny league team here. Whether we are to have semi-professional baseball remains up to the men who are most interested in getting out of the Minnesota-Wisconsin.

There are some people who believe that under ordinary circumstances Duluth would be a good baseball town. If the attempt to invade the Twin Cities had been successful we might have had the chance to be shown the truth or fallacy of this belief. But if we do go back to the Minny and then Duluth continues to show an indifference to the great national game, there will be no surprise.

It seems that we could have gone into the Twin Cities by securing the consent of the St. Paul and Minneapolis magnates. But these genial good fellows—ah ha—told us they would do the best they could for—themselves. We understood in our trusting nature that they were going to do the best they could for us. After the A. A. meeting we find that we are barred out forever and rigid rules were enacted against any minor league team breaking into A. A. territory.

Duluth's baseball future is an open question at the present time. The fans are wondering what the next month or two will bring in the shape of an answer to the questions in the minds of the local followers of baseball. We will have to stick around and see.

IF TEX RICKARD is to be taken as a judge of fighting talent Al Palzer is the only big fighter before the public today who has the least chance of ever taking the crown from the smoothly shaved pate of Lil Artha.

What does Tex know about fighters? That's an open question. He may know a lot—and he may not. After viewing the moving pictures of the late unpleasantness at Reno, during which the batteries of Messrs. Jeffries and Johnson were turned upon each other, there are some of us who have come to the opinion that Mister Rickard has a rather hazy opinion of the fight game in general.

He was the third man in the ring and when Jeffries was knocked down and one of his seconds boldly and without the least hesitation helped the collapsing giant to his feet, Rickard did not disqualify Jeffries then and there as the rules provide—he didn't even start to count when Jeff hit the canvas.

Maybe Tex was so excited at the spectacle of the big grizzly being beaten up that he lost for the time being his commendable nerve and presence of mind. But after the lack of knowledge shown by Tex upon that memorable occasion, some of us are wondering why he should be one to sit in judgment on fighters in general or a fighter in particular.

DULUTHIANS, or some of them of beyond the first decade of residenceship, may remember the days when the wild pigeon was a very common bird in this part of the state and in the West in general. Suddenly the wild pigeons, droves and millions of them, left this part of the country—not only this part of the country but the entire United States. The question as to where these birds went has been one that has remained unanswered.

Not so long ago a well known business man of this city was in Chicago. He happened through some of his acquaintances to meet Tex Rickard, the man who promoted the Gans-Nelson fight, the Jeffries-Johnson fight and is at the present time engaged in a vast cattle speculative deal in South America.

Tex Rickard told the man from Duluth where the wild pigeons went. There are millions of them in South America. The answer must be in this statement of Rickard. The wild pigeons must have left this country for one that we are seeking trade relations with at the present time. Maybe the birds believe in reciprocity.

Just the other day a Western paper was unable to answer the question as what had become of the wild pigeons. Like the Middle West the Pacific coast country has not seen them for some years. They must have migrated in droves to the land that rests down in the vicinity of the equator.

SAILOR JACK is going to be a busy boy for a few weeks. In a little over a week the sturdy little marine has a match with Henry Lindsay in one of the Wisconsin towns. He has also a match in Michigan and then may go to Winnipeg to wrestle Gustafson, the man who wrestled a draw with Otto Suter and also a draw with Young Miller.

Negotiations are also being carried on for a finish match with Dick Sheperd, the wonder of Pipestone. The sailor is in fine shape at the present time, as those who saw him handle Halaka like a bag of meal will testify. Another month of hard work will put Jack in the best condition of his entire career. In good condition the little marine stands as one of the best little men in the country. He is tough, possesses wonderful endurance and is not acquainted in the least, hasn't even a bowing acquaintance with the quit thing. He ought to get on.

IN DISCUSSING the pennant chances of his team for next season Connie Mack rises to remark that his well trained aggregation will be stronger the coming season than it was during the last campaigns. The tall leader also adds one may infer what one pleases. As the Athletics won two pennants and two world's championships during the said seasons, the inference left by Mister Mack might be construed into one of them ere early predictions for the pennant.

THEY do say as how Barney Oldfield would like to come back into the automobile racing game. Reports sent out from the head of the American Automobile association would lead one to believe this. It is said that Barney is willing to sacrifice his man Friday, Bill Pickens, to get back into the good graces of the A. A. A. officials.

It came about through the suggestion of a race between Barney and the present title holder, wild Bob Burman. Here the officials of the Indianapolis Speedway came to the surface with the information that there would be nothing doing—nothing at all—on their track. Some of the things that Barney said in the high tide of his wrath have stuck in the crop of the desk designators of the governing racing association.

A race between Oldfield and Burman would create a lot of interest and would therefore get a lot of money. Oldfield is a good spender and maybe he finds himself out of funds at the present time. He is not like the city fellow who came from the country and bought a 25-cent cigar and was afraid to smoke it lest he be extravagant. A race with Burman might open several bank accounts for both drivers—playing the outcome safe, it might also be suggested that an undertaker might get his bit out of the meeting.

When Tod Sloan had Barney he used to open wine before noon—Barney, you undertsand—and that is a very foolish anti-Hetty Green habit. If Barnardo has continued this habit—and they say it is one hard to break—on the income that Barney and Bill Pickens are deriving from the weekly dope letter, or the weakly dope letter, just as your tastes run—why then there is reason for Oldfield wanting to break into the racing game.

But anyway, maybe he won't.

KID REYNOLDS AFTER PAL BROWN

St. Paul Fighter Issues Formal Challenge to Hibbing Boy.

George Kid Reynolds, the lightweight fighter of St. Paul, issued a public challenge to Pal Brown Thursday evening at the theater where the little Hibbing scrapper is playing the present week. Brown accepted the defi of Reynolds and the bout will go to the club making the two little scrappers the highest offer.

Reynolds looks like a shift fighter. His record indicates that he has a sturdy wallop. His ten-round bout with Jack Redmond, one of the best men in the lightweight division, would indicate that Reynolds is a classy little fighter.

Following is the record of Reynolds:

1908.

Nov. 17—Young Levine, w. six rounds.
Dec. 12 — Jim Cousick, w. three rounds.

1909.

Jan. 7—Jim Cousick, w. seven rounds.
Feb. 22—Young Brittan, w. ten rounds.
March 17—Jim Cousick, w. five rounds.
June 6—Young Bartos, w. six rounds.
Sept. 10—Jack Redmond, l. ten rounds, St. Paul.

1910.

June 10—Jack Redmond, d. ten rounds.
Feb. 9—Grover Mayes, w. six rounds.
May 24—Jimmy Lauder, w. six rounds.
June 19—Billy Lauder, Canadian champion, d. ten rounds.

DECIDING GAME IN MANLEY EVENT

Tonight the final games of the Manley-McLennan event will be played between the Duluth and Superior Curling clubs, the games being scheduled for the Superior rink. Each of the clubs has won one of the series, the club taking the games in tonight's match becoming possessor of the trophy for the present year.

Following will be found the line-up of the Duluth rinks that are to play at the local club this evening and the results of the games that were curled last evening:

G. Stillman vs. F. Hallock.
J. Oldham vs. F. Farmer.
R. Smith vs. W. P. Majo.
P. Heimick vs. S. M. Stocker.
B. Petz vs. C. Getty.
W. Mackay vs D. B. McDonald.
C. Roulo vs. A. A. Michaud.

J. E. MacGregor.	15	D. McDonald.	10
S. H. Jones	18	F. Farmer	10
J. Oldham	13	L. Catterson	5
W. Harris	16	C. McLennan	7

Moll Is Re-elected.

Milwaukee, Jan. 13.—Charles F. Moll was elected president of the Wisconsin-Illinois baseball league for the third time and a schedule of 140 games, the same as last year, was decided upon. Fond du Lac will drop out of the league and either Elgin, Ill., or Wausau, Wis., will take its place.

Tigers Lose to Columbia.

New York, Jan. 13.—Columbia defeated Princeton at basket ball here last night, by a score of 29 to 16. Although Columbia had not fared well in previous matches this season, the Tigers were out-played from whistle to whistle and were never dangerous.

Cubs Will Report March 2.

Chicago, Jan. 13.—Members of the Chicago National league baseball club will report for spring practice March 2 as announced by President Charles W. Murphy today. Thirty-five players and Manager Chance will make the trip.

TRAINERS SCANNING RECORD LIST FOR THE COMING RACING SEASON

Cleveland, Ohio, Jan. 13.—Following their usual custom, race secretaries, all ready at work arranging their programs for the coming season, are scanning the records for a list of the 1911 money getters that will be eligible for the stake events of 1912. What the bush leaguers are to the big leagues of baseball the bull rings are to the major racing circuits, and each year a large number of embryo stars are picked up by the alert mile track trainer in about the same manner as the baseball scout selects the cream of the minors for the big league team.

Much money is spent each year in landing new material by horsemen, as well as baseball magnates. There is a slight similarity between the operations of the two, but the main difference between them is a marked one. In the horse business a man with the money can buy about seven out of every ten horses that he wants, while in baseball the odds are almost as pronounced the other way. The reason is that in baseball a club must do everything it can to maintain sufficient playing strength to hold patronage, while in the horse sport each man is operating for himself and can do as he sees fit. The horses with but one exception, if they are stars, will be seen in competition flying the colors of the man best able and most fortunate in securing them. The exception to this rule is in the case of C. K. G. Billings, who never races horses. However, Mr. Billings gives the public an opportunity of seeing the great horses that he buys in action—in trials against time and in matinee performances.

There are a large number of horsemen, however, in the game for the sport alone, who would not call certain members of their stables for any amount of money. This is true of nearly all of the wealthy horse lovers who breed and race horses, not in a business way but just in a recreative manner. These men will sell some of their stock, naturally, but they breed horses with the hope of getting a champion, and any trotter or pacer that shows class is put in the priceless list.

Baseball clubs have one or more salaried scouts whose duty it is to roam about the country when the baseball season is on in search of players who look as if they would make good in a league of higher class. Horsemen do not have regular scouts but they have their friends who tip them off to promising youngsters and in case the young equine makes good the purchaser generally remembers the friend for his tip.

Dave Holly a Star.

This year the quantity and quality of the half mile track candidates that will graduate from the twice arounds to the mile rings is up to the standard. Thomas W. Murphy, Walter Cox, Ed Geers, W. L. Snow, Charley Dean, Bert Shank, Lon McDonald and the other leading grand circuit trainers have been busy rebuilding their racing stables ever since the 1911 campaign ended. As a result each has a number of good prospects that he will prep for the coming season, the majority of which has had experience on the half mile tracks.

Among the candidates for the slow classes in sight none seem to have better backing than the 4-year-old trotter, Dave Holly in Bert Shank's stable. Dave Holly is owned by Abe Frank of Memphis who purchased him last spring from Ed Benyon and Harry Burgoyne. He is by Peter the Great and out of an Ashland Wilkes mare. During the summer Frank worked the colt at Memphis and drove him in the matinees of the Memphis Matinee club. In the fall over a heavy track and on the outside of two horses Frank drove the colt a mile in 2:10½. This performance pleased him so much that Frank shipped the colt to Lexington during the trots and turned him over to Bert Shank to train.

Shank worked the colt in company with Uhlan one morning when the track was sticky, a mile in 2:08½, the last quarter being reeled off in thirty seconds. Dave Holly will be trained and raced this season, and if nothing happens to him it looks as if he would have a good chance in the M. and M. and other big stakes.

Shank also has State Senator Tod's trotter, Mike Egan, 2:14¼, as well as a number of other good prospects in his stable.

Walter Cox carried the green trotter, Arona McKinney, through the grand circuit last season for educational purposes and it looks as if he had a star. For the pacing division, among other candidates that Cox has is the Ohio half mile track graduate, Woodcliff King, that Curt Gosnell raced last season. Woodcliff King is a 5-year-old. Last season at 4 years of age he reduced his record from 2:16¼ to 2:12¼ and raced well. He is by Ashland Wilkes.

Murphy Builds Strong Stable.

Thomas W. Murphy has added to his list the notorious Jack London, 2:11¼, the good Ohio trotter, Ruth McGregor, 2:14¼, by Jay McGregor, and the Western sensation, Marigold, 2:12¾. Another trotter that raced on the half mile tracks of Ohio and Pennsylvania in 1911 and attracted much attention is Esther W., 2:13¼. Although lame when at Rockport, Esther W. was the best prospect at the meeting. She was purchased by Murphy a few weeks later. One of the most recent additions to the Murphy string is The Pointer, 2:14¼, an Ohio pacer by Elastic Pointer.

W. J. Andrews has had turned over to him Sir Thomas Lipton, 2:15½, and King Ree, 2:15¼, both of whom are owned by the Cleveland syndicate. These trotters earned their records over the half-mile tracks last summer and look as they would do in faster company. Sir Thomas Lipton forced Jack London to his record.

Joe Bowers, 2:09¼, one of the sensations of the West last summer, acquired this fame on the half-mile tracks. At the Cleveland meeting, J. L. Dodge, the millionaire horseman who trains and drives his own horses, purchased the Western cyclone.

Fred Jamison expects to make his debut into grand circuit the coming season and will bank on his half-mile track candidates. Our Colonel, Babe, Dolly S. and others to carry him to victory.

The West is expected to send a number of high-class horses to the grand circuit this year. One of the consistent performers of the past two seasons in the wild and woolly region was year-old, Hickory Girl, who reduced her mark from 2:21½ to 2:14½ last season, and Miss Archale, that was raced by M. D. Shutt, who brought out Penisa Maid. Miss Archdale is 7 years old. Last season she reduced her record from 2:24¼ to 2:14½. Another Western star is Evelyn Walsh, an attractive race mare that earned a record of 2:15½ last season. Baron Reaper, 2:09¼, and Royal Reaper, 2:11½, were also race horses of ability.

Numerous Other Trotters.

There are a number of other horses that raced well on the twice-arounds in 1911, that may be seen on the grand circuit the coming season. Among them are: Mary Louise, 2:08¼; Rhythmic Queen, 2:09¼; Elizabeth Ray, 2:09¼; Kenyon, W., 2:09½; Cheney, 2:09¼; Ramy Constantine, 2:11¾; Council Croft, 2:11¼; Bernice R., 2:11¼; Bedella, 2:11¼; L. C., 2:12¼; Reuben Whitesocks, 2:13¼; Baden, 2:13¾; Anna Lake, 2:13¼; Simon Axworthy, 2:13¾; Glenwood T., 2:14¼; Ellwood E., 2:14¼; Ida Purple, 2:14¼; The Cochran, 2:14¼; Capital Medium, 2:14¼; Molto Dillard, 2:15½; Sweet Salome, 2:15¾; Fay Kirk, 2:16½; Phyllis Wynn, 2:15; Sir Binger, 2:15¼; Bistan, 2:15¼; Baron del Ray, 2:15¾; Matty Allerton, 2:12½; Ruth Arlington, 2:12¼; Lilly Woodford, 2:13; Blanch, 2:09¾; The Hermitage, 2:09¾; Hi Henry, 2:10¼; Knight Onward, 2:11¾; Wild Heather, 2:13¼; Mabel King, 2:13¼, and others.

Several of the trotters and pacers mentioned above, raced a little on the mile rings last season, but they spent most of the time campaigning on the twice-arounds. Rhythmic Queen, for example, raced at Lexington only, and earned a record of 2:09¼.

Judging from this list, there will be plenty of racing material for the mile tracks the coming season.

GOPHER STAR TO TAKE TO DIAMOND

EARLE PICKERING.

HATLEY TAKES THE HIGH SCORE

Duluth Man Defeats Capron in Final Game of Billiard Series.

William "Bill" Hatley, the father of billiards in Duluth, came back last evening and defeated Joe Capron of Minneapolis at the St. Louis billiard parlors, running out his string of 600 points for the two Duluth games by chalking up 317 points to 203 by Capron.

The agreement was that 600 points should be played in Minneapolis and a like number of points contested in Duluth. Capron won the Minneapolis games in total points, his score being 600 to 650 for Hatley. Hatley gets the two games played here by the score of 600 to 503. This brings the total score of the four games in favor of Hatley, the final standing being 1,150 for Hatley and 1,103 for Capron.

The games aroused a great deal of interest in the two cities. Hatley is known as one of the best billiard players in the Northwest. He has played some of the best players in the world and has held the title of Northwestern champion for the past decade.

It is probable that a series of games will be arranged between Hatley and Capron, the series to be played here.

PILAKOFF EXPLAINS WHY HE QUIT

To the Editor of The Herald:

To give the public a square and fair explanation regarding my actions in front of the big audience at the Auditorium Jan. 10, I wish to state these following facts:

It is true that I laid down for Ordemann in the third fall without any attempt to win it, because I was unable to wrestle any longer. I am not a quitter as I know I did my very best in the second fall in the condition that I was.

The following statement, given to me by Dr. Eklund the next day after the match, is evidence enough to prove the very fact which my manager tried to do, but was given no chance to explain to the highly excited and noisy public.

Dr. Eklund's statement to me follows:

"I examined Mr. Pilakoff on Dec. 20, when he came back from the Copper country, where he had a match with Paul Samson, from whom he received a kick which has caused him a good deal of trouble in his appendix. I gave him some medicine and advised him to take good care of himself to avoid an operation, and not train too hard for his coming big match with Ordemann.

"Now, I have examined him again and I found him in the same poor condition.

"DR. J. J. EKLUND."

This was not my first appearance in Duluth. This was my fourth match at the Auditorium in this city, against such men as Zbyszko, Cutler and Rogers and my showing against these men will prove to the public that I have neither yellow streak, nor am I a quitter.

I challenge Henry Ordemann for a return match, but I want to get two months' time to get well and in good shape, and then I will wrestle him on winner-take-all basis, or just for fun in front of any crowd or club, and I am confident that I can beat the American champion.

FRED PILAKOFF.

Demarest Wins.

Chicago, Jan. 13.—Calvin Demarest defeated Fred Conklin, International amateur champion by 310 points in their 2,000-1,335 handicap, 18.2 bulk line billiard match. In the fifth and final block Demarest in 14 innings scored 400 with high runs of 150 and 100. In 12 innings Conklin made 181 with high runs of 55 and 28. When Demarest ran out Conklin's total score was 1,025.

To Meet at New York.

New York, Jan. 13. — Announcement has been made at National league headquarters that the reconvened annual meeting of the National league will be held in New York Feb. 13. Directly after this meeting the league will hold its schedule meeting.

MAJORITY SHOULD RULE

Coach Williams Not in Favor of Withdrawing Unless Forced.

But Claims Old Two-Thirds Rules Causes Great Injustice.

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—Dr. Williams, coach of the Minnesota football team, does not believe in withdrawing from the conference as so many think, but he does strongly favor the majority rule in the conference. If the minority persists in its attempt to rule he thinks it might be time for the majority to withdraw.

Dr. Williams said last evening: "When the conference was known as the 'Big Nine,' the White resolution, which provides for a two-thirds vote to pass all legislation, was all right. But since Michigan left the conference the former two-thirds vote still requires six colleges to ratify any changes, making an actual three-fourths vote necessary. This makes for minority rule because three colleges can kill all legislation over the objections of the majority. This is not what I call displaying a fair, square, equitable spirit toward the conference as a whole. It isn't fair that the majority should be blocked in any action they want to take, by the minority. Whatever the majority decides on should be accepted by the other members of the conference. If the majority vote against anything Minnesota wants, Minnesota ought in all fairness and equity accept the decision. If the majority should vote against any legislation that Chicago wants, Chicago ought to accept it in like spirit.

"I think that the Western conference should be preserved by all means. No college should withdraw from the conference because she does not like some action taken by the majority. It would not appear to me wise for any one college to withdraw from the conference through the failure to put through any measure which was not acceptable to the majority. If these is anything which might threaten to disrupt the conference, it would certainly be an unfair attitude on the part of the minority in refusing to allow the majority to decide important issues.

"The majority should get together and act as a unit in forcing the conference to accept the majority rule. This is a perfectly fair proposition. If this falls the whole five schools representing the majority might well consider withdrawing in a body rather than submitting to the dictation of the minority. This should be done, not because of failure to pass any legislation but as a matter of principle."

The statement by Dr. Williams came as a surprise to many of the students as they were under the impression that "Doc" was strongly in favor of the returning to the turning table as in the good old days, when they played real football.

GOPHERS AFTER SYRACUSE GAME

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 13.—Minnesota will meet Syracuse university at football on Northrop field next fall if negotiations now under way materialize. Dispatches from Syracuse today conveyed the information that the athletic authorities there were anxious that a meeting be arranged.

The game has not been clinched yet, according to Dr. H. L. Williams, Gopher coach, who admitted that an effort is being made to arrange the contest. The coach said that nothing of a definite nature had been done but that Minnesota was just as anxious as the Syracusans to sign up.

Helon Leach, manager of athletics at the university, like Dr. Williams, insisted that the game had not been scheduled yet. He said that he had corresponded with Syracuse as well as with other Eastern schools and thought the meeting might be arranged. It is certain, however, that if the game is played it will be played nowhere else than in Minneapolis.

ASCENSIONS TO PLAY C. A. C. TEAM

The fast Ascensions of Minneapolis, one of the best basket ball teams of the Twin Cities, are scheduled to meet the strong Catholic athletic club quint this evening in the C. A. C. gymnasium. The Minneapolis team is said to be the best basket ball team in the Twin Cities, coming to the Head of the Lakes with a fine record.

Seesens, Connelly, Clark, Aubin and Curry will make up the local team, players having been secured from the Blaines and normal of Superior. The two Barrys, Von, Riley and Beck will represent the Minneapolis team. The contest is expected to be the best basket ball game played here the present season.

Rock Island in "Three I."

Rock Island, Iowa, Jan. 13. — The Rock Island baseball club will be a member of the Three I league next season. A company was formed with Police Magistrate C. R. Smith as president to take over the franchise which was recently surrendered with the old association.

Mausolf Wins Again.

Mausolf won the seventh block of the city pool games last night, scoring 100 points to 98 for Oliver. The games were played at the Central rooms. The grand total now stands 700 to 642 in favor of Mausolf.

Meeting of Rules Committee.

Boston, Mass., Jan. 13.—Secretary F. K. Hall of the intercollegiate football rules committee issued a notice yesterday calling a meeting of the rules committee in New York Feb. 2 and 3 next. It is understood that no radical changes will be made in the rules this year.

LATEST SPORTING NEWS OF THE DAY

CRACK RINKS ARE ENTERED

Northwestern Bonspiel Will Open Monday for a Week's Play.

Winnipeg Coming Down With Imposing List of Famous Stane Men.

Duluth is all ready for the opening of the Northwestern bonspiel.

The biggest winter sporting event of the Northwest will start promptly at 9 o'clock on Monday morning. From the messages and the number of entries already received, it looks as if the spiel this season will be one of the largest, if not the very largest, bonspiel ever held in the Northwest.

Officials of the Duluth Curling association are counting on using the rinks at West Duluth and also the rinks of the Superior Curling club in order to complete the play in the eight scheduled events during the week. This goes to show how large the bonspiel promises to be.

Two special cars will bring the jolly and genial curling crowd down from Winnipeg. The officials of the local club are sure of ten rinks from Winnipeg and Secretary Ray Withrow stated yesterday that he would not be at all surprised if there were fifteen rinks on hand when play starts on Monday.

With the Winnipeg rinks in the play the spiel promises to show some of the best competition that has been seen here for years. Cassidy and Braden of the Winnipeg Thistles, for instance, are to be on the same rink. Labatt and Sam Hastings of Minneapolis are also to be on the same rink. These two rinks with Bob Dunbar's crack rink should make three of the best rinks ever seen at one of the Northwestern bonspiels.

James McDairmid of the Strathcona club of Winnipeg, a curler who won the grand prize at one of the big international curling spiels in Switzerland, is also coming. Mr. McDairmid is an elderly man and has played in some of the big events on both sides of the Atlantic.

A. H. Smith, former secretary of the Duluth Curling club, and also a former secretary of the Northwestern Curling association, is coming down. Mr. Smith will play third on McDairmid's rink. His enthusiasm and hard work are mainly responsible for the large entry list from Winnipeg.

There will be five draws daily. The first will be made at 9 o'clock in the morning, the second coming at 12.30, the third at 3:30, the fourth at 7 o'clock, and the fifth at 10 o'clock.

Play will begin first in the Duluth Curling club trophy event. Next comes the St. Paul Jobbers' event, the Minneapolis event, the Northwestern Curling club event, the Stephen H. Jones, the International, the Ordway and the Patrick-Duluth events following in the order named.

Not nearly all of the entries are in as yet. It is expected that many will be in late this afternoon and many more will come in at the last minute.

Following are the names of the skips to date and the club they will represent: J. W. de Cogracy, Assinoboines of Winnipeg; Donald Morrisson, Strathconas of Winnipeg; John T. Haig, the Strathconas; George Neil, the Thistles of Winnipeg; James McDairmid of the Strathconas; Byde Hallock, the Civics of Winnipeg; Dr. Williams, the Assinoboines of Winnipeg; Cassidy and Braden, the Thistles of Winnipeg; J. M. Riley of Stonewall, Manitoba; Thomas McGilvray of Duluth; R. D. Bradley of Duluth; A. A. Michenil of Duluth; mer F Whyte of Duluth; Harry Hurdon f Duluth; John Oldham of Duluth; A. C. Anderson of New Duluth; W. K. Parkinson of Phillips, Wis.; L. J. Tucker of Pardeeville, Wis.; Thomas McDermott of the Capital City club, St. Paul; Bob Dunbar of the Capital City club, St. Paul; John McLeod, Minneapolis; George K. Labatt, Minneapolis; H. S. Lockwood, Portage, Wis.; W. C. Kelm, Portage; J. H. Wells, Portage; T. E. Maxfield, Superior; H. H. Grace, Superior; Clough Gates, Superior.

There will be several rinks down from the ranges, as well as a large representation from West Duluth, if the expectations of the officials of the Duluth Curling club are realized.

JOHNNY HAYES PRAISES JONES

Marathon Runner Gives Credit to the Great College Miler.

(By John J. Hayes.)

(Winner of 1908 Olympic Marathon.)

The year preceding an Olympiad has ever been replete wtih record-breaking performances on track and field. In this respect 1911 has been no exception, for during the year past the game has witnessed a revival of interest it enjoyed prior to and during the Olympics of 1908.

The past year has witnessed the breaking of some of the most prominent marks in events that have defied the assaults of succeeding champions for years.

The roll of merit includes such prominent names as J. P. Jones, Tel. Bernan, A. T. Meyer, A. W. Minds, Gwynn Henry, R. C. Craig, Mel Sheppard, Abel Kiviat, J. J. Eller, George Banhag, Lewis Scott and W. J. Kramer in the track events. In the field events the names that stand out are Martin J. Sheridan, M. J. McGrath, Platt Adams, Russel L. Beatty, P. J. McDonald, Dan Ahearne, Dan Healey, Ray Ewry, H. J. Grumifelt and Ollie Snedigar.

J. P. Jones Heads the List.

Among the record breakers the performance of J. P. Jones stands alone as the classiest of the year. His mile in the intercollegiate in May, when he smashed Tommy Conneff's record for the new mark of 4:15 2-5, will be long remembered by the athletic sharps. With very little rest he "turned out" in the half mile on the same day, and after laying away back in the early part of the race, came through, pulling his famous "jump" a short distance from home. He won handily, creating a new intercollegiate record of 1:54 4-5. Just to show he was capable of even better things, he competed in the intercollegate cross-country championships at Brookline the following November, winning that seven-mile event in 34 minutes 41 3-5 seconds, remarkable time. The marks are a criterion of the immense strength Jones will be of the 1912 Olympic team, and the athletic experts freely predict that in him America has the beating of the pick of England's milers.

Sheppard's work the past year has been on a par with his excellent work in 1908, and his time, while not as good as his record-breaking season of 1910, shows him to be the marvelous performer of old.

A. T. Meyer Sensation.

A. T. Meyer, the young sprinter whose meteor-like rise is the talk of the athletic world, has placed some very creditable marks to his long lists of principal performance, including the 100 and 220-yard events at the senior metropolitan championships, when he negotiated in the creditable time of 10 and 22 1-5 seconds, respectively. The senior indoor title in the 75-yard dash he annexed in the sterling time of 7 4-5 seconds, equaling Bobby Cloughan's indoor record. He is the possessor of the indoor senior titles at 60 and 150 yards, made at the indoor championships at Madison Square garden last year.

Gwynn Henry, the Texas flyer, competing for the Irish-American athletic club, shares sprinting honors with Craig of Michigan university. Gwynn Henry's principal performance includes the 100 yards in the national championships at Pittsburg, where he won the good time of 10 seconds. He has duplicated this time on three or four occasions and has run in 9 4-5 seconds once.

R. C. Craig holds the intercollegiate record of 9 4-45 seconds, also the 220, in which he created a new collegiate record of 21 1-5 seconds, equaling Bernie Wefer's world mark in both of the events. He was the fastest sprinter of the year 1911.

Lewis Scott, of the South Paterson Athletic club, the National 10-mile and Metropolitan five-mile champion, seems the most promising distance man. To Scott and Bonhag will probably rest the task of annexing the Olympic long distance crown from Kolmanien, the Finn, and Bouin, the French crack. The Eller brothers have accounted for three new hurdle records between them. In the 220-yard event Jack has on two occasions broke existing records, topping the timbers in the good time of 24 4-5 seconds. His time in the 75-yard low hurdles is also a record. The brothers, Bob and Jack, are joint holders of the 70-yard indoor low hurdle record of 8 2-5 seconds, made in Madison Square garden, Feb. 4, 1911.

CRITIC NAMES THE TWENTY BEST ATHLETES IN HISTORY OF THE TRACK

The "Twenty Greatest" fever, which has been raging among the baseball fans, has spread to the athletic enthusiasts, and several readers of the New York Press have written to "Sprinter" asking who, in his opinion, were the twenty greatest stars on the track and field. There have been so many great athletes that was a difficult question to answer offhand, but there probably will be few experts who will differ from Sprinter in the selections.

A glance will show that eleven of the selections are American born, while three others did their best work when sporting the silks of an American club. Four of Sprinter's phenoms were born in Ireland, but three of them did their best work after coming to America. England is honored by three selections, while France and Germany have one each.

His list follows:

Lon Myers, United States.
Harry Hutchins, England.
W. G. George, England.
Pat Davin, Ireland.
Tommy Conneff, Ireland and United States.
Malcolm Ford, United States.
Al Shrubb, England.
Alvin Kraenzlein, United States.
Bernie Wefers, United States.
Mike Sweeney, United States.
Maxey Long, United States.
George Bonhag, United States.
Ray Ewry, United States.
John Flanagan, Ireland and United States.
Martin Sheridan, Ireland and United States.
John Paul Jones, United States.
Melvin Sheppard, United States.
Ralph Rose, United States.
Jeane Bouin, France.
R. Pasemann, Germany.

Martin Sheridan, Malcolm Ford and Pat Davin are the three greatest all-round athletes in the annals of sport. Every one knows of the great Sheridan, he who, without the benefit of any competition to speak of and with little or no rest between his events, won the American all-round athletic championship in 1909, with the unprecedented and as yet unapproached total of 7,385 points. Martin also won the all-round championship in 1905 and 1907, with great scores, but his performance in 1909 was the one which will be remembered when all others are forgotten.

Sheridan's wonderful skill with the discus has earned for him a reputation almost equal to that won by his wonderful all-round ability. Martin has captured Olympic, national, international, Canadian and metropolitan championships galore. In the Athens Olympiad of 1906 Martin scored more points than any other individual athlete; in fact, he rolled up more points than were made by all the athletes of any other country with the exception of the United States and England. Martin did almost as well in the London Olympiad, Sheppard nosing him out by a quarter of a point for the individual honors. Sheridan's name is familiar wherever track and field sport is known.

Malcolm Ford was the Martin Sheridan of the '80s. Many old-timers say that all things being considered, Ford boasted a greater athletic versatility than Sheridan. It always will be a question whether Ford or Sheridan was the greater all-round man. Each excelled in his specialties and both boasted wonderful prowess in all departments of the track and field game.

Ford was a wonderful jumper, both standing and running. He was a great sprinter, hurdler and pole vaulter, and possessed remarkable strength. He competed before the modern revival of the ancient Olympic games, so never got a chance to win Olympic honors. However, he won the national 100-yard championship in 1884, 1885 and 1886; the national 220-yard championship in 1886; the national high-jump championship in 1883; the national broad-jump championship in 1883, 1884, 1885 and 1886 and the all-round championship in 1885, 1886, 1888 and 1889.

Sprinter does not attempt to compare Sheridan and Ford. Each man has his wonderful points and about the only way in which the question of superiority could be decided would be by a meeting between the two, which, of course, is out of the question. Ford long since breatsted the tape in the race for life. Sheridan today, though still a young man, boasts little of his former all-round brilliance. Martin's interest in the game is waning fast. Enthusiasm is the whip that makes the training mare go. Without hard and conscientious training and the refusal to tread the primrose path, the strength, speed, skill and stamina necessary to win all-round championships is missing. Martin, however, still appears to possess much of his saucer scaling skills.

Third Claimant.

The only other man in the annals of sport who can lay any claim to being in the same class with Sheridan and Ford as an all-round athlete is Pat Davin, the brother of Maurice Davin, whom the sons of Erin aptly have called "The Father of Irish Athletics." The Davin brothers lived in Carrick-on-the-Suir, Ireland, the home of Tom Kiely, the great Celtic athlete who visited this country in 1904 and 1906, each time winning the national all-round championship. Kieyl is a nephew of the Davins. That is an argument for the supposition that blood will tell.

Pat, the younger of the Davins, was a wonderful all-round athlete. Many Irishmen are of the opinion that Davin was a greater all-round man than was Sheridan. In his prime Davin was unbeatable in all-round competitions. He was a 10 1-5 man in the '100," could beat 23 seconds for the furlong, and was equally as good a quarter-miler. Davin jumped 6 feet 2½ inches in the high jump and cleared 23 feet 2¾ inches in the broad jump. He was a 16-second man in the high hurdles and also could pole vault and throw the weights.

Sheridan says Davin was the greatest all-round man that ever lived. Martin always was a modest chap and willing to give the other fellow all the credit. The fact remains, however, that Davin's records place him on a par with both Sheridan and Ford.

Harry Hutchins, the old English sprinter, was the fleetest short-distance man that ever drew on a spiked shoe. Hutchins was in a class by himself. No sprinters before or since his time ever approached his wonderful performances. Lon Myers was a 10-second man in the 100-yard dash, yet when Lon came back to this country after one of his trips to England he said Hutchins when training with him beat him by seven yards in a "100." Lon said no watches were held on the impromptu speed duel, but that in his opinion Hutchins could cover the century in 9 2-5 seconds.

Hutchins ran scores of sensational races, but Sprinter will give only a few of the races in which the authenticity of the timing and the correctness of the distance are not to be doubted. Hutchins won the Sheffield handicap of 1879, covering 131¼ yards in the wonderful time of 12 2-5 seconds. He won the Sheffield handicap of 1881, stepping 130½ yards in 12¾ seconds. He covered 200 yards in 20 seconds in Edinburgh, Scotland, on Jan. 2, 1884, and won a 350-yard race on the bit in 38 2-5 seconds in Little Bridge, England, on Sept. 19, 1885. In Sydney, Australia, on March 2, 1887, Harry stepped 150 yards in 14½ seconds. Hutchins was unbeatable in his time and established figures that have successfully stood the tests of many years of competition.

Most critics think Bernie Wefers was the greatest amateur sprinter that ever lived. Arthur Duffey might have been a shade faster at the "100" than was Wefers, but Bernie could sustain his speed up to and beyond 300 yards. Duffey's limit was 150 yards. Bernie was a 9 4-5 second man in the "100," a 21 1-5 second man in the furlong, and did 30 3-5 seconds for 300 yards. Craig of Michigan has equaled Wefers' 100 and 220 yards figures, but no amateur as yet has approached Bernie's 300-yard record. Craig eventually may prove himself to be a greater sprinter than Wefers, but at present Wefers looks to have a shade on the Michigander. Wefers also must get credit for beating much classier sprinters than Craig has beaten. Next to Hutchins, Wefers probably is the world's greatest sprinter.

Mike Sweeney is the world's greatest high jumper. On that memorable day back in 1895 when the New York A. C. swept the boards in the dual international meet with the London A. C. on Manhattan field Sweeney won the running high jump with a leap of 6 feet 5 5-8 inches. It was a world's mark and the high jumpers still are shooting at it in vain.

Ray Ewry is the greatest standing jumper in the annals of sport. In both the standing high and the standing broad jump he stands supreme. In three Olympiads the grand old man has made all his rivals dip their colors to old glory. He has scored more points in Olympic games than any other athlete. No one has approached Ewry's wonderful world's figures for the standing high, the standing broad and the three standing broad jumps.

John Flanagan is the world's greatest hammer and weight hurler. Matt McGrath is wiping many of Flanagan's records off the books and eventually may prove himself to be a more wonderful man than Flanagan. Something besides the mere making of records must be taken into consideration in judging athletics, however. For sixteen years Flanagan was in a class by himself as a weight man. He competed all over the world and seldom met defeat. It is only in recent years that McGrath has menaced Flanagan's title, and many consider John now past his prime. He showed some wonderful performances on the other side of the pond last summer, however.

Ralph Ross is the world's premier shot-putter. Pat McDonald and Russell Beatty now are threatening the California giant's figures, but Rose still holds the majority of the world's shot-putting records. Of the eleven shot-putting records Rose holds seven. When at his best Rose was unbeatable. His performances last year, however, were mediocre and unless he gets back to form he is likely to be beaten by both Beatty and McDonald in next summer's Olympiad.

Maxey Long was the world's greatest quarter-miler. His world's straight-away two-furlong record of 47 seconds flat and his quarter mile of 47 2-5 seconds over a fifth-of-a-mile track speak for themselves. Maxey covered 400 yards in 42 1-5 seconds. He was a 10-second man in the "100" and 22-second man in the "220." He won national and Canadian championships at 100 yards as well as at the quarter mile. Long won the English quarter-mile championship in 1900 and the Olympic 400-meter championship in Paris the same year.

Alvin Kraenzlein, besides being the world's record holder in both the 120 high hurdles and the 220 low hurdles, was a great sprinter, high jumper and broad jumper. His 120-yard high hurdle record has been equaled, but his 220-yard low hurdle figures still are untouched. Kraenzlein did 10 seconds for a 100 yards, leaped more than 6 feet in the high jump and cleared 24 feet 4 inches in the running broad jump. No one can gainsay that Kraenzlein was one of the greatest atheltes the world ever knew.

Sprinter has come perilously near filling the space allotted, so only brief mention of the rest of the "Twenty greatest" is possible. One could go on telling of Lon Myers, Al Shrubb, Tommy Conneff and the rest of them till the cows come home, but the sporting editor says "Saw off." Every one has heard of Shrubb and Myers. Shrubb was the greatest distancer the world ever knew. His times from two to ten miles still stand untouched. It is too bad he did not appear in this country before he had seen his best running days. The times that Shrubb made when at his best show him to be in a class by himself.

Lon Myers was the greatest all-around runner the world ever saw. Melvn Sheppard is the nearest approach to Myers of any of the present-day runners. Sheppard, however, lacks Lon's marvelous sprinting prowess. Myers could do 100 yards in 10 seconds from a standing start. He cat 49 seconds for the quarter, and long held the world's half-mile and 1,000-yard records. Myers' last race was a 1-mile victory over the great W. G. George. Sheppard has smashed many of Lon's figures, but some of the old-timer's records still stand. Sheppard well can be said to be the Lon Myers of the present day. No two greater middle distance runners ever dug up cinders.

TOMMY RYAN'S FEUD WITH WEST

These Fighters Hated Each Other With Malice of a Rattlesnake.

Cincinnati, Ohio, Jan. 13.—Professional pugilists, as a rule, look on one another with a kindly eye, and show sentiments of real friendliness whenever possible. There is but little real enmity among them, and when one knotty-handed son of swat proclaims through the public press that he hates another, and that he is going to knock that party's head off, then is the time to watch for fakes. It is better than an even bet that the fire-breathing warriors are like David and Jonathan, and that they have arranged every detail of their coming "battle," winner, loser, number of rounds and style of knockdowns.

There were two fighters of renown, however, years ago, who hated each other with a venom that couldn't have been excelled if a rattlesnake and cobra were to get together. These two were Tommy Ryan, welter and middleweight champion in the after years, and Tommy West, one of the hardiest and strongest fighters that ever donned a glove. The hatred between West and Ryan was no stage stuff and no fake. They really and truly despised each other's eye teeth, and when they met in the ring the battles between them were something akin to a clashing between fiends on the brink of the hot resort.

Their last fight came off at Louisville, and Ryan won. Clever as he was there was never anyone more skilled than Tommy Ryan — he was given the thrashing of a lifetime by the desperate West, and the beating which West took before caving in was about the fiercest any man ever got with padded gloves. People who saw West and Ryan struggle wondered about the enmity that evidently spurred them on, but neither of the gladiators ever gave the full story of their quarrel.

The feud started in a gymnasium up in Chicago, as far back as 1894—and it lasted till the final whirl at Louisville. West and Ryan never fought after that, and perhaps the hatred has abated. But for several years—great Moses, how they did despise each other!

In 1894 Ryan was training at Prof. Duplessis' gymnasium, and it was Tommy's joy to have a crowd of board of trade men, men about town and even actresses gather while he went through his stunts with the gloves. Ryan was the fastest, prettiest boxer in the world, and it was a poem of motion to see him train. He had one fault, though—one mean trait in his disposition. He loved to sting and smite his sparring partners, and he had no mercy on the men who worked with him.

Ryan was working out one afternoon before an admiring throng. He punched the bag and skipped the rope. Then he asked for volunteers to box with. The only athlete of suitable size in the house was Tommy West, who was working almost unnoticed with the pulley weights some twenty feet away. Ryan asked West to spar. "Glad to accommodate you," West replied, "if you will play fair, and not try to show off before the crowd. You know you are a good deal faster than I am, and you don't need to make a monkey of me."

They donned the gloves, and Ryan calmly proceeded to make a full-blown chimpanzee out of West. He slapped West's chops, he poked West's nose, he danced in and out, and he made West into a thing of comedy and derision before the laughing crowd.

West stopped boxing. Then, quickly and with a determined eye, he pulled off the gloves. And then he seized Mr. Ryan by the scruff of the neck with one hand, while he applied his hamshaped fist to Mr. Ryan's features.

Ryan yelled and struggled, but West, much his inferior in boxing, was far stronger in a rough and tumble. He smote Mr. Ryan in various places; he wallowed him upon the floor; he thumped his head against the boards with a resounding echo of ivory encountering timber. And when he had converted Mr. Ryan into the close semblance of a flattened cream puff, he sweetly smiled, and went upon his way.

Thus started the Tom-Tom feud between West and Ryan, the fiercest feud that ever existed between two high-class pugs, and one of the few real enmities there have ever been in the profession.

McINTOSH TO COME OVER HERE

Famous Australian Promoter May Open Boxing Club in New York.

San Francisco, Jan. 13.—"At the conclusion of the present Australian season, at the invitation of well-known boxing supporters in America, I have decided to proceed to New York for the purpose of conducting a big season. I will let you know more detailed particulars later on."

The foregoing is an extract from a letter received by the writer from Hugh McIntosh, the Australian promoter, who is at present handling pugilistic events in Sydney.

It will be news to a great many, no doubt, to hear that McIntosh purposes to invade America, although he gave some hint of his intentions when he stated in an interview before leaving England that his main ambition was to establish a chain of boxing clubs around the world.

"Mac" is certainly an enterprising fellow. According to his letter heads, Hongkong and Yokohama are about the only places in which he has not established agencies and banking connections, and the reason, I judge, can be found in the fact that the game of the glove has not taken root as yet

CRACK RINKS ARE ENTERED

Northwestern Bonspiel Will Open Monday for a Week's Play.

Winnipeg Coming Down With Imposing List of Famous Stane Men.

Duluth is all ready for the opening of the Northwestern bonspiel.

The biggest winter sporting event of the Northwest will start promptly at 9 o'clock on Monday morning. From the indications and the number of entries already received, it looks as if the event this season will be one of the largest, if not the very largest, bonspiel ever held in the Northwest.

Officials of the Duluth Curling association are counting on using the rinks at West Duluth and also the rinks of the Superior Curling club in order to complete the play on the eight scheduled events during the week. This goes to show how large the bonspiel promises to be.

Two special cars will bring the jolly and genial curling crowd down from Winnipeg. The officials of the local club are sure of ten rinks from Winnipeg and Secretary Ray Withrow stated yesterday that he would not be at all surprised if there were fifteen rinks on hand when play starts on Monday.

With the Winnipeg rinks in the play the boys promises to show some of the best competition that has been seen here for years. Cassidy and Braden of the Winnipeg Thistles, for instance, are to be on the same rink. Lahiff and Sam Hastings of Minneapolis are also to be on the same rink. These two rinks with Bob Dunbar's crack rink should make three of the best rinks ever seen at one of the Northwestern bonspils.

James McDiarmid of the Strathcona club of Winnipeg, a curler who won the grand prize at one of the big international curling spiels in Switzerland, is also coming. Mr. McDiarmid is a elderly man and has played in some of the big events on both sides of the international line.

H. Smith former secretary of the Duluth Curling club, and also a former secretary of the Northwestern bonspiel committee is coming down. Chris Johnson will play third on McDiarmid's rink. His enthusiasm and hard work are mainly responsible for the fine list of rinks from Winnipeg.

In the first and five draws daily. The first will be made at 9 o'clock in the morning, the second coming at 12:30, the third at 3:30, the fourth at 7 o'clock, and the fifth at 10 o'clock.

The play will begin first in the Duluth Curling club trophy event. Next comes the St. Paul Jobbers event, the Minneapolis event, the Northwestern Cotton club event, the Stephen H. Palmer event, the International, the Ordway Jones, the International, the Ordway and the Patrick-Duluth events following in the order named.

Not nearly all of the entries are in as yet, but it is expected that many will be in before this afternoon and many more will come in at the last minute.

Following are the names of the skips to play and the club they will represent: W. de Cogney, Assiniboia club of Winnipeg; Donald Morrisson, Strathcona of Winnipeg; John T. Hall, the Strathcona; George Nell, the Thistles of Winnipeg; Jas. McDiarmid of the Strathcona; Evde Hallock, the Caledonians of Winnipeg; Dr. Williams, the Caledonians of Winnipeg; Cassidy and Braden, the Thistles of Winnipeg; J. M. Ellis of Stonewall, Manitoba; Thomas McCleary of Duluth; R. D. Bradley of Duluth; A. A. McIntosh of Duluth; merchants of Duluth; Harry Hudson of Duluth; John Oldham of Duluth; A. C. Anderson of New Duluth; W. K. Parkinson of Phillips, Wis.; L. J. Tucker of Pardeeville, Wis.; Thomas McDermott of the Capital City club St. Paul; Bob Dunbar of the Capital City club, St. Paul; John McLeod, Minneapolis; George K. Lahiff, Minneapolis; H. S. Lockwood, Portage, Wis.; George Kyle, Portage, Wis.; J. H. Wells, Portage; T. D. Maxfield, Superior; H. H. Grace, Superior; Clough Gates, Superior.

There will be several rinks down from the ranges, as well as a large representation from West Duluth. If the expectations of the officials of the Duluth curling club are realized.

JOHNNY HAYES PRAISES JONES

Marathon Runner Gives Credit to the Great College Miler.

(By John J. Hayes.)

(Winner of 1908 Olympic Marathon.)

The year preceding an Olympiad has ever been replete with record-breaking performances on track and field. In this respect 1911 has been no exception, for during the year past the game has witnessed a revival of interest, a enjoyed prior to and during the Olympics of 1908.

The past year has witnessed the breaking of some of the most prominent marks in events that have defied the assaults of succeeding champions for years.

The roll of merit includes such prominent names as J. P. Jones, Tel. Bermah, A. T. Meyer, A. W. Minds, Gwynn Henry, R. C. Craig, Mel Sheppard, Abel Kiviat, J. J. Eller, George Banhag, Lewis Scott and W. J. Kramer in the track events. In the field events the names that stand out are Martin J. Sheridan, M. J. McGrath, Platt Adams, Russell Beatty, P. J. McDonald, Pan Anderre, Dan Healey, Ray Ewry, H. J. Crumfelt and Ollie Snedigar.

J. P. Jones Heads the List.

Among the record breakers the performance of J. P. Jones stands alone as the classiest of the year. His mile in the intercollegiate in May, when he smashed Tommy Conneff's record for the new mark of 4.15 2-5, will be long remembered by the athletic sharps. With very little rest he "turned out" in the half mile on the same day, and after laying away back in the early part of the race, came through, pulling his famous "jump" a short distance from home. He won handily, creating a new intercollegiate record of 1:54 4-5. Just to show he was capable of even better things, he competed in the intercollegiate cross-country championships at Brookline the following November, winning that seven-mile event in 34 minutes 41 3-5 seconds, remarkable time. The marks are a criterion of the immense strength Jones will be to the 1912 Olympic team, and the athletic experts freely predict that in him America has the beating of the pick of England's milers.

Sheppard's work the past year has been on a par with his excellent work in 1908, and his time, while not as good as his record-breaking season of 1910, shows him to be the marvelous performer of old.

A. T. Meyer Sensation.

A. T. Meyer, the young sprinter whose meteor-like rise is the talk of the athletic world, has placed some very creditable marks to his long lists of principal performance, including the 100 and 220-yard events at the senior metropolitan championships, when he negotiated in the creditable time of 10 and 22 1-5 seconds, respectively. The senior indoor title in the 75-yard dash he annexed in the sterling time of 7 4-5 seconds, equaling Bobby Cloughan's indoor record. He is the possessor of the indoor senior titles at 60 and 150 yards, made at the indoor championships at Madison Square garden, last year.

Gwynn Henry, the Texas flyer, competing for the Irish-American athletic club, shares sprinting honors with Craig of Michigan university. Gwynn Henry's principal performance includes the 100 yards in the national championships at Pittsburg, where he won in the good time of 10 seconds. He has duplicated this time on three or four occasions and has run in 9 4-5 seconds once.

R. C. Craig holds the intercollegiate record of 9 4-5 seconds, also the 220, in which he created a new collegiate record of 21 1-5 seconds, equaling Bernie Wefer's world mark in both of the events. He was the fastest sprinter of the year 1911.

Lewis Scott, of the South Paterson Athletic club, the National 10-mile and metropolitan five-mile champion, seems the most promising distance man. Tebo Scott and Bonhag will probably rest the task of annexing the Olympic long distance crown from Kolmanien, of the Finn, and Bouin, the French crack. The Eller brothers have accounted for three new hurdle records between them. In the 220-yard event Jack has on two occasions broke existing records, topping the timbers in the good time of 24 4-5 seconds. His time in the 75-yard low hurdles is also a record. The brothers, Bob and Jack, are joint holders of the 70-yard indoor low hurdle record of 8 2-5 seconds, made in Madison Square garden, Feb. 4, 1911.

CRITIC NAMES THE TWENTY BEST ATHLETES IN HISTORY OF THE TRACK

The "Twenty Greatest" fever, which has been raging among the baseball fans, has spread to the athletic enthusiasts, and several readers of the New York Press have written to "Sprinter" asking who, in his opinion, were the twenty greatest stars on the track and field. There have been so many great athletes that was a difficult question to answer offhand, but there probably will be few experts who will differ from Sprinter in the selections.

A glance will show that eleven of the selections are American born, while three others did their best work when sporting the silks of an American club. Malcolm Ford, United States.
Al Shrubb, England.
Alvin Kraenzlein, United States.
Bernie Wefers, United States.
Mike Sweeney, United States.
Maxey Long, United States.
George Bonhag, United States.
Ray Ewry, United States.
John Flanagan, Ireland and United States.
Martin Sheridan, Ireland and United States.
John Paul Jones, United States.
Melvin Sheppard, United States.
Ralph Rose, United States.
Jeppe Bouin, France.
R. Pasemann, Germany.
Martin Sheridan, Malcolm Ford and Pat Davin are the three greatest all-round athletes in the annals of sport. Sprinter does not attempt to compare Sheridan and Ford. In Sydney, Australia, on March 2, 1887, Harry stepped 150 yards in 14½ seconds. Hutchins was unbeatable in his time and established figures that have successfully stood the tests of many years of competition.

Most critics think Bernie Wefers was the greatest amateur sprinter that ever lived. Arthur Duffey might have been a shade faster at the "100" than was Wefers, but Bernie could sustain his speed up to and beyond 200 yards. Duffey's limit was 150 yards. Bernie was a 9 4-5 second man in the "100," a 21 1-5 second man in the furlong, and did 20 3-5 seconds for 300 yards. Craig of Michigan has equaled Wefers' 100 and 220 yards figures, but no amateur as yet has approached Bernie's 300-yard record. Craig eventually may prove himself to be a greater sprinter than Wefers, but at present Wefers looks to have a shade on the Michigander. Wefers also must get credit for beating much classier sprinters than Craig has beaten. Next to Hutchins, Wefers probably is the world's greatest sprinter.

Mike Sweeney is the world's greatest high jumper. On that memorable day back in 1895 when the New York A. C. swept the boards in the dual international meet with the London A. C. on Manhattan field Sweeney won the running high jump with a leap of 6 feet 5 5-8 inches. It was a world's mark and the high jumpers still are shooting at it in vain.

Ray Ewry is the greatest standing jumper in the annals of sport. In both the standing high and the standing broad jump he stands supreme. In three Olympiads the grand old man has made all his rivals dip their colors to old glory. He has scored more points in Olympic games than any other athlete. No one has approached Ewry's wonderful world's figures for the standing high, the standing broad and the three standing broad jumps.

John Flanagan is the world's greatest hammer and weight hurler. Matt McGrath is wiping many of Flanagan's records off the books and eventually may prove himself to be a more wonderful man than Flanagan. Something besides the mere making of records must be taken into consideration in judging athletics, however. For sixteen years Flanagan was in a class by himself as a weight man. He competed all over the world and seldom met defeat. It is only in recent years that McGrath has menaced Flanagan's title, and many consider John now past his prime. He showed some wonderful performances on the other side of the pond last summer, however.

Ralph Ross is the world's premier shot-putter. Pat McDonald and Russell Beatty now are threatening the California giant's figures, but Rose still holds the majority of the world's shot-putting records. Of the eleven shot-putting records Rose holds seven. When at his best Rose was unbeatable. His performances last year, however, were mediocre and unless he gets back to form he is likely to be beaten by both Beatty and McDonald in next summer's Olympiad.

Maxey Long was the world's greatest quarter-miler. His world's straight-away two-furlong record of 47 seconds flat and his quarter mile of 47 2-5 seconds over a fifth-of-a-mile track speak for themselves. Maxey covered 400 yards in 42 1-5 seconds. He was a 10-second man in the "100" and 22-second man in the "220." He won national and Canadian championships at 100 yards as well as at the quarter mile. Long won the English quarter-mile championship in 1900 and the Olympic 400-meter championship in Paris the same year.

Alvin Kraenzlein, besides being the world's record holder in both the 120 high hurdles and the 220 low hurdles, was a great sprinter, high jumper and broad jumper. His 120-yard high hurdle record has been equaled, but his 220-yard low hurdle figures still are untouched. Kraenzlein did 10 seconds for a 100 yards, leaped more than 6 feet in the high jump and cleared 24 feet 4 inches in the running broad jump. No one can gainsay that Kraenzlein was one of the greatest athletes the world ever knew.

Sprinter has come perilously near filling the space allotted, so only brief mention of the rest of the "Twenty greatest" is possible. One could go on telling of Lon Myers, Al Shrubb, Tommy Conneff and the rest of them till the cows come home, but the sporting editor says "Saw off." Every one has heard of Shrubb and Myers. Shrubb was the greatest distancer the world ever knew. His times from two to ten miles still stand untouched. It is too bad he did not appear in this country before he had seen his best running days. The times that Shrubb made when at his best show him to be in a class by himself.

Lon Myers was the greatest all-around runner the world ever saw. Melvn Sheppard is the nearest approach to Myers of any of the present-day runners. Sheppard, however, lacks Lon's marvelous sprinting prowess. Myers could do 100 yards in 10 seconds from a standing start. He eat 49 seconds for the quarter, and long held the world's half-mile and 1,000-yard records. Myers' last race was a 1-mile victory over the great W. G. George. Sheppard has smashed many of Lon's figures, but some of the old-timer's records still stand. Sheppard well can be said to be the Lon Myers of the present day. No two greater middle distance runners ever dug up cinders.

TOMMY RYAN'S FEUD WITH WEST

These Fighters Hated Each Other With Malice of a Rattlesnake.

Cincinnati, Ohio, Jan. 13.—Professional pugilists, as a rule, look on one another with a kindly eye, and show sentiments of real friendliness whenever possible. There is but little real enmity among them, and when one knotty-handed son of swat proclaims through the public press that he hates another, and that he is going to knock that party's head off, then is the time to watch for fakes. It is better than an even bet that the fire-breathing warriors are like David and Jonathan, and that they have arranged every detail of their coming "battle," winner, loser, number of rounds and style of knockdowns.

There were two fighters of renown, however, years ago, who hated each other with a venom that couldn't have been excelled if a rattlesnake and cobra were to get together. These two were Tommy Ryan, welter and middleweight champion in the after years, and Tommy West, one of the hardiest and strongest fighters that ever donned a glove. The hatred between West and Ryan was no stage stuff and no fake. They really and truly despised each other's eye teeth, and when they met in the ring the battles between them were something akin to a clashing between fiends on the brink of the hot resert.

Their last fight came off at Louisville, and Ryan won. Clever as he was there was never anyone more skilled than Tommy Ryan — he was given the thrashing of a lifetime by the desperate West, and the beating which West took before caving in was about the fiercest any man ever got with padded gloves. People who saw West and Ryan struggle wondered about the enmity that evidently spurred them on, but neither of the gladiators ever gave the full story of their quarrel.

The feud started in a gymnasium up in Chicago, as far back as 1894—and it lasted till the final whirl at Louisville. West and Ryan never fought after that, and perhaps the hatred has abated. But for several years—great Moses, how they did despise each other!

In 1894 Ryan was training at Prof. Duplessis' gymnasium, and it was Tommy's joy to have a crowd of board of trade men, men about town and even actresses gather while he went through his stunts with the gloves. Ryan was the fastest, prettiest boxer in the world, and it was a poem of motion to see him train. He had one fault, though—one mean trait in his disposition. He loved to sting and smite his sparring partners, and he had no mercy on the men who worked with him.

Ryan was working out one afternoon before an admiring throng. He punched the bag and skipped the rope. Then he asked for volunteers to box with. The only athlete of suitable size in the house was Tommy West, who was working almost unnoticed with the pulley weights some twenty feet away. Ryan asked West to spar. "Glad to accommodate you," West replied, "if you will play fair, and not try to show off before the crowd. You know you are a good deal faster than I am, and you don't need to make a monkey of me."

They donned the gloves, and Ryan calmly proceeded to make a full-blown chimpanzee out of West. He slapped West's chops, he poked West's nose, he danced in and out, and he made West into a thing of comedy and derision before the laughing crowd.

West stopped boxing. Then, quickly and with a determined eye, he pulled off the gloves. And then he seized Mr. Ryan by the scruff of the neck with one hand, while he applied his hamshaped fist to Mr. Ryan's features.

Ryan yelled and struggled, but West, much his inferior in boxing, was far stronger in a rough and tumble. He smote Mr. Ryan in various places; he wallowed him upon the floor; he thumped his head against the boards with a resounding echo of ivory encountering timber. And when he had converted Mr. Ryan into the close semblance of a flattened cream puff, he sweetly smiled, and went upon his way.

Thus started the Tom-Tom feud between West and Ryan, the fiercest feud that ever existed between two high-class pugs, and one of the few real enmities there have ever been in the profession.

McINTOSH TO COME OVER HERE

Famous Australian Promoter May Open Boxing Club in New York.

San Francisco, Jan. 13.—"At the conclusion of the present Australian season, at the invitation of well-known boxing supporters in America, I have decided to proceed to New York for the purpose of conducting a big season. I will let you know more detailed particulars later on."

The foregoing is an extract from a letter received by the writer from Hugh McIntosh, the Australian promoter, who is at present handling pugilistic events in Sydney.

It will be news to a great many, no doubt, to hear that McIntosh purposes to invade America, although he gave some hint of his intentions when he stated in an interview before leaving England that his main ambition was to establish a chain of boxing clubs around the world.

"Mac" is certainly an enterprising fellow. According to his letter heads, Hongkong and Yokohama are about the only places in which he has not established agencies and banking connections, and the reason, I judge, can be found in the fact that the game of the glove has not taken root as yet in China and Japan. Even Colombo and Suva boast McIntosh representatives.

INTENTIONAL DUPLICATE EXPOSURE

Although "Mac" doesn't say so, he probably expects to carry his pugilistic dolls with him when he descends upon New York. At present he is making a determined effort to corner the market. He has with him in Sydney Jack Lester, Sam Langford, Jimmy Clabby, Cyclone Thompson, Sam McVea, Terry Kelleher, Porky Flynn and Bandsman Rice. He has his lines out for Joe Jeannette, Jim Flynn, Al Kaufmann, Willie Lewis and several others, and will induce some of them, no doubt, to hit the "out trail" for Australia.

The season in Australia closes in April, when the winter months begin. Boxing is conducted after that in small halls and theaters, but there are no big open-air affairs such as McIntosh makes a specialty of.

This means that he will be due in New York some time in June—that is, if he adheres to his resolve.

Just what kind of a proposition has been made to McIntosh will not be known until he sends "more detailed particulars" along. He can hardly expect to receive a hearty welcome from the New York promoters, but as he claims to be taking the step "at the invitation of well-known boxing supporters in America," he should not find himself friendless and alone when he sets foot in the big Eastern cities.

He will certainly cause a sensation if he arrives there with the string of seasoned fistic campaigners at present under his control. Maybe, if his reception lacks cordiality, he will move on to London, Paris, or some other fight-fostering center and carry the wandering stars of the arena with him.

As a rule McIntosh goes through with any plans he maps out and now that has declared himself in connection with a "big season" in New York, he is not likely to abandon the idea. He was deemed foolish for bucking "the fight trust," as the National Sporting club of London is called, but he worked his way into the big English metropolis and handled some of the most important boxing matches ever held there. Whether he made meney or not is a mooted question. The point I am making is that he is not easily thrust aside.

Just how he expects to conduct a "big season" in New York does not appear and it almost looks as though the Australian fight handler is not conversant with conditions in the East. With Madison Square Garden closed to promoters by orders of the commission, and with open-air boxing and picture taking barred, it does not seem as though New York offers much to the Antipodean sportsman unless it is that he intends to build a roofed arena of his own.

McIntosh, if he comes, will surely bring some of the best of the Australian ringmen with him in addition to any Americans that may return with him. Among the Australians no doubt will be Hughie Mehgan and Dave Smith. The first named is the lightweight champion of Kangaroo Land and according to all accounts, he is the best that country has produced since the days of George Dawson and Shadow Maher.

Mehgan, it is said, can make 132 pounds without trouble, so that if he comes he will be in line for a championship go with Ad Wolgast or whoever happens to be the custodian of the light-weight laurels at that time.

A glance at Mehgan's record, by the way, reveals the fact that he lost once to Rudie Unholz in two rounds while the latter was doing the best he could for himself out Sydney way. But when the explanation is forthcoming that Mehgan broke his arm and was forced to desist the damage to the crack Australian's reputation does not seem to be so disastrous.

Dave Smith is the middle weight who defeated Billy Papke and was defeated in turn by the Kowanee slugger. He is well spoken of by the Australian critics and he is evidently a fighter who could be depended upon to give a good account of himself with such men as Klaus, McGoorty, Moha and Hugo Kelly.

Rifle Matches Arranged.

Washington, Jan. 13.—National rifle matches for money prizes will be held during the present year beginning Aug. 21 next, at a place yet to be determined by the national board for the promotion of rifle practice, which has just concluded its annual meeting at the war department. If the new range at Sparta, Wis., is ready in time the matches will be held there; otherwise at either Camp Perry, Ohio or Seagirt, N. J.

HARRY WOLVERTON WAS LITERALLY BLOWN INTO THE GAME OF BASEBALL

Using Gunpowder to Chase Student Out of Room Resulted In Yankees' New Manager Becoming a Professional Ball Player.

New York, Jan. 13.—Right at the outset of this biographical delivery we wish to assert that we are employing no inelegant slang curve when we state that Harry Wolverton blew into baseball back in 1895. In fact, he was an accident. He was blown in, to speak literally. The new manager of the Yankees bears the distinction of being the only man ever hurled into the profession by an overcharge of gunpowder.

Harry was slammed into his baseball career on an overstocked bomb that in its explosion attained dimensions beyond the fondest hopes of the amateur Black Handers that laid it. Failure to have the charge properly inspected by a combustible expert McNamaraed Wolverton out of college and suddenly projected him into professional baseball.

The story is told by a man who was a student at Kenyon college, Gambier, Ohio, many years ago, and parts of it are admitted by the subject of this sketch now that the statute of limitations protects him.

In 1895 Wolverton was pursuing an education at Kenyon. He was a popular man at college, a member of the football team, and the star pitcher of the baseball nine. A student who was not so popular obtained possession of a choice corner room in a certain dormitory. That room should have been inherited by a member of Wolverton's class, but possession is nine points of the law.

Wolverton and two companions were appointed a committee on transportation. Their job was to move the fresh guy out of that room. They tried moral persuasion. Nothing doing. At last force was considered, and the Guy Fawkes method was considered.

"We wrapped a ball of binding twine around a good-sized charge of gunpowder," says Harry, "and ran a fuse into it through a pipe stem. We figured that the charge would make a report that would be acted upon by our man. We deposited it in front of his door, hiked downstairs, ducked across the campus, and held our breaths."

"Was the bomb a success?" we inquired.

"Well, I only hope that I get as good results next year for Mr. Farrell," replied Wolverton, as reminiscent smiles chased across his map.

"We had imagined that the charge would just make a big noise. Well, it let go like one of those Sandy Hook guns and fulfilled our vocal expectations in every way. Furthermore, it blew down the door and dug a hole in the floor.

"We might have got by on that, but the dern thing tore out the side of the building; in fact it just blew up the college. There were no fatalities, but considerable excitement. We were quite overwhelmed with the success of the thing. So were the college authorities. The wreck drew such a crowd that we had to make a detour and join in ourselves. To have been missed would have aroused suspicion.

"Shortly after that I quit college. I was all right in my studies and I wasn't expelled, either. However, the college authorities conducted a rigid investigation and in a few days myself and two others received a quiet office to duck—a tip from the inside.

"I was a pretty good pitcher in those days and I turned to baseball by writing to Tom Loftus, who then managed the Columbus team, Loftus gave me a job, and there you have the story of how I blew into baseball."

Star Third Sacker in Major Leagues.

Wolverton for years was a star third baseman in the major leagues. He could always hit, and his throwing arm is a wonder to this day. Last season he played 172 games at third base for his Oakland team, but he doesn't contemplate a field career with the Yankees.

To the fact that he quit pitching soon after turning professional Wolverton ascribes his preservation of a good throwing arm.

"I got a lucky break on my debut in Columbus under Loftus," he narrates. "On the opening day of the season of 1896 we hooked up with the Detroit team. One of the older pitchers went in and the Detroits slammed him for eight runs in the second or third inning.

"'Kid, see what you can do,' said Loftus to me.

"Well, I got the breaks, and the team hit behind me, and we finally won by a score of 9 to 8. Even at that time I had an ambition to play the infield. I didn't care much for pitching. In mid-season Loftus turned me over to Joe Cantillion for season-ing. Joe then managed the Dubuque team of the old Western association. It was there that I acquired the third base habit."

Wolverton went back to Columbus in 1897, and during the following season played third base, and was succeeded by Bill Bradley when he was transferred to the Phillies early in the season of 1899. Two of Wolverton's rival managers in the American league—Clark Griffith and Jimmy Callahan—pitched for the Chicago Colts—as they were then known—when Wolverton played third base there.

In Philadelphia Wolverton rose to stardom. For five years—with the exception of a short time served in the Infant American league—he held down the third cushion for the Phillies. He was not only a good fielder and an accurate thrower, but he held his own with that famous slugging crew. And to keep pace with such murderous batsmen as Napoleon Lajoie, Ed Delehanty, Elmer Flick and others one had to swat well above .300, take it from us.

Always Scrappy Player on Field

Wolverton was a scrappy player in those days and is yet. He is like John McGraw in that he does not believe in overlooking the mistakes of an umpire any more than he does the breaks of a bone-headed ball player. He's a keen and forceful leader; he believes in noise on the field and aggressiveness. In the old days he jammed into many arguments on the field with players of rival teams. One time in St. Louis he bounced the ball off the bald bean of Dan McGann when Dan slid into him rather carelessly one day. Wolverton could always take care of himself in exchanges of repartee or in physical arguments.

"My best years were those in Philadelphia," says the new Yank manager. "I never will understand why we failed to win a pennant with that gang of hitters. Nobody ever could or ever will hit a ball harder than Ed Delehanty could. Say, when the buzzer was working in Philadelphia it was a treat to see Del tear into a fast ball when he was tipped off that one was coming. He could almost break a ball when he hit it, and the fences were marked with his line drives."

In 1905, after frequent changes in the management at Philadelphia, Wolverton was traded to the Boston club. He was a Beaneater one year, and that was his last in the National league. He became involved in a salary dispute and jumped the Boston reservation for the outlaw territory, then represented in the East by the Tri-State league.

Began Career at Williamsport.

Wolverton began his managerial career at Williamsport, Pa., in 1907. In five years he has produced two pennant winners, two seconds and one third. He is strictly a first-division manager. There was no luck about his success, either. He had the ability to dig up players and to make them play after he dug 'em up. He won the pennant his first year in Williamsport, and repeated in 1908.

Among the players developed by Wolverton in Williamsport are Harry Sallee, the crack southpaw of the St. Louis Cardinals; Jack Warhop of the Yankees; Walter Blair and several others.

When George Stallings left the New-ark club to assume the management of the Yankees, Wolverton was called to succeed him. Before the season opened, however, Joe McGinnity purchased the Newark club, and during the campaign of 1909 Wolverton was practically little more than captain of the Indians. Naturally, McGinnity used his authority, or, rather, divided it with Wolverton, a system that was satisfactory. Still, the Newarks finished second in a good fight, and Wolverton was accounted the best third baseman in the league.

With McGinnity wishing to run his own ball team, Wolverton had to make another shift. This time he jumped across the continent and landed the management of the Oakland, Cal., team of the Pacific Coast league. His team finished a good second in 1910 and third this year.

This is Wolverton's second venture in the American league. When the Phillies were wrecked in 1901 Wolverton and Delehanty joined the Washington team, but after the famous injunction proceedings were started, Wolverton went back to the National league.

The new manager is a clear-cut athlete of pleasing personality and rare judgment. He is intelligent and well-informed on all subjects, but especially is he a baseball expert.

MANY CHANGES IN GRAND CIRCUIT THIS SEASON

New York, Jan. 13. — Grand circuit harness racing will undergo important changes next summer as the result of action taken at the annual meetings of stewards held here recently. In the allotment of dates New York city and Pittsburg are admitted to the circuit; Lexington, Ky., is invited to join, Columbus is reinstated, while Indianapolis, Ind., is withdrawn, and Grand Rapids, Mich., and Goshen, N. Y., are out for the coming year at least.

The dates assigned are: Kalamazoo, Mich., July 15-20; Detroit, Mich., July 22-27; Cleveland, Ohio, July 29-Aug. 3; Buffalo, N. Y., Aug. 5-10; Pittsburg, Pa., Aug. 12-17; New York, Aug. 19-24; Readville, Mass., Aug. 26-31; Hartford, Conn., Sept. 2-7; Syracuse, N. Y., Sept. 9-14; Michigan state fair, Sept. 16-21; Columbus, Ohio, Sept 23-24.

Two Weeks at Lexington.

A two-weeks' meeting at Lexington is expected to follow the Columbus meeting if the Lexington club accepts the late dates. It was stated that the Lexington club would probably come in, but it could not be determined until after the annual meeting of the club on Jan. 16. If it accepts, it will be the first time that this great racing and breeding center has held Grand circuit trotting meetings. The stewards have been trying for years to get it to join, but Horace W. Wilson, who owned the track for thirteen years, steadfastly refused to have anything to do with the Grand circuit. He retired from racing last year and the new management seized the opportunity to apply for membership.

Senator Backs New York.

The New York idea is said to be backed by United States Senator Joseph W. Bailey of Texas, president of the American Trotting association, who is interesting owners of the Gravesend track in the plan to hold a trotting meeting here, since there is little prospect of running races this year. Formal application in behalf of New York was made by Andrew Welch of Hartford, Conn., who presented a certified check for $500 as a guarantee that racing would be held at the Gravesend track, and declared that he would waive his privilege of asking for the return of the money in the event of no racing.

Reject Gove's Application.

In awarding New York a meet, the application of A. A. Gove, owner of the million-dollar track at Salem, N. H., was rejected, with the proviso that if plans for races here do not materialize, the dates, Aug. 19 to 24, would be assigned to Salem.

The admission of Pittsburg was unopposed, and racing men said they looked forward to a successful meet there, on Brunot's island, in the Ohio river. H. P. Haas, owner of the Pittsburg track, said Western Pennsylvania horsemen were unanimous for regular circuit meets, and the sport would find Pittsburg liberal in its support.

Stewards Abolish Offices.

The stewards voted to abolish the office of a national judge and starter, and authorized each trotting association to employ a presiding judge and official starter. The office of master of transportation, formerly filled by Charles F. Lewis, was also abolished.

TRAINING TRIPS WILL START SOON

Only a Few More Weeks Before Major Teams Start South.

New York, Jan. 13.—Half a dozen weeks from now the baseball campaigns of 1912 will be under way, with the beginning of the spring training trips of the big league clubs. All of the sixteen clubs have selected their pilots and all but one have chosen their pre-season stamping grounds.

Hot Springs, Ark., will be the leading ante-bellum spot in a baseball way this year. Five teams will work out the kinks and crinks of rusty muscles there. Fred Tenney will superintend the early work of his Boston Rustlers in the Razorback metropolis, while Fred Clarke of Pittsburg, Charley Dooin of Philadelphia, Bill Dahlen of Brooklyn and Umpire Hank O'Day of Cincinnati will be on the job with their charges.

There will be some tall times down in the fascinating little city that used to be known as the Monte Carlo of America. It will be the first time in history that so many big league teams have been in action at one time in any single city.

Hot Springs is an easy first in the race for popularity as a spring training camp. Next comes New Orleans. Two clubs will work out there—the Cleveland Americans under Harry Davis and the Chicago Cubs under Peerless Frank Chance. St. Louis might be said to be tied with New Orleans for second honors, as the Mound City entries in both National and American leagues will do their preliminary conditioning on the home lot—the first time in recent years that a major league team has dispensed with a Southern trip. Bobby Wallace and Roger Bresnahan, who again will lead the St. Louis baltossers, both disapprove the playing in warmer climes when the home city is in a zone of mild temperature such as is enjoyed in the Missouri metropolis.

Champions to San Antonio.

Connie Mack will take his world's champion Athletics to San Antonio, Texas; Jimmy Callahan will "Moses" the White Sox to Corsicana, Texas; Harry Wolverton will lead his New York Yankees to Atlanta, Ga.; Clarke Griffith will convene his Washington Senators at Charlottesville, Va., and Mugsy McGraw will once more put the Giants through their paces at Marlin, Texas. The Boston Americans of Jake Stahl are the only ones who do not know where they are to go.

The systems of training that will be in vogue at the baseball camps this spring offer a larger variety than ever before, and there will be many other things to interest the fans in the early workouts. In some cases the work will consist largely of general all-round exercise to limber up the muscles of the men; in other cases practically all the time will be devoted to actual playing.

Some of the moguls will drive their men hard, so as to have them in tip-top, finely drawn shape when the season begins; others will take things easy, starting the season at a little below par, so that the maximum of effectiveness can be attained in midseason.

One factor that will enter prominently into the spring training of 1912 is the mineral bath. This was one of the chief considerations in the selecting of Hot Springs by so many of the clubs. Corsicana, Marlin and San Antonio, Texas, are also bath cities, and the White Sox, Athletics and Giants were attracted to these places in the Lone Star state largely because of the mineral waters on tap there. Whether the press agentiings of the magic virtues of mineral baths are "bunk" or not remains to be seen.

Rumors of Many Trades.

Just about this time the air is a-tingle with rumors of big baseball trades impending, and it is not unlikely that some deals will be put through before the beginning of the spring trips that will revolutionize the outlook for the championship races. Accordingly, it is hard to form a definite line on how the teams will stack up against each other when the starting gun is fired. But speculation is already noticeable among the fans as to who will win the pennants in the two leagues.

This is but human nature, however; moreover, it indicates that the love of the fan for his favorite pastime is not of the kind that is satisfied with just six months of baseball. When he can't see it or play it, he must talk it. So we already have heard prophesies, nominating this or that team as the one to be watched next year. At this time last year the Athletics and Giants were generally picked to win the two pennants, and the predictions came true.

The consensus seems to be in favor of the same teams this year. In the case of the Athletics it is for the same reason as before—they figure just about 100 per cent stronger than any other team in baseball. In the case of the Giants it is different. The disintegration of the Cubs is the chief thing that throws the Giants to the fore in the prognostications. The American league race looks like a walkover for the Athletics, with Detroit finishing second, while the Giants undoubtedly will be closely pressed by the Pirates, Phillies and possibly St. Louis, according to the way the "bugs" in this town have it figured. None of them seem to be able to "see" Chicago at all.

Well, there is a lot of time yet for this Wall Street business before the season opens.

Canadian Town Wants Fight.

Calgary, Alta., Jan. 13.—Bassano, Can., is making a bid for the world's championship fight between Jack Johnson, the present title holder and Jim Flynn of Pueblo, a telegram being sent to Jack Curley at Chicago offering a guarantee of $50,000 in gate receipts if the fight is staged there. July 1, the national holiday, is the date set for the fight in the offer made to Curley.

COBB RELIES ON BRAINS, BESCHER ON HIS SPEED

Ty Cobb of the Detroit Tigers stole eighty-three bases last year, Bob Bescher of the Cincinnati Reds stole eighty. In these two, baseball finds her greatest runners, at least as far as figures go. Josh Devore of the New York Giants has sixty-one stolen bases to his credit; Clyde Milan of the Washington Nationals had fifty-eight. These two came nearest to equaling the totals of the two leaders.

Cobb and Bescher differ in size and style, and of the two Cobb is unquestionably the greater. Cobb depends on his speed, agility and cunning; Bescher on weight and speed.

In 1911 Bescher played in seven more games than Cobb. A member of a team that was never a serious contender after the first two months of the season, Bescher had the opportunity to run wild. Cobb, a member of a team that was in the pennant fight until the last six weeks of the season, had to keep in leash. Cobb's ability to steal was not given full liberty until the championship race was practically decided against Detroit.

Bescher could afford to take most any chance; Cobb could not. Although he stole but three bases less than Cobb the Detroit star scored forty-one more runs than Bescher, getting a total of 147 to Bescher's 106. Cobb stole more bases in less attempts than Bescher.

In the American league conditions for base runners are about even with those in the National. The pitchers of the American are much more alert in watching base runners than those of the National, while the American league catchers are inferior to those of the parent organization.

Charlie Dooin, manager of the Philadelphia Nationals, is author of the statement that in the National league there are not five pitchers who give the proper attention to the base runners, while in the American league there are few hurlers who do not keep the runners hugging the bags.

Base running with Cobb, like batting, is a science. Cobb has spent hours in practicing sliding. Cobb slides when the occasion does not call for it. He has done much sliding that appeared unnecessary to opposing players and spectators, but he continually slid into bags to make the action mechanical, tutoring himself to make the slide perfect, to prevent sliding short or oversliding the bag. Cobb claims that "hitting the dirt" at the proper distance from the bag has become as natural for him as starting for first after hitting the ball.

The pitcher and catcher figure prominently in Cobb's methods. He has studied every pitcher in his league; he has studied every characteristic movement of each individual hurler.

Cobb's lead is not nearly as large as Bescher's. Playing against the same pitchers that Cobb faces, Bescher would also have to cut down his enormous leads.

Outguessing the catcher is another feature of the Cobb method. He studies catchers as carefully as pitchers. He tries to figure what they expect and then does the opposite.

The infielder covering the bag for which Cobb is bound, next comes into play. Cobb watches the baseman's eyes. The eyes are on the ball the catcher is throwing. By watching the eyes Cobb plans the course of his slide. His agility does the rest.

Bescher owns 190 pounds of beef and he uses every pound of it in base running. He is not quite as speedy as Cobb, but his hook and fallaway slides are just about as near perfection as Cobb's.

Basemen fear the wiggling Cobb and the bulky Bescher. Cobb's knee and spiked foot shoot quickly and it takes a wonderfully quick arm to do an infielder's duty and get out of the way. Bescher's massive frame does not court a collision.

His long lead is probably the best asset of Bescher. He takes this lead on nearly every pitcher in the National league. They seldom catch him napping. A cat-like spring and a fallaway slide carry Bescher back to the bag before the throw from the pitcher or catcher reaches the baseman.

Bescher lacks the science of Cobb and Cobb lacks the weight of Bescher.

In some ways they differ, but in one way they are alike—both men are the terrors of the pitchers and catchers of their respective leagues.

GEORGE BONHAG GREAT ON THE CINDER TRACK

George Bonhag is the greatest long distance runner on the American continent today. He has beaten records galore year in and year out since 1904, and at the present time he is shattering an athletic theory that has long been recognized as a fact. That theory is that the "athletic life" of a set of leg muscles is about four calendar years, and that a runner is pretty near "through" after he turns twenty-five summers. George Bonhag's exact age at sunrise this morning was 29 years, 11 months and 6 days. He will be 30 years old on the thirty-first day of this month.

The reader on looking over the above statement will at once seek to call to his mind some runners who have done fine work at thirty years or even further on, and quickly comes the thought: "Alf" Shrubb. Yes, Shrubb was good, and very good, at thirty, and good at thirty-four, but not the real Shrubb by any means. It must be remembered, too, that Shrubb was a distance marvel—a running machine even more perfect than Bonhag. He was one in ten thousand.

How does Bonhag retain his form? This is a question that you will see answered often in the sporting columns, but it has never yet been answered to the reader's entire satisfaction. Some attribute it to Bonhag's brains. True enough, he is a very clever fellow, but so are hundreds of others—some honor graduates from our big colleges—who try to equal his wonderful running feats, and fail.

Others say that Bonhag's prowess on the path is due to the superb care he takes of his body. The same answer goes here. There are hundreds of youths who take much better care of themselves than Gentleman George does, but not one of them can follow his pace for the first 1,000 yards of a two-mile race. An example is Fred Bellars of the N. Y. A. C., who formerly held the cross-country championship. Bellars lost his speed a year ago, and has been trying to "get going" ever since. He lives out in Lyndhurst, N. J., where all hands turn in as soon as the supper dishes are out of the way. Bellars gets ten hours' sleep every night. Is careful about his eating, and trains just the way Coach Bernie Wefers of the New York A. C. tells him to; yet he cannot get back his speed.

Bonhag is a clean liver, but he may be said to be burning the candle at both ends. He works hard in an office all day, runs at about 5:30 in the afternoon, and goes to school at night—altogether a pretty busy day. The only evenings he has to himself are Saturday (on which night he often has a hard race) and Sunday. Bonhag does not use tobacco or liquor, but he is not over-careful about his eating, except on a day when he races.

Neither is Bonhag particular about getting a long supply of the sleep ration. He often "overstays his leave" when training in the local armories. One evening, just before his race with Louis Scott at the Thirteenth regiment sports, George ran a swell trial in the armory of the Brooklyn artillery organization, and tarried so long talking it over with Coach Robertson that it was 3 a. m. when he hit the hay at his home in the Bronx. When he defeated Scott a few nights later in world's record time, Bonhag ran as though he had enjoyed ten hours' sleep every night for a year.

The element in Bonhag's running make-up that is overlooked by most persons, and probably has as much to do with his success as anything, is the supreme confidence that he enjoys in himself. It's confidence, not conceit, understand. When George goes to the mark in condition—and we have seldom seen him run otherwise—he dopes out his race on a schedule of time that he knows will cause the other fellow's legs to go back on him before the finish is reached. He never runs unless he has first found out that he can run to schedule, and that's all there is to it.

When Bonhag was to meet the apparently invincible Louis Scott, he reasoned out in advance that the place to do the running against Scott in a two-mile race was in the first part of the second mile. This plan he followed out, with the result that Scott was completely run off his feet, and almost collapsed in the last part of the race.

Another factor in Bonhag's running ability is his tremendous will power—some call it "Christian Science." Dozens of times the Irish-American champion has won fierce races by the use of his will, saying to himself, as it were, "I'm not half as tired as he is, and besides I've got to win." Combine these two qualities—confidence and great will power—with Bonhag's natural strength and his perfected leg and lung ability, and you are pretty close to the reasons why he is at the top of the distance heap at the advanced age of 30.

P. S.—George says that he is going to be even better next spring.

BASEBALL TEAMS HAVE SOME STRANGE MASCOTS

(By Billy Evans.)

"Bugs I Have Met," would be an excellent title for a book on the freak characters connected with baseball. It is really surprising the effect the great national game has on some of the enthusiasts. To Charley Faust goes the undisputed honor of being the champion bug of 1911. There have been other bugs who greatly rivaled Charley Faust.

Faust, it will be remembered, joined the New York Giants in St. Louis one day. He informed McGraw that a clairvoyant had told him he was to become a member of the Giants, and help pitch them to the National league pennant. When McGraw asked him what he could predict about the outcome of the world's series, Faust replied that he was a little doubtful, but thought it would be best to win the pennant first. To this McGraw agreed. Faust insisted that such a happening was out of the question unless he was signed. McGraw had Faust sized up at the first meeting, and told him he wanted to see him work out before signing him. He appeared at the park in the afternoon, was given a suit and worked out during the four-game series with the Cardinals.

Faust Had Right Dope.

Just before train time for the departure East Faust came to McGraw and questioned him relative to his contract. McGraw replied that Faust appeared to be out of condition. That he would advise that he stay in St. Louis, work out for a month or so and then join the Giants on the next trip West. McGraw thought that was the easiest way to get rid of Matty's pitching rival. McGraw believed the incident closed.

Two or three days later, when McGraw went around to the club house at the Polo grounds, the first man to greet him was Charley Faust. He repeated to McGraw what the famous clairvoyant had told him, and insisted that the New York manager was making the mistake of his life in not signing him. He had paid his expenses from St. Louis to New York. McGraw was amused. He couldn't quite understand this big six-foot-three Westerner, who had the success of the Giants so much at heart that he would pay his own expenses to see the New Yorkers cop the pennant. He decided that such persistence should be rewarded. Faust was signed and the part he played in that strenuous battle for the pennant is now baseball history. That Faust was pretty wise was proved by his statement to McGraw, that he was in doubt about the outcome of the world's series, but positive about winning the pennant.

Tigers Had a Mascot.

It seems that these mascots, who insist they possess some inside information from a fortune teller or clairvoyant, usually pick out a pennant winner. The Detroit Tigers had several funny experiences with destroyers of hoodoos when they were battling for the American league pennant honors.

In 1907 the Tigers arrived in Philadelphia for a very important series with the Athletics. On the morning of the opening game a fellow, rather shabbily dressed and a trifle under the weather, put in an appearance at the Tigers' hotel. He confided to several of the players that he had decided to join the team on the home stretch, in its battle for the pennant. None of the boys took him seriously and all of them referred him to Jennings relative to traveling with the team.

The players put Hughey wise to the pest, as the stranger was dubbed, and Hughey managed to keep clear of him until just before time to start for the grounds. He grabbed Hughey just as he was about to get into the bus, and Jennings thought the best way to get rid of him was to give him a ride to the park, take him into the game and lose him. Ordinarily Jennings would have paid no attention to the fellow, but he had an Irish face, an Irish brogue, and, better yet, red hair.

Hughey said he just couldn't resist such a combination. The game that afternoon was a very important one, the players were on edge, and Hughey also figured that in kidnaping the bug, the players might for a time get their minds off the approaching battle.

Kept Players Entertained.

The stranger informed the Tigers that he felt sure they would win the pennant, if they could induce Jennings that he ought to be carried with the club. Naturally they all wanted to know what influence he expected to exert over the enemy. He had previously admitted that he couldn't play much ball, also that he was neither a clairvoyant, fortune teller or hypnotist. He finally said he expected to make the going easy for the Tigers through the medium of music. Reaching into an inside pocket he pulled forth a musical instrument called the "sweet potato." The players could hardly fathom how music would have any different effect on the enemy than on them, but they were amused. The good natured red headed Irishman had kept the Tigers from giving the game a moment's consideration.

When the contest began the musical mascot started his program for the afternoon. He certainly could play that instrument, and he had the crowd and players in good humor all afternoon. He had a repertory a mile long, and always selected a tune appropriate for the occasion. Usually he tried to make the Athletics the object of laughter as a result of the tune he played. When the Athletics came in from the field, or took their places on the diamond, he always played "They walked right in, turned around, and walked right out again." When the Tigers did some base running or scored a run, it was "Didn't They Ramble?" that he played.

Helped Club Win Flag.

The Tigers made a great showing in the series, and the players left Philadelphia bound to win the bunting. At every game the pleasant-faced son of Erin and his "sweet potato" was very much in evidence. The players took a liking to him, and he was slipped enough money to make the going easy. He followed the Tigers from city to city. No one knew just how he made the trips or where he lived, but every afternoon at 3 he would be sitting in a box at the grounds, entertaining the crowd.

The Tigers finished in St. Louis that year. The winning of one game of the St. Louis series meant the pennant. The Detroiters cinched it in the opening struggle. That evening the Tigers were in a joyous and generous mood. A collection was taken up for "Red"—that was the only name any one ever know him by. A nice sum of money was realized. A couple of the players took him in tow, and outfitted him in fine style, and gave him a nice piece of money on the side. He accompanied the Tigers in style to Chicago, where the series between the two teams for the world's championship was to start.

Went Broke on Series.

Like Charley Faust, Red lost his reputation in the big series. The Tigers were trimmed, as was Red. He had sublime confidence in Bill Donovan, had staked his bank roll on the first game, and was getting ready to spend it, when Bill apparently had the game won he struck out Howard. A passed ball resulted instead of the batter being retired, a run crossed the plate and the score was a tie. The game ended that way. Red was sure the Tigers would have won with a break in luck. He let the bet stand for the next game, which the Tigers lost, and Red was again broke. The game ended his career as a big leaguer.

The Tigers also had another unusual experience with a colored chap. He reported at the grounds one morning with the information that he could put the "jinx" on any club. The Tigers were in first place at the time and had been up against a bunch of hard luck, and were a bit worried over the prospects. Sambo, as the colored mascot was known, won a job with his smile. The Tigers decided to give him a chance to show how much good luck he had stored about him. The club won something like ten straight after Sambo had been appointed official mascot, and as a result he was soon in the high graces of the players.

Mascots Not Unusual.

If ever a chap beat the railroads and hotels Sambo was that fellow. He made all the cities in the East and West, and stayed at all the leading hostelries without ever forking over a cent. He would always take one of the players' grips in the car, and would never come out. He would double himself under the seat. Then a couple of the players would sit down and cover him up. After the tickets had been taken he would sneak into one of the berths, unnoticed by the porter. Charley O'Leary was quite fond of Sambo, and if I have known him on several occasions give up his lower berth to Sambo and double up with one of the other players, so Sambo could make the trip. Sambo finally lost the rabbits foot he worried and incidentally lost his job.

The baseball bug of the real nutty type, like Charley Faust, you would think out of the ordinary, yet they are rather common. Every league manager bumps into any number of them during his career, who try to make him believe that the destiny of his club depends on them. Few ever get any farther than the first interview, although every now and then some chap gets to the manager as did Faust to McGraw and "Red" to Jennings.

GRIFFITH STRUCK COBB OUT THRICE

Old Sox Outguessed the Georgia Peach on Change of Pace.

"Almost every pitcher has some star batsman's goat, and in the natural course of events this situation frequently reverses itself," says J. Ed Grillo in the Washington Star. "One would marvel, perhaps, to hear of a slabman who had fanned the mighty Cobb four consecutive times in a single ball game. In fact, the performance would give visions of some herculean monstrosity whose mighty arm produced such terrific speed that it was worth a catcher's life to stand behind the bat. It must have been some superhuman being that accomplished this, you will say, but not so. It was a little pitcher; yes, one of the smallest men who ever wore a major league uniform, and it was none other than Clark Griffith.

"That diminutive twirler of a few years back who will be in charge of "our hopes" the coming season has this record. It was in the season of 1905. Cobb had set the fans on fire by his wonderful hitting and speed. All pitchers seemed to be mere toys in his hands, and when, one summer day, the wily Griffith was carded to pitch, those in the stands sympathized in anticipation of what would happen when Cobb faced him.

Griff Had Nothing.

"About all Griff had in his twirling repertoire was nerve, good control and a most deceptive slow ball, and it was to this that he attributes the feat hereinafter narrated. He struck Cobb out the first time he faced him on three slow ones, mixing them with fast ones, which he kept away from the plate and out of reach. He duplicated this performance the next time up, and again Cobb fell a victim. Believing that he had nothing to expect but speed and change of pace, Cobb set himself ready for these when he came up for a third time. But now Griffith was curving, and again Cobb sat down.

"Cobb being baffled and not knowing what to expect on his fourth trip to the plate, Griffith shot three fast ones over the center of the plate, and Cobb was called out on strikes. He had expected even more than he had seen on his previous three trips to the plate the last time up, but, with the usual Griffith style, he got just what he did not expect, and to this day he believes that Griffith was the only pitcher who ever turned this trick at his expense.

Delehanty Had Nemesis.

"A greater hitter than Ed Delehanty was perhaps never produced. He was one of the hard-swinging kind who drove terror into the hearts of every pitcher, right or left-handed, who faced him, and yet there was one twirler, and he was not a great star, whom Del could not hit with a plank. He was Billy Rhines, who in the early nineties pitched for Cincinnati. He had an underhand delivery which was baffling to Delahanty, and it was nothing unusual for Rhines to strike him out three or four times in a game. Rhines's power over Delahanty was so great that on several occasions he took himself out of the game and allowed a much less impressive hitter to take his place, simply because he did not believe he could hit Rhines.

"The average left-handed hitter dreads to see a left-handed pitcher work against him, and yet it is a fact that when a left-hander is competent he pitches just as effectively against right-handed hitters as he does against those who bat from the other side of the plate. It is a fact, too, that left-handers do not have the same effectiveness against their own kind that they once possessed. There are now a whole lot of left-handed hitters who are just as dangerous against a southpaw as against a right-hander.

Two Who Don't Care.

"Cobb and Milan, for instance, are not bothered by the south-wing delivery. They have mastered the art of following that curve ball, and there are many others who do not fear these deliveries. This, of course, because of the fact that they face more left-handers now than did the players a few years back. In those days a left-handed pitcher was virtually a curiosity. There were but a few in the country, while now nearly every team has two or more of them. Naturally, the batters have faced these pitchers so often that they have grown accustomed to their deliveries, and the fact that a left-hander is pitching is no longer the handicap it was to a team which was largely made up of southside hitters.

"If Griffith finds any apt pupils among his corps of pitchers the slow ball is sure to play an important part in the games the Nationals' twirlers figure in. Griffith is a great believer in the change of pace. He considers it more effective than speed and especially when the pinch hitter confronts a pitcher. But he admits that it takes nerve for a pitcher to send a ball to a batter with the bases full and none out that has hardly enough on it to carry it to the plate.

Batter More Anxious.

"But he argues that the latter is more anxious than the pitcher. That he expects to see the twirler hurl the ball at him with full might, and when he merely tosses it up after much motion, he gets the batter off of his stride, and the result is a weak chance if he hits the ball at all. But Griffith has his own ideas about the slow ball. It must not be arched so that the eye can detect its speed. It must leave the hand just as does the fast one or curve and go on a straight line to the plate to be effective. Every one of the pitchers who report to Griffith this spring will be given lessons in the art of pitching the slow ball. He does not expect more than one or two of his pitchers to become proficient in its use, but if they learn to use it he feels that he will have two more effective pitchers on his team than he figured on."

PAL BROWN NOW A "REAL" ACTOR

Welcomed to the Ranks By Three Players of Forbes Company.

Lawrence Brown, as he was christened by his parents, and Pal Brown, as he is known in the squared circle, in which he has played forty star engagements, winning thirty-one of them with knockouts and who has never been defeated, has been formally welcomed into the ranks of the Thespians by some clever actors.

Pal and his sparring partner, Danny Schwitzer, are appearing in a sketch entitled "College Athletes" at the Happy Hour theater. There Brown was visited in his dressing room last night by Frederick Van Rensselaer, William Donovan and Jerry Golden, of the Forbes stock company, and formally welcomed into the ranks of the players.

Mr. Van Rensselaer said today that he has visited the Happy Hour twice this week to see Pal work, and that he had known actors who were worse than Brown, but not one who could fight like him. "I really believe," he added, "that Brown stands as good a chance as any of the 'comers' to be lightweight champion of the world. He is a fine chap, intelligent and likeable."

SMALL BONSPIEL AT CURLING CLUB

The games committee made a draw for a number of curling games to be played this evening. The ice on the east side of the rink will be used for the first time this evening. The games this evening are the final trophy events before the bonspiel.

THREE FAST GAMES PLAYED AT Y. M. C. A.

Three basket ball games were played at the Y. M. C. A. last evening. All of the games were well played, the Y. M. C. A. winning from the electricians by the score 18 to 14; the high school winning from the office force by the score of 26 to 8, and the Machinists won from the "Six W's" by the score of 16 to 11.

The lineup:

Y. M. C. A.	Position.	Electricians.
Shelton	c	Braden
Bassnet	f	Emslie
Donovan	f	Bell
Cummings	g	McBeth
Hassett	g	Shovein
Office.		High School.

Gophers Defeat Illinois.

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 13. — The University of Minnesota's basket ball quintet defeated that of the University of Illinois here last night in the first conference game of the season for the former team by a score of 22 to 16. Capt. Lawler of Minnesota, right forward, made 20 of the 22 points.

Boilermakers' Strike Ended.

Schenectady, N. Y., Jan. 13. — The strike of boilermakers and helpers declared against the American Locomotive company on Oct. 26, was declared off yesterday after 75 per cent of the men had returned to work. The strike was called when the men refused to build boilers for New York Central engines because the boilermakers employed in the railroad repair shops were on strike.

CASE CARS ARE ENTERED

Six Already Secured for Entrants in Indianapolis Decoration Day Race.

Many Famous Drivers to Pilot Racing Machines on New Speedway.

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 13.—Two special motor speed creations, which bid fair to mark a new epoch in the building of racing automobiles, have been entered in the second annual 500-mile international sweepstakes race to be run Decoration day, May 30, at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway, by the J. I. Case Thrashing Machine company of Racine, Wis. The entry was made on New Year's day and is the first to be made for any race in the year 1912.

The two cars which the Case company entered for the five century grind are to be constructed along lines followed by the most successful European racing car manufacturers, and will introduce two new features, inasmuch as they will have wire wheels and a specially constructed left-hand drive, which has not been used heretofore. The general lines of construction which will be followed out promise to make the cars the most spectacular in appearance yet built in America.

The engineers at the Case factory assert the speed which these two cars will be able to attain will not be less than two miles per minute on the straightaways and that they will be able to negotiate the full two and one-half mile distance of the speedway at the rate of 100 miles per hour. Louis Disbrow, the famous Eastern driver, and Joe Jagersberger, the "Flying Dutchman," have been named to pilot the entries.

This latest entry brings the total now named for the big race up to six, the other entries being two Stutz cars, entered by the Ideal Motor Car company of Indianapolis, a Fiat entered by E. E. Hewlett of Los Angeles, Cal., and a 90-horse power Mercedes, entered by Ralph De Palma of New York.

Disbrow has raced for six years, starting first with a Rainier and later making a showing with the same car in several twenty-four hour races at Brighton Beach, New York. In 1909 he won the $10,000 Atlanta trophy race of 200 miles. In 1910 he drove a Knox, winning many hill climbs and making records at Wilkes-Barre, Point Jefferson and Ossining. In 1910 Disbrow alternated between the National and Pope-Hartford, finishing fourth in the Vanderbilt cup race in the National after he had been delayed seventeen minutes through an accident with spectators. He also finished in both the Vanderbilt and Grand prize races in a "Pope-Hummer" in 1911. Disbrow holds the world's beach record for one hour, standing start, making 81.65 miles.

The other Case driver, Joe Jagersberger, is a native of Vienna, and came to America in 1902 with Harry Harkness, who at that time owned racing machines. Jagersberger set the 100-mile American track record in 1903, which record stood for three years. In this race George Robertson, one of the famous American drivers, rode as Jagersberger's mechanician. Many of his notable performances have been made in Mercedes cars, one of which was in Fairmount park in Philadelphia, in 1910, when he finished third in a Mercedes owned by E. J. Schroeder of New York. Jagersberger took the car after an accident three days before the race and rebuilt it entirely.

SUGGESTS ROUTE TO NEW ORLEANS

J. G. Moran Believes Southern Tourists Would Make Duluth Summer Resort.

J. C. Moran of the Duluth Automobile company, 316 West First street, is very much interested in the proposed transcontinental road, having its northern terminus in Duluth. Mr. Moran has toured over much of the country through which this road would pass.

He is of the belief, however, that the road should run from Duluth to New Orleans through St. Paul and Minneapolis to Des Moines, Iowa, thence to Council Bluffs and Omaha, down the eastern side of the Missouri river to Nebraska City, on the western side to Fort Leavenworth, Kan., where it would join the rock road maintained by the United States government from there to Kansas City.

From Kansas City it runs to St. Louis by the Missouri state highway, part of which is already boulevarded, then to Memphis and New Orleans.

The road would make Duluth the greatest summer resort in the United States as its Southern terminus would reach into the very heart of the country where there are thousands of people who would come to Lake Superior in their machines every summer.

New Locomobile Here.

The Electric Service & Repair company, 922 East Superior street, has received its new Locomobile demonstrator.

They have been showing it on the streets of the city as well as at their garage during the past ten days.

It has caused a great deal of favorable comment, and already orders are being placed for spring delivery.

Great Demand for Trucks.

"The growth of the motor truck industry in the United States has been nothing less than phenomenal," says George A. Mevis, an Eastern automobile authority. "From all indications, the 1912 season will show an increase over that of 1911, and it is my opinion that in a very short time the demand for trucks will exceed the demand for pleasure cars. Of course this is only logical for the motor truck is proving a large time and money saver. It is not a question of, Can a business house afford to install them? It is rather, can it afford to be without them?"

TVEITMOE AND OTHERS ARE ARRESTED AGAIN.

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 13. — Olaf A. Tveitmoe, E. A. Clancey and Anton Johannsen, labor leaders of San Francisco, and J. E. Munsey of Salt Lake City were arrested yesterday on two new federal indictments, which charged them with having conspired to bring to Los Angeles the dynamite used to blow up the Los Angeles Times building Oct. 1, 1910, when twenty-one men were killed. Other federal indictments on which the same men were arrested two weeks ago, charged them with having violated the interstate commerce law by plotting to bring here from the East the explosive used by Ortie McManigal in the attempt to destroy the Llewellyn Iron works, Dec. 25, 1910.

Some Promises Made by the Press Agents for Coming Attractions

AT THE LYCEUM

There is no royal road to riches, also there is always room at the top, but it takes a lot of climbing to attain spacious eminence, all of which, and sundry other copy-book maxims are proven true in the cases of David Craig Montgomery and Frederick A. Stone, the joint stars of "The Old Town," which they will present at the Lyceum theater on Friday and Saturday, Jan. 19 and 20, with matinee Saturday.

Strange as it may seem, this will be the first appearance of this team of entertainers in Duluth.

Great oaks from little acorns grow, and Fred Stone began industrially, planting small acorns of ambition and industry when he left his brother's farm in Kansas at the ripe age of eleven years, and fared forth to earn his own living in the best way he might. The best way in Frederick's case led to the show grounds of a peripatetic circus at Topeka.

David Montgomery began industrially working a letter press as office boy in the freight department of the Missouri Pacific railroad at St. Joseph, when he was fourteen years old. He had a bit of voice and an innate fondness for comic songs. He learned dancing from a minstrel man who was stranded one summer in St. Joe and when he was sixteen the hot spur of ambition prompted him to leave the dingy railroad office and seek fame before the footlights. His orbit intersected that of the acrobatic young Mr. Stone at Kansas City the following season and the firm of Montgomery & Stone sprung into being.

Some fifteen or sixteen years mark the upward progression from the status of a $25 a week song and dance team to electric lighted stardom in the first class theaters where they charge $2 for the orchestra seats, and to an earning capacity besides which the emolument of the president of the United States must take second place. It was a long and toilsome, sometimes rather sordid, experience that Montgomery and Stone went through before they even attained a fair degree of prominence and comfortable certainty of a livelihood, but they worked, oh, how they worked in those early years, and they taxed their ingenuity as well as their muscles, and their powers of observation. They developed specialty after specialty, each a little more finished than its predecessor, until the team of Montgomery & Stone came to "head-liner" pre-eminence in the American vaudeville houses.

They then went abroad and undertook the conquest of the music halls of Europe. They owned London in a professional sense, a fortnight after their first appearance, and they added Berlin, Vienna and even Paris, as well as the large provincial cities of Great Britain, to their constituents within the next year. Then they came back to America, to find the ton notch position of the vaudeville business at their acceptance. Its possibilities in the matter of immediate money rewards were dazzling, but these two careful and canny youths from the West very wisely took a look into the future and "passed up" the immediate emoluments of the variety houses for the harder work, more rigid demands, smaller earnings and greater eventual possibilities of the legitimate theaters.

They were offered and accepted an engagement to create the two leading comedy roles in a new extravaganza, about to be produced at the Grand Opera house in Chicago. The name of the piece was "The Wizard of Oz." Sixty days after they had signed the contract to appear in it, the names of Montgomery and Stone as the Scarecrow and the Tin Woodman, had been enrolled upon the scroll of fame. Which means that they were well up toward the top of the list of red-hot popular favorites.

They played in "The Wizard of Oz" three seasons and earned a fortune apiece. The history of their success in "The Red Mill" is too recent to require repetition. For three seasons "The Red Mill" was the banner money-earner of the metropolitan and provincial cities, and in it Montgomery and Stone developed the certainty that they were not only specialty performers, but they were comedians as well.

From "The Red Mill" they again demonstrated their versatility when "The Old Town" was produced two years ago with the same financial and artistic success which marked their other successes. It can truthfully be stated that Montgomery and Stone have accomplished that which no other star or stars have ever done, and that is in putting "over" three consecutive successes.

Learned gentleman with much time at their disposal may be able to explain why all the world loves the outlaw, why at the play the whole audience heaves a sigh of relief if their hero escapes even though he be a criminal and an enemy of society, but whatever the reason certain it is that all the world seemingly loves the man who is the enemy of the law. If he can evade the officers of that same law, by guile and cleverness and quick wittedness and brilliant resourcefulness, everybody approves and it is this tendency without a doubt that makes "Raffles" which Gus A. Forbes will present at the Lyceum for seven performances beginning tomorrow afternoon, one of the most popular plays seen on the American stage in recent years.

The play was made famous through the acting of the title role by that famous matinee idol of other years, Kyrle Bellew and the role is one that suits Mr. Forbes to perfection. The play was made from one of the adventures of Raffles, E. W. Hornung's clever hero in "The Amateur Cracksman." Since the days of Robin Hood, men and women have thrilled with interest and sympathy at the adventures of the gentleman highwayman.

Raffles is not a highwayman, however. He is a brilliant, cultivated English gentleman, a guest at the fashionable houses of London and a man who steals for the sheer love of the adventure. The story of the play deals with a house party at which Raffles is a guest. Talk turns on the mysterious robberies which have been going on in society and there is much speculation as to the identity of Raffles. Raffles himself is a guest and he coolly offers his theory as to the identity of the thief. The party disbands for the night with thoughts of Raffles and his daring and unwelcome visits in the minds of the guests. A robbery has been planned that night by one of the Lady's maids who has a confederate outside the house. The maid gets the necklace and drops it over the balustrade and Raffles opportunely standing underneath catches the necklace in place of the other thief. The loss is soon discovered and the members of the party are much distressed. Raffles again offers his ideas about the thief. Then follows a most brilliant game between Raffles and the keen witted and clever detective on his trail. He is at last traced to his rooms and until the very end the audience fears that Raffles has committed his last offense against society and then at the very end he escapes in unexpected and delightful manner and the audience heaves a sigh of intense relief.

There is a charming love story running through the play. A brilliant setting has been provided and the members of the company will wear some beautiful gowns. "Raffles" is a society play and it affords the feminine members of the company opportunity to wear their prettiest frocks.

Ever since the public has been impressed with the fact that a nation's life depends on its navy, it has become more and more interested in the stupendous progress made in naval construction. But as the subject makes dull reading and in order to dispel the vague ideas existing as to the actual magnitude and power of "our navy," Secretary von L. Meyer invited Lyman H. Howe's photographers to accompany him on the greatest review and inspection of the greatest fleet of battleships over which the American flag has ever flown. How admirably they did their work last November in New York harbor may be seen at the Lyceum in the near future.

The 102 fighting ships, ranging from dreadnoughts of the Delaware type to submarines, which constitute the last word in under-water navigation, were aligned in unbroken columns. The U. S. S. Dolphin, with Mr. Howe's photographers in the bow, steaming up one avenue lined with battleships and down another while 2,000 guns boomed their "salvos" in saluting the secretary of the navy.

To many minds the scenes will impart the first true conception of what is meant by dreadnought and superdreadnoughts, all of which are shown at very close range. The terrible fighting efficiency of battleships—the most powerful that the world has yet seen—is depicted in a manner that is inspiring and instructive.

A series which depicts the classic beauty of Italy, the land of history and romance; the latest Par isfashions (in colors); the wonders of the Grand river canyon, Colorado; the newest mode of locomotion through water and air by means of the hydroplane; the perils of climbing dizzy heights of the Alps, and the daring maneuvers of Italian cavalrymen are among the many other subjects in Mr. Howe's "gallery of masterpieces" in motion photography.

Mme. Emma Eames, the great operatic queen and her husband, Emilio de Gogorza, the famous baritone, are to be heard here in a joint concert. It is not often that the public has the opportunity of hearing two artists of such compelling attraction upon one program and a record-breaking audience is assured.

The golden-throated soprano, fresh from a two years' vacation is said to be in splendid voice and to completely shatter the old tradition of her coldness by the warmth and fervor of her singing, while it is doubtful if there is a finer baritone than Gogorza.

No less than six duets are promised, including two delightful ones from the opera "Feconique" and the great dramatic duo from "Cavalleria Rusticana." An added attraction will be Henri Gillies, a young French pianist of remarkable attainments.

Manager Marshall of the Lyceum has succeeded in booking Joe M. Gaites' stupendous musical production "Bright Eyes," for a return engagement in the new and greater production intact with Cecil Lean and Florence Holbrook, who were seen in this piece a short time ago.

"Bright Eyes" is by the same authors as the "Three Twins" Charles Dickson, Otto Hauerbach and Karl Hoschna and in "Bright Eyes" they have retained their former reputation as authors of successes.

Frederic Thompson's elaborate production of "Polly of the Circus," with Miss Ida St. Leon in the principal role, will again be seen at the Lyceum soon. In addition to a large company of well known players, a number of circus people and circus acts are required for the proper interpretation of the piece, as well as a carload of trained horses.

AT THE ORPHEUM

"A Romance of the Underworld," by Paul Armstrong, will be the headline act at the Orpheum next week. Plays by this same author, "Alias Jimmie Valentine" and "The Deep Purple," have recently attracted local attention and in the vaudeville sketch which is one of the big acts of the year Mr. Armstrong has presented a picture of criminal life as true and compelling and wonderful as in his longer pieces. "A Romance of the Underworld" shows a picture of New York criminal life with a boldness and understanding that make the sketch one of the most remarkable and interesting ever offered a vaudeville audience.

In the cast are twenty-three different characters, each one a study in itself. No more vivid picture has ever been seen on the stage than this panorama of a New York criminal court. The types, it is claimed, are all cameo like in real life and on the stage they are portrayed with a fidelity that is astonishing. Mr. Armstrong has made a deep study of this class and in the unprecedented vaudeville endeavor has carried to the stage a life-like portrait that fairly exhumes the atmosphere of these tremendously interesting misguided people. It takes a man of force, of fearlessness and the power of his convictions to stage such a production as this. Every character requires an actor of marked ability and there are twenty-three of them. As a scenic production, it is most elaborate, showing a scene in the New York court of general sessions, a scene of "The Bridge of Sighs" and "The Tombs." The play was a sensation in New York when produced there for a few weeks last spring. It is one of the most important acts on the Orpheum books and a feature that is too big to be handled by any but the very best vaudeville theaters in the country.

Of this powerful play as presented on the Orpheum stage, O. L. Hall, the Chicago critic wrote:

"After taking more than one man's share of the profits of the standard theaters Paul Armstrong has discovered vaudeville. A play, written and staged by him, is the centerpiece of the Majestic's current bill, and it is quite the most populous play the big theater has housed within the memory of this more or less chronic vaudeville reporter. 'A Romance of the Underworld' Armstrong calls his play It has the frame and the outward aspect of melodrama, but in the main the play is comedy, which proves that its author took the measure of his audience before he built his story.

"Armstrong tells his story in three scenes, the first in a courtroom, the second before a street drop, the third in the menagerie-like interior of the Tombs, as New York city's most famous lockup is called. The people who animate the scenes are akin to the inhabitants of 'Alias Jimmy Valentine' and 'The Deep Purple.' They speak the argot that we of the theater have been taught to believe is the jargon of crooks, and they speak it mostly to the point. A thread of a plot may be traced through the play, but it is its parading of criminal types that is most interesting.

"The slight story has to do with the framed-up conviction of a guiltless man, and of his liberation through the efforts of a fresh cub lawyer, who has the rather indecisive assistance of the prisoner's sweetheart and a reporter. The crooks of the play include a political heeler, a dope fiend, a quiet lifelike pickpocket and burglar, and his Italian sweetheart, a girl of the streets, who has color both in her character and her getup. There are other interesting types well enough known to all who take entertainment at the morning-after hearings in the police court.

"Some of the players are brand new to their parts, but the piece is acted better than one has any reason to expect it could be when so densely crowded. The pickpocket, the painted woman, a nosey detective, a young shoplifter, a fighting Irishman, the judge, the sweetheart and others are effectvely visualized. The settings for the first and third scenes are as substantial and evidently as nearly correct as stage pictures ever are. The play is distinctly one of the big features of the Majestic season. The playhouse was crowded last night."

Although the headline act is of such unusual interest the remainder of the bill does not suffer. Ward Baker, who brings a musical act, has been hailed as a second Ole Bull and those who love violin music will enjoy a rare treat next week.

John W. World and Mindel Kingston, "a comedian and a chic little woman," will also be among the entertainers. Both are well known in vaudeville and Miss Kingston was noted a season ago for a gown made entirely of ostrich feathers. This season she has as a feature of her wardrobe "a cloak of sparkles" and the apparel or dress is symbolic of the act that is presented by this team. These two clever vaudevillians are known wherever first-class vaudeville is presented.

The King Sisters, Mollie and Nellie, do a musical comedy translated to the vaudeville stage. Nellie, who does a series of imitations, has been on the stage since she was 6 years old. She was Puck, in Ben Greet's production of "A Midsummer Night's Dream," and she has also played with Andrew Mack, Denman Thompson and other well known actors.

Ernie and Mildred Potts do a bag-punching act that is said to be entertaining and Richardson's Posing Dogs are shown in a series of poses that are the delight of the dog lover. The animals are trained to maintain poses that would tire and test a human being.

On Jan. 14 at Winnipeg Miss Louise Dresser inaugurates her Orpheum engagement. Her tour is limited to fourteen weeks, because of a contract calling for her appearance as the star of a new musical comedy.

One of the pleasant surprises of the season is Chretienne and Louisette, a pair of Hollandese players who are contributing one of the most unique bits of artistry ever presented in this country. Martin Beck imported the pair exclusively for the Orpheum circuit.

• • •

Rita Gould, the distinctly different singing comedienne, is reputed one of the best dressed women in vaudeville on the Orpheum circuit. She is certainly displaying many sartorial revelations. Her gowns are all of American make, and she designed each creation herself.

AT THE EMPRESS

The list of attractions which are included in the new bill of vaudeville, which comes to the Empress next week, commencing with Sunday matinee, includes some of the biggest vaudeville attractions now before the public. The bill is one of great variety and is one that should meet with great favor during its coming engagement in this city.

Charles Lovenberg, who presents "La Petite Revue," the headline attraction for the coming week, makes no claim to originality in the idea, admitting it to be an old one, but on the program, with this admission, he says "uniquely vocalized and twentieth centurized." He can well afford to be frank in this, as Mr. Lovenberg bears an enviable reptation as a producer and vaudeville patrons well know that anything presented by him is of the highest standard. "La Petite Revue" has six figures with a special setting on a minature stage for each number. At the opening the heads represent Eva Tanguay, Anna Held, Emma Calve, Dave Montgomery, Fred Stone and Chauncey Olcott. Each sings a verse of the song most prominently identified with the stars represented, after which "Chimes of Normandy," "Pinafore" and cat-calling numbers are shown, and all appropriately costumed. Mr. Lovenberg has uniquely presented an old idea and has in the process turned out a novel vaudeville number. It is really a most creditable and successful attempt and one which few producers would have dared to present. In addition to it's bizarre qualities, "La Petite Revue" provides vaudeville with a rare musical delight as each of the seven people who make up the company is well trained, musically, and the musical numbers introduced by them embrace some of the most beautiful gems of grand opera. Both the public and the press have been unstinted in their praise of this production and many have claimed it to be one of the best feature attractions on the Sullivan & Considine circuit.

As a special European feature for the week, the booking managers of the Sullivan & Considine circuit will send Mozetto to Duluth with this bill. As a juggler of everything in general, it is claimed, Mozetto stands supreme in his line of work. He has just completed a six months' engagement at the Palace theater, London, and comes to America for an exclusive tour of the Sullivan & Considine circuit, which engagement marks his first American appearance in several years. Mozetto's work covers various unusually skillful feats, from manipulating billiard balls, to Japanese balancing stunts—all quite marvelous. His work is perhaps, to a large degree, of greater variety than that of any other artist in this particular line. His performance is characterized for its swiftness and he never allows interest to lag and with this end in view, he carries an assistant whose ludicrous antics provo very amusing.

Just a few years ago, vaudeville was favored by receiving into it's ranks a wonderfully clever lad, viz. Carl Randall, who up to that time had been appearing at private functions presenting a singing and grotesquely dancing number which everybody voted exceedingly clever. This talented youngster was soon sought out by theatrical managers, both of legitimate and vaudeville offices, but the vaudeville representatives outbid their rivals and as a result, Carl Randall is numbered among the stellar attractions of present day vaudeville. This clever lad scored an emphatic hit from the very first day of his vaudeville appearance and ever since he has been prominently identified with vaudeville and has won the unstinted praise of vaudeville attendants all over the country. Carl is now 18 years old but has had as much stage experience as the average performer of 40. Although he has traveled exclusively, his appearance at the Empress marks his first engagement in this city. He has made a host of friends in each city where he has appeared and in New York, recently, he was retained two weeks at one house, so emphatic was his success. The metropolitan press was lavish in its praise of his work and stated that New York could not get enough of him. One of the reasons for Master

Randall's success, in addition to his being a brilliant artist, is that he writes, copyrights and controls his own songs, and in every way proves himself to be one of the most original performers before the public.

Sheridan & Sloane have a singing and dancing oddity which they call "A Tag Day Episode." These artists are said to be worthy of the highest commendation as vocalists of rare ability and for general excellence in humor and character work. Miss Sloane is said to be an exceedingly pretty miss with a charming manner, plenty of personal magnetism and a beautiful soprano voice, while her partner, Mr. Sheridan, possesses an excellent tenor voice and is a bright comedian as well. The voices of both blend beautifully and their little by-play in comedy brings their offering to a degree of delightful entertainment.

What is expected to prove an extra added attraction of special merit, is "Books," a farcial comedy of campus life, which will be presented by William Powell, Will Howard and a selected company. The little comedy was written by Phillip Troup and contains just the right tinge of varsity life to make it highly interesting. "Books" tells an amusing story with laughs coming thick and fast. The tale concerns a college chap who has been sent money by his father with which to pay for a set of books but instead he lavishes it on a dinner for a popular actress. Naturally the book-agent's forthcoming call to collect the money worries the boy, so his chum volunteers to get rid of the book agent when he calls for the payment. The father comes to visit the son, and the ambitious room-mate mistaking him for the book agent, paints the boy as a spendthrift and a "no-good" who can't possibly pay for the books. The boy's sister then appears on the scene and the chum believes her to be the actress addresses her as such, bringing about no end of complications and funny scenes. This is the plot about which Mr. Troup has woven a very clever comedy fabric and out of which this clever company extracts a lot of fun. The cast is an exceedingly strong one, headed by the well known actors, William F. Powell and Will D. Howard, who give the playlet a most excellent presentation.

The motion pictures for the week will be instructive and entertaining and up to their usual high standard of excellence. A matinee is given daily at 2:45 and evening performances at 8 and 9:30. Seats may be reserved one week in advance by either 'phone. A bargain matinee is given every Saturday at 2:45. Special attention is paid at all times to the comfort and entertainment of women and children.

The Shuberts have announced that arrangements had been completed whereby the company now appearing in Reginald De Koven's new comic opera, "The Wedding Trip," at the Broadway theater might be made a permanent organization, to be known as the De Koven Opera company. The new organization will be devoted exclusively to light opera, similar to the Bostonians. Plans are now being perfected to offer special matinee of "The Tales of Hofmann" at the Broadway theater during the run of "The Wedding Trip." A revival of Mr. De Koven's early success, "Robin Hood," is also under consideration. Lee Shubert said yesterday that it was probable that several light operas of a similar nature would be revived. The Shubert announcement is that the new organization shall include Dorothy Jardon, Christine Nielsen, Dorothy Morton, Fritzi Von Busig, Gwen Dubarry, Grace Emmons, John McCloskey, Arthur Cunningham Edward Martindel, Charles Angelo and Joseph Phillips. William J. Wison will be the permanent producing stage director, and Frank Tours the musical director.

The Messrs. Oppenheimer, managers of the Suburban Stock company of St. Louis, have commissioned Joseph O'Meara, the director of the department of elocution and acting of the College of Music, to engage their company for next season and to select the plays. For the past two summers Mr. O'Meara has been the dramatic director of the Suburban company.

James K. Hackett, the actor, has brought suit in the supreme court against William A. Brady, incorporated, to recover for alleged profits to which, the actor says, he was entitled while playing for the defendant for five seasons, beginning in 1910. The complaint states that, besides getting a salary of $500 a week, Hackett was to receive one third of the net profits, but that when, at the end of the first season, he demanded his profit it was denied him. The defendant has put in a counter claim of $25,000 for breach of contract because Hackett refused to appear under his management, but instead produced "The Grain of Dust" himself.

Max Reinhardt has recently made a production of the old English morality play. "Everyman," at the Circus Schumann, in Berlin. It is given as a huge arena spectacle, employing several hundred players. The German version is by Hugo von Hofmannstal, whose adaptation of "Electra" has been seen in this country, both as play and ss opera, with Richard Strauss's music.

Maxine Elliott has announced in London, where she is living this winter, that she has definitely abandoned the professional stage, but she further adds that from time to time she will appear in amateur performances given by the social set. She has taken part in the Christmas festivities at Belvoir castle as the guest of the Duke and Duchess of Sutherland. Next spring, before taking up her residence at Harrow, she expects to visit America, where Mrs. Sam Newhouse will be her hostess.

Harry Sheldon, author of "The Havoc," will have a new play called "The Jailbird" ready next season. It will be produced by Henry Miller, who brought "The Havoc" to the stage. The central figure of the story is a man of 35 who has just ended a ten-year term in the penitentiary. The evolution of his character from the state to which it has been reduced as a result of being twice imprisoned in institutions for the criminally inclined, enters into the ppschyology of the play. The story introduces an important feminine interest, but the author has failed to concentrate on the influence of a good woman upon a bad man, customarily exerted in the theater, and in the last act his ex-jailbird returns to the stripes.

UNDER THE WHITE TOPS

Denver, Colo., Jan. 13.—H. H. Tammen of Denver, Colo., president of the Showmen's association, and one of the active owners of the Sells-Floto circus, has resigned from the former. His resignation took affect the first of the year.

Just exactly what significance this action will have upon the internal workings or life of the association is hard to determine.

All the big circus owners and proprietors of Wild West shows met in Chicago last winter and decided to form an association for mutual protection. At that time it was whispered on the outside that a huge circus trust had been formed whose interests were pooled and who divided the territory over which circuses usually travel, in such a manner that they would not conflict with each other. When the season opened, however, these rumors were set at rest by reason of the fact that at no time in the history of tented amusements was competition more keen, and dates more conflicting. In several instances owners of big attractions refusing to give way to each other, played day and date, and at the close of the season the biggest rivals had a battle royal when the Sells-Floto circus played against Ringling Bros., at Temple, Tex.

When interviewed on the subject today, Mr. Tammen said: "My understanding was that the Showmen's association was formed for mutual protection. I resigned the office of president because I arrived at the conclusion that the Sells-Floto circus being always a strictly independent organization, could continue the same policy which had always been its distinguishing feature.'

So now it is, that men who are on the inside and close to the workings of the biggest attractions on the continent, have their ears glued to the ground waiting for that which they think is going to happen, everyone having his own particular theory concerning the same.

Those who formed the association were: Ringling Bros., Barnum & Bailey, Sells-Floto, Gollmar Bros., Forepaugh-Sells, Wallace-Hagenbach, Buffalo Bill's Wild West, 101 Ranch, Campbell Bros., and many other smaller organizations.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

The challenge of the Irishman hockey team has been accepted by the sophomores, and the game will be played some time next week. Both teams have been practicing daily and the captains have nearly decided on the lineup of their teams. The battleground has not been selected, but it is probable that the rink at Twenty-fifth avenue east and Fourth street will be the scene of the hard-fought contest.

The school hockey team is practicing regularly and should develop some clever teamwork by the time of the first scheduled game. The team is practically the same as last year and the players and the student body anticipate an unusually successful season. This is the first year for several seasons that the athletic association has recognized the sport, and the members will be presented with the school letter.

The sophomore and senior girls' basket ball teams will practice Friday afternoons at 2:15, and the junior and freshman quints will occupy the gymnasium on every Tuesday at 2:15.

• • •

There was no meeting of the musical society this week and the next program will be given Tuesday at the close of school.

• • •

R. D. Brackett, head of the public speaking department, is already preparing details for the interclass oratorical contests which will take place directly following the close of the first semester. These contests are an innovation, and those in charge expect them to develop into an annual competition by the several classes.

• • •

The selected candidates for the Central basketball team met with Coach Schilling Monday afternoon.

Mr. Schilling announced the policies to be followed and acquainted the boys with some details relative to the gymnasium. Practice will be held every Monday, Wednesday and Friday afternoons.

The orchestra practiced Friday at the close of school. This organization now includes thirty members and they are rehearsing regularly for the concert which will be presented Friday night, Jan. 26, for the benefit of the Athletic association.

• • •

The Zenith board met Monday and made arrangements for a fudge party to be held next week.

• • •

The Junto Literary society gave the following program at the meeting of the club Thursday afternoon: Recitation, Dorothy Patton; essay, Venietta Mason; reading, Milton Stickles; recitation, Muriel Smith.

The recently appointed committee is busy arranging programs for this month and only the best talent of the various circles will be selected.

Many of the teachers are giving their classes the final examinations for the first semester.

Three or four examinations in each subject will be taken and these will appear anytime between now and the end of the month.

• • •

Several preliminary arrangements have been made for the class which enters high school in February. This is the first year that a mid-year class has been admitted.

• • •

The Minneapolis Central high school has challenged Duluth Central for a debate on the "Parcels Post" question.

It has not been settled definitely whether or not Duluth will accept, but a debate on this question would develop some spirited argument, as both schools have debated it before and know every strong and weak point in it.

• • •

"Arbitration of labor disputes" is the question chosen for debate by the classes. The several public speaking classes are working on this proposition and many students are expected to try out for a place on the class teams.

• • •

The "D" sweaters for the football team will arrive next week and will probably be presented to the boys in chapel Friday morning.

• • •

A special meeting of the senior class was held Wedensday afternoon at the close of school. A. F. M. Custance, who has charge of the senior play, announced that the three-act comedy, "A Modern Ananias," will be presented. The play is a farce from start to finish and an excellent cast can be chosen from the class members.

• • •

Julius Nolte, editor of the Zenith, announced that arrangements had been made for the taking of the class photographs and urged the students to attend to this matter at once.

SIDELIGHTS ON THE COLD SNAP

Probably very few people have ever heard of a navy bean freezing, yet a local house this morning refused a consignment of navy beans, claiming that they were frozen. This story is vouched for by an official of one of the Duluth wholesale houses. The house in question claimed that the beans had been spoiled by being frozen.

ANNUAL DINNER OF "SIGS"

The annual dinner of the Duluth Alumni Chapter of the Sigma Chi fraternity will be held this evening at 6:30 o'clock at the Commercial club. There are quite a number of "Sigs" in Duluth and vicinity and a good time and enjoyable evening are anticipated. If any out of town Sigma Chis should happen to be in Duluth on Saturday, they are urgently requested to attend. The affair is to be strictly informal and after the dinner the annual meeting and a smoker will be held.

BARNUM MAN'S GLASS EYE EXPLODES WHILE EATING.

Barunm, Minn., Jan. 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—A peculiar accident occurred to W. E. Harrison a few mornings ago. While eating breakfast at his home, his glass eye suddenly exploded with a report like a rifle. Luckily most of the fragments were blown outward instead of inward. The few pieces that remained in the socket were washed out without cutting the flesh.

TESTIMONY FOR THE ALDRICH BILL.

J. Laurence Laughlin, professor of political economy in the University of Chicago, has joined Prof. Seligman of Columbia university in approving the Aldrich currency plan as it has been presented to congress.

In an article in the Chicago Tribune he points out that there is already a centralization in financial matters, and that there must necessarily be such centralization. The Aldrich plan offers a better and more secure form than the present one, he thinks.

Properly enough, he devotes the greater part of his article to the question whether the proposed reserve association can be controlled by an interested few. He believes that it can be; but he also believes that the plan is so safeguarded that no advantage would accrue to those who gained control.

"It has been fairly estimated," he says, "that despite the provisions to prevent it, it is susceptible of control. One expert has figured that for an outlay of between $400,000,000 and $800,000,000 a man or group of men could gain voting control of this reserve association. Such control of the hundreds of banks necessary to make such a scheme effective would be secured, of course, only in the face of publicity, and all that publicity, as hostile and uncompromising public sentiment, implies." We fail to see the force of the phrase "of course" in this sentence. Sales of bank stock are not necessarily public matters; and it seems not impossible that a group of men bent on this control could buy it, through quiet purchases of bank stock, before the public knew what was going on.

Prof. Laughlin also states that control through a holding company might also be possible. "Already," he says, "300 national banks have affiliations with trust companies or state banks. But it would be subject to the same enormous outlay, the same publicity, the same destructive hostility, and this kind of control can be prevented by a single sentence in the bill." The outlay, of course, though impressively large, would be no obstacle. Even if the attempt at gaining voting control of the reserve association failed, the money would be well invested in prosperous banks, and the investment could be made still more profitable because it would carry practical control of the entire banking business of the country.

Domination of the reserve association by geographical division, as The Herald has already shown and as Prof. Laughlin states, is entirely impracticable. Wall Street banks, with 39 per cent of the country's banking capital, have but 14 per cent of the representation in the association.

Advocates of the Aldrich bill have not met the fear of control by the provision against control by geographical division. As Prof. Laughlin shows, the reserve association can be controlled by any group of men with money enough to buy a controlling interest in enough banks scattered over the country.

If, however, the advocates of the plan can show that nothing can possibly be gained by such control, then the answer will be sufficient. Prof. Laughlin thinks that there would be no advantage in gaining control of the association. "Stocks, bonds and speculative securities have no place in the scheme as collateral for loans by the reserve association," he says. "Commercial paper is defined, classified and given first place. It is the only security which a banker can offer for rediscount with the assurance that it will be accepted. Other investment securities are excluded except in cases of great emergency, and then are acceptable only if in the opinion of the governor of the association, the executive committee and the secretary of the treasury, the general welfare demands that they be accepted. What could any ambitious group of men do if they secured control of the association? They could not secure loans for themselves to float bonds, make trusts or capitalize combinations. They could not withhold money from legitimate enterprises in need of it. They could not exploit anything through the use of the association."

Prof. Laughlin's contribution to the discussion is interesting, and it will be helpful to those who are seeking to form an honest opinion about it.

"OPEN AT THE NECK."

The Chicago Journal is criticizing the women because they are following the fashion of wearing gowns "open at the neck" in this bitter cold weather. We'll admit the Journal is braver than we are. We had thought of this, but were so awed by woman's devotion to fashion, whether sensible or not, that we hadn't dared venture a word of warning.

However, in many cases it is a choice between following the fashion and getting pneumonia and being unfashionable and keeping your health. From various parts of the country come reports of the prevalence of bronchitis, pneumonia and other diseases of throat and chest among women. Many doctors say this is because women are obeying the command of an absurd fashion that they throw their throats and chests open to the attacks of the cold.

One reason we hadn't said anything about this until the Journal's boldness gave us courage is that probably a lot of women will wear what they please no matter what we say about it. Even if, first making sure that there are convenient avenues of escape, we said that it is idiotic to invite pneumonia merely to be in the fashion, probably the only result would be to heap anathemas on our head. So, though we think it, we shall not say it.

THE CHURCH AND SOCIETY.

The Rev. W. T. Hughes of Ely had an earnest, vigorous letter in the Open Court last night, in which he points the need that the church address itself to the social problem, and invites The Herald to have another educational contest in which this question shall be discussed: "Is the church able or not able to solve the social problem?"

This is an important subject, and we'll think the suggestion over. Certainly it is a subject that every churchman, lay and clergy alike, should give his earnest thought to.

The Herald has said something about this topic in the past, and it would have said much more had it had more such encouragement as Mr. Hughes's letter gives. Too much, however, its suggestions that the church must come out of its Sunday byway and get out into the busy walks of life where real human problems of living hum and throb were taken as arising in a spirit of unfriendliness to the church. In point of fact, of course, those who make such suggestions are the best friends of the church.

The church, besides preparing its members for a future life, should do its part in making the conditions in this life promote the well-being of their members and others.

The church, besides advocating better human conduct, should advocate changes in social conditions that will make good conduct easier and bad conduct less easy.

The church, besides devoting a part of its energies to the relief of poverty, should do its part in changing the social conditions that create and perpetuate poverty.

The church, besides laboring for the moral and spiritual regeneration of mankind, should labor for the economic regeneration of society, to the end that conditions which squeeze out hope and aspiration and thought of higher things shall be destroyed.

Service is the highest form of worship. Service to humanity is the highest form of service—higher by far than that form of service which contents itself with the routine of Sunday worship. Work for the regeneration of individual souls is noble. Work for the regeneration of society, to the end that the cares and oppressions and sodden worries that crowd out or drown the higher aspirations of the human soul may be dissipated, is nobler still.

If the church will look about, it will find that those who wish to give their hearts and souls and minds and bodily strength to the service of society and to the betterment of the human lot are forced, because the churches have not taken up the more fundamental problems, to join forces with agencies outside the church.

This should not be. The church is not merely an institution for Sunday worship. Religion is not a thing to be taken out on Sunday and laid carefully away on a shelf Sunday evening. Religion that counts interprets itself in terms of modern life, and religious worship that counts most is service to humanity in the name of Him who founded the church. That service must not content itself with treating the poverty and crime and misery that result from unjust social conditions, but it must go back to fundamental causes, and by eradicating the causes destroy the effects of those causes.

Old time doctors treated symptoms, neglecting the inner disorders which nature, through the symptoms, was trying to tell them about. Now doctors follow the symptoms back to the inner causes, and seek to eradicate them.

So must society change its methods. So must the church. Humanity is busy, these days, searching for the fundamental causes of poverty and crime and misery—too busy to bother with a church that ignores these causes and busies itself in formalism and feeble palliatory measures. The church must come out from its byways and join in this noble work for the glory of God and the well-being, now and hereafter, of all mankind.

THE NEW YEAR'S WATER WAGON.

Let's see—those who joyously mounted the water wagon on New Year's day have been riding, if they haven't got off, for thirteen days.

How many, do you suppose, are left of this determined band that said "Never again!" and gathered on the top of the wagon on the first day of the year? Not many, we fear.

Why is it that so few of those who take the New Year's pledge stick to it?

We think we have a notion why it is.

In the first place, the man who finds that drink is making him poorer in pocket, in health and in moral strength, and who determines, therefore, to stop drinking so that he may become a wealthier, happier, better and stronger citizen, doesn't wait till the first of the year to "swear off." Maybe he doesn't swear off at all—he just quits. But if he is strong enough, and if the drink hasn't too firm a hold of him, he stops the moment he awakens to the fact that drinking is bad for him and is going to be worse still for him if he keeps it up.

There is another reason why those who ride the New Year's water wagon get lonesome if they stay on more than a few days: too much company. It is comparatively easy to mount, because lots of others are doing it at the same time. But it is also easy to get down again, because so many others are getting down all the time.

But the man who has a square heart-to-heart talk with himself and finds that drinking is not only doing him no good but that it is doing him harm, financially, morally and physically, doesn't say "I'll quit on New Year's day." He quits right then, if he has strength and manhood. He doesn't make a parade of it. He doesn't sign a pledge or take an oath. He just stops, whether it be Jan. 1 or June 17. And he is much more likely to stay quit than any of the formidable numbers who follow a New Year's eve "souse" with a New Year's day mounting of the water wagon.

When you hear a man saying that he can drink or leave it alone, and that he can quit any time he wants to, feel pity for him. He is the worst of the lot; because no man who drinks regularly can drink or leave it alone, or quit when he wants to—easily.

The Saturday Evening Post had an unsigned story recently about a man who quit drinking. He had been drinking for twenty years—just as most of his associates drank, and just as three out of five do who drink at all. He didn't go on sprees. He was no "periodical" drinker who when he got drunk staid drunk for a week or a month. He didn't drink, often, in business hours. After his work was over he was likely to take two or three or four; maybe some more with dinner or midnight supper or both. It wasn't affecting his work, he says, nor his health so far as he could notice. But he awakened, one day, to the fact that he was going to a lot of funerals, and that in a great many cases these funerals were due, directly or indirectly, to drinking—to about the same kind of drinking that he was doing. He noticed, too, that most of his friends kept drinking till the doctor made them stop—and then it was too late. So he decided to quit before that stage was reached, and he did.

He didn't find it easy. He realized, then, the folly of the man who says he can drink or leave it alone as he pleases. He remembered, too, that most of these men pleased not to leave it alone. He found it hard; hard not only because his system, used to a daily dosage of alcohol, called for it, but because all his friends drank, and he was lonely. An expert told him that it would be eighteen months before he rid his system of alcohol and passed the danger line. But he quit. He didn't wait until New Year's day; he quit right there and staid quit, though he found it a tough task.

The trouble with most of the New Year's water wagon passengers is that they don't really mean it. It's the man who quits wherever the realization that he is on the wrong road reaches him that stays quit.

WISCONSIN'S INCOME TAX LAW.

The Wisconsin supreme court having upheld the income tax law passed by the legislature at its last session, the state will now become subject to its provisions. It seems to have been framed so fairly that the example is commended to Minnesota lawmakers for their study.

The tax is progressive, bearing lightly upon those with small incomes and more heavily on those with large ones. The rate ranges from 1 per cent on the first $1,000 of taxable income to 6 per cent on taxable incomes in excess of $12,000.

The exemptions are justly and wisely contrived. Each individual is entitled to an exemption of $800, and if his income is that or less he pays no taxes at all. For husband and wife the exemption is $1,200; so that a husband and wife living on an income of $1,200 would pay no income tax. Further exemptions of $200 for each child under the age of 18 years are allowed, and the same amount for each person, legally dependent.

If you live in Wisconsin and your income is $800, you pay no income tax at all. If your income is $2,000, and you are single and have no dependents, your income tax would be $12.50. If you are married, the tax would be $8. If you have a child, the tax would be $6. If you have four children, your whole $2,000 income would be exempt. A man with a wife and three children and an income of $2,000 a year would pay only $2.

But a man with an income of $50,000 a year, with a wife and three children, would pay an annual income tax of $2,527.

The purpose of this law is not only to raise revenues on a basis of fairness, but to do away with the personal property tax; which is the most ridiculous, the most unjust, the most unsatisfactory tax ever devised. If the revenue from this source is up to expectations, it will give Wisconsin a chance also to relieve improvements on land from taxation; and the policy of taxing improvements is, if anything, more absurd and more mischievous than the tax on personal property.

The tax on personal property catches the visible property of the poor man, and misses the intangible property of the rich man. The income tax bears upon every citizen in almost exact proportion to his ability to bear the burden.

The tax on improvements—on homes and barns and cultivated fields and lawns and flower beds and kitchen gardens—penalizes enterprise and helps the speculator who lets his land lie idle while the taxed enterprise of others increases its value.

In adopting the income tax Wisconsin is setting a creditable example to her sister states. In abolishing the personal property tax Wisconsin will lead on the road of common sense and justice in taxation. In reducing and finally removing the tax on improvements on land, Wisconsin will be pioneering toward the distant goal of exact justice in taxation—of a system of taxation that, besides yielding necessary revenue, will distribute the tax burden equitably while fostering enterprise and improvement and thrift instead of laying a heavy penalty upon them.

COMMISSION PLAN IN OPERATION—22.

Chattanooga, Tenn., went under the commission plan May 8, 1911. The mayor writes: "The financial credit of the city is already evidenced by the fact that our bonds are selling at a better premium. All useless offices have been abolished, partisan politics has been removed, a civil service board has been elected, and principles of nonpartisan administration of city affairs are being applied in each department. Already the appearance of the streets has been improved; the necessity of law enforcement is recognized and the general tone of the community has been lifted. There is not only marked increase in the efficiency of public service, but a marked interest in such service on the part of the taxpayer."

Isn't it likely that a plan of city government that would work out so well in Chattanooga might help Duluth?

A WISE MEASURE.

The health department is taking up work worth while when it addresses itself to the task of locating every case of tuberculosis in the city. Such information will be valuable to the public and to the afflicted as well.

Every case of tuberculosis is a potential center for the spread of the disease. Isolation is hardly necessary except where the patient is not amenable to instruction and is careless of others. But each patient can be taught how best to care for himself and how to safeguard others against infection, and this instruction can be given only when the authorities know where every case is located. This information in hand, the health department, co-operating with the quasi-public relief agencies now at work, can teach each patient the best methods of caring for himself and preventing the infection of others. In this way the sick can be relieved and the well kept well. The department should have the fullest co-operation in this work.

Hello, zero! Glad to see you back.

THE OPEN COURT

(Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their ideas about the topics of general interest, but discussions of sectarian religious differences are barred. Letters should not exceed 300 words—the shorter the better. They must be written on one side of the paper only, and they must be accompanied in every case by the name and address of the writer, though these need not be published. A signed letter is always more effective, however.)

"A THEME FOR SERMONS."

To the Editor of The Herald:

I am sending you herewith a sort of "human interest story," and because the event mentioned really happened, and further because it contains a question well worth answering, I will feel deeply grateful if you will give the article a prominent place on your editorial page. I would suggest as a title "A Theme for Sermons," hoping that some of the ministerial readers of The Herald will read it, and perhaps make use of the theme. As a further bit of explanation, I would add that I am a minister of the church, wholly in love with its teachings, but deeply deploring the lassitude and apathy with which my church and other churches practice those teachings when dealing with the unfortunate and outcast. Here is the narrative: A few days ago while returning to my parish, after a visit to Duluth, a very beautiful and handsomely dressed young woman, entered the car and took the seat immediately in front of mine. For something like two hours the young lady kept her seat, giving no heed to the many looks of admiration bestowed upon her by men who passed down the aisle, although several allowed their looks to "pause" longer than necessary. When the brakeman entered the car and announced that the next stop would be X—, she turned and asked if I was going to X— I told her that I was. She then asked if I lived at X—. I told her that I did. She then asked if I could direct her to a certain livery stable, saying that she was to visit friends who lived several miles out in the country. I told her that as I passed the livery stable on my way home, I would be very glad to show her the way. After a few moments of desultory chat, she asked if I was in business in X—, and I replied that I was pastor of the X church. Immediately she changed color and seemed very much confused. After a moment she said, "You are very kind, but I can't allow you to show me the way to the stable; I will find it myself." Knowing the vicinity of X—, it suddenly flashed across my mind that there was only one place where so refined looking a girl could be going, and this thought, together with her refusal of my offer to accompany her to the livery stable, after I had told her I was a minister, let in the light, and I knew that she was a fallen woman. Seeing that I had guessed the truth, she looked at me with a slightly sarcastic look and said: "I guess you won't want to show me the way now." Then throwing her head upon the seat in front of her, she began to cry. Here enters the question which is well worth answering, "What should I have done?" Answer that as you please, but here is what I did do. I told her she was mistaken—that I should be very glad to carry her grip to the stable. And this is why I did it. When I knew the truth, my first impulse was to take my suit case and my Christianity and slip out the back door—something said, "It is the safest—your people will criticize—the young people will joke, saying me—he didn't know who he was with." But another voice was speaking. It said: "Don't desert her. You promised to befriend her before you knew what she was. Will you add insult to injury by deserting her, now that you do know?" That was my "manhood" speaking. Then came another voice, and it said: "Here is a girl upon whom men look only with lust—upon whom women look with disdain and hate—here is a girl who doesn't know the meaning of "friend"—a girl who knows that no man of respectability would be willing to walk up the street with her—and yet she is possessed of a heart and soul that craves all these things from which she is excluded, and one who suffers all the more keenly because she has lost the right to claim them." Looking up, I saw that she was watching me intently. I know that she knew the battle I was fighting. She was wearing the smile that men wear, when they know that the ruin they have long dreaded has overtaken them, a smile that is more like a sob of anguish—a smile of despair. Then came my decision. I said: "I won't allow this woman to think my religion and position place a chasm between us. I won't let her think that the religion I profess and preach is only for the cultured and sinless. I want her to know that my Christ is her Christ." As I carried her grip from the station, I told her as kindly as I could that there was a better and happier life for her, if only she were brave enough to strive for it. Now I will again ask the reader, "What should I have done?" Of course, you can't answer that—so I will ask, "What can the church do to reach and help the outcast?"

A PASTOR.

Grievin' for Riley.

I am grievin' fur ol' Jim Riley. Why,
He never harked to a lullabye,
Sung in the dusk in the mother tone
Fer a little boy that was all his own,
Sprawled half a-sleepin' across her knees;
That's why I'm grievin'. I know that he's
As lonesome now as a man can be,
A-hearin' echoes o' all the glee
That bubbles up in the hearts o' all
When Santa Claus plans his yearly call.

No baby arms to go 'round his neck,
No baby hearts to love him a peck,
No baby voices to llit and call,
No feet to patter along the hall,
No little children to tiptoe where he sits so still in his big arm chair,
an' tell him: "Dad, it's a booflum day.
Why don't you come in the yard an'
play?"
No lips are pursed for a good-night kiss—
He must be lonely a time like this!

There must have been in th' years back there
We don't know when an' we don't know where,
A girl whose eyes was alight fer him,
Who walked beside him an' called him
"Jim"—
Somewhere 'way back in th' used to be—
Whose lips was red an' whose laugh
was glee,
Whose chin was dimpled, perhaps, an'
who
Had dancin' eyes o' th' gladdest blue,
Whose locks was truant an' coaxed
each breeze,
Who walked in blossoms that reached her knees.

He must have loved—oh, he must have had
A love back there when his life was glad!
An' now he's a-settin' all, all alone
In the dusk, an' never the mother-tone
Comes across th' dark in a lullabye—
That's why I'm grievin', an' why I sigh
At thought o' him an' night closin' in,
An' only dreams o' the might-have-been
To be there with him fur company—
It's th' thought o' that that gits next to me.

That's why last night when they came
to me,
My own glad babies, with shrieks o'
glee
An' climbed on my knees in their nighties white,
And loved and hugged me with all their might
I hugged 'em closer at thought o'
him,
An' kissed each one of 'em once for
Jim!
It hurt me somehow to be so glad
For things Jim Riley had never had!
But I know she's waitin' for him somewhere
The sweetheart that loved him away
back there.

CZAR SMITH AND HIS "MAN OF DESTINY."

Voters Have the Last Say.

Sauk Center Herald: Ed Smith says Eberhart considers himself a man of destiny and won't be sidetracked for any other son-of-a-gun for governor; hence Ed sticks to Adolph. At least that's what George T. Simpson says Ed said, and Ed hasn't said he didn't say it. Wonder if the voters will have anything to say about it.

Should Go to the People.

Luverne Journal: George T. Simpson, who has just left the office of attorney general, created quite a sensation in this state the other day when he told how Boss Ed Smith practically refused to let him run for governor. Smith is chairman of the Republican state committee and is supposed to be a leader in working for the best interests of his party. But Smith got his job through Eberhart and when Simpson went to him one day last summer and asked him to persuade Eberhart to keep out of the race for the governorship in 1912 as the feeling against him was growing and he could not be re-elected, he did not deny that Eberhart was losing ground but declared that he and the organization would stay by the present governor to the last ditch. No one else can get the support of the Republican organization except Eberhart, said Smith. Simpson himself wanted to be governor but seemed to think that he would have to have the organization back of him; hence his desire to have Eberhart eliminated. Eberhart is apparently acceptable to Smith and the interests he represents. Just why Simpson thought he had no right to enter the contest for the governorship is a question. An appeal direct to the people of the state by a worthy candidate should go farther than the orders of Ed Smith and his gang. But Simpson apparently was afraid to avail himself of the opportunity to put his case before the people whom he says he believes he could do so much for were he governor.

A Mere Matter of Form.

Sauk Rapids Sentinel: If Boss Smith has already named the next Republican state ticket what's the use of holding any primaries and county conventions next fall?

Rough On Bob.

Virginia Enterprise: The Republican machine slate as fixed by Chairman Ed Smith is said to bear the names of A. O. Eberhart for governor, Robert C. Dunn for lieutenant governor, Julius A. Schmahl for secretary of state, Walter J. Smith for state treasurer, Ira B. Mills and Chas. Elmquist for members of the state railroad and warehouse commission, and C. M. Start, Oscar Hallam and Andrew Holt as justices of the supreme court. 'Twould seem Ed recognized the necessity of another Eberhart as lieutenant governor, to guard against possible contingencies.

The "Big Three"

Waseca Herald: Attorney General Simpson seems to have furnished conclusive proof that the Republican party in Minnesota consists of Ed Smith, Billy Hamm and Louis Hill. The Republican voters must ratify the candidates whom the "big three" select for state offices.

Significant Facts.

Elk River Star-News: Two things were brought out in the Simpson episode, first, that Ed Smith is loyal to his "child of destiny," and second that the charge of brewery domination was not denied by Ed.

Wow!

Albert Lea Standard: If Governor Eberhart is a "man of destiny" it is evident that destiny concerns itself with things personally quite puerile.

Circumstances Alter Cases.

Cambridge North Star: Almost before the breath of life had left the body of Governor Johnson, Ed Smith had his man Eberhart take the oath of office. This was in extremely good taste, according to the brewing companies. But when the present governor abandons his office for weeks at a time to bable at banquets and advertise Oregon railroad lands, it is very rude and coarse for the lieutenant governor to ask the attorney general if there is a vacancy, according to the interests who want to be "let alone."

Courtesy as a Business Agent.

Business for January: "A true capacity for courtesy is a high gift," said a dry goods merchant who is the proprietor of a modest country store. "Courtesy is an important business detail, a great asset in getting under the buyer's skin. To my mind, ability and fine discernment of the wishes of the individual customer are the only real weapons with which the small business man can hope to beat his bigger competitor. Courtesy goes farther and does more to hold the buyer than bargain sales. I find that people would rather deal with a small but amiable and accommodating trader than with some of the bureaucratic machines of a vast establishment."

In the great laboratory of human psychology, there is no agent so effective in the struggle for commercial supremacy as kind and obliging courtesy.

There are various instances of the practicability of courtesy in business. The spirit of courtesy is embodied in the rest rooms for women shoppers in the department stores, the reading rooms in some stores, and the provision made in other stores for the care of babies while the mothers are shopping. One department store in the West has recently established a smoking room in connection with its tobacco section. Here the devotees of the weed and pipe are invited to recline in easy chairs and rockers and smoke to their hearts' content. Magazines and newspapers are on file in this room, and every effort is put forth to make the men patrons of the store comfortable.

Courtesy as an asset in the success of a business man cannot be underestimated. It makes for loyalty among employes, it attracts trade, it generates respect and good will. It is one of the principles of scientific management in shop, factory or store, and the higher the quality of courtesy extended the greater will be the reward from those who are the recipients of it.

The Idea of God.

Winston Churchill in the Atlantic: God, for Jew and Christian, and even for the pagan, has always been the most vital element in government. We see it in ancient Egypt, and in the Roman Empire: we see it in Israel. And just as we turn to Greece for art and to Rome for law, we turn to Israel for religion. What was the Jew's conception of God? He was our God. We can recognize him in Isaiah, in the Psalms, in the Pentateuch. Yet he was, as they conceived him, something of an Oriental despot,—but not wholly. He was more. He was the kind, just father of his chosen people, but outside of them, in a place above the roof of the sky which they called heaven. He was a God who demanded sacrifice. Then Jesus came with a new and bewildering idea of him, so transcendent that many, many generations were to elapse before the world could begin to grasp something of the full meaning of it. God is a father; not the father of a nation, but the father of every man and woman who walks the earth, of the publican, of the sinner and the outcast as well as of the fortunate; a father who is ready to recognize the spirit of Godhood in each, no matter into what state of bestiality he has deteriorated; man may become, by recognizing God in his true relationship, a responsible, autonomous being. "I will arise and go to my Father." How? Manfully, not ingratiatingly: not with presents to propitiate him, but with the offer of service—the only acceptable thing.

Easy.

Boston Evening Transcript: Actress—In this new play I am supposed to die of a broken heart. Now how am I to know how a person with a broken heart behaves?

Manager—I'll tell you what you do. Study the author of the play after he sees your first rehearsal.

SATURDAY NIGHT TALK

Get a Transfer.

"Transfer?" asked the conductor as I paid my fare. It chanced that I must travel to the end of that particular line and had no need of the pink slip he offered. But the suggestion remained with me after the man of nickels had returned to the rear platform. And I am going to pass it on to you, gentle reader.

There are occasions in this life journey when one needs a transfer and needs it badly. A change to some other line would be the best move that could possibly be made. Many a man is traveling aimlessly, or in a direction that is taking him all the while farther from any desirable goal. There is simply nothing attractive at the end of the route. He should procure a ticket from the conductor without delay, get off at the first white post and signal another car.

Some individuals, for instance, are on the line to Gloomville. Their thoughts are becoming set in sad grooves. The burdens of life so oppress them that melancholy is becoming almost a habit. They practically lose the power to smile. Life, which at best is a sufficiently serious business, becomes for them a very somber business with weeping skies above and around.

What such a traveler needs is a transfer—a shift of almost any kind that can break the spell of such thoughts and turn life into a more hopeful channel. A comparatively little thing will sometimes do the work. The old-time doctors used to prescribe "simples" or nature's herbs for the ailments of the body. And disorders of the mind are often alleviated by means so unpretentious that they are overlooked. The genial Sydney Smith said: "I once gave a lady two and twenty receipts against melancholy; one was a bright fire; another, to remember all the pleasant things said to her; another, to keep a box of sugar plums on the chimney piece and a kettle simmering on the hob." Surely any such simple "creature comforts" must be regarded as blessings when they can turn the scale against melancholy and minister to happiness and a contented mind.

And they need a transfer who are on the line running to Feartown. It is possible to become so obsessed with frights of various sorts that life becomes a perpetual hunt for germs or sewer gas or thin ice or some other enemy of ourselves or our children. There are people who sniff danger in every wind that blows, who shun the streets for fear the subway will blow up, who cringe at home lest the ceiling fall down. They need to exchange these nervous apprehensions for thoughts of courage. They should reflect that life is not hostile, but friendly to one who faces it with resolution. Let them say with the psalmist, "I will fear no evil," and experience the new vigor that results from that emancipation.

But he most needs a transfer whose life is getting set in morally evil courses. The end of the line he is traveling is marked by an assured catastrophe. Men may seem to make ducks and drakes of the moral law, but it is only a seeming. Night follows day no more surely than retribution follows sin. The thorns that show up along the "primrose path of dalliance" are ugly and mighty sharp, and they grow sharper all the time.

Friend, if you are morally sidetracked and running wild, summon all your will power and switch on to the main line. A new set of wholesome interests will help you: athletics, music, travel, some good fad, anything that promises to set the thoughts in a new direction. Get back on your proper route, anyway. You owe it to your real friends, to your family, to your own soul, and to your God.

THE PARSON.

Splitting Up the Tobacco Trust.

Chicago News: A few days ago the Daily News called attention to the futility of breaking up the Standard Oil company into its several parts, since the ownership of each part is the same as that of all the others. The Philadelphia Saturday Evening Post has taken the dissolution of the tobacco trust as the text for editorial comment of a similar nature.

The tobacco trust controls 80 per cent of the tobacco trade of the country, except cigars. Under the court ruling the property and the trade of the tobacco trust will be divided among a number of corporations which in turn will be owned by the same body of security holders that owns the trust. The court declared that it could not take the property of a trust and order it sold under such conditions that the owners themselves could not bid for it, since to do so would be confiscation. The Saturday Evening Post says:

"According to this decision, there is no power under the Sherman act to change the ownership of a trust. The court may split the trust into several pieces, but it must hand back the pieces to the old owners. Naturally this decision was followed by buoyancy on the stock exchange and good cheer in Wall street. The tobacco reorganization plan obviously contemplates that the total earning power of the trust property, after it has been split up in compliance with the supreme court decree, shall be substantially what it was before. This means there will be no competition among the several parts—for if they fought one another their total profits would certainly decrease; and this again means that the actual problem of a monopolistic tobacco trust stands unchanged and practically untouched."

It is evident that the Taft policy of court proceedings against the trusts under the Sherman anti-trust law leaves much to be desired.

The People of the Darkness.

I wander through the busy streets, and see on every side
Dim, painted wraiths of people who are living, yet have died;
A world of brooding sorrow lies beneath each painted face,
The people of the Darkness these; the outcasts of the race.

I wander down a side street through an unfrequented way
To find a little sunless court where ragged children play;
Of childhood as WE know it they have nothing but the size—
But, ah! the age-long misery that slumbers in their eyes!

The morning shivers and awakes; I hear on every street,
Unrested, stumbling through the murk, the tramp of weary feet;
Who may these wan-faced phantoms be and what their fevered quest?
The workers in the Depths are these,
who toil that we may rest.

The People of the Darkness, all, "who did not start aright;"
Who "stumbled" on the weary way,
who "wandered" in the night;
We pity them, and yet, I think, before
a Judgment Bar,
'Tis we will need the pity—we, who made them what they are!

Waiting For the Egg.

Lippincott's: Mrs. Johnson, the wife of the new minister in a New England town, asked a neighboring farmer's boy to bring her a dozen eggs and a roasting chicken when he brought the vegetables the next day. The boy appeared promptly, but in his basket were only eleven eggs. "Ma says she will send over the other egg after a while," he explained.

"But what about the chicken?" Mrs. Johnson asked. "That does not seem to be here, either."

"She will send that, too," was the answer.

"But," complained Mrs. Johnson. "I want to cook the chicken for dinner. Why didn't you bring it over with you this time"

"Because," replied the boy, "the hen isn't killed yet. You see, ma's waitin' till she lays the other egg."

THE ISSUE AND THE MEN

By SAVOYARD.

Did you ever see the devil in a tub of holy water? It is great sport, and the G. O. P. is cutting that caper right now in this very town. President Taft, Mr. Penrose, chairman of the senate finance committee, Sereno E. Payne, lately chairman of ways and means, and now head of the minority of that body; the unspeakable Smoot, the Mormon elder; La Follette, who would "an he could," and all the rest of 'em have turned tariff "revisionists," and revisionists down. And what a long tail our cat has got!

There are revisionists and revisionists, many true, many false. As a revisionist the standpat element of the G. O. P. seeks to preserve as much of the graft of the tariff as is possible. They haggle over the "protective principle," as they call it, unmindful that there is no warrant in the Constitution to "lay" a tax that it is not intended to "collect," and which they make impossible of collection. Unfortunately they have allies on the Democratic side of the hedge who scream revenue when they mean protection.

President Taft laid down the rule that congress is not fit to make a tariff. That, however, was after he declared that the congress led by Payne, in the house, and Aldrich in the senate, had made a tariff which Mr. Taft pronounced the best ever designed. The people disagreed with Mr. Taft and ordered a new congress to revise the tariff downward. This congress made the attempt, and it was a downward revision in some sort of way; but the president vetoed the measure and bluntly informed congress that nobody was fit to make an American tariff except a certain tariff board that was looking into the subject. But he gave monopoly the benefit of the doubt, extended its graft at least a year, and here comes his own tariff board and says he was wrong, that the thing is full of graft. Hence the devil in the holy water and the long tail in the cat.

The cat would be put as sentinel over the cream jug; the rat would guard the cheese; the hawk would protect the dove; the wolf would take the ward the lamb, and the G. O. P. will revise the tariff down when disease turns leech and heals the sick. It will be observed that the Republican president has come to the view of the Democratic chairman of ways and means in one particular—he no longer insists on tariff duties that "insure reasonable profits," though he approved a bill teeming with duties that guaranteed exorbitant profits and vetoed another that reduced these profits.

Mr. Smoot has turned tariff reformer, and is now busy reforming the work he performed when Aldrich and Payne were making the present law. He announces that he is converted to the view that Taft has come to—that is, that profits shall not be insured, but that costs must be equalized. He has been preaching about it and asserts that some articles nominated in schedule K cost from 100 to 150 per cent more to produce in this country than abroad, and his proposal is to levy a tax on you and me to support that business which Smoot says cannot support itself. Now if these folks would guarantee a living to everybody it might be tolerable. The lawyer would have clients, the church would have a congregation, the college would have pupils, the theater an audience, the hotel guests, the newspaper man a salary, the coal heaver a job, as would the bricklayer and the ditch-digger, and all the rest.

But they take care of the manufacturer and nobody else. That is favoritism, and that is what this row is about. That is why there are "progressives" in both parties. It is absurd to say that such stupendous fortunes as Carnegie's, Morgan's, Rockefeller's and others were gathered legitimately. These men had advantages and levied tribute on the common herd. One of their privileges—the railroad rebate—is taken from them. Another—watered stocks—they will have to surrender and they will be forced to forego their most odious and most wicked of all their privileges—the regulation of supply and the fixing of prices.

Those fellows out in Chicago—the beef trust magnates—surely are monbeef-mad. They set the price at which they bought livestock, and then made the price at which they sold this the merchandise. They apportion the country among themselves and determine the price of every meal on the tables of millions of town and city dwellers who dwell in cities and towns. The railroads were their slaves, and not satisfied with their enormous profits from the consumers they exacted rebates from the carriers amounting to millions.

These intolerable conditions are the fruit of Republican rule and their germ is in the Republican dogma of protection. Since March 4, 1861, the Democratic party has had full control of this government but two years, and that period was the time of financial panic and industrial depression due to the legislation of the Republican party in the Fifty-first congress, when it enacted the Sherman silver law because it was afraid to entrust a Republican president with a free coinage bill. Thus the G. O. P. cannot escape responsibility for present conditions that will be reformed if it takes a revolution to do it, and it depends on congress whether that revolution, if it shall come, will be peaceful or violent.

Never was there such political schenning in this town, or in this country, as is now in progress, and it is not confined to either party.

If Roosevelt makes the renomination of Taft doubtful, and a month from now it may be impossible. It is asserted that Wall Street is for Teddy, as it was in 1904, and certainly he can get every Insurgent and Progressive in the G. O. P. With Roosevelt out of the race Taft would be renominated on the first ballot; but everybody now believes that Roosevelt is as anxious for the nomination as in 1904, when, had Mark Hanna been living, and the physical man he was in 1896, he would have had as much of a lion in Roosevelt's path as Roosevelt himself now is in Taft's path.

It is the concensus that Taft is an honest a man and the poorest politician who ever lived high place in our government. Ballinger was a heavy load, and Wickersham is a heavier. His rejection of Garfield and dismissal of Pinchot were serious mistakes, for it angered Roosevelt and lent strength to insurgency. He allowed Aldrich and Smoot, Payne and Dalzell, to make a tariff, the worst we ever had, and in a keynote speech he pronounced it the best we ever had. Then, when the people, by an overwhelming vote, ordered congress to reduce the tariff, Taft would not allow congress to do it, though a Democratic house and a Republican senate agreed on a downward revision. But nobody except Roosevelt can beat Taft for the nomination. It is certain that any Democrat can beat Taft, and there are Democrats who can beat Roosevelt.

On the Democratic side of the hedge it is Woodrow Wilson against the field, and if the people make the nomination as they did in 1892, Wilson will get it on the first ballot as Cleveland did then. Wilson is an extraordinary man, and the interests fear him as they fear none other. He is a born administrator, and he is honest, able, and brave. I'll tell you all about him in a few days. They would beat him with Harmon if they could. They will beat him with Underwood if they can. They will take up Clark against him if they must. Hence all this "favorite-son-ism" business. It may work this year, but it will work no more forever. By 1916 every state will express preference in primary elections, and the delegates will go to the convention instructed as to first, second and third choices. Nay, it may be there will be no convention; but a blanket primary on the South Carolina plan—if no candidate has a majority, the foremost two contest for it in another general primary.

If the Democratic committee would order a primary in every state for delegates this year, it would make a Democratic victory in November inevitable. Clark and Underwood are both confident; but they will have to tackle the tariff soon, and it is not going to be the easy thing it was before.

NEW SPECIFIC FOR CITIES

Advantages of the Short Ballot---How 160 Cities Have Adopted the Idea---Concentrating Attention Upon Important Officials.

By H. S. GILBERTSON.

Assistant Secretary of The Short Ballot Organization.

(Exclusive Service, The Survey Press Bureau.)

Beneath its surface simplicity the Short Ballot idea strikes rudely at some of the most cherished and deep-rooted political traditions in American political thought. This fact made necessary the formation of the National Short Ballot organization. It was founded in 1910 for a single and simple object—the education of the American people to the Short Ballot principle. Toward this end all its activities are directed.

The Short Ballot runs counter to political superstitions which have been responsible for much of the lack of popular control with the resultant inefficiency and corruption which have been characteristic of our state and city governments. It is not easy to convince the orthodox Jeffersonian and Jacksonian Democrat that the election of minor officials is not a boon and a privilege but a specious device to keep from the common people the control of their government.

The platform of the National Short Ballot organization gives some of the reasons why this is so, when it says:

The dangerously great power of politicians in our country • • • rests on the fact that we are living under a form of democracy that is so unworkable as to constitute in practice a pseudo-democracy. It is unworkable because

First—It submits to popular election offices which are too unimportant to attract (or deserve) public attention, and,

Second—It submits to popular election so many offices at one time that many of them are inevitably crowded out from proper public attention, and,

Third—It submits to popular election so many offices at one time that the business of making up the elaborate tickets necessary at every election makes the political machine an indispensable instrument in electoral action • • •

The "Short Ballot" principle is—

First—That only those offices should be elective which are important enough to attract (and deserve) public examination.

Second—That very few offices should be filled by election at one time, so as to permit adequate and unconfused public examination of the candidates.

Obedience to these fundamental principles explains the comparative success of democratic government in • • • Galveston, Des Moines and other American cities that are governed by "commissions."

The practical program of the National Short Ballot organization is to educate, by tearing down the old superstition in favor of the popular election of many minor officials and substituting for it the doctrine of simplicity which has been so ably and so insistently preached by men like Theodore Roosevelt, Hiram Johnson and Woodrow Wilson, who has declared that

Simplification! Simplification! is the task that awaits us; to reduce the number of persons voted for to the absolute workable minimum, knowing whom you have selected; knowing whom you have trusted, and having so few persons to watch that you can watch them. That is the way we are going to get popular control back in this country, and that is the only way we are going to get political control back. Put in other elected officers to watch those that you have already elected and you will merely remove your control one step further away.

The idea is not an academic one, nor does it proceed entirely along prophetic lines. But the progressive leaders are being rapidly convinced. California, already, as a result of the short ballot campaign, has taken three officers off the elective list and has made further short ballot progress easy by enacting a constitutional amendment for home rule in counties.

The commission government movement in American cities, a growth of the eleven years which have elapsed since the Galveston disaster, is the channel through which the people are receiving concrete evidence of the vast benefits of the simplified government. This catastrophe led to a movement which has reached to the four corners of the United States, recreated the structure of 160 cities, and put a new note of optimism in our political thinking. So it has been deemed wise by the organization to make itself a national clearing house for information on this special phase of the short ballot movement, and within the last year the organization has become a national authority on this subject so far as an agency in New York city can be in touch with a movement so widespread, and at the same time so thoroughly wrapped up with local conditions in hundreds of localities. Last spring there was published a large and comprehensive volume dealing with every important phase of commission government. This was edited by Charles A. Beard of Columbia university and is known as The Loose Leaf Digest of Short Ballot Charters. In it, the publishers and editors put before the more serious students of the short ballot and commission government the documentary material upon which to base a sound and thorough application of short ballot ideas. During the last six months this book has been used as a text book by every important charter committee and civic body studying the commission plan.

It should be understood that the national organization does not officially promote any specific application of the short ballot idea to any unit of government. And this brings us to another phase of the movement, i. e., that of the formation of associations to find a way for the local application of the short ballot. Already in two states such bodies are at work on statutes and constitutions with a view to making their own particular governments more simple, flexible and responsive to popular opinion. In New York state is an organization which through a strong group of committees is attacking such problems as the application of the short ballot to the judiciary and to the state government. In Ohio an aggressive committee under the leadership of John H. Clarke of Cleveland, is preaching the doctrine up and down the state and is planning to put this matter before the constitutional convention this year in the most effective way. Other state organizations will be formed in the course of time.

But the propaganda reaches the public, too, through less specially devised agencies. Thus, more than sixty of the colleges are using the pamphlet literature of the organization in their class room instruction. Civic bodies and individuals also are constantly availing themselves of these booklets for some local commission or to get acquainted with the idea for its own sake.

That this propaganda is not falling on barren soil is shown by the fact that on November 7 of last year Lowell and Lawrence, Mass., Sacramento, Cal., Chanute, Kan., Lexington, Ky., Fremont, Mich., adopted the commission plan of government, which involves the short ballot. The people of Salt Lake City elected their first commissioners under the new system. Paducah, Ky., Eugene and Salem, Ore., and Pasadena, Cal., are to vote on the question that no Denver, Colo., Baltimore, Md., and Wheeling, W. Va., are considering the inauguration of the new system.

It is questionable whether any specific political reform ever spread with such rapidity as the commission government idea. Each city in which this plan is tried is also an example of the working of the short ballot.

CONTRACT FOR SMELTER STEEL

Kansas City Company Will Build Calumet and Arizona Plant.

DOUGLAS, Ariz., Jan. 13.—The contract for the iron and steel work for the new Calumet & Arizona smelter has been awarded to the Kansas City Structural Steel company and is said to amount to approximately $400,000. H. A. Fitch, the president of the company, is here and made the bid for the work and was highly elated over his success. Mr. Fitch stated: "The construction work will be started immediately and work will be pushed as rapidly as possible. It will be about sixty days before the first lot of materials and men will arrive here and the erection work will take at least eight months to complete. The plans of this smelter are the most perfect I ever had occasion to see, and your city should certainly feel proud to see such an up-to-date plant as they will build.

"We are the largest steel concern in the West and have an enormous capacity, and I have also secured the contract for the steel and iron work for the new Arizona Copper company's smelter at Clifton. This contract is not quite as large as the Calumet & Arizona, and amounts to about $300,000. Work on this will also begin at once. I have not very often had the opportunity of getting 'two birds with one stone' like I have done here, and certainly shall always have a kind remembrance for this city."

END OF CURTAILMENT OF COPPER OUTPUT REACHED

Two Thousand More Men Will Be Employed By the Anaconda.

Butte Central Starts Work on Its 100-Ton Concentrator.

Butte, Mont., Jan. 13.—(Special to The Herald.—The increase of production, announced a short time ago by President B. B. Thayer of the Anaconda company, has gone into effect to a certain extent, but it will be the last of the present month before the increase figured on will be in for full force. General Superintendent John Gillie says that it is proposed to bring the output up to about 25,000,000 pounds a month, and this will mean an increase of about 2,500,000 pounds a month as compared with the general average of each month last year, but it will also mean an increase of a little over 4,000,000 pounds as compared with November last and nearly the same amount as compared with December. While the increase is comparatively small to what the mines of the company could produce if called upon, it is nevertheless a sure sign that the largest single producers of copper in the world have satisfied themselves that the days of curtailment have passed and that the market is in such a condition that justifies an increased production.

With the order for the increase came the resumption of work at the High Ore which has been closed down since last August for general repairs. During that time the High Ore engine has been overhauled and changed for operation in hoisting ore from steam to compressed air and the shaft repaired. Outside of the change of the engine the most important improvement made was the building of skip chutes at different points, whereby the ore is hauled to the stations and deposited to await the hoisting to the surface. Those skip chutes mean a great saving in time as many tons of ore are run to the stations and put into the chutes and then brought to the surface, whereas previously twice the time was consumed and not nearly as much ore was available for hoisting at the one time. The electric steam pump which was installed in the mine some time ago and which is intended to drain the leading mines of the locality, has also been put in working order and is giving every satisfaction.

The increase in production further means that the Tramway and other properties will also turn out more ore and that at least 2,000 more men will be employed. The Leonard which was producing 1,200 tons a day has closed down for the equipment of the engine for operation by compressed air.

The closing of the Leonard for about three months and the increase in the production tends to show the capabilities of the Anaconda company to respond to the demand for copper without any unusual effort. Not any single mine will be required to run to its capacity, but such properties as the Tramway, the West Colusa, the West Gray Rock, the Bell and Diamond, the Mountain View and Stewart will all add a few hundred tons a day, and thus the production will be increased and not a single mine be run for some time yet. Although it has been retimbered from the surface to its lowest depth, there yet remain necessary repairs to the engine and some improvements about the property which will require several weeks.

Butte Central.

The Butte Central Copper company has commenced work on its 100-ton concentrator, which Supt. McConnell says will be completed by the middle of June or the first week in July at the latest. The material is practically all on hand and the machinery has been ordered, so the delay is anticipated in carrying on the work. The company is still continuing to ship fifty tons of ore a week to the Washoe smelter, and Mr. McConnell says that the returns are more than sufficient to pay for the operating of the property. Development work is being carried on on the 800-foot level and the same rich body of ore from which shipments are now being made on the 800-foot level is expected to be commenced in a very short time.

The new 200-ton concentrator of the Corbin.

Corbin Copper company is working most satisfactorily and it is stated that the shipments that began December returned more than sufficient money to pay all operating expenses. In the spring the company expect to be in a position to increase the shipments to the concentrator by working two shifts a day, only one being worked at present. The new hoist is in use, and the shaft in the Bonanza tunnel is being lowered at the rate of 100 feet a month. Direct smelting ore assaying 9 per cent copper and fourteen ounces of silver to the ton is being hoisted from the Rosalie tunnel and shipped to the smelter, giving returns more than sufficient to pay for development work in that part of the property. It is now stated that the Corbin company is in a fair way to earn some money for the stockholders.

The Alice Suit.

The hearing of the application of minority holders of Alice company stock, for an order to restrain the Anaconda Copper Mining company from taking over the property and to prevent the dissolution of the company before Judge W. H. Hunt in the federal court recently, took a very wide range. The old Heinze fight with the Amalgamated Copper company was all gone over and an effort made to get at a lot of facts in connection with the purchase of the various properties by the Anaconda company, and many men prominently identified at present with the company were called to the witness stand. John G. Morony, until recently a director of the Amalgamated, stated that he had been called to give testimony by the minority holders, but inasmuch as he had never attended a meeting of the directorate he was not in a position to answer questions relating to the sale and purchase of properties.

Charles W. Goodale, for many years general manager of the Boston & Montana company, said that the Alice property had been closed down to the best of his knowledge since 1893, and this statement caused the attorney for the Anaconda company to make an effort to get Mr. Goodale to say that the mine was abandoned at that time for the reason that it was not a paying proposition. The attorney for the Alice minority holders of stock made a vigorous protest, and the judge disallowed the question. The Anaconda company purchased the Alice properties for 30,000 shares of stock which, it is claimed, is worth a little over $1,000,000, while the properties are alleged in the complaint of the minority holders to be worth over $15,000,000. It was further attempted to be shown on cross-examination of Mr. Goodale that the Alice was closed down as the bottom had fallen out of the silver market and it was not valuable enough to work, but the judge did not allow this matter to be gone into.

Another witness was Attorney L. O. Evans of the Amalgamated legal department. He acknowledged that he attended the meeting of the Alice company and had a number of proxies. He said that he voted for the transfer to the Anaconda company without any specific instructions so far as he could recollect, but that he did understand that the persons represented were in favor of the sale and therefore cast his proxies accordingly.

Production in 1911.

When the production for the year was given a short time ago the output for December was estimated at 21,900,000 pounds, but now the official figures are at hand and show that there was 24,400,000 pounds of copper turned out by the Anaconda company in the last month of the year, or 2,500,000 pounds more than the estimate, which would bring the production of the Anaconda for the past year up to 260,952,000 pounds and adding to this the output of the East Butte company, the total production for the district was 273,238,000 pounds. According to the figures for December the Anaconda company has only to increase its production this month 600,000 pounds to bring the output up to the figures announced by President Thayer a short time ago as the amount which would be produced during the coming months of this year.

Tuolumne.

Just as soon as the Tuolumne company gets its new surface plant into commission the output will be increased, but this will not be much before the first of the month. The gallows frame and hoist are in position, but it will be at least two weeks yet before the equipment will be ready for operation. Another few days will be required to thoroughly test it out and then about 250 tons of ore a day will be hoisted as compared with about 100 tons a day at present. The Tuolumne has a large amount of ore blocked out and the increase in production can easily be maintained. In addition to this increase, extensive development work will be started on the 1,600 and 1,800-foot levels and the shaft will be carried down to a depth of 2,000 feet. After a station is cut at that depth a cross-cutting will be commenced to cut the rich ore bodies on the 1,600 and 1,800-foot levels.

East Butte.

The East Butte company will start to increase its production about the first of next month and if market conditions continue to warrant such a step there will be maintained an output of about 1,500,000 pounds each month this year. The new blast furnace will be installed in the smelter at once. It was not originally intended to have this furnace ready to go into commission before spring, but now that the copper output is down to a point justifiable the company will hurry the work along.

ARIZONA STILL IN FIRST PLACE

Continues in Lead Among the Copper Producing States.

For 1911 Arizona again holds first place among the copper producing states, but the output will hardly equal that of 1910, viz., 297,250,000 pounds.

The Bisbee district was the largest producer, with an output of about 153,000,000 pounds, a marked decrease from the 142,000,000 pounds produced in 1910. A part of this decrease was due to the stopping of shipment by the Shattuck-Arizona mine during the latter part of the year. Development disclosed some new and important ore bodies in the district. The Calumet & Arizona and Superior & Pittsburg companies were consolidated and a new company began the construction of a new smelter. The Copper Queen company added a calcining and reverberatory plant to its smelter. Plans were initiated for the construction of a smelter by the Shattuck-Arizona company.

The output of the Morenci-Metcalf district will probably show a slight decrease from the 73,154,000 pounds produced in 1910. The Arizona Copper company has under construction a new smelting plant at Clifton.

The Globe-Miami district produced about 40,000,000 pounds, compared with 27,600,000 pounds in 1910. The large increase is due to the production from the Miami area. The first unit of the Miami mill started in March and successive units later, five of the six being in operation at the end of the year. Large additions were made to the ore reserves of the district, especially by the Inspiration and Live Oak companies, and important development work was carried on by other companies. Development was also active in the Globe end of the district.

The Jerome district the output of the United Verde mine will show a slight decrease from the 38,000,000 pounds produced in 1910. The decrease was due to difficulties with the old smelter. The United Verde company has a new smelting plant under construction.

The Humboldt smelter of the Consolidated Arizona Copper company was operated till November and then closed.

The Mineral creek district entered the list of active producers during the year. The first unit of the Ray Consolidated mill was started in March, and at the close of the year five of the eight units were in operation. A smelting plant is under construction at Hayden by the American Smelting & Refining company. This will be ready for operation about April, 1912. The development and blocking out of ore is continued, especially by the Ray Consolidated ad Ray Central companies.

RUMORS AS TO RUMPUS DENIED

Toronto, Ont., Jan. 13.—David Fasken, president of the Nipissing Mining company, denies in full the derogatory rumors which have been current during the last few days about the property. He stated that the explanation for the break in the price of the stock was to be found in the fact that a coterie of United States brokers had taken advantage of the vulnerable position of the security, which condition they had created by giving publicity to the reports of a pending reduction in the dividend rate, and had raided the market with a view to forcing out stock held by apprehensive holders.

"You can give an absolute denial to the report that the directors discussed a reduction in the dividend rate on Nipissing," said the president. "Such action has never been mentioned, and as far as I know has not been even contemplated by any member of the directorate. At the last meeting, when the usual disbursement was declared, not one word concerning any such action was spoken."

Mr. Fasken added that recent developments at the Nipissing mine were highly satisfactory, and that the property was in as good shape as ever.

TURN IS FOR THE BETTER

Improved Outlook for the Lake Superior Iron Trade.

Mines Increasing Forces and Being Worked on Full Time.

The turn for the better in the iron trade has extended to the Lake Superior region. The movement is slight as yet, but its trend is unmistakable. Since last May the United States corporation's Ironwood group of mines, Gogebic range, had been operated only four and five days alternate weeks. Now they are being wrought on full time, although still on a single-shift basis. The Schlesinger company's Newport mine at Ironwood has increased its force to 800 men and its operations to six days a week. Since last June it had been employing 500 men and had been active only five days of every seven. Night shift operations have not been resumed, except as to timbering and repair work, nevertheless it is the understanding the mine will be put on a normal basis prior to the opening of the shipping season. The improved conditions in the Ironwood district effect 1,400 men. Similar developements elsewhere in the mining country are looked for at an early date.

Deep Drill Hole.

One of the deepest diamond drill holes ever put down in the Lake Superior region is being bored by the Cleveland Cliffs Iron company in the very heart of the city of Negaunee, Marquette range. The scene of the work is within 600 feet of the Chicago & Northwestern Railroad company's station. The drill has already been in commission seven or eight months. A depth in excess of 3,000 feet is expected to be attained. The company is not exploring as actively as in the past and whereas at one time, two years ago, nearly a score of diamond drills were in its service on the Marquette range the one at Negaunee is the only one employed now. Another drill probably the ground in the Negaunee field is in operation at the Lucky Star property. This tract is of known mineral value, having already been explored, the present work being for the purpose of determining the best location for the shaft through which the land will be developed. The Lucky Star consists of forty acres and is owned jointly by the Breitung interests and the Cleveland Cliffs company, the holdings of the former predominating.

New Mine at North Lake.

The Cleveland Cliffs company is opening a fine new mine at North Lake. This is in the country west of Ishpeming, Marquette range. The ore body was encountered from the No. 2 shaft the latter part of last year and some shipments were made. A stockpile is now being accumulated at that point. The No. 1 shaft will not become a producer for three or four months. The deposit is deeper and not so close to the shaft as that portion of the property. A depth of 800 feet has been attained and a level is now being extended to the ore body. 900 feet distant. With the deposit reached drifts will be driven east and west and the No. 1 shaft will be ready to ship shortly after the opening of the season of navigation. The Cleveland Cliffs company is giving the North Lake mine an excellent equipment of buildings and machinery and it is establishing a substantial and attractive little town for the men employed there. Dwellings which increase the living accommodations to seventy families have recently been completed. The company controls a large acreage in the vicinity of North Lake, the greater part of which is still unexplored. Diamond drills will be employed the coming summer.

Iron River District.

Still another mining concern has entered the Iron River district of the Menominee range. This is the Iron River Steel company, in which a number of well-known Upper Michigan mining men are interested. Options for the lease of well-located and promising tracts have been procured and a campaign of diamond drill exploration will shortly be instituted. New operations of similar kind have been commenced by George Wilkins of Duluth and associates. These interests have obtained an option on the Helgemo property in section 27, 43-34, and intend to give the ground a thorough test. A contract for exploratory work has been awarded to the Duluth Diamond Drill company. The Helgemo tract is five miles east of Iron River and is in the section next west of that in which Rogers, Brown & Co. are developing the Chicago mine. The Peninsula Power company, which some time ago announced its intention of catering to the mines of the Iron River field, is arranging to supply the service. A site for the proposed sub-station has been procured. The company is developing a large water power at the Twin falls of the Menominee river in Dickinson county, Mich., and Florence county, Wis., and it plans to furnish electrical energy to mining properties all along the range, both west and east. Ultimately more than forty miles of transmission lines will be built. The company is composed of Wisconsin and Upper Michigan capitalists.

The Warner Property.

The prospective mine in the territory tributary to Crystal Falls, Menominee range, is the Warner property in section 9, 44-33. Pickands, Mather & Co. of Cleveland are exploring the tract and the developments to date are considered very encouraging. The ore is similar to that in the United States Steel corporation's Michigan mine, in the same section. To the north, in section 4, is Pickands, Mather & Co.'s Hemlock property. The Hemlock is looking poorly in its bottom level, down 950 feet, and its future appears problematical. Only about 150,000 tons of ore are in sight. However, the Hemlock has been reported petering out at various times before this, and it is still in commission, having long ago been styled "the Old Reliable." There are hopes that a formation cut by a diamond drill last summer will develop additional resources. The physical condition of the Michigan mine likewise is not particularly promising, so far as present indications go. The deposit in sight is estimated to contain only 100,000 tons, the ore body having narrowed with depth. The property is a small one, and is opened to 600 feet and has produced 300,000 tons of ore to date. None of its output was shipped last season. The Mansfield mine, the only other producer of the Steel corporation in the Crystal Falls region, is to be sunk to a new level. The property now is 1,200 feet deep. It has produced 1,250,000 tons to date and is figured to have 500,000 tons more still to take out, as at present indicated.

Corrigan-McKinney Mines.

While it is considered probable that Corrigan, McKinney & Co. of Cleveland will operate at Crystal Falls the coming season on a larger scale than last year, there is believed to be little likelihood that the idle mines of the group will be restord to the active list. The company is the largest operator in the district, but for the past two years and more its production and shipments have been much curtailed. It has much ore in stock. The Dunn mine of Corrigan, McKinney & Co. has only a short life remaining. The property is 1,500 feet deep and is bottomed in the slates. It is believed that henceforth it will not produce in excess of 150,000 tons. The company's Tobin mine, however, is good yet for 1,750,000 tons or more; the Great Western for 800,000 tons, and the Crystal Falls and the Armenia for 500,000 tons each.

Olgebay, Norton & Co. of Cleveland have a large stockpile at their Bristol mine, the largest property in the Crystal Falls field. Production is on a comparatively small scale this winter, most attention being directed to the work of completing the fine new shaft with which the mine is being provided. The machinery for this shaft is in place. Ultimately this mine will reach a depth of 2,000 feet, or double the present depth. The Bristol already has produced nearly 3,000,000 tons of ore and is counted upon for fully 1,500,000 tons more.

M. A. Hanna & Co. of Cleveland have added a big pump to the equipment of the Hollister mine, which is about the wettest property in the Crystal Falls district and produces an ore containing an unusually large percentage of moisture. The mine has never made a dollar. It is looking none too good, physically, and its future is very uncertain. Hanna & Co have a big find in section 31, 43-32, south of the Tobin, but as yet has announced no plans for its development.

DISCOVERY OF COPPER

Second Strike of Copper Ground Made By the Mayflower.

White Pine Opening Rich Deposit in a Sandstone Conglomerate.

Houghton, Mich., Jan. 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Mayflower Mining company has made a second strike of copper ground in the No. 16 drill hole which recently came into copper ground at a depth of 1,211 feet. The new discovery lies at a depth of 1,328 feet, and from that point to a depth of 1,412 feet carries copper, with the exception of two barren zones of ten foot thickness each. Though of remarkable richness where intersected in the No. 16 drill hole this formation revealed nothing of value in drill holes Nos. 14 and 15 further north, where also the formation was found to be much narrower.

Old Colony.

The Old Colony is drilling the thirteenth hole of the present series. A depth of 400 feet has been attained. This hole is driving at an incline in the approximate horizon of the St. Louis lode and the lode recently encountered in the Mayflower acreage nearly one mile further north. A number of holes previously put down in this acreage and horizon resulted in the disclosure of several promising deposits, and will likely be followed by shaft work in the spring.

Elm River-Contact.

The Elm River-Contact property in the Winona district continues to receive uninterrupted attention. Diamond drilling has shown little of promise in this tract but will be continued in an effort that promises to be most thorough. The No. 10 drill hole is now being pushed through overburden and to a depth of 200 feet had not reached the ledge.

White Pine.

The White Pine Copper company, a Calumet & Hecla subsidiary, operating in the Porcupine mountain district in Ontonagon county, is opening a very rich deposit of copper in a sandstone conglomerate. Development is by shaft and drifts. The mineral is exceedingly fine and not easily separated from its accompanying gangue, but not hopelessly so, and is said to be amenable to a special treatment devised by the company's engineers.

Allouez.

The Allouez is developing copper ground of exceptional richness in the several north drifts below the fourteenth in the No. 2 shaft. This shaft has reached the twenty-first level and is being equipped with a steel shaft rockhouse and permanent hoist preliminary to heavy production. The No. 1 shaft already equipped is producing regularly at the rate of 300 to 1,000 tons daily. The improvement in Allouez is by no means recent, but at the moment may be described as being of greater extent and in every way better than at any time in the past. The output of the mine has been restricted by inadequate equipment at the No. 2 shaft, but this defect is being remedied and early summer will see the output doubled so that an annual yield of 10,000,000 pounds fine copper is easily possible.

New Baltic.

The New Baltic is centering activity in the cross-cut on the 500-foot level which has for its object the intersection of the east lode previously disclosed on the 350-foot level. A total length of 150 feet has been reached by the cross-cut which is expected to cut this vein at about 170 feet.

Houghton.

The Houghton is drifting and crosscutting on the 645-foot level, and in the drift is obtaining excellent showings of commercial copper ground. The cross-cut is driving for the west lode, distant about 175 feet from the shaft, and has attained a length of 160 feet. At about 130 feet from the shaft it passed through an amygdaloidal stringer carrying a small amount of copper, which is taken as an indication that the vein further on will be found well mineralized, as, in fact, it was shown to be in the single drill hole put through it from surface in the previous exploratory campaign.

Tamarack.

The Tamarack, despite material reductions effected in operating costs, is still unable to produce its copper at a profit, and it is said in well informed circles would undoubtedly be shut down but for the promised improvement in the market price of the metal. Operations are confined to productive ground only, ground that is yielding around twenty pounds fine copper per ton of rock mined, but the great cost of mining at depth seemingly can not be reduced to a figure that would leave a profit. Tamarack's costs are not a cent less than 15 cents per pound of copper produced and frequently exceed 16 cents in periods when the average yield of the rock mined is not up to standard.

Hussey-Howe.

A new mining company to be known as the Hussey-Howe Mining company, with holdings in the neighborhood of the Indiana and Bohemia tracts in Ontonagon county, will shortly offer a part of its share capital for public subscription. The company proposes to issue 45,000 shares in full payment for the 160 acres of mineral lands upon which operations are to be begun, and offer 9,000 shares to the public at $10 per share. The treasury will receive the remaining 46,000 shares to be used in future financing. The proposition is generally looked upon as a small venture.

Monday—Mme. Frances Alda will sing in concert at the Lyceum theater. The first regular meeting of the Matinee Musicale will be held since the holiday vacation. Mrs. Seymour's morning and evening classes in dramatic structure will meet at the regular hours.

Tuesday—Rev. and Mrs. J. C. Faries of Glen Avon will be at home at the second of their series of informal receptions; Greysolon duLhut chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution will meet with Mrs. W. C. Winton; postponed installation of officers for the Sons of Veterans and their auxiliary will be held at Memorial hall.

Wednesday—Postponed meeting of the Art History class of the Twentieth Century club will be held at 10 a. m.

Thursday—Morning class in modern drama of the Twentieth Century club will hold its regular meeting at the library at 10 a. m.; Dr. C. H. Patton of Boston will arrive to give a talk to the men of Duluth on missions.

Friday—Cora Mel Patten of Chicago will read "Don" at the high school auditorium under the auspices of the Duluth Teachers' association.

Saturday—Regular meeting of the Saturday club at the library club room.

Two events of the coming week will be of exceptional interest to Duluthians. The music lovers will have a rare treat in the concert of Mme. Frances Alda to be given at the Lyceum theater Monday evening. This is the third of the series planned by Horace W. Reyner, T. W. Hugo and Stephen H. Jones. The coming of Miss Cora Mel Patten will also be an event of special interest as she is a noted dramatic reader of power and artistic finish who has given enjoyable readings in Duluth on former dates. She will be remembered in a reading of "The Bluebird" last season and of "The Servant in the House" the year before. This time Miss Patten will read "Don" a play of exceptional interest at the present time as it has been considered an unusually fine type of comedy, and the Drama League of America recommends it highly as a play of interest.

Despite the cold, several delightful functions have been given during the past week and society is again getting settled into its ways after the holiday interruptions.

Several weddings of interest have taken place and the home talent production of "Cousin Kate" at the Lyceum last Thursday evening drew a representative audience and the cost and little dancers gave a pleasing entertainment.

Weddings

At noon Wednesday, Miss Mary Florence Moran, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Moran of 114 West Fourth street became the bride of Charles Duncan Brewer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank A. Brewer of 2215 East Superior stret. The ceremony was performed at the residence of Bishop McGolrick by Rev. Father Lyden in the presence of only the immediate relatives of the two parties. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Jeta Moran, and Hans Haroldson was best man.

The bride wore her traveling suit of blue and carried lilies of the valley and orchids and the maid of honor carried violets and narcissus.

After the ceremony a luncheon was served at the home of the bride's parents at which covers were laid for sixteen.

Pink and white roses were used throughout the house in graceful and effective arrangement, and the luncheon table was charmingly appointed with these flowers, a large basket of them being used as a centerpiece.

Miss Alice Moran and Miss Elizabeth Dunn assisted about the rooms.

Mr. and Mrs. Brewer left in the afternoon for a two months' wedding tour through the West and South.

The wedding of Miss Loretta Shannon, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Shannon of 325 West Fourth street, to Bernard E. Hogan, son of E. W. Hogan of Banning, Ont., took place Monday morning at the Sacred Heart cathedral at 8:15 o'clock. Rev. Father McCarthy, who has been a priest for fifty years and who knew the bridegroom as a boy, performed the service in the presence of about 150 friends.

The bride wore a charming gown of white marquisette over white messaline and carried a bouquet of bride's roses. She was attended by Miss Mamie Shannon, who wore a pretty gown of pink messaline and carried white roses.

The bridegroom was attended by Stanley R. Russell of Port Arthur, Ont.

After the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's parents at which about sixty guests were served.

The groom's gift to the bride was a diamond ring, to the bridesmaid a gold bracelet and to the best man a K. of C. ring. The bride's bouquet was caught by Miss Florence Martin of this city.

EVENTS OF WEEK IN CLUBS AND MUSICAL CIRCLES

Dramatic Reading of "Don" Will Be Presented in Duluth — Matinee Musicale Program.

THE play of "Don," by Besier, which will be read by Miss Cora Mel Patten at the assembly hall of the Central high school next Friday evening under the auspices of the Duluth Teachers' association, has been one of the interesting subjects taken up by the members of Mrs. Robert Morris Seymour's dramatic structure class this winter.

"The play of 'Don,' by Besier, a young English playwright," said Mrs. Seymour, "is a play of comedy, of intense emotion and a little bit of tragedy combined. It is workmanlike in structure, the characters are skillfully individualized and the dialogue is natural and convincing.

"The main theme is the eternal conflict between the ideal and the practical, between the simplicity of human right and the complexity of social conventions, the impossibility for the man attempting to live up to the ideal standards to be understood."

William Archer says: "If the essence of drama be conflict, the wrestle of will with will, then 'Don' comes as near as any play I know to such a drama."

"Don" was first presented in the Haymarket theater in London in 1909 and was then put on in New York at the New theater in the spring of 1910, and in Chicago in May, 1910. It was given ecclesiastical approval and was passed upon by the playgoing committee of the Drama League of America.

"Don" has been considered one of the best comedies of modern times. It was sent out on the road this season for the first time and was to have been presented in Duluth at the Lyceum theater on Nov. 4, but owing to the lack of financial support which it received on the tour, was withdrawn. The public did not appreciate the play through lack of understanding and familiarity with it, and the support was not given.

This opportunity to hear this play read by one of the best dramatic readers in the country should prove a big attraction. Interest in the drama has everywhere been growing so rapidly that Miss Patten will probably draw a large audience. Those who have heard her on her former visits here are anticipating a treat in her reading of this play.

MISS CORA MEL PATTEN.

Saturday—Regular meeting of the Saturday club at the library club room.

Two events of the coming week will be of exceptional interest to Duluthians. The music lovers will have a rare treat in the concert of Mme. Frances Alda to be given at the Lyceum theater Monday evening. This is the third of the series planned by Horace W. Reyner, T. W. Hugo and Stephen H. Jones. The coming of Miss Cora Mel Patten will also be an event of special interest as she is a noted dramatic reader of power and artistic finish who has given enjoyable readings in Duluth on former dates. She will be remembered in a reading of "The Bluebird" last season and of "The Servant in the House" the year before. This time Miss Patten will read 'Don" a play of exceptional interest at the present time as it has been considered an unusually fine type of comedy, and the Drama League of America recommends it highly as a play of interest.

Despite the cold, several delightful functions have been given during the past week and society is again getting settled into its ways after the holiday interruptions.

Several weddings of interest have taken place and the home talent production of "Cousin Kate" at the Lyceum last Thursday evening drew a representative audience and the cost and little dancers gave a pleasing entertainment.

Weddings

At noon Wednesday, Miss Mary Florence Moran, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Moran of 114 West Fourth street became the bride of Charles Duncan Brewer son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank A. Brewer of 2215 East Superior stret. The ceremony was performed at the residence of Bishop McGolrick by Rev. Father Lyden in the presence of only the immediate relatives of the two parties. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Jeta Moran, and Hans Haroldsen was best man.

The bride wore her traveling suit of blue and carried lilies of the valley and orchids and the maid of honor carried violets and narcissus.

After the ceremony a luncheon was served at the home of the bride's parents at which covers were laid for sixteen.

Pink and white roses were used throughout the house in graceful and effective arrangement, and the luncheon table was charmingly appointed with these flowers, a large basket of them being used as a centerpiece.

Miss Alice Moran and Miss Elizabeth Dunn assisted about the rooms.

Mr. and Mrs. Brewer left in the afternoon for a two months' wedding tour through the West and South.

Invitations have been received from Mr. and Mrs. John Forsyth of Yonkers, N. Y., for the wedding of their daughter, Helen, to David Charles Duncan of this city. The event will take place Thursday, Jan. 25 at the Methodist church of Yonkers at 8 o'clock and will be followed by a reception at the Forsyth home. Mr. Duncan is building his home at Twenty-fifth avenue east and Sixth street and they will be at home there after May 1.

The wedding of Miss Loretta Shannon, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Shannon of 325 West Fourth street, to Bernard E. Hogan, son of F. W. Hogan of Banning, Ont., took place Monday morning at the Sacred Heart cathedral at 8:15 o'clock. Rev. Father McCarthy, who has been a priest for fifty years and who knew the bridegroom as a boy, performed the service in the presence of about 150 friends.

The bride wore a charming gown of white marquisette over white messaline and carried a bouquet of bride's roses. She was attended by Miss Mamie Shannon, who wore a pretty gown of pink messaline and carried white roses.

The bridegroom was attended by Stanley R. Russell of Port Arthur, Ont.

After the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's parents at which about sixty guests were served.

The groom's gift to the bride was a diamond ring, to the bridesmaid a gold bracelet and to the best man a K. of C. ring. The bride's bouquet was caught by Miss Florence Martin of this city.

Monday evening the party was entertained at a theater party at the Lyceum followed by a supper at which their Port Arthur friends were hosts.

Mr. and Mrs. Hogan left Tuesday evening for a wedding trip to Spokane. They will make their home at Banning, Ont.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick A. Kemp have arrived in Duluth from their wedding trip and will make their home in this city. At present they are at home with Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Reynolds, 1105 East Third street. Mr. Kemp is a traveling salesman for F. A. Patrick & Co. He was married Dec. 28 to Miss Ida Hutchinson of Spokane, Wash.

Invitations have been received here for the wedding of Alfred Nelson Hulst and Miss Clare Oliver, both of Milwaukee, the event to take place on Wednesday, Jan. 24, at 4 o'clock. Mr. Hulst is the youngest son of Dr. and Mrs. Nelson P. Hulst of Milwaukee, formerly of this city and he is very well known among the younger society set.

Announcements have been received here of the wedding of Miss Mary Austin McDermott of Denver, Colo., to Edward Louis Toben of San Diego, Cal., formerly of Duluth. The event took place on Jan. 3 in San Diego at which city they will be at home on El Cajon avenue after Jan. 25.

Countess de Gontaut Biron Paying Visit to America

COUNTESS DE GONTAUT BIRON.

The Countess de Gontaut Biron accompanied her mother, Mrs. J. G. A. Leishman, to America this week for a short visit. She has been living in Paris for many years. EVENTS OF WEEK IN CLUBS AND MUSICAL CIRCLES

Dramatic Reading of "Don" Will Be Presented in Duluth — Matinee Musicale Program.

THE play of "Don," by Besler, which will be read by Miss Cora Mel Patten at the assembly hall of the Central high school next Friday evening under the auspices of the Duluth Teachers' association, has been one of the interesting subjects taken up by the members of Mrs. Robert Morris Seymour's dramatic structure class this winter.

"The play of 'Don,' by Besler, a young English playwright," said Mrs. Seymour, "is a play of comedy, of intense emotion and a little bit of tragedy combined. It is workmanlike in structure, the characters are skillfully individualized and the dialogue is natural and convincing.

"The main theme is the eternal conflict between the ideal and the practical, between the simplicity of human right and the camplexity of social conventions, the impossibility for the man attempting to live up to the ideal standards to be understood."

William Archer says: "If the essence of drama be conflict, the wrestle of will with will, then 'Don' comes as near as any play I know to such a drama."

"Don" was first presented in the Haymarket theater in London in 1909 and was then put on in New York at the New theater in the spring of 1910, and in Chicago in May, 1910. It was given ecclesiastical approval and was passed upon by the playgoing committee of the Drama League of America.

"Don" has been considered one of the best comedies of modern times. It was sent out on the road this season for the first time and was to have been presented in Duluth at the Lyceum theater on Nov. 4, but owing to the lack of financial support which it received on the tour, was withdrawn. The public did not appreciate the play through lack of understanding and familiarity with it, and the support was not given.

This opportunity to hear this play read by one of the best dramatic readers in the country should prove a big attraction. Interest in the drama has everywhere been growing so rapidly that Miss Patten will probably draw a large audience. Those who have heard her on her former visits here are anticipating a treat in her reading of this play.

D. A. R. Meeting.

THE next regular meeting of the Greysolon du Lhut Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution will be held Tuesday afternoon of next week at the home of Mrs. W. C. Winton. Mrs. A. D. Goodman will be the assisting hostess.

The roll call will be responded to with the members' favorite characters among the world's great people, with a short talk on the reasons they are interesting and prominent. A short business session will begin at 2:15 and will be followed by a musical program. As this is the January meeting, the annual dues are now payable.

ARTIST COMING.

Mme. Frances Alda to Draw Large Audience Monday Night.

ON MONDAY next one of the world's great operatic sopranos will visit Duluth through the instrumentality of three local musical enthusiasts, Stephen H. Jones, T. W. Hugo and Horace W. Reyner. Mme. Frances Alde, the noted wife of Signor Gatti-Casazza, general manager of the Metropolitan opera house, New York, will sing in concert here that evening at the Lyceum theater.

Heretofore Duluth has had to wait years and years before even a great artist would risk a concert in Duluth. Schumann-Heink, Nordica and Melba had made enormous reputations before they visited Duluth, but now, thanks to the efforts that have been made recently to secure for Duluth a place as a musical center, the city has had the best that can be offered among the great artists and many of them in one season. Alde on Monday will give a recital that for style and finish is expected to be a revelation. It is her first visit here. She has been on the American operatic and concert stage only two years, yet in that time she has become one of the foremost operatic sopranos in all the great opera companies of New York, Boston and Montreal, and also during that time she has become the wife of the world's greatest opera manager, Gatti Casazza.

Her accompanist is Signor Alberto Randeggan, a musician of rare attainments.

Mme. Alde will arrive tomorrow and will be a guest at the Spalding. She is coming early to have a thorough rest before the concert. Her program will be:

MUSICAL BUREAU.

Matinee Musicale to Send Programs to Range Towns.

THE Matinee Musicale has started a musical bureau, the object of which is to give their young musicians an opportunity to appear in public in professional engagements at small fees, also to provide good music for small cities where there are, many times, music lovers but no good music available.

The musical clubs of the Twin Cities have adopted this plan and are supplying the cities and towns in the southern and middle part of the state and the Duluth club intends to respond to the call for good programs from the range towns.

Miss Isabel Pearson is chairman of this committee and programs have been considered in response to letters from Cohasset and Grand Rapids, Minn.

This is another step in the growth and development of the Matinee Musicale.

BISHOP'S CLUB.

Maeterlink Will Be Subject of Program for Next Meeting.

THE regular meeting of the Bishop's club will be held Tuesday in the club rooms of Cathedral hall with Miss Mary Shesgren as leader. Maurice Maeterlink will be the subject of the program. Music from "Pelleas and Melesande" will be played and a review of "The Blue Bird" will be given by the leader. A paper on "Maeterlink and His Achievements" will be read and Bible reading and a discussion of current events will complete the program.

INTERESTING PROGRAM.

Local and St. Paul Artists to Entertain Club.

AN exceptionally interesting program has been arranged for Monday afternoon for the regular meeting of the Matinee Musicale which will be held at 3 o'clock at the auditorium of the Young Women's Christian association. Several of the younger artists of the city will appear on the program. Miss Marjorie May Harrison will make her debut with an "Impromptu," by Hugo Reinhold; Miss Marie Agatin will play two numbers and Miss Anna Johnson will play Hubay's "Hejre Kate."

The vocal numbers will be given by Miss Gladys Reynolds who will sing a group of songs.

In addition to these numbers all of which are pleasantly anticipated, Miss Margaret Horton of St. Paul, who is a guest of Mrs. Louise D. Fraker of Kent Road, will play a group of violin numbers.

Miss Horton has but recently returned from a three years' study in Berlin and is a violinist of recognized ability. Her playing before the Schubert club of St. Paul at its recital on president's day won her high praises, and her Duluth friends are glad of the treat in store for the members of the Matinee Musicale at this meeting.

The program arranged by Miss Florence Hyland and Miss Tresa Lynn follows:

"Hejre Kate." ..... Hubay
Miss Anna Johnson.
"Impromptu" ..... Hugo Reinhold
Marjorie May Harrison.
"Will o' the Wisp" ..... Spross
"My Love and I" ..... Frank La Forge
"A Birthday" ..... Huntington Woodman
Miss Gladys Reynolds.
"Praeludium" ..... Arne Oldberg
Scherzo, op. 35, E flat Minor ..... Chopin
Miss Marie Agatin.
"Legende" ..... Wieniawski
"Elegie" ..... Franz Ries
"Ave Maria" ..... Schubert Wilhelm
Miss Margaret Horton.

Accompanists—Mrs. Fred G. Bradbury, Mrs. J. U. McKindley, Mrs. Gustav Flaaten.

PUBLIC INSTALLATION.

W. R. C. and Culver Post Will Have Joint Service.

A JOINT installation of officers for the J. B. Culver Post of the G. A. R. and the Woman's Relief corps will be held this evening in Memorial hall. The installation is public and all friends of the members are cordially invited to attend. After the installation a short program will be given and light refreshments served.

EXPENSES HEAVY.

A Ton of Coal a Day Needed to Keep Children Warm.

EXPENSES at the Children's Home this cold weather are heavy. At the regular meeting of the board of directors held at the home yesterday, the chairman of the supply committee woefully announced that it is taking more than a ton of coal a day to keep the little people warm, and supplies in all departments have had to be increased.

The members of the board extend a unanimous vote of thanks through the press to all who have helped in the work of the home through the Christmas month and gratefully acknowledge the following donations:

PAY FOR ORGAN.

Church Guild Clears Debt and Holds Reception.

THE debt of $3,300 for the pipe organ in the Endion M. E. church was met yesterday by the members of the Woman's guild at its regular quarterly meeting held in the parlors of the church. The last payment was voted on and the treasurer instructed to pay the bill. Within the past two years the women of the church have been working for this end and Dr. Powell in a short talk to the members yesterday afternoon complimented them on their interest and work.

Other business matters were transacted and a short program of readings and music followed, after which an informal reception was held and tea was served.

Club Tea.

THE club tea, the regular monthly event of the Twentieth Century club, was a delightful affair Monday afternoon. A large attendance of club members enjoyed an informal impromptu program given by some of the guests, and tea was served. Poinsettia blossoms lent their holiday air to the tea table, and Mrs. G. A. Elder, hostess for the afternoon, served the tea, assisted by Mrs. F. W. De Vey, Mrs. Herbert Warren, Mrs. M. R. Baldwin and Mrs. M. H. Kelley.

Elect Officers.

OFFICERS of the year were elected at the annual meeting of Trinity guild held Tuesday afternoon at the guildroom of the pro-cathedral. Those chosen were: President, Mrs. Fitzjames Hill; first vice president, Mrs. C. T. Fitzsimmons; second vice president, Mrs. Elmer N. Whyte; treasurer, Mrs. Belle Valentine; secretary, Mrs. Harry Pearson. It was arranged to hold an all-day meeting next Tuesday.

WILL TALK OF UNIVERSAL PEACE

Count Lutzow, the Bohemian Scholar, Coming to America and Will Address Congress on Feb. 5.

London, Jan. 13.—Count Lutzow, the Bohemian scholar and historian, will leave London on Jan. 20 for an extended tour of America, and will, besides giving an address before congress, deliver a series of lectures among many of the chief universities of America.

The address before congress will be largely devoted to the subject of universal peace and early attempts in that direction made by a king of Bohemia, George of Poderbrad, who proposed a union of European countries to put a stop to war. The lectures at the universities will be on the history and literature of Bohemia, politics as far as possible being eliminated.

The count is due to arrive in Washington on Feb. 4, and the address to congress will be delivered on the next day.

Count Lutzow is known throughout Europe as an authority on things Bohemian, and he has lectured and writ ten about his country in almost every University on this side of the water. This, however, will be his first trip to America, and he is looking forward to it with a great deal of interest. He was induced to make it by the Bohemian Society of Chicago, and by the fact that in Nebraska and other Western states there are large and prosperous Bohemian colonies. A big, jolly man who is usualy surrounded in his London residence, where he and the countess entertain, by the best of the literary circle of England and the continent, the count is sure to appeal to the America collegian.

An exhibition of the last work of the late Edwin A. Abbey, the American artist, was opened with the New Year by the Royal academy at Burlington house. Such exhibitions are a signal honor which the academy grants only in the case of its most distinguished deceased members.

The pictures selected for the exhibit were picked by Mrs. Abbey, with the assistance of members of the Royal academy who were in close touch and sympathy with the work of her husband.

Among the pictures are several sketches made preliminary to the paintings which Abbey did for the state capitol of Pennsylvania at Harrisburg. Probably the most interesting feature of the exhibit are the pen and ink sketches of Shakespearean characters, numbered among the last efforts of the dead artist. These were the result of a life long study of Shakespeare's works and the Shakespeare country made by Abbey, but he had not progresed far enough with the great work to exhibit any of it before his death.

The Abbey exhibit is in charge of Sir Frederick A. Eaton, secretary of the Royal academy. After preparing the exhibit, Mrs. Abbey sailed for New York. The Abbey exhibit at Burlington house will be followed by an exhibition of old masters which will be the most important given by the academy in recent years.

With the taking over of the National Telephone company on Jan. 1, the government became the owner of practically all of the telephone facilities of the British Isles.

The property of the company becomes the possession of the state and the 18,000 employes join the ranks of the civil servants of the kingdom. Generally speaking, the officials and employes of the company are not pleased with the change, as they feel that it will militate against their chances of advancement.

Now that the government is in supreme control of the telephone facilities of the country, it is expected that efforts will be made to extend it greatly, especially in the rural districts, where the telephone is almost unknown. Even in London the telephone directory is no larger than those of several cities of the United States with populations of less than 500,000.

Young Mothers

No young woman, in the joy of coming motherhood, should neglect to prepare her system for the physical ordeal she is to undergo. The health of both she and her coming child depends largely upon the care she bestows upon herself during the waiting months. Mother's Friend prepares the expectant mother's system for the coming event, and its use makes her comfortable during all the term. It works with and for nature and by gradually expanding all tissues, muscles and tendons, involved, and keeping the breasts in good condition, brings the woman to the crisis in splendid physical condition. The baby too is more apt to be perfect and strong where the mother has thus prepared herself for nature's supreme function. No better advice could be given a young expectant mother than that she use Mother's Friend; it is a medicine that has proven its value in thousands of cases. Mother's Friend is sold at drug stores. Write for free book for expectant mothers which contains much valuable information, and many suggestions of a helpful nature.

HARMON ATTACKS G. O. P. POLICIES

Says Taxing Power Is Virtually Farmed Out By the Government.

East St. Louis, Ill., Jan. 13.—Governor Judson Harmon of Ohio in an address before the St. Clair County Democratic club here last night, attacked the financial policies of the recent Republican administration. He compared the administration of President Andrew Jackson, which he declared was for the good of all people, to that of the present, which he said, "was in effect farming out the taxing power, one of the greatest abuses known to history."

Governor Harmon pleaded for public business to be managed with the same principles and with the same care and ability that citizens devote to their private business. The next step in this direction he said must be to "redeem the tariff from its controberted use, and restore it to its proper place as a revenue measure by gradual reduction so that all concerned may have time to prepare for the change."

The meeting was attended by leading Democrats of Southern Illinois.

LAYS VOTES TO OLD FRIENDSHIPS

Lorimer So Explains Support He Got From Illinois Legislators.

Washington, Jan. 13.—Senator Lorimer of Illinois, in his testimony before the senate investigating committee, undertook to explain the individual motives which caused 108 members of the Illinois legislature to cast their ballots for him. His recital was a long story of boyhood friendships growing to political alliances.

"I've known that man all my life, probably since I was 10 years old, and he had gone through some hard knocks himself and felt as if he wanted to help some one else who had been through it, too," was one of the answers he frequently gave.

Some of his explanations were homely stories of his political life thirty years ago before he became a national figure. His experiences were related much as they were in his speech of defense in the senate a year ago.

In explaining votes he would often say, "He lived in my neighborhood and sometimes I may have done an important favor for him," or, "we worked together in politics for thirty years and our friendship was stronger than any party ties."

The votes of other men Senator Lorimer explained by saying they were unalterably opposed to Hopkins, were anxious to break the deadlock and get home, had received favorable recommendation of Lorimer from constituents, or they were anxious to give to him some substantial reward for his work in behalf of the proposed "Lakes-to-the-Gulf" waterway.

Senator Lorimer had got about half way through the list of the legislators who voted for him when an adjournment was taken until Monday morning.

GIRL DEFRAUDS MEN BY HER OFFERS OF MARRIAGE.

Denver, Col., Jan. 13.—Miss Fay Livingston, 24 years old, who is in jail here following her arrest in Cheyenne, Wyo., by postoffice inspectors on a charge of fraudulent use of the mails, has confessed to duping scores of men in various parts of the country out of small sums on her promises of immediate marriage. She used newspapers freely in advertising for correspondents, and scores of youths, middle-aged men, ministers, doctors and particularly laborers, according to her own statements, became her victims. The postoffice inspectors found hundreds of incriminating letters in her rooms at a local hotel. The woman says that at one time she was employed by the Chicago Daily News.

ATTRIBUTE LONG LIVES TO MINNESOTA CLIMATE

MR. AND MRS. R. W. SIPES.

Staples, Minn., Jan. 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—The salubrity of the climate of Minnesota is well illustrated in the case of Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Sipes, old residents of this section, who recently celebrated here the fiftieth anniversary of their wedding. Both were born in the same Pennsylvania community and were married there in 1861. Mr. Sipes served in the Civil war mostly in the East in the One Hundred and Sixty-eighth Pennsylvania regiment.

After receiving his discharge Mr. and Mrs. Sipes moved to Illinois. From there they immigrated to Dodge county, Minnesota, in 1872. The homestead was finally staked out at Motley, where they have resided for the past thirty years.

Mr. Sipes says: "My wife and I moved west to Illinois for our health. Not finding the climate there suitable we moved to Minnesota, we owe our advanced age to the beneficial climate of this state."

FIRE DESTROYS HUBBARD STORE

Hubbard County Village, Having No Fire Protection, Was Menaced.

Park Rapids, Minn., Jan. 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—Fire starting about 2 p. m. Thursday in the general store of M. M. Loring at Hubbard, the oldest village in Hubbard county, about eight miles southeast of here, destroyed the building and contents except the mail and other government effects, the store also being the village postoffice.

The fire originated in the attic near the chimney and had gained considerable headway before discovered. A defective chimney is supposed to have been the cause.

The building was an old one and one story high. The loss is estimated at $10,000 covered by insurance.

There was great danger that the adjoining buildings would go as Hubbard has no fire protection. A bucket brigade kept water which froze as soon as applied on the adjoining roofs. The ice served as a protection and the adjoining buildings were saved.

BENA PAIR ENTERTAINED.

Grand Forks, N. D., Jan. 13.—Misses Lillian Benson and Theressa Blaine of Bena, Minn., came here Tuesday and on Wednesday evening were entertained by Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Ryan at a surprise party in their honor. The rooms were prettily decorated with white carnations and asparagus ferns.

HEAVING OF GROUND,

Not Broken Rails Cause Wrecks, Say Engineers.

Minot, N. D., Jan. 13.—Old time engineers, who have run passenger trains in North Dakota for many years, say that the defective rails are not the cause of the wrecks reported in North Dakota during the last few weeks. The engineers say that the trouble is caused by the heaving of the ground.

"I have run trains in North Dakota for many years and I am satisfied that the trouble is not defective rails, but the heaving of the ground," said a Minot engineer. "This heaving of the ground is a condition that we have had to contend with. The frost causes the ground to heave and this produces a strain on the rail, which sometimes causes it to break. You will notice that the track is always rougher in the winter time than in the summer. This is the result of the heaving."

DUVAL IN TROUBLE.

One of Witnesses in Dumas' Trials Accused of Forgery.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 13.—Albert Duval, who recently was sentenced to Stillwater from Winona county, after having been convicted of forgery, but who immediately was paroled to appear for the state in the Dumas trials in Northern Minnesota, is under arrest here.

Duval, it is alleged, violated his parole. The police say he passed a forged check on the proprietor of a St. Paul hotel after he had been given a ticket to Brainerd by former Attorney General Simpson.

Since that time Duval, according to the police, has ben passing forged checks on big wholesale houses here.

Recently the Credit Men's association began a crusade to run the forger down. The arrest of Duval followed.

ERUPTION CAUSED TERRIBLE SUFFERING

Baby's Body Covered with Large Sores. Seemed to Itch and Burn. Finger Nails Fell Off. Little or No Sleep. Used Cuticura Soap and Ointment. In 6 Weeks Cured.

Dodson, Mont. — "When my baby boy was six months old, his body was completely covered with large sores that seemed to itch and burn, and cause terrible suffering. The eruption began in pimples which would open and run, making large sores. His hair came out and finger nails fell off, and the sores were over the entire body, causing little or no sleep for baby or myself. Great scabs would come off when I removed his shirt. We tried a great many remedies, but nothing would help him, till a friend induced me to try the Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I used the Cuticura Soap and Ointment but a short time before I could see that he was improving, and in six weeks' time he was entirely cured. He had suffered about six weeks before we tried the Cuticura Soap and Ointment although we had tried several other things, and doctors too. I think the Cuticura Remedies will do all that is claimed for them, and a great deal more." (Signed) Mrs. Noble Tubman, January 28, 1911.

For red, rough, chapped and bleeding hands, itching, burning palms, and painful finger-ends, a one-night Cuticura treatment works wonders. Soak hands, on retiring, in hot water and Cuticura Soap. Dry, anoint with Cuticura Ointment, and wear old, loose gloves during the night. Cuticura Soap and Ointment are sold everywhere. Sample of each mailed free, with 32-p. book. Address, "Cuticura," Dept. T, Boston. Tender-faced men should use Cuticura Soap Shaving Stick.

CONDUCTOR'S ASSAILANTS SENT TO PENITENTIARY.

Wahpeton, N. D., Jan. 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—Ten years in the state penitentiary was the sentence meted out by Judge Allen of the district court to Robert Hart, colored, who pleaded guilty to a charge of having assaulted Conductor Meyers of the Great Northern. His partner, Albert Spencer, whom it was shown was not so deeply involved, was given only one year. The assault on the conductor took place near this city last summer, and the two men nearly killed Meyers.

It's promptness, certainity and ease in overcoming the worst stomach disorders is a revelation to those who haven't tried it.

MEN AND WOMEN WHO MOULD AMERICAN PUBLIC OPINIONS

Those Who Have Arisen to Take the Place of the Famous Publicists of Yesterday, the Last of Whom, John Bigelow, Died the Other Day—Theodore Roosevelt and William Jennings Bryan as Leading American Publicists—Three University Presidents Whose Opinions Receive Country-Wide Consideration—The Present Day Publicist Who Is Descended From a Great Line of Publicists, Which Includes Two Presidents of the Republic—Gifford Pinchot, the Leading Publicist in Matters of Conservation—Miss Jane Addams, a Woman Whose Views on Social Matters Is Sought the World Over—Other American Publicists of Note.

Written for The Herald by E. J. EDWARDS ("Holland")

(Copyright, 1912, by E. J. Edwards.)

Of the famous publicists whose work in the forming of opinion in this country began at the time of the Civil war or before, and continued throughout the latter half of the nineteenth century, the late John Bigelow, who died a few weeks ago at the advanced age of 94 years, was the last.

Quite recently death has claimed several other brilliant writers who were Mr. Bigelow's contemporaries, and who, like him, through the publication of their individual views on governmental and social problems, assisted in shaping the thought of their times. Goldwin Smith, who was Mr. Bigelow's junior by six years, and whose death occurred a year ago last June, was one of them. Although he was by blood, birth and education an Englishman, and during the last forty years of his life a resident of Canada, he had strong personal ties in this country and a direct and intimate knowledge of conditions obtaining here, so that in the discussion of the problems of the republic he was practically on the same footing as publicists of American birth.

Another of these publicists of an earlier day was the late Thomas Wentworth Higginson, who was born in the same year as Goldwin Smith, and whose writings influenced public opinion on many of the great questions of his day and generation, notably those pertaining to the abolition of slavery and the rights of women. Still another was the late Prof. Charles Eliot Norton, who was well known as an historian and an authority on art and was influential as a critic of social theories and proposed solutions of social problems.

The passing of these men suggests the question: Who are the publicists of today? Who are the men today who notably by the promulgation of their individual views on public matters have influenced or are influencing public opinion?

Recently, the domain of the publicist has been invaded by the specialists, men of action who pause briefly to write of their views as to problems arising out of matters with which they are practically concerned. Railroad men have discussed the problems of regulation and rate making; industrial leaders have discussed the trust problem. They are heard with interest because they are understood to have a special practical knowledge of the things whereof they speak. They are publicists in a sense, but only incidentally so. We are not concerned with them here, but rather with those when whose chief and most notable function, whatever other activities they may have is the formation of opinion on public matters through their writing.

Our Leading Present Day Publicist.

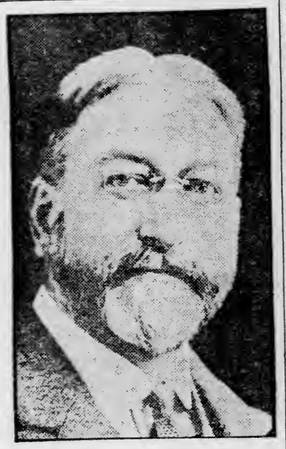

It can hardly be questioned that our leading publicist today is Theodore Roosevelt. Col. Roosevelt is an editor—a contributing editor—he does not call himself a publicist. Yet the qualifying adjective in the one designation makes it practically equivalent to the other. Col. Roosevelt signs his editorials and gives in them his own individual views; and there is hardly a subject of national importance or interest on which he has not expressed himself since he retired from the presidency. The most notable of his recent expressions of opinion were his articles on arbitration and the trust problem, in which he took issue with the policy of the Taft administration.

If Col. Roosevelt's personal views on the problems of the day have weight and influence with the public, it is not merely the result of his prestige as a former president of the United States. There is nothing novel to him in his present day occupation, for he has really been a publicist all his life, and his long career in office has been, in a sense, an incident and a result of his prominence as a moulder of public opinion. As an author of books of description and travel and of histories, to say nothing of his numerous essays on controversial subjects, he has expressed his individual views with such force as to make them leave an impress on the active thought of his time.

William J. Bryan is a publicist in much the same sense that Col. Roosevelt is, although he is famous as an orator rather than as a writer. He has been a wrtier on public questions all his life, and, like Col. Roosevelt, he has a special medium for the dissemination of his views.

University Presidents as Publicists.

Among the men who must be numbered among our leading publicists today are several of the presidents of the great universities. Certainly President Arthur Twining Hadley of Yale is one of them. He has had an influence on public opinion in many directions through his writings since he became head of Yale university, a dozen years ago. But while his influence on public affairs has been most notable during those years, it would be erroneous to infer that the weight of his opinions is due to the fact that he is the president of a great seat of learning, although the prestige of his position has perhaps furthered the dissemination of his views. It is because he is recognized as a profound student of some of the greatest problems of the day, combining in his method of approaching them the cold logic and precision of the scientist with the moral fervor of the patriot and statesman, that his writings on public questions have held the attention of the public and have been an influence in the affairs of the nation.

PROF. JOHN BASSETT MOORE.

President Hadley is a specialist in the fields of the political science and economics, and he is one of the great authorities on railroad administration. Railroad problems have occupied much of his attention from his early days at Yale, when he was a lecturer on railroad administration, up to the present time. A history of railroad transportation was one of his earliest publications; his latest work in this field he did as chairman of the railroad securities commission, which was appointed about a year ago by President Taft under an act of congress to investigate the question of government regulation of railroad stock and bond issues. The report of this commission was transmitted to congress in December of the past year. It was the result of researches conducted not only in this country but in Europe.

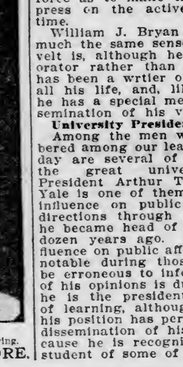

Because of the very important nature of the problems to be studied by the commission, the selection of President Hadley as its chairman was highly commended. The appointment of the commission was a result of recommendations by President Taft of legislation to prohibit railroads from issuing stock below par except with the consent of the interstate commerce commission, and from purchasing the stock of any competing road. The commission favored the second proposition, but recommended instead of the first that there should be full publicity with respect to issues of railroad stocks and bonds, and that to make this publicity complete the interstate commerce commission should have power to make physical valuations of the railroads.

But more even than as an authoritative writer on the problems connected with railroads President Hadley has stirred men's minds as the advocate of sterner ideals and higher standards of citizenship. The theme of much that he has addressed to the public, whether he has been discussing education, or such subjects as freedom and responsibility and the standards of public morality, has been the duties of good citizenship.

Wisconsin's Contribution to the List.

No man could be president of the University of Wisconsin and successfully carry out the distinctive policy of that great state university—"the Wisconsin idea," as it is called, involving as it does a return in the form of public service for the university's obligation to the state—without being in a very real sense of the word a publicist.

President Charles R. Van Hise of the University of Wisconsin, although he was not the originator of the "Wisconsin idea," has developed it with remarkable success during the nine years that he has been at the head of the university. He has made that idea famous and an influence in education beyond the borders of his own state; and in so doing he has assuredly made a place for himself among the leading publicists of today.

CHARLES FRANCIS ADAMS.

The origin of the Wisconsin idea in education is credited to the late Dr. John Bascom, who was president of the university from 1874 to 1887. Dr. Bascom constantly emphasized to the students under him their obligation to use their education in some part for the service of the state, in view of what the state had done for them. Among the hundreds of young men who took that lesson to heart was the one who is now president of the university.

President Van Hise is a geologist. He was professor of that or kindred sciences at the university for many years before he became president. But he never became so absorbed in the purely scientific side of his work as to lose sight in the guiding principle of the university, which makes service to the state an obligation. He was one of those professors of the university with whom state officers and legislators regularly met to discuss state problems, and throughout his career as an educator he has served on state boards or commissions of a scientific character.

One of the subjects to which President Van Hise has devoted much study and practical work is the conservation of natural resources and some of his latest writings relate to it.

A very prominent publicist of the present time is President David Starr Jordan of Leland Stanford, Jr., university. Current popular thought on philosophy, ethics and religion in connection with the great generalizations of science has received a stimulus and a direction from his writings.

President Jordan is a biologist, and is widely known as one of the great authorities on fishes. His services as an ichthyologist have frequently been requistioned by the United States government, for which he has conduced many important investigations. His scientific works and addresses fill many volumes, and from writings one may get a complete knowledge of the animals and fishes of North America. But while he is thus a scientist dealing with a special province of knowledge, he is also a thinker and a philosopher whose vision takes in the broad tendencies and the practical problems of modern life, and who writes of these in a manner that compels attention.

While President Hadley is a political economist, President Van Hise a geologist, and President Jordan a biologist, Charles William Eliot, ex-president of Harvard, who is without doubt one of the leading publicists of today, is a chemist and a mathematician. As a writer for the public Dr. Eliot has been most influential perhaps in emphazing the value of a genuine culture and its part in aiding man to lead a happy and serene life. But his range as a publicist has covered practically the whole field of present day problems, economic questions, the relation of labor to the state and civic and social conditions being frequent subjects of his elucidation.

Descended From a Line of Great Publicists.

Charles Francis Adams of Boston may be said to be a publicist by inheritance. He is a son of that Charles Francis Adams who was United States minister to England during the Civil war; grandson of John Quincy Adams, sixth president of the United States and esteemed the greatest authority on public law in his day, and great-grandson of John Adams, the second president of the United States, who was one of the great publicists of his time.

Mr. Adams first attracted attention as a writer on public affairs in 1871, when he published a volume of essays dealing mainly with the problems of the Erie railroad. The Erie at that time had been going through a period of bankruptcy and reorganization. It occupied then a much more prominent position, relatively, among the railroads of this country than it does today, and its problems were a subject of general interest. The first volume of essays gave Mr. Adams a wide reputation, and its success led him to follow it up with other books on railroad problems. His interest in the science of railroad administration resulted from, or at least was coincident with, his early practice of law. He had been admitted to the Massachusetts bar shortly before the beginning of the Civil war, but he dropped his practice to go to the front when fighting began, and he served throughout the four years of the conflict. He was made brevet brigadier-general of volunteers in 1865 for conspicuous gallantry at Antietam and in several other battles. On resuming his practice, he soon became associated with railroad interests and made a specialty of railroad law. For ten years he was a member of the massachusetts board of railroad commissioners, and for some years after that a member of the board of arbitration of the Trunk Line Railroad organization.

From public service in connection with the railroads it was only a step for Mr. Adams to the actual administration of railroads. He became in 1877 a director of the Union Pacific railroad, representing the interests of the government in that system. He became president of the road seven years later and held the office until 1890, when he resigned. Since then he has devoted his time to writing on economic and historical subjects.

Mr. Adams has been an independent in politics practically all his life, and his writings on civic topics have undoubtedly helped to promote that growth of independence in political affairs which is one of the notable developments of recent years.

In matters of education, Mr. Adams has advanced views that have been striking and have exerted influence in the educational world. For nearly thirty years he has been an overseer of Harvard, and a close student of educational theories and practices. He was one of the first to come out squarely for the liberalizing of the curriculum leading to the degree of bachelor of arts. He did that in 1883, when, as Phi Beta Kappa orator at Harvard, he argued in favor of the rescinding of the rule that made a knowledge of Greek a requirement for admission to college. That address caused a very wide comment and stimulated interest in the question of the place the dead languages should occupy in a modern liberal education.

The Publicist of Conservation.

A mere allusion to the subject of the conservation of natural resources will probably suggest to most persons the name of Gifford Pinchot. It is safe to say that no other man is so prominently identified with this subject as he is. It is not merely that Mr. Pinchot has figured as the principal champion of the conservation idea in several of the liveliest political and administrative controversies of recent years; his identification with the subject lies deeper than that. He it is, more than any other one man, who has made conservation an issue; it is his writings and expounding the conservation doctrine and emphasizing the importance of its application which have been the means of focusing public attention on this subject, constitute his great claim to be regarded as one of the leading publicists of the day.

Mr. Pinchot is first of all a scientist with an expert knowledge of forestry gained by years of special study in Europe and independent investigation in this country. He entered the government service a forester, and held the position of chief forester for a dozen years prior to his retirement from office two years ago. During his official career, however, he has been called upon to deal not with forestry alone, but with practically every phase of the conservation problem. As a member of a special government commission on public lands, inland waterways, the organization of the government scientific service and other similar matters, he has studied conservation from every possible angle.

There is at least one woman whose right to a place among the leading publicists of today can hardly be questioned, and that woman is Miss Jane Addams of Chicago. As a leader in social settlement work and as founder of the settlement of Hull house in Chicago, she has gained a prominence that is more than national. As a writer on questions of serious public interest, on political, ethical and social problems, she is acknowledged to wield a great influence.

It has been said that in her home city no civic movement of importance is undertaken unless her opinion as to its value has been ascertained, and that her individual views for or against such a movement are often more powerful than the wishes and influence of practical politicians.

"What does Jane Addams think about it?" is generally the first question asked when a scheme of municipal improvement or social betterment is suggested.

Another woman who has had influence as a publicist is Miss Ida M. Tarbell. She is best known, perhaps, as a historian, and a biographer of Napoleon and Lincoln. Her greatest work is probably her history of the Standard Oil company. But in spite of her busy career as a writer of large works and as an editor of periodicals, she has found time to write many articles on current topics of serious interest.

The Authority on International Law.

In the strict and primary sense of the term, a publicist is a writer on the public law. In that sense John Bassett Moore is a publicist and one of the most eminent of publicists today. But he is a publicist not only in that sense though, for in the more general and secondary sense of the term, as a writer on matters of public interest he is also entitled to the designation.

There is probably no man living who has a profounder knowledge of international law, or of the history of diplomacy than Prof. Moore has. Precedents and treaty provisions are at his finger ends, and to consult him on any of these matters is like consulting an encyclopedia. He was an adept in these subjects before he was 25 years of age, which accounts for the fact that he was appointed to the position of third assistant secretary of state when he was only 26. During the greater part of his career he held the chair of international law at Columbia university, but his duties as an educator have been interspersed several times by periods of government service.

When the Spanish war broke out in the spring of 1898 and the need was felt of having some one in the state department who had an encyclopedic knowledge of international law and diplomatic precedent, Prof. Moore was called upon as just the man wanted. He had resigned from the state department seven years previous, to devote himself to his professional duties and to writing, but he became assistant secretary of state again in April, 1898, and served in that position until the close of the war, when he went to Paris as secretary and counsel to the American commissioners appointed to negotiate with the representatives of Spain the treaty of peace. The part played by Prof. Moore in those negotiations was highly important, for he not only cited all the cases for the American commissioners, but made the drafts of the terms as they were agreed upon.

Professor Moore's works on international law and diplomatic history fill many bulky volumes and are standard works of reference. But they represent only a part of his literary output, as he is a frequent author of occasional essays on subjects of civic interest.

A publicist whose influence has made an impress on the history of this country is Lambert Tree of Chicago. He has had an exceptionally interesting career, not only as a maker of public opinion, but as a jurist, a politician and a diplomat.

Judge Tree is a native of Washington, D. C., but he removed to Chicago when a young man, just admitted to the bar. Fifteen years later he was elected circuit judge of Cook county, but after several years on the bench was compelled to resign because of his health. After spending some time recuperating in Europe, he returned to Chicago to find the Democrats anxious to confer political honors on him. They tried to send him to congress, but failed, although they cut down the normal Republican majorities in his district very largely. In 1885 Judge Tree was the Democratic candidate for United States senator from Illinois against Gen. John A. Logan and was beaten by only one vote. That same year President Cleveland appointed him minister to Belgium, and three years later minister to Russia. From the Russian mission Judge Tree resigned after a year's service.

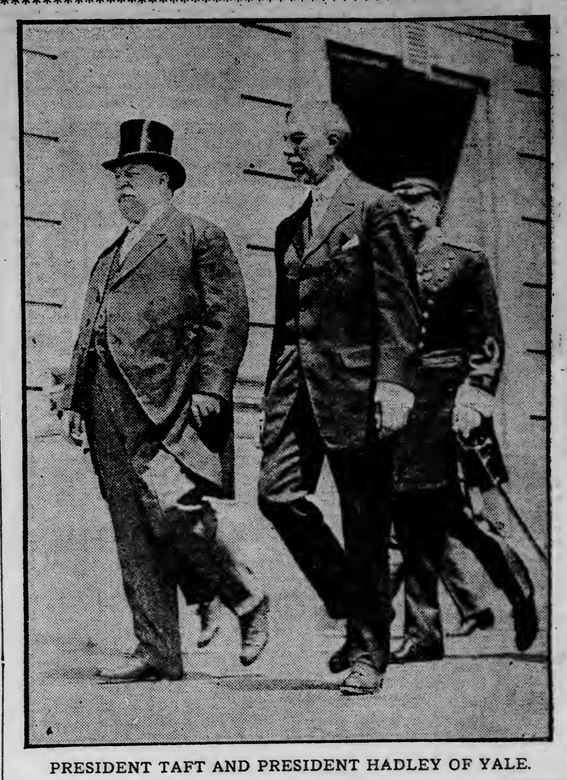

During his early years in Chicago Judge Tree was influential as a publicist in bringing about municipal reform. But his most notable achievements as a publicist came after his diplomatic career and his views on the subject of bimetallism, which was then becoming a question of widespread political interest, had attracted much attention. It was because of this that President Harrison appointed him in 1891 the Democratic member of the American delegation to the international monetary conference which met in Brussels in the following year.

The resolutions adopted by the conference submitted to the governments of the world the desirability of increasing the use of silver for money. Those resolutions were really the work of Judge Tree, and they represented his own personal views. At the request of his American associates at the conference, he drew up an outline of his own views, and they adopted that draft as their recommendation to the conference. The conference in turn adopted the recommendation, and made it the substance of its resolutions.

Judge Tree at about this very time interested himself greatly in another matter of international interest, and exerted himself as a writer on public questions to form public opinion regarding it. That was the abolition of the African slave trade. An international congress which met in Brussels in 1889 framed a treaty to suppress the traffic. Judge Tree's arguments in favor of this treaty helped very largely to bring about its ratification by this country.

Dr. Booker T. Washington, the prominent negro educator, and head of Tuskegee institute, is certainly entitled to a place among the influential publicists of today. His writings on the problem of the negro in America have done much toward the forming of present thought on the race problem. He has written many volumes dealing with various aspects of this problem, and a vast number of occasional articles and addresses as well.

SIX-STORY STRUCTURE

Handsome New Building Is Planned for Superior Street.

Improvements Costing More Than $150,000 Will Be Made.

An important project, involving an outlay of more than $150,000 and an addition to the downtown business district of a modern six-story block, as well as remodeling and additions to an old Superior street building, came to light this week. The project has been under consideration for some time, but it has only been recently that plans have begun to take form.

D. B. McDonald, who owns 100 feet of valuable frontage at 17, 19, 21, 23 West Superior street, will wreck the buildings now at 17 and 19 West Superior street and replace them with a five or six-story structure. The present tenants are the California Wine company and the Model Clothing company. They have received notice of the owner's plans.

The Stack department store at 21-23 West Superior street will undergo a transformation. According to the plans which are being considered by the owner, four stories will be added, bringing the number up to six.

The F. S. Kelley Furniture company, now located at 226 West Superior street, has secured a lease on the new six-story block which will go up at 17-19 West Superior street, and has given notice to the owners of the present quarters that it will surrender its lease Jan. 1, 1913.

According to the present plans, the architect's sketches will be in the hands of the contractors not later than May 1, so that the work may be rushed to an early completion. W. A. Hunt, a local architect, is said to have received the commission for drawing the plans.

BUILDING PERMITS

The following building permits were issued during the week:

To Appelby Bros., frame dwelling, Anoka street between Minneapolis and Allendale avenue ..... $ 2,500
To J. C. Johnson, remodeling, East Fifth street between Seventh and Eighth avenues 500
To Electric Service & Repair company, passenger and freight elevators, West Superior street, between Fifth and Sixth avenues ..... $ 1,750

Total cost of improvement..$ 4,750
Total number permits, 3.

NEW RESIDENCES

Architect P. M. Olsen is preparing plans for a frame bungalow to be erected for J. T. Bailey at Sixteenth avenue east and Fifth street, and which will cost, when complete, $3,000.

Bids will be opened today by Architect P. M. Olsen for the construction of a Kenilworth park of a new residence for D. A. Blakeney, city ticket agent for the Omaha road. The new home will cost about $4,500.

Appleby Bros. have started work for the erection of a modern frame dwelling on Anoka street between Minneapolis and Allendale avenues, Woodland park, to cost $2,500.

The Minnesota Steel company has completed work on three new residences near New Duluth. They will be occupied by J. H. Schmidt, assistant constructing engineer, Charles Miller, constructing foreman and H. Hutter, chief clerk. The residences are of modern type and cost $3,000 each.

BUILDING NOTES

John Nord of the West end has gone to Florida, where he has a number of building contracts to fulfill during the winter. Twelve houses, two hotels and four store buildings are included in the job, the improvements to be made in a small town near Jacksonville. Mr. Nord took a crew of men from Duluth.

The Fitger Brewing company of this city is having plans prepared for the erection of a hotel on a new townsite on the Cuyuna range. The company recently purchased the site for the new structure from the Cuyuna Land company through John Wahl, who is interested in the land concern.

The Star Electric company has received the contract for the installation of the new signal system for the fire department to cost $3,200.

P. M. Olsen, architect, will open bids today for a modern two-story brick and stone block to be erected on First street between Second and Third avenues east, for Stack Bros., plumbers. There will be a store below and living apartments above. The cost will be about $15,000.

Architect Vernon J. Price has received instructions to proceed with the plans for the new city jail alterations, which among other things, will call for three stories instead of the present two. The alterations will cost about $12,000 and bids will be asked for within a short time.

F. G. German, architect, has prepared plans for the erection of a modern fireproof school building of twelve rooms to be erected by the board of education at Virginia.

WOODMEN HALL IS NOW INCLOSED.

Work was pushed rapidly on the new Modern Woodmen hall at Twenty-first avenue west and First street and the building, a two-story brick structure costing $25,000, is now inclosed. The building committee has let the contract for the furnishing of the new hall to H. C. Lillie & Co. of Columbus, Ohio. Quarter-sawed oak with leather upholstering will be featured. The furniture will arrive in the city about March 1. It is planned to have the dedication exercises for the new hall on May 20.

DULUTH NOT ONLY CITY TO SHOW DECREASE IN BUILDING

Although Duluth's building record for 1911 was not up to the 1910 figure owing to the general business depression over the country and particularly to the large $10,000,000 steel plant permit issued in 1910, a comparison with other cities will show that they suffered correspondingly because of the dull year.

Duluth had a shrinkage from $13,300,264 in 1910 to $2,563,338 for 1911. The former figure includes the steel plant permits of $10,000,000.

Minneapolis building permits fell off, showing $13,735,830 for 1911 as against $14,363,830 for 1910.

St. Paul permits for the year of 1911 aggregated $8,915,000 as against $10,553,006 for 1910. St. Paul last year spent $315,000 on street improvement work.

Winnipeg had a phenomenal building year, the permits totaling $17,500,000, a gain of $2,000,000 over 1910. Milwaukee also has a good comparison, with $12,056,200 for 1911 and $9,797,581 for the year before.

Winona building permits showed a gain this year, the total authorized improvements amounting to $2,000,000.

Madison, Wis., has a total of $1,470,600, a gain of $600,000 for the year

International Falls, Minn., has figured a total of $1,250,000 in new buildings, including saw mills, planing mills, railroad yards and other railroad terminal facilities.

Rochester, Minn., permits during 1911 reached about $425,000 and Biwahik also had a good building record during the year.

ARCHITECTS WILL HOLD SERIES OF COMPETITIONS

On order to stimulate interest among the younger members of the Duluth Architectural club, it is planned to hold a series of competitions this winter. The first of the series was outlined at the meeting of the club Thursday evening and is now open for those of the club who wish to enter.

The first competition will be for the best plans for a small house of the bungalow type to be constructed of brick and not to exceed $3,000 in price and also to be figured out on a basis of 15 cents per square foot. The building program is now in the hands of the members.

A prize of $12 has been offered to the successful contestant and it has also been decided that the best plans will be submitted in a similar competition which the Brickbuilder, an architectural magazine, has inaugurated. The building programs are identical.

The club has also offered a $6 prize to the junior members who will enter a competition on the order problem. A. Holstead is in charge of the contests and at the meeting of the club Friday evening was elected director in place of Elwin Berg, who has left the city and withdrawn from membership in the club.

All drawings and plans submitted in the contests will be posted in the club rooms after the competition has closed.

QUIET WEEK IN REALTY

Cold Weather Has Its Effect on the Real Estate Market.

Dealers Expect Decided Improvement During Next Few Weeks.

Little of interest transpired in realty circles during the week. The extreme cold weather kept dealers and their customers from closing any deals and there was also a slight falling off in inquiry. As soon as there is a break or moderation in the weather, the realty men say, there will be a marked improvement along realty lines.

"During the next few weeks," said a dealer yesterday, "I look for a decided improvement in the inquiry for residence and outlying property. While inclined to be somewhat conservative I find ample support for an optimistic outlook for the coming year. We real estate men have been prophesying for years about Duluth; now we will begin to realize.

"More signs of prosperity have been shown to us. Take for instance the construction of the proposed new coal docks, at least two of which will be erected at West Duluth this year; take the new railroad construction work, such as the Canadian Northern terminals and harbor improvements which have been planned. All of these improvements mean an outlay of new money, which goes into every channel of commerce and industry and Duluth of course will get her share."

Dealers agree that when the market opens up, it will open strong. Just as a merchant puts in a big stock, when he scents prosperity, the local dealers have made every arrangement to take care of the business rush which is believed to be due within the next few weeks.

The Howard Investment company reports the sale of a house and lot on the west side of Fifty-seventh avenue west near West street to Alexander Henrikson for a consideration of $2,500.

Louis Landahl this week disposed of a house and 25-foot lot on the upper-side of Sixth street between Second and Third avenues east to J. B. Nygard for $1,350.

E. L. Smith has purchased from Carolina Strandmark a property consisting of a house and 400 feet on the lower side of Traverse street between Thirty-seventh and Thirty-eighth avenues west. The consideration was $1,700.

For a consideration of about $5,000, William M. Prindle has sold to Leo Shapiro 300 feet between London road and the lake shore and east of Forty-seventh avenue east.

M. J. O'Brien has purchased from Emil Erickson for $300 a 25-foot lot on the east side of Fifty-first avenue west between Ramsey and Bristol streets.

"The Vanishing Point."

The first edition of The Vanishing Point, the new architectural magazine launched by E. P. Shurick, a local architect and secretary of the Duluth Architectural club, will be off the press early next week.

The new publication has already established itself as the official organ of the various architectural clubs and associations throughout the country and has a large circulation.

The first edition will comprise more than 100 pages, printed on first class paper and has an attractive cover design. The magazine has one or two special articles, but most of the reading pertains to the work of the various architectural clubs in the larger cities.

HOUSES OF CONCRETE

Can Homes of This Material Be Built Economically in Duluth?

Many Factors Enter Into This Question Say Editors of "Concrete."

"What will it cost to build a concrete dwelling house in Duluth?"

Local homebuilders, many of whom are eager to make use of this material, which so far as general use is concerned, is new in the construction of dwellings, often ask his question. Concrete houses have many advantages over the wooden or brick houses and are said to be more economical in the long run.

The Herald has arranged for a special article treating on the cost of concrete houses prepared by the editors of Concrete, a magazine published at Detroit, Mich. The article is as follows:

A proper answer to the question, "How much does a concrete house cost?" would be, "It all depends."

It depends upon the number of conditions favorable to the economical use of the concrete which it is possible to bring together in one place. It depends upon the nearness of proper aggregates —sand and gravel or crushed stone—to the scene of operations. It depends upon the familiarity of the labor employed with the kind of construction adopted and it depends upon the number of similar house-building operations it is possible to carry forward in one job. The more houses there can be built at one time in one locality the greater will be the celerity of the workmen as the job progresses—and therefore the greater the reduction in labor cost. The more houses to be built at one time the lower will be the proportionate cost of materials and there will also be a decrease in the cost of the form work—if forms are used repeatedly on different jobs.

There is no good reason why anybody should expect to get a fireproof, waterproof, verminproof, time and decayproof house at a lower cost than a wood house which is highly combustible, which is not waterproof, nor verminproof and which decays rapidly and lasts but a comparatively short time. There is no good reason why a man should expect to get a concrete house which gives a lower insurance rate, a high loan value, a lower maintenance charge and requires no paint, cheaper than a wooden house, which presents conditions the reverse on all these.

In Muskogee, Okla., houses have been built of reinforced concrete by a new plan of form construction. One of these houses is thirty-seven feet front to back, not including porches, and sixteen feet wide, with a full basement, a living room, dining room and kitchen on the first floor, with pantry, coat closets and other conveniences, and three bedrooms and bath room on the second floor. The plain concrete shell of one of these houses before any stucco finish had been put on the walls, or any interior work done, cost $1,693. The walls of this house are double with an air space between the two sections. On one of these houses $800 additional was spent in terrazzo floors, extra quality plumbing and in bush-hammering the outer surface of the walls instead of using stucco.

At Gary, Ind., a large corporation is now engaged in building 200 concrete houses for its factory operatives. These houses are being constructed of poured concrete and the houses are of several types. There are single detached dwellings of five and six rooms which cost $2,800 each. There are ten terrace houses with six rooms each, costing $16,000. These houses are very much like what is known as the Philadelphia house. There are four apartment buildings; two of the apartments have four rooms and two have six rooms. These apartments cost $6,500. A three-story, ten-terrace building, nine rooms in each house, cost $20,000. In most of these houses concrete floors have been built, and in part of them there are wood floors.

These houses are modern in every respect. They are not put up in the plainest, cheapest way possible, by any means. They are built for employes of the more discriminating class, and the smaller houses, which have cost only about $2,800 to build, will rent for $20 to $25 a month.

Houses of poured concrete, with reception room 13 by 16 feet, dining room 13 by 16 feet, and kitchen 13 by 12 feet on the lower floor, and three bedrooms, two 13 by 16 feet, one 13 by 12 feet, and bathroom on the second floor, have been constructed near Washington, D. C., at a cost of about $2,000.

At Ludlow, Mass., a manufacturing corporation has built a great many houses for its operatives; some of these are of wood, some of concrete block and shingle construction, and some of them are all concrete block. After trying the two materials and a combination of the two, the company reports that concrete block houses are much more satisfactory. They can be built for from 5 to 10 per cent more than the cost of wood construction, and when ultimate cost is considered—and up-keeps is an important item with houses built for rental under such circumstances—the concrete houses are by far the cheaper. A typical house among those erected at Ludlow is 32 feet 8 inches by 27 feet 3 inches, with full basement. There are eight rooms, hall, pantry, bathroom and closet space. The outside walls are built of eight-inch concrete block, and the inside walls are furred, lathed and covered with hard plaster. The cost of these concrete block houses, which vary somewhat in the number of rooms, is from $300 to $350 per room. Most of these houses are much larger than cottages ordinarily built for such occupants. Foundations are of poured concrete.

WHY PAY RENT?

(As Edgar Allan Poe might have looked at the question.)

Once upon a morning dreary, as I figured, tired and weary,
Over many a lengthy column of the rent I'd paid before—
While I added, calculating, suddenly there came a grating,
As of one impatient, waiting, waiting at my rented door.
"'Tis the same old thing, I muttered, "rent collecting at my door,
This forever, evermore."

(Enter Rent Collector in the guise of the Raven.)

"Raven," said I, speaking coolly, "tell me now and tell me truly
Of this rent thing which is eating my exchequer to the core,
If I pay, pay it, pay it, if I struggle to defray it,
If I use my whole endeavor to keep even with its score,
Will I ever own the door-knob which is fitted to that door?"
Quoth the Raven, "Nevermore."

We will start you going with the door knob payment as cash.

PLANS MADE FOR BANQUET

Commercial Club Prepares for Annual Outburst of Enthusiasm.

City Council Commended for Step Toward Extending Fairmont Park.

The West Duluth Commercial club is preparing for its annual banquet—always one of the biggest affairs of the kind in Duluth.

At the meeting of the club last evening L. A. Barnes announced that at the next meeting steps will be taken toward arranging for the banquet. President A. G. Macauley announced the committees, and from now on West Duluth business men will look forward to the annual feast of reason, flow of soul and loud outburst of the spirit of optimism.

The committees follow: Hall—Thomas Olafson, J. J. Frey and W. B. Getchell; membership in three divisions, south of Main street, J. E. Foubister, Charles Kauppi and H. W. Lanners; west of the ore docks, Thomas Olafson, J. J. Frey and W. B. Getchell; east of the ore docks, L. A. Barnes, M. J. Filiatrault and A. J. Meldahl.

The club last evening passed a resolution thanking the city council for its action in ordering the condemnation proceedings for the Fairmont park extension. The members are gratified that the council did not pass the amendment as presented at the council meeting last Monday evening, in which the property owners suggested the purchase of only the point of land at Kingsbury creek. The council voted to buy all the property on the small bay.

The resolution passed by the commercial club last evening requests the purchase of all the property as recommended by the special committees of the park board, council and West Duluth Commercial club. The members of the committee that represented the commercial club are: Dr. F. T. Burnside, Thomas Olafson, Lieut. Wilcox, James Foubister and David Sang.

Another resolution was passed asking the city council to defer action on the proposed vacation of Lesure street for a railroad right-of-way. A committee was appointed to look into the matter and report at the next meeting. The members are Emil J. Zauft, Louis Ramsted, Thomas Olafson, W. B. Getchell and L. A. Barnes.

At the request of a delegation of five members from the Oneota Improvement club, no action was taken by the club on the proposed changing of the name of Oneota street to Superior street. The members decided to postpone the matter. Those representing the Oneota club were: Conrad Wicklund, president; Capt. J. A. Jeffreys, Alderman W. L. Bernard and Alderman J. B. Gibson.

SEVEN RINKS TO ENTER BONSPIEL

West Duluth to Be Well Represented in Northwestern Events.

Seven rinks have announced their intention of representing the Western Curling club at the Northwestern bonspiel to be held in Duluth next week. It is probable that two more rinks will enter before tomorrow evening. Following are the rinks entered:

Sorenson	Kreidler
Method	Finson
Gilpin	Haugaard
Evered, skip.	Holland, skip.
Kiltin	Donald
McDonald	Ehr
Wade, Jr.
Wade, Sr., skip.	Mallory, Jr., skip.

Nygren
Iltis
Raymond
Judson, skip.

The other two rinks have not been announced, but will be skipped by Emil J. Zauft and H. C. Brown.

Olson's rink defeated Wieland's in the Union Match event last night, 14 to 7, the former now entering the semi-finals. In the Esterly event Holland won from Method, 14 to 9, and Brown defeated Clark, 14 to 10. There are no games scheduled for this evening in any of the events.

The following is the present standing in the Union Match event:

First Round.	Semi-Finals.	Finals.
Zauft	Zauft
Brown
Wieland	Olson
Olson
Judson	Judson
Clark
Iltis	Iltis
Buckley

FEW LODGERS AT WEST DULUTH STATION.

Althought the downtown jail is filled every evening with lodgers, the station at West Duluth is visited by a very few unforunates. Only five or six men have been given lodging every evening since the first of the year, while the Central station rooms nearly 100 every evening during this cold weather.

REPUBLICANS TO MAKE CAMPAIGN PLANS.

The Republican campaign in West Duluth will start this evening at a special meeting of the West Duluth Republican club to be held in the clubrooms of the Commercial club at 8 o'clock. Emil Zauft, candidate for alderman in the Eighth ward, and Clement de Roche, candidate in the Seventh ward, will be among the speakers. A general discussion will be held on the municipal light question following the addresses.

The members of the club are anxious to get all the voters in this end of the city out to register on Tuesday, Jan. 23 or Saturday, Jan. 27. Only about one-third of the voters have registeerd as yet and it is the plan of the club members to start a campaign among the voters of the ward.

A committee will be appointed this evening to call on the voters in the Eighth ward and the two western precincts of the Seventh ward before the two registration days and general election Feb. 6.

PLANS READY FOR NEW CHURCH

St. Stephen's Congregation to Build New Edifice This Year.

Plans have been completed for a new church on the southeast corner of Fifty-eighth avenue west and Nicollet street to be built by the St. Stephen's German Evangelical church the early part of next spring. The building will cost about $5,000 and is expected to be ready for occupancy by May 1.

The structure will be built of brick and stone with a full basement for a heating plant and rooms to be used for the meetings of the various church organizations. The location of the church is a central one. The building will have a seating capacity of 250. The parsonage was recently erected at a cost of about $2,500 and is situated near the site of the new church.

The members of the congregation have been planning the new church for several months owing to the small capacity of the present edifice at Sixty-seventh avenue west and Raleigh street. It was erected twenty years ago, and has a seating capacity of 125.

DULUTH INDUSTRIAL HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

At a meeting of the senior class yesterday afternoon arrangements were made for the semi-annual dance which is to be given at the Great Eastern hall the latter part of this month. The following committee was appointed to take charge of the dance: John Simpson, Francis Ehr, Cliffard Stowel and Isadore Abramson.

The Irving hockey team will play a series of three games with the Central high school team at the French rink. The first game is scheduled for this evening, but will probably be postponed until next week on account of the extreme cold weather. The Irving team has been practising several weeks and this will be its first game of the year. Following is the line-up of the team: Little, goal; Schuster, point; Dykins, point; Brydon, cover point; Saylor, rover; Simpson, right wing, and Spindler, left wing.

The regular senior class in machine shop work will start Monday morning. The various machines have all been put in place and waiting the formation of the class. The work consists of pattern making, forge work, and drawing, which are the requirements of a senior class in machine shop work.

Officers Installed.

Fram lodge, No. 5, Sons of Norway, installed its officers last evening at a special meeting at Gilley's hall, following which a supper was served to about 150 members of the lodge. The new officers installed last evening are: A. P. Apland, president; Nels Felseth, vice president; Albert Hanson, judge; Christ Frank, recorder; John Ingens, cashier; Iver Hagen, secretary, and N. F. Nelson and H. T. Johnson, trustees.

Funeral of Child.

The funeral of David, the 8-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Thorsell, who died Wednesday evening, was held at 2 o'clock this afternoon from the home of his grand parents, Mr and Mrs. Stabenfelt, 6303 Highland street, with interment in the Oneota cemetery.

West Duluth Briefs.

Joseph D. Burns of West Duluth returned this morning from an extended trip in Marquette, Mich., and Ontario, Can., cities where he visited with friends and relatives the past three weeks.

Miss Helen Evered, 626 North Fifty-sixth avenue west, left yesterday for St. Mary's hall, Faribault, Minn., where she will resume her studies after spending the holidays with her parents.

The Girls' Sewing Society of the Elim Swedish Lutheran church, Fifty-sixth avenue west and Elinor street, was entertained at the parsonage this afternoon.

West Duluth Tent No. 2, K. O. T. M., will install its officers at a grand ceremony Monday evening at the Great Eastern hall, which will be followed by a dance and supper.

Miss Violet Hanson of Sixty-first avenue west left yesterday for a week's visit with relatives in the Twin Cities.

Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Critchett of St. Paul left for their home yesterday after spending the past week with relatives in West Duluth.

John Willard of St. Cloud is visiting friends in West Duluth this week.

Albert V. Hoganson of Fort William, Can., is visiting relatives in this end of the city.

Watch repairing, Hurst, West Duluth.

JEWELERS INVITE THIEF TO BANQUET

Say They Want to Make Peace Terms With Window Smasher.

Chicago, Jan. 13.—An invitation to attend the annual banquet Wednesday has been issued by the Chicago Wholesale Jewelers' association to the man who has smashed a score of jewelers' display windows this winter and has stolen thousands of dollars worth of jewels.

Protection from the police or from anyone who might seek to pry into his identity was promised.

"We want to offer him a peace banquet," explained Chairman W. J. Juergens of the dinner committee, "and try to arrive at a compromise with him. Police have failed to help us, so we want to deal directly with the man himself. If he comes, no one will be allowed to take advantage of his confidence."

DIAZ OF NICARAGUA MAY GIVE UP OFFICE.

New Orleans, La., Jan. 13. — President Adolfo Diaz of Nicaragua has asked for 9 three months' leave of absence, according to reliable news advice received here from Bluefields, and it is reported this step means his abdication in favor of Gen. Mena, minister of war, the virtual director of the turbulent republic since the downfall of President Juan Estrada. For some time Diaz, it is stated, has been president in name only, Gen. Mena occupying the presidential place.

DANCES WITH JOY WHEN TOLD THAT HE IS FREE

Jackson McPherson, Once Sentenced for Life, Regains His Liberty.

"I'm Out, Joe; I'm Free" He Yells to the Jailer.

JACKSON McPHERSON.

Jackson McPherson, convicted of the murder of Otto Frey, and released this morning on the order of Judge Dibell, dropped the telephone receiver when he was called at the county jail and told that he was free.

"I'm out, Joe! I'm free! he yelled to Jailor Joe Allen, who was "on" and was waiting to see how he took the news.

McPherson didn't know what to do or what to say. A mist gathered before his eyes and all pretended not to notice.

The hearing was held this morning before Judge Dibell and as forcasted in The Herald yesterday, the motion was granted, dismissing the indictment against McPherson and discharging him from custody.

Attorney W. E. Whipple lost no time in drawing the order, having it signed by Judge Dibell and placing it in the hands of Sheriff Meining, who saw to it that McPherson's freedom was held from him no longer than necessary.

McPherson was excited when told of the action of the court. He dropped the receiver of the telephone and danced about on one foot while he yelled to the jailer.

He dashed upstairs to his cell telling the prisoners on his way. He was so excited that he did not stop for the congratulations that were hurled after his retreating figure.

"It is almost too good to be true," he said later, "but I knew all the time that I was not destined to spend all my life in jail."

He wanted to go just as he was, in his shirt sleeves, but he was told to calm himself and get shaved before going out on the street.

In Guest at Dinner.

"Stay to dinner, Jack?" asked Jailer Allen, a little later when the excitement had died away, for it was well known about the jail that McPherson was a "lifer."

"Guess I will," said McPherson, as he turned out his pockets and looked dubiously as to his ability to buy one.

So "Jack," as he is familiarly called about the jail, stayed to dinner and had it in the office. "I'm just a guest here," smiled McPherson, while he made away with the extra trimmings provided by the cook for the occasion.

Shortly after the noon hour he left the institution after saying goodbye to the other prisoners. He thanked Jailer Allen for his kind treatment at the county institution and Mr. Allen shook hands with him and wished him luck.

"What am I going to do?

"I haven't thought of that yet. I think I can go to work for the Canadian Northern. I've worked for them before and I think I can get on again.

"It's pretty tough to get turned out of jail with no money and but little clothes, but I am so tickled at getting out that this doesn't bother me a great deal," he said.

Had Started to Serve Term.

McPherson was tried and found guilty of the murder of his shipmate, Otto Frey in 1909. The shooting took place on the Mutual line steamer North Lake on Sept. 22, 1909. He was refused a new trial by the local court and was sentenced to a life term at Stillwater. Six months ago on an appeal, claiming misconduct on the part of the county attorney, the supreme court granted a new trial. McPherson had already begun the serving of his sentence. He was brought back to the local jail.

Determined efforts were made by the county attorney's office to get the witnesses in the case but they were not to be found. Some of them are in Scotland, it is said.

In his argument to the court this morning W. E. Whipple claimed that there had been great delay in the case and stated that the defendant in the action was under the law entitled to a speedy trial.

County Attorney John H. Norton explained to the court that it had been impossible to get the witnesses in the case. They are all lake seaman and have scattered all over the world.

"COME IN OR GET OUT"

That Is Attitude of Grand Jury Toward Old Telephone Company.

Want Courthouse Offices Equipped or Public Station Taken Out.

Besides asking the county commissioners to invite the Bell Telephone company to install instruments in the courthouse, the grand jury in an additional resolution adopted yesterday afternoon, asked that if satisfactory arrangements cannot be made between the company and the building commissioners, the telephone concern be refused the right to have a booth or public instrument in the building.

The grand jurymen evidently mean that the Duluth Telephone company shall come in on equal footing with the Zenith company or get out altogether.

The Duluth Telephone company has at present a public pay station on the second floor of the courthouse.

The resolutions in full follow:

"Be it resolved, By the grand jury of the county of St. Louis and state of Minnesota that the board of county commissioners of the said St. Louis county be and they hereby are requested to make the following improvements to the courthouse in the city of Duluth:

"Provide for the installation of the Bell telephone instruments in any offices by order of the commission in order that the citizens of the city and range towns who are not subscribers to the Zenith system may have the same advantages in communicating with the officers of the county as those of the Zenith subscribers.

"Dated at Duluth, Minn., this 11th day of January, 1912.

"HENRY F. SALYARD,
"Foreman of the Grand Jury.
"W. VAN BRUNT,
"Clerk of the Grand Jury.

"Resolved further, That if the Bell Telephone company refuses to make arrangements satisfactory with the building commission of the courthouse that they be refused the right to have a booth or public telephone in the building.

"HENRY F. SALYARD,
"Foreman.
"W. VAN BRUNT,
"Clerk."

The January grand jury was composed of the following men: H. F. Salyards, R. Granquist, Andrew L. Gravatt, H. E. Guyer, A. C. Johnson, Martin Kennelly, William E. Kearn, Emil A. Nelson, John G. Neville, Harry Older, Fred J. O'Neil, W. L. Seaton, B. Silbertsein, Walter Van Brunt, J. S. Graves and C. F. Hector.

WAELCHI SAYS HE WILL STAND TRIAL

Indicted By Grand Jury on Charge of Impersonating Army Officer.

Noah Lewis Waelchli, indicted by the federal grand jury on a charge of impersonating an officer of the United States army, will be arraigned this afternoon before Judge Page Morris in the United States district court.

Waelchli will probably plead not guilty, as he has signified his intentions of standing trial. He was arrested several weeks ago by government secret service men; who had traced him from one city to another, finally locating him in Duluth.

Waelchli posed as W. L. Nathan, first lieutenant, United States army, and at the time of his arrest was appearing with an army and navy show at one of the local motion picture houses.

At his hearing, Waelchli had no attorney. It is understood that he will act as his own attorney at the trial, which will be held at this term of court.

HAS BIG CLAIM FOR ALIMONY

Mrs. Jennie Elsey Wants $2,437 From Husbands Estate.

An inventory of the estate of the late John L. Sullivan of Duluth shows a balance of $24.75.

Mrs. Jennie Elsey has a claim against the estate of $2,437.60, alimony granted her at the rate of $10 per month when she was divorced from Sullivan in 1899.

The hearing is taking place today in probate court before Judge S. W. Gilpin.

Mrs. Elsey claims that shortly before his death, Sullivan gave a large sum of money to his brother. It is from him that she now wishes to be paid the alimony granted her years ago.

Sullivan was a gambler, it is said, and well known in Duluth. Mrs. Elsey claims that shortly before his death Sullivan showed her his bank books and pointed out that there was $1,700 to his credit.

Mrs. Elsey is now said to be operating the Alvarado hotel on West Superior street. Sullivan died in June, 1911.

Judge Gilpin took the case under advisement.

ATTORNEY WAS CARRIED AWAY

Made Remarks Reflecting on Land Department, But Withdrew Them.

When William E. Culkin, attorney for the defendant in a timber trespass suit brought by the government in federal court before Judge Page Morris yesterday afternoon, made certain statements that reflected on the government land department, a mild sensation was sprung, as Mr. Culkin was formerly register of the land office here, and his statements had a semi-official air.

United States District Attorney Haupt jumped to his feet and pounded the table with his first. "Hold on! I object to this!" he said.

Judge Page Morris interposed. "I would be ashamed to think I was a citizen of the government if all he says were really true,' he said.

"I speak from the public record," said Mr. Culkin.

"I don't think so—can't be!" the court broke in "that doesn't come into this case at all—doesn't come into this case at all. Let us confine ourselves to this case."

This morning when the case was resumed Mr. Culkin took occasion to retract the statement and explained to the court that he had no charges to make against the United States land officials and trusted that the matter would be overlooked.

The court explained to the jury that if they had known Mr. Culkin as long as the court had that they would readily understand that he had been carried away by the fervor of his debate and that he intended to use no such language.

To a Herald reporter this morning Mr. Culkin said: "I guess that I overstepped a little bit. I have no charges to prefer against any one and would not want to be held responsible for any remarks I made yesterday."

The case which was on trial was that of the United States vs. William Grakela, a timber trespass suit brought by the government to recover for certain timber which had been removed by Grakela from homestead land which he had failed to prove up on. The land in question is located fifteen miles from Hibbing.

The court ruled that the decision of the land department in a contest case in which Grakela lost possession of his homestead would be binding on the court and the fact was of course established that Grakela had no title to the land. The jury was charged by the court to decide upon the value of the timber cut and bring in a verdict for the amount.

The jury was given the case at 10:30 this morning and up to 2 o'clock this afternoon had returned no verdict.

TAFT REGRETS BACON'S ACTION

Accepts Resignation in Personal Letter to Ambassador.

Washington, Jan. 13.—President Taft today accepted the resignation of Robert Bacon as ambassador to France, to take effect upon the appointment and qualification of a successor. Mr. Bacon's resignation came in a personal letter to the president in which he told of his selection as a fellow of Harvard university, and his desire to take up active work for his alma mater.

Mr. Taft replied in a personal letter in which he said:

"I greatly regret accepting your resignation, but I admit the weight of your reason for tendering it. I have a letter from President Lowell in which he insists that Harvard is entitled to divide with the government your services. I yield.

"I am glad you have been two years our representative in Paris. I am glad that you have enjoyed it. You have done everything well. I hope and believe that your career at home will be equally successful and useful."

South St. Paul Livestock.

WILL PUSH LAND SALES

State Will Turn All Inquiries Over to Real Estate Dealers.

Lists of Prospects Will Be Made During Exhibit Car's Tour.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—Inquiries which come to the state commissioner of immigration in regard to Minnesota land will be turned over to real estate dealers in an effort to sell land. This was announced by Commissioner H. J. Maxfield this afternoon. The plan to be followed has not been worked out, but will be soon.

"As the matter now stands," Mr. Maxfield said, "the bureau sends out information about the state, and there the matter ends. I believe that if letters of inquiry are turned over to dealers, the applicants will be flooded with offerings, from which they should be able to select something to suit their particular needs. Arrangements will be made to treat all dealers alike—give each an equal chance at the prospective buyer."

May Keep Blacklist.

Some plan will be evolved to prevent unscrupulous and dishonest landmen from fleecing buyers. It is possible that with the information sent out by the bureau, a "blacklist" of irresponsible landmen or those who have been convicted of unfair dealings may be included. However, this plan has not been decided upon.

All persons who visit the Minnesota exhibit car which will leave Sunday morning for a tour of the Central states will be asked to register. The list will be printed when the car returns and distributed to land men. This will be the first step in carrying out the plan Mr. Maxfield proposes. He said he expects some of the lists sent out from his office during the year will fall into the hands of land men of other states, but these will be few as compared to the number which will be delivered to Minnesota dealers. Prospective buyers should receive a flood of literature from this state alone.

Mackenzie Collection Going.

The collection of grain and grasses which W. R. Mackenzie helped collect in Northern Minnesota will go with the exhibition car sent out by the state and the Great Northern railroad Sunday morning, despite his protest. This has been definitely settled. Mr. Mackenzie called on J. Maxfield, state immigration agent, yesterday and was promised the disputed exhibit on the return of the car, and whatever else in the car he wanted. The offer was satisfactory to him and he left.

ANCIENT CASE IS ON TRIAL

Suit Being Heard in Federal Court Begun Eleven Years Ago.

An action brought eleven years ago by Granville A. Burns against the Cloquet Lumber company, in which he seeks to recover $22,850 and accrued interest for logs taken from a homestead owned by Burns on the north shore of Ely lake, is now on trial before Judge Page Morris in federal court.

The case is the second on the call of the civil calendar and like the first, the Grakela case, involves alleged timber trespass. The jury was selected this morning and some evidence will probably be taken this afternoon.

SUPERIOR

UNCOVERED HORSES CAUSE DRIVER'S ARREST.

The agitation started several weeks ago by the humane society for decisive measures in protecting horses and other animals from the severe cold has borne fruit in the form of a warrant which was sworn out yesterday for the arrest of Edward Allen, on a charge of cruelty to animals. It is claimed that Allen, while in a Tower avenue saloon, allowed his team to remain on the street without any covering. The arrest is the result of a trip down Tower avenue taken by the humane officers.

Police Nab Burglars.

Bert Redmond and R. A. Holden were arrested at 4:30 o'clock this morning for robbing the safe in the saloon at 1121 Tower avenue. The men were caught with the money on their persons and when searched $419 was found in their clothes. They are being held in the county jail pending a hearing.

Mc Cutcheon Gets $250.

The jury in the case of McCutcheon against Hertlein in which the former sued for $5,000 from the defendant for alleged slander, returned a verdict for $250 at 10 o'clock this morning after being out all night and yesterday afternoon.

Settler Found Frozen.

Peter McGovern, an old settler of Douglas county, was found frozen to death yesterday morning in a shack on his farm, which is situated between Hawthorne and Bennett. McGovern was unmarried and leaves a brother and sister, also living in the county. He was 65 years of age.

Socialists to Elect Officers.

A meeting of the Socialist party will be held at the Union Labor hall tomorrow afternoon for the purpose of electing officers for the year. Delegates will also be nominated for the national convention which is to be held in Oklahoma City this coming May. A mass meeting will be held in the near future for the purpose of opposing the adoption of the commission form of government.

Case Before Commission.

The hearing on the complaint of the Superior Commercial club against the street railway, in which it is sought to gain lower fares and the construction of extensions now claimed to be needed, will be held Jan. 16 by the state railroad commission in the council chamber.

Notify City of Motion.

The Northern Pacific and Great Northern railroads, defendants in the suit of the city for the recovery of the street ends on Superior bay, have served notice on the city of a motion in federal court for the appointment of a master in chancery to take the testimony in the case. The motion will come up for argument on the opening of the court Jan. 23.

Entertain Friends.

Dr. and Mrs. C. E. Booth of 1428 North Eleventh street, entertained last evening at their home, the occasion being a gathering of those interested in advanced thought and kindred topics. Mrs. Alice Booth, Dr. W. E. Haley, Dr. D. G. Cole of New York, were among the speakers. Mrs. Carl Wilson sang and Miss Clem Blackwood of Duluth favored those present with an instrumental selection. A Scotch chorus rendered several numbers.

BUTTE-ALEX SCOTT DIVIDEND EARNER

Recent Returns Insure Good Earnings in Next Thirty Days.

This property has been in a development stage for a period of three years. Large ore bodies have been uncovered and in the last few months the force has been working blocking out high grade deposits on the 1,800 foot level.

An upraise was driven from the 1,800 to the 1,600 level. This was all in good ore and returns for eleven carloads from the upraise netted the company about $6,400. On the 1,700 a station was cut and mining has begun. The vein is all first class ore.

This company is now shipping two big cars to the smelter daily and it is more than reasonable to expect with the high price of copper that this mine should earn $40,000 net in the next thirty days. There are 73,000 shares to pay dividends on, which makes it pretty interesting to those who own stock, for with earning power such is this the mine could pay liberal dividends on a capitalization of 1,000,000 shares instead of 73,000.

If this company had thirteen times as many shares it would look just as reasonable as Tuolumne. Tuolumne is capitalized at 800,000 shares.

POLICE BAN ON FICKLE GODDESS

La Crosse to Be Rid of Every Sort of Game of Chance.

La Crosse, Wis., Jan. 13.—Every sort of game of chance is forbidden in a police order issued here today. Two weeks ago the public gambling houses were closed. The latest order is calculated to reach petty gambling devices in stores, billiard halls and other public places.

APPLETON FACTORY DISTRICT FLOODED.

Appleton, Wis., Jan. 13. — The ice jam in the Fox river caused the water to rise six inches at the power plant on the upper level and eight inches on the second level during the night, flooding the factory district.

The ice is so formed that it is throwing the water over the south side of the river, and today an appeal was sent to L. M. Mann of Oshkosh, government engineer. The government owns the lower dam and the city and manufacturers have no right to do blasting there without permission from the government.

New Indoor Record.

San Francisco, Jan. 13.—A new world's indoor record is claimed for Ralph Rose, the well known California athlete, who at a meeting given under the auspices of the Olympic club here last night, put the shot 48 feet 9⅝ inches. The former record was 47 feet 6½ inches.

LEAVES FROM A REPORTERS NOTE BOOK BY X

When a girl's mother says that the only hope for her lies in having her sent away where she will not be able to do as she pleases, that girl has started on a path which leads —well, not in the right direction.

Last night Laura Givens, 17 years old, was picked up on the street by a policeman. She was sent to headquarters, where she was booked for incorrigibility. She spent the night there.

This morning her mother, a hard-working woman, well along in years, appeared at the police station, accompanied by Laura's sister, a bright child of about 15 summers. The mother had caused Laura's arrest, declaring that she had done so only as a last resort.

"I've tried in every way I knew how to make Laura a good girl," she said. "But I have not been able to do anything with her. When I told her that it was wrong for her to say out until all hours of the night she only made fun of me. She laughed at me and ridiculed me. I was alone in the house and I told her that I couldn't stand to have her coming in at 2 or 3 o'clock in the morning. I couldn't know whether it was Laura or not. It might have been somebody else, and it worried me a lot. She left home about two months ago and has not been back since. I guess she has been working part of that time. Yesterday I heard that she and another girl were going to skip out to Washington and I had her arrested."

"What do you expect will be done with her?" Mrs. Givens was asked.

"I don't know of any other way than to have her sent away," she answered, as she struggled with herself to keep back the emotion. "I'd like to have her stay home if she would do what is right. But she has had so many trials. For two years she has been keeping bad company. Maybe if she was sent away she might be helped and lead a different life. I can't think of any other way."

When Mrs. Givens left the police station she took Laura with her. They went to the juvenile court, where the case will be investigated and some disposition made of it. The girl did not seem to feel very badly about her arrest, although she did remark that she would rather go back home than to be sent to an institution. The police state that she has been running about at night and the mother says that it has been reported to her that she has been keeping company with men of whom she did not approve.

Mrs. Givens has had more than her share of trouble. For years she has been forced to work early and late to raise her family. She states that her husband has not helped her much, and that on one occasion he ran away, absenting himself for two years. Added to that she has been sick part of the time, while anxiety for her daughter has not helped to lighten her burden or lessen the gray hairs which have been coming on apace.

They were talking about the report of the grand jury at the police station this morning when the old policeman took up a thread of the discussion.

"I can't say that I knew all about the evidence which went before the grand jury," he said, "but I heard the name of one girl mentioned in that connection that I know something about. They say that dance halls led to her downfall, but take it from me, she would not have been a bit different if Duluth had never seen a dance hall.

"That girl started wrong right in her own home. I knew her mother, and if I mentioned the name all of you would recognize it. For years she ran a place in the West end which couldn't be called respectable, stretch the meaning of the word any way you want to. A lot of different men went to the place. They drank and sang and swore. The mother was arrested many times. The last time she was convicted before a jury of keeping a disorderly house.

"The girl's father couldn't be said to be much good. He was drunk a lot of the time and he died in the police station, right back here in the bull pen, after he had fallen down the stairs of a saloon drunk and fractured his skull.

"That girl was raised in that place. Do you suppose that it was the dance halls which led her astray? How could she be expected to be straight when she was brought up under conditions like that? I am not speaking for the dance halls. They do not wield any moral influence or act as an uplift to the community, particularly the nickle and dime variety. But I do want to say that the grand jury evidently did not go to the bottom of things if they say that the dance halls were responsible for her presen condition.

"I heard that four or five other girls, that she traveled with, were before the grand jury. I also heard that they told the grand jury that they had bought whisky in two or three places. I heard that they had gone to certain hotels not in the best class. But I did not hear that the grand jury had returned any indictments against the people who had sold them this whisky, or against the people who ran the hotels where they had been allowed to go.

"If the grand jury wanted to get action, real action, why didn't the grand jury make it possible to weed out these people by returning indictments against them. That would have been something like it."

And striking a match to light the pipe which had gone out while he was relieving his mind the old policeman jammed his cap down over his ears and stamped through the door without another word.

William Shields, 20 years old, was brought into police court this morning on a charge of vagrancy. The police reported that he had been hanging about the bowery and frequenting pool halls. Shields told the judge that he had looked for work but couldn't find it. The judge suggested that the bowery and pool halls were a pretty poor place for him to find a job. But he continued the case for a week to give the young man an opportunity to get something to do.

F. G. Myers and Otto Albini, taxidermists, were arrested yesterday afternoon by Deputy Game Warden Tom Storey for violating the game laws. They were charged with having part of a caribou in their possession which had not been tagged by the game and fish commission. They pleaded not guilty and their trial was set for Wednesday afternoon.

Charlie Haven, who acts as supply man for a lumber company on the Cloquet river, was arraigned this morning on a warrant sworn out by Deputy Storey, charging him with having a deer in his possession unlawfully. He pleaded not guilty and will be tried Wednesday morning. Deputy Storey confiscated the deer during the hunting season and claims that Haven made a business of supplying deer to "hunters" at so much per.

Oscar Johnson and Axel Olson pleaded guilty to trespass in police court this morning and got suspended sentences. When Herman Sverde, who had been arrested with them, saw what happened to them, he hastened to change his plea of not guilty to guilty.

"Ten dollars and costs," said the court. When Sverde heard the sentence his face was a picture, consternation, surprise and half a dozen other emotions showing all at once. Later the court also suspended sentence in his case. The men had all gone to the same room in a Lake avenue hotel to spend the night. They hadn't paid for it and the police were summoned. They claimed that the man who rented the room had told them that they could sleep there.

Edward Carlson was brought to the police station from the West end last night with an ugly gash under his eye. Dr. Murphy was called to dress the wound and stated that Carlson may lose his eyesight. It is claimed that Carlson had a fight and was struck in the face with some sharp instrument. The identity of his assailant is unknown and Carlson was so drunk that he couldn't give a clear account of what happened.

GALES DISASTROUS TO OCEAN SHIPPING.

Washington, Jan. 13.—The little revenue cutter Yamacraw, with a disabled schooner in tow, is wallowing in the heavy sea today off Charleston, S. C., unable to make port until the weather moderates. Her captain reported by wireless today that a strong northeast gale was driving sleet against the ship.

The Yamacraw has in tow the schooner Estelle of Say Harbor, N. Y., laden with lime and in danger of fire. The Estelle was found off Frying Pan lightship with her stem stove in and her sails gone.

The revenue cutter Androscoggin, with thirty-two men rescued from the steamer Carolyn, wrecked off Matinic Lerge, Maine, is today making for Rockland, Me. The steamer, with a cargo valued at $300,000, has broken up.

New Power Company.

St. Paul, Jan. 13.—Articles of the incorporation of the Northern Minnesota Power company of Aurora, Minn., were filed with the secretary of state today. The capital stock will be $100,000, and the incorporators were James H. Simons, R. P. Pearsall, Fred C. White and Peter M. Johnson, all of Aurora, and D. A. Reed of Duluth.

Mr. Reed, when asked about the matter this afternoon stated that it was the ultimate intention of the company to build a plant at Aurora. No definite plans for the plant have yet been announced.

GEORGE W. PRESTON GOES TO OMAHA

GEORGE W. PRESTON.

George W. Preston, who has been advertising manager of the Duluth News Tribune for several years, left today for Omaha, Neb., to assume charge of the advertising of the Omaha Bee.

Mr. Preston has been active in business circles of this city and leaves a wide circle of friends who will miss him. During his residence in this city he has been an active member of the boat club, the Commercial club, the Citizens' Staff, the Knights of Pythias and the D. O. K. K.

Mrs. Preston and their children will remain in Duluth until March, when they will go to their new home.

Before coming to Duluth Mr. Preston was with the Detroit Journal where he had charge of the advertising department and before that was connected with several amusement enterprises.

FEWER MARINE DISASTERS ON THE GREAT LAKES

Season of 1911 a Fortunate One for the Men Who Sail the Inland Seas

Owing to the remarkably few marine casualties during the 1911 season of navigation, the Great Lakes were deprived of their usual heavy toll of human life. Some tragedies occurred, however, and these cost the lives of thirty-seven men and one woman. But when the disastrous season of 1905, the year when a great November storm whipped the Northwestern lakes into a fury and that storm alone exacted as its toll the lives of more than 100 persons, is recalled, old-time sailors smile and say that the season has been a lucky one.

Within the past ten years, according to fairly accurate records which have been kept, 1,328 persons have lost their lives on the Great Lakes. A very small percentage of this number were passengers and in most instances they were the sailors on freighters in the lake trade.

The average loss of life on the lakes during the past ten years has been 132 persons and it may be readily seen that the 1911 death roll falls way below this figure. The same was true last year when but forty-nine persons lost their lives on the Great Lakes. The records for other years follow: 1909, 128; 1908, fifty-eight; 1907, 135; 1906, fifteen; 1905, 444; 1904, 195; 1903, twenty-eight, 1902, 237.

Ten Die in One Week.

The greatest loss of life in any single wreck during the past season was in the case of the Canadian tug, C. C. Martin, which foundered in a storm on Georgian bay, Aug. 21, entailing a loss of ten lives. None of the crew escaped.

On March 15, the little fishing tug, Silver Spray, pounded to pieces on the Cleveland breakwater and seven lives were lost. On April 13, the schooner Ottowa foundered near Sturgeon bay in Lake Michigan, costing five lives. Three of the crew of the steamer E. L. Fisher lost their lives when the Fisher collided with the steamer S. M. Clement in the lower Detroit river early in May. In July, the steamer W. H. Mack collided with the steamer John Mitchell sinking the Mitchell and drowning three of her crew off Vermilion point, Lake Superior. The steamer Phillip Minch ran down a gasoline yacht at Toledo and seven people were drowned on Sept. 2. The last accident to claim lives was the stranding of the steamer Raleigh on the rocks near Port Colburne, Lake Erie, on Thanksgiving day. Three perished, one being a woman.

The total loss to vessels during the past season has been estimated at $1,350,000. There were ten collisions of various descriptions, but there were not as many groundings and strandings as during the 1910 season. This may be partly due to the fact that there were not as many vessels in commission.

Ten Lumber Steamers Lost.

Ten lumber steamers were lost during the season just closed. Of these the steamer A. L. Hopkins perhaps attracts the most attention. The Hopkins became waterlogged on the Ashland-Keweenaw course on Lake Superior fifteen miles off Michigan island Oct. 2, her crew of thirteen, including one woman, after a thrilling rescue being taken to Ashland by the steamer Dinkey. The ship was sighted several times by passing steamers and was reported to the authorities as lying in the vessel course and as being a menace to navigation. After each report government engineers searched for the derelict, but were unable to find her. After a week of hunting, the engineers found enough wreckage to convince them that the boat had sunk Other lumber steamers which went down during the past season were the D. Leuty, the Fisher and the W. A. Young, a barge.

November was a stormy month on the Great Lakes and profiting by the experience of former years, but few vessel owners took chances. A storm which blew up a sixty-mile blizzard accompanied by snow on Nov. 11 went unabated for nearly four days and fortunately those vessels which were not in shelter, came through the experience without great damage to property and without any loss of life. The steamers Pendennis White, D. G. Kerr, Joseph Sellwood, Tionesta and others rode the waves safely and steamed into the local harbor ice-encased from bow to stern. Masters report that the storm was one of the worst in years. Considerable fear was expressed for the safety of several boats out in the gale, but all reached port safely and there were no serious accidents. This storm had much to do with the early closing of navigation this year. It was accompanied by a freezing temperature and ice formed thickly in the local harbor and at other ports.

Death Record of Past Season.

There were forty-nine lives lost during the season of 1910, forty-four of which were in two accidents—the sinking of the steamer J. B. Wood in Lake Huron, which entailed the loss of sixteen lives and the foundering on Sept. 9, 1910, of the steamer Pere Marquette, No. 18 from Ludington, Mich., bound for Milwaukee, Wis., with a cargo of twenty-nine loaded cars. Twenty-seven lives were lost.

The season of 1909 on the Great Lakes was a more disastrous one, 128 lives being sacrificed. In the sinking on Lake Erie of the car ferry, Marquette & Bessemer No. 2, thirty people lost their lives. In one of the lifeboats nine frozen bodies were found. On July 12 of the same year the steamer J. B. Cowle sank when it collided with the steamer I. M. Scott on Lake Superior. Fourteen of the crew perished. Thirteen men were lost with the steamer Adella Shores and fifteen lives were claimed when the steamer Clarion of the Anchor Line burned on Lake Erie Dec. 8. Thirteen men got away from the Clarion in a yawl boat, but were doubtless frozen to death and sunk by the ice, as they were never heard from. There were several other accidents in which lives were lost during the season of 1909 and the record was a terrible one.

Duluth people remember well the foundering of the big steel freighter D. M. Clemson near Whitefish Point, Lake Superior, about Nov. 30, 1908. The entire crew of twenty-four men went down with the boat and no one survived. Capt. Chamberlain of this city was the master in charge. The Clemson represented a property loss of about $230,000. Twenty people perished the same year when the old lake passenger steamer Soo City foundered in the Gulf of St. Lawrence. During the season sixty vessels of all descriptions were lost, twenty-three having burned. No lives were lost aboard vessels engaged in passenger traffic.

Many Die in 1907.

One hundred and thirty-five lives were lost on the Great Lakes during the season of navigation of 1907. Twelve men were drowned in collisions, fifty-two persons lost their lives in wrecks, eight were washed overboard, twenty were accidentally drowned and forty-three lost their lives in the burning of vessels and from other causes. Twenty-two men went down on Oct. 12, when the steamer Cyprus foundered on Lake Superior. Fourteen people lost their lives on April 23 of the same year when the lumber hooker Arcadia foundered on Lake Michigan. Not a surviving witness was left to tell the story. The steamer Naomi burned during the season on Lake Michigan. Five of the crew and two passengers met death.

There were few lives lost in 1906 and no great marine disasters recorded on the Great Lakes. Only fifteen people are reported to have perished in the lake trade during the entire season. But the season of 1905 will long be remembered among marine men as an ill-fated year for vessemen. More lives were sacrificed during those few months of active navigation than there has been since. Almost one-third of the fatalities on the lakes which have occurred within the past ten years took place during 1905 It is stated that 444 persons lost their lives on the waters of the Great Lakes and connecting waters during the season of 1905.

The Storm of 1905.

It will be remembered that the season closed with a terrible record in the loss of life and property. A November storm raged for several days. On Nov. 28 the steamer Mataafa was wrecked just north of the ship canal under conditions rather peculiar. A whole city watched nine shipwrecked men freeze to death before help could reach them. On this day several vessels ran ashore. The steamer William Edenborn struck near Split Rock and one man was drowned. The steamer Crescent City was thrown high and dry on the beach near Lakewood; the steamer Lafayette at Encampment island and the steamer R. W. England on Minnesota Point.

It was during this remarkable season that the steamer Sevona on Sept. 1, during a severe gale, struck a reef in the vicinity of York island, one of the apostle group; and sank. Seven people perished. During the storms of September, October and November it is said that fifty-four vessels were left total losses. The greatest losses of the season were on Lake Superior.

During the season of 1904, 195 persons lost their lives from various causes on the Great Lakes. Of this number it is understood that only thirty-two lives were lost as a result of stormy weather. That not a single passenger was lost during the season is a noteworthy fact. During the season of 1903, sixty vessels were lost entailing a loss of but twenty-eight lives. There were no destructive storms during the season of 1903 and the weather during the summer months was uneventful. A cold spell set in about Nov. 15 that year and navigation closed early.

1902 a Bad Year.

Next to 1905, the season of 1902 will be remembered as a particularly disastrous one on the Great Lakes. Duluth people will remember it on account of the sinking just a short distance beyond the ship canal of the steamer Thomas Wilson after a collision with the steamer George G. Hadley. The Wilson sank, carrying down her crew of nine men. She is now lying in about seventy feet of water. The Hadley was beached and there was no loss of life. The property loss to the Wilson was about $150,000.

There were 237 lives lost on the lakes during 1902. Of this number about 111 were lost by reason of stormy weather. The Canadian steamer Bannockburn foundered Nov. 21 on Lake Superior, twenty people losing their lives. During a heavy gale on Lake Huron on Nov. 29, the schooner Celtic broke from her towing steamer and was never heard from. A crew of eight was lost. Seven lives were lost in the foundering of the steamer George Dunbar ten miles east of Kelley's island, Lake Erie on June 29. The steamer S. J. Macy, coal laden, Nov. 23 foundered off Port Burwell, Lake Erie, during a heavy southwest gale. Fourteen men comprising the crew were lost. Ten lives were lost in the foundering of the steamer C. B. Lockwood on Lake Erie and a crew of nine lost their lives on the steamer John E. Hall, which stranded on Duck Island, Lake Ontario, during a December snow storm.

A WAR MINSTREL.

Youth's Companion: It was at the solicitation of President Lincoln, that E. W. Locke, known after the war of the Rebellion as Fr. Locke, went into the army to sing his patriotoc songs to the soldiers.

His first experience as an army singer occurred at Arlington Heights, near Washington, District of Columbia, where the larger part of the Army of the Potomac was encamped, and where a regiment from the city of New York proved kindly disposed toward the singer and his stirring songs.

The colonel invited him to make the regiment his headquarters, but not feeling that success was assured with one trial, Mr. Locke pushed on to where the Sixth Maine was encamped a few miles distant, and made his second effort as an army singer. He was enthusiastically received, and from that day he felt that he was part of the army to put down the rebellion.

Shortly after McClellan advanced on Manassas, to find it abandoned, Mr. Locke went with the New England cavalry to Warrington Junction, where he found a brigade of five regiments. One of the regiments was the Massachusetts Twelfth and the book published by that regiment records the interesting incident that follows.

The morning after reaching camp the singer was about to enter one of the Sibley tents of the Twelfth when a man in a loud voice and commanding tone called out:

"Here sir, this way, sir!"

"Who are you to address me in such a manner?" retorted the singer.

"I am the provost marshal of this brigade and I order you to report to me immediately!"

The speaker was Capt. Bates, Company H, of the Twelfth. He took Locke at once for a spy as he could see no reason why a man should be twenty miles away from the main army, liable to be shot or captured any minute, with nothing to sell but postage stamps at cost and a few sheets of music at 5 cents a copy. He tried in vain to intimidate the singer, made an attempt to buy a few stamps above their face value, but at last took him before Gen. Abercrombie, commanding the brigade.

Unfortunately, the singer's pass had been left in the hands of a captain six miles away, and the general told him that although he was surely a New England man and seemed like a gentleman, he would have to detain him until he could send for his pass.

"General," said the singer, "I am E. W. Locke of Portland, Me., a friend of President Lincoln, who urged me to come to the army and sing my patriotic songs in camp, and now, with your permission, I will sing one for you."

"Let us hear it," said the general, graciously.

Mr. Locke was not half through the first stanza when Capt. Bates interrupted by asking for a copy of the song. He had a magnificent bass voice, and the general's adjutant proved to have one of the sweetest tenors, and soon that old Virginia log house had such music as never before rang through its rooms. They sang the last verse six times or more.

Needless to add that before long Mr. Locke's songs and singing were as good as a pass in every part of the Army of the Potomac.

NO CURE, NO PAY.

Answers: The big English doctor makes secure of his fees before undertaking the case of either peer or bowman. Lesser medical men live as best they can. One, indeed, who has a large practice in the East end of London, charges only 3 pence a patient. The royal house of China, however, has rather a good way of dealing with the doctors.

There are attached to the Chinese royal household quite a number of physicians and surgeons. Each man is paid a regular yearly salary as a sort of retaining fee. The salaries, which are quite what royal doctors' salaries should be, are paid punctually until the emperor or empress becomes ill. Then the doctors' salaries stop. All the united efforts of the medical staff go to bringing about a quick cure. So long as the ruler of China remains ill, the doctors get no pay whatever in return for their services. When the monarch is well again the salaries of the retinue of the medical men begin once more.

A BIT BRUTAL.

Los Angeles Times: Theodore P. Shonts, at a dinner in New York, said of the subway fight:

"At least this fight has been conducted with politeness and gentleness and refinement. There has been none of that brutality about it which used to be imputed to Cecil Rhodes.

"I heard, just recently, a story of Rhodes' brutality. He was entertaining some guests at Groote Schuur, and after luncheon he took them over the grounds, pointing out to them a son of Lobengula's, who was one of his gardeners.

"This led naturally to a talk about the Matabele rebellion, and a visitor asked Mr. Rhodes when it took place.

"Rhodes scratched his head, then beckoned the young native to his side.

"'Look here,' he said, 'in what year did I kill your father?'".

DENIES ITALIANS DID ANYTHING

Turkish Naval League Member Talks of Red Sea Affair.

London, Jan. 13.—Ali Bey, a prominent member of the Turkish navy league, in the course of an interview today derided the Italian claim to a great naval victory in the Red sea.

"The only Turkish boats in the vicinity," he said, "displaced between fifty and 100 tons. Some of them are small wooden vessels which only are kept there to prevent the Arabs from gun-running."

Ali Bey repudiated the reports that the Turkish government had any intention of asking for peace terms. The Italians, he declared, cannot take Tripoli. They will be compelled to remain under the shelter of their battleships forever.

WEDDING INVALID WITHOUT "OBEY"

British Chaplain Announces Opinion After Consulting Lawyer.

London, Jan. 15.—The omission of the word "obey" from a marriage service celebrated in church is illegal and invalidates the ceremony, according to a sensational announcement by Rev. Hugh Chapman, chaplain of the Chapel Royal Savoy, this afternoon.

Before the altar stood Miss Una Dugdale, daughter of Commander Dugdale and niece of Viscount Peel, with Victor D. Duval, waiting to be married. Both are prominent supporters of the militant suffragettes and they had decided that the word "obey" should be omitted from the marriage service and had communicated their decision to the chaplain.

Just before the time approached for the ceremony, Rev. Hugh Chapman sought legal advice and obtained a ruling which is likely to invalidate many marriages.

Miss Dugdale and Mr. Duval, after the announcement by the chaplain, decided to waive their objections and the marriage ceremony proceeded.

The will of O. D. Kinney, who died Oct. 11 at Athens, Pa., was filed yesterday with the judge of probate of St. Louis county.

Previous to his death Mr. Kinney had disposed of the greater part of his property in St. Louis county. There is nothing in the copy of the will filed here today to indicate the total value of the estate. Some o fthe bequests contained in it are as follows: Mrs. Addie Rice of Jenningstown, W. Va., $15,000; G. M. Clark of Towanda, Pa., $5,000; Miss Anna Worrell of Geneseo, Ill., $1,000; his niece, Alberta Crammer, $5,000; a cousin, Lucy Kinney, $500; an employe, Charles Hammond, $500; his sister, Julia K. Crammer, $10,000 and his homestead known as Kingsbur farm in Shesequin county, Pa.; to his daughter, Edith Ahbe, his home at Athens, Pa.

A LIBRARY YOU CAN HOLD IN ONE HAND.

Such Is 1912 Edition of World Almanac, Just Issued.

All the great or notable almanacs in this country have been made by newspaper men. Old Dr. Franklin started the practice with the famous "Poor Richard's Almanac." With more or loss success, other printers have ever since imitated him. Of late years, however, the issuing of newspaper almanacs has fallen into a low estate in many a big city. But the New York World almanac for 1912 is an exception. It fills a want every place, as it is a compilation universal in scope, and not local, partisan or political solely. It seems to grow greater and better with years and experience. It is a condensed encyclopaedia of many volumes. It gives information and statistics upon almost every conceivable topic. It touches human interest at every point. It is a library you can hold in no hand, so far as ready reference and accurate information are concerned. It is a supplement to every library, the next friend of every editor, and informant in any office, study or school. It ranks with the great English publications of like import, and sells for half or third of their price. Without doubt, it is the foremost publication of the kind in this country. On sale wherever books are sold.

CASE IS PUZZLE TO CHARITY WORKERS.

"Personal—A good respectable family of nine, living at 429 East Eighth street kindly asks the public for a little individual help."

In answer to this advertisement in The Herald many Duluthians went down in their pockets and contributed help in the way of groceries, money and clothing.

Just what to do with the family is puzzling the Associated Charities, the juvenile court, the humane society, the poor commissioners, and other societies and individuals.

Some time ago the family was sent to Norway. The Norwegian government sent them back. The Duluth societies decided to extend no further help. The man went to Superior and Superior sent him back to Duluth.

The question is: "What can be done with him and his family of nine?"

ACCORDING TO SCHEDULE.

Loss Angeles Times: William T. Lewis, the well-known automobilist, was talking in Racine about the 25,000-mile automobile trip he had just made in Europe.

"One sees Europe in an automobile," he said. "One really sees it. Some tourists don't, you know.

"Once, in Florence, I was standing on the bridge over the Arno, drinking in the beauty of the old Italian city, when a half-dozen of my compatriots drew near at a quick walk.

"They hurried by me, every now and then consulting their watches, and, as they passed, I overheard this conversation:

"'Well, Florence is all right, sure.'

"'Florence?'

"'Why, yes! This is Florence, ain't it?'

"'Of course not! This is Venice.'

"'Oh, go on! It's Monday, anyhow, and Monday's Florence; Wednesday's Venice.'"

WHEAT OFF; FLAX IS UP

Milder Weather Bears Wheat Markets—Larger Receipts Expected.

Flax, It Is Thought, Will Fall As Farmers Resume Hauling.

Duluth Board of Trade, Jan. 13.—The milder weather, by causing wheat dealers to anticipate much larger receipts from the country in the near future, exercised quite a bearish influence on the wheat markets of North America today, though they did not all close at a loss. The Duluth market, however, continued its sagging tendency. May wheat closing ¾c to ¼c off and July ¼c off.

Minneapolis wired that the demand for wheat on the part of the millers was dull, because they looked for large receipts from the country. Moreover, the flour trade showed no signs of improvement.

News from Argentina was bearish. Buenos Ayres January wheat closed today 1½c lower. Last night it closed at a loss 3¼c under the close of Thursday. The chief bearish factor in that country was, it seems, the favorable weather and large yield of wheat in the north. The news from the South is not so favorable. Weather there is reported to be unsettled, with numerous light showers. The railroad strike is said to be spreading. It cannot be a serious menace to traffic, however, in view of the bearish quotations from Argentina. Foreign markets seem to be paying scarcely any attention to that strike.

The Argentine news, together with an apparent increase in the eagerness of La Plata shippers to sell, caused wheat to go down on most of the European markets today. There were bearish closes at Liverpool, Berlin and Antwerp.

Flax Goes Up.

Flaxseed, which was bearish on the Duluth market during the greater part of today's session, took a sudden jump just before the close. Some brokers were inclined to attribute this to manipulation. The market closed amid a great deal of excitement. January flax closed at an advance of ¼c and May ¾c up.

It is not believed, however, that the present high level of flax prices can be maintained a great while by manipulation or any other factor, if the weather remains mild over the Northwest for any great length of time. The extremely cold weather, which interferes with shipments, has been about the only bullish factor on which the existing high prices have rested. Argentine flax has been steadily cheapening. For some days cables have been bringing news of lower and lower prices at Buenos Ayres. American crushers have in consequence grown very bearish and have not been buying any more flax than they have been obliged to get to satisfy immediate demands. Milder weather is bound to cause larger offerings from the country, and if Buenos Ayres flax continues to be bearish, it is hard to imagine anything that can prevent a rapid fall of the price at Duluth.

Duluth cash wheat closed at the May price, durum 1½c off, corn ½c up and oats, rye and barley unchanged.

The Crop Reporter, published by the federal department of agriculture, shows a smaller yield of wheat in the United States in the year 1911 than in either 1910 or 1909. According to this publication, the yield in 1911 was 621,338,000 bu. against 635,121,000 bu. in 1910 and 683,350,000 bu. in 1909. At the same time there has been quite an increase of wheat acreage in this country, the acreage in 1911 being 49,543,000, against 45,681,000 in 1910 and 44,261,000 in 1909. The money value of the wheat crop of 1911, taking the price of Dec. 1, $543,063,000, against $561,051,000 in 1910, and $673,653,00 in 1909.

The total flaxseed crop of the United States for the year 1911 is given as 19,370,000 bu. against 12,718,000 bu. in 1910 and 19,513,000 bu. in 1909. The unusual acreage like that of wheat shows a large increase, the acreage of 1911 being 2,757,000 against 2,467,000 in 1910 and 2,083,000 in 1909. Taking the price of flaxseed on Dec. 1, the money value of the 1911 crop is given as $35,272,000 against $29,472,000 for the 1910 crop and $29,795,000 for the 1909 crop.

The 1911 figures show North Dakota to be by far the greatest flax state, having produced 9,120,000 bu.; second, Montana, with 3,272,000 bu.; third, South Dakota, 3,217,000 bu.; fourth, Minnesota, 3,200,000 bu.; fifth, Kansas, 225,000 bu.; sixth, Iowa, 128,000 bu.; seventh, Wisconsin, 120,000 bu.; eighth, Missouri, 54,000 bu.; ninth, Colorado, 21,000 bu.; tenth, Nebraska, 10,000 bu.; eleventh, Oklahoma, 3,000 bu.

CHICAGO MARKET.

Wheat Prices Decline on Prospects of Increased Receipts.

Chicago, Jan. 13.—With the weather Northwest 30 to 40 degrees warmer than two days ago, and with consequent prospect of larger receipts in that direction, the price of wheat today underwent a gradual decline. The Argentine was also a source of weakness, Buenos Ayres reporting increased arrivals notwithstanding a spread of the railroad strike. The slowness of demand for flour counted likewise against the bulls and so did the fact that winter wheat was now generally protected by a good covering of snow. Opening figures were the same as last night to ¼c down. May started at 99⅝c to 99⅞c, showing the same change as the market taken altogether. A fall to 99¾@99½c followed.

Some investment demand at the decline brought about a recovery. The close was firm with May at 99⅞@$1.00, a net gain of a shade.

Liberal commission selling carried down corn. The passing of the cold wave furnished the chief motive. May opened a shade to ⅛@¼c off at 64⅞c to 64¾c and sank to 64½c.

Subsequently the market recovered when wheat prices had a rally. The close was steady with May at 64¾@64⅞c, exactly the same as last night.

Support for oats turned out to be of a scanty sort. Weakness of other grain led to a feeling of depression. May started ⅛@¼c lower at 49c and receded to 48⅝c.

Packers were on the selling side of provisions and made the market easy. Weakness of quotations at the yards had a further bearish effect. Initial prices were 2½c to 7½c net 10c less expensive, with May delivery $16.32½ for pork, $9.57½ to 9.60 for lard and $8.80 for ribs.

Car lot receipts: Wheat, 6 cars, with 1 of contract grade. Corn, 179 cars, with none of contract grade. Oats, 65 cars. Total receipts of wheat at Chicago, Minneapolis and Duluth today were 231 cars, compared with 122 cars last week and 256 cars the corresponding day a year ago.

MINNEAPOLIS MARKET.

Wheat Is in Narrow Range and Trading Only Small in Volume.

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 13.—Wheat was in narrow range again today and trading of small volume and evening-up character. Pressure in local pit made Minneapolis relatively weaker than outside markets. May closed unchanged from yesterday to ⅛c lower and July ¼c lower. Local elevator stocks decreased 15,000 bushels for one day. Carlot wheat: Minneapolis, 215; week ago, 100; year ago, 209. Duluth, 8; week ago, 15; year ago, 25. Winnipeg, 72; week ago, 147; year ago, 29.

Cash wheat was quoted about steady again today. Demand was strong according to some salesmen, and only fair reports from others. Mills were good buyers of the slightly heavier offerings. No. 1 northern sold for the even May price to ⅛c above.

Millstuffs—Shipments, 1,582 tons. The market was strong and steady. Demand continued active and mills were well sold ahead.

Wheat—May opened $1.06; high, $1.06¾; low, $1.05¾; closed, $1.06⅛@1.06¼; July opened, $1.06¾; high, 1.07; low, $1.06⅝; closed, $1.07.

ADVANCES WIPED OUT

Prices of Stocks Turn Decidedly Downward in the Closing Hour.

Decline in St. Paul Has Bad Effect on General Railroad Group.

New York, Jan. 13. — Heavy trading in Reading continued when the stock market opened today. The first transaction was 6,000 shares at 154 to 153½, compared with yesterday's close of 153¼. The market in general was irregular. Canadian Pacific was under pressure and broke 2¼. Some of the specialties were strong. General Electric advanced a point.

Secondary prices were better. Improvement in the Harriman stocks exerted a good influence on the whole market. Metal stocks were in demand, particularly United States Steel, which exceeded its high price of yesterday. Among the specialties there was a jump of 2 points in American Malting preferred and half as much in Pacific Mail.

The market closed heavy. Prices turned decidedly downward in the closing hour. Reactions from the high figures reached about 2 points in Reading and a point in Union Pacific, United States Steel and St. Paul. The decline in St. Paul to 107⅜ exercised a bad effect on the general railroad group.

BOSTON COPPER STOCKS

The Boston stock quotations furnished by Gay & Sturgis, 326 West Superior street.

Boston, Mass., Jan. 13. — It has been another dull day. The general list fluctuated narrowly as a result of floor traders' operations. Outside interest was very little. Locally a recession in the prices of several of the cheaper stocks which have recently been favorites gave the list a weak appearance. The better class of coppers were firm and not in supply. The situation is a waiting one and it looks at though prices will advance easily when market leaders see fit to start it.

Wire trouble prevented local brokers securing complete quotations today. The last quotations received by Gray & Sturgis follow:

Midway Horse Market.

Minnesota Transfer, St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 13.—Barrett & Zimmerman report: A dull market continues with the cold weather. The only feature of today's trade was the arrival of three carloads of farm mares and general purpose horses, which were consigned to the big auction sale on next Wednesday. A number of lookers were skimming up the offerings, but were not disposed to fill orders until next week, when they hope the weather will moderate. Values show little change.

The Cotton Market.

New York, Jan. 13.—The cotton market opened steady at a decline of 1@3 points in response to rather disappointing cables, while some selling was also inspired by reports of labor troubles in New England. Bull support and covering quickly rallied the market, however, with the advance aided by more favorable advices as to the prospect of a settlement of the Lancashire strike on Monday and prices soon sold about 4 to 6 points higher. Subsequent fluctuations were irregular as a result of realizing by longs for over the week-end, and the market during the middle of the morning was practically not unchanged. The weather continued very cold in the South, which was considered against the movement, but the prospect was for higher temperatures.

Futures closed steady; bids: January, 9.40; February, 9.43; March, 9.53; April, 9.58; May, 9.67; June, 9.71; July, 9.77; August, 9.80; September, 9.83; October, 9.88; November, 9.91; December, 9.94.

Spot closed quiet; middling uplands, 9.65; middling gulf, 9.90. No sales.

London Stocks.

London, Jan. 13.—American securities opened steady on the stock exchange here today and during the short session prices advanced on light covering. Canadian Pacific was a weak exception and closed 1⅜ lower. The rest of the list finished from unchanged to ⅜ higher than yesterday's New York closing.

LEGAL NOTICES.

CERTIFICATE OF INCORPORATION —OF— DRUMMOND LAND COMPANY.

For the purpose of forming and being a body corporate under and by virtue of the provisions of Chapter 58 of the Revised Laws of Minnesota for the year of 1905, and all Laws amendatory thereof, the undersigned have adopted, signed, sealed and acknowledged the following certificate of incorporation:

ARTICLE I.

The name of this corporation shall be DRUMMOND LAND COMPANY, and the principal place of business shall be Virginia, Minnesota.

The general nature of the business shall be the acquiring, buying, owning, selling, leasing and generally dealing in lands and real estate of every nature and description, including the buying, owning, and selling of timber lands and timber; the improving of such real estate by the construction of buildings or otherwise, and the dealing generally in mixed and personal estate of every nature; and in the general doing of all such acts and things as are usual, necessary, convenient or expedient in conducting and managing the business of the said corporation in any of its branches, and such other enterprises or things as are incident thereto.

ARTICLE II.

The time of the commencement of this corporation shall be the 12th day of January, A. D. 1912, and the period of continuance thereof shall be thirty years.

ARTICLE III.

The names and places of residence of the incorporators are:

Gust Carlson, C. C. Butler and Andrew Nelson, all residing at Virginia, Minnesota.

ARTICLE IV.

The government of this corporation and management of its affairs shall be vested in a board of five directors, each of whom shall be stockholders, and said corporation shall have the following officers, to be chosen by the said Board of Directors from among the stockholders thereof: President, Vice President, Secretary and Treasurer. Any two of said offices may be held by the same person with the exception of the offices of the President and Vice President.

The directors shall be elected by the stockholders by ballot, each stockholder being entitled to cast as many ballots as he has shares of stock annually on the first Monday in June, in each and every year, commencing with the month of June, 1912.

The said officers and directors shall each hold office for one year from the first Monday in June until their successors are elected and qualified. Until said officers are elected, the following named persons shall be officers of the said corporation:

H. O. Johnson, President; Andrew Nelson, Vice President; C. C. Butler, Secretary, and Nels Anderson, Treasurer.

The annual meeting of both the stockholders and directors shall be held on the first Monday in June of each year, and besides such annual meeting, any other special meetings may be held at such time and place as may be prescribed by the By-Laws.

ARTICLE V.

The number of shares of the capital stock of said corporation shall be five hundred, and the amount thereof shall be One Hundred Dollars ($100.00) each, and may be paid for in either property, money or services, as the Board of Directors shall elect, and said stock shall be subscribed for at such times and in such amounts as may be prescribed by the Board of Directors. This corporation may commence doing business when ten per cent of its stock shall be subscribed for.

ARTICLE VI.

The highest amount of indebtedness or liability to which this corporation shall at any time be subject shall be Twenty-five Thousand Dollars ($25,000.00).

ARTICLE VII.

Until the first annual meeting of the corporation the following named persons, all residing at Virginia, Minnesota, shall constitute the Board of Directors of the corporation, viz.:

H. O. Johnson, Andrew Nelson, C. C. Butler, Nels Anderson and Gust Carlson.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, We have hereunto set our hands and seals this 4th day of January, A. D. 1912.
